Stiff Motor Vehicle Inspection Law Into Effect for Motorists

Artesia Firms Issued Stickers For Inspection

A stiff new motor vehicle inspection law begins this week to send Artesia motorists for stringent safety inspections of their vehicles.

The new law, among other things, outlaws bad mufflers, broken window glass, and requires inspection of trailers, State Patrolman A. J. Smith said Thursday.

Most Artesia garages are now ready to issue stickers for vehicles passing the inspection. Cost has been raised from 50 cents to $1.

The inspection calls for passenger cars to pass a standard test for headlight beam and output, illuminated rear license plate and tail light, two red reflectors which may be a part of the taillight, a rear stoplight, workable horn, mirror allowing the driver to see at least 20 feet to the rear.

Good Mufflers—It demands that all motor vehicles have a muffler in good working order and constant operation. This outlaw straight pipes, cut-offs, and worn or leaky mufflers. All vehicle brakes will also be inspected.

The same inspection applies to suburgans, station wagons, jeeps, pick-ups under one ton, and trucks over one but less than 80 inches over-all width.

New to the inspections will be trailers. All trailers less than 80 inches wide and under 3,000 pounds gross weight must have tail light, rear reflectors, and stop light, as well as ultr signals.

Big Trailers—Trailers over 80 inches wide and 3,000 pounds must have the minimum trailer requirements above plus clearance lamps, side marker lamps, lamp flag, turn signals, and brakes.

The law require trucks over 30 inches in width to pass inspection for headlights, tail lights, rear reflectors, stop lights, clearance lamps, side marker lamps, side reflectors, emergency lighting equipment.

School Board Study Turns To Music Program Survey

The entire music program of Artesia Public Schools has been placed under study by a subcommittee on music education in the board of education's school survey.

The committee, headed by Mrs. Jack Spratt, junior high vocal music teacher, will seek to integrate the school's music program into overall curriculum, it decided in its organization meeting Tuesday night.

It will also turn to the lay public in Artesia for advice, suggestions, and criticisms, according to George White, curriculum supervisor for the schools, who reported on the meeting.

Tuesday's meeting was highlighted by a conference with Miss Mildred Cawthon of the state department of education, the department's director of music.

The committee has also voted to invite to membership on a consulting basis Maurice Stookey, director of music at Eastern New Mexico university.

Attending Tuesday's meeting were Mrs. Spratt, Miss Cawthon, White, Herbert Beasley, junior high band director; Justin Bradbury, senior high band director;

Leroy Jacobs, Cottonwood music instructor; Owen Bennett, Atoka music instructor; Mrs. Rachel Beasley; Mrs. Nina McClintock, and Miss Edna Ruth Hamblin, elementary schools music instructor.

White said music instructors frankly offered constructive criticism of the present school music program.

The subcommittee on music education is a part of the overall curriculum committee headed by White and set up by the board of education. The curriculum committee is one of three examining the school system to develop immediate and long range school planning.

The music subcommittee seeks to evaluate the present program, White said. It has already noted that while music education is correlated with curriculum in the first six grades, it is not in Junior and Senior high schools.

Correlation with other classes must be illustrated, White said, this way: A social studies class is tending the westward expansion of the United States. Music classes would at the same time study folk music developed in the period and typical songs of the West.

Concert Trio Scheduled as Next Mutual Concert Event

In its relatively short life, the five-year old Concert Trio has asserted itself with youthful vigor, having already made its debut in the big musical centers, New York and Chicago.

The wild acclaim that accompanied the three musicians from the beginning has simply accelerated their careers to such a degree that they have hardly left enough time to stop for their well-deserved bows.

The trio is the next concert in the 1953-54 Artesia Mutual Concert Assn. series, scheduled for performance here Wednesday night.

It is almost impossible to believe that such an instrumentation as is found in the Concert Trio—two accordions and a contra bass violin—can make such big, beautiful music.

Richard Purvis, one of the greatest living organists, after hearing them, said: "Each sounded better with this combination than it usually sounds with the organ." And Efram Kurtz, one of the world's leading conductors, has said about the Concert Trio: "The musicianship is amazing. They must have spent many hours to reach such a state of perfection."

Dapper, Texas-born Len Manno can tell a story about his contra bass viol (bull fiddle) that is first might sound as tall as other Texas tales. But the truth of the matter is that he actually does have a specially designed "gadget" which

Titchenal to Address Annual Bulldog Football Banquet

Bob Titchenal, head grid coach for University of New Mexico, will be the key speaker at Artesia's annual football banquet next Wednesday, December 9.

