Braceros Seen As Guide To Knowing Latins

Mexican Nationals working in the Artesia area offer a behind living key to understanding Latin America today, Bolt, newspaperman, radio commentator, and author, of Artesia Knife and Fork club members Tuesday evening. The bracero's attitude toward his standard of living is changed through working in the United States, Bolt said. He lived with an altogether different standard of living. "People react more to different standards of living than anything else," the speaker said in expressing the theme of his address. "The big idea for all peoples is to more this year than they had last year."

DON BOLT

To support his theme, the speaker keyed the discovery of American and the dwindling of Communism in Latin America to a search for betterment of living standards.

Even natives we consider as oppressed do not resent the regime they live under so long as they see a little improvement each year in living standards, Bolt said.

The betterment must continue if they are to remain happy, he added.

Hurt Continent— Latin America has been hurt by two types of people, Bolt declared. They are:

1.—The reactionary, typified by the stereotype of the British empire builder who can not accept a native increase in living standard at his personal expense.

2.—The idealist with one semester of sociology and no broadening experience, a type which tends to be a maudlin sentimental do-gooder who thinks un-naturally through lack of experience and wants change too fast.

The latter type in Panama found Indians paid 50 cents a day and boosted the rate at once to $3 a day, Bolt said. Since the Indians are paid by the day, they'd collect their $3 for Monday's work and not report for the rest of the week.

Progress Counts— "It's not what we have now that counts," Bolt said, "but what we have in comparison to what we had."

The speaker said there is only a third as much Communism in Latin America today as 11 years ago. Although 95 to 98 per cent of their people are Catholic, Communism developed nevertheless when people became hungry, the commentator said.

Comparing historical background of the United States and Latin America, Bolt observed the United States is beneficiary of a Christian heritage. The United States was settled by men looking for God. They had as motive a desire to escape tyranny, to find free worship. Ours is the only country in history to have such a beginning, which has shaped the national character.

No Religious Motive— Latin America in contrast was settled by those looking for a water passage to Asia when Mor-

Christmas Seals Into Mails Monday Morning

The red double-barred cross, the trademark of the National Tuberculosis Assn., begins this year next Monday, Nov. 16, the international symbol of war against tuberculosis, according to Mrs. Ray Bartlett, North Eddy county Christmas Seal chairman.

Whatever the design of the Christmas seal, Mrs. Bartlett said, the double-barred cross appears in one year, assuring those who send their contributions that they are used effectively in fighting tuberculosis.

County residents will get a close up of the opening day of the seal which will continue through December.

The sale of the Christmas seals will be the chief means of financial support for the tuberculosis prevention and control program of the North Eddy County Tuberculosis Assn.

The red double-barred cross appearing at the right in this year's Christmas seal design, which features the joyful face of a child singing Christmas carols.

On Oct. 23, 1902 the red double-barred cross, an adaptation of the cross of Lorraine, was first adopted and accepted as the emblem of the modern crusade against tuberculosis, Mrs. Bartlett said.

The proposal was made during the last international conference on tuberculosis in Berlin, where the red and white crosses and the blue and white crosses, including the United States flag, met to join forces against the leading cause of death in most of the world.

At that time, Mrs. Bartlett said, "tuberculosis has been forced down from first to last place as the cause of death in this country, but TB today kills more people than all other infectious diseases combined and kills more young people between the ages of 15 and 35 than any other communicable or other disease."

The red double-barred cross is the trademark of the National Tuberculosis Assn. (Continued on Page Six)

Park, Central School Lighting Study Asked

Lighting in at least two elementary schools in the Artesia system has been ordered studied with an eye to improvement by the board of education.

Lighting in Park and Central school classrooms, among the older units in the system, will be studied by Artesia electricians to secure recommendations for board action.

Artificial lighting in the classrooms on dark days has been reported by school men as inadequate.

The board ordered the study in a meeting Monday night. It also scheduled another meeting to be held next Monday afternoon with the city's insurance men. An overall discussion of the schools' complex insurance program is planned.

The board also authorized Boyd Engineering Co. of El Paso to study Central school for possible improvement to that unit's heating system.

Board members received copies of the guiding principles of the Eddy county administrative council for study for revisions made necessary by reduction of number of school administrative units in the county.

Humane Society Gets Fast Action... City to Rebuild Dog Pound

"Deplorable conditions" at Artesia's city dog pound found by a Humane Society representative this week will be corrected within the next 30 days, an Artesia city official said Thursday.

An inspection of the pound Wednesday by Mrs. Norvella Thacker, president of the Cavern City Humane Society of Carlsbad and field director for the national society in Southeast New Mexico, revealed an unkempt enclosure for dogs.

Mrs. Thacker found two one-month-old puppies in the enclosure together with a large dog. "Puppies like that shouldn't be in the pound, and should certainly not be exposed to cold weather without any shelter," Mrs. Thacker declared.

The dirt floor of the dog pound was littered with old bones and manure. Mrs. Thacker said she discussed the matter with Chief of Police Frank Powell and Hill Hernandez, city dogcatcher. She found both willing to accept constructive suggestions, she later told the Advocate.

Chief Powell told her a new pound can be constructed within the month. Separate areas for puppies, older males, and females will be provided.

Cause for Mrs. Thacker's visit to Artesia this week was to report a dog was being kept in a small cage by a local family which did not give the animal adequate room for exercise.

