Eight-Page Artesia Book for National Display

Fortune Dogs of Former Teacher, Painter

An eight-page brochure with color covers and more than 30 photographs is in preparation for Artesia and slated for a national distribution of between 30,000 and 50,000 copies, Paul W. Scott, Chamber of Commerce manager, has announced.

The project is being carried out in cooperation with Sun Trails magazine, and is being financed in part by Artesia merchants.

Dick Richards, advertising manager for the magazine, has completed sale of the idea to Artesia merchants.

The brochure will start as an eight-page supplement in Sun Trails magazine in its October issue. It will be included in the magazine's national edition, scheduled for a press run of 50,000 copies.

Circulation of the national edition is reported to be increasing rapidly. All advertising pages carried in the state edition are cut out of the national edition, making its format similar to that of Arizona Highways.

When printing of the magazine is finished, plates will be used to print 1000 copies of the supplement as a brochure for use by the Artesia Chamber of Commerce.

Copy for the brochure is being written by Scott, and will boast Artesia as the "City of Opportunity." Photographs have been prepared by local and Sun Trails photographers.

Printing of the brochure will mark the first time Artesia has had such material to publicize itself. Heretofore queries from tourists and firms have been answered with an assortment of mimeographed material and letters, as well as State Tourist Bureau material.

Scott has reported that following completion of the brochure, which will be mailed as an answer to inquiries rather than on a mass distribution basis, the chamber will next turn to work on compilation of an industrial brochure of a more comprehensive nature for distribution to prospective industries.

The project is being carried out in cooperation with Sun Trails magazine, and is being financed in part by Artesia merchants.

When printing of the magazine is finished, plates will be used to print 1000 copies of the supplement as a brochure for use by the Artesia Chamber of Commerce.

Lion Youths Give Rotary Challenge

The youngsters in Artesia Lions club have thrown down the gauntlet and posed a serious question—can the elders which make up the Artesia Rotary club leave their wheelchairs and come long enough to play a softball game?

Incensed Rotarians have indicated they are ready to meet the Lions' whelps, but thus far no more details can be learned. Both clubs have insisted, however, that any proceeds which might arise from a game between their members will be earmarked to help Junior and Senior high school bands in the way of travel funds and some equipment purchases.

Escaped Prisoner Believed to Have Stolen Car Here

Artesia police are aiding in a search for an escaped prisoner of Eddy county police officers who escaped a deputy sheriff at Carlsbad Wednesday night.

Police believe the escapee is responsible for theft of a car owned by Union Supply Co. and parked Wednesday night at 711 Bullock. Keys were left in the car.

The wanted man is identified as David Leach, a white male.

Leach called Artesia police Wednesday night before local police had been notified of his escape to ask how he might go about seeking release of his car, impounded by county authorities.

Artesia police were notified of his escape because Leach has a sister living here.

Leach called police from Iverson Supply.

He was arrested on a felony warrant by county deputies.

Juvenile Angry Over Arrest Floods Jail

A juvenile too tough for jail broke a water pipe in the Artesia hoosegow Saturday night, flooding the jail's floor.

The youth was arrested for fighting, and was fined $25.

His father paid the fine and also agreed to pay for the broken pipe. The youth is 18.

Plan to Give Drillers Volunteer Labor Issued

Plans for contributed labor in operation of Driller Park during the 1954 season which would save $6,000 has been proposed by Driller Gen. Mgr. Earl F. Perry to Artesia civic clubs.

One civic club is reported ready to accept the proposal and donate labor for the month of May next year. Other civic clubs are to be contacted within the next two weeks, Perry said.

The plan calls for volunteer labor to operate concessions at Driller Park, and sell and accept tickets. Perry said the payroll for these departments now exceeds $6,000 a season.

The general manager thus far has spoken to Lions club. The organizations board of directors has told Perry he can count on the club's "enthusiastic support" and volunteer labor for next May.

Other clubs are expected to donate labor for one-month periods.

The proposal is one phase of a program under which Perry hopes to reduce operating expenses of the ball club.

Another phase is a campaign to reduce deficit of $15,000 incurred in three years of the club's operation in Artesia.

This week Perry sent letters to all stockholders and supporters of the club calling for them to sell memberships in the Hit and Run club.

Text of Perry's letter is as follows:

Football Season's Here

As football season begins with daily practice sessions, the Artesia Advocate today gives sports fans the first in a series of comprehensive picture and word reports on the Bulldogs.

Included in today's sports page are the Bulldog season schedule, pictures of practice routine, names of boys out for practice, and some early season views held by coaches who must whip an inexperienced squad into shape for Artesia's first game just three weeks from today.

Sound Financial Future Is Seen For City Hospital

With improved bookkeeping practices and a new program to collect delinquent accounts, Artesia General hospital may be placed on a sound financial basis, Ralph Lennon, administrator, told city council this week.

Already the hospital has been able to collect $1,613 which had been charged off as uncollectable by auditors, Lennon stated.

A profit and loss statement presented the city council under a method in use before Lennon took office last month indicates the hospital's position but does not present a true financial picture, Lennon said.

$6,727 Net Loss

The statement showed the hospital with a net loss of $6,727 for June and July.

Lennon pointed out over half the loss is made up of a $1,600 auditor's fee and accounts past due as of May 31.

The administrator also pointed out the fall months will bring greater occupancy of hospital rooms, "due to the somewhat seasonal nature of the business."

A new bookkeeping system is expected to give a better picture of hospital operations, and a new collecting system should reduce uncollectable accounts, Lennon said.

While $13,000 was charged off hospital books as uncollectable by an auditor, Lennon said plans have been made to collect a large part of that amount.

Large Receivable Item

In addition, more than $28,907 is on the accounts receivable, ledger, Lennon's report showed.

Lennon told councilmen a new policy of requiring $50 deposits for surgical patients and $25 for medical patients has been put in force and is generally meeting with understanding by the public.

A new collection method calls for regular statements and at least two personal letters to be sent past patients with overdue accounts, the administrator said.

Part of the charged-off accounts will be placed in the hands of a collection agency, Lennon said.

Youngster Gets Into Building, Can't Get Out

An inexperienced youngster who found his way into an Artesia bar but couldn't get out fast enough is being held by police for investigation.

The 17-year-old, seen entering the Northside Bar and Cafe Sunday night by a neighbor, was arrested inside the building by police.

The youth entered the building through a ventilator in the roof. Police found him attempting to break open the bar's rear door for escape.

Cake Walk Is Scheduled for September 19

Date for the annual Cake Walk held by Band-Aids has been set for Saturday afternoon and evening, Sept. 19, Justin D. Bradbury, Senior high school band director, announced this week.

The Cake Walk features sale of home-made cakes. Band-Aids club is composed of parents of Junior and Senior high school band members.

Three Showers in Artesia Area Relieve Drought

The Artesia area is in its mid-August rainy season.

And the weatherman is predicting there'll be more.

Rainfall recorded Monday totaled 2.1 inches, and Tuesday there was a trace. Thursday morning's rain has not yet been reported by Southern Union Gas Co., but is believed to amount to about .10 inches.

That brings the total for the week to about .31, and the total for the water-starved year to 5.47 inches through Thursday.

And the Artesia area may expect even more, weathermen predict, as clouds hover in the area, bringing temperatures down and promising rain.

Farmers and ranchers, especially in the livestock area of northwest Eddy county, are expected August and September rains to nourish feed enough so that cattle and sheep may be fed through the winter.

If rains do not come in sufficient volume to build up pastures, there has been fear expressed ranchers may have to ship more animals from North Eddy county.

Community Chest Drive Scheduled For October

Artesia's annual Community Chest drive has been scheduled for October, according to a decision by the chest's board of directors in a meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Artesia's campaign will coincide with the national Community Chest advertising scheduled for October, Floyd Springer, president of the sponsoring Artesia Council of Social Agencies, announced.

For the first time the New Mexico Heart association will be represented in the Artesia Community Chest this year. The association has in the past conducted separate fund campaigns in the community.

Committees appointed by Springer include Mrs. H. R. Payton and Mrs. Robert Parks, co-chairmen of campaign committee; Dr. Ralph E. East, chairman of budget committee; Rev. Ralph L. O'Dell, chairman, David Rodwell, and Mrs. Robert Parks, nominating committee; and Rodwell and Mrs. Wayne Adkins, publicity committee.