The Lobo coach will bring with him films of the UNM-Wyoming game, in which Artesia fans can see four former Bulldog players now on the UNM varsity. They are Bob Morgan, A. L. Terpening, James Briscoe, and Jimmy Juarez.

Banquet time has been scheduled for 6:30 p. m., the 7 p. m. time announced earlier having been moved back.

The event will be held in Senior high school cafeteria.

Music during the banquet will be provided by a Bulldog combo under direction of Justin Bradbury.

Annual grid awards will be presented outstanding players in a program following the banquet. Also scheduled are brief talks by coaches and school officials.

Tickets, priced at $2 a plate, are on sale downtown at Roselawn Barbershop, Artesia Auto, Honey's Doughnut Shop, and Cliff's Cafeteria. They are also on sale by members of the Bulldog Parents club and the Quarterback club, sponsors of the event.

Following the banquet Pep club will hold a dance with "live music" to be announced at a later date. During the dance, Bulldog football players will hold coronation ceremonies for their 1953 queen.

Seniors 'In Pink' for 'Heaven Can Wait'

Like Joe Pendleton's beloved body, "Heaven Can Wait," as played by the 1953-54 senior class is "in the pink."

Opening Wednesday night, the play unveiled to a small audience the story of how a saxophone-playing boxer, one Joe Pendleton, is collected to heaven 60 years too soon.

And while celestial red tape is being cut for his return to earth, Mr. Pendleton's body is quite thoroughly destroyed by cremation.

In the lead role as the boxer, Tommy Bryan punches and slugs his way through three acts of a heavy-speaking part in his demand for a new body, which must be, of course, "in the pink" as was the old one.

Director Al Stevens achieved near-perfection in casting Bryan for the act, a decision evidenced by hearty audience applause at the final curtain.

The play goes before Senior high school auditorium footlights at 8 p. m. tonight in its final performance.

Backing up Bryan in key supporting roles were Phil Kranz as the admirably ever-patient, always understanding Mr. Jordan, keeper of the heavenly roll call; Winona Caraway and Wray Shildneek in the villain roles of Julia Farnsworth and Tony Abbott, and Barbara Chadwick and Carolyn Cox as Betty Logan, who becomes Pendleton's sole reason for being.

Miss Chadwick played the latter role Wednesday night, Miss Cox Thursday night.

Carl Lane and John McPhaul play top supporting roles as Max Levene, Pendleton's boxing manager, and the erring messenger who collected Pendleton 60 years too soon.

Only in the final act in a difficult setting did "Heaven Can Wait" slow down from the rapid pace of the first two acts.

Director Stevens, commenting on the final act, pointed out it was in the most difficult setting of the play, handicapping players who otherwise performed admirably in the open setting of the first two acts and first scene of the third act.

A large cast of supporting actors unobtrusively buoyed up the performance in key spots. They include Willa Green as the nurse, Eireen Marshall and Sylvia Miller as maids in the home of twice-killed Mr. Farnsworth; Norton Boyd as Inspector Williams, Lynn Owens and Sylvia Miller as heavenly escorts, Lynn Owens, a workman, Donald Sperry, a fight manager, Sammy Golden as a cigar-puffing plain clothesman, and Jerry Simmons as the non-speaking fight trainer.

STARRING IN "Heaven Can Wait," 1953 senior class play which has last performance tonight, is Tommy Bryan as Joe Pendleton, the boxer who was called to heaven by mistake 60 years too soon, and Barbara Chadwick as Betty Logan, the romantic lead. Carolyn Cox played Miss Logan's role Thursday night. (Photo by Trop)

Christmas Bonus

J. C. Penney Co., nation-wide department store organization, announced today that its directors have authorized a special year-end payment for more than 50,000 associates in the company's 1,633 stores, offices and warehouses throughout the United States. The payment will be an amount equal to two weeks' pay for all full-time associates who have been employed for the full year 1953, and proportionate amounts for extra and part-time associates and those employed less than a year. All Penney associates will share in the payment except management staff members whose earnings are determined largely by the company's long-standing profit-sharing plan. It will be made Dec. 15 at each associate's Dec. 15 rate of pay. In a letter to the firm's associates, A. W. Hughes, president, said the payment was based upon the company's results for 1953. "We are particularly happy to be able to make this payment as a result of what has been accomplished this past year," he said. "The possibility of future payments of course will continue to depend upon year to year results."