During her visit Mrs. Thacker told the Artesia Advocate she hopes to be of assistance in forming an Artesia chapter of the Humane Society.

"New Mexico is supposed to be the second cruelest state in the nation as far as animals are concerned," she said. (Wyoming has been rated first). "Every Humane So-

Judge Has No Romance With Honeymooners

Judge John Ellicott has no clouds over his eyes when it comes to dealing with honeymooners who violate traffic laws—especially when they're sassy.

A recently-wed New York couple caught in a State Police radar traffic check at Seven Rivers Tuesday doing 80 mile an hour were brought before the judge, who had fined six other judges caught in the check $10.

Then the couple began what the judge termed as "sassing," he raised the ante to $15 for them.

Continental Reports CAB Against Small City Route

Conferences between a Continental Airlines representative and an Artesia Chamber of Commerce delegation in Albuquerque Tuesday produced little hope for airline service from Continental.

The conference with Continental was held, according to C of C Mgr. Paul W. Scott, because Artesia efforts in cooperation with Pioneer Airlines have had repeatedly been turned down and ignored.

Artesia sought aid from Continental despite Continental's announced opposition to Pioneer's extending airline service to Artesia because, the manager said, "if we can't get service from one airline, maybe we can another."

With Scott were T. E. Brown, Sr., and Charles K. Johnson, C of C board members.

They conferred with Edward Kelly, assistant secretary for Continental, during a hearing held in Albuquerque on discontinuance of air service to other New Mexico cities.

Kelly told the Artesia group the civil aeronautics board (CAB) is opposed to air service to cities under 25,000 population. Artesia at present has a chamber-estimated population of about 11,900.

The CAB has twice in the past year declined Artesia petitions filed in conjunction with Pioneer Airlines and other New Mexico and

West Texas cities. "We gained the impression," Scott reported, "that it is the CAB is not going to grant us air service under any circumstances until the city is larger."

Scott said the situation would be further studied before Artesia makes a decision concerning further action in the matter.

No advance announcement of the meeting was made, Scott noted, because "we weren't very hopeful ourselves and didn't want to get people's hopes up."

Bracero Is Held For Forging 12 Checks for $357

A Mexican National for whom five Artesia stores cashed 12 worthless forged checks worth $357.60 was arrested by police this week when a would-be sixth victim became suspicious.

Held by police is Fernandez Flaodio Mercado, charged with forgery.

He is charged with forging the name of a North Eddy county woman to 12 checks, all made out for $29.80 each.

One store cashed five of the checks, another cashed four.

When Mercado went to Baldwin's, clerks attempted to hold him while Charles Baldwin checked the bank on which the check was written. When the bracero fled, Baldwin called police.

Police Chief Frank Powell, questioning other stores in the vicinity, found the man at Thompson-Price where he had attempted to cash another check.

City Has Official American Flag For First Time

For the first time in the history of Artesia's City Hall building, a flagpole resplendent with the American flag flies over the center of the city.

In brief ceremonies Tuesday a flag given the city by Mrs. Oren Roberts, widow of the mayor who served Artesia many years, was raised to the top of the pole.

Mrs. H. R. Paton, department of New Mexico American Legion Auxiliary chairman on Americanism and an active member of the local chapter, conducted the ceremony, which Mrs. Roberts, Mayor J. L. Briscoe, W. A. Dunnam, City Engineer W. D. Fowler, and other civic figures attended.

In brief comment Mrs. Paton pointed out the flag flying over the city exemplifies the ideal that the nation, represented by the flag, is only as strong as the cities over which it flies.

Artesia-Carlsbad Game Seen Opening County Feud Again

For what it's worth, here's the Artesia-Carlsbad game by Santa Fe New Mexican Sports Editor Bill Walker, formerly of Artesia.

The county's civil war is fixed to break out again this week as the reverberations will doubtless be heard again in the state legislature unless Artesia should manage to lick Carlsbad in this year's top high school football game.

Artesia has been trying to split from the Carlsbad section of the county for several years. We thought it was a joke about three years ago when told that the football game was behind the move to leave the county. Apparently our informant was about right regarding the situation.

Reports coming up from the Carlsbad rebels were figuring to leave the Carlsbad troops because only 120 tickets for Friday night's game were to be sold. The Artesia stadium will seat about 6,000, which means that at least three thousand can be jammed in the place.

Reports also said that Carlsbad strategists don't intend to leave the maneuver without a setback. Between now and next Friday night, most things can happen.

For the football teams both sides are in the 2AA Conference this season. Both have good coaches and the dope would be that the chips down fricas as about far enough away to avoid being smacked down by either side would pick Carlsbad to win, although we haven't seen the team in action and could be wrong about it. As to the war splitting the county, that's up to us. But Coach Ralph Bowyer and his Cavemen appear too tough for Artesia.

It could happen that while Carlsbad and Artesia are tearing each other to pieces, a couple of other teams will slip into the 2AA league championship. Down at Hobbs, Coach Duane Fisher and his Eagles are leading the circuit right now and they could pick up all the marbles. Roswell's Coyotes also have a chance to horn into this championship.

In the IAA Conference chase, Albuquerque High and Highland of the Duke City are tied for top place without a defeat. A feud between Highland and the Santa Fe Demons, which broke out last year, is still bearing on the football race. The Demons play Highland at Albuquerque, Nov. 11. If they should repeat the Hornets it would mean that Coach Pete McDavid's Bulldogs could notch the title by whipping the Hornets when the cross-town rivals meet. The Bulldogs could do it anyway, but a defeat of Highland by the Demons would provide plenty of lift for Albuquerque High.

