School Board Asked To Resign To Give Rural Representation

Two Sets of Twins in Twelve Months

MRS. JOHN CHAUSEE displays her two sets of twins, born within 12 months, in Long Beach, Calif., after three years of childless marriage. The latest set was born in April, six weeks premature. Said William Chausee, the proud father, "It was inevitable that we should have twins. My father and Joan's grandfather were twins. It just had to be this way."

Kinney Re-Elected Eddy County GOP Head, Jensen, Mrs. V. P. Sheldon Voted to State Office

E. E. Kinney of Artesia was re-elected chairman of the county Republican central committee in a county convention this week-end which also saw unanimous endorsement of Patrick J. Hurley's senatorial balloting con-re-elected in a central committee meeting prior to the county convention in Carlsbad Friday night. Don Jensen of Artesia was elected by the committee as secretary-treasurer of the county organization. Intent Follow-Up—Republicans, showing they intended to follow-up new backing won in the November presidential election, vowed to field a slate of candidates for the next county primary election, scheduled for 1954. Endorsement of the Hurley battle over who actually won the U. S. Senate seat in the November 1952 election came after Judge J. S. McCall of Carlsbad made a motion for the endorsement. According to Kinney, McCall said he had not heard a single word about Hurley's contest from New Mexico Republicans, from Gov. Edwin Mechem on down. "We should let the people know we are for honest elections," according to Jack McGarry, former assistant district attorney for Eddy county, who seconded the motion. State Committeemen—Mrs. J. W. Knorr and Jensen, both of Artesia, were named to the state executive committee to represent Eddy county Republicans. Four state committeemen from Carlsbad were chosen. They are R. C. Jones, E. A. Schoeld, C. C. Bacon, and Mrs. H. H. Bruhn. Other county committee officials elected, Kinney reported, were G. E. Judkins of Carlsbad, vice-chairman; Margarite Sparks of Carlsbad, vice-chairwoman. Since the county chairman and vice-chairman are automatically members of the state executive committee, Eddy county has eight

Community-Wide Campaign Is Opened By Salvation Army

Support from throughout the community for the Salvation Army's campaign to raise $2,500 is being sought this week, according to E. B. Bullock, chairman of the local Salvation Army committee, and Landis Feather, treasurer. "A very fine response" has been gained from personal contact with a number of solicitors, Bullock said, but an even better job can be done through broadening the base of the army's support. An effort to broaden the campaign, the Salvation Army's Ar-tesia committee has mailed out more than 2,500 letters asking support from Artesia residents. Bullock said the letter is designed to reach contributors who may be able to give small contributions, from 25 cents to a dollar. "These are just as important, from the standpoint of enjoyment in helping others, as are large contributions," he said. The letter states: "In the days of high prices it costs a lot to buy enjoyment. The enjoyment of a car, a home, or a steak.

"But the enjoyment that comes from helping others, still costs relatively little.

"A meal for the hungry... a pair of shoes for a youngster's extra feet... a little extra comfort for an older person... shelter and care for a girl facing motherhood alone... a word of counsel and encouragement to the bewildered and discouraged and sinful... these cost little in comparison to the enjoyment we get from giving.

"The Salvation Army Service Unit of Artesia invites you to share in these deeds of Christian, neighborly service... part of what you give will stay right here in this community for our local needs, and the rest will go to make available the regional services of the Salvation Army, some of which are illustrated on the reverse side of this letter.

"Just place your contribution in the enclosed envelope, add a stamp, and drop it in the mail. As you feel that heart warming sensation (Continued on Page Six)

School Board Invites Public to Meet Tonight

The public is invited to attend regular monthly meeting of the Artesia board of education, scheduled for 7:30 tonight in the board room of the administration building.

The subject for the meeting will be Eddy county school reorganization.

The subject has been given new importance for the board, since the state board of education has asked that the present board of education resign so it may reappoint a new board with rural representation. Members of the board are: Clark E. Storm, president; Mrs. P. Bunch, vice-president; Earl Bunch, clerk, and members Mrs. E. E. Bunch, and Artie McNally. The present members, Mrs. Bunch, Cox, and Storm were elected to the board this year, while Earl Bunch is a holdover member. Bunch was reelected to the board this year.

Santa Fe Monday Artesia school Supt. Tom J. Mayfield told state board of education he did not know the Artesia board's sentiment on resigning to allow reappointments, nor could he commit the board on an attitude. The matter will probably be decided tonight.

Hall Appointed Farmington Football Coach

Appointment of Calvin O. Hall, assistant football coach at Artesia, as head football coach for Farmington public schools was announced late Monday evening by LaMoyné Langston, superintendent of Farmington schools.

His appointment follows his employment for four years at Artesia. For three years Hall was assistant football coach here, coaching line. Last year he was acting head coach following injury of Coach Reese Smith.

He was inducted into the armed forces following his graduation from high school, and played two years of service football with the 392nd Bomb Group.

Hall said Monday night he has not yet decided when he and his family, Barbara and Calvin Craig, will leave Artesia for Farmington.

Longhorn Loop To Continue As Seven-Team League

The Longhorn league will continue for the rest of this season as a seven-team league, according to a vote Monday of team owners in a special meeting held in Midland.

