around Muleshoe

At presstime, funeral services for Tye Freeman, seven, son of Kim Branscum of Lazbuddie, were pending at Ellis Funeral Home.

The youngster was pronounced dead at Muleshoe Area Medical Center Tuesday evening, following an ATV accident near Lazbuddie.

Among survivors are his grandmother, Pat Moore, of Muleshoe; a great-grandmother, Edith Palmer of Muleshoe and great-uncle, Bob Palmer, of Muleshoe.

Coach Leon Hagertman said that since Shallowater is in the football playoffs, the scheduled Muleshoe-Shallowater basketball game for Friday has been cancelled.

However, the MHS teams will be playing Nazareth on Saturday in Nazareth.

JV girls will play at 2 p.m.; JV boys at 3:30; Varsity girls at 5:00 p.m. and the Varsity boys at 6:30 p.m.

The MHS Junior Class, and sponsors, Linda Tanksley, Colleen Tollett, Leon Hagerman and Bill Savuto, said Thank You to parents, friends and the community for support of the turkey and dressing dinner served Friday night preceding the Muleshoe-Littlefield football game.

Friday night, the Muleshoe Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star will sponsor youth skating at the Bailey County Coliseum.

Skating hours will be 7-9 p.m., and the cost is $1 per skater.

Sammie Ethridge, president of the Muleshoe Chapter #3169, of AARP, said they will meet this Friday, November 17, for their regular November meeting.

The covered dish luncheon begins at 11:30 a.m.

Leland Gustin, 51, of Friona, said he will be a candidate for Parmer County Judge, subject to the action of the Democratic primary election in 1990.

Gustin, a longtime county resident, said he would make his official announcement after January 1, 1990.

Dee Meeks, of Portales, said she would like to express her sincere Thanks to two 16-18 year old youths who assisted her when she had car trouble near Muleshoe recently.

Mrs. Meeks said her problem occurred approximately a mile and a half west of the Portales cutoff while she was on her way to Clovis.

The two youth, driving a gray Ford, stopped and helped her, and refused her offer of pay.

"It is so nice to be able to compliment our youth," she said, "instead of everyone just hearing about the bad things they do."

Mrs. Meeks said she just wanted people to know -- there are very good youth around Muleshoe.

Longhorns Tie Down Playoff Spot In 6-Man

This Friday night, the Lazbuddie Longhorns will host Silverton in a Bi-District playoff game at Lazbuddie, with gametime set for 7:30 p.m.

Last Friday night, in non-district action, the Longhorns ripped Cotton Center 55-0 in a game that was over by halftime, due to the six man 45-point rule.

In the first quarter, Eddie Zamora put the 'Horns first points on the scoreboard when he punched through to the end zone from two yards out. The PAT failed. Then Kirk Jesko came back with a couple in the first quarter.

Kirk scored first on a 42 yarder from Michael Williams, then Michael kicked the extra points. Kirk scored again on a two yard run, with the point after failing.

Ending scoring for the first quarter was Michael Williams, who returned a punt 50 yards to paydirt. The point after try failed.

At the end of the first, it was a 26-0 ballgame.

In the second quarter, Kevin McGehee scored on a 40 yard pass from Michael Williams, then the extra point was made on a pass from Eddie Zamora to Michael.

Not to be left out, Paul Williams scored next on a 48 yard punt return. The PAT failed.

Matt Corbey added the next points for the Longhorns from two yards out, and Luis Gonzales kicked the extra points.

Luis Gonzales made the final 'Horn TD, this one a 20 yard interception return, then he kicked the extra points.

In the game, Cotton Center had -17 yards rushing and 18 yards passing for a net one yard for the game.

students Tuesday at noon.

Jay Feagley, in charge of the program, introduced Mrs. Wrinkle, who in turn, introduced Monica Swint, Michelle Finney and Kelly Conklin, three of the nine local youth who accompanied her on a European tour during the past summer.

Mrs. Wrinkle said the 15 day tour was taken in June, and she said they would talk about some of the fun things they did -- some of the fun things they saw -- and some things they would not talk about at all.

First, they ran into plane trouble in Baltimore, and finally flew to Frankfurt, Germany to meet the other members of the tour. It took them 46 hours to get to Germany to begin the tour.

And, of course, the girls all immediately "liked" Andy - the handsome tour guide.

Their first day was spent in Heidelberg where they visited a castle, then it was on to Munich.

Mrs. Wrinkle said Mercedes, Porsche and BMW cars were as common on the streets in Germany as Ford is here.

Kelly Conklin said they were very tired, as they had not slept for 36 hours, and the first four days, they stayed in a different place each night.

They quickly found out 'water' is a premium over there. You have to buy water, and Kelly said it had bubbles in it, like mineral water.

Mrs. Wrinkle said they visited a German beer garden, expecting to hear German music -- but it was American music being played there. She said the nine enjoyed the trip to the beer garden, and meeting new people.

She also put in a 'plug' for her planned European tour next year, which will be for adults only. Part of the tour will be to see the world-famous 'Passion Play.'

Community Thanksgiving Service Set

Bailey County Ministerial Alliance will again sponsor the annual Community Thanksgiving Service.

It will be Sunday night, November 19, at 7:15 p.m. with host church this year, the Trinity Baptist Church, located at East Avenue B and Fourth Streets.

Rev. Richard Edwards, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Muleshoe, will bring this year's message and the choir of the First Baptist Church of Muleshoe will present the special music.

A very special part of the service will be a free-will offering. This money is used by the BCMA to help indigent people who are traveling through the area.

Recently the funds were depleted, and no vouchers could be issued indigent transients for food, lodging or gas.

In this holiday season, you are asked to open your heart -- and your wallet, and give freely to help those less fortunate.

If for some reason, you cannot attend the Community Thanksgiving Service, you are encouraged to donate funds to the Bailey County Ministerial Alliance to help these unfortunate people.

You may send your contribution to the BCMA, %Charles Fisk, Progress Baptist Church, or to the president, Rev. Dale Berry, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church at P. O. Box 411, Muleshoe.