Jess Huff has just finished an ultra-modern chicken house on Mrs. Luck's place, 1 1/2 miles south of Hagerman on the highway.

It is the very latest in chicken houses, with individual cages for each hen. Water pipes run through each cage along with feeders. Fresh eggs roll out on a tray on the outside and a carrier device to carry them to one end of the hen house is being perfected.

The Purina Co. plans to feature these blueprints in an issue of a forthcoming issue of their booklets in the near future.

Surprise Party Is Held for Raymond Jenkins

A surprise birthday party was enjoyed in the second grade room at Lake Arthur Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Lyndon Jenkins honored her son, Raymond, on his seventh birthday.

There was a decorated birthday cake with candles which was served to the group. Each child received a gaily decorated horn.

Mrs. Jenkins presented two interesting books to the second grade library.

A movie strip on animals was shown to the group and Jimmie Jenkins, who is a high school student and a cousin of the honoree, took flash pictures of the party.

Those participating in this affair were the second grade pupils, their teacher, Mrs. Helen Cumpsten, Mrs. L. Jenkins, the hostess, and her small son, Darrell Jenkins.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McCullough and children returned Monday from Van Nuys, Calif., where they had been called by the tragic death of his only sister, Mrs. L. C. Miller last Wednesday.

Mrs. Miller, who was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. F. McCullough, pioneers of this area, and Hagerman, met her death as a result of an automobile wreck while returning from her work.

Mrs. J. J. Peacock of Lovington, mother of Mrs. A. L. Lard, returned to her home Thursday after staying several days and nights with her granddaughter, Ronda Lard, while she was confined to the St. Mary's hospital in Roswell. Mrs. Lard, Ronda's mother, went to Roswell to stay with her until her release on Saturday. Ronda is much improved and expects to be able to return to her classes at the Lake Arthur school in the near future.

Mrs. Leonard Talbert and three small children of Roswell returned home Monday from a week-end visit with her aunt, Mrs. Paul Robinson, Mr. Robinson and family. They stayed here while Mr. Talbert hunted deer in the mountains west of Roswell. Mr. Talbert was successful in bagging his buck and had to return with another member of his hunting party who had the misfortune to sustain a broken hip in a fall from a ledge while hunting. Mr. Talbert brought him to the hospital in Roswell.

Green Cited as Distinguished Air Force ROTC Student

Wade L. Green, son of Mr. H. L. Green, route 1, Artesia, has been selected as a Distinguished Air Force ROTC student at New Mexico A&M college.

Lt. Col. George E. Munn, head of the air science department announced today.

A Distinguished AFROTC student award will be presented to Cadet Green.

To be selected as a distinguished AFROTC student, A&M students have to possess high academic, leadership, and character standings. Cadet Green completed the junior year of Air Science program with an academic standing in the upper third of his class, and he has an academic standing in the upper third of all students in A&M, pursuing the same academic major or has an accumulative academic average of B or better.

He has demonstrated outstanding leadership ability during the Air Force ROTC summer camp and in the college AF ROTC program, Lt. Col. Munn said.

If these high standards are maintained, Cadet Green will be designated as a Distinguished AFROTC Graduate upon completion of the Air Science program and all requirements for the college degree. Receipt of the Distinguished Graduate award is one favorable factor considered in granting Regular Air Force commissions to those who desire life-time careers in the Air Force.

Flu Invasion Hits Two Bulldog First String Men; Artesia Acknowledges Roswell Power

The Artesia Bulldogs, who unlocked the door to a possible state championship with last Friday's victory over Carlsbad's powerful Cavemen, are looking for a chance to get one foot in the door in tonight's encounter with Roswell.

The Bulldogs plans, however, have been hit hard by something less than a strong Roswell line—an invasion of flu into first string ranks.

Head Coach Reese Smith reported Thursday Loren Gelwick, right guard, and Ken Price, right halfback, are out of the line-up with flu and may not see service tonight. Max Ratliff and Don Price from the reserves are also sidelined with the bug.

Even the coaching ranks have not been immune—Jack Barron, backfield coach, can't talk above a whisper as a result of a strep throat.

Nevertheless, Artesia's Bulldogs look mighty impressive in preparing for the Roswell fray, which may in some aspects resemble a track meet's 100-yard dash event.

Left halfback Freddie Sanders and Roswell's fleet Lloyd Taylor have faced each other before, on the cinder track rather than the gridiron. In one running event Sanders outpaced Taylor, but Taylor outsped Sanders in another.

Larry Beadle, plunging Bulldog fullback and the only backfield man weighing over 150 pounds (his 205 pounds brings up the average weight in the backfield to 156), is a top ground gainer for Artesia. To date this season he's racked up 459 yards.

Johnny Riddle, in his first year as varsity quarterback, leads ground gaining with 517 yards. Riddle is a 150-pound junior who has shown rapid development this season.

Leo Barker will probably start at right half, Sanders at left. Sanders is a 135-pound junior specializing in the long run goal-ward and tackles from behind of fleet opponents with a similar objective.

Holding down the line will be Roy Johnson, 200-pounder, and Jay Mitchell, 185 pounds, at tackles. At left end will be Barry Hager, a 160-pound senior, and at right end Sammy Golden, due to start for the first time since dislocating his arm in the early-season Clovis game.

