Artesia Residents Cut Down Use Of Precious Water

Consciously or not, Artesia residents are holding the line on consumption of water pumped by the city's seven water wells. According to a survey by W. D. Fowler, city engineer, water consumption for June this year was only 3 1/2 million gallons more than for June last year.

Artie McAnally was elected president of the new Artesia board of education Monday night in a meeting marked by harmony, cooperation, and mutual understanding.

The board also voted to continue operation of Hope high school until the fall of 1954. Elected to serve with McAnally were Howard Stroup of Atoka as vice president, and Mrs. C. P. Bunch of Artesia as clerk of the board.

Other new faculty appointments included Miss Betty Huxtable, girls physical education; Herbert Beasley, Junior high band and math or social studies, and Robert B. Kline, audio visual director.

The Artesia board unanimously passed a motion that the high school at Hope be continued until the 1954-55 school year. The board indicated it would confer with Hope residents later this year on Hope school problems.

In other action in last night's business-packed board meeting, the new board:

Asks Assistance — Heard President-elect McAnally ask for support of everyone in school affairs, and "if I am out of line, be frank about it. Because of the reorganization, we have a great deal to do in the next few months."

Approved purchase of $3,170.54 in school supplies and $551.87 art supplies.

Discussed adjustment of principals' salaries to bring them in line with the Eddy county uniform salary schedule.

Formally accepted the resignations of Miss Sue Warren, Miss Jean Rogers, Mrs. Mary Hally Oberlas and Calvin O. Hall.

Approved teachers appointed by retiring boards of education in schools reorganized into the Artesia district.

Voted to invite Cottonwood school directors to confer with it Thursday night, the next board meeting, on Cottonwood school affairs.

Completion Pumps 100 Barrels, No Locations Staked

Completion of a well pumping 100 barrels of oil a day after acid was the only bright spot in an otherwise routine oil report this week for North Eddy county.

No locations were staked. The producer is the Southern Production Co. No. 41 Turner "B" in SE NW 20-17-31, drilled to 3,455 feet and plugged back to 3,411 feet.

New Policies on Hospital Bill Payments Announced

Announcement of new policies at Artesia General hospital was released Monday by Ralph Lennon, manager, concerning arrangements for payment of hospital accounts.

Deposits of $25 will be required for medical cases, $50 for surgical cases, Lennon said. However, an applicable insurance policy will be requirement of immediate payment of the cash deposit.

Funeral Services for Miss Clark Staged Wednesday

Funeral services for Miss Emma Clark, a resident of Artesia since 1919, will be held at 4 p. m. Wednesday at Paulin Funeral home chapel.

Rev. Ralph L. O'Dell, pastor of First Presbyterian church, will officiate, assisted by Rev. William Mahon, pastor of the Church of Nazarene.

Swimming Show Planned at Pool Thursday Night

A swimming demonstration to which the public is invited has been scheduled for this Thursday evening at 7:30, instructors of the city swimming program have announced.

The demonstration will be held at the city swimming pool, just west of Senior high school. There is no admission charge.

Stolen Car Is Recovered Same Day By Police

A car reported as stolen Sunday morning by Marcos Licon of Hagerman was recovered by Artesia police only a few hours after the theft.

The car had been stolen from the 100 block of N. Fifth. Licon called police. The vehicle was recovered Saturday afternoon on the pass.

Deadline For Ranch Hand Rodeo Queen Contestants Scheduled For Wednesday

With two days left for registration, only four Artesia girls have been registered as contestants for the annual V-J Day Ranch Hands Rodeo, officers of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority's Alpha Nu chapter announced Monday.

Deadline for registration is 5 p. m., Wednesday. A public horsemanship qualifying test has been scheduled for 7:30 Wednesday night at Artesia Roping club arena, just west of town, site of the annual rodeo, which will open Aug. 12 for four nights.

Three roping club members will serve as judges for the contest. It involves demonstration of would-be contestants' ability to stay on a horse well enough to lead the rodeo grand entry.

Delegation Issues Board Text

Clarification of the position taken by a seven-man Artesia delegation which appeared before the state board of education Wednesday in Santa Fe was given this week-end by Raymond Lamb, head of the delegation.

Lamb was out-of-town on Thursday when the Artesia Advocate prepared its news story on the school board, and other members of the delegation declined to comment until Lamb returned to Artesia.

Lamb pointed out the delegation recommended the appointment of Clark E. Storm and Mrs. C. P. Bunch to the new Artesia school board, and commended the service of Mrs. E. E. Kinney. The delegation did not, however, recommend Mrs. Kinney for re-appointment, Lamb said.

Artesia to Be Included in Future Air Conference Plans

Artesia will be included in all future recommendations of the Southwest Air Conference, Paul W. Scott, Chamber of Commerce manager, announced Monday on his return to the city.

Scott said that while attending a U. S. Chamber of Commerce Southwest Institute at Dallas, he conferred with Andrew DeShong, executive secretary of the conference, on problems of extending air service in the Southwest.

"We are assured that data on Artesia will be included in all future considerations made by the conference," Scott said.

Colleen Jackson Attends Hawaiian Summer School

Colleen Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Jackson, is among 3000 students now attending the six-week summer session at the University of Hawaii.

The university is a fully accredited institution of higher learning and credits earned by summer students are transferable to mainland colleges according to nationally accepted practices.

The main university campus, located in Manoa Valley, is not far from some of the island's finest beaches, making it possible for students, after a morning of classes and study, to take advantage of the sunshine, sand, and surf in the afternoon.

Many activities, in the community and on campus, are planned for the summer students so that at the end of six weeks they can also have more than the accumulation of college credits.

Colleen is a history major at the University of New Mexico.

Artesia Continues to Lead League in Club Batting

Artesia continued to head the Longhorn league this week in team batting with a .314, and held on to second place in team fielding, according to statistics released by George Hine, Jr., of Abilene, league statistician.

Joe Bauman moved up to third place in individual batting with a .380, the lone Driller among the top 10 in the league. Artesia is batting .314, closely followed by Carlsbad's .312. Following are Roswell and Midland with .301 apiece, Odessa's .287 San Angelo with .286, and Big Spring .271.

Although the Drillers have been at bat 2,785 times compared to 2,833 for San Angelo and 2,871 for Big Spring, the team leads in hits with 877, against 864 for Carlsbad, in total bases with 1,437 against 1,330 for Carlsbad, in two-bases hits with 186, against 162 for Carlsbad and 161 for Big Spring.

Artesia is also tops with home runs with 102, compared to 70 for Midland, and 69 for San Angelo, and second in stolen bases with 61, against 71 for Odessa. Artesia also leads with runs batted in with 523, as against 503 for Midland, and in strikeouts with 440, against 429 for Midland.

In team fielding the Drillers are second with .640. On top is San Angelo with .962. Third is Odessa and Roswell at .950, fifth Carlsbad with .949, sixth Midland at .948, and seventh Big Spring at .944.

