Map Outlines Proposed School District for County

MAP SHOWS proposed division of Eddy county school districts into three districts with headquarters at Artesia, Carlsbad, and Loving, on which a county-wide hearing reached near-unanimous accord in a meeting Wednesday night in Carlsbad.

State Approval Expected On School Reorganization Monday

Papers Filed to Incorporate Eddy County Fair Association; First Officers Elected

Papers for incorporation of the Eddy County Fair association were filed in Santa Fe with the state corporation commission late Thursday by Paul L. Frost, of Artesia, president of the association.

Moving fast following initial organization meeting of the association Tuesday night in Artesia, papers filed Thursday list the fair association as a philanthropic, charitable, civic, scientific, and benevolent organization.

Key purposes set out in the application for incorporation are sponsoring fairs for display of a wide range of products connected with agriculture and farm and ranch life, and ownership of fairgrounds.

In Tuesday's initial meeting it was voted to seek $8,000 to start the fair project rolling. The money is to come largely through sale of memberships in the fair association.

Full Slate—

Other officers elected in addition to Frost are A. F. "Pat" Patterson, vice-president; and Fred Cole, secretary-treasurer.

Members of the fair association board are Patterson, Frost, Cole, Artie McAnally, Clyde Guy, Vernon Bryan, Truman Short, J. L. Taylor, and Paul R. Dillard.

Committees were appointed to investigate possibilities of securing seven acres just east of Municipal Park (where Driller Field is located) as a tentative site for fairgrounds.

Harmonious Hearing Lifts Hope for Okay

Approval for a long-discussed Eddy county school reorganization is expected from the state board of education when it meets Monday, following a near-unanimous harmony in a public, county-wide hearing at Carlsbad.

County school Supt. R. N. Thomas, Carlsbad Supt. I. P. "Pat" Murphy, and Artesia Supt. Tom J. Mayfield will appear before the state board of education Monday to convey resolutions by their boards approving reorganization of the county's schools into three, rather than five, school districts.

Merchants Take Big Interest In New Retail Association

Artesia merchants indicated this week they're highly interested in a Retail Merchants association designed to promote cooperation on credit extension and general credit policies.

Despite conflicts with other meetings Wednesday noon, a number of retailers turned out to hear George Keys, organizer of the association, and Paul W. Scott, Chamber of Commerce manager, outline benefits of such an association.

Because of conflicts, Keys is setting up plans for another meeting to be held within the next two weeks as a breakfast get-together.

Keys, manager-owner of Artesia Credit Bureau, said about 25 merchants at the meeting expressed favorable opinion toward formation of the Retail Merchants association.

Date to Be Announced—

Date for the next meeting will be announced in the near future, Keys said.

Scott in a brief talk pointed out that such retail merchant associations as are being discussed here have been highly successful throughout the Southwest.

They are designed, he said, to promote exchange of credit information.

Keys pointed out that too often credit is extended to a patron by one merchant when the buyer has an unpaid account with another merchant in the same line of business.

In addition, a few newcomers with poor credit practices, Keys said.

General Membership—

The organization proposed by Keys would have a general membership among retailers of the community. There would be no membership dues or fund raising in connection with the organization.

Efficiency of the organization would be promoted, Keys said, through election of a board of directors with one director chosen from each line of retail business, such as service station, appliance stores, groceries, etc.

The board would handle routine matters. General member meeting would be called for special discussions on credit.

Keys and Scott pointed out the organization does not conflict with the Chamber of Commerce, especially its retail trade committee.

Mrs. Haralson Receives Master's

Mrs. A. R. Haralson of Artesia is among 132 students at University of New Mexico who received master's degrees in commencement ceremonies held Thursday.

Of the degrees, 67 went to Albuquerque residents, 21 to other New Mexico students and 43 to out-of-state students.

Building Permits Fall to $24,550, Lowest This Year

Artesia's building permits fell to $24,550 during May, according to City Hall records.

Chief activity during the month, permits indicated, was house moving, for which 14 permits were issued. Most house moving occurred on E. Main street, where Numex is being expanded.