Lou Campanella, veteran Bulldog lineman, will be at left guard. Gelwick may start at right guard. At center is Ray Gressett, a 170-pound junior who has taken a lot of punishment.

Man-for-man, the Artesia line outweighs Roswell, at least by scorecard weights, about 10 pounds. Team average is 167 pounds. The line average 171½ pounds, the backfield 156.

Artesia has been unable to develop a serious passing threat and is expected to stick to its split-T formation, and an attack which pounds an opponent's line steadily to open a hole.

So far this year Artesia has proved to be a strong second-half club when faced with real opposition. Against Carlsbad, it picked up most yardage in the second half, completely reversing the first half trend.

Tonight's opponents have played four common adversaries—Clovis, Albuquerque, Portales, and St. Mary's. Against Clovis the Bulldogs score 27-7, while Roswell racked up 32-0. Roswell overtook Albuquerque 56-26, compared to the Bulldog's 20-7 over the same team. Roswell licked St. Mary's 47-12, Artesia 52-20. Artesia downed Portales 40-0, Roswell 35-6.

Artesia has also defeated New Mexico Military Institute 40-0, Kermit 19-12 and Carlsbad 19-13. Roswell has strangled Gallup 19-0, Ysleta 39-19, and Tucuman 34-6. The Coyotes have sustained one setback, and it in league play, with Hobbs winning 18-13.

While Artesia has been elated by the Carlsbad victory last weekend, it has also faced the threat of Hobbs and Roswell in the knowledge both have powerful offenses geared, like its own, to the ground.

The flashing little speedster has run a total of 1,493 yards from scrimmage in eight games and is threatening the all-time New Mexico scoring record set last year by Tommy McDonald of Highland. McDonald had 151 points over a full season; Taylor has 130 in eight games.

Joining him in Coach Dewey Johnson's single wing backfield will be bruising 190-pound fullback Sherman Pruitt, who scored 10 TDs this season, and quarterback Jack Doran, who has run for one and passed for seven more.

Either Wyman Akin or David Donaldson will round out the probable starting squad.

That's the backfield that has done the scoring on a team that has run up seven victories and one defeat this season, currently the high mark for Roswell football team since the 1949 season. Hobbs hung the only loss on the Roswell

Roswell Counting on Seatback Lloyd Taylor To Push Coyote Ground Game Over Artesia

ROS WELL (Special)—Led by one of the top backs ever produced by Roswell high, the Coyotes are prepared to make a last-gasp bid for a state crown against the mighty Artesia Bulldogs in a crucial district 2-AA battle here Friday.

Lloyd Taylor, a brilliant little 150-pound scatback is the key to a ground game that averages more than 300 yards a game. Roswell's hope of downing the Bulldogs in the ancient Pecos Valley rivalry.

With every game at this stage of the season carrying the "crucial" label on it, and with the prospect of seeing the two top ground attacks in the state in action, local and Artesia fans lost no time in snapping up all available reserved seats. The reserved sections have been sold out for two weeks.

A large part of that crowd, the Roswell segment, will be counting on Taylor to lead the Coyotes to their second district win of the season.

The flashing little speedster has run a total of 1,493 yards from scrimmage in eight games and is threatening the all-time New Mexico scoring record set last year by Tommy McDonald of Highland. McDonald had 151 points over a full season; Taylor has 130 in eight games.

record, an 18-13 nipping. But the Coyotes recovered from that, posting the following victories, 19-0 over Gallup, 39-19 over Ysleta, 47-12 over St. Mary's, 35-6 over Portales, 34-6 over Tucuman, 32-0 over Clovis and 52-26 over Albuquerque.

Coach Dewey Johnson was far from pleased with his team following their last game, the Albuquerque visit. He planned plenty of defensive work for the week with some attention to brushing up the running game and a look at developing a passing attack.

The Coyote passing, or near lack of it, has been a Roswell sore point all season. Their running game, like Artesia's, has been the big attraction.

The passing, along with several other question marks lurk in the minds of Coyote faithful. Will Roswell be up for the game? Will the line show the play it has on occasions this season? Will the Artesia team show too much power? Will Roswell be eliminated from the district race? Will Artesia be knocked from the ranks of the undefeated?

Some 5,000 fans are expected to jam their way into DeBremont Stadium Friday night to find the answers.

Bulldogs Given Dinner Tuesday By Parent Club

Artesia Bulldogs were honored by the Bulldog Parent club Tuesday evening with a covered-dish dinner at Senior high school cafeteria.

The menu consisted of chicken, spaghetti, green beans, salads, home-made cakes and pies. Goodner's Bakery furnished the rolls and J. Mitchell, Sr., donated the chickens.

Following the dinner, short talks were given by coaches Reese Smith and Verlon Davis. Other coaches were unable to be present due to sickness and previous committee meetings.

Jay Mitchell presided at a short business meeting. Mrs. Be Golden, Mrs. Carl Lewis, Mr. C. Westerman, Mrs. George B. and Mrs. Shirley Hager were pointed on the nominating committee to select new officers for dinner.

About 125 persons attended.

Knorr Selected As Junior High Rifle Club Leader

Donald R. Knorr, 406 Shelton, Artesia, has been selected as instructor for the newly organized Hornet Artesia Junior High school Rifle club of Artesia, the National Rifle association announced here today.