The BCMA president said they would like to extend an invitation to everyone in the community to attend this special service.

with Keith Stevens of Terra, International and Bill Rogers of the Texas Department of Agriculture about a proposed removal of the herbicide Dicamba (Banvill) from the county's restricted use of herbicides.

Stephens said he would like to see Dicamba removed from the county's restricted list, and no permit required for use of the herbicide, which would allow county farmers to apply the herbicide to their crops, especially their corn crops.

The Banvill permit is making illegal operators out of a lot of farmers," said Stephens, adding that the permit is given to the farmers, and most fail to send the permit and 10 cents per acre required to the TDA for processing.

He asked commissioners to take the necessary steps to remove Dicamba from the restricted list.

Rogers explained that TDA is not trying to influence the commissioners one way or the other. He said he has never worked a case involving Dicamba in Bailey County in the past five years, and has only worked one case involving the herbicide in

Norman Perez National Qualifier In Cross Country

Norman Perez, of Muleshoe, is currently ranked 22nd in the nation in cross country running, and has qualified for the national cross country meet.

A student at Fort Hayes (Kan.) State University, he was a member of the team that won second in Baldwin, Kansas last weekend. He had a personal 15th place in the meet in the five mile course with a time of 26:56.

This is the second year in a row for Fort Hays State University to qualify for the national meet.

The national meet will be held this Saturday, November 18 in Kenosha, Wis.

Local County Agent Receives 'Top' Award

Spencer D. Tanksley, Bailey County Extension Service agent, received the Texas Superior Service Award on November 7 at Texas A&M University, College Station.

Dr. Zerle Carpenter, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, presented the award, highest given by the education agency to its faculty.

Tanksley was recognized for "development of educational programs encouraging diversification and conservation of natural resources, increasing agricultural profitability and enhancing community life and prosperity in Bailey County."

Tanksley was a key figure in the introduction and establishment of corn as a major row crop in Bailey County during the 1960s. In the late 1970s, he served as a catalyst that brought the food corn industry into the High Plains.

The Russian wheat aphid was first discovered in the United States in Bailey County. Tanksley was quick to mobilize a team of Extension Service and Experiment Station personnel to identify the pest, assess the damage and recommend control practices.

As a result of Tanksley's underground water conservation promotion, 80 percent of Bailey County agricultural producers have adopted water conserving devices.

His educational programs in beef production with the cow/calf stocker and feedlot industries have led to expansions of these enterprises.

Auburn-Georgia May Be
'Game Of The Week'

There will be more uncluttering of the standings in the Southeast Conference Saturday as four of the top teams take aim at each other. Auburn entertains Georgia in one of the feature games while Tennessee hosts Mississippi in another. Alabama's league record won't be in danger as it meets independent Southern Mississippi.

Defending champion Auburn has had no problems with Georgia the past two years beating them 20-10 last season and 27-11 in 1987. However, the Dogs burned the Tigers three years ago 20-16, a loss that dropped Auburn out of the league title race. The Tigers' only conference loss this fall was a 21-14 defeat by Tennessee so Georgia will be playing the role of spoiler. An Auburn victory could make the December 2nd clash between Alabama and Auburn in the contest for all the marbles in the Southeast. First things first. We like the Tigers over Georgia. However, don't skip by the Vols of Tennessee. If they beat Mississippi, as expected, and come up with wins over Kentucky and Vanderbilt in their final conference games, they could still tie for the title providing Auburn beats Alabama.

Happily, there were more winners than losers for November 4th, so our overall average is .748 based on 1404 right, 472 wrong.

CITY GRANTS FRANCHISE TO WEST TEXAS GAS CO.: LINE HERE IN 1930

Mr. W.L. Ryan, superintendent at city plants for the West Texas Gas Company, was in Muleshoe Tuesday and met with the city commission to consider a franchise for natural gas for this place. After discussion of the proposition, the commissioners granted the franchise, which guarantees that work will start on the line not later than October 1st, 1930, and that gas will be furnished in the city not later than December 1930.

The West Texas Company, with headquarters at Amarillo, is now supplying 29 towns on the Plains with natural gas. Among these towns are Canyon, Hereford, Plainview, Lockney, Floydada, and Lubbock.

A minimum rate is $1.50 for the first one thousand feet of gas; next 49,000 feet, 1-2 cents per thousand feet, next 100,000 feet, 50 cents, and all over 100,000 feet 40 cents per thousand.

TEXAS TAXES EACH FAMILY $6 EVERY WEEK

Tax bill paid by the people of Texas during the 1938 fiscal year amounted to $6 a week per family, according to a new statewide publication, the Taxpayers Digest, a preliminary number of which was issued this week.

The new semimonthly publication, described as "a Texas journal of accurate news and pertinent comment relating to the public revenue—local, state and national," is published by the Taxpayers Research Bureau, Dallas.

Mission of the new tax newspaper, according to its editor, is to help the average man to study and understand the fact that the Texas Tax Bill has been growing steadily during the last 15 years, and is still growing.

SAVINGS ARE NOT TO BE SNEEZED AT

"Tis well known that the use of an automatic electric dishwasher reduces the use of tea towels from an average of 42 per month to less than half of that figure. But how to measure the great drop in the use of hankies and tissues resulting from this homemaker's helper? Its pretty difficult to compute even though most families contribute to the almost sterilizing action of dishwashers the fact colds are less often "common" to the family, and that their is reduction in passing around of other contagious illnesses. Bacteria removal through machine washing more than meets U.S. Public Health Standards for cleanliness in dishwashings.

Church Parlor

The Guild Circle of the United Methodist Women met Nov. 6 in the church parlor with Frances Potter as hostess. The invocation was led by Grace Lopes.

The conclusion of the study of Esther was given by Dorothy Drake. It was an interesting account of the second day of banquet that Esther gave in her quest for the liberation of her people, the Jews.

