Baseball Box Office Drive To Open Campaign

Baseball fans who held box seats for the 1952 Artesia season and want to return them for 1953 will be asked to be called on in current campaign to secure new seats for 1953.

Two Artesians Are Separated From Service

Two Artesians recently returned from Korea have been separated from the service, according to information received this week from Capt. Wayne D. Moore, commander of the Fort Bliss replacement detachment.

Little Theater Meeting Attracts 31 Artesians

Thirty-one Artesians interested in amateur theatrics turned out for a meeting at Senior high school Wednesday night and voted to organize the group on a permanent basis.

Mrs. V. P. Sheldon was elected temporary chairman until organizational procedure for election of officers and operation of the little theater group is decided on.

Artesians Join In ENMU Singing Group

TWO ARTESIANS at Eastern New Mexico university are already active in campus activity, as this informal shot of ENMU students rehearsing for Madrigal Singers proves.

Cottonwood Girl Takes State Fair Contest First

First place in the junior division dress revue at New Mexico State Fair has been won by Norma Jo Thigpen, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Thigpen of Cottonwood.

Norma Jo won her first prize with her "dress-up dress" made from navy blue shantung. County Agent Dallas Rierson told her parents in a phone call Thursday.

Forty Sign To Take Adult Education; More Are Sought

Forty adults have enrolled to take 12 adult education courses sponsored by Artesia Public Schools, according to Travis Stovall, senior high principal and coordinator of the program.

Organization of the classes was completed Monday night and instruction is scheduled to begin this coming Monday night.

National Guard Office Moved Here From Carlsbad

Headquarters for the four-city 697th AAA AW battalion of south-eastern New Mexico has been moved from Carlsbad to Artesia effective Oct. 1.

Classes will meet from 7 to 9 p. m. on meeting nights chosen by members of the classes. Stovall said. Every class would welcome more students, especially second term bookkeeping, the principal added.

Citizens Have Only Three Days Before Registration Deadline

Future Farmers Win Honors In National Contest

Artesia Future Farmers of America as a team and as individuals gathered honors in national judging competition at Waterloo, Iowa, according to information wired Thursday by Truman Short, senior high school vocational agriculture instructor and FFA advisor.

Artesia's four-man team placed in the third group in dairy judging, receiving a bronze plaque. Short reported. Taking part on the team were Jeff Floyd, Hunt Zumwalt, Franklin McAnally, and Travis Zeleny.

Individual honors were won by Travis and Hunt. Travis was high individual in the fourth group on dairy products judging and received a gold medal.

Monday is deadline for voter registration.

Those citizens 21 years of age and older who have not registered by 5 p. m. Monday cannot vote in the Nov. 4 general election, which this year promises to be one of the most significant ever in U. S. history.

A drive to register voters in Artesia, as well as across the United States, has seen one of the greatest non-partisan mass movements on record here as well as in thousands of similar communities throughout the country.

A host of civic and private organizations are urging citizens to register by the deadline, and then to exercise their right in the general election. Voters are not being told how to register, nor how to vote—they are simply being urged to exercise their American birthright.

In Artesia a volunteer system has gathered momentum as the registration deadline nears. Scores of women have volunteered to canvass their residential blocks, checking on whether householders are registered or not.

Individuals who desire to take a part in the election are listed by the women volunteers, and a notary public is sent to the household to register eligible occupants.

In those blocks where the volunteer system lags, residents are advised to call the Chamber of Commerce at telephone 192. A notary public will be sent on request to the interested citizen.

Business houses are canvassing their employees, either on their own initiative or at a request from the Chamber of Commerce. When a firm finds one or more eligible but unregistered citizens, the Chamber is phoned back and a notary public requested.

A convenient down-town registration point has been set up by a non-partisan Artesia group and is fully staffed to register citizens. The down-town point is housed in a house trailer parked on the north side of the 300 block on W. Main street, in front of Clem Appliance.

Boys Scouts have spread hundreds of Liberty Bells across Artesia, hanging the replicas on doorknobs as a reminder for citizens to vote in the Nov. 4 general election.

Mayor J. L. Briscoe has proclaimed this weekend and Monday as a period of intensive effort to register as many citizens as possible before the deadline at 5 p. m. Monday.

According to the election code of the State of New Mexico, revised to include all amendments to July 1, 1951, a qualified voter means any citizen of the United States who at the date of the election will be over the age of 21, who will have resided in the state 12 months, and in the county 90 days, and in the precinct in which he offers to vote 30 days preceding the election.

Not able to vote are idiots, insane persons, persons convicted of felonies or infamous crime unless restored to political rights, and Indians not taxed.

Citizens are reminded that they must not have lived continuously at one address in New Mexico for a year prior to the election. They can have lived anywhere in the state to meet the one-year residence requirement. They

Artesia To Aid Disabled Vets On Forget-Me-Not Drive

Tomorrow is Forget-Me-Not Day in Artesia.

It is the day proclaimed by Mayor J. L. Briscoe when members of the Disabled American Veterans and volunteer workers representing the Donald S. Simons chapter No. 19 will sell blue flowers of remembrance in behalf of the wartime handicapped.

With the slogan "Now is the Time When Gratitude Means Something," the workers will raise funds to be used during the coming year in behalf of disabled veterans and their dependents.

"Every cent contributed in the campaign will be used by the DAV in this community and state," said John Simons, Jr., publicity chairman. "Every cent will be used in assisting disabled veterans and their families."

"Our chapter is repeatedly called upon to aid disabled veterans and their dependents. Some may be in need because of temporary financial distress, not having been successful in receiving benefits which the veteran might ultimately receive from the government."

"We must be prepared also to meet other emergencies which arise when the veteran is partially disabled and, although he receives a small compensation award from the government, is taken seriously ill and becomes unable to continue his employment."

Eastern NM State Fair To Open Tuesday

Eastern New Mexico State Fair will open next Tuesday, Oct. 7, Homer Glover, president of the fair, announced this week.

The five-day fair will open with a parade at 11 a. m. Tuesday with 12 high school bands, 30 floats, military units, and special entries taking part. A nightly rodeo is featured by the Chaves county sheriff's posse.

Great Books Course To Open

A discussion group to study the great books of world literature will be formed in Artesia next Thursday night under sponsorship of the recent graduates group of the American Association of University Women.

Scheduled for the second and fourth Thursdays every month from October to May, the meetings will feature exchange of views and ideas from course members having read assignments.

First meeting of the group is at 7:45 p. m. Thursday, Oct. 9, in Artesia public library on the basement floor of City Hall.

Already 20 persons have indicated they'll attend, and as many more persons as are interested will be signed when the group meets next Thursday, according to Mrs. John D. Edwards, chairman of the project.

Those planning to attend the first meeting must read the Declaration of Independence and in the Old Testament in Kings 11 and 21, and Samuel 11 and 12.