Only two permits for new residential construction and three permits for new business building construction were filed during May. All were in the low-price class, with one residence and two buildings at $4,000 each, the other two at $1,800 and $1,000.

All other permits were for house moving and reconstruction, repair and remodeling to existing residences and business buildings.

May was the slowest month on record for 1953 so far, with its $24,550 well under the previous low month of February, when $67,550 worth of building permits were issued.

May's permits brought total for 1953 to date to $488,315.66.

In January the city authorized $113,800 worth of permits. February was $67,550, March $210,720 and April $71,695.66.

Local Jenkins No Relation to Shootin' Jenkins

An embarrassing similarity in names and location finds friends questioning the C. R. Jenkins family of Artesia as to whether Francis Jenkins, who shot and killed his wife, Maxine, at Farmington, aren't members of their family.

Actually, the shooting Jenkins are no relation. Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Jenkins have a son, David Jenkins, who with his family lived in Farmington. David and Mary Jenkins are now located in Utah and quite happy about everything except that messy similarity.

Presbyterians to Hold Final Service Before Church Moved

There were 13 charter members. The only one still living is Mrs. S.

SOIL-CEMENT today's biggest value for light-traffic roads

SOIL-CEMENT makes taxpayers' dollars go farther because about 85 per cent of the required material is usually native soil on the site. It's easy to transform high-maintenance cost dirt, gravel or stone roads into strong, long-lasting pavement good for years of all-weather service with soil-cement.

The first soil-cement road, built in 1935, is still giving excellent service. Soil-cement's superior value and durability for light-traffic paving is thoroughly demonstrated and established by thousands of miles of such pavement now in use.

Artesia Building, Loan Tops $1 Million Mark In Resources Since Founding Eight Years Ago

Phenomenal growth in resources reaching over $1 million this year highlights the growth of Artesia Building and Loan association, which tomorrow celebrates its move to enlarged quarters in the Carper building with a day-long Open House and special gifts to patrons.

Organized Oct. 27, 1945, Building and Loan was first under direction of Hollis G. Watson, now a member of the board of directors.

Artesia business leaders subscribed $42,800 to start the association.

Menefee Manager
Harry Nelson became its first fulltime manager. He was succeeded by Clayton Menefee as manager in October 1950.

Accounts in the association became insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp. in October 1949.

Menefee describes the association's business as two fold:

1—Savings accounts for members.

2—Home loans, first mortgages only, using money deposited by members.

Today there is over $1,144,000 in savings accounts invested with Artesia Building and Loan. Of that, $1,063,000 is invested in first mortgage home loans.

Helps 530 to Ownership
Artesia Building and Loan has helped 530 people to home ownership in the Artesia area through its first mortgage loans, Menefee reports.

The association is operated on a conservative loan basis by its directors, making no higher than 60 per cent conventional home loans. It does not yet make any GI loans.

The association, which has grown financially healthy in so brief a period, has paid 3 per cent dividends annually on all accounts since 1949.

Menefee points out that the association provides a safe, profitable way to save money, and at the same time provides long-term home financing at reasonable rates.

1,000 Shareholders
There are about 1,000 shareholders—people who have savings or loans—in the association, the manager reports.

As of Dec. 31, 1949, the association had $160,019.95 in resources.

The following year that jumped to $315,955.82, and in December 1951 to $687,621.81. As of Dec. 31, 1952, its resources were $1,036,581.31.

Officers of the association are Emery Carper, president; Clyde Guy, vice president and Clayton Menefee, secretary-treasurer.

Directors include the officers and H. G. Watson, Tom Heflin, John E. Cochran, Jr., J. B. Runyan and Charles Martin.

Success belongs to Mrs. C. R. Blocker, who after searching for 10 years for a family heirloom now has it in her possession.

Object of the hunt is a three-legged iron pot with a flared top. It is about 18 inches in diameter.

Down through the years it has had various uses, chief of which has been that of a chicken fryer, for large families or gatherings.