Business included reading and approval of the minutes of the previous meeting. Dorothy Drake reported on the Conference meeting in Amarillo. Those in attendance from Sudan besides Mrs. Drake were Mary Olds and Margaret Smith of the morning circle. She reported a very interesting speaker who was from Nigeria.

Mary Tollett reminded the group that the "World Thank Offering" boxes are to be brought to the next meeting. Pennies were again collected for the "mile of pennies" program.

Refreshments of hot apple cider, gingerbread with whipped cream, topped with a cherry were served to the following members: Dorothy Drake, Grace Lopes, Mae White, Eloise Curry, Verena McAdams, Caroline Hawthorne, Mary Tollett, Jackie McAipin and Anita Wallace.

Turkeys, Trimmings Best Food Buy In November

Turkeys and the trimmings for Thanksgiving meals are the best food buys of November, according to a food marketing expert with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. Dick Edwards, economist in food distribution at Texas A&M University, said consumers will be able to get their turkeys at a bargain, but some will have strings attached.

"The lower the price, the greater the restrictions will be," Edwards said.

He said turkey prices at about the 59-cents-a-pound level will have no restrictions on the amount of purchase required to qualify.

"To get a 29-cent-per-pound deal, the restriction will be a $50 to $75 minimum purchase. You can get a free bird with a $200-$400 purchase level requirement, but this amount can be accumulated during a three-to-four-week period," Edwards said.

"So, if a free turkey appeals to your budget, watch food ads early in November, since this type of purchase program must start early in the month," he said.

Edwards said better turkey prices generally are found at Thanksgiving than at Christmas, so prudent shoppers may want to buy several turkeys this month if they have freezer space.

He said the second best food bargain of November will be reduced prices for holiday baking supplies, including frozen pie crusts, flour, shortening, butter, cake mixes, chocolate chips, brown and powdered sugar and dried fruits.

"Manufacturers of baking products will attempt to increase their November business, and their prime strategy will be use of coupons," Edwards said.

"So take time to check your Sunday newspaper supplements and the food section on the day food ads are printed for coupons on baking products," Edwards said.

Other featured food items that relate to the Thanksgiving meal will include stuffing mixes, canned pumpkin, canned and fresh sweet potatoes, cranberry sauce and fresh cranberries for those who want to make their own sauce.

Food retailers will have alternative foods on special for people who don't wish to have turkey on Thanksgiving.

"These items include duck, rock cornish and roasting hens, Pork, including hams, will be featured, with some hams at the 99-cent-range," Edwards said.

Edwards said consumers should look for special prices on broccoli, brussel sprouts, celery, carrots, cabbage and white potatoes.

He said in-season fruit also will be discounted, and leading that list will be apples, oranges, pears and grapes.

First seasonal offerings of grapefruit, oranges, tangelos and tangerines also will be made early this month.

The food expert said other grocery items with reduced prices this month will include hot chocolate, canned soups and canned chili. Coffee prices also should continue low, since

It was reported that the members then enjoyed a feast of beef stroganoff over rice, salad, rolls and topped off with pumpkin cake for dessert.

A business meeting was held with a discussion centering around plans for the December 15 bake sale.

The program consisted of members sharing information about their various backgrounds, places of birth, etc., with everyone learning a little bit more about each other.

The next meeting will be held November 21 in the home of Cindy Barrett.

members of the international coffee cartel have not yet reached an agreement on exports.

Although winter's official arrival does not come until December, the cold and sneezing season begins this month.

"Stock up on your winter cough and cold remedies, as these items will be featured in many supermarkets beginning in mid-November," Edwards said.

Modern-Day Thanksgiving Dinner Not Traditional

Thanksgiving for most of us means turkey drenched with cornbread dressing and gravy; buttery potato pie laden with gooey marshmallows; vegetables drowning in cheese and hollandaise sauces; fruit salad swimming in poppy seed dressing; sweet banana bread; and pumpkin and pecan pies crowned with whipped topping alongside a vat of vanilla ice cream.

The calorie and fat counts of such Thanksgiving dinners are obviously sky high—some ranging upwards of 1800 calories. But year after year, we gladly pass it off as "tradition"—with our cholesterol-free diets and low-impact aerobics classes resuming the following Monday.

However, the modern-day Thanksgiving dinner is anything but traditional. In 1620, when William Bradford, the Governor of the Plymouth Colony, declared the first day of Thanksgiving, none of the artery-clogging choices listed above were on the menu. In fact, the 90 Indians and 50 settlers who took part in the feast had a modest, relatively low-fat meal.

The first Thanksgiving Day celebrants ate venison and possibly fowl, such as partridges, ducks, geese, and turkey. However, no proof exists that turkey was consumed that day. The meat was topped with cranberries, which were boiled and crushed into a sauce. The pilgrims are also believed to have eaten oysters, clams and fish, as well as wild fruits, honey and nuts. Lacking from the pilgrims' menu were apple cider and milk, butter and cheese (since no cows had been aboard the Mayflower).

Since corn and pumpkin were abundant in the Plymouth Colony area, these vegetables were a part of the first Thanksgiving. However, the pilgrims were limited as to how they could prepare food. Corn was boiled as "hasty pudding," kneaded into a pseudo-bread and fried in cakes. Pumpkin was eaten plain and boiled. Since the flour supplies had been exhausted and wheat had not yet been cultivated in the New World, the "traditional" pies and breads were nonexistent at the celebration.

Now, you probably don't want to resort to the slim kind of pickin's pilgrims had for the sake of tradition and healthier eating, but there are ways in which you can enjoy an upscale Thanksgiving dinner with downscaled fat and calories.

DOWNSCALING FESTIVE FAT AND CALORIES

Scott & White Dietitian Carla Beard offers the following suggestions for reducing the fat and calories when preparing the Thanksgiving feast:

•Baste the turkey and flavor the stuffing with broth rather than margarine.

•Consider not buttering the vegetables.

•Do not add honey or sugar to fruit concoctions; they are naturally sweet.

•Serve fruit or wine punches or tomato juice instead of egg nog.