Artesia and Odessa are tied for second place in number of errors committed. Both have 150, trailing only Big Spring's 177.

Below Bauman in hitting for the Drillers are Les Mulcahy with .337, Bill Hailey .319, Joe Calderon .282, Jackie Wilcox .281, Vince DiGiantomasso—.273.

Bauman is second to Leo Eastham of Odessa in number of hits so far this season—Eastham has 86, against 84 for Bauman.

Les Mulcahy leads the league in doubles with 30, followed by Bauman with 28. Mulcahy through July 19 had 26 homers to 24 for Bauman, but both were topped by Burns of San Angelo with 29.

Leading the league was Elias

Drillers Have Relapse, Fall 5-1 Saturday

After breaking a six-game loss streak Friday night, Artesia's Drillers relapsed Saturday before the Odessa Oilers on the short end of a 5-1 score.

Odessa led off the scoring with a run in the fourth inning with Bob Martin making the rounds on a single, a stolen base, and two wild throws.

Two more were added by Odessa in the fifth, when Artesia also scored—the only time in the ball game. Armando Sanchez was walked and moved up on Joe Calderon's single. Jackie Wilcox singled to score Sanchez.

Odessa's No. 4 run, came in the eighth when Leo Eastham scored on a muffed ground slam, and its final score in the ninth when Frank Castro hit a ball that bounced over the right field fence, giving a double under ground rules. He was sacrificed to third and brought home with a single by Raul Dieppa.

Wes Ortiz went all the way for Odessa, as did Andy Alonso for Artesia.

Ortiz walked seven, struck out three, allowed six hits.

Alonso walked four, struck out one, gave up eight hits.

Odessa was credited with one error, Artesia two.

Odessa Protest Not Valid, Artesia Told

Protest registered by Pepper Martin, Odessa Oiler manager, during a Longhorn league game in Artesia Sunday night is not valid, Artesia Driller Mgr. Earl Perry said Monday.

Artesia Drillers Turn About To Win Over Odessa Sunday

Artesia Drillers turned about on the Odessa Oilers Sunday night to win the third contest in a home series, 11-3, to give Artesia two of three in the series.

But Odessa served notice it was playing under protest from the seventh inning on.

In perhaps one of the quietest disput of any import at Driller Park, Oiler Mgr. Pepper Martin told umpires he protested the game since Artesia was playing without rookies in the line-up.

Martin merely walked from second base to the field umpire to register his protest. The umpire nodded, walked over to the Driller dugout to tell Mgr. Joe Bauman brief details, and then the game resumed.

Odessa plated a token run in the ninth but could not muster power for a rally.

Len Ruyle went all the way for Artesia, allowing nine hits and striking out seven.

Manuel Rodriguez and Luis handled Odessa mound chores, yielding 17 hits between them.

Odessa plated a token run in the ninth but could not muster power for a rally.

Line score for the game:

Drillers to Honor Little League, Legion August 3

Next promotional features for Artesia Drillers were announced this week by Mgr. Earl Perry. First event will be a Little League and American Legion warm-up, Aug. 3.

The game is the first night of a two-game stand with Big Spring.

All Little League ball players and American Legion Junior ball club members in uniform will be admitted free.

If Little Leaguers come early enough, they will be permitted to mingle with Artesia Drillers on the playing field in pre-game warm-up, Perry said.

The Artesia Advocate will photograph the event.

Aug. 5 has been planned as a gift night.

Aug. 6 will honor National Guardsmen, with all guardsmen in uniform being admitted free to the San Angelo game.

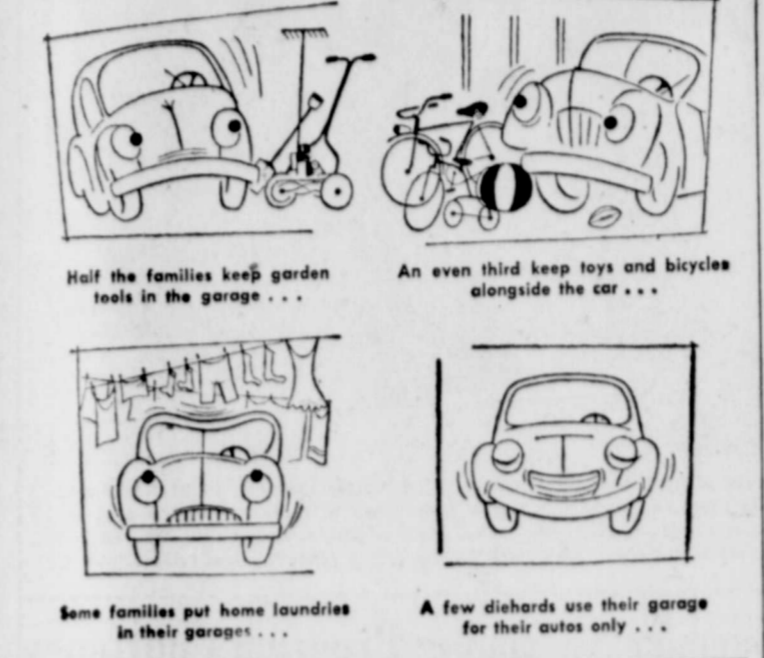

rules and league Pres. Hal Sayles.

Martin had protested the Artesia Drillers were playing Sunday night with two rookies, rather than three in the line-up.

However, Perry pointed out there are only 14 players on the Artesia payroll now. One rookie and one limited service player have been trimmed from the roster to reduce operating expenses, Perry said.

Children's Toys, Tools, Laundry Giving the Family Car a Hard Time

Is the family garage merely a stable for the family car, or does the average American homeowner have other designs on it? Home Modernizing magazine recently conducted a survey among its readers, and came up with the following possibly surprising conclusions:

Ruyle, Alvarez Hurling .700

Len Ruyle, the hardest-working pitcher in the Longhorn league, and Fidel Alvarez, who has pitched only 23 innings fewer than Ruyle, continued with averages .700 and better in statistics released this week by George Hine, Jr., Longhorn league statistician.

In 173 innings pitched in 31 games, Ruyle has won 14, lost 6 for .700. He has faced batters 723 times, allowing 94 hits, walked 66, and struck out 102.

Alvarez has a .706 with 12 won, 5 lost, in 150 innings in 32 games he has faced 650 batters, allowed runs to 185, walked 38, and fanned 90.

Bob Pressley with 2 won, none lost, is throwing 1,000. He has pitched 17 innings in four games.

Torres of Roswell is throwing .800 with a 4-1, Audie Malone of Carlsbad .769, Winn of San Angelo .750, Jacome of Midland .733, Jiminez of Odessa .733, and Epperson of Carlsbad .706.

Pat Monahan has a .657 with 4 won, 2 lost in 69 innings in 16 games, six of which he completed.

Herman Reyes with a 5 won, 6 lost is .455, and Andy Alonso with a 5 won, 10 lost record is throwing .333.