Cigarette Machine Robbed at Cafe

Theft of about $33 in change from a cigarette machine at the Blue Bird Cafe, N. Sixth and Church, has been reported to police by Acme Cigarette Co., of Roswell.

James Clay, operator of the cafe, said he closed his business at 8 p. m. Monday night.

Intruders pushed open a back door, secured only by a six-penny nail, according to police, and then pulled down the window blind in front to work unseen.

The machine was laid on the floor, broken open, and robbed.

Junior High Grid Practice Call Issued

Ninth grade boys interested in going out for Junior high school football should report to the school tomorrow, Coach Bud Wilborn said Thursday.

The meeting is scheduled for 9 a. m. at Junior high, Wilborn said. Only ninth grade boys will be eligible.

Little Hope Is Seen For Federal Building

Artesia has little cause for excitement over an announcement the city—along with most others in the state—is earmarked for building to house post office and other federal offices.

Thatw as the general opinion in the city among informed sources Thursday.

Wire services carried the report that Artesia—along with a host of other cities—has been earmarked for a $200,000 post office-federal building.

Local Sources Say Proposal's Likely to Die

Coach After 80-Foot Plunge

ONE COACH OF the two trains which collided on the Ark river viaduct near Manchester, England, lies at bottom of gorge, following plunge of some 80 feet, which killed 10 persons. The wreck tore a 30-foot gap in viaduct wall when a steam and an electric passenger train met head-on.

World's Top Judo Team to Give Exhibition Here Sunday Night

Ten of the world's outstanding judo and karate experts will be in Artesia Sunday night for a pre-baseball game exhibition. Time for the event is scheduled for 7:30 p. m., preceding the Artesia-Odesa game.

The Japanese judo teams is led by Sumiyuki Kotani, chief instructor of the Kodokan Judo Institute of Tokyo. All members of the visiting team are professors and instructors.

The current tour of the Japanese team is for the purpose of training judo instructors and combat crews. They also give exhibitions on and off bases.

Wherever they have appeared, huge crowds have greeted them. Their exhibitions have thrilled the large crowds with astonishing speed and dexterity as they flicked split-second thrusts of hands and feet with an ease that belied the bone-crushing power behind them.

Combining spectacular throws with polished mat work in actual competition, the team then demonstrates methods of defense and disarmament. The exhibitions are certain to create scores of Judo fans.

Professor Kotani was in the United States in 1932 as a member of Japan's Olympic wrestling team. Other members of the judo team are making their first visit to this country.

Five members of this team are judo specialists, three are karate (a more vicious form of judo) experts, and two of these team members specialize in police tactics and general self defense measures.

MR. AND MRS. DALE EDWARD DOAK

Miss Anna Marie Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin P. Dunn, became the bride of Edward Dale Doak, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Doak of Hereford, Texas, in a double ring ceremony at 4:30 p. m. Sunday, Aug. 16, in the First Methodist church with the Rev. R. L. Willingham reading the marriage vows.

The altar was decorated with ferns and seven-branch candelabras which gave a striking cathedral effect by starting at a high center point and arching down to ferns and candles on the communion rail.

In the center of the fern and candelabra background a single arrangement of white mums and pink pompoms completed altar decorations.

Charles Cox, organist, played as prelude music, "Our Father Who Art in Heaven," by Bach; "Pilgrim Chorus," Wagner; and "Night's Song," Dubois. He accompanied Mrs. Kenneth Ford of Van Horn, Texas, who sang "Calm as the Night," and "Because," preceding the ceremony, and as a benediction, "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte. The traditional wedding marches were played.

Nylon Net Gown—

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a beautiful gown of nylon net and Dresden Rose lace over slipper satin, designed with a fitted bodice of lace with an illusion yoke. It was buttoned with lace-covered buttons the length of the bodice in the back. The long, tight-fitting sleeves ended in points over the hands and were ornamented with lace covered buttons. Her bouffant skirt, worn over hoops, was floor length, ended in a chapel train, and had an over-skirt of the Dresden Rose lace she wore a strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom.

For tradition, for something old, tucked in her Bible was a handkerchief belonging to Mrs. Grover Kinder that was carried by her mother, the late Mrs. Nancy Eipper at her wedding 66 years ago. Something new was her wedding gown. Something borrowed was a ring of Mrs. Nola Phillips and for something blue, a garter made for the bride by Mrs. Noel Baker. She also wore the garter of her sorority, Kappa Delta Alpha, worn by all members at her weddings. A lucky sixpence belonging to Mrs. J. D. Roberts was in her shoe.

Her fingertip veil of French illusion fell from a high tiara of solid seed pearls. She carried her white Rainbow Bible adorned with a cascade bouquet of Lily of the Nile centered with a white orchid with accents of seed pearls, and satin markers in the Bible.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. George L. Olson, sister of the groom, of Hereford, Texas; Mrs. Allen White and Mrs. Wayne Hennington of Artesia, and Miss Marjorie Titsworth of Tinnie, N. M. They wore identical gowns of nylon net over taffeta.

The gowns were designed with a fitted bodice having a scalloped yoke and buttoning down the back the length of the bodice with taffeta covered buttons. The short sleeves were scalloped to match the yoke. The bouffant skirts worn over hoops were floor-length. Two of the bridesmaids were in lime green and two were in emerald green. Matching net mitts and pearl trimmed tiaras were worn.

The bridesmaids carried satin-covered hoops ornamented with crescent shaped bouquets of pale pink pompoms and satin shiver ribbons.

Mrs. Preston Dunn of Portales, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Her gown was azalea pink net over taffeta identical to the bridesmaids. Her crescent bouquet was of deep pink pompoms.

Lois Marie Dunn, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore an azalea pink nylon net over taffeta which was floor-length and a copy of the bridesmaids. She also wore a small pearl trimmed tiara and carried a tiny pink net basket attached to a satin covered hoop.

The bridegroom was attended by Bill Engman of Ruidoso as best man, Preston Dunn of Portales, brother of the bride; George Olson of Hereford, brother of the bridegroom; Max Dickerson, Eunice; and Gene Harvey, Fort Sumner, were ushers. White dinner jackets and boutonnières were worn by all men in the wedding party.

Bride's Mother— Mrs. Dunn chose for her daughter's wedding a rose-colored lace dress over taffeta with rhinestone trim. A pink hat and pink accessories completed her costume. Her corsage was of pink Poincetto roses.

burgundy colored lace over taffeta with navy accessories and her corsage was of gardenias.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Fellowship Hall, where all gifts were placed on display. The bride's table was covered with a pale pink nylon cloth, and decorated with an heirloom crystal pedestal bowl arranged with pink double snapdragons and white pompoms and crystal candelabra holding white candles.

The tiered wedding cake was decorated with pink roses, the top tier held with white swans and topped with wedding bells. Mrs. H. D. Dunn and Mrs. Lee Francis of Artesia, aunts of the bride, served the cake.

Punch was served from a crystal punch bowl. The crystal waiter was adorned with pink satin bows. Heart-shaped ice topped with a miniature pink rose bouquet floated in the lime colored punch. Mrs. Ben Dunn of Pecos, Texas, and Mrs. Luther Kitchell of Albuquerque, aunts of the bride, presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Don Brewer of Lubbock, Texas, kept the guest book. Gardenia corsages were worn by each.

Reception Assistants— Others who assisted with the reception festivities were Mrs. J. D. Roberts, Mrs. Pete Hurst of Portales, Miss Georgia Pate, Miss Bernice Marie Baldwin, Miss Jan Dunn of Pecos, cousin of the bride, and Miss Wilda Ingram of Clovis; Mrs. Grover Kinder, Mrs. J. W. Bradshaw, Mrs. George S. Teel and Mrs. Daisy Wilburn.

For traveling the bride wore a royal blue linen suit with white accessories. She pinned on the orchid from her bouquet for a corsage.

Following a short wedding trip the bride and bridegroom will be at home in Portales, where both are students at Eastern New Mexico university, where they will continue their studies.