Thursday's meeting, after brief organizations and introduction, will begin at once with a discussion based on these readings, Mrs. Edwards pointed out.

Great Books programs are operated across the United States under sponsorship of local groups cooperating with the Great Books Foundation, a non-profit educational corporation organized in 1947 in Illinois.

Purpose of the foundation is to promote adult liberal education through reading and group discussion of selected writings of the most stimulating and influential minds of our civilization.

In five years more than 2,000 Great Books discussion groups with 35,000 members in the U. S. and Canada have formed.

Pamphlets are furnished to leaders, offering suggestions of issues, propositions, and terms in the text that might be analyzed and used as a basis for discussion.

Life magazine has called the Great Books program "a revolution... (whose) results should be an America better fitted to live with itself and its world."

Great Books programs are designed to be educational for men and women—not as doctors, secretaries or electricians—but as human beings. Based on the idea that every man, in every condition, everywhere, is bound to ask himself the same basic question. Great Books turns to the writings from the greatest minds in civilization in seeking guidance.

Great Books point out, for example, that in Galileo man seeks mastery of nature, in Augustine man seeks mastery of himself. In Aquinas reason meets faith. In Freud man meets his own subconscious. In Pultarch and Machiaveli man's power tears the world apart. In Homer, Milton, and Shakespeare, man's soul is torn by ambition, envy, pride, and lust.

Six Democratic Candidates To Arrive Sunday

Six Democratic candidates seeking top offices in federal and state government in the Nov. 4 general election will visit Artesia in a group next Sunday and Monday.

J. B. Mulcock of Artesia, state Democratic vice-chairman, has announced.

Scheduled to visit Artesia are Everett Grantham, candidate for governor; Tibo Chavez, seeking reelection as lieutenant governor; Beatrice B. Roach, seeking reelection as secretary of state; Richard H. Robinson of Carlsbad, candidate for attorney general; James F. "Jimmy" Lamb, candidate for state corporation commissioner; and U. S. Representative Antonio M. Fernandez, seeking re-election.

Candidates will make Artesia Hotel their headquarters on arrival in Artesia Sunday afternoon. Mulcock said. They are scheduled to attend a Spanish dinner Sunday evening.

Only other scheduled event on the candidates' program is a half-hour radio address beginning at 7:30 Monday night over radio station KSVP.

Duval Workers Walk-Off Job Over Grievances

Employees of Duval Sulphur and Potash Co. late Wednesday walked off their jobs over pension, sick leave, representation and other grievances, a spokesman for the workers said Thursday.

The employees are not unionized, but left the plant en masse, the spokesman, who asked not to be identified, stated.

The Duval plant was reported shut down as a result of the walk-out.

must, however, have lived in the county where they will vote for 90 days before the election, and in the precinct for 30 days prior to the election.

Married women are reminded to register under the name of their husband rather than their given name. For example, John M. Brown's wife must give her name to the registrar as Mrs. John M. Brown, and not Ida B. Brown.

When a citizen is registering, he will be asked his birth date and birthplace, his address, height, weight, and color of eyes, and political party preference — Republican, Democratic, or other party—or he may register as independent. Registering as an independent, however, bars the citizen from taking part in primary elections, which many times in New Mexico are tantamount to election.

Schools Climb 166 Over 1951 Attendance

Growth of Artesia schools reflecting the city's rapidly increasing population was again demonstrated Thursday when school officials reported an average daily attendance for the first year almost 175 more than for the same period last year.

In September of 1952 average daily attendance for all schools in the Artesia system was 2,804, according to Vernon Mills, elementary supervisor. This is 166 more than for the same period in 1951, and is 740 more than five years ago in 1948, when 2,064 average daily attendance was recorded.

The 1952 average daily attendance by school shows Carver with 47, Loco Hills 55.45, Roselawn 514.9, High school 618.7, Junior high 578.77, Central 502.07, and Park 486.85.

As compared to the average daily attendance of 2,804 this September, in 1951 there were 2,638 attending, and in 1950 2,440. In 1949 the figure was 2,200, and in 1948 there were 2,064.

On a percentage basis computed by M. A. Sams, attendance officer, Carver school had 95 per cent average daily attendance, Roselawn 91.9 per cent; Central 95.8, Park 98, Junior high sixth 97.6, seventh 97, eighth 95.5. Senior high school ninth 95.5, 10th 96.2, 11th 93.1, and 12th 95.5.

Miss Tillie King Becomes Bride Of O. W. Fauntleroy, Jr., Saturday

Miss Tillie King, daughter of Mrs. William F. Sneed of Fort Worth, became the bride of Owen William Fauntleroy, Jr. in a ceremony held at 7:30 p. m. Saturday in the First Methodist Church of Midland. The Rev. James B. Sharp, pastor of St. Mark's Methodist church, performed the double ring ceremony.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen William Fauntleroy of Artesia, who were present for the wedding and reception.

Baskets of giant white chrysanthemums with woodwardia ferns and white tapers in tall candelabra provided setting for the rite. As guests assembled, Miss Ruth Ann Farrer, organist, played a medley of nuptial music. She accompanied Mrs. Wayne Carlton of Tucumcari, who sang, "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life," "Ave Maria," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Jack King of Lubbock, wore a gown of white starched lace over duchesse satin. The decollete neckline swept up to brief sleeves, shirred at the shoulders. A narrow belt of matching lace with rhinestone trim encircled her waist above the deep folds of the ballerina length skirt. She wore lace gauntlets. Beneath an ingenue bonnet of wired lace and orange blossoms was caught the tiered finger tip veil of illusion.

White Orchids

She carried white orchids and lilies of the valley, arranged with stephanotis shower and satin streamers tied in sweetheart knots. For something borrowed, she wore the wedding gown of her aunt, Mrs. Joseph Salesman; for something new, a string of pearls. The traditional something blue was a garter; and something old, a gold coin dated 1824.

Miss Nell Peel of Lubbock was maid of honor. She wore a ballerina length dress of yellow net, fashioned with a bouffant skirt and a strapless bodice over satin. A tulle stole, matching her dress formed her sheer head dress.

Bride's attendants were Mrs. Joseph Salesman of Midland and Mrs. Henry C. Phillips of Lubbock. They wore mint green frocks of the same design as the maid of honor. The three attendants carried bouquets of American Beauty roses in shades which matched their rose opera pumps.

Lynne Fauntleroy, niece of the bridegroom, was junior attendant. Her gown and matching tulle stole were fashioned after those of the other attendants. She wore white ballerina slippers and carried a white Bible.

Flower Girl—

Flower girl was Becky Fauntleroy, young niece of the bridegroom. She wore a diminutive copy of the bridal gown with white satin ballerina slippers and she carried a tiny white basket filled with American Beauty rose petals.