Basketball Bulldogs Hunt For Tall Man

Can Artesia's basketball Bulldogs come up with a tall man? That's the key question in Coach Verlon Davis' plans for the 1953-54 quintet.

Coach Davis has four candidates, all over six feet for the spot.

Wray Schildneck, a senior, who has not played basketball since his freshman year, is a natural for the post at 6 feet 3 inches, if a two-year lay-off can be overcome in time.

And the time is drawing close. The cage Bulldogs play their first game next Tuesday, Dec. 8, against Lake Arthur. The opener is quickly followed by contests with Hagerman Dec. 11 and Rowell Dec. 12. All are home games.

Other candidates for the post position are Larry Beadle, Ray Gressett, and Carl Lane, who all measure up to 6 feet 1 inch.

Coach Davis has five lettermen to work with, and its probable they'll see action at the first of the season as the starting five, although Davis is counting heavily on developing much-needed depth as the season progresses.

The lettermen are Beadle, Louis Campanella, Nelson Moore, Johnny Riddle, and Freddie Sanders.

Also out for varsity basketball are Leo Barker, Larry Brewton, Guy Conklin, Jerry Cranford, Sam Golden, Jerry Johnston, Bobby Kimbrough, Phil Kranz, Donald Lewis, Ronald Nelson, Ronald Porter, Donald Price, Harry Price, Dean Seals, Bob Seely, Harry Shaw, Jimmy Shipp, Charles Southard, Jerry West, and Wayne Westerman.

Included on the 24-game basketball schedule are seven teams the Bulldogs will meet in conference play. They are Roswell, Carlsbad, New Mexico Military Institute, Hobbs, Clovis, Portales, and Lovington.

Travelers to Play Potash, Kirtland Air Base Quintets

Central Valley Electric Travelers will play two games on the home court in the next three nights.

Saturday night the opposition will be a quintet from U. S. Potash Co.

Next Monday night the Travelers face a highly-touted five from Kirtland Air Force base of Albuquerque.

Game time is 8 p. m. in Junior high school gym for both events.

Lake Arthur Drops Second Season's Loss to St. Peters

Lake Arthur's cage combination dropped its second loss of the season Wednesday night as the Crusaders of St. Peter's of Roswell downed the Panthers 48-44.

Although Lake Arthur was behind 15-2 at end of the first quarter, the gap was closed through the remaining three quarters, with the Panthers leading at one time in the fourth quarter.

At halftime the count stood at 23-17 favoring the Crusaders, and by the end of the third period it was 39-36, Lake Arthur still dragging.

But the Panthers in a fourth quarter drive tied the score several times and once held an advantage over the invading St. Peter's quint.

Juniors captured the preliminary event over St. Peter's in a tight contest that ended 25-24. High score man for Lake Arthur was Donald Nelson with 15, while high for St. Peter's was Miering with 14.

Tops for the prelim event were Joe Reynolds of Lake Arthur with eight and Rudolph Orsoo with even, high for the invaders were Panke and Gammon with five apiece.

Travelers Whip NMMI Broncos

New Mexico Military Institute's Bronco after a rugged first quarter folded before the CVE Travelers in the last three periods Wednesday night to drop an 80-47 decision.

For the first quarter the Broncos maintained the pace and wound up leading 16-13.

But the Travelers pressed to a 32-19 halftime advantage, bottling up the Bronco offense to six points in the period, then pressed to a 54-32 third-quarter lead.

Bill Lea took the coring honors for the Travelers, sinking 19 points on eight field goals and three free shots.

Close behind were Don Haskins with 15, Dee Nutt with 14, and Don Heathington with 13.

Waxy Johnson and Pete Herren led the Broncos with 13 apiece. Both are forwards.

Cadillac

Come In and Order One... Today!

Of course, any day is a wonderful day for stepping up to Cadillac.

When the magic moment arrives in a man's life when he feels entitled to the "car of cars," he should make the move without hesitation—regardless of year, or season, or any other consideration.

But we do feel, in all honesty, that the motorist who finds himself in that happy circumstance this fall is particularly fortunate.

For Cadillac has never offered so many wonderful things, in such abundant measure, as it does today.

It is supremely beautiful—with grace and dignity and majesty that set it instantly apart from the rest of the world's motor cars.

