Band Aides to Back Community Birthday Calendar

By Lynn Owens

The Band-Aides, the official band parents group of Artesia, met last Tuesday evening, March 2, in the high school cafeteria and laid plans for organizing the campaign to raise money for their organization. The plan will be to sell the Community Birthday Calendar to the citizens of Artesia.

This calendar, which will run from June of 1954 to June of 1955 proposes to list meeting dates of all organizations in town for a whole year. The calendar will also indicate dates of school functions which will include all football and basketball games, and track events, school plays, concerts, and also church and community functions.

Another feature of the calendar is birthday listings. For each calendar that is purchased, the buyer can have one person's birthday of his choice printed on it.

Mrs. James Heald, Band-Aides president, stated this week that the response to the idea of a Community Birthday Calendar is meeting with the greatest approval. The Rotary, Lions, and Kiwanis clubs have already shown their approval by buying a large number of calendars.

The proceeds from the sale of these calendars will be used to boost the growing band program, which now includes Cottonwood, Atoka, and some elementary schools.

Schools Propose Change in AA Set-Up

Five of eight New Mexico high schools answering a quiz on the past season's AA football conference expressed satisfaction with the football set-up according to the New Mexico High School Athletic Association.

Recommendations turned in by the 8 AA schools included:

—One school wanted the conference to play seven games with no method of settling ties.

—Three of the eight wanted four leagues as in other conferences.

—One wanted one conference, playing eight schools, with a playoff at the top if needed.

To a proposal the conference be divided into two leagues, two of the AA schools said they wanted one league, one said it wanted four leagues.

On the question of limiting seasonal games, four AA schools vote for the limit, one wants nine games, and three want 10.

On the question of minimum fees for officials, one AA school advocated $10, one $15, one $20, three $25, one $30.

As to definite rotation of sites, six AA schools favored it, two wanting to rotate between East and West, while two said no.

Five of the AA schools voted in favor of playing the AA championship Thanksgiving Day, three no.

In more general football questions, the state's schools voted 28-15 to reduce travel allowance, and 39-6 to cut per diem.

The schools voted 26-20 to make it compulsory that play-offs be played at one home field.

The schools voted 33-13 in favor of current rules to break a tie game.

Recommendations on the tie rule included one asking naming of co-champs if a tie, four wanting the game to be counted as a half win, half loss unless tied for league leadership, when the present system would be used.

One wanted a six-minute extra period based on score, penetrations, first downs, and yardage; two wanted running downs the first tie-breaking rule, three favored the present system except for using total yardage rather than extra downs, and one advocated letting the league vote off a tie at the top.

The schools voted 41-5 against naming four extra downs to break a tie, and 46-0 against flipping a coin to break tie.

The schools were 33-13 against voting if two or more schools tied for league leadership by tie. The schools favored, 27-19, having an officials scorekeeper. Most of the "no's" felt officials could be the same as in 1953.

Artesia to Meet Top-Seeded Portales in District Tourney

By LYNN OWENS

At a meeting of coaches and principals on the 4A basketball tournament, to be held in Portales at the Eastern New Mexico university gym, today and Saturday, the Bulldogs drew for their first opponent, the top-seeded team in district competition, Portales.

The Bulldogs will meet the Rams at 2 p. m. today.

Other first round games will be between second seeded Carlsbad and Lovington at 7 p. m.; third seeded Hobbs and Roswell at 8:30 and fourth seeded Clovis and NMMI at 3:30.

If the Bulldogs get by the Rams they will meet the winner of the Clovis-Institute game Saturday morning at 9.

This tournament is being held on a single game elimination basis. The Bulldogs must win their first game to be in later competition.

Coach Verlon Davis has announced this probable 10-man tournament team: Seniors, Larry Beadle, Sam Golden, Carl Lane, and Wray Shildneck; junior, Jerry Cranford; Nelson Moore, Fred Sanders, Bob Seely, Jim Shipp and Raymond Gressett.

Of these Moore and Beadle will start at guard, Shildneck at center and Lane and Golden at forward.

About the Bulldog's chances, Coach Davis had this word to say: "The boys have come a long way this year and have shown up exceptionally well the last two weeks. They are riding high for this game, although they are the definite underdogs. With the addition of Shildneck to the starting lineup it will give us some of the height we have needed all season. He might be just the thing we need."

Justin Bradbury, high school band director, is assembling a pep band to give the boys a big send-off. All townspeople are invited to attend at 8 Friday morning.