Stevie Fauntleroy, nephew of the bridegroom, served as ring bearer, and carried twin wedding hands upon a heart-shaped pillow.

Jack Fauntleroy of Artesia, served as his brother's best man. Candle lighters were John Goodrich of Midland and Milton Brown of Odessa. Ushers were A. M. Derrick, Connie Mack Hood, and Jim Watson of Midland, and Dick Neal of Abilene. A. K. Bergstrom of Fort Worth, Ben Kamprath of Lafayette, La.

Bride's Mother—

Mrs. Sneed chose for her daughter's wedding, a dinner dress of black lace and velvet with matching accessories, and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Fauntleroy, mother of the groom, wore a bronze velvet dress with navy blue accessories. Her corsage was of bronze chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor. Green organdy over satin covered the bride's silver-appointed table, which held the tiered wedding cake. Tiny love birds, holding wedding rings, decorated the cake.

For a wedding trip to Colorado, the bride wore a fitted suit of charcoal silk faille. The blouse, ascot, and jacket lining were in a silk coin print of smoke and tan. A brown velvet hat, brown alligator shoes and bag completed her ensemble.

After Oct. 15 the couple will be at home at 303 W. Hicks, Midland.

Delta Delphian Studies Tests On Personality

Mrs. Carl Lewis was leader for a discussion on "Personality Tests and Measurements," at a meeting Wednesday morning of Delta chapter of the Delphian society at the Methodist church.

Purpose of the discussion was to gain a better understanding of psychological tests and measurements, both those proved beyond reasonable doubt and those still in the experimental stage, and to achieve a greater appreciation of the mammoth task which science has undertaken in an effort to learn more about man.

Mrs. M. C. Livingston discussed the topic, "What Personality Measurement Means"; Mrs. Grady Booker, "Important Primary Traits"; Mrs. Glenn Caskey, "Personality Measuring Avenues"; Mrs. Owen Haynes, "Kinds of Objective Tests"; and Mrs. Ralph Petty, "Limitations of Measurements."

The next meeting will be Wednesday, Oct. 15.

Open House Marks Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Of H. R. Patons

Sunday, Sept. 28, Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Paton entertained with open house between 4:30 p. m. and 8:30 p. m., celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary.

The beautifully appointed home was decorated with floral arrangements for the occasion. A white mum arrangement with silver accents placed on the mantel and reflected by a mirror, set the keynote for the occasion in the living room.

The dining table set the keynote for the dining room being simply but elegantly laid with an imported handcut ivory linen cloth. Centering the table was a bouquet in a silver bowl of 25 deep red Happiness roses. In small silver braid the figure "25" was written and ornamented the bouquet of roses. Four tall single candlesticks holding ivory dinner candles completed the table decorations.

The buffet was decorated with branched silver candelabra holding ivory candles and centered with a bouquet of pink gladioli in a silver bowl. Individual wedding cakes iced in a pale pink decorated with a single white wedding bell having a silver clapper, mints, nuts, and coffee, were served throughout the reception hours.

The den was decorated with autumn garden flowers and mum plants. The many gifts were on display in the den and their beauty was enjoyed by all friends who called.

Mrs. Paton chose for the occasion a purple silk Chantilly lace cocktail dress, with an illusion and embroidered boat neckline. Her corsage was a white orchid with accents of silver tricotone.

Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Paton with the festivities of the day were Mmes. and Mmes. Wm. J. Wright, Tom J. Sivley, Morrison C. Livingston, Allen P. Mahone, and Mrs. John F. Runyan and Mrs. C. Ray Blocker.

Some 180 friends called and extended their felicitations to Mr. and Mrs. Paton during the reception hours.

Austin Pastor
To Lead Revival
At Baptist Church

Rev. Louis Wunneberger of Austin, Texas, will begin a series of evangelistic services at the First Baptist church of Artesia,
Monday night, Oct. 6, and continuing through Oct. 19. Rev. S. M.
Morgan announces. This series will be in cooperation with other Baptist churches of the New Mexico State Convention under the leadership of Dr. Eual F. Lawson,
Albuquerque, state evangelist.

Doctor Lawson states that all churches of the state will be engaged in the effort, called Baptist Simultaneous Revivals. The purpose as stated by Doctor Lawson is that no matter where a person may be over the state on business, he can find a revival in progress
the weeks of Oct. 5-19.

Doctor Wunneberger is a successful evangelist of many years experience. He has served with the Texas evangelistic staff and is characterized as a fearless gospel preacher.

Ladson Worley, director of activities of the First Baptist church, assisted by his choir, will have charge of the music for the revival.

As a special feature of the meeting the services will be broadcast over station KSVP 7:30 to 8:30 each evening.

Doctor Wunneberger will begin his services with the theme,
"Thrust in the Sickle and Reap."
This will be followed by a special meeting of all officers and teachers of the church. Tuesday evening "I Believe God" will be the message.

Doctor Wunneberger extends a friendly welcome to all his friends to attend the services and hear him daily.

Miss Tillie King Becomes Bride Of O. W. Fauntleroy, Jr., Saturday

Miss Tillie King, daughter of Mrs. William F. Sneed of Fort Worth, became the bride of Owen William Fauntleroy, Jr. in a ceremony held at 7:30 p. m. Saturday in the First Methodist Church of Midland. The Rev. James B. Sharp, pastor of St. Mark's Methodist church, performed the double ring ceremony.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen William Fauntleroy of Artesia, who were present for the wedding and reception.

Baskets of giant white chrysanthemums with woodwardia ferns and white tapers in tall candelabra provided setting for the rite. As guests assembled, Miss Ruth Ann Farrer, organist, played a medley of nuptial music. She accompanied Mrs. Wayne Carlton of Tucumcari, who sang, "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life," "Ave Maria," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Jack King of Lubbock, wore a gown of white starched lace over duchesse satin. The decollete neckline swept up to brief sleeves, shirred at the shoulders. A narrow belt of matching lace with rhinestone trim encircled her waist above the deep folds of the ballerina length skirt. She wore lace gauntlets. Beneath an ingenue bonnet of wired lace and orange blossoms was caught the tiered finger tip veil of illusion. White Orchids

She carried white orchids and lilies of the valley, arranged with stephanotis shower and satin streamers tied in sweetheart knots. For something borrowed, she wore the wedding gown of her aunt, Mrs. Joseph Salesman; for something new, a string of pearls. The traditional something blue was a garter; and something old, a gold coin dated 1824.

Miss Nell Peel of Lubbock was maid of honor. She wore a ballerina length dress of yellow net, fashioned with a bouffant skirt and a strapless bodice over satin. A tulle stole, matching her dress formed her sheer head dress.