Its performance is simply breath-taking—even when measured against Cadillac's own extraordinary standards. And the car is luxurious and distinctive and pride-inspiring far beyond its illustrious predecessors.

In addition to all this, the current Cadillac creation is unbelievably practical to own and economical to operate. The lowest-priced Cadillac, for instance, now costs less than twenty-two different models of other makes of motor cars manufactured in America.

And you can ride out a normal, full day's journey on a single tankful of gasoline.

As if this were not sufficient to set it apart, a Cadillac car—according to an authoritative study of used car prices—may be expected to return a greater percentage of its owner's original investment at the time of resale than any other motor car in the land!

So—if you are considering a Cadillac for yourself and your family—come in and order one today!

It's the right thing to do—and it's the right time to do it.

Persons taking motor vehicles to inspection stations for inspections must take their vehicle registration with them, since the stickers must bear the engine number of the vehicle.

In the event a vehicle does not pass inspection, the owner is given five days to get it in order.

Deadline for securing stickers is Jan. 1.

Funeral Held—

She is survived by her husband, Grover E. Sharp, two sons, M/Sgt Milton Dee Haines of Honolulu, stationed at Hickam Field, and Blaine B. Haines of Artesia; a step-daughter, Iris Hancock, Ocean side, Ore.; her brother, Mr. Bach, and Blaine B. Haines, Sr., of Roseburg, Ore. Two grandchildren surviving are Milton Leon and Don Haines, children of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Haines.

Also surviving are a niece, Mrs. Warren Coughenour and two nephews, Emil Bach, Jr., and Albert Bach, all of Artesia.

Concert Trio—

curl of the instrument that en- several levers attached to the top ables him to play a low C which is as low as the sound heard from the 16-foot pipe on an organ.

In addition, this special extension, designed by Mr. Manno, himself, enables him to use a faster technique than any other similar extension. His fame has spread among musicians for his outstanding performance of the "Largo al Factotum" from Rossini's "The Barber of Seville."

This particular piece of music is so technically difficult to play that it is rarely attempted. Actually only he and the late Serge Koussevitsky, also a master of the bass viol, have been known to perform it on the concert stage.

Bill Palmer and Bill Hughes can tell some incredible facts about their own instruments, the piano accordion. Mr. Hughes, who as a youngster was a student of Mr. Palmer, would probably begin an explanation of why these accordions, designed by Palmer, sound fuller and richer than the usual accordion. First, these instruments have 160 bass buttons instead of the usual 120, and 43 treble keys instead of 41.

Their range allows four complete octaves for the left hand (which is three more than ordinarily found) and five on one-half octaves for the right hand. Each accordion is valued at $3,000 with at least $300 worth of work done each year on each instrument to be sure it is in perfect playing condition at all times. No wonder, they can make such beautiful music together.

Cost of automobiles bought in New Mexico includes more than $2 million in federal excise taxes each year.

Mrs. Exie Cogdell Funeral Service To Be in Texas

Funeral rites for Mrs. Exie D. Cogdell, who moved to Artesia four months ago with two sons, will be held in Cleburne, Texas.

Burial will be at Fall Creek, Texas.

She was born Feb. 2, 1876, in Birmingham, Ala., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson Palmer. She married Henry R. Cogdell in 1894.

She is survived by Henry and Joe of Artesia, two other sons, Marion of California, and Ewing of Lubbock; three daughters, May Cogdell, Abilene; Jewel Whitehead, Cleburne; and Lorain Whitehead, Cleburne; a brother, Lead Palmer, Mineral Wells, Texas; and two sisters, Laura Middleton and Maggie Finely, both of Bridgeport, Texas.

Twenty-five grandchildren, 12 great-grandchildren, and one great-great-grandchild also survive.

Dividend Set By Chaves County Building-Loan

Directors of the Chaves County Building & Loan Assn. of Roswell, have declared an extra, or special dividend of 1/2 of 1% for the last six months of 1953, making an effective rate for this period of 2% or a rate for the year of 3 1/2%, it was announced today by Cecil Bonney, vice-president.

This is the same rate which the association paid for 1952.

The 2% dividend form the period from July 1 to Dec. 31, 1953, will be paid to all investors on Dec. 30, it was announced.

All investments in this association, up to $10,000, are insured against loss by a federal government agency.