In a previous encounter with the Rams on the Artesia high school court, the Rams took a victory over the Bulldogs by the score of 61-57.

The Baltimore oriole is the official state bird of Maryland.

HIRE recently as business manager for Clovis schools is Homer Heathman, formerly of Artesia, now assistant director of school buildings and finance with the state department of education. Robertsons Host To Reunion of Pioneer Family

A reunion of a prominent pioneer family was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Robinson in Lake Arthur.

Mrs. Guy Robinson of Hagerman, who will soon be 80, enjoyed having all of her five children and several grandchildren and great grandchildren from far and near with her on this occasion.

This affair also marked the 60th birthday of her eldest son, Arthur Robinson of Denver, who was also honored. He was accompanied to Lake Arthur by his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Ernest Robinson and children Alan and Sherry.

They had quite a hazardous trip over Raton Pass in the northern part of New Mexico as there had been a severe snow storm which left icy highways. They had to be pulled over some points in order to get through. Many tourists were turning back.

Dramatics Club Announces Dates For "Our Town"

By Tom Bryan

The Artesia high school Dramatics club has announced that the play Our Town will be presented to the public Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, May 5, 6, and 7, at 8 p. m. in the high school auditorium.

Mr. Stevens has announced that all the major roles have been cast, and that rehearsals will get under full swing soon after the Junior class play.

The story of love and tragedy in Our Town will be portrayed by Jerry Simmons as George Gibbs, and Jean Nicoles as Emily Webb.

Donald Sperry as Mr. Webb, and Carl Lane as Dr. Gibbs, will give us some sound, small town philosophy.

If you're having trouble with that little brother or sister of yours, you just wait until you meet Rebecca Gibbs (Marjorie Herbert) and Wally Webb (Norton Boyd). It seems that Simon Stimpson (Thomas Tucker) is either directing the church choir or rolling in the gutter.

Important Announcement Regarding Automobile Medical Payments Coverage

If Your Policy Now Affords Medical Payments Coverage, your insurance has been broadened automatically to pay medical, doctor and hospital bills up to the policy limits for you and all relatives (if residents of your household) resulting from injuries received when

- 1. Riding in ANY automobile, truck or bus, or 2. Struck by any automobile, truck or bus (pedestrian accidents or your children hurt by a motor vehicle) all as defined in the endorsement.

This is in addition to the standard coverage which pays for injuries to guests in your own car. This new broader protection is effective immediately on all policies now affording medical payments coverage.

If You Do Not Carry This Valuable Protection, may we suggest that you order it immediately. In most cases the premium is less than $5.00 for $1000 per person coverage (coverage also available with limits of $500 per person or $2000 per person). Call your agent who will be glad to quote exact rates and add this coverage for you.

Artesia Visited By Wayland Choir

By Rita and Phyllis

The Wayland College choir from Plainview, Texas, presented an assembly to the students of Artesia high school on Tuesday, Feb. 16, at 9 a. m.

As the curtains parted the students gasped in amazement at the spectacle of the foreign students dressed in their native costumes. The choir began their program with several spiritual numbers, followed by soloists from Japan, Mexico, Greece and Arabia.

Duets were sung by a Hawaiian girl and an American boy, and a Swiss girl and an American cowboy sang an operatic number.

The male quartet burst forth with some very lovely numbers. This group made up of an Arabian, Indian, American, and a Russian. Not to be outdone the girls' sextet sang, "Night and Day."

To conclude the program the director sang a solo, "Sweet Mystery of Life," accompanied by the choir.

Artesia Rates Also-Ran In District Tournament

By Tom Bryan

Portales, unbeaten in regular district competition have taken the No. 1 seeding away from Hobbs by whipping the Eagles when the teams played Feb. 26.

Carlsbad and Hobbs are figured to get seeded positions.

Clovis is generally regarded the No. 4 choice.

Lovington is a potential upsetter of the form chart.

Roswell, Artesia, and NMMI, finishing out the roster, are expected to be strictly also-rans.

Rams Have Advantage—

The Portales five will have a home court advantage, the district derby being unseeded in the ENMU gym at Portales, and that could be enough to put them over the top. They've lost only twice this season on that court.

Defending state champion Clovis has lost four and won four in the district.

From a state champion two years ago, Roswell has dropped nearly to the bottom of the ladder this trip. The Coyotes, like NMMI, and Artesia, are expected to be easy pickings, according to the sports writers.