The action followed resignation of Winters-Ballinger, which turned its franchise back to the league after owning the former Lamesa ball club for only one week.

Vote to continue as a seven-team league came after a proposal from League Pres. Hal Sayles of Abilene that the league's directors take under advisement the wishes of any ball club to drop from the circuit.

No ball club, however, indicated it would drop from the league. All other clubs in the league are reported to be in "fairly strong" financial position.

Asked for comment on the league's action Monday, Artesia Diller Mgr. Earl Perry said most obvious result will be loss in attendance for the games other teams have scheduled with Winters-Ballinger.

However, Perry said, "other entertainment" will be scheduled for the vacant spots created by resignation of the team. Perry said he believed the "entertainment" will take the form of games with other, non-league teams.

"We'll play ball against somebody," Perry said.

Artesia was represented at Monday's Longhorn league meeting in Midland by Steven Lanning, president of Artesia Baseball club and Clyde Guy, vice president.

Other considerations for continuation of the league which had been rumored prior to the meeting were not discussed. There had been suggestions that the Longhorn league operate the ex-Winters-Ballinger club as a league-owned road team. This, however, was not taken under consideration.

Perry said withdrawal of Winters-Ballinger leaves 11 vacant spots on the Artesia schedule for the balance of the season.

All game played with Lamesa and Winters-Ballinger up to withdrawal of the team will count in Longhorn league standings, the Artesia manager said.

Withdrawal of the team came last Friday night after it was defeated 12-2 at Ballinger by the Artesia Drillers. It was the third straight game lost by the team in its home ball park.

The franchise which Ballinger had held was the most kicked-about in the Longhorn league. It finished the 1952 season as Sweetwater. It was first taken by Pecos when Sweetwater gave up. Later Lamesa took it over, and a week ago, Lamesa gave it up to Winters-Ballinger.

The Eagles were clobbered by Joe Bauman's two home runs in last Friday's game, plus the eight-hit pitching of Frank Martin, who earned his fifth win in as many outings. Bauman drove in nine of Artesia's 12 runs.

After the game about 100 fans from Winters and Ballinger met with Harold Webb to study fate of their new team, which had failed to gather material which would pull it up in the league.

There is still a possibility, baseball observers said, the franchise may be sold, but the action is doubtful this season.

Roswell Avenges Losses With 15-2 Win Over Drillers

Roswell's Rockets bounced back Monday night to make up for a long string of defeats suffered at the hands of the Artesia Drillers in licking Artesia 15-2 in Drifter Park.

Roswell returns to Drifter Park tonight for the second game in the two-game home series for the Drillers.

Last night's ball game went to a slow start, with Roswell scoring one in the first, Artesia one in the fifth.

Tied going into the sixth, Roswell led loose for three runs in the sixth on two singles and a double.

In the seventh the Rockets unleashed eight runs, wrapping up the ball game.

Artesia errors put the first two Rockets on first, interrupted by a single and a double before another error contributed to the cause.

After four Roswell runs Drillers made two outs, but the Rockets rebounded for four more runs. The eight runs came on six hits off Len Ruyle, Driller reliever, who substituted for started Fideel Alvarez in the seventh.

Roswell made it two more in the eighth, against a one-run Artesia counterattack. The rockets rounded off the game with a single in the ninth.

Of nine Roswell-Artesia games, prior to last night's game, the Drillers had won eight. Last night's game turned the series to 8-2, still favoring Artesia.

Artesia was credited with eight error, Roswell none. Juan DeLatorre allowed Artesia eight hits.

Drillers Shutdown 6,600 Test Well Three Miles North

Crews are plugging and abandoning DeKalb Agriculture Association's No. 1 Shugart at test three miles north of Artesia after the well was drilled to 6,620 feet.

Reorganization Plan Approved By State Board

Artesia's board of education was asked to resign to give newly annexed rural districts legal representation on the board Monday as the state board of education approved Eddy county's school reorganization.

The request for resignations by the state board will go to the Artesia school board to night in the board's regular monthly meeting.

The state board gave unanimous approval to the reorganization plan Monday after a stirring show of harmony which saw Artesia Supt. Tom J. Mayfield and Carlsbad Supt. I. P. "Pat" Murphy stand before the board with their arms around each other at one point.

Under the reorganization, schools in North Eddy county previously administered by the county school system—Atoka, Cottonwood, and Hope—will be joined into a North Eddy county school system with Artesia.

Carlsbad District—In South Eddy county Otis, El Paso Gap, and Malaga school districts will be joined with Carlsbad. Loving will continue as an independent school district.

The five-man Artesia board's sentiment on the state request for resignation is not generally known, but it is believed the board will follow the request of the state board.

Observers said Monday the state board would probably re-appoint three of the five present board members, plus two representatives from rural districts, probably Hope and Atoka.

The request for resignations came after Howard Stroup of Atoka, a county board member, told the state board that "in promoting this reorganization I might say that we were concerned by the representation problem in rural areas."

"It was my understanding," Stroup continued, "that the state board in the past had in one way or another asked boards to resign so it could appoint new boards giving annexed districts representation."