E. A. Hannah of 113 S. Third, is Artesia representative of the association.

Children Plan

Own Settings for Table, Menu

Modern education proved itself as well as practical. Miss Iva Dell Haley's third year class at Hermosa school climaxed the study of foods with a dinner held recently in the auditorium at the school.

The menu and table settings were planned and carried out by the eight-year-old students themselves. The 38 children were divided into committees which worked on decorations, place cards, table settings, and a discussion of the manners.

Each pupil made his own place card of woven construction paper. The tables were decorated with turkeys and pumpkins. Each child brought a vegetable and prepared an Irish stew.

In addition to the stew, the students enjoyed celery and carrot sticks, milk, crackers, butter, and ice cream. Several teachers assisted the teacher in preparing the group.

Other highlights in this unit of study were a trip to the museum in the activity bus and the children brought apples to study and to eat while they were making a study of the different kinds of fruits, climates for each, and products of fruits.

They followed the production of wheat from the wheat fields to the store and found where jelly, syrup, cane and beet were produced or manufactured.

Safety Campaign Is Important to County

A STATEWIDE SAFETY campaign organized for the month of December in a desperate attempt to hold down membership in the "399 Club" is worth the attention of North Eddy county people.
Four people have been killed in auto accidents this year in North Eddy county. Two were killed last spring when their car missed one of the right-angle curves on the Artesia-Hope highway. Officers believe high speed may have caused the accident.
This summer an Artesia man was killed in a night accident on the Artesia-Carlsbad highway when his car when off the road, then overturned. It is believed the driver fell asleep long enough to permit his car to drift to the shoulder. It overturned when he sought to bring it back on the road.
In September a child was killed at Atoka when he was run over by a truck.
Human fallibility was involved in the three accidents which took four lives. Speed was a contributing factor in two of the accidents.

According to the governor's traffic safety coordinating committee, every fatal accident incurs an expense of $42,390.
The three North Eddy county accidents, which snuffed out four lives, cost $127,170 in dollars and cents if the average holds.
The cost in human suffering cannot be assayed in dollars and cents.
We cannot believe that a single accident which took the life of a driver in North Eddy county was inevitable. In each case human error played a part.

It's Our Money

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS who have built a wall of secrecy around their operations seem to forget one thing—it's the public's money they're spending.
It is not only wrong but we can see no need or reason or justification for the taxpayers' money to be used to protect the office holder and to write and hand out only that information the office holder wants the taxpayer to have—that information which is favorable to that public official.
This tendency to keep the taxpayer from knowing what is being done with his money and his government must come to an end.
But mere demands won't accomplish the purpose. It is time for citizens to get interested in their own affairs. It is time for them to attend their school board meetings, city council or commission meetings, county commission meetings. It is time for them to make inquiries about their state government and about the federal government.
It is time for Congress to crack the whip over the heads of all of those who want to hide facts from the public, to open the records of the various agencies for which they provide appropriations and funds.
It is time the meetings and the records of all boards, all commissioners, and all agencies of the government in our cities and counties be opened up and reports be made to the public.
And unless this is done—unless we do make these demands and do become concerned the present situation will grow worse instead of better until those controlling our affairs will wreck our government and our way of life because of their own selfishness, their own greed and their desire to control affairs to serve and to suit them.

Yes, the very success of our democratic form of government depends on an informed and an enlightened people. And people must have the facts about their government if they are to be informed and enlightened.

