State To File Suits Over Water Rights Based On Air Survey

An aerial survey of the Roswell artesian basin has been completed and state legal officials will begin to file district suits in the near future against water right violators, says D. Harris, special assistant attorney general for the engineer, and John F. Russell, Pecos Valley Artesian Conservancy District attorney, have announced.

Council to Study Hospital Control Wednesday Night

Arrangements for operation of the General Hospital, which city councilmen feel "has been out of control," will probably be made when city council meets Wednesday night at 8 p. m. in City Hall.

Councilmen expressed displeasure at the last September board meeting because hospital board officials had not issued a request for the council, as well as a three-month audit to have started Sept. 15 and completed by Oct. 15.

As is known, no operator has been secured to take control of the hospital on a lease arrangement from the city.

City government assumed that the hospital June 15, 1961, a 10-year contract with Sis-Adorers of the Most Precious Blood, expired and was not renewed.

At that time, organized emergency committee of the hospital, the three of which expired Sept. 15, but no action was taken by city or hospital officials to public knowledge.

Artesia Girl Is Elected Officer
At Highlands

Facundo Nunez, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Facundo Nunez of Artesia, was elected secretary of the fresh class at the general class meeting held at Highlands university last week.

So far as Harris and Russell know, legal action following the aerial mapping will be the first court action on an entire ground water basin ever to be held in the United States.

Aerial photographs, made by Pacific Air Industries of Long Beach, Calif., are part of a complete hydrographic survey of the Pecos Valley, according to Joe C. Yates of the Roswell state engineer's office.

Yates, engineer in charge of the project, said aerial photography together with complete field inspection of land involved is the most rapid and economic way to survey an area.

Announcement of the aerial mapping was made for the first time in full detail during a special Kiwanis meeting held Thursday night in Artesia, at which Russell and Harris were guest speakers.

New Section—
Yates, formerly of the ground water supervisor's office at Roswell, will be in charge of a new "water rights section" which will direct the hydrographic survey and preliminary definition of all ground water rights.

The section has been set up by a cooperative agreement between the conservancy district and the state engineer.

In addition to the hydrographic survey, the functions of the water right section will include compiling and bringing up to date all records relative to every water right and preliminary definition of each right.

Following this, suits will be filed in district court asking the court to define each right and set up its priority.

Long Overdue—
Attorneys point out that such adjudication of water rights in the Pecos Valley is "long overdue." For several years there has been difficulty in determining validity of many water rights.

This is due to the period before 1931 when no permit or license was needed from the state to drill shallow or artesian water wells.

After the 1931 law was passed, records of all water rights have been kept by the state engineer. Those that developed water rights prior to 1931 have not been required to file claim of their right with the state engineer, and this had made it difficult in many cases to determine validity of rights.

Harris and Russell believe the mapping and court system will: 1—Quiet Title for all owners of (Continued on Page Eight)

Tables Turned—Mrs. Ray Cries

THE TABLES WERE TURNED on cry singer Johnny Ray on his arrival in Los Angeles after a six-day absence—it was his wife, the former Marilyn Morrison, who did the crying. Here you see the tender scene as he got the tears dried when she arrived 10 minutes late to meet plane after she was delayed by traffic. On arrival he said, "Where's my wife? I think she's goofing off." He's booked at Ciro's, competitor of his father-in-law's Mocambo.

Whitson, chairman of the chamber's state and national affairs committee, said the registration drive over the last month in Artesia has been a "dress rehearsal" of machinery set-up to turn voters out.

Citizens have been signed to vote through an ambitious C of C program in which business houses have been surveyed and registrars sent to sign-up those employees not registered.

In addition residential block surveys have resulted in an increase as housewives who volunteer to poll their blocks reports unregistered householders who want to take part.

Chavez Finds His Job Is Night and Day

Lt. Gov. Tibo Chavez, campaigning for re-election on the precinct level in Artesia with the Grantham for Governor Caravan, was asked yesterday by a farmer out Loco Hills way just what kind of a job he had.

"Morning and night," the assistant governor replied. "Every night I wind the alarm clock and set it for seven o'clock. Then in the morning I reach for the phone, call the governor's mansion to see if he's still alive. If the answer is 'yes,' I roll over and go back to sleep."