Mrs. Doak will be a junior this year. She is a member of the Kappa Delta Alpha social sorority, Euterpeans, Pioneer-Cacique, Wesley foundation, and last year was sophomore representative on the student council and was a member of the inter-dorm council. She also was a member of the university's choir and Madrigal Singers, and was chosen Fall Festival Queen last year. An elementary education student, Mrs. Doak also has been chosen as one of four cheerleaders for the coming school year. She is past grand treasurer of Grand Assembly, Order of Rainbow for Girls.

Football Letterman— Mr. Doak is a member of the University "E" club, lettering in football. Last year he was chosen all-conference center. He will be a senior this fall, completing his work toward a degree in physical education. He is a graduate of the Hereford, Texas, high school where he was co-captain of the football team his senior year. He has a farming interest with his father in Hereford.

Out-of-town guests who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Williams, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Jess Dodson, Canyon; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hamblen, Wayside, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Criswell, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Durham and Lou, and Miss Donna Kaye Olson, all of Hereford; Mrs. Ben Dunn, Jan and Bobby, Pecos; A. L. Dunn and Aubrey Lee Dunn, Alamogordo; Mr. and Mrs. Luther

Lightning Hits Oil Tank, $850 Damage Estimated

Lightning struck an oil tank last Wednesday night in the Dayton oil pool, setting it afire and causing estimated damage of $850.

The 250-barrel tank, about half full of oil, belonged to Simms & Reese Oil Co. of Carlsbad. It was located on the Fedell oil lease about 11 miles south of Artesia. The tank and oil were not insured, according to company officials.

The burning tank of oil set a pole and transformer afire and burned electric lines in two places. The equipment belonged to Central Valley Electric Co-op.

Paul Frost, co-op manager, estimated damage at between four and five hundred dollars.

Coaches Face Lack of Experienced 1953 Grid Candidates

Forty-two prospective Artesia gridders are finding a summer-long layoff leaves a young athlete out-of-condition and short of breath, come the reckoning.

But a four-man coaching staff is whipping the squad into shape. Football practice began Tuesday morning and in two-hour sessions three times a day is continuing until opening of school.

On the coaching staff are Jack Barron and Verlong Davis, new to the staff this year, and Walt Bynum and Bud Wilborn. Head Coach Reese Smith is expected to join his assistants this week-end.

Calisthenics, drill in fundamentals, and skull sessions with body contact following are on the schedule this week. Skull and contact sessions are held in the evening under Morris Field lights.

Thirteen lettermen are among candidates answering the call this week. They include Leo Barker, Larry Beadle, Louis Campanella, Loren Gelwick, Sammy Golden, Ray Gressett, Barry Hager, Donald Lewis, Jay Mitchell, Donald Nelson, Johnny Riddle, Freddie Sanders, and Donald Sperry.

Two more lettermen—Roy Johnson and Tommy Evans—are expected to join the practice squad when school begins, as well as another half dozen candidates who because of work cannot now turn out for practice.

Coaches are working with what promises to be a heavy Artesia line and a light but fast backfield.

Definite assignments to positions are expected to come this week-end. Even at this early date, it is expected Freddie Sanders and Johnny Riddle will probably be alternating in the quarterback slot when the Bulldogs face their first opponent.

No mountain camp is planned.

for the gridders this year, due largely to short finances.

Missing from the practice squad this year are graduated lettermen whose absence will be sorely felt until a new and largely inexperienced squad picks up experience.

Graduated are Don Golden, Doug Whitefield, Bobby Loyd, Howard Price, Jimmy Dew, Yumpy Barker, and Bill Brown.

Other candidates in addition to the lettermen are Jimmy Belvin, Jim Bishop, Clyde Bratcher, Tommy Bryan, Dick Cox, Donald Cullins, Neal Gelwick, Claude Grayhorn, Jerry Gore, Vernon Garner, Bobby Haynes, Ronald Holmes,

First game on the Artesia schedule is Sept. 11 against New Mexico Military Institute, a home game.

Coaches indicated all positions on the varsity line-up are wide-open, and carry-over heroes from last year must work just as hard as the unheralded novice for a berth.

Whether or not a "B" Bulldog team will be fielded is a question which probably will not be answered until the coaching staff more definitely knows what material will be available.

Nor have coaches unveiled what type of offense they expect to build around the fleet and light backfield. Some fans have speculated a shift from T-formation to single wing may be in the offing. Coaches may reveal their choice this week-end.

Chief problem facing the Artesia squad this year is a lack of experience; the bulk of this year's squad was sidelined through nearly all Bulldog varsity contests in 1952.

Coaches have already indicated this policy will be reversed this year, and second stringers will be given plenty of playing experience in an effort to develop continuity of Artesia football strength.

Practice sessions are being held from 8 to 9:30 a. m., from 1 to 3:30, and from 7 p. m. on. Daylight sessions are chiefly drill in fundamentals and physical conditioning, while night sessions are devoted to skull practice and scrimmage.

Perry Points Out Drillers In Fast Company

Rumors concerning the "overall baseball picture" in Artesia fail to take into account a great many factors which should have been considered, Earl Perry, general manager of the Artesia Drillers, said this week in a letter to the Artesia Advocate.

"It is true we have lost some tough, close ones recently," Perry said, "but in looking back over the scores and taking everything into consideration, they have not been humiliating, one-sided affairs."

"On the contrary," he continued, "they were rather well-played games in which the breaks could have gone either way. Unfortunately, they have gone mostly against us."

"Then, too, it must be taken into consideration that for the past two months we have been operating with a 14-player active roster. This does not sound like much unless you are the manager who is trying to rotate 14 against the other clubs who at this time are carrying 16 to 20 players on their active lists."

It's not that they can really afford it, but it remains that they have them. This gives them the advantage of reserve strength, which has proven the difference in the average, fair, and good ball club.

"Strangely enough, two or three extra players can be the difference in playing over or under 500 per cent baseball. It is no secret that Artesia is at somewhat of a disadvantage when it comes to competing with towns of from twice to six times its own size."

"But if you wish to travel in this company there is a certain price you must pay for the ride. And there is no reason to believe one can travel in fast company unless you pay the fare.

"Our purpose at present is to hold what we have against all odds and hope for the best. There is nothing wrong with our town that about 60,000 paid admissions could not cure."

"In checking the other clubs of the first division you will find that they have at present drawn from 60 to 75 thousand, where we have drawn less than 30,000."

"And it is from reliable sources that even at these figures, some of the other clubs are in the red ink."

"When all is said and done, I feel we are doing very well in the company we are in, and my hat is off to the boys out there on the field who are making it possible for us to enjoy our first division spot."

"I'm sure Joe would love to have a couple more pitchers on the roster to keep him awake nights wondering who he should start tomorrow."

"But let's face it. We can't really afford what we have."

Six-Layer Dinner

Place a thick layer of raw sliced potatoes in a well-buttered casserole dish. Sprinkle one-third cup rice over the potatoes and cover the rice with 1 1/2 pounds of ground meat (steak, canned meat or ham). Add a layer of sliced onions and a layer of chopped carrots. Add chopped green pepper and celery if you like. Pour a quart of tomatoes seasoned with salt, pepper and 1 teaspoon sugar over the mixture. Dot with butter.

Cover lightly and bake in a moderate oven 2 1/2 hours, or until the vegetables are done.

Washington (APPS) — Government red tape last year cost the taxpayer $4,700. That was for the 8,950 spools — each 72 yards and priced at 53 cents, used to tie up documents for storage. The total amount was 366 miles long and five-sixteenths of an inch wide. Officials found string tears documents thru red tape, made of cotton, is used.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
(From The Advocate files for Aug. 17, 1933)
Department of agriculture officials early this week completed a plan for making possible the payment in full of more than $100-million in benefits to cotton farmers for curtailing production without withholding sums due the government as seed, feed and other types of loans.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Terry were host and hostess at a dinner served at the noon hour Sunday at their home in honor of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Wardlow of Lafayette, Ga.

The Homemakers circle of the First Baptist church met in an all-day session last Thursday with Mrs. J. Hise Myers.

Mrs. Dick Vandagriff and her brother, Loren Gelwick, left yesterday for Bristow, Okla., for a visit with relatives.