Personal Mention

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Fletcher returned home Thursday from a three-week trip. They went to Sulphur Springs, Okla., for a reunion of the Fletcher families. There were seven brothers, sisters and their wives present for the reunion. They also visited their daughter, Mrs. F. E. McCracken and family at Springdale, Ark., then went to Durant, where they visited Mrs. Fletcher's brother, C. H. Dalton, and at Bouquata visited nieces and nephews. They returned home through Texas.

Six-Game Loss Streak Broken - Temporarily

Artesia broke a six-game losing streak Friday night with a 7-4 win over the Odessa Oilers, pushing Artesia back up to within 1 1/2 games of the second-place Carlsbad Potashers.

Both Artesia and Odessa garnered 12 hits apiece Friday night, but Artesia made its count.

The Drillers fell behind 2-1 in early stages of Friday's ball game, trailing 2-1 going into the third.

But three runs in the third stanza when Les Mulcahy hit his 28th homer of the season with Vince DiGiantomasso and Joe Bauman aboard shoved the Drillers to lead they retained for the rest of the game.

Artesia added two more in the fifth, both unearned, and a single in the seventh.

Herman Reyes went all the way for Artesia, allowing 2 hits.

Odessa was charged with five errors, Artesia one, showing where the Oilers lost the ball game despite their even-seven hitting.

Zgraggen walked four, struck out four, and twice balked. Reyes walked two, struck out one.

Plan Your Fall Garden Now—A fall garden means a good supply of fresh vegetables for cool weather...

Planting dates for various vegetables vary but the important point to remember is that late vegetables should be seeded early enough...

Gibbs states that vegetables planted for late maturity require more care than early maturing vegetables because they're exposed to more heat and drier soil.

The top soil dries out rapidly in the summer and since seed must have moisture to germinate...

ly requests that visitors leave their harmless-appearing plants in their native lands.

Many examples may be cited of plants and insects which have proven extremely costly to this nation's agriculture as a result of their being brought into this country by curious persons.

Anyone wishing to bring back such items for special purposes should do so only after requesting a permit from the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine...

Plant quarantine inspectors at all ports of entry are awaiting a record influx of returning travelers and foreign visitors this summer.

Such destructive pests as the citrus black fly, Oriental Mexican, West Indian, and Mediterranean fruit flies, the pink bollworm, the golden nematode, citrus canker, brown rot of apples and pears, and blackspot of citrus fruits were intercepted.

The mails and parcel post entering the U. S. are also checked for insects or plant disease carriers.

Insects coming into this country from other lands are among the greatest agricultural pests today, according to the head of the plant quarantine service.

Travelers are cautioned about mailing souvenirs packed in such materials as cotton waste or rice and wheat straw, as they may carry insects or diseases.

T or C Patrolman Lucky on Running Out Trot Lines

Wins in Second Round.
 Jim Hall, Patrolman of Truth or Consequences, in running his trot lines last Wednesday morning was a very lucky and happy man.

Jim had to come to Santa Fe and was running his line quite early in the morning. So pleased, and yet worn out, but the battle his catch gave him, he was nearly late for his appointment in Santa Fe.

With his trot line baited with cut bait and a No. 2 hook on his line, he managed to land a beautiful 56-pound flat head catfish. Hall weighs 128 pounds. Fishermen can well understand the fight that ensued.

Hall insisted that fishing is plenty good on the flats between Kettle Butte and North Kettle Butte Canyon where the big fight occurred.

Antelope Looking to Future.
 Elmo Traylor, district warden for the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish and stationed in Raton, reports the recent releasing of 16 antelope to the Charrette Lakes near Wagon Mound. In checking on this band to see how they are getting along, Traylor reports that 6 does have remained in the immediate vicinity of the lake while the rest of them have drifted on southwest of the lake are still on top of the mesa. From these 6 does he observed that 5 of them had twin fawns. One of them he said was a "piker" and had only one baby, making 11 antelope that will be legal size a year from now in the regular hunting season.

Traylor requested all sportsmen to keep an eye out for possible poachers or people who would pick up little orphans in the woods. Actually, these babies are not orphans because Mama is standing over behind a bush keeping a clear eye out for the care of her baby. Orphans are a very unusual thing in the woods and should be left alone. Traylor jokingly stated that people don't usually try to catch orphan lions or orphan bobcats. It is the antelope and deer that people usually try to catch and bring in and report as orphans but they are not orphans at all, he said.

Game Warden Captures Culprit.
 At least two departments of state government enjoy the best of relationships. The deputy wardens in the Game and Fish Department, while charged with the enforcement of game and fish laws, are all experienced law enforcement officers and can double their job as police officers. The State up anywhere they are needed. Police called State Unit No. 854, driven by Deputy Warden "Bear" Turner of Magdalena, and asked for a road block to be maintained at San Antonio on the junction of Highways 380 and 85.

The sheriff, Ernest F. Peralto of Socorro county, and Turner set up the block about 1 p. m. and about 6:30 p. m. the stolen car bearing a Colorado tag, drove up. The driver of the car was Gayland Garrison, AWOL from the Marine Corps. The young man met the Game Warden, known to everybody in that vicinity, with "Hello, Bear, how are you?" Later he freely admitted to Turner he had stolen the car, and was turned over to the State Police.

We've Moved.
 The State Game Department has moved its main Santa Fe office from the barracks building it formerly occupied to the upper floor of the State Welfare Building at 408 Galisteo street.

The new headquarters are just two doors north of the Department's former location. The barracks building, it is understood, will be removed to provide space for additional parking of Capitol employees.

Even though the new quarters are a little crowded to permit the greatest amount of efficiency from the staff and to provide enough room for display of wildlife specimens for the tourists to see, the department personnel is proud of these new clean offices.

State Game Letter— All Game Department Field Officers Asked for Ideas

Fred Patton, the new Public Relations officer, invites the public to come in and see the new set-up and the specimens of game and fish that are now being shown.

Game Wardens Backing Their New Chief
 Ray Bell, the chief enforcement officer of the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish, had in a meeting last week of the district deputy wardens and patrolmen of the Game Department. The purpose of the meeting was to set forth recommendations to the Game Commission for the purpose of setting the seasons and Jim Patton for special hunts on antelope and elk; also, certain recommendations pertaining to waterfowl and various other subjects related to the field of law enforcement.

At this meeting the new Game Warden, Homer Pickens, of course, had his opportunity to speak. Pickens stated that at the beginning of a new game warden's regime, it is logical that certain Game Department policies should be reviewed—not necessarily new policies, but those which would be conducive to better cooperation, greater efficiency and maximum accomplishment of duties. He told his men that the door was wide open and that he requested their free cooperation and wanted them to feel free to offer any suggestions that they might have at any time whereby the Department might be bettered.

At the close of the meeting, the men unanimously gave Pickens a vote of confidence and said they were proud of the fact that he was one of their own, having come all the way up the ladder through the Department, having served as hunter and trapper, as patrolman, district warden, in the fisheries division, assistant game warden and now advanced to the post of State Game Warden.