Driving Classes Study Parking

By Rita Faye Wimsatt

The second semester safety driving classes under the direction of Mr. Green are taking their instruction in the three types of parking—angle parking, straight parallel parking, and parallel parking between two cars.

In the classroom they are talking about the "three E's" which mean education in driving, enforcement, and engineering of construction of streets and highway. They are also studying what causes accidents.

Library Display Gives Honor

By Pat Euliss

High school library has once again been honored by being Display of the Month in the February issue of the Wilson Library Bulletin. This time two arrangements pictured in the bulletin—construction paper, white face dollies, drawing paper, and store Valentines were used for the bulletin display. "Books With Heart" and "Most of the book jackets inside the big Valentines—were made from two sheets of drawing paper folded and tacked to the bulletin board so that the book jackets could be seen easily by a flip of the page.

The niche in the book shelf is used constantly for some form of display, or for attractive flower arrangements. The display used by the Wilson Library Bulletin was made up of a figure of George Washington with a hatchet. He was painted by a former art student and the idea sprang from a magazine pie ad. The cherry tree was made by attaching paper leaves to a tree limb. The cherries were made by mixing salt, flour, and water and adding cake coloring.

Doctor Causes Cause tonsillitis

Tonsils have a function to perform in the body. But often when the first sorethroat strikes the parent is inclined to get the quicker Johnnie's are taken out the better. Can't it, that we don't feel any way about the other or the body? Somehow the importance is not quite understood.

When the tonsils become inflamed, removal is not always necessary. We don't remove them when it becomes upset... it amputate a finger at the tip of swelling. But even in these the tonsils are causable, our first concern not be their removal, but every of their "health."

Chiropractic has been of benefit to people suffering from distonsils; Chiropractic has those tonsils for the function should perform.

Doesn't Make Sense

THERE ARE A LOT of arguments being advanced and a good many things being said and done that advocates "free trade" and that doesn't make sense and certainly isn't good for America.

It is still a little hard to understand why we guarantee parity prices, advance loans and place products in storage, and then let the same products be brought in from foreign countries at such tariff rates that the items can be sold at prices under the same products produced in America.

It is hard to understand why we have millions of bales of cotton under government loans with a parity price under it in storage in our nation, and yet permit the importing of an equal number of bales of cotton. That doesn't move our cotton.

Storing butter at high prices has become a joke in our nation and while there has been talk of selling it to other countries under the no attempt to move it out of storage and into price set on it by Americans, there has been distribution in our own country.

The butter situation briefly was just a case of pricing it out of the market.

Today considerable concern is being voiced by various groups of Americans concerning certain trade agreements and what appears as a definite move for "free trade"—trade without any tariff.

Our ranchers are concerned about beef prices and about the lack of protection. They know they cannot produce beef in competition with those countries where living standards are lower than ours, where labor costs are much less, and where the products that go to producing beef are less.

They know they are going to have to be protected with a tariff on beef and meats shipped into our nation.

We also are now being reminded that by "free trade" we can and will destroy certain industries in our own nations—industries we will need in the event of a war.

One of these being mentioned is the watch industry and watchmakers. The number of watches produced in our nation has gradually decreased while the number imported has increased over the years. Yet during the world wars it has been the watchmakers in our nation who produced the precision instruments for our bombsights, for our fighting planes, and for other needs to defend our nation.

We are told today that the number qualified to produce watches—fine watches—and do the kind of work that may be needed has decreased and if the importing of watches continues the day and time will come when we will have no watchmakers.

That means the day and time will come when we will not have available these experienced and qualified watchmakers and precision workers that we may need.

We as a nation are proud of our standard of living. We know that the average American workers have more worldly goods and more of the good things of life than any workers in the world. We pay a price for that. And because we do have this result is that it costs us more to produce than it does where living standards are lower and where labor costs are less.

Two-Party System May Yet Work

IF NEW MEXICO Republicans maintain the pace shown in last week-end's state convention, there may yet be a two-party system in the state.

Artesia delegates to the convention report party members were highly elated over the health signs of vitality at the largest convention since the Cutting days.

The caliber of Republican candidates is generally higher than in the past.

Plans are being made to run more Republicans than ever in county and state contests.

It is probably, though, that in the general election next fall, Democratic nominees will be unopposed for most offices below state representative, that is, the county offices—sheriff, county clerk, county treasurer, county commissioner, and the like.

It may be that the revitalized Republican party in New Mexico is another symptom of the great wave of public interest in civic affairs.