Membership in the newly chartered group will be restricted to youngsters under 19 years of age. Officers, all of Artesia, are: Don Ivers, president; Danny Heald, vice-president; John Clarke, executive officer; and Kenneth Childress, secretary-treasurer.

Aim of the new club, like thousands of others similarly chartered by the National Rifle association, is to teach youngsters the fundamentals of good marksmanship and safe firearms handling.

The first boys' choirs within the present limits of the United States were those which supplied the music for the mission churches of New Mexico.

Congress passed a law in 1776 giving Marines their share in the prize money which was obtained from captured enemy vessels.

Lake Arthur WSCS

Studies World Food Problems Women's Society of Christian Service of the Lake Arthur Methodist church met for its regular session at the home of Mrs. August Nelson. Mrs. Nelson was also program leader for the day; she was assisted by Mmes. John Lane, Ed Shrock, and May McDonald.

The program was on "Feeding the Modern Multitude." Mrs. Nelson reported on the food and agriculture organization of the United Nations which was formed in Quebec in 1945 by 42 governments. Now it has grown to a membership of 66 countries. FOA's first task was to gather the facts about the world's supply of food. This resulted in many countries undertaking programs to improve food situations through greater production, better storage and increased shipping facilities.

These experts deal with all sorts of matters, such as disease of cattle in the Southeast Asia, cotton growing in Afghanistan, irrigation in Ecuador, forestry in Austria. Many experts have gone to Greece, Pakistan and other countries that are planning long range programs for their development along these lines.

During the business meeting, the society accepted the resignation of their president, Mrs. Jack Murphy, due to her job which conflicts with the meetings. Mrs. John Havener, Jr., was elected to fill her unexpired term of office.

Cake, peaches and whipped cream, cocoa and coffee were served to Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Clark, local pastor and wife of Artesia; Mmes. John Lane, E. D. Cox, E. L. Cummins, William Opfer, Ed Shrock and O. E. Smith.

The next meeting will be in December. It will be the annual Christmas party and will be held at the home of Mrs. Havener.

Among domesticated animals, the horse lives the longest. It lives from 20 to 35 years while cows rarely live beyond 25 and dogs live five to 15 years, occasionally 20.

Bracero Held—

While the character of the United States is shaped by the advantages of a background in the Reformation, Renaissance, and the age of free thinking, that of Latin American stems from Spain and Portugal which for 800 years prior to 1492 were dominated by the Mohammedans.

The difference between Latin America and the United States in the practice of democracy stems from the Latin's admiration for the cavalier, the man on horseback, Bolt declared.

While Latin America copied our democracy, strong leaders were in its tradition. This is exemplified by Argentina's Pres. Juan Peron, described by Bolt as a boxer, fencer, champion skier, a man with a way with women, popular with all people but the barons who saw ruin in their beef sales.

No Feel for Democracy— Latin American does not feel democracy, Bolt noted. Democracy needs literacy and in that field is the continent's great weakness.

In 1937 in Bolivia, 93 per cent of the people were illiterate. Of the 7 per cent who could read and write, most were foreigners.

Costa Rica is a bright exception, Bolt noted, having copied the Swedish democratic form which has a board of directors rather than a single president, with the directors rotating as head of the board.

Latin America also likes to settle things by revolution a quick, usually bloodless and orderly affair, Bolt said. While the United States waited 20 years to change things it didn't like, Latin American countries do it overnight with a revolution.

The speaker observed United States school geography classes too often teach the differences of people, rather than similarities.

Continent in Flux— Latin America, he said, is in flux, with some countries colonial, some semi-colonial.

Pointing out the need for Latin American-United States cooperation, Bolt declared applied science has been practiced by no other nation so well as ours, but the U. S. has not realized how natural resources have dwindled.

In the U. S. 85 per cent of newsprint comes from Canada. In World War II, 72 1/2 million tons of iron ore were taken from the Mesabi range.

Today, Venezuela ships in iron ore to the United States in return for technical assistance.

Private Capital— The best part of that particular case is that privately-owned U. S. steel companies, rather than the U. S. government, spent $110 million in Brazil to build a steel plant to supply U. S. needs, Bolt said.

While Brazil sends the U. S. curare—the poison once used to tip arrows but now used in surgery—the Rockefeller Foundation has sent 27 American doctors to Brazil to study tropical diseases.

Among deterrents to capital investment in Latin America are rulings 75 per cent of the profit must be left in the country. Loans carry interest of 18 to 40 per cent, as against 6 per cent in the U. S.

A residue of religious faith and understanding of government and big business are two prime reasons for reduction of Communists in Latin America, Bolt said.

The United States is now in a golden age, having inherited the mantle of greatness from the British Empire, Bolt pointed out, adding that the United States would do well to groom Latin America to inherit that mantle from us.

Social Security—

"Old-age and survivors insurance is of increasing importance to the working women of Eddy county because more women of mature age are entering the labor ranks," Yowell said today.

He pointed out the tendency during the past 10 years for women to return to work, or to take jobs for the first time after reaching middle age. This trend contrasts with the pre-war period when it was largely young wives in their thirties who went into outside employment.

Today, the greatest proportion of working wives are in their early forties; even married women in their early fifties are entering the labor force in about the same proportions as younger women, a recent survey reveals.