News and Views—
 The State Department of Game and Fish left itself wide open for real criticism, but in a constructive way, by its new public relations chief Fred Patton the other evening when members of the press and radio were invited to a supper meeting.

Patton stated that we were opening the door and not making a statement as to what we expected of the press and radio but turned this right around and said what do you expect of us. This more or less took the press boys by surprise as this was a far cry from the usual thing when the press is expected to print "everything in toto that any government agencies might give them."

After the shock had worn off, though, there was a number of good suggestions came out of this meeting. Patton was elated with the response that the boys gave him and also the suggestions. He feels that he can do a better job now, with the suggestions that the press and radio have given.

Those attending were Julius Golden and Bob Barnes from the Associated Press, Jim Carberry and Tony Hillerman from United Press, Mel Mencher, Albuquerque Journal, George Fitzpatrick, New Mexico Magazine, and Joe Aaron from The New Mexican. Joe Springs from KTRC was there and Homer Pickens, the new State Game Warden, and Patton, composed the supper party.

There were many suggestions and among them was the expansion of our picture service. Patton said that he felt the pictures could be taken and sent to the press more rapidly than in the past.

Another thing was the statement of getting the information out of the horse's mouth and a comparison was given in that a tourist had written in sometime past and had mistaken the eyes of a deer for the reflector buttons shown along the highway.

This, in press, was a big story but it is things that the men in the field, the wardens and patrolmen in the field see every day but think nothing of it; it's news that's looked forward to seeing these things that would be interesting to the people who read the papers, the arm chair hunter, the arm chair fisherman.

County Cotton Farmers Alerted For Pink Worms

Cotton farmers in Eddy county should be on the alert for pink bollworms, advises Richard Marek, county agent. He says that the cotton will soon be in full bloom and that the cotton grower will have to find the "webbed" blooms. Marek explains that the pink bollworm has a habit of webbing together the petals of the flower.

This prevents the blossom from opening completely. According to Marek, here's how to check pink bollworm infestation in your field. Step off 100 steps (approximately 300 feet) in a row at five locations in a field. This gives you a total of 1,500 feet of row.

In this area, count the number of infested blooms. Multiply the number of infested blooms by ten, to give the approximate number of worms per acre.

If an infestation of this insect appears, get in touch immediately with Richard Marek, county agent.

New Mexico Construction Industry Faces Demand for 26,000 New Homes

New Mexico's construction industries face a predicted demand for 26,000 new, privately owned, one-family dwelling structures by 1960.

This means, also, that capital investment of $241,800,000 will be needed.

Both predictions were made today by the Pacific Southwest Research Council of the National Association of Manufacturers as part of a study it is making to alert communities to plan to meet demands of the growing population if government functions and freedoms are to be retained at the local, home, level.

The NAM is concerned, its studies said, "that private industry, local government and the general public swiftly co-operate to solve problems co-incident with a predicted population increase by 1960 in New Mexico of 195,813. The alternative will be action by the Federal Government with inevitable concentration of authority and another strengthening of trends toward Socialism.

"The projections of current and past population and economic forces indicate a 'Decade of Opportunity,' which will bring a surge of problems of such a nature that within their solution will also be contained the destiny of voluntary government and free people.

"If we leave the solution to Statists of whatever variety our freedoms will wither as they have wherever such alternative has been followed.

"Freedom gains by the exercise of individual initiative and responsibility; the surrender of one historically leads to the loss of all."

Tourist Bureau Finds 240,000 More Motorists Come to State Than in '52

Already, in the first six months of the year, 240,000 more out-of-state motorists have come to New Mexico than were here during the same period last year, according to C. B. Maysbark, director of the state tourist bureau.

Some 1,332,484 out-of-state cars passed through New Mexico ports of entry the first six months of the year; these compared to an estimated 1,233,065 for the first six months of 1952. Total traffic for the same period of 1953 showed an increase of 8.6 per cent over the first half of 1952.

Though no method now exists for determining how many of 3,237,932 out-of-state motorists here during the first six months of 1953 were bonafide tourists and how many were simply passing through, the tourist bureau is now issuing a questionnaire to hotel operators, resorts, motor courts, and other tourist accommodations in order to determine the type of visitor New Mexico is drawing.

Headed West

Miss Uruguay demonstrates to photographers why she was chosen to represent her country at the Miss Universe beauty pageant in California. Obviously this delightful dish, whose real name is Alicia Ibanez, is well qualified to hold her title.

The more than 3 million motorists represent a major part of the overall tourist business. Other visitors arrive by train, bus, and plane, but the substantial increase in the number of motorists indicated that the tourist business as a whole in New Mexico is on the rise.

At the close of its fiscal year, which ended June 30, 1953, the state tourist bureau, which is a division of the state highway department, reported an increase in activity and a higher quality of tourist response for the whole of the fiscal year.

Color advertising has been stressed by the tourist bureau since Jan. 1, 1953, and inquiries, directly traceable to advertisements in magazines such as the Saturday Evening Post, Holiday, the National Geographic, and Cosmopolitan, numbered 8,987.

At a recent meeting the highway commission voted to continue the contract with the advertising agency, which serves the tourist bureau, and to place it on a fiscal year basis in order to conform with the budgeting of the tourist bureau, which is on a fiscal year basis.

Before its present advertising contract, the tourist bureau used black-and-white ads, and from June 30, 1952, to Jan. 1, 1953, these drew 5,077 responses, directly traceable to the ads.

A total of 74,422 inquiries for information about New Mexico were received by the tourist bureau during the fiscal year. These inquiries were made as a result of advertising, publicity, films, distribution of literature, and other means used by the bureau to draw attention to the state.

Total inquiries showed a slight decrease from the 77,150 tourist inquiries made the year before, but the decrease was anticipated as a result of omitting coupons in advertisements. The decline was more than offset by the improved quality of inquiries received.

During the fiscal year, the tourist bureau purchased 150,000 pamphlets, 500,000 maps, 200,000 windshield stickers and smaller amounts of miscellaneous literature for distribution. Its four films

Local Doctor Discusses Cause Of Lumbago

Lumbago should be described as a severe muscular contraction of the quadratus lumborum muscle, but through common usage the name has been applied to many forms of severe pain in the lower back. Above the waist the trunk is strengthened by the ribs which are attached to the spine and give assistance to the column in maintaining the body in an upright position. Below the waist the large hip bones answer this same purpose, but in the region of the waist (lumbar region) the entire support must be maintained by the vertebrae and the muscles which hold them in their normal positions.

The vertebrae are supported by powerful muscles which must be perfectly balanced on both sides of the spine. If the spinal vertebrae become displaced, it causes a decrease in the size of the small openings between the vertebrae through which delicate nerves make their exit. This results in pressure on the nerves and interference with their normal function. To correct the cause of lumbago, it is necessary to remove the interference from the spinal nerves. The chiropractor is especially trained to detect any abnormality in the spine. By Chiropractic adjustment the offending vertebrae are returned to their normal positions.

were shown over 109 television stations to an estimated audience of 10 million people; they were also exhibited before 269 schools, service clubs, and other organizations.