•Don't put whip cream or non-dairy whipped topping on the pies.

•Use the following substitutes in your recipes:

Use	Use
whole milk	skim milk
evaporated- evaporated	skim milk
1 whole egg	egg whites
butter	diet margarine
oil	vegetable, non stick spray
mayonnaise	diet mayonnaise
sour cream	plain, low-fat yogurt
cottage cheese	low-fat, 1% cottage cheese

Ms. Beard warns, however, that "You have to experiment with recipes—some substitutions work better than others."

MODERATION

For everyone, "Moderation is the key," declares Ms. Beard. "You don't want to limit yourself so much that you feel denied. Eating is a major part of celebrating the holidays. However, some people gain up to 20 pounds between Thanksgiving and Super Bowl Sunday!"

HOLIDAY PARTY GOERS

For holiday party goers, Ms. Beard recommends the following:

•Look at the table and see what you want to eat before you start eating.

•Cut down on your portion sizes and avoid second helpings.

•After your first drink, switch to drinking club soda, mineral water, or plain water with a spritz of lemon.

•Fill up on fresh fruits and vegetables before you get to the desserts.

•Be wary of party dips—dips made of sour cream and mayonnaise may have 100 calories per tablespoon.

•If you have to eat pies, ice cream, etc., just nibble, but remember that "nibbles add up, too," warns Ms. Beard.

•Opt for cookies and cakes without fillings or icings for less calories.

SET A HOLIDAY WEIGHT GOAL

Finally, do not try to start a diet over the holidays. Instead, "Set a weight goal for the holidays," advises Ms. Beard. "Watch frequently and if you notice you are gaining weight, eat lightly for about a week."

Historical information taken from Thanksgiving by Diana Karter Appelbaum, published by Facts on File Publications (New York, New York, 1984).

Oat Bran

Best Source Of Soluble Fiber

Oat bran has emerged as the super health food of the '80s and its popularity will most likely extend through the '90s. Why the sudden oat bran craze? Why have food products containing oat bran taken America by storm?

Oat bran is one of the best sources of soluble fiber. And scientists propose that soluble fiber has the potential to help lower blood cholesterol levels when part of a low-fat, low-cholesterol diet. Studies indicate that reduced serum cholesterol levels can decrease the accompanying risks of heart disease and hardening of the arteries. Unlike insoluble fiber which predominates in wheat, adds bulk to the diet and aids digestion and laxation, soluble fiber inhibits harmful fats from collecting in the bloodstream and transports them from the body. The National Cancer Institute recommends that we eat at least 20 to 30 grams of dietary fiber (a combination of soluble and insoluble fibers) per day.

Oat bran is not a cure-all for high cholesterol levels or heart attacks. To be effective in helping to lower cholesterol levels, oat bran must be part of a healthy fat-modified diet combined with sufficient exercise.

The key to a healthy diet is balance and moderation, including low-fat foods from all four food groups. In addition to including oat bran in your diet, health professionals recommend the following simple diet modifications:

•Broil, bake and poach foods instead of frying them.

•Limit consumption of egg yolks

•Switch to skim milk and low-fat dairy products.

•Use polyunsaturated vegetable oils and margarine.

•Select lean cuts of red meat, trimmed of all visible fat. Remove the skin from poultry.

•Eat a nutritious breakfast everyday.

•Increase consumption of complex carbohydrates.

•Eat a variety of fiber-rich foods including, fruits, vegetables, dried beans and whole grain breads and cereals.

•Drink plenty of water.

Switching to a low-fat diet doesn't mean that dining suddenly becomes dull and meals are more complicated to prepare. It's simply a matter of learning easy low-fat cooking techniques, such as those listed above, and becoming a smart shopper. For example, the Martha White Oat Bran Muffin Mix is a delicious, convenient and versatile way to include oat bran in the diet.

When changing to a fat-modified, high fiber diet, you'll rediscover the natural tastes and textures of good food as well as adopt a healthier lifestyle.

The cast includes Lynnea Chapman as Lucy, Shawn Neilson as Linus, Sherri Goetz as Patty, William Chadwick as Schroeder, Jerome Steuart as Snoopy, and Kevin Hare as Charlie Brown.

County Discusses

Lamb County.

The TDA representative explained to commissioners the process to run legal notices and conduct a public hearing for the public's approval or disapproval of the proposed removal of the herbicide from the restricted list, which includes 2-4-D and other herbicides.

Commissioner Joey Kindle, of Precinct Three, said the people in his precinct are 'against' aerial application of the herbicide, because more cotton is grown in that area, he said, and the farmers did not want the possibility of 'drift' into their cotton fields.

After some discussion, it was determined to seek a change in the restricted list, and allow both aerial and ground rig application of Dicamba herbicide, by posting a "notice of intent of spraying" and for commercial applicators to obtain the necessary permit in the northern part of the county, divided by 746 West (seven miles) south; then west to the state line; east to the Lamb County line and north to the Parmer County line.

Bailey County Judge Jim Watson will be drawing up the proper wording, and sending to TDA in Austin, seeking permission to conduct a public hearing in December on the proposed change.

When asked how close aerial applications could be made near the City of Muleshoe, Rogers said if a field needed sprayed right next to a person's house, it could be sprayed, as long as the plane conformed to FAA regulations.

Appearing before commissioners was Don Carriker, from the Texas Association of Counties, with quotes on various insurance for the county.

County officials obtained professional liability at a cost of $1,848 which has a $1,000 deductible; pays $1 million, plus $100,000 punitive damage. Approved also was a $75,000 policy for both the county and district clerks. The premium for the county clerk's office is $840, and $956 for the district clerk's office.

Students, Teacher

She said she has 10 signed up for the tour at this time, and would like to have two to four more adults for the educational and interesting tour.

From Munich, Mrs. Wrinkle said they went to Austria "Through some of the most beautiful country in Europe."

She asked Monica to tell of her adventures with a Gondola ride, who talked about almost being 'ripped off' by the gondola operator. "The water was green, but it didn't stink, though," she added.