Mrs. Leona Gott of Clyde, Texas, arrived Tuesday for a visit in the home of her niece, Mrs. W. Leslie Martin.

Ceremony in Carlsbad Weds Mary Harrison, Carl Sage

A ceremony solemnized on Friday, Aug. 14, at 7:30 p. m. in the First Assembly of God church, Carlsbad, united in marriage Miss Mary Louise Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Harrison of Artesia, and Carl James Sage, Carlsbad.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gibany, 305 N. Mesa, Carlsbad. The Rev. Sherman Gann officiated.

The bride wore a white street length dress of brushed cotton with a Peter Pan collar and white pearl buttons. Her accessories were a small white hat, gloves and shoes of the same color. She carried a white Bible decorated with a nosegay of flowers.

Harold Ulrichs Mark 9th Anniversary In Artesia Business Establishment

Natalie and Harold C. Ulrich, owner of Roselawn Radio & Television Service, 104-06 Roselawn, will celebrate their ninth anniversary in business, Saturday, Aug. 22.

In order to get a good location for their business, Ulrichs bought Flynn Second Hand Store, for business locations were at a premium here in 1944.

When they started in business, they had a complete radio repair service and sold new and used furniture.

In 1946 they added the record department and in 1947 a complete line of RCA radios.

Down through the years, they have discontinued the furniture. They now have appliances, musical instruments, sewing machines, disc, wire and tape recorders, sheet music, records, radios and television sets.

They sell and rent complete sound equipment, floor polishers, sewing machines, and vacuum cleaners.

Ulrich, who has been working in electronics since 1923, maintains a complete radio and television repair service. He has one of the best equipped shops in the Southwest.

With him as a technician is Severino Bustamante, resident graduate of the National School of Radio and Television, Los Angeles.

Other employees of the store are Mrs. B. A. Haag, Star Route West, who has been with the firm for five years and Mrs. H. G. Webb, 321 Dallas, employed since January.

"Roselawn Radio and Television Service makes every effort to get what people want," according to Ulrichs.

Almost all Americans at one time or another have had the rewarding experience of seeing an athlete of championship merits who was successfully competing despite a physical handicap. Few persons who saw Pete Gray field and throw with his one arm from the outfield for the St. Louis Browns in 1944 season, could fail to be impressed.

Pete caught the ball in his gloved hand, removed the glove with a sweeping motion across his chest, at the same time grabbed the ball in the palm of his hand and made the throw to the infield.

Gray faded from the majors when the old regulars returned from the war—but that didn't dim the fans' impression. Too, there was Monty Stratton, the White Sox ace, who lost a leg in a hunting accident, but came back to the mound fortified with an artificial one, for limited success in the minors.

Miller Anderson, who has but one leg, won the U. S. diving championship in 1942 and placed second in the 1948 Olympic Games. Sepp Swicknagl, an Austrian double amputee, lost his legs below the knees from a grenade explosion in 1942, now earns his living by teaching tennis in the summer and skiing in winter.

The German national ski jumping champion in 1949, Toni Trutcher, jumped distances of 71 and 79 meters without a right leg. A leading U. S. shotput artist, Bill Lambert, is blind.

Hans Redl, an Austrian, became the tennis champion of his country, and at one time a Davis cup team member. He had but one arm. Bill Talbert, a perennial top ranking American tennis player, has been a diabetic, and so is up and coming Ham Richards, Hungarian Koroly Takacs won the world's pistol championship in

Constitutional Amendments Important Financially

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth weekly article on proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on in a state election, Sept. 15. Articles have been prepared by the Taxpayers Association of New Mexico and are published in this newspaper as a service feature.

Mexico citizens go to vote Sept. 15 to vote on proposed constitutional amendments, including several which are important, financially and otherwise.

This special state election amendment will appear on a separate ballot—11 in all—suggested changes of the constitution were voted during legislative session here early in the year, not necessarily before the Legislature entirely approved them, but in several instances to give the people a more voice in government. For AMENDMENT No. 1 concerns property which municipal government can be voted. Under the constitution at present, such property can be approved or disapproved only at the regular election of city officers, and may be voted only by electors who pay property taxes.

The amendment, however, which bonds could be voted by election, including special elections called solely for the purpose. And property owners are exempt from property taxes would be permitted to bond issues.

Also, general budgetary practice at least two years for municipal projects of the state as to require a bond issue. In addition, it is sound, as traditional, to allow only citizens who must help pay for the vote on general obligations such as those in question this instance.

AMENDMENT No. 2 would repeal Mexico's constitutional prohibition of the sale or barter of alcoholic beverages to that specific subject is not mentioned in the text of the amendment itself, because the amendment would merely delete the existing clause now containing state constitution.

AMENDMENT No. 3 would limit the time for the governor to approve or disapprove legislative measures, from the time of 6 days to a period of 20 days following adjournment of the legislature. The present six-day period often leaves the governor very little time to glance at the mass of bills enacted during the days of every legislative

Lighting Arrangement for Television

The lighting arrangements of the room have much to do with eye comfort in watching television and also with getting a clear picture from the screen, according to the Rural Electrification Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

New owners of television sets often make the mistake of thinking that the room should be entirely dark when the television is turned on. Watching a bright screen in an otherwise dark room may be almost as tiring to the eyes as driving against the glare of on-coming headlights on a dark night. Lighting specialists have for years pointed out that sharp contrast between a spot of bright light against surrounding darkness can cause eye fatigue. Subdued general illumination of the room is suggested to avoid both glare and gloom.

To balance the bright light from the screen, low lights may be used—soft lights placed at the back of the television set, above it or on either side. If lamps are used, medium-dark shades are better than white or very light-colored shades. The influence of television may be one reason that more lamps, both floor and table models, are coming out with a three-way switch so that they may be turned low when television is on or higher for other purposes.

The placing of lamps in the room also is important. No light should be located directly in the line of vision toward the screen because it will interfere with a clear picture and also tire the eyes. No light should be located where it will be reflected on the screen. The reflection causes a bright spot that conceals part of the picture. Also no light should shine directly on the screen.

Daylight viewing also calls for some adjustment of light from windows. This may require curtains or venetian blinds that will cover a window from which light shines directly on the screen or into the eyes of the viewer.

A Super-Market in Your Own Kitchen

How would you like to have a super-market in your own home? Many people do and so can you if you have a good freezer. Plan your food requirements, freeze them in season, and your family can literally eat what they want, whenever they want it.

Meal monotony is also avoided. Take chicken as an example. The most economical time to buy chicken, or you have more on hand, is during June, July, and August. A favorite dish with the family though it may be, they will soon tire of it if it is served too often.

The food freezer will help to eliminate meal monotony and still allow the homemaker to economize on food purchases. She can buy a chicken or raise chickens in season at lower prices, freeze them and serve throughout the other nine months.

You will find that freezing fruits and vegetables is far simpler than canning; also, they retain that fresh orchard and garden appearance and flavor and nutrients.

Your food freezer can save you a great amount of time in meal preparation if you freeze ready-cooked foods in advance of their need. For instance, when planning a dinner party, a good deal of the food can be prepared and cooked in advance—a week, a month, or more. If this food is carefully wrapped and packaged and frozen in your food freezer it needs only to be reheated or refreshed the day of the party, thus eliminating last minute confusion and clutter in the kitchen.

Another excellent time saving economy is to cook more than is needed for a meal, and freeze what is left to use at some future date—a planned over, not a left over. Baked beans, chili, soup, meat loaf, and stew are particularly good when frozen and reheated, and it takes little effort to prepare double, even triple the recipe.

Remember to freeze only top quality foods—whether they be fruits, vegetables, poultry or cooked foods: package in moisture-proof material or containers and be sure that they are sealed containers and be sure that they are sealed properly; always use first the foods that have been stored the longest; never refreeze thawed food; keep a record, so that you can tell, without opening the freezer, what food you have on hand.

Add Up Your Wattages To Avoid Blowing a Fuse

If you will keep track of the wattages of your electric appliances, you will get better, more economical use of them and avoid the risk of a sudden black-out from blown fuses. The amount of current used by an appliance is usually shown on the name-plate or label; it is printed on the glass of an electric light bulb to tell you if it is 60-watts, 100-watts, 200-watts or more.