Hair, Teel Calf Buying Charges Are Dismissed

CANDIDATE Everett Grantham and pre-primary candidate Lake Frazier met briefly last night in Artesia before a radio broadcast, gladly posed for this photo to prove their reconciliation and collaboration is enduring.

Charges against two Artesia men accused of illegal purchase of cattle were dismissed this week-end, but trial on similar charges against suspended-Artesia police officer Billy Gremlin has been set for Oct. 15 in district court, Carlsbad.

No announcement had been made by the district attorney's office of dropping charges against Andy Roy Teel of Hope nor E. C. Hair, Artesia businessman.

Plans of Dist. Atty. N. R. "Randy" Reese to drop charges against these two was revealed in district court Monday while the Gremlin case was being docketed.

No reason could be learned for dismissal of the charges against Hair and Teel, who were specifically accused of purchasing a calf apiece from Dwaine White, Artesia youth, who has admitted stealing several animals.

There was no reason given for pressing charges against Gremlin, who was suspended by Chief of Police Earl D. Westfall two days after charges were filed against the officer.

Charges were filed against Hair, Teel and Gremlin early in June following arrest of White and Raleigh of cattle theft. The two Raleigh Newbill of Hope on youths admitted stealing the calves and told officers names of men to whom the cattle had been sold.

White has been held in county jail in Carlsbad, while White has been given a suspended sentence because of first offense status of charges against him.

Artesia Aspencade Proposed For Mountain Trip Sunday

If enough Artesians are interested, an Aspencade into the Sacramento mountains to see blazing gold of the famous quaking aspens will be organized this week-end, the Chamber of Commerce has announced.

Artesians are urged to call the C of C at telephone 192 if they are interested in joining an Aspencade.

If the Artesia group is formed, it will be led by C of C Pres. Ralph Hayes. Tentative plans call for the group to leave Artesia at 9 a. m. next Sunday. It will return between 5 and 5:30.

Especially invited to join the tour are residents of the Pecos Valley and Southeastern New Mexico.

Pro Safecracker Gets $2,500 in Price's Robbery

A safe-blowing job by a man police believe to be a professional netted $2,485, mostly in checks, in a robbery discovered early Sunday morning at Price's Creamery Artesia branch, on S. First street.

Jay Serogins, manager of the plant, reported $124.04 in cash plus $2,253.22 in checks and $108 in petty cash and receipts were taken from the office safe.

Lt. Donald Bonine, in charge of the investigation by Artesia police, said the work appeared to be that of a professional, and speculated fuses and blasting cap used were not of the type used locally in oil-field work.

Lt. Bonine said the man or men involved broke a lock on the south door with instruments resembling a tire tool and a screwdriver.

Once inside, the safecracker went directly to the office safe in the front part of the building, where (Continued on Page Eight)

Safety Council Asks Lions' Aid In Program Here

A program to build Artesia Safety Council to an active membership of 50 was outlined before Lions club Wednesday by Elwood Kaiser, president of the council, and other officers appearing with him on a safety panel program.

Pointing out the Artesia council was the first organized in the state when it began functioning four years ago, Kaiser stated that today safety work is carried on by only half a dozen men actively working through the council and with the city administration.

Kaiser pointed out statistics showing accidents rather than war as the major killer of Americans.

Bob Koonce, Chamber of Commerce secretary and secretary of the council, outlined steps taken by the council to improve safety, especially for school children, at the thirteenth and Main street intersection.

Industrial Safety—Harry Schimmel, industrial safety chairman, stated a need for practice in first aid for industry, especially for the new method in artificial respiration which gives a victim twice as much oxygen as the older method.

Hugh Kiddy, chairman of the council's traffic safety program, pointed out that one of five families in the United States will this year suffer the agony of having one of its members involved in a serious accident.

Kiddy pointed out that accidents take not only a toll in human misery, but are a serious economical waste.

F. L. Green, chairman of school safety, cited a two-fold attack through education on hazards to safety. Youth in school today are trained to be safer drivers. Green stated, and in other courses are given detailed first aid instruction and practice.

Lead In Safety—Kaiser stated the council seeks to put Artesia in the lead in safety education and development, and can do so with greater cooperation from residents.

Guests at Wednesday's meeting were Milford Estill, Robert Hess, Earl Grabhorn, J. A. Fairey, and the safety council representatives.