VISUAL TRAINING

What is its purpose? "Seeing" is NOT "vision." The eye may receive light stimulus from objects, sometimes without lenses and sometimes lenses are needed to bring light stimulus to a proper focus on the retina. Other functions, that direct the two eyes to the object must work in harmony with "seeing." When there is an imbalance between the two conflict, confusion and discomfort results. Such conditions retards the ability to think and to achieve. With "visual training" we establish a normal relationship in all functions. This is "vision." This we do.

Planning Commission

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE directors have turned over to the city council a recommendation that a city planning commission be organized, financed by public and, if needed, private funds.

Cost of a city survey by a professional engineering firm has been set at $8,200 for Artesia. The survey will completely map the city, its topography, its population, and other factors important as a base for future planning.

As a representative for the city planning firm of Harlan Bartholomew and Associates of St. Louis pointed out during a visit to Artesia, cities are too often built by the uncoordinated efforts of scores of individuals, government agencies, and businesses.

A city is, after all, a total of many relatively small things—a street project here, a new business building there, a private home. The aggregate makes a city. Unless some control is exerted over the undirected activity of uncoordinated efforts and building by many different individuals, the result is probably chaos.

The Chamber of Commerce has done a workmanlike job of good service to the city in its investigations into a city planning commission. We are certain the city council will take up the job now that it is in its hands.

No Magic Formulas

THERE ARE NO MAGIC formulas to solve our ills.

We are convinced we have just as fine, qualified, able and experienced Americans today as we have ever had. We believe there are honest, sincere and conscientious men in our government—men who want to serve the peoples of our nation and of the world to the best of their ability.

We also know we have those in high places only interested in serving themselves, their party and their friends. We even have some, according to Senator Joe McCarthy, who want to serve Russia.

A year ago we went to the polls to elect a new national leader—a president of the United States. At that time we clearly indicated we wanted a change in the form of government and the leadership. At that time we elected Dwight D. Eisenhower as president of the United States.

When he took over the government in January 1953 we immediately began to expect him to perform miracles. We have continued to expect miracles and after 10 months of his leadership we are little if any better off today than we were then.

But we did not give President Eisenhower a free hand or even a helping hand. We did not give him much of a majority in the two houses of Congress, we did not clear up or clean up the mess that prevailed—he inherited that.

We did not stop to realize that one party had ruled for 20 years and many things had been created that have to be dropped if we are to reduce expenditures. We did not realize that many in government jobs were so well entrenched we could not get rid of them.

We gave him a war to handle, to clear up and settle—a war that was never declared by Congress. We gave him an impossible job and then instead of going along with him with our help and our best wishes we begin to look for and to expect miracles over

THIS LAND OF ENCHANTMENT

Despite Four-Months Warning, Roswell Folks Up in Air Over Increase Cost for Water

EVEN THOUGH ROSWELL residents were warned four months ago of higher water rates, citizens are howling over the actual appearance of the increase on their water bills.

City officials point out Roswell people are still paying less for water than Carlsbad, Clovis, or Albuquerque.

Roswell's new rates peg the cost at 30 cents for 5,000 gallons, 20 cents for the next 5,000, 15 cents for the next 20,000, and 10 cents for everything over 30,000.

SOMETHING OF A RECORD is being claimed by Paul Womack of Carlsbad, who says he killed his deer a half minute after the season opened last Saturday noon.

Womack has a witness to prove it, too.

Womack says he and his companion ate lunch, loaded their guns, and waited for 12 noon to arrive. At 12 he rose, Womack walked 10 feet, and there was a six-point buck.

EVEN THOUGH OUTDOOR privies are illegal in Las Cruces, City Atty. E. G. Shannon has come up with an ordinance which makes them "even more illegal."

The measure declares property owners must connect to sewer lines where such lines are in the street.

What's more, where there aren't sewer lines in the street, property owners must install inside plumbing and a cesspool.

The penalty is $25 for each violation of a property owner for violation.

We are told that President Eisenhower isn't as popular today as he was when he went into office. He has found some of his own party members not too cooperative; Democratic leaders have taken full advantage of every situation; and even the man and woman in every day life have begun to doubt that what they wanted is going to be brought about over night.

We haven't expected that. We are not sure that any man, who inherited what Dwight D. Eisenhower inherited could bring about the changes we have contended that we want. We haven't expected him to do it.

What has occurred has been created over 20 years—created because we permitted that creation. And now we want it all changed over night.

We won't get it by condemning the man we elected and that we feel can do the job. And we have definitely turned against him—at least some of us have.

We are firmly convinced if any other American had the same job that President Eisenhower has he would face similar problems. We believe a good Democratic president desirous of cleaning up the mess that was created would also encounter the same trouble and problems.

Silly Pundits

WE CONTINUE to receive clippings from around the state with snide pre-game remarks about the Artesia-Carlsbad game.

As a sample, that by Bill Bailey, sports editor of the Santa Fe New Mexican is reprinted on today's sports page.

Will Harrison, to quote another, commented the day before the game "Advocates of peaceful legislature are fearful that a football game Friday night might ignite again the Eddy county-split issue which practically wrecked the 1951 season. That's when unbeaten Carlsbad plays unbeaten Artesia." If anyone wants to read more, we have the clipping.

As the Carlsbad Current-Argus pointed out, civic disputes of the sort that break out periodically between two towns mean nothing to a bunch of 17-year-old boys, who are out there to play the game for all they're worth.