The standard convenience outlet is designed to carry a maximum of 1725 watts. If you try to use more than that total on a single outlet, you are headed for trouble.

Here are some typical combinations that can cause annoyance, which might blow a fuse, or reduce the efficiency of the appliances on the circuit:

Room cooler (750), television (500) and coffeemaker (750) would be 2000.

Refrigerator (150), hand iron (1000) and grill (1000) add up to 2150.

To remedy the situation, provide additional convenience outlets served by separate circuits of No. 12 wire . . . and don't overload them above 1725 watts.

Make a variety of sandwiches . . . beef, cheese, canned fish or peanut butter, and freeze them. Then you are ready at a moment's notice for that family picnic. Means fun for Mom, too.

Drive Intelligently — Children Love Life Too.

When you buy a new electric appliance, read the instruction that comes with it—then follow the instructions.

Working Oil Rig Model Trains Future Drillers

A working model of an old Standard oil rig has given at least three Artesia oilfield workers their start and is promising to do the same for a fourth.

Back in 1941, Jimmie Hammond, who now lives 2 1/2 miles west of Artesia and is a driller for Kersey Drilling Co., built a faithful replica of a Standard oil rig—the kind used to drill oil wells in the U. S.

Three sons learned so well on the model they followed through their lessons by choosing oilfield work as their vocation. C. T. Hammond, J. O. Hammond, and Johnnie Hammond are all tooldressers in the oilfields east of Artesia.

And a fourth son, Franklin, now 10, is practicing with the model today and full intends to follow through and be in the oil fields like his brothers, his father, and his grandfather.

Many Artesians saw the working model chugging away in the V-J Day Ranch Hands Rodeo, entered in the commercial division by Sam Sanders, paving contractor.

Just as Jimmie's father had built a working model oil rig for him, so he built one for his sons, faithful down to the last detail.

Deepest hole drilled by the rig so far is a 79-foot hole drilled when the family lived at 1210 Washington. "The boys were just playing, and drilled down there and got water," Jimmie says. "I had to plug the hole, of course—the state engineer wouldn't like it."

The three older boys drilled down 39 feet when the family moved to the Phelps-Ramsey camp in the oilfield. Work was stopped there when the young drillers hit water and quicksand.

The Hammonds moved back to town, and the oil rig was brought along, too, on the back of a model T truck.

Franklin is now down 29 feet in the backyard where the rig is set up. His daddy estimates the model rig will go down about 100 feet before weight would require a bigger engine.

The rig is complete with three bits, two bailers, a fishing string, drilling stem, spudding attachment, and all the other requirements. It drills a 2 1/4 inch hole.

Jimmie started building the tools in his spare time in 1941 while in the field for Kersey Co. He was helped in the tool making by Leonard Vandiver, then a tool-dresser and now field superintendent for Southern Production Co., and Bill Carson, then working for Phelps-Ramsey and now in Oklahoma.

The rig stands 15 feet 6 inches, compared to the 65 and sometimes 80 feet reached by the old Standard rig after which it is copied.

A cable tool rig, it is powered by a 2 1/4 horsepower Lawson motor. Franklin can quickly connect the motor's belts to the walking beam, which pushes and pulls the tools during actual drilling, or switch power to a drum that swiftly pulls the tools from the hole so the bailed can be attached.

The pudding attachment, used when a hole is first started at the top of the ground, works too, as do the bailers. And when the rope line (the old Standards didn't know what a steel cable felt like), breaks, the fishing string goes down after it—and has always rescued tools and line.

Close examination of the tools and working parts of the machine shows the devotion which Jimmie has put into construction of the model. Even insignificant parts where an easy substitute would do just as well are nevertheless faithfully modelled after the original.

Jimmie obviously spent a lot of time in building that model back in 1941, but his work has been well rewarded—three of his sons are following in his footsteps in the oilfield now, and a fourth promises to. And what more could a man want?

I was ahead in every way after this demonstration!

I figured on paying about $200 more for a new car . . . until I discovered all that Chevrolet offered me.

You're "sitting pretty" behind the wheel

Take this Bel Air model. First thing you'll notice is the quality of the interior. Rich-looking appointments. Roomy seats with foam rubber cushions. Turn the key to start the engine and you're ready to go.

You can see all around

You look out and down through a wide, curved, one-piece windshield. The panoramic rear window and big side windows provide a clear view in all directions.

You get more power on less gas

That's because Chevrolet's two great valve-in-head engines are high-compression engines. In Powerglide* models, you get the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field — the new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame." Gearshift models offer the advanced 108-h.p. "Thrifty-King" engine.

Biggest brakes for smoother, easier stops

An easy nudge on the pedal brings smooth, positive response—right now! Chevrolet's improved brakes are the largest in the low-price field.

lot less gas. That's what you get with the new Powerglide automatic transmission. There's no more advanced automatic transmission at any price.

And it's the lowest-priced line

A demonstration will show you that Chevrolet offers just about everything you could want. Yet it's the lowest-priced line in the low-price field.

*Combination of Powerglide automatic transmission and 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.

Business Notes—

Maupin Given Second-Place In White Auto Store Race

Highlighting White's semi-annual banquet in Wichita Falls for 136 dealers, was the presentation of $12,000 in prizes to 26 dealers from Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico in a company sales contest.

Hershel Maupin, co-owner and operator of the White Auto Store in Artesia, was one of five dealers to receive $250 cash as second-place winner of the entire contest. Maupin also won a Sew-Gem Sewing machine for the period of February and March.

Many of the prize-winning dealers did not know the outcome of the final judging before leaving for Wichita Falls to attend the banquet and showing of Christmas toys and fall merchandise. Presentations of prizes were made by W. Erle White, president, and John C. Hann, vice-president.

Other prizes included Leonard home freezers, Detroit Jewel gas ranges, $500 cash, $300 cash, and all-expense-paid vacations to New York, Chicago, Las Vegas, New Orleans, or Hollywood. The grand prize was a Nash Ambassador four-door sedan.

"That Makes 14 New Ones on This Street!"

In one small area in a certain American town, fourteen new Cadillacs were delivered during the early weeks of the recent spring.

One of the new owners gave a party for the other thirteen—presumably to discuss the virtues of their wonderful new cars.

We suspect it was a most congenial gathering—for Cadillac owners have many splendid things in common.

First of all—taking them by and large—they are exceptional people. For the most part, they are men and women who have held to high standards of achievement for many years. They have a common feeling for the finer things in life. And they have a sound sense of values.

But—despite what so many mistakenly believe—they are not necessarily blessed with an abundance of this world's goods. For a Cadillac is a practical car to own—and is a splendid selection for the family of moderate means.

The following established facts must surely prove this to be true:

—there are twenty-two models of other makes of American motor cars which actually cost more than the lowest-priced Cadillac!

—a Cadillac will travel many more miles on a gallon of gasoline than you could ever logically expect from a car of its size and stature!

—a Cadillac is so dependable and long-lived that it is just about as economical to service and maintain as any car you could buy!

—and, finally—according to authentic used car evaluations—a Cadillac may be expected to return a greater percentage of its cost at the time of resale than any other car built in America.

In view of all this, it is no cause for wonder that fourteen wise and practical people, residing in a single neighborhood, should have taken delivery of new Cadillacs during the fleeting weeks of a northern spring.

The wonder is that more people don't buy Cadillacs. For when a car combines so much quality and beauty and comfort and prestige—with such outstanding over-all practicality—it is a very wise choice for a very great many people.

Maybe it's the car for you. If you think it is, you are most cordially invited to come in and see us today.

Tablecloths
Have Metallic Appearance

A Sunday roast that costs its weight in gold can now be served in a setting fitting to its price tags. Tablecloths for fall have the smooth appearance of sheets of gold, silver or copper.

Edward J. Coffy, president of Western Linen and Domestic, said the Western taste for gay colors and patterns in household furnishings has gone national. He said the big words in the field of linens and domestics this year are "gold" and "design."

He had encouraging words on the subject of prices. They will not be higher, he declared, and prices on most linens, bedding and other household domestics will be about the same as in recent years. And a few articles, such as pillow cases and comforters, will be less.