● GENERAL EISENHOWER FOR PRESIDENT ●

REPUBLICAN

THIS TIME! IF YOU ARE GOING TO VOTE FOR -EISENHOWER

Then you owe it to yourself, your community, state and nation to send Pat Hurley to the U. S. Senate; Ed Guthmann and Homer Berkshire to Congress.

- GENERAL EISENHOWER — If you expect Eisenhower to restore honesty, decency and morality to government; throw out the grafters, corruptionists, moral degenerates and swarms of Communists in the high places in our government, you must send Republicans to Congress or he will be unable to do it. For 16 years our Congressional representatives have demonstrated time and again, they will take no part in such a cleanup.
- GENERAL EISENHOWER — will need the help of Republican Senators and Congressmen to help him take action in Korea to end the war or to win. Republicans object to killing, crippling and blinding thousands of our young boys, the flower of American manhood, to keep up a false prosperity and to keep a political party in office.
- GENERAL EISENHOWER — Republicans love and enjoy prosperity, but not enough to saturate it with the blood and lives of our young boys, thousands of whom were and are just out of high school and just beginning to live.
- GENERAL EISENHOWER — apparently has a plan to end the Korean war, which will mean the savings of thousands of lives and lower taxes. God knows we need both. You cannot expect him to win or end the war or lower taxes, if you continue to send men to the U. S. Senate and the lower house of Congress who want to do none of these things.

Your safest bet, in fairness to your children and your neighbor's children, is to vote Republican. It cannot possibly be any worse than the two Democratic wars and a false prosperity based on war.

EDWIN MECHEM FOR GOVERNOR ●

has, beyond a doubt, given the people of New Mexico the cleanest, most capable, efficient and economical government they have had in 18 years.

He could have done a much better job, we'll admit, but all the other state officials are Democrats. They have put party above good government and the welfare of their country. They have blocked him time and again in his efforts to give us better and cleaner government.

Mechem is entitled to a second term and he needs state officials to cooperate with him.

Bulldogs Pile Up Fifth Straight Win 14-0 Over Duke City; Stiff Five Games Remain

GAME IN BRIEF

Passing yardage	0
Passes attempted	7
Passes completed	1
Passes intercepted	1
Punts	5
Punting average	28
Fumbles lost	4

Artesia fans backing the Bulldogs for state championship honors had a little easier time this week as the "Dogs" fifth straight win of the current season Friday night with Albuquerque High School out on the goose-egg end of a 14-0 score.

Fans consulting their calendars nevertheless realize this Friday night's game here with Duke City can be highly important.

In addition, Artesia has still to play at Carlsbad on Oct. 25, Carlsbad on Nov. 7, St. Mary's here on Nov. 14, and Las Cruces there on Nov. 21.

The game is "THE game," as Cal Hall has stated.

Tommy Barker spoke out a little about his candidacy for all-league quarterback honors Friday night against Albuquerque.

Barker helped set up the first drive after the game opened with the kick-off, launched a series of power plays that piled first downs for 77 yards to the Albuquerque end zone. Barker, who Lloyd and Doug Whitefield drove a shove to the Duke City 15, Barker shot a pass to Bill White in the end zone.

With two minutes left after two new quarters, Artesia scored on Barker broke loose around the 40 yard line and drove to the Duke City 43 on two plays. Barker picked up 18 to go the Duke City 40, then went to score.

Heavy penalties slowed the Artesia offensive, at one time early 60 yards to make-up a first down. Bill Keys, Artesia punts announcer, charges that on one occasion Artesia was given a 17-yard penalty for a 15-yard offense, and another time realized five yards when both sides were called offside.

Larry Beadle kick-converted to add two extra points for Artesia cause.

Albuquerque penetrated to the Artesia 10 in the second period, was turned back by a stiff defense that refused to budge.

Nearly all Artesia's penalties were in 15-yard stretches with officials calling "illegal offensive" and "hands" against the contending sides.

Rules for Rating Schools, Officials In Sports Contests Based on 20 Points

- 8.—Strictness and consistency in his decisions and interpretations.
- 9.—Extent to which his officiating promotes good sportsmanship, a clean fast game and a festive feeling.
- 10.—Self control and poise on the floor or field.