Rome was said to be truly beautiful with the olives and vineyards.

According to Mrs. Wrinkle, proscuitto was the best food found in Italy, although she said they also have the best ice cream in the world.

They told of visiting the cathedral, which is the largest in the world, while in Rome, and also going to a square, and, along with approximately 100,000 other people, being blessed by Pope John Paul, who appeared high above them on a balcony.

She said that even non-Catholics had to be impressed with the crowd, who were quiet, and not pushing and shoving at all for such a very large crowd.

Kelly told of visiting a palace, then the Roman Coliseum.

One interesting tour was of the catacombs, and Mrs. Wrinkle explained how the catacombs were built underground to use to bury Christians. She said the one they visited had not been used since the 5th century. She said three major catacombs are located around Rome.

They told of visiting the Pantheon, constructed in 25B.C. and the Coliseum, constructed in 70A.D.

From Rome, it was on to Florence, Italy, termed "a neat little town on a hillside." There, they visited, and climbed the stairs in the Leaning Tower of Pisa. It was explained that the steps were slippery and tilted.

Kelly said the Leaning Tower of Pisa is actually a bell tower for the cathedral.

In Florence, they ate at an outdoor cafe, and although there are no flies in Europe, there is another problem. Kelly said she threw a crust of pizza to a couple of pigeons nearby. All of a sudden, she said about 2-3,000 pigeons descended on them wanting their share.

Part of their stay in Florence included a visit to a disco and lots of shopping, including the purchase of leather jackets.

Monica told of her adventures riding a taxi in Florence and Kelly added that the male people in Italy are 'very friendly.'

The got immediate proposals of marriage, and some immediately told them they were in love with them.

From Italy, they were off to Switzerland and Lucerne, and talked about the modern rest rooms, where you just put your hands under the faucet and the water starts without having to turn it on. They said you pay, though, to use the restrooms.

Michelle Finney said they found Lucerne to be a really clean place, very friendly and the people had a lot of pride. "It was very nice," she added.

Then, it was on to Paris, and a visit to the Eiffel Tower, Notre Dame and cathedrals. They also visited a perfumery and found very good food in Paris. They found the food was different prices, according to whether you ate outside, inside, or received 'food to go.' Pastries cost more than a hamburger, added Mrs. Wrinkle.

In London, they visited St. Paul Cathedral, Big Ben, the changing of the guard at the palace, and Covent Gardens, among other places.

Then it was a 15 hour trip back to Lubbock, then on to Muleshoe.

Mrs. Wrinkle encouraged the Rotarians to consider sending their teenagers on a European tour. "It will be good for them to realize something exists outside the boundaries of Muleshoe."

Before the program, President Terry Hutto reminded the Rotarians of the "Meet the Mules and Mulettes Night" for tonight, Thursday, at 7 p.m. at Watson Junior High School gym. This will be followed by a benefit game played for the basketball program at the school. The Rotarians will be playing the coaches.

Admission will be $1 for everyone, and a concession stand will be available.

He also said a memorial service will be held for the late Rex Webster on Friday, November 17, at the Lubbock Country Club. Admission is $50 each with the funds to go to Rotary International.

He also reminded that on Saturday, November 18, between 10 a.m.-2 p.m., the Boy Scouts will be picking up bags of canned foods over Muleshoe.

He asked for pickups to help drive the Boy Scouts around to pick up the food.

Next week, Tommy Gunstream will have the program, followed by Mike Hahn, Larry Hall and Sam Harlan.

Winner of the Polio Plus drawing was Lonnie Adrian.

Out of town Rotarians were J. B. Sudderth, Daren Sudderth, Walter Hughes and Charles Aycock, all of the Texico-Farwell Rotary Club; Rotary Anns Myrt Feagley and Julie Cage; and two visitors with Mark Heckerman, Jed McKee and Ernest Cadenhead.

celebration on Sunday, November 19. They will be celebrating the crop and harvest for this year.

'Harvest Parade' starts at Sherley-Anderson Elevator in Lazbuddie at 9:30 a.m. and will go from the elevator to the church.

Worship service will be at 10:30 a.m., followed by a covered dish luncheon at the church.

The church suggests you wear your harvest clothing -- and said anyone is invited to attend this special celebration.

Tickets are $7.50 for students and $15 for adults, and will enable the holder to attend ALL home basketball games for junior high and high school.

A benefit meal for Billy Wayne Goar of the Needmore community will be held Sunday, November 19, 11:30 a.m.-2 p.m. in the Sudan school cafeteria.

Barbecue Brisket and all the trimmings, as well as homemade desserts will be served.

The group is asking a minimum donation of $3.50 per plate, and if you are unable to attend and would like to donate, please send your check to:

Jerry Bellar, Route 1, Box 32, Sudan, TX 79371, Phone 227-2454 or Deborah Noble, 302 West Ave. J, Muleshoe, Texas 79347, phone 272-4711.

No excuse is as good as a satisfactory performance.

Advertising between now and Christmas will sell a world of goods.

This makes a total premium of $3,654 for the three offices.

Carriker explained that this covers all elected public officials and their employees, except the county clerk and district clerk, who come under a different state law, as do the judges and district attorney.

It was also noted in the minutes that the TAC is exempt from the bid process.

Bailey County Sheriff Jerry Hicks met with commissioners in the afternoon session. He looked at the two bids received for a new sheriff's office car, and recommended the Chevrolet bid from Robert D. Green. Commissioners accepted the recommendation and approved the $10,511.13 bid. Muleshoe Motor Co. had submitted a bid in the amount of $10,997 for a new Ford.

Sheriff Hicks said the Chevrolet would come equipped with "everything we asked for, and it costs less."

The sheriff then proposed that the balance from the new car account in the budget, be added to the capital improvement fund for the sheriff's office, add $500 more and purchase new radios for the three sheriff's office vehicles.

Commissioners were reluctant to have to amend the budget for the $500 so tentatively approved two new radios, although no formal motion was made to purchase the two radios, waiting to see how much it would cost to install the radios, lights, and other equipment on the new car.