Among the new items making their appearance will be tablecloths and pillow cases that need no ironing, fitted blankets that cut down on the time for drying out, and place mats that virtually reject stains.

There will be blankets in natural colors in such colors as charcoal, walnut, spruce green, and avocado, rose and deep blue.

High towels, kitchen and bath towels are coming out in "animal" designs—towsels decorated with such themes as poodle, weather-vane roosters and making realistic splashes.

He said the increased interest in provincial and early American design will be reflected in linens, comforters, curtains and other furnishings. Tablecloths shown in wild flower patterns in natural color. Others will feature spines, fruits and berries properly identified—and reproductions of antique clocks.

He said the trend toward emphasizing color and design began in California and spread rapidly throughout the country and manufacturers are now trying to keep up with the demand for color everywhere.

ards, Mathews says. Once pullets become accustomed to laying in the weeds or elsewhere on the range they have trouble learning the purpose of laying house nests.

When moving the birds into the laying houses, move them carefully so they are not frightened. Inspect all birds for culls and parasites. If parasites are found, Mathews recommends that the roosts be treated with 1/2 of 1 per cent lindane immediately after the birds are put into the laying house.

Pullets need every bit of high quality feed they can eat in order to maintain body weight and continue to grow at the same time they are producing eggs, the poultryman explains. Keep a well-balanced ration before the birds all the time. If the laying house hoppers and waterers are much different from the range feeders and waterers, it's a good idea to bring some of them in the laying pen for the first few days. Pullets are familiar with those from the range and will keep up feed consumption and water intake while getting used to their new surroundings. Stirring the feed occasionally and feeding pellets on top of the mash two or three times daily will help get more feed into birds.

Local Doctor
Discusses Cause Of Diabetes

Diabetes mellitus is ascribed to a disturbed condition of the pancreas, chiefly in relation to carbohydrate metabolism—an insufficient supply of insulin from the islets of Langerhans in the pancreas.

The pancreas, like all other organs and tissue cells of the body, must receive the proper amount of nerve energy to function correctly. Nerve impulses going to all parts of the body originate in the brain and travel via the spinal cord, spinal nerves, and their many connections. The spinal cord is encased in the bones of the spinal column to protect it. These bones, or vertebrae, are movable, and it is possible, through falls, jolts, strains or other accidents to move the vertebrae out of their normal position, thereby producing a pressure on the spinal cord and spinal nerves. With this pressure on the nerves, the full quota of nerve energy is unable to reach its destination.

The Chiropractor is trained and equipped to locate this nerve pressure and to remove it, and thus to remove the primary cause of the abnormality, whether it be diabetes or some other abnormality in the body. The best results under Chiropractic in cases of diabetes are when the patient has not taken insulin or has taken it a relatively short time.

It is not true to say "we are doing everything possible" unless Chiropractic is included.

For further information regarding Chiropractic you are invited to consult Dr. Kathryn Behnke, Palmer Graduate Chiropractor, 408 W. Richardson, phone 861. —Adv.

Get Pullets Housed Soon

These pullets now about ready to lay should be housed in laying houses and laying early with as much success as possible. That's the advice of H. L. Mathews, extension poultryman at New Mexico A&M College.

The real temptation to let pullets stay on range until most of the eggs are laid. This is particularly true as long as the weather is good and there is green stuff for them to eat. However, pullets should be housed at least by the time they are in 5 to 10 per cent production.

Housing pullets early helps keep dirty eggs, high price eggs on the range and other hazards.

Pre-School Conference

ARTESIA PARENTS have a dandy opportunity to let the community's educators know what parents want their children to learn. The occasion is a pre-school conference planned for next Thursday and Friday.

From 11 to noon next Thursday a panel will discuss "What We Want You To Teach Our Children." It will be moderated by Paul W. Scott, Chamber of Commerce manager, and will include Bill Keys, Mrs. Hugh Parry, Neil Watson, Mrs. Ralph Petty, Dr. Ralph Earhart, and Mrs. S. P. Yates.

Now What?

THE AUTHORITY which operates the big new New Jersey Turnpike has just announced the volume of traffic over the 185-mile road during the first six months of 1953 already exceeds the volume engineers had predicted for 1971.

Would You Do It?

SUPPOSE SAFETY engineers built 10-foot walls on either side of our highways? The result would be like riding in a tunnel. We wonder if drivers would do 80 miles an hour in them.

Help for Students

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION classes enter their fourth year this year at Senior high school, with desire for the course so high it is limited to seniors only for 1953-54. DE appeals to the student because he can gain know-how with which to seek future employment.

The Weschler Case

NEWSPAPER CRICLES ARE currently agitated over investigations into the deeper implications of a hearing held by Sen. Joseph McCarthy's subcommittee to which James A. Weschler, editor of the New York Post, was summoned.

Wechsler in his youth was admittedly a Communist, but he revolted from the party and in his newspaper activities, especially as editor of the Post, is reported to have steadily opposed and fought Communism ever since.

The American Society of Newspaper Editors assigned a distinguished group of editors to investigate Wechsler's charge that "the record shows that the interrogation (by McCarthy) dealt overwhelmingly not with my work as an author but with my activities as an editor and with the policies and personnel of the newspaper I edit."

Wechsler was questioned about certain books he had written, the ASNE committee reports. The books reportedly are used in the overseas library of the government information program. Two books were written between 1934 and 1937, when he was a student at Columbia University and affiliated with the Young Communist League.

The ASNE committee reported "Further questioning by Sen. McCarthy probed into the editorial policies of the New York Post under Wechsler's editorship and into the political affiliations of members of his staff, with particular emphasis on editorials and columns critical of Sen. McCarthy and other congressional investigators, as well as of the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

The committee considers that "If, as some members believe, Sen. McCarthy was using the power of government to probe into a newspaper's editorial conscience, its right to criticize government, and if (in the language of the Supreme Court in a case in this field), he held a club over speech and over the press through the harassment of hearings, investigations, reports, and subpoenas—then the conclusion of these editors is understandable.

"If, on the other hand, the questions were designed only to establish Mr. Wechsler's personal opinions as expressed in print and attempt to relate them to his disputed attitude toward Communism, without an intention to punish or challenge his right to these opinions, the opposite conclusions are equally understandable," the majority report states.

THIS LAND OF ENCHANTMENT—New Mexico Indians Told They Can Look for Greater Freedom from Federal Government

NEW MEXICO INDIANS were told at Gallup this week the Eisenhower administration plans to have the federal government get out of Indian affairs "as rapidly as this can be accomplished."

The policy was outlined in a speech by Asst. Secty. of Interior Orme Lewis, in charge of Indian affairs for the interior department.

Said Lewis: "The ultimate goal of the federal government is to give Indians exactly the same status as other American citizens. This includes freedom to manage their own affairs, make their own decisions, and have the same rights and responsibilities, he added.