Officials mark schools on 10 things:

- 1.—Courtesy shown official by school.
- 2.—Condition of dressing rooms for officials and visiting team.
- 3.—Score board, measuring devices and other equipment.
- 4.—Size, condition, marking, out-of-bounds space of floor or field.
- 5.—Management. Time schedule. Floor or field kept cleared. Orderliness.

- 10.—Was there evidence of betting on the game?

Illinois was admitted to statehood in 1818, but its state legislature didn't authorize a state flag until 1915.

Artesia nets from the 10-yard line, then followed up on the conversion play to give Artesia a 7-0 advantage.

In the final third of the second quarter John Belvin, left halfback, smashed into the striped territory from two yards out, with Bratcher again converting for extra point on a ground play.

The Alta Vista Demons scored in the third period when Doug Wilkinson went 22 yards, and again in the fourth on a 62-yard play starting with Dean Young's aerial to Don Hammett.

Both conversions failed, and Demons' attempt to push ahead were stopped cold by the Hornet fumble recovery.

A large Artesia delegation to Saturday night's game was reported, and comments following the game were exceptionally favorable.

Two Air Force Teams Offer Top Brand Of Football Here Nov. 1

Artestians will see a high brand of football when the Goodfellow Air Force base eleven meets Ellington Air Force base opposition in Artesia Saturday, Nov. 1.

Advance information on the Goodfellow squad shows top experienced men holding down key slots, with college-trained men dominating available players.

Colleges represented on the team include Illinois, Texas Christian, Michigan State, Tulane, and Nebraska, as well as big-city high schools.

Goodfellow's Skyhawks will be coached by 2/Lt. Donald M. Riederer with the assistance of Capt. Homa B. Stilwell, 2/Lt. Fritz Davison, 2/Lt. Dave Bannerman, and A/3C Johnny Feagan.

Coach Riederer was a three-year letterman at the University of Arkansas, and will be playing at Guard in the Skyhawk line. Assistant coaches Bannerman and Davis both played for Navy, and Feagan started for Texas A&M.

Skyhawks are using straight-T and modified split-T formations on offensive and standard five, six, and seven-man lines on defense.

Skyhawk quarterback Bobby Clark, a native of Englewood, Ill., lettered four years at his hometown high school and won a scholarship to the University of Illinois where he played at half and quarter during the '48 through '51 football seasons.

He climaxed his college grid career by seeing action in the 1952 Rosebowl game.

The match in Artesia between Goodfellow and Ellington is sponsored by Artesia Kiwanis club and will be played at Morris Field. Artesia Bulldogs drew a bye for the weekend and no conflict with the service football game is foreseen.

Mr. Everett M. Grantham,

Albuquerque, New Mexico

Dear Mr. Grantham:

Your comments on Governor Edwin L. Mechem's administration have contained errors and misstatements, indicating unreliable sources of information and lack of knowledge on state affairs. I am sure no one aspiring to the high office of Governor, and especially one with your long years as a federal employee, would countenance misrepresentation of facts.

Enclosed is a pamphlet titled "The Center of Your State Government," summarizing some of Governor Mechem's accomplishments. While it is obviously impossible to insert full details in a publication of this size, everything it contains is fully substantiated by public records available to all citizens.

We offer all such records for your investigation, and will place at your disposal trained personnel to facilitate verification and analysis of the facts, which I am sure you will want before commenting further. Please use this opportunity to inform yourself fully on state affairs.

You have, for example, harped on increased costs of operating the bureau of revenue, ignoring the fact that by rigid and impartial enforcement of the tax laws, revenues to New Mexico have been increased $20-million, with an added cost of only $360,000. Anyone familiar with business would consider this a decided economy. Under Governor Mechem, operating cost of the

Conversions Five Hornets Carlsbad Win

Conversions scored by ground play made the difference for Artesia's Hornets in making a 14-12 victory over Carlsbad Demons in a grid game Saturday night on sevenman field.

Artesia scored in the first half of the game, while Alta Vista made its hay in the second. The Hornets stayed on top through the second quarter by stout defense and a key fumble recovery near the mid-field stripe.

Artesia stuck to the ground to the 43 yards in setting up Saturday night's first TD. Clyde Bratcher went over for the Hornets.

Great Books Course

THE INFORMAL GREAT BOOKS course which opens Thursday night here extends an invitation to Artesia adults to learn to read with greater understanding and discernment, to learn to communicate ideas with greater ease, to learn to evaluate the opinions expressed by others, and to learn to think for oneself.