"We are most anxious for rural representation," Stroup concluded. Supt. Murphy, of Carlsbad, at once backed Stroup by noting "I would add that I am aware that in the Artesia community people understood the general reorganization would also mean the reorganization of the school board."

"In Carlsbad," Murphy added, "the school board has already indicated a willingness to have rural representation or add county board members."

Supt. Mayfield of Artesia said "I cannot commit my board on the question of rural representation on the board."

Wiley Asks Action—After hearing resolutions from Artesia, Carlsbad, and county boards of education favoring the reorganization, State Supt. of Schools Tom Wiley moved that the resolutions be taken into consideration by the state board.

Floyd Golden of Portales, president of Eastern New Mexico university, and a member of the state board, made a motion requesting the reorganization be accepted. It was seconded by Adelino Sanchez, Socorro county member.

In its resolution of acceptance the state board said: "In view of the fact that the territory annexed to the Artesia municipal district is very desirous of having representation on the board of education governing the newly-reorganized district, the state board of education recommends that the Artesia board of education resign and give the state board of education an opportunity to appoint a new board of education representative of the entire reorganized district."

"Always heretofore, whenever a rural territory has been annexed to a municipal territory... the state board of education has made a request that the municipal board resign and give to the state board of education an opportunity to appoint a board of education representative of the entire district."

Raymond Huff of Clayton, chairman of the state board, complimented Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Thomas, who have alternated in the office of Eddy county school superintendent for more than 15 years, for their attitude on the reorganization.

"They should be complimented," Huff said, "for their participation (Continued on Page Six)

Women's Exhibits to Have Home at State Fair

Women's exhibits in home arts, home science at the State Fair, which will have a home of its own, Leon H. Harms, secretary of the New Mexico State Fair, announces that construction is well underway on a new building to house exhibits in the women's departments.

The new building will be completed in ample time for the 1953 New Mexico State Fair, Sept. 4, Harms said.

For years, the women's departments of the fair have been shunted from building to building as the growth of other departments has taken up all spare space. For awhile home arts and sciences were housed in the agriculture building, then in the Indian building, and finally in a wing of the new city building.

The fair commission this year authorized construction of a permanent Women's Department building as part of the huge construction program now underway. The building will be located just west of the fair's administration building.

Other construction underway at the $2 1/2 million State Fair plant includes erection of 350 additional stalls. The new horse barns are of modern design and feature fire resistant materials. New barns replace old wooden structures that were built in the past years of the fair.

To make it easier for racing fans to make their wagers on the races, a series of betting and pari-mutual windows are being installed on the second floor of the grandstand. The new windows are expected to eliminate a great deal of the congestion around present rows of pari-mutual windows.

Another new building rising on fair grounds will be used to house the school department—another department that has been cramped from building to building for years. Three new permanent buildings also are being built. A continuing program of beautifying grounds includes laying of new walks and a general landscaping project.

Finney—

Members of the state committee, Finney pointed out.

"Tough going" in the 1954 political arena was predicted by Kinney. Eddy county Republicans will have to strongly organize, he said, pointing out rule changes which will permit more effective organization of the party from the division precinct on up.

Finney also said party finances were nearly non-existent. Of $3,785 last year, $1,018 went to the campaign, he said, and other expenditures in local campaign expenses left the county party treasury dry.

The convention voted a resolution requesting Eddy county commissioners to begin a purge of county voting lists.

Over Half GI Business Loans Repaid in Full

More than half of the GI loans made to veterans for business purposes have been repaid in full, VA said. Of more than 200,000 business loans guaranteed through March of this year, more than 103,000 have been repaid in full.

Farm loans to GIs are also being paid up faster than new loans are being made, VA added, and half of those made to date will probably have been repaid by the end of the current month.

State-Wide Chemistry Tests Indicate New Mexico Has Top Young Scientists

If grades made on a state-wide chemistry test are an indication New Mexico high schools are producing a fine crop of promising young scientists.

Dr. J. L. Riebsomer, University of New Mexico chemist and chairman of the manpower committee of the New Mexico section of the American Chemical Society, has just released the result of a test taken by 229 state high school students.

Eric Johnson, 16-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. E. G. Johnson, Santa Fe, took top honors in the state-wide chemistry test.

In 1951 Johnson won the Science Award plaque in biology and in '52 the first prize in a physics contest. This year in Santa Fe, he was named the Bausch-Lomb winner for excellence in mathematics and science.

Also Musician—
He plays oboe in the Santa Fe high school band and belongs to the honor society and chess club.

J. T. McMillen, Silver City, and Bill Atkinson, Albuquerque, tied for the second place honors on the state-wide chemistry test, Dr. Riebsomer stated.

At Western high school in Silver City, McMillen has ranked consistently in the top third of his classes in scholarship while taking part in athletics, and drama, history, and commerce clubs. He has had seven years of scouting and attended the National Jamboree at Valley Forge.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. McMillen, ranchers at Silver City.

Atkinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Atkinson, 307 Arvada NE in Albuquerque, is a native Albuquerquean, having attended Stronghurst elementary school, Washington Junior high and the City high school.