Next was a request by the sheriff for the county to waive the six months probation pay cut, which is 10 percent, for new deputy, Don Carter. Sheriff Hicks explained that Deputy Carter is fully qualified, and fully certified and has worked as an officer in Muleshoe for since June, 1987.

He also said that although he would agree with the probationary period for new employees, that according to state law, deputies "serve at the pleasure of the sheriff," and can be removed for malfeasance of duty at any time, not just during a probationary period.

He added, "I am having a hard time hanging onto people anyway. We are just a training station for them to learn, then go on to better jobs."

County Clerk Barbara McCamish reminded commissioners that they have waived the probation pay cut in the past when they have hired someone with prior experience.

Commissioners unanimously agreed to waive the pay cut for Deputy Carter.

After some discussion, it was also approved to waive the probationary pay cut for Jackey Wayne Burris, assistant director of the Bailey County EMS Ambulance Service.

Both waivers were made effective November 1, 1989.

In other discussions with commissioners, the sheriff said he was running into problems manning the jail on holiday and vacation periods. "We have a snowballing effect where comp time is concerned," he said. "In the past two months we have not had a day jailer, as the jailers are trying to use their comp time."

When questioned about part time jailers, he said, "part time help is hard to find."

He said that he, his field deputies and office deputy are filling in every Monday, and on other days when possible, but something needs to be worked out.

With a jail inspection coming up December 7, Sheriff Hicks said he does not know how the lack of adequate jailers would be noted by the inspector. He also talked briefly about jail food -- where TV dinners are the main item served the mostly short-term prisoners. Although a 'milk product' is recommended, along with fruit, the sheriff said the jail food is adequate, but 'marginal' according to jail standards.

In other actions, the commissioners approved the minutes of the previous meeting; reviewed departmental reports; paid county bills; canvassed votes for last week's amendment election; approved payment to election judges and clerks; approved soil conservation work and took a look at a request to the Texas Highway Department to take over maintenance of the highway connecting the south end of FM 1731 on south to the intersection of Hwy 54 near the Three Way School.

Job-Related Deaths, Injuries Bringing Out Researchers

According to officials at the Texas Department of Health (TDH), more than 700 job-related deaths occur yearly in Texas, more employee deaths than are reported in any other state.

These fatalities and the thousands of injuries suffered by Texas' workforce have created a crisis, affecting the state's health care, insurance, and regulatory systems. In response, the state's lawmakers are proposing reforms throughout the Texas workers' compensation system.

However, Dr. Robert Bernstein, Commissioner of Health, has said, "In the search for a better workers' compensation system, thus far the greatest emphasis has been placed on containing costs. There needs to be more attention given to increasing worker safety and on preventing injuries."

A recently completed TDH study is perhaps the most accurate measure to date of the number of the state's occupational deaths. The federally funded study compared fatality information from four government sources to reach its conclusions.

In addition to its own collected data, the department's Occupational Safety and Health Division used records from the Texas Industrial Accident Board, the U.S. Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), and the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics to create a single list for the 1986 calendar year.

After eliminating duplicated cases, victims of heart attacks, and other illnesses not directly related to workplace incidents, the study confirmed that 715 people died in 1986 because of traumatic events traced to their work.

The study's results were consistent with the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health's finding that Texas sustained more job-related deaths than any other state, with an average of 725 such fatalities each year between 1980 and 1985.

Jerry Lauderdale, Occupational Safety and Health Division director, said, "These numbers are alarming. But the most disturbing fact is that many of these deaths and countless other occupational injuries and illnesses could be prevented by relatively inexpensive safety measures."

He added, "We think our study will be invaluable to lawmakers, as they meet again to try to solve the state's crisis over workers' compensation. One of the greatest stumbling blocks they have is a lack of reliable numbers. We think we have supplied some solid data, not only to underscore the urgency for greater safety for workers in Texas, but to show where the safeguards are needed."

The TDH study categorizes fatalities by type of accident or illness, county, industry, occupation, age group, gender, race, and either public or private sector.

Lauderdale said that TDH has been unable to conduct a similar study of on-the-job injuries since 1976, when the department's state funds for tracking occupational injuries were deleted.

"The only other state authority directly concerned with on-the-job injuries is the Industrial Accident Board, which oversees workers' compensation claims. Only about two-thirds of Texas' 300,000-plus employers participate in the workers' compensation program, and no one really knows how many injuries go unreported."

According to Lauderdale, TDH has authority, when invited by the employer, to inspect work-sites for hazards, and help employers eliminate those hazards. "We have no direct enforcement authority against violators of federal regulations. Even if we did, we have only 17 safety and health consultants on staff for the whole state. The U.S. Department of Labor has said that staff should number at least 100, just to make routine inspections."

Lauderdale said that the state allocates only about $200,000 yearly for his program. That funding is supplemented by a 90 percent federal match.

"Clearly more funding, people and authority are necessary if we are going to reduce the number of fatalities and injuries in this state's workplaces," Lauderdale said. He added that, "Not only

Auction Talk

One of life's mysteries is auction talk. How it began in this country may be logical or honorable, perhaps at tobacco or auctions.

Whatever its origin, this silly mumbo-jumbo is now being attempted by amateurs, who assume they should match the showmanship professionals. What this amounts to is a novice in front of an audience of suckers uttering non-words faster than he can think.

One can understand fast, abbreviated bid descriptions, when many are bidding, even if only intelligible to the knowing few.

But it hampers the digestion (and the auction) when one must listen to a cluck unsuccessfully trying to sound like an auctioneer.

are people being killed and injured at an alarming rate each year in Texas, but also the costs for their care have skyrocketed beyond amounts their employers and insurance companies are able to pay."

The State Board of Insurance confirms that although employers paid premiums in excess of $2.96 billion last year, the insurance companies paid out some $3.16 billion in workers' compensation claims. Some insurance companies now have ceased to offer workers' compensation plans, while others have asked for a dramatic increase in their rates.