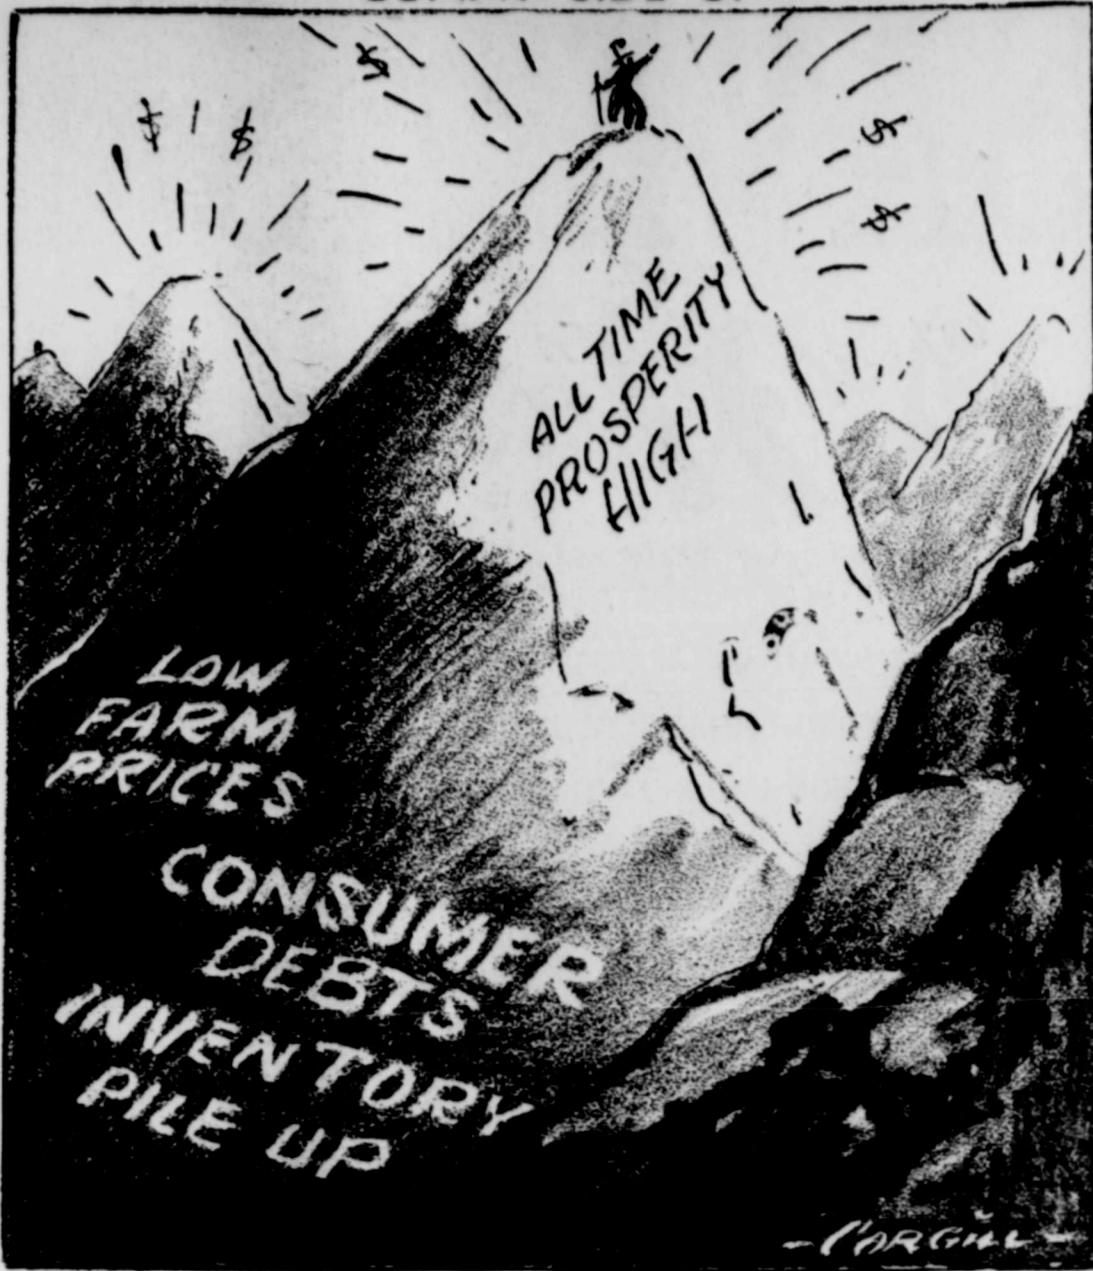

EARTH TREMORS WHICH alarmed citizens of Clovis probably are due to jet planes, the News-Journal has concluded. The newspaper has checked with all agencies which record such things and finds no report of tremors in the area. PARKING METER COLLECTIONS in Santa Fe are going to be taken directly to the bank from now on, city officials have decided.

The step is to take a workload off the city clerk and "protect the best interests of all concerned," the New Mexican reports.

ARTESIA VETERANS HAS written the Carlsbad Current-Argus that the lack of respect for the flag, carried most recently at the head of the V-J day parade, "is alarming."

SUNNY SIDE UP

COFFEE TALK—Shoe's on Other Foot, Councilmen Have Laugh on Advocate's Writer

CITY COUNCILMEN HAD A good chance to chafe the Advocate Monday evening, when its representatives didn't make the council meeting.

After all the fussing there at the end of June about meetings being open to the public, etc., councilmen felt it was a fine thing for the Advocate's mayor to be among the missing. Mayor J. L. Briscoe suggested a Bronx cheer be given on sight.

It was the first meeting in a year and seven months the Advocate had missed, a record which, incidentally, none of the councilmen, official city family, or other news mediums can match. Reason for the defection was a visit to the editor's home of two friends from "home," 2,200 miles away, too good a thing to miss.

Those two friends, incidentally, are setting some kind of a record for traveling around the country. All of their eight-week trip, except for a two-week layover with friends in Palo Alto, Calif., and with other friends and relatives along the way, has been spent camping outdoors of a night.

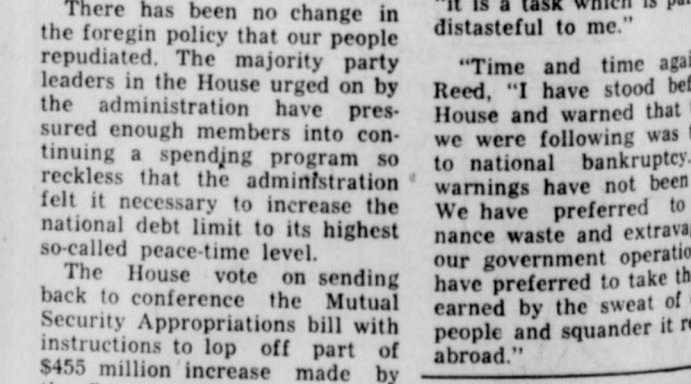

Travelling on a budget, they figured camping out at night would help economize—and so it did. They reported themselves scared of the sleeping-out angle only once—that was after visiting one of the reptile gardens in South Dakota. The only campsite they could find was downhill from the reptile gardens.

HOW TO STOP TRAFFIC VIOLATIONS A city court judge in Utah has discovered a system which seems to be reducing minor traffic violations to a considerable degree. The Clerk of the Court has checked the record of violators who repeat after given the special treatment, and they are found to be few and far between.

DRAFT CONTINUES Major General Lewis B. Hershey, National Director of Selective Service, said recently young men of draft age should not have an illusion that the end of fighting in Korea will mean an end to the draft.

AT THE LIBRARY—Story of Foreign Legion Actually Needs More Than Single Volume

THE STORY OF THE Foreign Legion, told in a new book at Artesia Public Library, actually needs a volume four times as long as "March or Die," says Joseph Greene, editor of the Combat Forces Journal.

French Foreign Legionnaire The author's investigations of the Legion's history have naturally taken him into a deeply interesting analysis of the Legion's own tabloid monthly magazine, Képi Blanc. There is erudition in Képi Blanc, and much poetry, and the short stories, despite the tough reputation of the Legion, "are generally sentimental and as shapeless as a nostalgic school-boys'" and contain no four-letter words.

NEW MEXICO EDITORS ARE SAYING—State Government Has Tidy Surplus of Over $2 Million for Second Time in Two Decades

TIDY SURPLUS New Mexico's state government closed the fiscal year ended last June 30 with a tidy balance of more than two million dollars in the general fund.

The surplus resulted mainly from increased revenue collections and partly from savings. But do not get the idea that the surplus will remain in the Treasury for commitments of the Legislature will absorb much of it.

Some $750,000 will be used to retire bonds immediately for construction at the state hospital for the insane at Las Vegas and the Springer Industrial School for boys.

This decision by the Finance Board is good business as it will lessen the interest payments that would be required on bond issues for the improvements. That the state has been able to accumulate such a large surplus when many state governments and the federal government as well are struggling to balance budgets reflects credit upon the state administration for efficiency in collection of revenues, and in effecting savings.

We can recall only one year in the past two decades where a surplus approaching this has been recorded at the close of a fiscal year. — Albuquerque Journal.

PAY FOR IT City Traffic Engineer Francis Burton has suggested to the City Traffic Commission that the charge for loading zones be increased.

The loading zones are the curb areas in front of some businesses where loading and unloading can take place at any time. They are designated by yellow paint and no parking meters are installed in the zones.

Mr. Burton estimates that each zone occupies the space that would be covered by one meter. The average income from each meter is around $130 a year, he said. The present loading zone fee of $15 pays only for keeping the curb painted, he said.