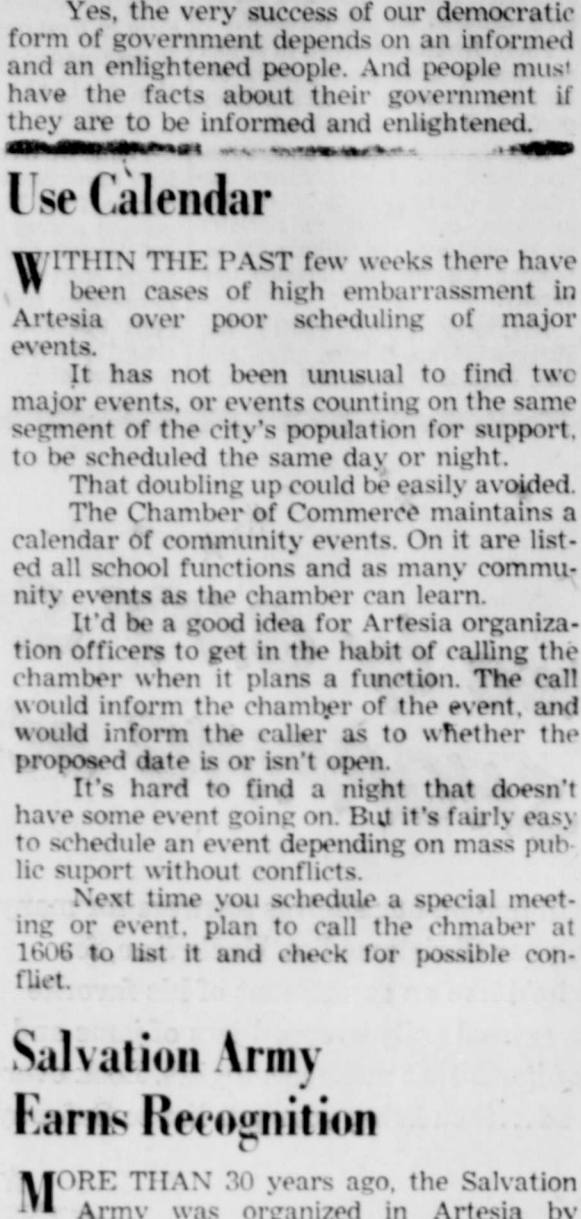

Use Calendar

WITHIN THE PAST few weeks there have been cases of high embarrassment in Artesia over poor scheduling of major events.
It has not been unusual to find two major events, or events counting on the same segment of the city's population for support, to be scheduled the same day or night.
That doubling up could be easily avoided. The Chamber of Commerce maintains a calendar of community events. On it are listed all school functions and as many community events as the chamber can learn.
It'd be a good idea for Artesia organization officers to get in the habit of calling the chamber when it plans a function. The call would inform the chamber of the event, and would inform the caller as to whether the proposed date is or isn't open.
It's hard to find a night that doesn't have some event going on. But it's fairly easy to schedule an event depending on mass public support without conflict.
Next time you schedule a special meeting or event, plan to call the chamber at 1606 to list it and check for possible conflict.

Salvation Army Earns Recognition

MORE THAN 30 years ago, the Salvation Army was organized in Artesia by Baron V. J. Auriemma. E. B. Bullock was appointed local chairman and Landis Feather treasurer.
They are still serving in that capacity. Every year more than 150 persons are assisted by the local committee of the Salvation Army with funds raised in Artesia. Key help rendered the public is to transients who fall on hard luck.
The local committee has bought many a night's lodging for a family stranded in Artesia through temporary lack of money or as the result of an accident. It has also purchased meals, gas and oil, and bus fares.
"We do anything an emergency calls for," Mr. Bullock will frequently explain in telling of Salvation Army work done here.
But the Army's work is even broader than this. Its founder, Gen. William Booth, once wrote, "All must be willing to work to the extent of their ability. . . . Those able but unwilling to work must be made willing to work. Those willing but unable to work must be brought to a condition where they have the ability as well as the willingness."
When Gen. Booth wrote that in 1890, it was, considering the times, a near-radical concept of social responsibility. The statement was written in his book, "In Darkest England," which through the years has been recognized as probably the first book in which specific and practical rules were laid down for a systematic approach to social work problems.
Today that "all must work" precept is a cornerstone for Salvation Army work. In social service centers for men, set-up to rehabilitate troubled and needy men, the thought that self-help is the first step toward renewed self-respect in the basic tenet.
The Salvation Army has come to be recognized as a practical charity. The charity of a hand-out does little to solve the problems of the unfortunate members in society. The Army feels it may be temporary, degrading, and often demoralizing. Thus the organization has sought to find and eradicate the basic problems that created those pressures.
To implement its working philosophy, the Salvation Army last year gave 2,819,812 lodgings, 7,044,076 meals, many of them free, and was host to 19,364,699 at its religious services. It sent 14,689 children to three-week summer camps, visited 121,223 men and women behind prison walls, and reunited 1,425 people through its missing persons bureau.
Locally and nationally, the Salvation Army has earned the recognition which comes to it in this national week of salutation of the nation's fundamental organizations.