More than 200 publicity feature stories, 31 of which filled special requests, emanated from the tourist bureau. Some 5,000 people from every state in the union and from a number of foreign countries, registered at the tourist bureau's information booth at the state capitol in Santa Fe and were given information about New Mexico.

Late Infestation Of Aphids Hurts Premium Cotton

Unless New Mexico cotton farmers take steps to control late infestations of aphids, they stand a chance of losing their reputation of producers of "premium" cotton, says Marshall O. Thompson, extension cotton marketing specialist at New Mexico A&M college.

Last year, a year of very little insect damage to the cotton plant, saw extreme quality damage to the lint because of "honeydew" from the cotton aphid. As a result, many cotton mills have complained that the sticky sugar content from the fiber made spinning of the cotton very difficult.

One mill owner writes, "We feel very definitely that it is for the common interest of the consumer and the shipper to make a concerted drive to eliminate this aphid honeydew condition; otherwise, El Paso territory cotton is bound to meet sales resistance because of the unsatisfactory running condition in the mills.

"As you know, we like the El Paso cotton, but the sticky sugar content gave us so much trouble last year that at one time it didn't look as though we would be able to get it through the mill. Unless the folks down there eliminate the bugs that cause this condition, I am afraid they are going to lose a market that they have worked hard to build up for a number of years. Egyptian cotton is now getting down in price where it is competitive to El Paso cotton; therefore, you cannot emphasize too strongly to those folks how serious this problem is."

"It has taken years to overcome the prejudice against irrigated cotton and to replace the penalty market with a premium market," Thompson points out. "This has been achieved through improved

Without the full cooperation of the farmers, this success could never have been achieved, and without their continued cooperation it cannot be maintained.

Cotton Bale Tie Research Recommended

the New Mexico Ginners' Association represented U. S. cotton ginners at a recent meeting in Memphis, Tenn., of the committee on cotton packaging.

The goal of the group, a sub-committee of the National Cotton Council's Industry-wide Committee on Cotton Quality, is a bale: (1) giving better protection of lint against contamination; (2) rugged enough to withstand present day handling methods; (3) simple and easy to sample; (4) that is economical; (5) that can be more efficiently handled, transported, stored or shipped.

Further research on bale ties was also recommended. Objective is a tie that will withstand rust, will not spark and cause fire, and will not contaminate cotton lint.

Span Slavery Be Reduced Best Methods

Be a slave to your dishpan! At summer days no home wants to stand over the dishpan longer than is absolutely necessary.

Help you do away with those blue blouses, Mrs. Dorothy Chapman, extension home management specialist at New Mexico college, offers the following suggestions:

Use any cooking utensils with sticking to them as soon as they are empty. Be sure water is at a proper level, or use a small amount of boiling water and cover the pan tightly.

Remove burned or scorched food from a utensil of aluminum, iron or tin. For enamel, boil in water to which has been added a few tablespoons of baking soda. Tinware should be treated the same as enamel but the solution should only be left in it 15 to 30 minutes. If soaking does not loosen food on iron or stainless steel, use a mild abrasive or a fine polish.

Wash utensils should be wiped with absorbent paper before being stored.

Wash and stack dishes according to kind, placing nearest the sink those to be washed with glass and silver, cups, saucers, small plates, large plates, and dishes and cooking utensils.

Water for washing should be hot (120 degrees F.). Use a soap detergent which is easily rinsed. Wash instead of a dish cloth is effective and easier to keep clean and more sanitary. Rinse dishes thoroughly in very hot water, at least 140 degrees F. but preferably hotter, 170-212 degrees F. Dishes will then drain dry rapidly.

Cotton Acreage In State Is Up Three Per Cent

New Mexico farmers had 3 per cent more cotton in cultivation on July 1 this year than on July 1, 1952, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

The July 1 BAE report shows 320,000 acres of cotton in cultivation. Last year's July 1 acreage was 310,000. While some counties had decreased plantings, there was enough new land planted to cotton in other counties to cause this small increase for the state.

American Egyptian cotton acreage was reported at 19,000 compared to 22,000 acres in 1952. The decrease is attributed to difficulty in securing stands.

"In spite of the increase in acreage of Upland cotton, it is very doubtful that production this year will approach that of 1952," says Marshall Thompson, extension cotton specialist at New Mexico A&M college.

"The crop over the state as a whole, got off to a very poor start because of unfavorable weather conditions and 'skippy' stands are prevalent in most areas. Insect damage has also been heavier than during the same period of 1952. The final outcome of this year's crop will depend on the weather and the availability of irrigation water from now till harvest. If the frost holds off until late cotton matures, we could have a near-normal crop," the specialist says.

wool producers before the auction. The sale catalogue and information cards on the pens of the wool breed rams will show the 12-month staple certification and grade of fleece.

Sheep and wool producers, who are looking for good breeding stock, are urged to attend this year's annual ram sale. It starts at 2 p. m., August 6.

Four Hundred Rams Consigned To Sheep Sale

Sheep and wool producers from New Mexico, Colorado, Utah, and Texas have consigned 400 rams and 15 registered ewes to the 16th annual New Mexico Ram Sale, Ivan Watson, extension animal husbandman at New Mexico A&M college, and manager of the sale, announced this week.

The sale will be held at the New Mexico State Fair grounds in Albuquerque, August 6-7.

Of the total number consigned to this year's sale, 235 are Rambouillet, Dedouillet and improved fine wool rams. One-hundred and ten are Columbias, 30 Corriedales, 15 Suffolks and 10 Hampshires.

The stud and single rams will be shown in full fleece, then shorn and exhibited out-of-fleece prior to the sale. Information on body weight, fleece weight, 12-month staple certification and grade of fleece will be given sheep and

Cattle Growers Slate Quarterly Meet for Hobbs

Cattle growers will mix business with education during the third Quarterly Meeting of the New Mexico Cattle Growers' association scheduled to be held in Hobbs on Sept. 2, according to Ed Heringa, Clayton, president.

"Members of our organization are looking forward to participating in the Third Annual Hereford Tour which is planned for southeastern New Mexico immediately following our Quarterly Meeting, and we expect more than six hundred members to make the three day drive," Heringa said.

The tour, which will cover Lea, Roosevelt, Curry, Lincoln and Chavez counties, has been set for Sept. 3, 4, and 5.

"Southeastern New Mexico is for production of top quality Hereford cattle, and this tour will give livestock producers from throughout New Mexico and the entire Southwest their first opportunity to really inspect herds and ranches in this area," Heringa said.

General business program for the quarterly meeting in Hobbs will be announced early in August, according to the Clayton rancher, and it is expected to include a half dozen authorities on pressing industry problems.