The pot was in the Joseph Cooper family, Mrs. Blocker's grandparents, in Georgia during the Civil war. It was brought to New Mexico in 1906 by Mrs. Blocker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cooper, from Texas.

About 15 years ago, J. A. Cooper, Mrs. Blocker's brother, loaned the pot to friends. For several years the family had no trace of the pot.

Mrs. Blocker is very proud of her find, after so long a search.

Dr. Pete J. Starr will leave tomorrow for Minneapolis, Minn., where he will study at the University of Minnesota medical school, center for continuation study. He will review heart disease and electrocardiography, including the newer methods of diagnosis and treatment. He will return to his office on June 15.

Young Musicians To Be Featured In Baptist Revival

George and Jane Fenley, outstanding young musicians, will be featured in a one-week revival at the First Baptist church in Artesia, June 14-21.

George, 22-year-old violinist, was graduated June 4 from the University of New Mexico. Jane is an 18-year-old pianist and has just finished her first year in Baylor on a music scholarship.

For the past three years George has been concertmaster of the 100-piece Albuquerque Symphony Orchestra. He has commuted to El Paso seven times this year to play with the symphony for each program in the Pass City.

After winning the New Mexico and district contests, George went to the finals in the National Federation of Music competition, beating out all other young violinists in the nation in the 20-30 year group.

He has been a soloist three times with the Albuquerque Symphony, and once each with the Dallas Sinfonietta, the SMU Symphony, the Wichita Falls Symphony, and with the Aspen Festival Orchestra.

Jane is playing June 2 in Albuquerque for the fourth year in the National Piano Guild auditions. In each of the past three years she has rated "superior."

Although both young musicians specialize in classical music, they have been featured in church programs for the past several years where they make their own arrangements of the old hymns.

Dr. C. Ward Fenley, father of the youngsters, has been choir director of the Fruit Avenue Baptist church in Albuquerque for 10 years. He will direct the music for the revival.

Mary Walker Is Magna Cum Laude Graduate at HSU

Mary Walker of Artesia is one of 20 Hardin-Simmons university seniors to be graduated with honors Monday at the school's 61st annual commencement.

Miss Walker graduated magna cum laude, "with great honors." Students amassing 320 quality points for 124 semester hours of work graduate magna cum laude. Those who attain 356 at HSU achieve summa cum laude, the highest honor rating.

Of the 20 honor graduates, 18 were magna cum laude, two summa cum laude, according to Alton B. Lee, registrar.

Gamma Globulin Supply Shipped To County Office

According to Dr. James R. Scott, state health officer, the supply of gamma globulin available in this county is limited and is being distributed to state health officers by the office of defense mobilization on the basis of the average number of reported cases of poliomyelitis for the five-year period 1947 to 1951, which in New Mexico was 118.

Allocations of gamma globulin will shortly be sent to local county health departments for use in the prophylaxis of poliomyelitis.

Local county health departments in turn will furnish gamma globulin without cost to the physicians following receipt of a report of a case, and the physician's request for serum for the contacts.

Gamma globulin cannot be purchased.

Tests made last year showed that gamma globulin in adequate doses probably has value in providing protection against paralytic poliomyelitis for five or six weeks after injection.

For the most effective use of its basic allocation of gamma globulin available, Dr. Scott stated that its use would be limited to intimate contacts in members of households in which poliomyelitis occurs, particularly those under 30 years of age and pregnant women.

Local Doctor Cites Case History Of Heart Trouble

Today I will give you the words of a patient who suffered with a heart condition:

"During 1951, I was compelled to give up work on account of a heart disease. Doctors' diagnosis was 'angina pectoris.' For months I went from one doctor to another, from one hospital to another, struggling in vain for help. The result was to make my condition worse and worse, until near the end of June 1952, I felt surely I was going to die. For weeks my blood circulation was defective, causing a sense of numbness and tiredness, accompanied by a cold perspiration and sharp cramps in the heart. However, fate came to my aid. An acquaintance who had been suffering from angina pectoris for years and was now completely recovered, recommended me to a Chiropractor. She took X-Rays of me upon finding the cause of my trouble and the place where it had developed, she gave me a Chiropractic adjustment which helped me immediately. I wasn't resorted completely, but my condition improved a great deal in a very short time, encouraging me to continue."