When Republicans grow strong enough offices, we will truly have a two-party system to field a complete slate of candidates for all ten in the state, a system that when it works from the precinct level up, vitalizes American political thought of the better sort.

Better Candidates

MOST OF US have been arguing for more businessmen in politics and more citizens and fewer politicians.

Although we do considerable clamoring for this type of a candidate we do not devote much effort or energy to helping these candidates when they seek public office.

It is true we have many politicians seeking state posts in the primary elections but we also have more business and professional people as candidates for nominations in a good many years.

In Artesia we have an outstanding businessman as a candidate for the legislature in Fred Cole. Everyone should give him their full backing and support. This means Democrat and Republican alike.

After all, what the northern part of Eddy county wants is a good representative in the race and no one can question but what they have such a man in Fred Cole.

But we also want more business people seeking office. We have them after the governor's office. Both the Republicans and the Democrats have some fine candidates—qualified businessmen.

Although the political parties never appreciate such a statement we are still convinced that the average citizen in our county, our state, and our nation is more interested in a good, honest, experienced and qualified office holder than they are interested in the question of whether he or she is a Democrat or a Republican.

We are anxious and have been anxious to see some new faces appear in the campaign for public office. We have been anxious to see some changes and to reach the point where the public and the individual has a part in naming or urging candidates to see office instead of having the political party name our candidates for us.

We have always felt that the political party and the political leaders should stay out of the picture until the party primaries are held and the nominees are chosen. They don't do that but when we become more interested and active as citizens they will.

But if we want good, qualified and experienced business people seeking public office let's do a little more than wish them well—let's actually get out and do some work for them and let's help them be elected to public office.

That is the only way we can actually prove we are really interested in them and we appreciate them filling for public office."

La Huerta Bridge in Carlsbad Up for New, Joint Attack After Survey Shows Traffic

LA HUERTA BRIDGE IN Carlsbad, a monument to Eddy county's internal strife between the Cave City and Artesia, has an average daily traffic count of 3,375.

That's the word from the state highway department, asked to make the survey by County Commissioner E. O. Sparlin.

The Carlsbad Current - Argus guesses the traffic flow is the largest for any one-traffic-at-a-time bridge in New Mexico.

Current proposals call for the bridge to be widened on a three-way expense basis, with the state, county, and city sharing the costs.

North Eddy county partisans have blocked bridge widening in the past, calling for equivalent construction in the north part of the county.

Leadership of Mine, Mill Union Apparently Bent on Getting Subversive Listing for Unit

The leadership of the ill-famed International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers seem hell-bent on placing their organization on the attorney general's list of subversive organizations.

Actually, the scarlet union should have been denounced officially long before the recent evidence of Communist control was publicized.

Mine-Mill, as such, would find itself in like company, as many of the named subversive elements have been chosen as playmates of the union during recent years.

Where the top officials of Mine-Mill may view the "subversive list" as a desired certificate of loyalty to Moscow, the average member would find the stigma of an extreme distaste. It is apparent that the membership is beginning to wise up on the actual interests of Mine-Mill leadership. To wit: Locals in Butte, Montana; Gilman, Colorado; and Republic Steel's Edwards Mine, Alabama, have already bolted the red treas.

The El Paso local, led by its own officials, made an unsuccessful try for disaffiliation from Mine-Mill. The fire of rebellion was apparently quenched in time by Mine-Mill international representatives, but the smoke of dissatisfaction remains.

And so it is locally. Already the small spark of indignation has been struck within the minds of the membership.

We trust that should Mine-Mill be declared officially a subversive instrument that the hundreds of members we know to be loyal Americans have long since withdrawn from the rolls of suspicion.—Silver City Enterprise.

RETAINS OFFICE

Gallup has won its fight to retain the Navajo area office of the Indian Bureau which we believe is a wise decision on the part of Assistant Secretary of the Interior Orme Lewis.

Indian Commissioner Gelnin Emmons, former Gallup banker, undoubtedly influenced the decision against the transfer of the office to Albuquerque as recommended by a survey report of a committee headed by Phoenix Banker Walter P. Bimson.

The report contained many good points on the reorganization of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, but in the matter of the Navajo area offices it appeared logical to retain those offices at Gallup, the heart of the Navajo country.

Gallup will benefit otherwise from the controversy if it remedies the complaints made by the Navajo council, which although criticizing the treatment accorded the Indians in the past, stood firm against the removal of the offices. Their protests must have carried weight.—Albuquerque Journal.