E. O. Moore, Jr., Carlsbad, an association vice-president, has been named chairman of the General Resolutions Committee to serve during the Hobbs convention. Members of his committee will include some 96 members representing every county in New Mexico.

A special joint oil producer-rancher committee named by State Land Commissioner E. S. Walker to investigate joint use of state lands is expected to report at the Hobbs session. Sam Williams, Artesia, is chairman of the cattleman section of the committee.

Denies Boys' Rights

THE UNITED STATES Senate agreed to go into the United Nations on the part of our nation. There are those attorneys today who contend that charter has replaced our constitution.
 They have argued long and loud it was a serious mistake for our country to sign that charter.
 The Senate put the United States into the North Atlantic Treaty Organizations and many have wondered whether this was wise or not. Time, of course, will tell.

Now, we are told, the United States senate is getting ready to approve a treaty which will deny our servicemen in the countries a part of NATO trial under the American system. This treaty will require our service men be tried under the courts and the laws of those countries where they are stationed.

In other words we send our boys in the various branches of our service to foreign countries to protect our rights and we strip them of these very same rights by approving a treaty that gives to these countries the right to try our boys in their courts.

In the past servicemen in foreign countries were tried for all crimes by court martial. That, however is no more.
 It means, Senator Russell Long of Louisiana, who has been fighting the treaty, says our boys can be tried by a Communist judge in France. It means that the severe penalty, which can apply in these countries, can be assessed our boys for some minor crime in these countries.

Senator Long points out that those who want the treaty signed will be safe from its provisions—the members of the state department. They will still be subject to diplomatic immunity. Yet this same state department which will not come under the provisions of this treaty want the Senate to adopt it.

Their excuse, Senator Long says, is because these countries want this right. Senator Long declares that if these countries want our servicemen on their soil to help protect and defend them, then they must take them on our terms and not their terms. And if they don't want them on our terms then insofar as he is concerned they can come home and stay home.

Senator Long says we have some 750,000 American boys scattered around the world and if the parents, the brothers and sisters and the relatives of the boys will wire their senator probably this treaty won't be adopted.

Senator Long is certain that parents will not want their sons tried under the law of the land where they are stationed. He is sure that these parents will not and do not want their sons denied their American rights merely because they are stationed in a foreign land.
 However, he points out, all indications now point to the fact that this treaty will be approved and our boys in service will be denied their American rights.

THIS LAND OF ENCHANTMENT— Hurley Explodes When GOP State Committee Adopts 'Weasel-Worded' Contest Statement

PATRICK J. HURLEY became decidedly unhappy this week-end in Albuquerque when the Republican central committee passed what he called a "weasel-worded" resolution about his contest with Dennis Chavez over last fall's senatorial election.
 The Republicans first passed a resolution which stated "the Republican party stands for the principle that our democracy is based upon honest elections expressing the free will of our citizens."
 He added: "We confidently expect the Senate of the United States to be guided by these principles in examining the facts before it and determining whether its investigation of New Mexico's last senatorial election should be continued."
 Hurley said the resolution could have been written by A. T. Hannett, chief counsel for Chavez.
 The committee later unanimously passed a second resolution strongly endorsing Hurley's fight.
 A SANTA FE COUNTY grand jury probe into the state penitentiary has been called by Dist. Judge David W. Carmody, who ruled that even though a petition asking the investigation had only 73 valid signatures instead of 75, the people obviously wanted the probe.

fathers have their say on this treaty it will never be approved or adopted. However, Senator Long points out that everything indicates today that the Senate is going to adopt and approve the treaty unless sufficient pressure is brought on the Senate to halt them.
 It still makes us wonder whether the Congress is handling the legislative affairs of our nation or whether we have turned everything over to the state department. They have been running the war in Korea for three years now.

Don't Expect Too Much

EDDY COUNTY, which hasn't received too much attention on its highways and seemingly has had to fight for what we did receive, is still going to have to battle to get the project completed on 285 and to get the turns on Highway 83 between Artesia and Hope eliminated.
 You can't expect too much when the state highway engineer is running around the state wanting to move certain highways and build new highways whether they are needed or not.

He has been over in Dona Ana county recently suggesting that a new highway be built between Las Cruces and Anthony. This is a distance of about 28 miles. He proposes that the road be moved a mile east of the present highway to the sand dunes. The argument being advanced for the construction of a new highway for highways No. 80, 85 and 70 is that the present roadbed is not good and that it will be easier to do this than to buy another 50 feet of right-of-way along the present route.

It would probably cost the county a half million to a million dollars for right-of-way besides the cost of the new road. Dona Ana county has indicated it has no intentions of spending this sum of money for a new right-of-way and many have questioned the need or the economy of the construction of a new highway.

They point out that only part of the cost of such a project would put the present four-lane highway in good condition.
 They also point out that since the state is not wealthy, since it has so many unpaved highways, and highways needing attention, it would be far better to take care of some of these jobs and forget the construction of such a project.

But the fact remains that as long as the state is planning such projects and paying out the sum of money they are going to cost that other counties are going to encounter considerable difficulty securing needed repairs and improvements on their highways.

There is no question but what Dona Ana like other counties in the state needs some attention given to their highways but they aren't expecting any 30 miles of new highway to be constructed for them when they have a fair highway while the rest of the counties of the state are denied their just needs.

Get Together

IN THE WAKE of the state board of education's ill-advised decision to appoint a new Artesia school board are continuing factional fights within the community over our public schools and how they shall be run.
 There are those who can keep such a fight going indefinitely, until we have another grand explosion in our school system.
 But it is to be sincerely hoped there are in North Eddy county people of stature who can see that the most good for our schools may be done through working with what we have.

Such a course is not acquiescing without a murmur to what the state has done. We think state school officials have realized the mistake in the Artesia case, which will serve as a lesson when future decisions of a like type must be made. Perhaps there will be special legislation enacted to take care of school districts in the future when they are reorganized, so that special elections may be held.

It seems we have two courses open to us—we may continue criticism, centering it on this board member or that administrator, in which case little is accomplished and an explosive incident is created, or we may work to better our schools through the system at our disposal—now.

Bickering, feuding, and fault-finding seep into student bodies in our schools from parents, and students' educational welfare is hindered. Perhaps if we try pulling together now we may make up for past disturbances, and correct those things we do not like in a way provided by law—at the polls.

Langer, who expects to carry on his fight to the bitter end, charged that Emmons had been a party to a bank shortage in Gallup back in depression days, and Emmons today branded the charge as an "astounding lie."

That's pretty strong language for a man to use who is up for appointment for a federal post, and whose approval depends upon the senate. But it may also show the extent of the appointee's righteous indignation, and his indifference to appointment if he has to be persecuted in the bargain.