"I am happy to say I am now in condition to go back to work. I firmly believe these adjustments saved me from certain death."

For further information about Chiropractic, consult Dr. Kathryn Behnke, Palmer Graduate Chiropractor, 408 W. Richardson, phone 861.

REPORT from WASHINGTON

A three per cent reduction in the number of civilians employed in defense agencies has been ordered by Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson. The order, which affects approximately 40,000 employees of the Defense Department, will be made effective by May 31.

A breakdown of the 1,326,000 civilian workers shows that the Army will lose 16,400, the Navy, 13,245, and the Air Force, 9,600.

An "augmented" squadron of F-86 Sabrejets has been assigned to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgeway's European command to begin replacement of the slower F-84's, the AF has announced.

Both Houses of Congress slashed 1.2 billion dollars in Defense funds from a supplemental appropriations bill early this month. The House Appropriations Committee, which originated the drastic cut in a request made by ex-President Truman, said that Department of Defense would have to scrape up the money from other funds.

Army officer selection boards are now meeting to screen records of 1st lieutenants and captains that are eligible for promotion to captains and majors, respectively. Primary zone of consideration includes 1st lieutenants (except JAGC, MC, DC and VC) on active duty Dec. 31, 1952, who had completed at last three years' active service in grade by that date.

Captains on active duty the same date are in the primary zone if they had completed the following active service in grade by that time: Army five years, JAGC four years, Chaplains seven years, and WAC and WMSC five years.

Mrs. Andy Anderson left Tuesday night for Hermosa Beach, California, to visit a brother and sister. This will be the first family reunion for the Bernie family in 30 years. Mrs. Anderson will be gone several weeks.

toward reorganization proposals which are the trend in the state. Eddy county under Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Thomas has had a fine administration, assured through continuity in office of the Thomases, permitting long-range planning, Wiley declared.

However, he added, there is a tendency as New Mexico cities grow for municipalities to become the center of the area surrounding them, giving impetus to school reorganization programs.

Hope Loses School— Wiley pointed out Hope lost its identity as a school district when it fell below 100 average daily attendance two years in succession.

Howard Stroup of Atoka, county school board member, said consolidation or reorganization has come up in county school meetings many times during his eight years on the board.

Stroup emphasized that it is time for rural schools to help municipal schools, especially high schools, to which municipal schools have been sending their pupils for years.

"It is our duty, our responsibility to help the municipal districts," Stroup said. "Very few rural people disagree with that view."

Other speakers on the agenda were Walter Craft, member of the county school board; Fred Stuart, Southwest Potash Co.; George Harley, president of the Carlsbad school board; Clark E. Storm, president of the Artesia school board. All were in general agreement on reorganization proposals.

Artesianians Speak— Among those attending the hearing who expressed opinions were Fred Cole, C. E. Mann, Mrs. C. P. Bunch, board member, J. L. Briscoe, all of Artesia; Adair Gossett, Francis Tracy, Fincher Neal, Lon Watkins, Mrs. Myrtle McMillan, Mrs. Tracy, Joe Gant, E. A. Schoeld, all of Carlsbad; George Teel, Hope; Robert James, Malaga; Supt. Eli Canady of Loving.

Harley vigorously declared, in answer to leading questions from Gant, that the Carlsbad board was not merely making a goodwill gesture to "our neighbors to the north." "We are doing what is right," Harley said.

Schoeld and Mrs. McMillan represented the view that reorganization meant loss of local school management. They were told by Wiley that reorganization would give rural units a voice in their schools they do not now have.

Emma Berry, Mrs. William Ross. After the service this honor group will have pictures made which will appear in the 50th anniversary book now in process of preparation. They will then attend a testimonial dinner given by new members. Committee on arrangements for the dinner are Mrs. Ott Strock, Mrs. Harold W. Crouch and Miss Kay Mullin.