PARTY ABOVE NATION

Quite a few politicians put their own party above that of the nation. Such is the case with the National Democratic chairman who said in Albuquerque that the U. S. was headed for a depression. State Chairman Rex Meador here last Saturday night said that conditions today are practically as they were in 1933. Yet a few seconds later he told how the state Democrats were in debt $15000 when he took over 10 months ago and now they are out of debt with money in the bank. This appears to be some

STEADY WORKERS FLOW

A new American plan is said to insure a steady flow of Mexican farm workers into the United States and may go far toward solving the wetback problem.

Under the new plan, any Mexican citizen legally presenting himself to U. S. border officials would be given work if it is available. Included in the plan would be a setup where wetbacks would be given employment on U. S. farms if they made it across the border without being arrested.

Mexico has vetoed the plan, because it would in effect legalize wetbacks.

However the crew of the budget asks the Congress to cut back the $22,500,000 authorized for building those necessary highways next year to $10,000,000. This is the deepest cut yet made on that item in the budget. It is not economy as it will result in waste of our resources, because we cannot harvest our trees before they deteriorate. Announcement Expected in Near Future on Telephone Building

ANNOUNCEMENTS ARE EXPECTED to be forthcoming shortly on ground-breaking ceremonies for Artesia's new dial telephone building. It will probably be in April sometime.

Artesia will have the latest in dial telephone equipment, Mountain States officials say.

The dial equipment will have an interesting gimmick which businesses with two telephone lines will be glad to know. Only one number will be listed for the business. If it is busy, the dial equipment will automatically "hunt" the other number to see if it, too, is busy. If not, it'll ring.

SOME CURRICULUM COMMITTEE members took exception to the headline over the Junior high curriculum questionnaire tabulation printed Tuesday. It said "Parents of Junior High Students Okay School's Curriculum."

That might imply that's the end to the study of the questionnaires—an analysis of general parental approval.

Actually, it's not by a long shot. Because the tabulation was being printed "straight," a general headline was sought, rather than one that picked out something specific in the questionnaire.

For instance, the first question on the questionnaire, do you think your child is getting as good an education as you did?, had 16 per cent of the parents saying no.

That's a sizeable enough number for the analysts to dig further.

So don't think the curriculum study ends with the questionnaires—they're just the beginning.

New Mexico to Receive $10 Million For Highways in Next Two Years

By JOHN J. DEMPSEY
 Congressman from New Mexico

New Mexico will receive more than $10 million a year in federal aid highway funds in the next biennium, according to the provisions of the bill just approved by the House public works committee. This is about $2½ million a year more than the state is now receiving.

The increase is due largely to the $200 million annual authorization for the interstate highway system of which New Mexico has 1,012 miles. The present law authorizes only $25 million. The committee majority sought to have the interstate funds apportioned on a population basis instead of on the long-established regular federal aid formula, based on area population and postroad mileage.

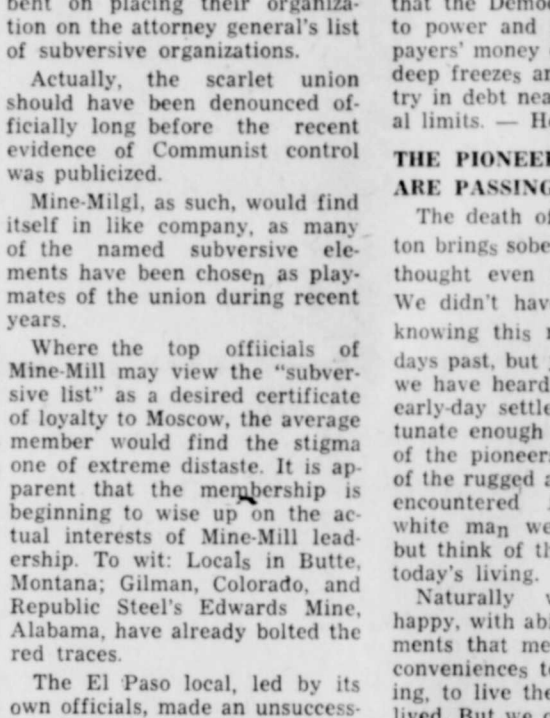

As the only committee member from a Rocky Mountain state I objected to such discrimination and was able to have one-half of the $200 million placed under the regular formula. The other half, however, still remains on the urban or population basis. Thus members from the populous eastern and northern states are seeking to fatten their highway funds at the expense of states like New Mexico. I intend to continue my fight to have the entire $200 million apportioned on the regular federal aid basis. That will give New Mexico an additional $600,000.