Lawyer Father—
His father is an Albuquerque lawyer. Atkinson has been active in chemistry clubs and qualified for a merit badge in chemistry with the Boy Scouts.

Other state high school students who made exceptionally high marks on the test and were given honorable mention include: George M. Binder, Alamogordo; Keith Richardson, Tucumcari; Harrison Schmitt, Silver City.

Walter S. Gray, Gallup; Vincent Chavez, Belen; Joe Everette, Portales; and John O. Stevens, Albuquerque.

Aiding Dr. Riebsomer in setting up and grading the test as members of the New Mexico section of the American Chemical Society committee were: Dr. M. F. Stubbs, New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology at Socorro; Dr. Gerald Meyer, Highlands University; Dr. Charles Metz and Wayne Hazen, Los Alamos; and Dr. Latimer Evans, New Mexico A&M college.

Dr. John F. Suttle, UNM staff chemist, also help the committee in devising and grading the test.

East Side Cattle Growers to Meet In Tucumcari

More than 600 East Side cattlemen in addition to the 100 man executive committee are expected to attend the Second Quarterly Meeting of the New Mexico Cattle Growers' association in Tucumcari, June 26 and 27, according to Ed Heringa, Clayton, president.

"Cattlemen from all parts of New Mexico are invited to attend this session and participate in discussions," Heringa said, "and we expect a wide representative group in view of the many serious economic problems now confronting the industry."

E. J. Dignan, vice-president of the U. S. National bank of Denver, will head an imposing group of speakers scheduled to appear on the convention program. Dignan heads up the livestock loan division of the Denver bank and has had wide experience in ranch credit matters over the past 30 years.

Others included on the program are Gov. Edwin L. Mechem; O. W. Lynam, Burdette, Kan., chairman of the public relations committee, American National Cattlemen's association; Jack Roach, president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association, and Joe Roach, chief of the New Mexico State Police.

Keisey Presley of Gallup has been appointed chairman of the general resolutions committee. Presley is a vice-president of the association and is currently sheriff of McKinley county.

"Re-occurrence of foot and mouth disease in the Republic of Mexico will receive careful attention at this meeting, and we expect to have a detailed report on all phases of the outbreak at the Tucumcari meeting," Heringa continued.

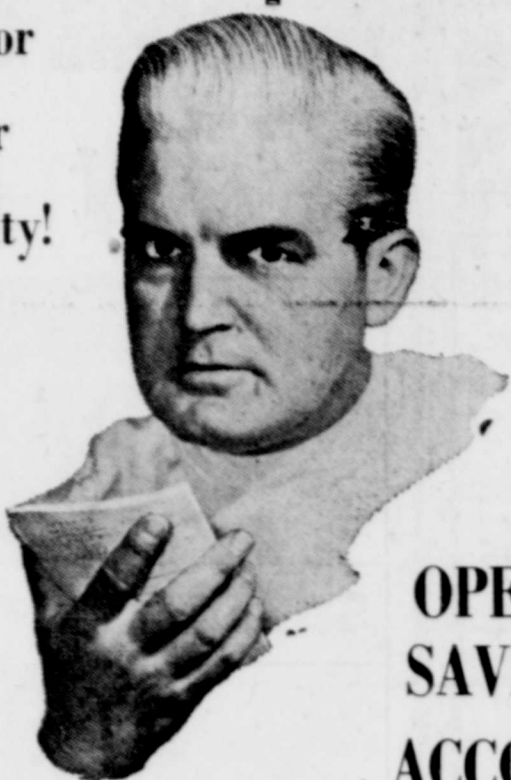

"We also expect to have a free and open discussion on the current livestock market condition, with view toward bringing forth sound, workable program calculated to improve the situation."

New Mexicans To Vote on 11 Amendments

New Mexico citizens will vote on 11 proposed amendments to the state constitution September 15, in a special state election due to cost more than $60,000.

Necessary expenditures from state level will exceed $30,000, according to a statement issued by the Taxpayers Association of New Mexico.

"In addition, each county will pay all of its precinct election officials, plus the cost of transporting ballot boxes or voting machines," said Albert K. Nohl, acting director of the association.

Polling place rental will be an added cost in many counties, he pointed out.

Under New Mexico law on such elections, the secretary of state must pay for printing of ballots and the furnishing of other election supplies, total cost of which may run as high as $20,000.

Charges for publication of legal notices on this special election will probably exceed $10,000, on the basis of past experience, Nohl said. This cost also is to be borne by the state.

Invest the amount of depreciation on your farm machinery in Defense Bonds each year. Make sure you will have enough money to buy that new machine when it is needed.

Beef Edges Pork In U.S. Total Red Meat Supply

Beef is now running well ahead of pork in the total red meat supply. Recent estimates by the U. S. department of agriculture point out that beef consumption in the nation this year is expected to exceed that of pork by the largest margin since 1918.

Falling beef prices and smaller supplies of pork indicate that the average consumer may have seven pounds more beef than pork in 1953—68 pounds of beef or more, compared with 61 pounds of pork per person. This is a complete reversal of the 1952 picture when the average consumer ate about 61 pounds of pork per person. This is a complete reversal of the 1952 picture when the average consumer ate about 61 pounds of pork per person. This is a complete reversal of the 1952 picture when the average consumer ate about 61 pounds of pork per person.