We believe that the business that takes parking space out of use ought to pay for that space at the going rate elsewhere in the block. Possibly a graduated fee based on the average income of meters in the same block would be the fairest solution. — Albuquerque Tribune.

SHOULD BE APPROVED New Mexico voters will go to the polls on Sept. 15 to cast votes on 11 proposed constitutional amendments, and several of them should receive the necessary vote to approve them. Chief among them, perhaps, is the measure which would set up a system of absentee voting for New Mexicans who are forced to be away from home on election day, but who would like to exercise their voting privileges.

support of this amendment, that for the past good many years New Mexico has had several hundred men in military service who could not be at home on election day. It will also have to be considered that the same situation is likely to prevail for many years to come, in view of the international crises which arrive at regular intervals. For the benefit of these men particularly, the absentee ballot amendment should be approved, although the idea on a more general plane also recommends its passage.

Amendments usually have a hard time in New Mexico elections. People vote against them often because they do not understand them, and do not want to take any chances with constitutional changes. But of this measure they need to have no fear. It has the support of lawmakers, as well as most of the people who have given any thought to the matter. Therefore, voters should see to it that it is approved. — Roswell Record.

Some $750,000 will be used to retire bonds immediately for construction at the state hospital for the insane at Las Vegas and the Springer Industrial School for boys. This decision by the Finance Board is good business as it will lessen the interest payments that would be required on bond issues for the improvements.

The ASNE majority report points out that here the "question of the infringement on freedom of the press arises chiefly."

STERN indictment of the Congress for failing to prevent a financial dilemma faced by the nation was voiced by Charles Daniel Reed (R-N.Y.), of the House ways and means committee, who said he was "forever support the debt limit although "it is a task which is particularly distasteful to me."

"Time and time again," Reed, "I have stood before the House and warned that the path we were following was the path to national bankruptcy. The warnings have not been heeded. We have preferred to cover massive waste and extravagance of our government operations. We have preferred to take the money earned by the sweat of our people and squander it recklessly abroad."

FROM YOUR CONGRESSMAN American People Cannot Find Much To Inspire Confidence in Congress

By JOHN J. DEMPSEY Congressman from New Mexico WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Except for the sound judgment and commendable disregard of partisan expediency on the part of five Democratic and five Republican Senators, who refused to subordinate their honest convictions to majority leadership pressure and report out legislation increasing the national debt limit to 290 billion, the American people cannot find much in the record of the first session of the 83rd Congress to inspire confidence in their lawmakers.

This is particularly true of the House of Representatives, which bowed meekly to the will of the majority party leaders regardless of the best interests of the nation and its people. As a member of the House I am not proud of the record made. My vote was cast against excessive foreign aid appropriations, as well as in opposition to the other give-away proposals, which I felt are bleeding our economy white and not bringing the desired mutual security results.

The 83rd Congress thus far has been the most open-handed dispenser of largess to the people of 50-odd nations outside the Communist orbit—those we term free nations—of any Congress since our foreign policy became one of seeking to buy world friendship. For that we have spent in excess of $120 billion and still are confronted daily with stark evidence that we do not have it.

There has been no change in the foreign policy that our people repudiated. The majority party leaders in the House urged on by the administration have pressured enough members into continuing a spending program so reckless that the administration felt it necessary to increase the national debt limit to its highest so-called peace-time level.

The House vote on sending back to conference the Mutual Security Appropriations bill with instructions to lop off part of $455 million increase made by the Senate was a clear case of that pressure. The recorded vote of 200 to 192 against recommitment came only after the majority leaders delayed the vote to rally supporters and induced many to switch votes. An unhampered voting would have recommitted the bill.

About Beets...

Beets are a two-in-one specialty as far as nutritive value and eating go. That's because the beet tops provide valuable nutrients that add to those in the roots. The tops contain excellent amounts of vitamin A, thiamine, riboflavin and niacin. They also contain good amounts of vitamin C. The tops are rich in minerals, iron, calcium and phosphorus. The roots contain some of all the nutrients found in the tops. But they are present in smaller quantities. So when you serve beets, use both the tops and the roots to get the best nutritive values.

Quality Important For Good Eating

Select tops that have tender stems with crisp fresh-looking leaves. If discolored, the tops will be of poor quality. The beets themselves should be firm, fresh-looking and free from bruises. They should also be of uniform size so that they will cook in the same length of time. Choose beets with a good red color. Avoid those that have deep cracks or bruises.

Conserve Color When You Cook Beets

Beets are such a pretty color that they should be cooked carefully to preserve that color. The roots will take longer to cook than the tops, so plan extra time for cooking them before the tops are put on to cook.

Leave about an inch of the stem on the beets when boiling them so that they won't bleed and lose their red color. And leave the skins on while the beets are cooking. It's easy to dip the beets in cold water after they are cooked. Then, the skins will slip off easily.

Usually the tops will cook in the water that clings to them when they are washed. But you may need to add a little extra water. Cook them until they are just tender and yet retain their green color and some of the crispness.

The roots can be cooked on top of the stove or in the oven, depending on how the rest of the meal is being prepared. For oven cooking, wash and bake in the oven just like potatoes. Or, if you prefer, peel them, cut them in serving-size portions and cook them in a casserole. Then season to taste.

Serve Beets Hot or Cold.

You can serve beets either hot or cold, whichever way fits in with the other foods that are being served in the meal. Served hot as a buttered vegetable, beets provide a mild flavor and an attractive color. But to vary this flavor, change the flavoring by adding cream, horseradish, and salt for a seasoning. To three cups of cooked shredded beets, add one-third of a cup of cream, two and one-half teaspoons of horseradish and one teaspoon of salt.

Herbs also give an interesting flavor to buttered beets. Such herbs as basil, savory, caraway and coriander can be used. Use only small amounts of any of these to give the desired flavor. Orange or vinegar sauces add interesting flavors also.

Beets go well in any number of salads. For their bright color and mild flavor combine with other foods. A simple salad to use as an accompaniment to the main course is to sprinkle thin slices of cooked beets with finely-cut, fresh mint leaves and julienne strips of celery.

Another combination using beets includes sliced cooked beets, hard-cooked eggs, chopped green pepper, diced celery and minced onion. This can be served with a French dressing on individual lettuce leaves or in a salad-bowl lined with lettuce leaves. Make sure when using beets in a salad that the beets are well drained, so that the color will not run into the other foods that are used with the beets.

Pickled beets are served cold after they have been cooked in a syrup of vinegar, spices, and sugar. They are usually used as a relish.

PEACH SUNDAE GLAMOUR. Peach sundaes add that necessary glamour to meals. They are delicious. Peel and slice the peaches. Sweeten to taste, then chill, turning twice to drench peaches with syrup. Serve over mounds of vanilla ice cream.

Food Outlook

Homemakers can look forward to near-record supplies of food in the months ahead—and at prices averaging a little lower than a year ago.

Expected in larger quantities than a year ago are beef, fresh vegetables, Irish potatoes, and sweet potatoes. Supplies of dairy products, eggs, and chicken meat should be about the same. Heavy marketings of cattle is keeping beef plentiful at the lowest price in several years. Various cuts, particularly lower grades, should continue in good supply for some time to come.

Pork will not be quite so plentiful in the months ahead because of the small pig crop last spring. Consequently, lard production will drop. However, less pork and less lard will be offset by the large supply of other meats and vegetable oils.

Generally, prices should average slightly lower than a year ago. Accounting for the slight decline will be lower priced beef, fish, dairy products, vegetables and Irish and sweet potatoes.

Cutting Biscuits—

Roll or pat out your dough and cut biscuits all at once by forcing an ice cube tray partition through the dough. The square biscuits save re-rolling.

NOTICE INVITING BIDS
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that sealed proposals will be received at the Office of the Superintendent of Schools in Artesia, New Mexico, until September 8, 1953, at 7:30 P. M., said bids to be opened at the last mentioned date, for the following:

What's this generation coming to?

Take it easy, fellow. Sometimes the future looks pretty grim, but it looked that way to your dad, too — and see what he's done. Owns his home, drives a new car and has an insured savings account. The future looks a lot brighter when you have an insured savings account.