The result is that an increasing number of injured employees and the survivors of those who are killed on the job are not being compensated. "Many of them have no recourse but to rely on public assistance to meet their expenses," Lauderdale said.

"One solution to the problem of rising insurance rates is injury prevention. Where effective prevention programs are in place, deaths, injuries, and premium rates go down. The state of Oklahoma, for example, suggests that such programs can reduce claims by as much as 50 percent," he added.

Corrected Diagnosis

At Atlantic City: "Mo says he ran into a vaudeville team who explained that they weren't working on account of sinus trouble."

"Yeah," said the said half of the act, "nobody will sign us."

S.S. Earnings Limit Hit

A group of House Republicans recently ordered a private study of the overall effect of current law limiting earnings of social security recipients.

The private study group concluded that if there were no limit on earnings, about 700,000 present-day social security recipients would accept jobs. In those jobs they would earn good salaries. The payroll taxes and income taxes on these jobs would bring in more money to the federal government than would be saved reducing their benefits.

Aldona Roberts, former Treasury Department economist who co-authored the study, says the earnings limit now imposed on elderly workers is a "cruel penalty" and counterproductive. "It doesn't save the government any money," she said.

Under present law, those 70 and older already enjoy freedom from limits on earnings. Only those who opt for social security before age 65, and those from 65 to 69, are penalized by reduced social security payments if they earn more than $6,480 and $8,880.

There is doubt about the wisdom of limiting earnings in any event; if the federal government wouldn't lose money in the process, there's a valid reason no to repeal present limits.

An added benefit would be the utilization of skills and talents of some 700,000 older citizens at a time when skills and talents of these Americans are so badly missed in today's work force.

STRAIGHT TALK FROM TDA

MIKE MOELLER

DEPUTY COMMISSIONER TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Winter Mulching

Mulch protects your landscape during cold weather. That's why bare spots around trees and shrubs or plants in a winter garden should be mulched to help the soil around the roots retain valuable heat and moisture.

Perennials generally become dormant in winter, but their root systems are still vulnerable to the stress of freezing temperatures. Adding a two- to three-inch layer of mulch in November helps moderate soil temperature and ease root-stress on your hardiest plants.

Mulching also preserves soil life. By keeping the biologically active top inch of soil from freezing and drying out, mulching preserves beneficial microbes' ability to fix nitrogen, break down organic matter and control soil-borne diseases.

Good mulching material comes in many shapes and sizes. Some of it is even free and readily available around your house and yard.

Natural Mulches. Leaves are one of nature's ways of protecting and replenishing soil. They can be used "as is" around trees, shrubs and flower beds. Or you can speed up their decomposition by chopping them up first by running over them with a lawn mower.

Recycling Old News. Newspaper, either shredded or laid out flat around plants, protects soil and roots and upgrades into a beneficial soil amendment. Newsprint is also a relatively safe mulch, since the newspaper industry no longer uses lead-based inks. But it's still best not to use full-color pages like the Sunday comics. The dyes in colored ink can contaminate the soil.

Hay and Straw. Hay and straw are popular choices for mulch, but if you decide to use them, be sure you know their source. Hay that's loaded with Johnsongrass or other weed seeds will generate more work than benefit once the growing season starts.

Commercial Mulches. Store-bought mulches come in many grades. Coarser grades of pine bark, cedar flakes and cypress mulch make useful and decorative mulches for ornamental gardens.

Woven synthetic-fiber products known as "mulching weed barriers" are also commercially available in 25- to 250-foot rolls. The holes between the fibers are big enough for water and air to pass through, but small enough to block weeds. Since the fiber degrades if left exposed to the sun, it is best to put a decorative mulch layer on top of it.

Unperforated plastic sheets are often used as mulch. Their big drawback is that they don't allow adequate air exchange and water penetration to the soil.

Mulch is an excellent remedy for those dried out, compacted and just generally hard-to-work spots in your yard or garden. To make a place like that easier to work, soak it thoroughly with water and then cover it with mulch during the winter. Keep the area damp, but not soggy. This encourages bacterial activity and produces a mellow soil with a soft, loamy consistency, ready for spring planting.

During Texas' unpredictable winter weather, your plants and soil will benefit from the added protection a blanket of mulch provides.

Decorating Tips To Beautify Your House

By READER'S DIGEST

The right colors and furnishings can trick the eyes, making small rooms appear larger, large rooms intimate, stuffy rooms airier and irregular walls more harmonious.

Here are some tips worth trying: To make a small room appear larger:

- Choose pale colors and light-scaled furniture and accessories.
- Select furniture that will give the illusion of more space, such as armchairs with open arms or chairs with cane seats and backs.

- Choose an area rug whose color blends with the surrounding floor.
- Select wall-to-wall carpeting in a shade the same as, or lighter than, the color of the walls. Or, try a patterned wall-to-wall carpet with a coordinated patterned paper on the walls and ceiling.

- Use an expanse of mirrors.
- To make a large room intimate: — Choose highly varied textures and dominant patterns for rugs, draperies and upholstery.

- Use large sprawling seating arrangements.
- Hang large paintings.
- Paint the ceiling and walls different colors.

Using Paint:
Color is an inexpensive decorating tool.

- Heighten a low ceiling by painting it a light color. Lower a high ceiling by painting it a shade darker than the walls. Or, continue its color along the top eight to 10 inches of the walls.

- Shorten a long narrow room by painting one of the shorter end walls a darker tone than the walls. Alternatively, paint one of the long side walls a lighter shade than the other walls. Then use lighting to brighten that side even more.

Using Art:
Pictures and paintings can also be used to fool the eye, in addition to making a room more attractive.

- There are no hard and fast rules for hanging pictures. Pictures or photographs can be hung singly, in clusters of various sizes, or in groups of similar sizes. Hang a picture so the eye of the viewer looks directly into the main area of interest. Bear in mind that in living and dining areas the viewer is seated, whereas in hallways and entries the viewer is standing.