At least 15 per cent more beef will be produced in 1953 than last year, and consumption could go higher than now predicted if dry weather or rather unfavorable conditions should force heavy marketing of cattle. The pork supply is likely to be about 12 to 15 per cent lower than last year.

SO ROOMY! SO LOW IN PRICE!

Judge Pontiac purely from the standpoint of quality and it's hard to believe that it is actually a low-priced car. Certainly it's as distinctively styled as any car on the road—and its beauty carries through into its luxurious, roomy Body by Fisher. Performance-wise, Pontiac is second to none, with power to spare that whisks you through city traffic or cruises with remarkable economy. And Pontiac is a big car, with a long, 122-inch wheelbase.

But Pontiac's outstanding feature is its price—a price so low that if you can afford any new car you can afford a Pontiac. Come in and get the facts that prove that dollar for dollar you can't beat a Pontiac!

are Messrs. Bullock and Feather, and Harvey E. Yates, vice-chairman.
 The chairman pointed out that the last Salvation Army campaign was made in 1931.
 "There are a great number of people who think they have given to the Salvation Army in the two years in between," he said. "Actually, there have been impostors who use uniforms resembling those of the army and the tambourine to collect funds.
 "The Salvation Army does not permit this method of fund collection. The tambourine is no longer used, since it has been so frequently imitated. A red plastic container is now used.
 "However, street solicitation of funds by the army in Artesia is not permitted."
 Contributions may be mailed to Salvation Army, care of E. B. Bullock or L. B. Feather, Artesia.

 and I appreciate their willingness to go forward with reorganization."
 In introducing the Eddy county matter to the state board, State Supt. Wiley was complimentary about the Thomases. "They have done a very fine thing," he said. "They have shown a high standard of ethics in their unselfishness, a professional, rather than personal, consideration."
County Abolished—
 Under the reorganization, the county school system is abolished. Cliff Whitehead of the New Mexico education association said in reporting news of the meeting to the Artesia Advocate that feeling at Monday's meeting was decidedly different from that of previous meetings, when Artesia and Carlsbad were in direct conflict as to reorganization desires.
 The reorganization study was recommended by a four-member state survey committee in December after an intensive study of Eddy county school matters, especially finances.
 The reorganization is designed to aid Artesia in pulling up its assessed valuation per pupil so that the district may finance new buildings and maintain existing units.
 Under the reorganization, dollar valuation per child is more evenly spread among children of Eddy county.

Local Doctor Discusses Cause Of Allergies

An allergy may be defined as "a disorder or sensitivity which some persons develop to normally harmless things like pollens, food and dust."
The person who is allergic therefore has a weakness—a lower tissue resistance—in his physical makeup. A lowered resistance implies a failure of some bodily function; certain muscles, glands or other tissues are not performing their normal tasks.
It is the special work of the Chiropractor to locate and correct any abnormal condition which interferes with the free and normal transmission of nerve energy. The Chiropractor can locate and correct the points of nerve irritation, skillfully and effectively, and restore normal tissue resistance. Once the impediment to nerve transmission has been located and removed, a normal flow of nerve impulses again reaches the affected part, and gradually complete normal function will be resumed.
If you are suffering from an allergy, you are invited to consult Dr. Kathryn Behnke, Palmer Graduate Chiropractor, 408 W. Richardson, phone 861.

Dollar Day Proves Merchandising Point

ARTESIA'S FIRST DOLLAR DAY Thursday proved a point advertising salesman for all types of media have pointed out again and again: The stores which promoted did the business; those which didn't for one reason or another, didn't get the customer traffic.

Customers weren't on the streets Thursday—they were in the stores. They'd shopped newspaper and radio advertising—they knew where the bargains were and just what they wanted. Those stores which did promote Dollar Days through their advertising and merchandising by offering attractive buys did a booming business.

One grocery which ordered double what it thought it would sell was all sold out of its specials by 10 a. m. Thursday and doing a brisk business in all other lines. A dry goods store which offered many attractive specials was so crowded through the day latecomers (those after 10 a. m.) had trouble getting into the store.

On the other hand, the merchants who grumbled about a Dollar Day didn't get the traffic. They didn't promote. Some expected to ride on the shirt-tails of the stores which invested in advertising. That didn't work. Today's shopper is too smart for that; his buying is selective.

Merchants had excellent cooperation from the Chamber of Commerce, the newspaper, and the radio station in publicizing and promoting this Dollar Day. The people saw and heard, and came to buy—but in the stores that had invited them.

Advertising paid off handsomely for those who used it last Thursday. Those who did not benefit have no one to blame but themselves and their own inertia.

Thursday proved that Dollar Day can and does work when it is promoted—but it works only for those who do promote it.

We have plenty of opportunity to get behind the next such event, scheduled for Aug. 6. If Artesia wants to be a larger shopping center, it will take the cooperative efforts of all merchants.