Great Books discussion groups are open to all adults, free of charge. There are no educational requirements other than the ability to read, and a willingness to learn.

This discussion program, established by the Great Books Foundation, is a combination of the oldest kind of education—and the newest. It is the education our founding fathers had. The first principle of democracy is that men are capable of thinking for themselves—that every citizen has the ability to make responsible and intelligent judgments, free from prejudice and selfish interest.

Great Books discussion program is designed to make the benefits of a liberal education available to all adults. This is education for people designed not to train them for occupations, but to be more fully developed human beings.

Every man, no matter where his home, the color of his skin, the form of his government, still is concerned with "what is right" and "what is wrong?" Man's problems still involve the basic issues of life and death, love and hate, war and peace, freedom and slavery, happiness and misery.

Some of mankind's best thinking on these problems has found its way into books which compel those who read to think hard and straight. From these books come the selections used in the Great Books discussion program.

Groups of 20 or more adults meet for two hours every other week under the Great Books plan and discuss under two trained leaders a selection read by the entire group in advance. Many different viewpoints in such a group are brought to bear on the same idea or issue, thus illuminating individual blind spots and prejudices which are stumbling blocks to human understanding.

Understanding is the products of asking questions and finding—not hearing—answers, Great Books leaders believe. Only teachers connected with a Great Books discussion group are the authors of the books themselves, teachers such as Plato, Plutarch, St. Augustine, St. Thomas Aquinas, Machiavelli, Shakespeare, Locke, and Rousseau—and yes, Karl Marx.

Those who are joining this group Thursday night at the library will do well to remember, however, that regular attendance is important because each discussion will involve references to previous discussions; a course of study consists of 18 consecutive meetings for two hours every other week; and the member will be expected to read the assigned reading in advance of each meeting.

Roswell Passes Anti-Dog Ordinance After Postmen's Appeal; Court Studies Secession

POSTMEN IN ROSWELL are smiling after passage of an anti-dog rule by city fathers up there, according to a recent report in the Roswell Record.

A spokesman for Roswell letter carrier waxed eloquent in requesting passage of the anti-dog ordinance, and volunteered to "take any member of the council out and get him dog-bit in 20 minutes."

Not only is the biting bad, according to Bill Trent, the letter carriers' spokesman, but "Dogs nip at heels, they trot through yards and damage them, they molest children. A big dog knocks down a little girl and frightens her to death."

"You can hear the dogs howling at night. There must be 500 of them."
"We'd like you to see we're in bad shape. The situation is getting worse all the time."
"A dog rips the trousers leg of a mailman and bites the mailman's leg. Show the blood to the dog owner and he says, 'Oh, my dog doesn't bite!'"

Freedom of Information

IN SUPPORT OF FREEDOM of information, Kiwanis International at its convention in Seattle this year adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, the founders of our countries wisely provided for free speech as well as a free and independent press, to keep people informed about the activities of their governmental agencies, and

"Whereas, the right of freedom of information is a right which belongs to the whole people, newspapers, magazines, radio, and television being simply avenues to keep the people informed, and

"Whereas, there is a growing tendency on the part of some public officials to feel that they are not accountable to the public, particularly, the handling of information of non-defense departments; that they may conduct the business of their offices in secret; that they may seal or impound public records; that they may divulge only such information as they think is good for the people to know; and that they may extend militaristic security into areas which have no bearing on that security, and

"Whereas, the people are in danger of losing their right to freedom of information by default, unless they demand of their public officials the right of free access to the facts about their governments, except those directly concerned with national security; now, therefore,

"Be it resolved, that Kiwanis International vigorously condemn all such practices, denounce the misuse of official influence and power, and demand that the right of freedom of information be continued as a fundamental right of all the people."

Changes Are Always Good

THE TROUBLE WITH AMERICA today is the fact that the same 'old gang' has been running the country too long for its good.

The question is, however, whether that will be changed. If not those who have profited and benefited the most from the way the 'gang' has run it will keep them in office. Those who register the loudest complaints will stay at home instead of going to the polls and balloting and will help them stay in power.

But there is always danger when one group runs anything too long.

Changes are always good for the public and good for the nation, the state, the county, the city, and the community.