Bride's attendants were Mrs. Joseph Salesman of Midland and Mrs. Henry C. Phillips of Lubbock. They wore mint green frocks of the same design as the maid of honor. The three attendants carried bouquets of American Beauty roses in shades which matched their rose opera pumps.

Lynne Fauntleroy, niece of the bridegroom, was junior attendant. Her gown and matching tulle stole were fashioned after those of the other attendants. She wore white ballerina slippers and carried a white Bible.

Flower girl was Becky Fauntleroy, young niece of the bridegroom. She wore a diminutive copy of the bridal gown with white satin ballerina slippers and she carried a tiny white basket filled with American Beauty rose petals.

Stevie Fauntleroy, nephew of the bridegroom, served as ring bearer, and carried twin wedding bands upon a heart-shaped pillow.

Jack Fauntleroy of Artesia, served as his brother's best man.

Candle lighters were John Goodrich of Midland and Milton Brown of Odessa. Ushers were A. M. Derrick, Connie Mack Hood, and Jim Watson of Midland, and Dick Neal of Abilene, A. K. Bergstrom of Fort Worth, Ben Kamprath of Lafayette, La.

Bride's Mother—
Mrs. Sneed chose for her daughter's wedding, a dinner dress of black lace and velvet with matching accessories, and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Fauntleroy, mother of the groom, wore a bronze velvet dress with navy blue accessories. Her corsage was of bronze chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor. Green organza over satin covered the bride's silver-appointed table, which held the tiered wedding cake. Tiny love birds, holding wedding rings, decorated the cake.

For a wedding trip to Colorado, the bride wore a fitted suit of charcoal silk faille. The blouse, ascot, and jacket lining were in a silk coin print of smoke and tan. A brown velvet hat, brown alligator shoes and bag completed her ensemble.

After Oct. 15 the couple will be at home at 303 W. Hicks, Midland.

Delta Delphian Studies Tests On Personality

Mrs. Carl Lewis was leader for a discussion on "Personality Tests and Measurements," at a meeting Wednesday morning of Delta chapter of the Delphian society at the Methodist church.

Purpose of the discussion was to gain a better understanding of psychological tests and measurements, both those proved beyond reasonable doubt and those still in the experimental stage, and to achieve a greater appreciation of the mammoth task which science has undertaken in an effort to learn more about man.

Mrs. M. C. Livingston discussed the topic, "What Personality Measurement Means"; Mrs. Grady Booker, "Important Primary Traits"; Mrs. Glenn Caskey, "Personality Measuring Avenues"; Mrs. Owen Haynes, "Kinds of Objective Tests"; and Mrs. Ralph Petty, "Limitations of Measurements."

The next meeting will be Wednesday, Oct. 15.

Open House Marks Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Of H. R. Patons

Sunday, Sept. 28, Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Paton entertained with open house between 4:30 p. m. and 8:30 p. m., celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary.

The beautifully appointed home was decorated with floral arrangements for the occasion. A white mum arrangement with silver accents placed on the mantel and reflected by a mirror, set the keynote for the occasion in the living room.

The dining table set the keynote for the dining room being simply but elegantly laid with an imported handcut ivory linen cloth. Centering the table was a bouquet in a silver bowl of 25 deep red Happiness roses. In small silver braid the figure "25" was written and ornamented the bouquet of roses. Four tall single candlesticks holding ivory dinner candles completed the table decorations.

The buffet was decorated with branched silver candelabra holding ivory candles and centerpieces with a bouquet of pink gladiolus in a silver bowl. Individual wedding cakes iced in a pale pink decorated with a single white wedding bell having a silver clapper, mints, nuts, and coffee, were served throughout the reception hours.

The den was decorated with autumn garden flowers and mum plants. The many gifts were on display in the den and their beauty was enjoyed by all friends who called.

Mrs. Paton chose for the occasion a purple silk Chantilly lace cocktail dress, with an illusion and embroidered boat neckline. Her corsage was a white orchid with a purple throat dressed with accents of silver tricotine.

Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Paton with the festivities of the day were Mers. and Mmes. Wm. J. Wright, Tom J. Sivley, Morrison C. Livingston, Allen P. Mahone, and Mrs. John F. Runyan and Mrs. C. Ray Blocker.

Some 180 friends called and extended their felicitations to Mr. and Mrs. Paton during the reception hours.

Rev. Louis Wunneberger of Austin, Texas, will begin a series of evangelistic services at the First Baptist church of Artesia, Monday night, Oct. 6, and continuing through Oct. 19. Rev. S. M. Morgan announces. This series will be in cooperation with other Baptist churches of the New Mexico State Convention under the leadership of Dr. Eual F. Lawson, Albuquerque, state evangelist.
 Doctor Lawson states that all churches of the state will be engaged in the effort, called Baptist Simultaneous Revivals. The purpose as stated by Doctor Lawson is that no matter where a person may be over the state on business, he can find a revival in progress the weeks of Oct. 5-19.
 Doctor Wunneberger is a successful evangelist of many years experience. He has served with the Texas evangelistic staff and is characterized as a fearless gospel preacher.

Ladson Worley, director of activities of the First Baptist church, assisted by his choir, will have charge of the music for the revival.
 As a special feature of the meeting the services will be broadcast over station KSVP 7:30 to 8:30 each evening.
 Doctor Wunneberger will begin his services with the theme, "Thrust in the Sickle and Reap." This will be followed by a special meeting of all officers and teachers of the church. Tuesday evening "I Believe God" will be the message.
 Doctor Wunneberger extends a friendly welcome to all his friends to attend the services and hear him daily.

Scores Of Artesians Join Football Team In Exodus For Albuquerque Game Tonight

Scores of Artesians, both high school students and adults, made a mass exodus from the city beginning about noon today to see the Artesia-Albuquerque High football contest in the Duke City tonight.

Tonight's Bulldog - Bulldog clash is slated as the top A-conference contest of the week by sports writers across the state.

Artesia's Bulldogs left early this morning by bus for Albuquerque, and are scheduled to arrive about 12:30.

Coach Cal Hall reported the team is "riddled" with a number of minor injuries, in addition to a siege of colds which has spread across Artesia this week.

Roy Johnson will be lost to the Artesia "Dogs" tonight and for five more weeks to come. He sustained a broken left foot in the third quarter of the Alamogordo game.

Coach Hall said no player was near Johnson at the time, but that Johnson had put his weight on the foot when it was in a bad position.

Coach John Daugherty, who last week scouted Albuquerque High, reports the Duke Citians will operate from a straight T-formation. Emphasis in the Albuquerque offense is on a number of shift plays and spread formations, Daugherty stated.

"Albuquerque High has a well-rounded team," Coach Daugherty added, "with an exceptionally good backfield led by Phil Harris at full. They have a big line that is going to give us a lot of hard knocks."