We're Still Paying the Bill

MOST INDIVIDUALS residing in towns and cities of this nation do not claim to be diplomatic experts and they are not very well versed on international relations but they do know plenty about relations between individuals.

They know that what it takes to get along in their communities is also what it takes to get along in the world. Experience has taught them you can't buy friends and you don't make friends by giving them something.

Most of them seem to be about agreed it is time for America to halt trying to buy the friendships of certain nations with American dollars.

Most of them are not happy about the attitude being displayed by America's so-called allies in the Korean war regarding the truce situation. Some of our supposedly good friends, England and France, are doing considerable talking about the truce situation and seemingly want America to pay the bill, provide the munitions, the war machinery, manpower and then tell us just what we should accept in the way of a truce.

America didn't start the Korean war. She has suffered more than 100,000 casualties in that war and paid a tremendous sum for a war that is no nearer over today than it was when it was started. Apparently we went into the war because of certain commitments, certain principles, and certain ideals.

And although all of us want that war to end we want only an honorable truce—one that will end the struggle and not result in another being started.

For a good many years America has been able to make her own decisions insofar as war is concerned. We believe that she is capable and able to end the present struggle without being dictated to by England or any of the European nations, who have depended on America to defend them, protect them, provide money for arms and the airplanes and manpower to protect them.

We have paid the bill in Korea and we have provided the manpower and yet the so-called United Nations wants to dictate the policies.

We have always believed that we could defend ourselves and our nation. We still believe we can do that. We don't believe we can do it, however, with our manpower scattered halfway around the world. And there is just one reason they are there—to help defend and protect those who aren't able to take care of themselves and yet who want to dictate how we will settle the Korean situation.

The ships Russia uses today are ships we gave her during World War II. Part of the arms and equipment she has are those she obtained under lend-lease.

This is true about other nations. Without a doubt it is easier to fight the enemy on foreign shores but General Ridgway says we must provide $5.8 billions for Europe—that is about the amount we are going to lack balancing the budget.

It is time to tell Europe she will follow the policies we set and decide on or she can provide her own defenses, protect herself, and fight her own battles.

We are still pretty firmly convinced that as long as Uncle Sam is footing the bill he has the right to set the policies as long as those policies are fair and right and sincere.

If the European countries and England want to set and determine the policies—let's let them pay the bill.

Deserve Credit

THERE ARE A LOT of people who deserve credit for the Eddy county school reorganization on which Carlsbad, the county school system, and Artesia reached an agreement following an open hearing in Carlsbad last Wednesday.

The meeting itself was fairly, capably, and diplomatically run by George Reese, attorney for the Carlsbad school board, Howard Stroup of Atoka; George Harley, president of the Carlsbad school board; Carlsbad School Supt. I. P. "Pat" Murphy; and State Supt. of Schools Tom Wiley each expressed logical, convincing testimony in behalf of reorganization.

Perhaps Mr. Harley best expressed the spirit of Carlsbad and county school system attitudes in striking down the silly assertion by Joe Gant, a minor Carlsbad politician who aspires to be Democratic county chairman, that Carlsbad was just making a goodwill gesture to its neighbors to the north.

Mr. Harley told Gant and the assembly that agreement to the reorganization was no mere goodwill gesture. "We are doing what is right," Mr. Harley declared, "and goodwill has nothing to do with it."

It would be amiss not to point out here that Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Thomas, who have alternated in the office of county school superintendent for years, have shown foresight, unselfishness, and a professional attitude surpassing personal considerations in cooperating with the reorganization movement, which means abolishing the county system they have so faithfully served.

There are many who have worked long and faithfully for the reorganization, including Artesia school board members, past and present, and School Supt. Tom J. Mayfield and his staff.

There remain some problem areas in the reorganization, to be sure, such as insuring rural representation in school administration, but if our people retain the statesmanship and common sense shown over the last week, these problems can be worked through.

THIS LAND OF ENCHANTMENT—

Governor's Invitation for Art Gallery in Executive Office Results in Unique Exhibit

GOV. EDWIN L. MECHEM'S invitation two years ago to Dr. Reginald Fisher, fine arts director of the New Mexico museum of art, to hold art exhibits in the chief executive's office has resulted in a unique display.

The governor felt people coming to see him who had to live their heels for a while in his office, waiting on others ahead, should be allowed to pass the time with the works of New Mexico artists.

So three exhibits a year with 12 to 15 pictures in each exhibit are now held. Pictures are hung both in the governor's inner and outer offices.

Dr. Fisher reports "we have no trouble getting the pictures. New Mexico is an art state and we have more than 700 artists registered in our biographical index. The pictures range in price from $300 to $1,500 and represent the best of New Mexico art."

The result is a display unique among governors' offices in the United States.

A WOMAN BASEBALL FAN down in Carlsbad thinks it's just lousy the way a recent hometown crowd acted toward their ballplayers.

"I was never so mad in all my life as I was at the crowd Monday," the distaff fan writes the Little Argus. "You can't win all the ball games and it wouldn't be any fun winning all of them." You tell 'em good, lady.

UP IN TUCUMCARI A CAT which tangled with an air conditioner came out on top.