Movers from Seminole, Texas, will arrive Monday morning, June 8 to remove the old structure to its new location on Seventh and Church streets, where it is to be the home of the Bethel Baptist congregation. The church has been given, together with pews, fixtures, and heaters, to the Bethel Baptists, who are responsible for its move. Construction of the new building will begin immediately under the supervision of the building committee, composed of Harold Kersey, chairman, Mrs. T. C. Stromberg and Hugh W. Kiddy.

Three Important Changes Are Made in GI Loan Guaranty

Three important changes in the GI loan guaranty program announced recently by the veterans administration are:

- 1.—Removal of credit controls on GI loans;
- 2.—Increase in maximum interest rate on GI loans from 4 per cent to 4½ per cent; and
- 3.—Change in procedure in making application for certificate of eligibility to secure a GI loan.

Removal of credit controls—the last vestige of credit controls under the defense production act—does two things:

- 1.—Permits the gratuity payment made by VA—4 per cent of the guaranteed portion of the GI loan up to a maximum of $100—to be applied by the veterans in several ways.

Different Applications— Previously, under credit controls, this gratuity had to be applied to reduce the principal amount of the loan. Now, it may be applied to pay the first two or three installments on the loan; or out-of-town games. Reactivation of the Legion Junior ball club will provide a complete program of summer sports for boys, Artesia American Legion members pointed out. On graduation from Little League after his 12th birthday, a boy may join Junior league baseball and play until his 16th birthday.

Artesia last year was host to the state American Legion Junior ball club playoffs but did not enter a team in the competition.

Cancer Alertness ACS Goal for MDs

A promising experiment in post-graduate medical education is being carried on by the American Cancer Society. The object of the program is to make every physician think of cancer first.

Because early detection is the key to curing cancer, the family doctor must be well-informed about the disease. The ACS says that the life of the cancer patient may be in the hands of the first physician who sees him.

If diagnosis is missed the cancer will spread until cure is unlikely. Teaching doctors to recognize cancer and institute proper treatment is the aim of the ACS professional education program. A digest-type magazine is published for the busy practitioner and a technical journal is issued for the specialist.

Monographs, lectures, refresher courses and specially-produced motion pictures also are used. Fellowships go to 70 young doctors each year. All this is financed by contributions to the Cancer Crusade.

Last year more than 70,000 Americans died needlessly of cancer. Some died because they did not heed cancer's danger signals. Others died because the first physician they consulted did not recognize the disease.

Remember! Cancer strikes one in five. Strike back. Give to conquer cancer.

most cases, and the maximum loan was usually restricted to 20 or 25 years.

The increase in interest rates on GI loans from 4 per cent to 4½ per cent applies to loans closed after May 5, only the effective date of the increase. The new rate applies to GI farm and business loans as well as to home loans.

Additional Cost— Actually, the increase will cost the veteran an additional 27 cents a month for each $1,000 of his loan, or $2.70 a month on a loan of $10,000, based on a 20-year repayment contract.

The administrator of veterans affairs said that the increase was allowed reluctantly, and only as a last resort. He pointed out that VA had held the 4 per cent rate as long as it could in order to secure housing for veterans at the lowest possible cost.

He stressed that general increases in interest rates have resulted in a drying-up of the supply of 4 per cent money, making it increasingly difficult for veterans to secure loans for homes at the 4 per cent rate.

The third change—involving a change in procedure in the veteran's application for a certificate of eligibility for a loan guaranty—will speed up the processing of the loan, VA said.

More Information— In the past, veterans had been advised to submit their original discharge or separation papers to the lending institution making the loan. The lender, in turn, would submit these papers to VA on behalf of the veteran.

With the extension of loan guaranty benefits to Korean veterans, VA must now have information not previously needed to establish eligibility.

For this reason VA requests that the veteran send his original discharge to the VA regional office—by registered mail—together with his application for certificate of eligibility. This certificate should then be presented to the lender by the veteran.