- Remember that a picture should be no bigger than the furniture beneath it. Also, don't hang a small picture alone on a large wall.

- Before hammering any nails into the wall, test the arrangement you want. Cut paper templates the same size as the pictures you plan to hang. Then, using masking tape to hold them in place, move the templates around until you find a pleasing arrangement.

- To make a room seem higher, use a vertical arrangement of pictures. For a narrow room arrange the pictures horizontally.

- A painting displayed on an easel is a clever way to fill a corner. In addition, it will make the painting seem more significant. You can do the same with a large photo.

Mirrors:

Mirrors widen and heighten space, intensify lighting, complement contemporary interiors. They also mask wall defects. Hang a mirror at the eye level of a person of average height, unless you're putting it up for decorative purposes only, such as hanging one over a mantel.

- Brighten a dark room by installing strips of jamb to reflect the outdoor light and scenery. A glazier can custom-cut the mirrors.

- You can double the size of a room visually by mirroring one entire wall. In a dining room, try placing one end of the dining table against the mirror. It will double the length of the table as if by magic.

Man Caught With Classified Information

Claims information regularly published

Neighbors today were surprised to learn Melvin Kline, a seemingly quiet, well-mannered man was making extra money with classified information. When questioned earlier this morning, Kline professed surprise that everyone wasn't using the classified section to earn extra income and get rid of unwanted items.

"It's common," he said. Recent studies tend to bear Kline out. Consumer Data Service reported that over 85% of the public read the newspaper and over 80% of those read the classifieds. Kline claimed widespread use was being made of the classified information. "But you have to act quickly," he remarked.

"If I have something to sell, I can be in the paper by tomorrow. I do that a lot now," he confessed. "With classified, whether I'm buying or selling, I can reach a large market instantly. And it's easy... just pick up the phone."

When asked if price mattered at all, Kline stated he was in possession of Consumer Data Service documents that indicated newspaper readership increases as income increases. "The more money they make, the more they read the paper," he said, "and I can prove it."

Asked for a last comment, Kline replied: "No matter what you're looking for, a new job, a great car, merchandise, or even a home, take a long look at the classified section."

Local confesses he profited from classified information in newspaper

"Sure, I've made some money from classified information, but so can anyone who reads the paper."

The information's all there," Response Analysis Corp. studies indicate the public does exactly that, with 98% preferring the newspaper over radio and 68% preferring the newspaper instead of TV.

Kline was last seen in the company of an unidentified man carrying two outboard motors.

MICROWAVE TIPS

How does one make mashed potatoes in a microwave? (Everyone knows how to bake potatoes.)

Cut peeled potatoes into quarters and add a fourth of a cup of water to each two pounds, placed in a casserole.

Microwave on high from 12 to 18 minutes--until tender. Then let this stand for five or six minutes.

Drain and place in mixing bowl, adding salt, pepper, butter, or margarine, and a little milk as they are mashed into a smooth texture with a potato masher or an electric mixer--at medium setting. Can be done in 20-25 minutes!

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

I have a problem. I am 21 years old and have been married for 10 months. My husband is also 21 years old and has filed for divorce on the grounds of not loving me or failure to make our marriage work. He is blaming the whole thing on me but it takes two to make a marriage fail. We have always gotten along fine. We've had fights but every married couple have fights. He told me he doesn't love me any more and wants his own freedom. He has been calling up and coming over to see me at nights. The thing I don't understand is that after the divorce he is willing to date me and start all over from the beginning.

I am willing to go along with him because I love him very much. Can you please help me?
S.R.--Penn.

Answer:

Your husband sounds like a boy who has never grown up and who doesn't realize what marriage means. Of course, I do not know his side of the story or what has him so disillusioned with married life but from what you say as there are no children involved, I would tell him goodbye and leave it that way.

Louisa

The family of Vivian Lee would like to express our heartfelt thanks for the many sympathy during the recent loss of our loved one.

Brucellosis Testing Can Resume Again

The kits that veterinarians use to test cattle for brucellosis are again available, signaling the end of a nationwide shortage of test supplies that resulted last summer when a federal contract with the manufacturer lapsed.

The test, called the "card test," is run on blood samples from cattle to indicate whether the animals may be infected with brucellosis, a contagious, bacterial disease that can cause cows to abort, deliver weak calves or produce less milk. Veterinarians use the card test on ranches, at livestock markets and in other "field situations." Test results can be obtained in about 15 minutes, without expensive equipment.

"The card test is convenient, but it is not as accurate in detecting brucellosis infection as the state-of-the-art testing methods in the state/federal laboratories. The card test is an initial test, and results must be confirmed on the computerized equipment," said Dr. John Holcombe, executive director of the Texas Animal Health Commission (TAHC).

To prevent the spread of brucellosis, TAHC regulations require ranchers to have cattle tested before they are exhibited or sold. Exempt from the regulation are ranchers who show or sell cattle certified by the TAHC to be free of the disease.

Texas is the only state in which veterinarians accredited by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture and the TAHC receive the kits and are permitted to use them at farms and ranches. In all other states, test supplies are restricted to livestock markets.

Cattle that have negative results on the card test are allowed to be sold and moved without restrictions. However, if confirmation tests detect infection, TAHC officials trace the animal to its new site for additional tests or condemnation. Producers whose cattle react positively to the card test may choose either to have the animals slaughtered, or keep them on their ranch until laboratory test results are provided.

Because there is no cure for brucellosis, infected cattle are slaughtered (the meat is safe to eat), and exposed herds are tested and quarantined by the TAHC.

"In October, 675 herds were quarantined because of brucellosis--a record low. Testing is the key to finding and eradicating the disease and it's routinely done at the livestock markets," said Holcombe. "For private sales, testing also is required but often is avoided. Producers who buy directly should protect their interest by insisting that animals are tested."

"Ranchers are shocked when they learn that a new or 'purchased addition' cow has spread infection in their herd," he said. "It's a high price to pay for neglecting to test an animal, because movement and sale of animals from a quarantined herd is severely restricted for six months to a year, or longer."