We do not know Emmons and do not know much about him but it has been pretty definitely established that Langer's opposition to him rises from the fact that he wanted to name the man for the job himself. In defeat of that intention he may have resorted to untruth to damage the nominee, but it has the possibility of being a futile effort.
 If men have to go through a process of persecution in order to give their services to their government, it might be that pretty soon qualified men would refuse to allow their names to go before

BIG ONE CONFERENCE

NEW MEXICO EDITORS ARE SAYING— Two Editors Argue Against Delay in Emmons Appointment as U.S. Indian Commissioner

EMMONS HOLD-UP
 It was something of a jolt to New Mexicans to learn that President Eisenhower's nomination of Glenn Emmons, Gallup banker, as U. S. Indian commissioner is meeting opposition in the Senate.

The opposition is coming chiefly from Senator Langer, the maverick Republican from North Dakota, who is apparently being supported by New Mexico's Senator Dennis Chavez. The suspicion is that Langer was grooming his own man for the job. As for Chavez, Senator Clinton P. Anderson has been a strong booster for Emmons. That is often enough to turn Chavez against a man. The cooperation between these two rival New Mexico senators is one of the amazing facts of political life in the state.

Luckily for Emmons, Langer can boast little more stature in the Senate than Chavez.
 The vague "charges" about which the North Dakota senator has been mumbling will not be taken seriously in New Mexico. Emmons once ran for governor of New Mexico. He escaped from the experience with his character pretty well intact. Knowing New Mexico politics, we can safely assume that if the Gallup banker had any skeletons in his closet they would have been hauled out and rattled in his face while he was campaigning. In the flying business, it is said that any landing in which you walk away is a good one. And so it is with New Mexico politics. Any man who can go through a political campaign in this state and come through it in such fashion that his friends will still invite him over for bridge is a good man.

We feel Emmons is a good man and should be confirmed immediately without any more nonsense.—Carlsbad Current-Argus.

RESENTS PERSECUTION
 The scrap of Sen. Langer of North Dakota to defeat the appointment of New Mexico's Glenn Emmons to the post of Indian Commissioner seems to have got out of hand and the bounds of truth.

Langer, who expects to carry on his fight to the bitter end, charged that Emmons had been a party to a bank shortage in Gallup back in depression days, and Emmons today branded the charge as an "astounding lie."

That's pretty strong language for a man to use who is up for appointment for a federal post, and whose approval depends upon the senate. But it may also show the extent of the appointee's righteous indignation, and his indifference to appointment if he has to be persecuted in the bargain.
 We do not know Emmons and do not know much about him but it has been pretty definitely established that Langer's opposition to him rises from the fact that he wanted to name the man for the job himself. In defeat of that intention he may have resorted to untruth to damage the nominee, but it has the possibility of being a futile effort.
 If men have to go through a process of persecution in order to give their services to their government, it might be that pretty soon qualified men would refuse to allow their names to go before the senate. And if senators persist in being little their constituents should remove them.—Roswell Record.

OVER IN TRUTH OR UGH, the district judge has put an injunction on the city government so they can't transfer funds from the utility department to the city's general fund.
 The action came as result of a suit brought by property owners. In taking his action the judge upheld a citizen's contention that transfer of $2,000 a month from the utility's income to the general fund was illegal.

In answer to all this the T or Ugh mayor said it had been a practice to transfer funds from the utility, which always has been approved by the state tax commission.

Farm Products Buy More Machinery Than In 1939

Farm products are worth more now in terms of farm machinery than in 1939, a survey made by Allis-Chalmers shows. The machines are greatly improved over 14 years ago. Prices are based on averages during the first week of March, 1939 and 1953, using United States Department of Agriculture reported averages, and factory prices of machinery. Typical machinery found most everywhere is used for comparison.

Simple Weighing Scheme Corrects Case of Lagging Garbage Collectors

A SURVEY INVOLVING weighing of all city garbage trucks on their way to the dump revealed one crew was falling down a bit on the job.
 The weighing idea was suggested by Abe Connor, city sanitarian, to the city council at its July 8 meeting, with the council approving the idea.
 Connor found one crew wasn't doing all it should as a result of the weighing tests.
 Presumably the difficulty has now been corrected.

JERRY BROWN, CARLSBAD Current-Argus sports editor, remarked the other day in his "Much Ado" column that the day after he ran an article praising Earl Perry's business promotion of the Artesia Drillers, Perry jumped back at Brown with criticism of articles he, Brown, had written.

Commented Perry: "Brown criticizes Tuesday and Wednesday, compliments me Thursday, and when I reply to the criticism Friday to get the record straight, thinks I'm showing a lack of appreciation."
 Brown recently commented that his source of information is much closer to Perry than Perry would care to have.

Actually, the source is pretty well known. We learned the need of sources of information and protecting them when necessary, too, but even more important, we were always told, is finding reliable sources of information.

THERE WAS A LOT OF POLITICAL going on, as everyone knew there would be, when especially the last two appointments to the Artesia school board came up during the state board of education's meeting last week.
 By its delaying tactics of appointing three members one day, then deferring appointment of the other two for almost two days, the state board allowed a period in which pressure could be exerted. Whether this was the thing desired by the state board or not, it happened.

 There is a great deal of talk in the community that, like state board's tactics or not, well as those of some local politicians, we have a board now for the next 1 1/2 years and will have to work with it the best we can. With it, that it, rather than against it.
 Needless to say, the two members to the board, the one from the rural areas, will be under closest surveillance. It is fortunate for the rural areas that their first two representatives are accepted in the main as able men by those familiar with their work.

APPARENTLY THE NEWSPAPER spreading value of other media has been overestimated. The Artesia Advocate, when Friday paper came out with the news of the appointment of the last two members to the board of education, appropriately headlined as it was the last news, a number of people were asked when the other three were going to be appointed.
 A number of readers read the boldface bulletin, and did not read that too well. The bulletin actually up-dated the story but people still rely on their newspapers for the complete news.

A RADIO COMMERCIAL used locally says there are 5 million radios in the nation, while daily newspapers have a circulation of only 53 million.
 In defense of our big brother the dailies, it should be pointed out that the last we heard, newspaper circulation was climbing up above 60 million. In addition, there is an average of more than two radio sets per household in this USA, so actually there are radios in something like 55 million homes. And say what the may, radio listening is going down where TV comes in, while newspaper readership continues stronger than ever.

Lake Arthur

By MRS. RAY PATE
 Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Foster, newlyweds, were honored at a wedding shower Tuesday evening on the lawn at the home of Postmaster and Mrs. John Lane. Mmes. E. L. Cummins and William Opfer were co-hostesses with Mrs. Lane in entertaining.

The guests embroidered their names on white hemmed cup towels. The lace covered table which held the many gifts had a cleverly decorated umbrella opened over them as a centerpiece. Summer flowers was arranged on the porch bannister in the background.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster, the honorees, were assisted in opening the packages by their mothers, Mrs. Ada Foster and Mrs. Eirie Smith of Portales, mother of the bride.