We need these changes. We need change because it brings new individuals into directing the activities of certain organizations, groups or movements.

We need change because it eliminates the complaint, which is always present, that the same old gang is running things and we don't want anything to do with it.

We have certain offices in our state for which an officeholder can not seek over a second consecutive term. We believe it would be a good idea if we had that law governing candidates for all public offices and that it would be a fine thing in our civic and community organizations as well.

It is a standing practice in civic clubs that the president, vice president and some of the other officers can't succeed themselves. Often times the same practice is followed concerning the board of directors.

The feeling seems to be that the honor, if there is any, should be passed around to other members of the club or the group. It is a good thing from that standpoint but it is also a good thing from the standpoint of the organization as well as the public.

Changes, we say, are always good. They are good for a nation when one party does not have and keep a control over public offices. They are good in public offices so that one individual or one group does not continue to hold office indefinitely.

They are good in communities where the leadership of civic and community organizations and groups are passed around because it keeps the control of these bodies out of the hands of a few and place it in the hands of many.

Democratic Candidate Claims Too Much Credit In Giving Party Thanks For Irrigation Works

CLAIMS TOO MUCH CREDIT

Senator Sparkman, Democratic vice presidential candidate, chose a poor time and place to claim too much credit for the Democrats for development of water resources that have turned desert land into rich irrigation fields.

And Gen. Patrick Hurley, Republican candidate for Senator, was quick to point, that the Elephant Butte project on the Rio Grande which brought prosperity to the Mesilla El Paso valleys was a development under the Republican administration of William Howard Taft.

The Carlsbad project was also taken over as a federal project under the Republican Administration of Theodore Roosevelt, who is often credited with being the first to go all out for reclamation policies.

These two projects, still the most productive in the state, have since been supplemented by the Middle Rio Grande Conservancy District, and the Tucumcari irrigation project. The former District is a project authorized by a Republican Congress. Its financing was made possible by the purchase of bonds by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation during a Republican administration, and it has only been recently that we have been fighting for a federal rehabilitation program, and the taking over of the district by the Bureau of Reclamation. And it might be noted that the authorization of the program was during the 80th Republican Congress.

The Democrats are entitled to credit for having the Tucumcari project authorized and funds approved for its construction.

So the score, on a strictly partisan basis, might be said to stand three to one in favor of the Republicans in the development of four of the state's largest irrigation projects.

—Albuquerque Journal.

TAOS RECREATION

Only a dream for many years, a Taos recreation program for both children and adults, is now close to reality. As soon as enough revenue stamps have been received to supply all the stores, the town will start collecting the one-cent-a-package cigarette tax. The money raised should provide for the salary of a recreation director. The committee has decided to offer $250 a month in order to insure getting a really qualified person, and both play groups and training groups are planned.

It is a very great pity that there is still no place to hold these activities. Mr. Otero has offered the use of the school for the children's programs, but this leaves the adults with no provision for heating and light, which would be big items if the Harwood or the Fire House were used.

Thorne House has an income that would take care of utilities, but the committee is not able to meet the stipulations set by the Taos Foundation, which owns the building. The stipulation

THOUGHTS IN PRINT—

Does Newspaper Support Given To Presidential Candidate Help?

Approximately 2,000 daily newspapers in the United States are not giving their readers only one side of the presidential campaign or biased reporting, Roscoe Drummond, respected chief of the Christian Science Monitor Washington bureau, believes.

But 75 per cent of those papers are editorially supporting General Eisenhower, and those 75 per cent reach 81 per cent of U. S. newspaper readers.

For 20 years, however, the majority of newspaper readers have voted against the editorial views of the majority of the newspapers, which causes critics to point out editorial pages have lost much of their influence as far as election goes, Drummond observes.

That's a buckshot way of stating what has happened, the news-Quote, Unquote

"Better we refrain from competing in denouncing each other in a scramble for votes, admit our common mistakes—and get on with our business."—Governor Adlai Stevenson, commenting on political campaigning.

"Russia has tested three atom bombs, make no mistakes about that. They're much the same as we used in Japan. And she can develop the means of delivering them. There's not the slightest doubt about that."—Dr. Vannevar Bush, addressing American Automobile association.