'BANNER YEAR'

NEW MEXICO EDITORS ARE SAYING—

Estimate of New Mexico's Worth in Dollars Ignores State's Climate, Heritage, Charm

THINGS WE HAVE
The people at the statehouse in Santa Fe are toting up the worth of New Mexico. They want to get it all on paper and see just what we have.
Listed are the privately held mineral treasures, the broad domain of the stockmen, lush acres of the irrigated districts, the webs of the public utilities, lusty young industry and cities splitting their pants in growth.
And with these go the public wealth—the people's vast land holdings, the school plants, the thousands of miles of road, mountain ranges of virgin timber, structure damming and preserving the flow of rivers.
It adds up to a proud figure, but it's a poor estimate of the worth of New Mexico. It leaves out so much.
Perhaps some great master accountant could compute and add to this the value of New Mexico nights, crisp, flavored with pine and sage, a ceiling of stars so close they are intimately yours, all walled in with sheltering dark mountain spires.
And an item, too, are New Mexico days with sunlight that sparkles yellow all the year in air as clean as the sunlight itself. What's it worth in the inventory to breathe a tonic and feel the joy of living?
There should be an entry on the value of being greeted as a friend wherever you go, something on the worth of standing in awe and admiration before an ancient mission, a listening for the excitement of an antlered deer bursting from the brush, a silver trout splashing in a mountain stream, tan entry for the calm repose that comes with the bigness and quietness of New Mexico.
The inventory would be incomplete without something on what it's worth to share warmth and beauty of an old world culture that blends gracefully with the ancient and the new.
And maybe the master accountant could determine the value of that something in New Mexico that has given happy, beneficial years to so many who came here expecting to die.
Maybe you think that it balmy stuff for an inventory. We don't think so.
These are the qualities that make New Mexico a good place to live.—Las Vegas Optic.

WATER MANEUVERING
It'll be interesting to see what develops in Lincoln county over use of Eagle Creek and Bonita Creek water. The Interstate Streams Commission has voted to pay $3,000 for a feasibility report covering the system.
Half a dozen small communities in and around Lincoln county are interested in what happens to water stored behind Bonito Dam, and the fate of the water is important because State Engineer John Erickson has suggested that downstream users as far as Carlsbad probably will be affected by any project which might result from the feasibility report.
Roswell at one time, through the City Council, considered buying Bonito and Eagle Creek facilities and water, with a view toward augmenting Roswell's water supply by piping millions of gallons of water a day from the dam. But nothing ever came of the suggestion.
The water is available because the Southern Pacific Railroad, now using diesel engines instead of steam engines, doesn't need the tremendous amounts of water it formerly did. Southern Pacific owns the water rights and dam.
With water a critical commodity in this area—even in the mountain districts—the use of Bonito and Eagle Creek water is of concern to many communities and towns.
Even Roswell, Artesia and Carlsbad should keep an eye on proceedings.

GOOD GOING
The New Mexico National Guard has skyrocketed in 10 months from 43rd to 5th spot in the nation in the ratio of its personnel to its authorized strength. And it intends to be in the No. 1 place by Jan. 1, says Brig. Gen. C. G. Sage, the adjutant general.
The guard's authorized strength was 4,468 at the end of October. At that time its actual personnel was 2,632—or 58.9 per cent of the authorized total.
Last Jan. 1, actual strength was 1,640, or 38 per cent.
New Mexico is proud of its guardsmen.—Hobbs News-Sun.

LOVINGTON IS PLANNING
A high school ROAD-EO to test driving skill and knowledge of top students in a driver training course.
The rugged test is also designed to promote safe driving habits.
MRS. MARY ALICE SWISHER, a Negro school teacher at Las Cruces, is continuing to fight a Las Cruces school board order firing her.
A tenure teacher at a Negro high school which has been closed, Mrs. Swisher was fired when the board said her employment in the city's Union high school would lead to "friction."
COLUMNIST WILL HARRISON has launched a vigorous campaign to turn over the rocks and expose the bugs in the pre-primary convention law in New Mexico.
The people of New Mexico were sold an inferior brand of goods when the pre-primary convention system was passed several years ago by the Legislature. As the people are just now beginning to realize, the state is right back where it was politically under the old convention system the candidates and would-be candidates are at the mercy of the party bosses, who run the conventions. A candidate can run without the endorsement of the convention but it is extremely expensive and time-consuming to gather enough signatures on petitions to make such a candidacy legal.
As Harrison has pointed out, candidates nowadays have to start running nearly a year before the general election in order to clamber over all of the hurdles between themselves and a state elective job. There aren't many persons wealthy enough to spend a year running for a job that can't last more than four years and for which the pay is only mildly interesting.
The privilege of running for office in New Mexico shouldn't be restricted to the well-to-do. The process should be made as inexpensive and simple as possible. The pre-primary convention system is certainly a step in the opposite direction.
As a starter on the badly-needed reform of New Mexico's election laws, the next Legislature should chop off the convention system and get back to the real primary.—Carlsbad Current-Argus.