Artesia gridsters Wednesday afternoon before field practice saw films on last Friday's Alamogordo game, played in Morris Field. "The boys saw how sloppy they looked," Coach Hall observed, "and I think the movies make them realize they're going to have to work hard—awfully hard—to get the game tonight."

Artesians this week generally viewed tonight's game as "The Game" of the season, but Coach Hall observed, "Every game is The Game—it's always that way, and for the boys, it always has to be that way."

After arrival in Albuquerque this noon the Artesians will have lunch, then go through a light workout for 15 to 20 minutes.

After that they'll rest, then eat at 4:30. Following that on the schedule is more rest, after which the squad will tape-up for the game.

Saturday the squad will remain in Albuquerque to attend the New Mexico State Fair, and Saturday night will see the New Mexico A&M-University of New Mexico game.

Albuquerque has designated this as Homecoming Weekend and is expected to assert a lot of morale boosting through this device.

The early American colonists' gun was called a blunderbuss from the Dutch word, "donderbus," or "thunder box."

The average American "five and ten" store stocks an average of 30,000 items.

District 5 Athletic Group To Meet Tuesday

Official meeting of the district 5 athletic association will be held at 7 p. m. next Tuesday, Oct. 7 in Carlsbad, according to announcement this week by Travis Stovall of Artesia, vice-president of the district.

Invited to attend the meeting are all superintendents of schools, Senior and Junior high school principals and coaching staffs, officials, press, radio, and interested personnel.

The meeting will be held in the cafeteria of Alta Vista school in Carlsbad.

Official business of the meeting calls for presentation of school opinions for presentation to the board of control meeting Wednesday, Oct. 22 in Albuquerque.

Matters to come up before the district meeting are as follows:

- 1—Pete McDavid's proposal on admitting more boys to the state track meet.
- 2—Adding sprint medley and mile relays to the official track program.
- 3—Officials from the various districts assisting the state track meet.

- 4—Junior high athletics coming under the New Mexico high school athletic association.
- 5—Changing the athletic association to an activities association.
- 6—Basketball tournaments for the coming year.
- 7—Junior high problems and decisions.
- 8—Local problems of district 5 and suggestions for the improvement of our local district.

Former Artesia Gridster Stars On TCU Defense

Ronald Dublin, former Artesia Bulldog football stalwart, was outstanding in his play on the defensive team for Texas Christian university in its UCLA contest last weekend, according to Mrs. Jack "Peg" Tinson, wife of Artesia's former coach.

Although UCLA won the game, the Los Angeles Examiner pointed out the Bruins' "offense was bogged down by a pressing TCU defense."

Mrs. Tinson reports Dublin played the whole game and "his efforts were outstanding."

"We had dinner with Ronald after the game," Mrs. Tinson writes. "It was his 21st birthday and we were exceptionally pleased to be able to be with him for the occasion. The team was guest of the evening on the NBC-Chesterfield Jerry Lewis and Dean Martin radio program.

"I guess that it isn't every day that out of the whole State of New Mexico, only one city, "Artesia, N. M." is represented on the programs of the TCU schedule for this season by this former Artesia high school athlete."

Senior High Band Leaves Today For Duke City Game

Artesia's Senior high school band is scheduled to leave here at 8 a. m. this morning for Albuquerque, where the band will play at the Bulldog-Albuquerque High game tonight and at the State Fair tomorrow morning.

Ben Stevens, band director, in outlining arrangements, stated the band is to play at 10 "Saturday morning at the State Fair. After lunch students will tour the fair. Buses are slated to leave at 5 p. m. and band members will be returned to Artesia at about 9 Saturday night.

Students will be housed in divided quarters at Youth Hall on the fair grounds. They will be finished their Friday evening and Saturday breakfast and lunch as a State Fair courtesy.

A field rehearsal prior to the Artesia-Albuquerque game is scheduled this afternoon for the band.

Pleased With Drive—

Howard Whitson, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce state and national affairs committee which is conducting the registration and get-out-the-vote drive, stated Thursday his committee is pleased with outcome of the system in the registration period.

"We have been testing our organization during the registration drive," Whitson stated, "and feel it will be ready for the important business of getting out the vote on Nov. 4. This registration program has been a dress rehearsal for that day, when we will really go to work."

Serving with Whitson have been Dr. C. P. Bunch and Neil Watson, members of the committee.

Citizens who want to make absolutely sure they can vote Nov. 4 may register with Mrs. Erma G. Williams, public stenographer on the second floor of the Booker building, permanent registrar for the Artesia precinct.

Liquor Involved In 119 Arrests In September

Artesia police arrested 145 persons during September, 104 of them for drunkenness, according to monthly report of the police department, released Thursday by Lt. Donald Bonine.

In addition to 104 arrests for drunkenness seven were arrested for liquor law violations, and eight for driving while intoxicated, bringing total arrests involving liquor to 119.

Four persons were arrested for immigration law violation, one for forgery, four for vagrancy, one for taking property without owner's consent.

Five persons were held for investigation, one was arrested for driving with a revoked license, two in violation of narcotics law, two for assault, four for indecent exposure.

During September police issued 905 parking tickets and 39 speeding summonses. Twelve persons were cited for reckless driving, 34 for illegal parking. Four had no brake and light sticker, and three were arrested for non-observance of light or sign. Twenty-nine had improper licenses, 21 illegal mufflers. Fourteen were cited for "all other traffic violations."

Artesia police process 62 complaints during the month.

Three cases of breaking and entering were investigated, and two of them cleared up by arrests.

Junior High Homemakers Use Studies In Home

Homemaking students at Junior high school are given an opportunity to put the training they receive in class into practice both in school and at home.

At school students keep a display window and a bulletin board to display articles related to work being done in class.

All class work deals with homemaking problems which can and should be put into practice in the homes.

At present time seventh grade students have just finished a unit on housekeeping in which they obtained information and gave demonstrations on the care of windows, mirrors, pictures, woodwork, floors, furniture, window shades, venetian blinds, how to make a bed, and the order in which to clean a room.

At the time the classes were studying the unit on keeping house, groups of girls put up displays in both the display window and on the bulletin board pertaining to what they were studying.

The eighth grade homemaking classes have just completed a unit of "You and Your Family," the purpose of which was to try to help each girl to be a better family member.

They are now working on a unit, "Your Family's Money." After completion of this unit it is hoped that each girl will better understand the demands which are placed upon the family's income, and also be able to spend her own money, as well as that of the family, more wisely.

M.; Greer Brothers, Hagerman, N. M.; Fletcher Brothers, Dexter, N. M.; and Winston Lovelace, Carlsbad, N. M.

--- AND HERE IS THE ALLIS-CHALMERS TWO-ROW COTTON PICKER IN THE FIELD

Lower Picking Costs

The scarcity and high cost of hand labor at harvest time have been major factors in the high cost of producing cotton. The solution to this two-fold problem lies in modern, big capacity mechanical picking, which reduces picking costs to amazingly low levels, and results in substantial savings in the cost of producing the crop.