"This nation is in the midst of a tremendous period of new discovery and invention... manufacturing capacity is 50 per cent greater, steel capacity is up by 20 per cent, electric capacity for 50 per cent, petroleum capacity by 63 per cent."—Secretary of Treasury John Snyder.

heavily into the school adhesive tape budget every time they go out on the gridiron. At the half way mark in their schedule the 'Dogs had already used a case of tape, which the school gets for $100. Now on their second case, the gridsters will use a little over $200 worth during the current football season. Artesia's football boys go into action with ankles and knees heavily taped, since injury to those vital spots are the most disabling—and most frequent. One chief concern among squad members—do they have enough skin where the tape goes to last 10 games?

ARTESIA ATTORNEY NEIL

Watson was accused in the Carlsbad Current-Argus after the county GOP reorganization of rigging the convention to follow his own private plan. A day later the C-A backed up and reported "A Carlsbad Republican who attended the county GOP reorganization meeting here the other day says at least 90 per cent of those in attendance at the meeting were in favor of selecting Ed Kinney of Artesia as county chairman (as was done). Earlier some GOPers had complained that Neil Watson, an Artesia lawyer, had dominated the meeting." The earlier C-A report which accused Mr. Watson had quoted no one, but rather sounded like a newspaper charge.

GEORGE A. SHIPLEY OF

Alamogordo, Republican candidate for supreme court justice, was in Artesia the other day and expressed interest in Southeastern New Mexico's water problems. Mr. Shipley said he had reliable information that on file with the Army engineers is a detailed plan under which water from the Mississippi system would be brought to the arid Southwest, especially New Mexico. This plan, now several years old, would cost "much less" than the U. S. has spent for foreign aid, the candidate observed, and would immensely benefit the entire country. But like many another New Mexican, geological survey office in Artesia was recently given a lizard-like animal discovered by a neighbor near the mailbox. In spite of years of living in the Southwest, Mr. Frost was unable to fully identify the critter, so he packed it off to the Milwaukee Public Museum as a gift, along with a query as to what the thing might be. So far all he has learned is in a letter the assistant curator sent: "Dear Mr. Frost—Mr. Gromme, curator of birds and mammals, has turned over to our department a preserved specimen of a giant centipede that he had received from you. We want to thank you for your interest in sending us the specimen. We would like to keep the specimen for our collection if we may. I have returned from the field and had not had the opportunity of identifying the specimen specifically as yet. Some of the very large subterranean centipedes are rather dangerous, provided as they are with a rather potent poison. The first pair of legs (those nearest the head) are curved in toward the head and function as a pair of poison jaws. It is through these jaw-like first pair of legs that the poison is emitted. The dentist, was recently besieged with telephone calls following publication in this paper of a story on a Chamber of Commerce board of directors meeting. Following the minutes of the meeting as furnished us by the chamber, the Advocate reported the board of directors had decided it could take no action in securing a deferment from Naval service for Dr. Ruppert. Actually the chamber needed to take action; the doctor, one of Artesia's three practicing dentists, had merely received a routine questionnaire. He reports he is still very much in practice, he tends to stay in practice here as long as possible, and above all has not been called by the Navy.

Mr. Shipley believes it'll be years before anything so ambitious gets beyond Army engineers' files.

Evangelist to Continue Baptist Church Revival

Evangelist Louis Wunneburger is proclaiming Christ daily at the First Baptist church of Artesia. He presents the Lord Jesus Christ as healer of broken hearts, deliverer to those in bondage, and savior from sin.

Dr. Wunneburger comes to Artesia from Mobile, Ala., where he closed a meeting Sunday night. Last night he spoke for the first time in Artesia using for his subject, "Trust in the Sickle and Reap."

Dr. Wunneburger delivered his message to a large group in the new sanctuary of the church and was heard by a large radio audience.

Major Louis Wunneburger served as chaplain in the army of the United States during the recent war and gained distinction in both the European and Pacific theaters. While in Japan he worked extensively among the native Japanese. One of the most interesting of his experiences was the conversion and baptism of a Buddhist priest.

Dr. Wunneburger will tell this story in one of his sermons at the First Baptist church this week.

The evangelist, widely used among Southern Baptist churches, will speak Tuesday evening at 7:30 on the topic, "I Believe God." Wednesday evening the topic will be, "Our Greatest Need," followed Thursday with, "What Christ Means to Me." All evening services will be broadcast over KSVF, 7:30 to 8:30 each evening.