Mrs. Charles H. Foster is entertaining at a birthday dinner honoring her son, Charles L. of San Francisco, who is home on leave from Navy duty aboard his ship, the USS Marsh and her grandson, James Calvin Bratcher of Roswell. Charles is 25 years old today and James Calvin was one year old yesterday.

Other dinner guests expected were Mrs. Charles H. Foster, young bride of the honoree; Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bratcher of Roswell, parents of the other honoree; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Price and sons, George and Gerald, Mrs. Price's mother, Mrs. Chandler, all of Hagerman; Joyce and Kay Foster, daughters of the hostess.

Mrs. Edrie Smith, of Portales, mother of Mrs. Charles L. Foster, and her son, Wesley "Bud" Smith, and friend, Mildred Owen, also of Portales, motored down to attend the wedding shower given for Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Foster Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lane.
 Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Foster left Thursday via bus for San Francisco. They have been visiting his mother, Mrs. Ada Foster, and his sisters, Joyce and Kay, for the few days since returning from their honeymoon trip to Colorado Springs.
 Ronda Lard, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Lard, recuperating from an attack of sore throat. She is confined to bed and is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. B. G. Lard, at Hagerman.
 Mrs. Mary Griffith was taken to ambulance to Artesia General hospital about noon Thursday. She suffered a stroke late Wednesday on her right side. Mrs. Jack Smith of Carlsbad is at her mother's bedside.
 Andy Griffith, her son, reported that when he left the hospital at this writing, that she was about the same.
 John and Joe Kintz will enter Camp Tekawitha, located in the Black Mountain Range at Kingstons, N. M. John Kintz, their father, and Jacqueline and Jeannette, sisters, will drive up with the boys Saturday. They will be accompanied by Joe Clarke, son of Dr. and Mrs. John Clarke of Artesia. It is planned that Dr. Clarke will drop in a couple of weeks for all three boys and bring them home.
 Mr. and Mrs. Ned Hedges and sons, Richard and Edward, made an extensive tour of the northern part of the state last week. On their return trip home they stopped at Portales to visit in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Taylor and son, Dickie and Billy. Richard Hedges is visiting Bob Hannah and other college friends in Albuquerque this week.
 The Lake Arthur Chapters of the Order of the Eastern Star, and Masonic Lodges are planning an ice cream social at the Town Hall Thursday evening at 8 p. m. on Aug. 6. Cakes, ice cream, sandwiches, cold drinks, coffee will be sold.
 Mr. and Mrs. Will Seogins of Portales spent Monday night visiting with his sister, brother-in-law and family, the Paul Robinsons. He is enjoying a two weeks vacation and expects to return here on Friday for another visit.
 Andy Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Hart, returned at mid-week from Las Cruces where he had spent several days taking civil service examinations. He successfully passed and has received scholarships to enter the White Sands Proving Grounds school in September. It is a unique government school where the eligible students attend classes six months and are employed for six months during the year. Andy was salutatorian of the 1953 graduating class at Lake Arthur high school this year and the teachers could not tell until the very last whether he'd be valedictorian or not as the race was so close.

New 4-H Program Honors Former Club Members

A new 4-H club award program, the recognition of 4-H alumni, will make it possible to honor former club members who exemplify effective community leadership, service to 4-H club work, and success in their chosen careers.

Tiny Faye Jones, associate state 4-H club leader at New Mexico A&M, explains that the program has been established by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work with the approval of the federal and state extension services.

Candidates for the alumni recognition awards may be nominated by extension agents, local 4-H club leaders, and members or other interested individuals in the county in which the nominees reside or in the county where their club work was done.

The names of nominees must be submitted to the State Extension Service on or before Aug. 20, 1953, Miss Jones said.

Awards in the Alumni Recognition Program are on the county, state and national levels. A county judging committee may name two individuals to receive an alumni award certificate. Four former club members in each state will receive an alumni recognition plaque as state winners. National recognition will be given to eight individuals. They will receive a gold key and an all-expense trip to the 32nd National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, November 29 to December 3. Donor of the alumni recognition awards is the Mathieson Chemical Corporation of Baltimore, Md.

VA Direct Loan Program on Construction Is Extended

The veterans administration direct loan program to aid veterans in the purchase or construction of home and farmhouses in areas where private financing is not available, has been extended for one year under public law 101, signed this month by the President.

VA's direct loan authority ended June 30, 1953. The new law extends that authority to June 30, 1954. This law also adds $25-million per quarter to the direct loan fund.

Direct loans are not made in metropolitan areas, VA said. Areas eligible for the direct loans are confined in most cases to small towns and rural areas where GI loans from private lenders are not available.

Public law 101 also increases the interest rate on direct loans from 4 to 4 1/2 per cent, and places them on the same level as the VA-guaranteed loans made by private lenders on which a maximum rate of 4 1/2 per cent is permissible.

The administrator of veterans affairs, with the concurrence of the secretary of the treasury, is authorized by the new law to lower interest rates on both guaranteed and direct loans below the 4 1/2 per cent if the loan market demands it. During the three years the direct loan program has been in operation, VA has closed 32,300 loans, and reserved funds for 10,000 for a total of nearly $293-million.

Through July 1, 1953, there were no direct loans in New Mexico that resulted in foreclosure or voluntary conveyance to the Government in lieu of foreclosure. This proves that veterans are excellent credit risks.

Although VA direct loans are limited to $10,000, the average direct loans in New Mexico has been about $7,400.

Martin J. May, loan guaranty officer, VA regional office in Albuquerque, emphasized that veterans should not, however, obligate themselves in any way for the purchase of a home if they were depending upon a direct loan to finance the purchase.

May pointed out that there were already on file in the Albuquerque regional office approximately 400 requests for applications which would be processed in order of their receipt in the regional office.

The very limited funds to be allocated to the state of New Mexico for direct loans will preclude the acceptance of new applications until further notice.

hands", but they should not be unnecessarily exposed to over-doses of toxaphene or other poisons, says Marshall Thompson, extension cotton specialist at New Mexico A&M college.

Experimenters at A&M agree that recent tests indicate that neither toxaphene nor DDT, when used as dust at concentrations ordinarily recommended for cotton insect control, are likely to poison geese in cotton fields.

However, they point out that direct contact with the spray-mist promotes sickness and oftentimes death. Therefore, they recommend the removal of geese from the fields during the actual spraying with toxaphene.

The experimenters say that even though no mortality was produced when geese, which were used in the test, were allowed to graze areas immediately after treatment, an interval of 24 hours is suggested as a safe margin. Only young adult geese were used in the tests at New Mexico A&M college.

The observations and conclusions presented may not hold true for goslings. Judging by what happened recently on the Rusty Kendrick farm at Buckeye, Ariz., toxaphene is apparently deadly to goslings. Kendrick dusted an 80-acre field one night with 15 pounds of 5 per cent toxaphene dust to the acre. Early the next morning he turned in 600 goslings to breakfast on a fairly heavy infestation of Johnsongrass. The birds began to keel over within two hours and by late afternoon the cotton field was littered with dead "hoe hands."