The A-C Cotton Picker will pick the highest possible percentage of mature cotton—two rows at a time—at a substantial saving in fuel, time and labor. It is ready to go day and night, when crop and weather are right. Its operating economy is well known to owners in all cotton producing sections.

TWO-ROW CAPACITY means two-way economy

Two-row capacity reduces fuel and operating costs to a minimum, and in addition eliminates dependence on expensive hand labor. The crop is harvested in much less time . . . by fewer people. With mechanical picking, the crop can be worked day and night, saving grade and quality against the hazards of weather.

The ability of the A-C Cotton Picker to put more cotton, and a better grade, into the basket, has been proved to the satisfaction of owners in all cotton growing areas. Each picking unit, with more than a thousand spindles, picks the open cotton from top to bottom of the plant, without injury to the unopened bolls.

There is much satisfaction in the security which ownership of a mechanical cotton picker brings. Because of its many desirable operating features . . . its comparatively low original cost, greater capacity and overall picking efficiency . . . the Allis-Chalmers Cotton Picker is the first choice of experienced cotton planters.

It is a revelation to the cotton farmer these days to actually watch this picker in action. We suggest that you ask one of the owners listed above their own true experience with the Allis-Chalmers Picker.

Backing Artesia Drillers

BASEBALL CLUBS ARE BUILT in the winter. Mgr. Earl Perry admonishes Artesians, and to build a strong Artesia Driller team for 1953, the club must now have funds to go after players and otherwise prepare the organization for the season that opens only six months from now.

Encouraged by Driller progress in only the second year of operations here, baseball club officials have ruled out seeking further donations and outright charity on which to operate the club. From here on out, for as long as Artesia can support professional baseball, those who sign a check to the Artesia Drillers get their full money's worth in admissions or other forms.

To do this, Artesia Baseball Club, Inc., must sell 40 more box seats and 150 more season tickets than were sold for the season ending earlier this month. The goal is 140 box seats and 300 season tickets, compared to 100 box seats and 150 season tickets sold for the past season.

Survival of professional baseball here depends on the success of this program, Perry earnestly warns, for ball clubs are not operated on sentiment or unsupported desire to have a baseball organization.

To survive financially, a ball club must draw paid admissions. To do that, it needs to be winning more games than it loses, or fans' interest drops and attendance lags. Artesia had ample demonstration of that truism this season, when the Drillers were feeling their way in the first part of the season and dropping many games, attendance zoomed downward—but later, when the club was reorganized, 800 to 800 fans turned out.

To win games a club needs a working organization of good players. Perry has proved he can bring those players to Artesia, if he is given the wherewithal.

Artesia faces prospects of having veterans who served with the club this year being caught in the annual draft in December. Eligible for that are classmen Joe Bauman, Jim Ackers, Rudy Briner, Mike Rodriguez, Paul Halter and Pete Pichan.

Artesia's ball club operated on $30,000 less than Roswell, which finished two places below the Drillers in 1952. Club management is efficient and obviously is getting a lot for the money it does spend.

But Artesia baseball fans see the threat facing the team in the coming season which will open next April.

Artesia and Midland shoved into the first division this year, pushing out teams from larger cities, such as San Angelo and Sweetwater. Attendance fell in those cities, costing one club an estimated $35,000 to $40,000.

Those bigger clubs can't risk that again in 1953. To make things tougher, newly-organized Carlsbad is raising money fast in a strong attempt to make a good showing in its freshman year of Longhorn league play.

This tightening up of Longhorn baseball is good for the loop—fans will see a better brand of ball next summer, with better players heightening competition.

But it also means Artesia faces a serious challenge, a challenge we had better not underestimate.

The job we have to do is plainly outlined for us in black and white. In terms we can easily understand and appreciate. It's up to us to dig into the job—to do it well and do it now.

Baseball clubs are built in the winter.

Won't Make For Honesty

THE RECENT DECISION of the state supreme court in ruling that tally sheets can be accepted in the absence of ballots in the event no fraud has been indicated won't help make for honest elections, in our opinion.

We are inclined to agree with Judge David Carmody, who dissented, and declared in his opinion the ruling would encourage fraud in our elections instead of cleaning them up.

The ruling was handed down in connection with the district attorney's race in the judicial district comprised of Dona Ana, Otero, and Lincoln counties. In Dona Ana county the ballots at one precinct—Anadra—had been burned and not returned in the ballot boxes. The high court ruled that if ballots were not available for a recount,

Still The Dogs Wander

ROSSELL'S CITY FATHERS, fed up with the nuisance created by owners of dogs who allowed their pets to run loose without restriction, recently passed an ordinance requiring all dogs be tied or on a leash at all times. The city dads then sat back for the public howl—and didn't have to wait very long.

Such a measure is drastic and no dog owner cares for such a strong piece of city legislation. Yet such restrictions are practically solicited by the owner who doesn't care what his dog does.

Artesia's existing dog ordinances are not enforced, and general laxity here regarding supervision of dogs is gradually creating growing resentment against careless owners, who could find themselves faced with an ordinance similar to Roswell's.

Dog licensing regulations, which call for all dogs to be inoculated once a year against rabies before they are given licenses, are ignored by the great majority of dog owners in Artesia. Laxity on the part of owners on one hand and of the city administration on the other has made this measure ineffective.

In the past it has seemed that every time the city does attempt to do something about "the dog situation," something goes snafu through improper application of policies adopted by the city. Then the program collapses, and a fresh start must be made.

Owners who allow their dogs to chase cars, to run loose with other dogs, forming destructive packs following only instinct, to menace children especially and pedestrians in general, are openly asking for severe restrictions which in the long run are unfair to the dog.

Those who carelessly keep dogs are not only unfair to the general public but also risk penalizing dog owners who do look after their animals, who accept not only the pleasure of owning a dog but the responsibility to the dog and to other people that goes with ownership.

Perhaps the answer is two-fold. It is up to careless dog owners to accept their responsibilities in owning a dog, to see the animal is not a nuisance, to supervise the dog's activities. And the city administration can help owners think seriously about taking that responsibility by enforcing existing ordinances concerning dogs or else enacting new measures that can be enforced.

Insurance Protection

NEW MEXICO'S DEPARTMENT of insurance is under the corporation commission and is operated, so we have been advised, with a limited number of employees.

It is this department, which grants a license to firms to do business in the state; it is this department which checks these firms; and it is to this department that complaints are made when a policy holder feels he has not received what was guaranteed to him when he purchased an insurance contract.

Every effort, we feel sure, is made to see that the companies do carry out their contracts. The majority of the companies have no intention of doing otherwise.