The cat wanted relief from the heat in the police station air conditioner. So she got into it. Noise and fur flew all over the place. The cat emerged, unharmed. The air conditioner required repairs.

NEARLY $1 MILLION changed hands in Carlsbad the other day when the president of Carlsbad National bank handed a cashier's check for $995,000 to Mrs. Leslie Burns, county treasurer.

It was made out to the Carlsbad municipal school district and represents money from the recent bond sale. It is believed to be one of the largest checks ever made out in Carlsbad.

Over-All Picture of Reclamation Projects In Western States Is One of Sound Planning

WESTERN RECLAMATION

Do western water projects built by the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation ever pay back their obligations to the federal government?

None has yet. That is the answer of the Tax Foundation, which describes itself as a private, non-profit organization engaged in research on government expenditures and taxation. "Our Water Resources," the Foundation suggested a "complete reevaluation" of U. S. water resource programs.

Two projects in New Mexico are cited, among 25 in the U. S., as historical proof of the Foundation's criticisms of federal water policy. One of them is the Carlsbad project, the other the Rio Grande project in Texas and New Mexico.

In the Carlsbad project, the Foundation's figures show it began servicing water in 1907, with a repayment contract of 76 years. Total value of repayment contracts to the federal government is $3.7-million. Paid back to date is $1.6-million, or 43 per cent in 46 years.

As for the Rio Grande project, it began servicing water in 1908, with a 45-year repayment contract, valued at $10.1-million. So far the project has paid back $6.7-million, or 66 per cent.

"Up to June 30, 1952, less than $100-million had been recovered from repayment contracts with face value totaling $628-million," according to "Our Water Resources." "One project has repaid less than 12 per cent of its cost in 43 years and another had paid only six per cent in 27 years."

Pointing out that the original reclamation laws passed by Congress contemplated that irrigation activities would be self-liquidating and self-sustaining, the Foundation cited the present "financial confusion" as indicating a need for a complete reevaluation of policy. "What is needed is a unified national policy on developing our water resources to eliminate present poor financing practices, overlapping jurisdiction among the dozen federal agencies engaged in water programs and consequent waste and lack of efficiency."

We don't know for sure what the Tax Foundation is driving at. If it's just waste and inefficiency that's under attack, we're for it. There has been waste, we believe. There are also some projects that simply were not economically sound.

The over-all picture, however, of reclamation in the western states is one of sound planning and wise use of federal funds to conserve water. As a matter of fact, we don't know how the west—or the nation—could have progressed as far without reclamation work. We believe the long-range returns to the wealth and prosperity of the whole nation, from western reclamation, have been immense; that such tables as that in the Tax Foundation's study, of contracted amounts and percentage of repayments, fail to tell the whole story. — Carlsbad Current-Argus.

LET'S HAVE IT

From the way things were shaping up in New Mexico yesterday, it looked like the Senate elections sub-committee, investigating the election of Sen. Dennis Chavez, is all set to get tough if it has to.

Spokesman for the committee said that the group doesn't want to interfere with laws of the state "but we're going to do the job we've been given." In other words, the committee will get along with state officials if they can and if they can't something is about to drop.

From all appearances deliberate attempts have been made to stop the investigation, and the best interests of the people were not the main consideration, either, and that is being resented by the voters.

Voters in New Mexico, that is the large element that believes in honest elections, want this investigation to be carried out to the very fullest. They want to know if all the charges of crookedness that have been made over the state all these years are true or just political hogwash.

And the only way they will ever find out for sure is by complete investigation. That isn't a possibility the way state politics operate now, but with the senate involved we have the proper chance. Let's crowd our luck. — Roswell Daily Record.

BEST DRIVERS

New Mexico Jaycees have undertaken a program for the encouragement of young automobile drivers. The first statewide competition held recently in Santa Fe produced youngsters with dexterity at the wheel that was the envy of some of the oldsters judging their ability. And this first year of the program saw only a small part of the state-wide participation that may be expected in the future.

High school boys and girls when properly instructed become the best drivers on the road. That has been demonstrated by the high school driving classes that are conducted in many New Mexico schools. The Jaycee program offering rewards for the most expert of the students and the opportunity for national competition is an encouragement for more to take the driving course.

We have been late in getting around to the realization that handling and understanding of automobiles is an essential requirement for life in this motorized age. It is commendable that more and more schools are taking up the teaching of driving, a program that is being helped considerably by the nationwide activity of the Jayce organization.

We can't think of a greater boon for the whole country than a generation of safe and sensible drivers. — Tucumcari Daily News.

Liquor Control Through Politics Is Reported on Defensive in California

LIQUOR IN POLITICS IS ON the defensive in California, reports Harlan Trott, staff correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor.

Gov. Earl Warren has sharply attacked the present state liquor control system, Trott writes.

The final report of the California Crime Commission backs the groups and individuals throughout the state.

The present Legislature is showing a more intelligently critical attitude toward the power of the liquor industry than previous Legislatures, according to the Governor.

Some corrective action may be taken in the final fortnight of the present session.

The widespread conviction is that the State Board of Equalization's authority over liquor matters, including the right to grant and take away licenses, should reside outside that office. The board has had its chance—and muffed it.