THE ANNUAL BURRO migration has started in Gallup. Every year when cold grips the area, burros start down from nearby hills and congregate on lawns. Gallup residents just call the cops.
Notes the Gallup Independent: "What the cops have to put up with shouldn't happen to a donkey."
LITTLE DANNY GONZALES and Floyd Rodriguez spotted five one-gallon ice cream packages on the road home from school the other day.
They were picking up the last when a trucker drove up, thanked them for finding it, and left them two gallons as a reward.
Along came another trucker who claimed he had lost the ice cream. He took the reward.
NEW MEXICO IS SPENDING $315,437 this year to lure tourists.
In announcing the figure, Curtis Publishing Co. notes the state tourist bureau is tops with $276,000, followed by Mesilla Valley C of C $12,600, Santa Fe C of C $22,000, Silver City-Grant County C of C $1,500, T or C C of C $2,000, and Kingdom of the Sun club $1,337.
ALAMOGORDO IS ASKING for $350,000 for new schools, planned on the basis of expected additional federal aid.
Included are another high school addition and a new elementary school.

THOUGHTS IN PRINT

Campus Slang Develops 'Zorch,' 'Nervous,' for Superlatives

A FEW SAMPLES OF campus slang, autumn of 1953, as reported in Newsweek:
In undergraduate speech, superiority goes by such words as "Zorch" and "George," while Howard also favored "nervous." At Vassar, it was still "divine," and "really great" at Princeton; Northwestern liked "fabulous." A bad exam experience would be "I'm waster" at Howard, "I took gas" at Princeton, "It was the pits" at Vassar, "How guache" or "I've had it" at U.C.L.A., "miserable" at Northwestern—and unprintable at Georgia Tech. The heart-breaking wire from The Girl breaking (for no good reason) a week-end date at Princeton was now known as a "flushogram."
HE HAS THE RIGHT criticize who has the heart help.—Abraham Lincoln.

WHY INDIAN SUMMER?

New York Times offers its own choice of explanations:
This second summer associated with the Indian (take your pick) (a) it was favorite time of the Indian; (b) the Indians believe was caused by a southwest sent by "their great and benedict God Cantantowit"; (c) Indians at this season set lions of acres of brush ablaze and set pen up the game; "the Indians break up their large communities and go to interior for winter hunting"; "it afforded the Indians an opportunity of visiting settlements with their destructive fare."
"NONE ARE MORE helplessly enslaved than those falsely believe they are free Goethe."

A NEW PRESIDENT, DR. NATHAN M. PUSEY, GREETED SOME NEW FRESHMEN AT HARVARD UNIVERSITY.

The millennium will not seem quite so close to you perhaps as to some generations of college students. You are perhaps too wise, too close to those recently burned, to give yourselves quickly to easy enthusiasms. And yet it will be a tragic lack, and a very unwise kind of "wisdom," if your generation feels no compelling

Local Doctor Discusses Value of Spinal X-Rays

In the scientific Chiropractic office, we find two instruments that are indispensable—the Neurocalometer, for determining the place of nerve pressure in the spine; and the X-ray, for determining the direction and degree of the misalignment producing the nerve pressure. The X-ray also reveals any pathology that may have developed. The X-ray film shows exactly how far out of line each vertebra has gone, as well as the direction it has gone. The Chiropractic adjustment is given to restore the vertebrae to their normal position, thereby removing the pressure from the nerves.

The X-ray is as necessary to the Chiropractor as a cardiograph is to the heart specialist. The Chiropractor is a "spine specialist" and therefore wants to know all that is to be known about the patient's spine. In order to get the best results in the least possible time, it is necessary that from the very first adjustment on, the adjustment be given exactly as it should be given.

Nerve pressure in the spine can be the cause of many ailments—sinusitis, headaches, arthritis, nervousness and many others.

For further information regarding scientific Chiropractic service you are invited to consult Dr. Kathryn Behnke, Palmer Graduate Chiropractor, 408 W. Richardson, phone 861.