Now and then, however, some arguments develop and the insured needs some help and aid from this department in securing or collecting that protection which he has bought and paid for in his or her contract.

This occurs frequently in automobile policies covering public liability and covering property damage.

The fact is that it happens perhaps far more often than we realize. In many instances the amount of money involved does not justify employing of an attorney and filing a suit to collect. The fact is that the policy holder, who has purchased and paid for protection, should not find it necessary to have to hire an attorney to collect something which he has bought and paid for.

And we believe it is the responsibility of the state department of insurance to protect these policy holders.

We are being advised there will probably be an increase in the rate to be charged for coverage of automobiles and motor vehicles. All of us know the number of automobile accidents is increasing. We pay for this damage when we buy insurance.

And we are of the opinion that while these rates are being increased, perhaps fees for doing business in the state should be raised to the point where this department can hire or employ some inspectors and some checkers to help insure citizens being able to collect their insurance in those instances where difficulty is encountered.

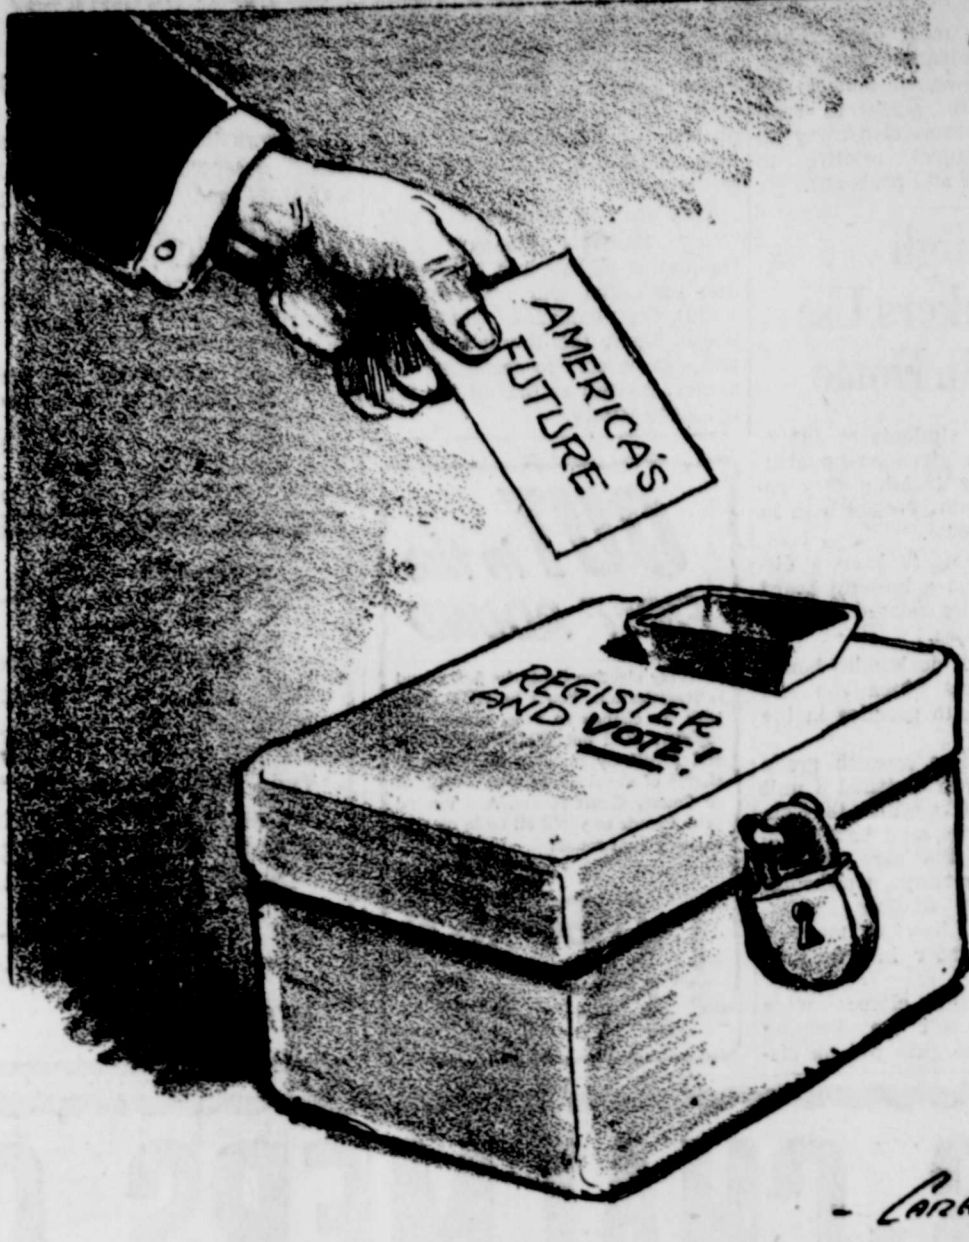

We believe this is a service the state owes to its citizens. If it can't be done now because of insufficient help, then we believe ways and means should be found to provide these funds so aid is available from this department to aid the public.

which had been demanded, then the tally sheet could be accepted.

The action of the court makes it all the more necessary that voting machines not only be installed in the voting precincts in this judicial district but in every precinct in the state.

We believe that voting machines will help eliminate the charges of graft and corruption in our elections whether there is any grounds for these charges or not.

SAFETY DEPOSIT BOX

What Other Editors Are Saying

END THIS HYPOCRISY

Bootlegging—which in the states of the Southwest means sale of liquor to Indians—regularly accounts for a large proportion of cases in the municipal, state, and federal courts in New Mexico. It accounts for much antagonism between the Indian people and their fellow Americans.

But should the Indian respect the white man who sells him at an exorbitant price, the worst and cheapest wine, then throws him into jail for drinking it?

Should we deny the Indian, who bears all the responsibility of citizenship, including military service, any right to which other Americans regally are entitled?

How long will we perpetuate by law a system that protects and encourages private graft because of public discrimination among Americans on the basis of race, that denies all men equal rights? How long will we maintain statutes that contradict the spirit of the constitution of the United States?

To end this hypocrisy, we believe, the sale of alcoholic beverages to Indians must be made legal.

With proper law enforcement on the reservations any consequent abuses are not likely to be more frequent than they are in the United States generally. It is an obligation to provide this law enforcement as it is an obligation to end the inequity of racially-based prohibition. — Gallup Independent.

BOOKKEEPING PROBLEM

One of the touching stories of the season is the disclosure that the New Mexico Liquor Dealers Association went unrecognized for its act of pure charity and sweet generosity in furnishing 30 cases of ice beer for the big Democratic barbecue and blow-out at Taos recently.

By now, of course, this oversight has been remedied; the party stalwarts are fully informed of the source of the brew.