Governor Warren has told the people that the present system has developed into tail-wag-dog situation, implying that the board's major tax functions have become secondary to a handling of liquor controls.

Arthur Samish, beer lobbyist, now under indictment on the charge of federal income-tax evasion, has spoken out in defense of the present system. Other liquor spokesmen have admitted that may be it would be a good thing to amend the Constitution of California by transferring liquor controls from the Board of Equalization to a board with a similar geographically elective make-up, with exclusive liquor responsibilities.

Governor Warren says this proposal is not good enough. He wants to vest liquor controls in a single administrator accountable only to the Governor, who in turn is responsible to the people.

Many reform groups would go along with that proposal, but not all of them. Public opinion is building up in favor of a constitutional amendment that would reinstate local self-government in liquor matters.

Local option is the familiar term for what many citizens now think would best serve the needs of those California communities which frown on remote control of the liquor traffic.

Liquor lobbyists protest that the term local option is only a euphemism for "creeping prohibition." But citizens who think the separate communities should have the power to cope with the liquor menace at the local level say "creeping prohibition" is merely a criteria of the liquor industry's inability or unwillingness to control itself.

When the California Constitution was amended to place liquor control in the State Board of Equalization, these citizens say, California had another kind of prohibition imposed—the kind that prohibits them from any effective participation in controlling the influx of taverns (alias saloons) that repeaters insisted would never come back.

COFFEE TALK—

Minor Politician Tries to Bring County Politics in School Meet

IT'S NOTED IN THE CARLSBAD paper that Joe Gant of that city has been appointed as a member of the state Democratic executive committee. He succeeds young, talkative Adair Gossett as an executive committee representative district 5—that's Eddy, Lea, and Chaves counties.

Gant is the man who got up in the school meeting at Carlsbad last Wednesday and tried to put over the idea that the good folks of Carlsbad are making a nice goodwill gesture to "our neighbors to the north" by given them a nice big chunk of Carlsbad tax valuation for school finance purposes.

Gant tried to get George Reese, Carlsbad school board attorney and chairman of the meeting, to agree that actually Carlsbad, on giving Southwest Potash valuation to the Artesia school district, was simply making a goodwill gesture.

But George Harley, president of the Carlsbad school board, declared that absolutely was not so. A solution to the tax inequality situation existing between Carlsbad and Artesia had been uppermost in his mind during his three years on the Carlsbad board of education, Harley said.

"We're doing no such thing," Harley said. "We're doing what's right and fair."

At any rate, you see, the coffee talk is that Gant is bound on being and remaining the big wheel in Eddy county politics. If anyone had fallen for his silly little interjection the other night, it would probably fit some plans he may have for the 1954 politicking he is evidently all ready working on. Artesia backing is evidently important to whatever Gant is aiming at.

GEORGE CURRIER BROUGHT a copy of a newspaper more than 400 years old by the Advocate of the other day.

It was dated Dec. 27, 1845, and was named the Saturday Courier a Philadelphia, Pa., newspaper. Printers in the shop had been looking the publication over. It was four 22 by 27 inch pages each with eight columns 2 1/2 inches wide all filled with handset type.

Under the nameplate in large old English type is a promise line declaring the paper was devoted to literature, science, the arts, mechanics, agriculture, the flour, provision, and other markets, education, morals, health, amusement, etc. On its front page are several poems and "tales."

Mr. Currier intends to mail to one of today's Philadelphia newspapers.

HOPE STILL ISN'T HAPPY all the way around about the school situation, but the understanding is that they are dividing among themselves out there.

Some Hope folks favor the organization which has been formed with Artesia, while others, including the town's school government, don't like it on a single bit.

Artesia friends of the community who want to see everyone happy are setting to work to see what can be done about having a special Home representation at Artesia school boards, present future.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO coffee talk the last couple of weeks?

To tell you the truth, folks we've been so busy down here we haven't sipped much coffee. Your Advocate had two 14-page last week, coming after a holiday week-end, and required noses the grindstone all the way around.

World's Greatest Potato Race

That's the 2200-mile dash on the Santa Fe with 1,350,000,000 potatoes

Somebody east said, "Pass the potatoes!" Out in California, the fertile San Joaquin Valley heard them. And look what happened.

Santa Fe started moving 14,000 to 15,000 carloads of potatoes to hungry markets all over the Midwest and East, 36,000 to 40,000 pounds to a carload. As high as 550 carloads per day at peak of harvest. That's more than 1,350,000,000 potatoes. And that's a lot of spuds.

Bag 'em. Load 'em. Roll 'em. And hustle. Somebody east said, "Pass the potatoes!" From America's largest fleet of refrigerator cars owned by an individual railroad, these yellow

Santa Fe "reefers" are dispatched to the "Potato Capital of the West."

There the cars are cleaned, checked, loaded, switched. And iced fast (a car a minute, if you please). These potatoes can't wait!

In servicing the cars as they speed east, new icing docks at Bakersfield and Needles, Calif., Belen, N. Mex., Waynoka, Okla. and Kansas City work the clock around. Electronically-controlled "hump" yards speed the switching.