That kind of talk isn't heard in Eddy county, either. We think Messrs. Bailey and Harrison have scraped the bottom of the barrel for whimsical comment. While it is a long time between legislatures these Santa Fe writers should be able to find something to write about instead of dribbling out junk over an annual football game that has a fine history of higher sportsmanship than these gentlemen have shown.

Tight Paper

THE SIZE OF A NEWSPAPER is determined by the amount of advertising available for any particular issue. Different papers use different formulas; the Advocate figures the number of pages to be printed by dividing 100 into total inches of display advertising to be run in the next issue, then adding three to the result because three pages customarily carry no advertising.

That figured to an eight-page paper Tuesday, one of only three or four of that size run this year. It was a mighty tight eight pages.

Because type is put into steel chases which won't bend to make room for an extra story or photo, printers are sometimes faced with a little more type to go in than the inflexible steel can accommodate.

The decision as to what shall go in and what shall be left out is a mighty hard one. Generally in the face of a difficult situation the only thing to do is attempt to give as many stories as possible a fair break.

City Hall Flag

FOR THE FIRST TIME since it was constructed, Artesia City Hall has a flagpole to display Old Glory proudly.

In dedication ceremonies Tuesday, a flag given the city by Mrs. Oren Roberts in memory of her late husband, who so long served the city as mayor and in many other capacities, was raised to the top of the pole.

It is fitting that the banner which the city flies recalls Oren Roberts' belief that America as a nation is only as strong as the individual communities and their citizens which make up the 48 states.

The flagpole was erected through the efforts of Mrs. H. R. Paton, who is not only active in Artesia American Legion Auxiliary activities but is also state Americanism chairman for the Auxiliary.

PORTALES IS GIVING UP on its first water test well north of the city and is scheduling another new drilling operation on the same tract.

The city has an option to buy the ground but isn't going to do so unless it's sure there's water down below.

A LOCAL OPTION LIQUOR election is slated for Otero county Jan. 2, its county commissioners decided this week.

Names of 1,257 voters are on petitions calling for the election. The Otero County Loyalty League, a dry-organization sponsoring the election, is setting mass meetings at Tularosa, Cloudcroft, Weed, Mayhill and Pinon.

NEW MEXICO EDITORS ARE SAYING— Roswell Area Civic Leaders Realize There Is Water Problem, Conservation Need 'til Rain

WATER-WISE RESIDENTS

The Chamber of Commerce turned its attention to the Roswell area's water situation in a meeting of the C. of C. board of directors Wednesday. And Thursday morning an alderman at the regular Thursday morning City Council breakfast said he wondered if Roswell's water facilities would be taxed too greatly by the taking in of too many outlying districts into the city limits.

It's reassuring to know that civic-minded citizens and the men who are elected to city office are water conscious, that they realize that the Roswell area has a water problem.

The Roswell Artesian Basin might be the factor which prevents this area of the state from becoming the dominate area in New Mexico. The area's growth will be limited by the amount of water which is available for an increased population.

The picture isn't all dark, however. There's still plenty of water for everyone, although the Artesian basin is low and has been getting lower for a number of years. No strict conservation measures have had to be taken in Roswell proper, as to watering of lawns.

And there's always the possibility of a wet year in this area which would recharge the Artesian Basin to the brim and erase water worries. A wet year is bound to occur. It always does, eventually. At least one has rolled around periodically in the past.

The Roswell area doesn't necessarily have to have a wet year to recharge the basin. If there's plenty of rain to the west, the basin will be recharged.

Until that so-far dim wet year rolls around, the men and organizations watching out for the present supply of water are to be commended for their vigilance. Such far-sighted thinking may pay off big dividends in the future.—Roswell Record.

MAINTENANCE OF ROADS TO BE ABANDONED

"Seems like the minute the State Highway Department plans a new project, like Highway 54 or State Road 24, they immediately let the maintenance go down on the old route."

Thus spoke this week a prominent citizen, and public official who had just traveled over the above named routes.

Just how much maintenance the State Highway Department is giving the old Highway 54 route between Corona and Carrizozo, or Highway 24 over Denny Hill, near Weed, is not known, but apparently the maintenance is little enough, considering the worsening condition of those roads.

The consideration given these highways in planned new projects is appreciated, but in the meantime, travel must go on and as travel continues, at least grader maintenance should continue up until the time for final abandonment of the old route and full use of the new.

We can agree that structures should not be replaced in the face of early abandonment, but simple grader maintenance should

DETENTION HOME

Plans for a combination juvenile detention home and farm for this three-county judicial district are progressing nicely under the eye of the three district judges.

This first meeting to get the plan rolling was held at Artesia earlier this week, and a second is scheduled for Lovington Nov. 17. It is likely that the detention home-farm will be located seven miles south of Artesia. That appears as good a place as any, and about as central for all three counties as any.

Building of a detention home was made possible by a law passed by the last session of the Legislature, largely at urging from this district. The plan is that juveniles can be sent to the home-farm for rehabilitation under the eyes of the three judges, rather than sentenced to the State Industrial School at Springer, a long way from home. It appears to be a worth-while project. — Carlsbad Current-Argus.

REX MEADOR, DEMOCRATIC state chairman, told a Las Cruces audience last week no man has come to the fore as a top-notch candidate for state gubernatorial honors.

Meador said he hoped the preliminary convention would produce four or five potential candidates without too much feeling.