And we're sure the liquor dealers have put aside another 30 cases for the GOP, just to keep it strictly non-partisan.

It'll be some months before we know how little campaign favors such as these are repaid. We might have a more definite idea, however, if we could see how the 30 cases were written off on the books of

VOTE AGAINST WASTE

A publication of the First National Bank of Boston recently published an article which shows clearly how this country has drifted toward big, centralized government.

In 1929, federal spending amounted to less than the total incomes received by the residents of California. In 1939, by contrast, those expenditures were equal to the individual incomes of all the people of the Pacific and Mountain regions, together with North and South Dakota and about half of Nebraska.

And for the current fiscal year, which ends next June 30, estimated federal government expenditures will take the equivalent of the incomes of all the people west of the Mississippi River along with the residents of Mississippi and more than half of those of Alabama.

Total government expenditures—federal, state and local—for the current fiscal year, will equal the wages and salaries of three-fourths of all the people employed in non-governmental pursuits in this country. In this year alone, the federal government itself will spend more than was spent from 1789 through 1925—a period of 136 years.

This is the incredible price we are paying for waste, extravagance and "honest" and dishonest graft in government. It is the price we are paying for ventures into state socialism along the bankrupt British model, and for all manner of phony "security" schemes whose principal purpose is to spend money, swell the rolls of the bureaucrats, and buy votes.

It is the thing that, unless drastically checked, can destroy this country from within—which is exactly what the Communists and all other totalitarians are working for.

We think the voters of this country should go to the polls on November 4 and cast a ballot against waste, extravagance and graft in government—cast a ballot against this drift toward centralized socialist government. They can do this by voting for Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

HERE'S HOW SOME PEOPLE ARE GETTING OUT THE VOTE

Map of the United States with callouts to various cities and groups: 'FILM "BIG IDEA" WHICH REMINDS THAT COMMUNISM INFILTRATES MORE EASILY WHEN VOTERS ARE LAX...', 'MARATHON CORP. PROVIDING BREAD COMPANIES WITH RED, WHITE, BLUE BANDS URGING: "VOTE AS YOU LIKE, BUT BE SURE TO VOTE"', 'KELLOGG'S PRINTS INSTRUCTIONS ON VOTE METHOD, FACTS ABOUT VOTING ON BREAKFAST FOOD BOXES', 'POUGHKEEPSIE JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO DROP "FLYING SAUCER" LEAFLETS READING: "DON'T FORGET TO VOTE"', 'HOTEL GREETERS ASSOCIATION TO ASK TRAVELERS TO BE SURE TO VOTE', 'KIWANIS CLUBS FORM BALLOT BATTALIONS TO GET OUT THE VOTE', 'PEORIA ISSUING "GOOD CITIZENSHIP" CERTIFICATES TO VOTE REGISTRANTS', 'SPRINGFIELD EAGLES LODGE ASKING MEMBERS TO SEND 5 CARDS TO FRIENDS URGING THEM TO VOTE AND SEND 5 MORE, CHAIN-LETTER STYLE', 'JACKSONVILLE "LICENSE TO GRAB" CERTIFICATES ISSUED TO REGISTRANTS', 'PETER PAN BRA MAKER ADVERTISING: "YOU CAN BE AN IMPORTANT FIGURE IN THIS IMPORTANT 1952 ELECTION."'

INTEREST IN 1952 campaign together with non-partisan efforts to get out the vote may make this the biggest election in the nation's history. Some of the unusual methods by which people are being urged to go to polls are indicated above. Barely more than 46,000,000 votes were cast for President four years ago.

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK—Just a handful of days ago... 1952-53 theatrical season opened an event that may escape the interest of a South Dakota farmer or a Nevada cowboy but which goes to make a major part of autumn and winter existence in the New Yorker. Somewhere from 50 to a hundred new shows may find their way into those big houses that have not been commandeered by monster, television, and, as usual, the larger number of them will be turkeys, making one and wonder how producers could have been so anxious to bring them into Broadway in the first place. Some enormously inviting prospects are in the air: there is talk of Margaret Sullivan returning to Times Square to act in a Terence Rattigan play and if Hepburn gets clearance on her supposed part of British actors she will be along in the new, eerie play that either will be a masterpiece or a Zip-the-sit-it, and with luck we may even see Robert Morley do The Little Boat from London. At this point, however, I have a suspicion. I suspect that the best show of this season already has come and gone from America, without even touching on the shores of Manhattan. This would be the newest production of George Gershwin's perennial Porgy and Bess, which just the other day wrapped up a brief run in Washington, D. C., and headed for Europe and a long and which, I presume, is this very minute being offered somewhere in Vienna. The word is that likely it will not appear on Broadway until a year from now and this comes under the heading of dismaying news for New York theater-goers and their cousins who traipse in from the suburbs to see the latest hits in theater at its highest, most eloquent pitch. Porgy is a show that I personally have avoided in the past because in the face of the critics' applause I always have suspected Gershwin's of being a limited talent. Purely as a layman, I have made Gershwin to be a man with a smattering of musical background, a flair for melody who never really bothered to learn his trade. The moments in his work—snatches from An American in Paris, sweeping theme of Rhapsody in Blue and a few others—that give hope, but always these seemed to me to be outweighed by a good deal of pretentious hokum. I am speaking of Gershwin as a classic as a popular song-writer, of course, he was superb.

MY FEELING NOW is that I just never heard Gershwin in the right showcase. The right showcase is a troupe of singers such as the New Porgy cast boasts and which, under Alexander Smallen's direction, fills the stage with an endless volume of magnificent song, wit, tone and tenderness that make the hair stand up on the nape of your neck. "Did Gershwin write all these?" I kept telling myself as I listened, and I would look down in the dark at my program and assured he did.

There are a few honest publicists in New York and a genial one named Bill Doll is one. When he twisted my arm and swore me up and down that this Porgy was beyond compare, I believed him, because Doll is a man who knows the theater. It amounted almost to a pilgrimage of love when I went to Washington's National theater to see it, because I was riding between New York and Washington on a spectacularly ridiculous Pennsylvania railroad train, guaranteed to the information clerk to be air-conditioned and being, naturally, of the sort. I sweated off three pounds, but came away from the National with, as the bookwriters say, a song in my heart.

If you remember the excitement that was caused when Esio Porgy appeared onstage in South Pacific, giving to the musical comedy stage a voice that was far out of sight of the customary quavering tones and beardless baritones, you will get an idea of how William Warfield sings Porgy. This is an Arkansas-born man who has sung in one or two other shows, "truly extraordinary," said one critic. "one of the great voices," said another—and floored us one and all with his sensational rendition of Ol' Man River in an otherwise seriously dull movie version of Show Boat. When and if you hear him sing Where's My Bess? you will have heard opera at its best and you can go on talking Bohème and Tristan at me all night.