COFFEE TALK—

Roswell Game Could Be Preview of 1954 District Track 100-Yard Dash

TONIGHT'S FOOTBALL game with Roswell may turn into a preview of the 1954 district track meet.

The renowned, much-touted Lloyd Taylor is, as everyone knows, a fast man on his feet. He is, in fact, a track star. But Artesia also has a track star in the backfield, name of Freddie Sanders.

Sanders and Taylor have met before, in track togs rather than grid uniforms. Sanders outran Taylor once, Taylor outran Sanders once.

Tonight's game might be a preview of what to expect in the 100-yard dash event next spring.

CHARLIE HOWE, THE VERMILION man, has ordered advertising space for the near future to tell the people of Artesia their moral support of his proposed industry is more important than all the money in the city's banks.

Howe predicts an eventual investment of $3 million to $5 million in the industry in Artesia. The investment would come in associated industries rather than the actual refining.

He reports things shaping up just fine, with financial backers in Chicago and on the West Coast kicking into the pot, machinery being arranged for, and myriad other details shaping up nicely.

FOOTBALL PRACTICE AT Morris Field was mighty quiet this week—Asst. Coach Jack Barron has a strep throat. Consequently his running patter at football players was reduced to nil.

Incidentally, the coaching staff this year is a smooth-working organization operating in close harmony. Many fans see that as an important part of the Bulldog's grid success so far this season.

THE ALBUQUERQUE JOURNAL has run an editorial blasting a feature story in Pageant, one of the minor national magazines, which grades the governors of the 48 states by some unrevealed standard.

The Journal's kick: Ed Mechem of New Mexico is rated one of the five poorest governors in the nation.

The Duke City paper sees the story as no reflection on Mechem, but instead a slur on the people of New Mexico. The ratings apparently were made by correspondents during a meeting of governors some time ago in Seattle.

What yardstick is used to grade governors is not revealed.

Merely because Big Ed Mechem doesn't go around babbling and waving his arms, the Journal says, but instead quietly listens to no sign he's not doing plenty for his state.

AT THE LIBRARY—

Historical Writer Faced With Danger Becoming Too Much an Antiquarian

IN HIS REVIEW OF "A KING Reluctant," by Vaughan Wilkins, now at Artesia Public Library, Raymond Holden notes in the New York Times Book Review, "Those who depend upon history for the substance of their novels have at their command an inexhaustible treasury of plots, ready-made yet flexible, into which they only need to fit, after their own taste, suitable portions of character, life and death, love and hate."

"Yet there is a danger," Holden writes, "from the effect of which even so interesting an author as Vaughan Wilkins, whose 'And So—Victoria' will be pleasantly remembered, is not entirely exempt."

"It is the danger of becoming so much the antiquarian, so accurately a recorder of authentic detail, that the motives of human behavior become no more important than costumes or accessories," Holden continues.

He adds: "Mr. Wilkins' new novel makes good use of a plot as fascinating as it is well known—the story of the Lost Dauphin, who turns up this time, via balloon, on a tombstone in Tenby, Pembroke-shire, Wales. The child is taken to the neighboring island of Caldy, in Carmarthen Bay, as brought up by the American niece of a wealthy and big-living Loyalist now living in exile from Virginia in the pride of that blustery isle. Here a potential Louis XVII spends several years of a happy, care-free boyhood while two other boys substituting for him in France meet violent deaths.

A historically authentic French by a French expeditionary force on the northwest coast of Wales gives Mr. Wilkins the opportunity by the permissible exercise of little juggling, to say that the presence of the Boy-King Caldy was known to the French. Obviously the raid—which succeeded in landing a force only surrender without accomplishing anything—was merely a device to conceal activity elsewhere, where else but on the Isle of Caldy? And for what purpose, to kidnap the royal child, who charm seems to have made him of the chief kidnapper's intentions? At least the kidnappers like the raid, was unsuccessful (in spite of local treachery) in the Dauphin turned out to be written a note of abdication which after a little coaxing proved acceptable to the Duc de Brignoles and a means of giving the Duc with his American

Cause of Skin Eruptions Discussed By Local Doctor

In order to understand how Chiropractic is effective in cases of skin eruptions, we must understand something of the fundamental principle of Chiropractic. The Chiropractor scientifically maintains, and has proved through results obtained, that every organ of the body is dependent for its function upon the proper supply of vital energy through the nervous system. This is not only true of the heart, kidneys, stomach etc. but also the skin. The glands of the skin must receive their normal supply of nerve energy to function normally.

If you suffer from skin eruptions of any sort, you owe it to yourself to visit your Chiropractor and let him explain in detail the reason for your condition and what Chiropractic can do.

It is not true to say "everything possible has been done" unless Chiropractic is included.

For further information regarding Chiropractic, consult Dr. Kathryn Behnke, Palmer Graduate Chiropractor, 408 W. Richardson, phone 861.

Mrs. Irvin Miller was an Artesia visitor on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parks made a business trip to Colorado last week. Mr. and Mrs. Parks are now living on their ranch northwest of Hope.

In overtime St. Peter's acquired a free shot, making the final score 29-28 in favor of St. Peter's. The senior Yellowjackets were the winners with a score of 35 to 28. Bill Crockett was high man with a total of 11 points. Bill Stephens next with 10, Glenn Smith with 8, Georgie Hidalgo with 4 and Roy Trimble with 2 points.