I intend also the press for passage of HR 14, my bill introduced a year ago, which will make $200 million in interstate funds available next July. The money authorized in the regular federal aid bill will not be available until July 1, 1935. Unless my bill is passed this very necessary work will be set back another year. We have already lost one year during which 38,300 more American lives have been lost on highways full of such hazards as narrow bridges and sharp, blind curves.

AFTER WEEKS OF WORK on the nation's future tax program the House ways and means committee is finding it extremely difficult to live up to the majority party's fervent pledges of tax relief. Cancer Alertness ACS Goal for MDs

A promising experiment in post-graduate medical education is being carried on by the American Cancer Society. The object of the program is to make every physician think of cancer first.

Because early detection is the key to curing cancer, the family doctor must be well-informed about the disease. The ACS says that the life of the cancer patient may be in the hands of the first physician who sees him. If diagnosis is missed the cancer will spread until cure is unlikely. Teaching doctors to recognize cancer and institute proper treatment is the aim of the ACS professional education program. A digest-type magazine is published for the busy practitioner and a technical journal is issued for the specialist. Monographs, lectures, refresher courses and specially-produced motion pictures also are used. Fellowships go to 70 young doctors each year. All this is financed by contributions to the Cancer Crusade.

Last year more than 70,000 Americans died needlessly of cancer. Some died because they did not heed cancer's danger signals. Others died because the first physician they consulted did not recognize the disease.

Rotary Promotes World Fellowship, Stagg Declares

Rotary clubs in 88 countries and geographical regions throughout the world are united in an endeavor to promote international understanding, good will and peace.

That was the message of Harry P. Stagg, of Albuquerque, governor of district 170 of Rotary International, in addressing the Rotary club of Artesia Tuesday noon, following a conference with local Rotary officers, directors and committee chairmen.

In addition to the activities of Rotary's 8,009 clubs within their own communities to promote this objective, Stagg explained, Rotary International has spent more than $1 1/2 million in recent years through its program of student fellowships, which enable outstanding college graduates to study for one year in countries other than their own, as ambassadors of good will.

Since this program was established in 1947, 598 Rotary fellowships have been awarded to students in 56 countries. There are 105 students out on fellowships from 30 countries for the fiscal year 1953-54. Glen Houston is now in Australia studying on our fellowship. Between July 1 and Dec. 15 another student will be selected from our district.

"With fellowship and service to others as its keynote, Rotary provides a common ground for 379,000 business and professional executives throughout the world, regardless of differing nationalities or political or religious beliefs," the Rotary district governor emphasized.

NEW YORK LIFE LIBERALIZES ITS INSURANCE POLICIES

A new series of modern life insurance policies, involving the most extensive changes in the 108-year history of the New York Life Insurance Company, has been announced by Devereux C. Josephs, chairman of the board.

"The scope of the project is believed to be without precedent in the insurance field," he said. "It involved thousands of man-hours of study and product analysis and hundreds of thousands of electronic calculations. It might be said that New York Life rewrote the book to offer a modern line of policies tailored to the country's changing, present-day needs."

Among other things, the company put premiums of the new policies on a 2 1/2 per cent instead of a 2 per cent interest basis, which means that the premium rates for the new policies are generally lower. Referring to present owners of the company's policies, it was pointed out that New York Life is a mutual company, that dividends to policyowners are the balancing factor, and that insurance is given at cost to all policyowners. That is, every year when all the transactions are completed and the necessary sums are set aside to enable the company to carry out its obligations in the future, the money which is left over is returned in an equitable division to the various classes of policyowners. In this way both old and new policyowners are treated with equal fairness.

New York Life previously announced that it would pay approximately $76,600,000 for dividends to present owners of individual life insurance policies in 1954, a record high total amount and $11,000,000 more than the previous year.

The company added twenty-one new plans of insurance protection, and has extended its maximum issue age from 65 to 70. Mr. Josephs stated it removed well over seventy "hereons," "hereins," "hereafters" and "hereunders" from the legal contract. The policy itself was completely re-styled for clarity and convenience and reduced from legal to regular letter size.

The Company's underwriters also completely revised its occupational ratings and made over 1,000 liberalizations in these ratings for life insurance. About one-third of the occupational classifications previously rated are now eligible for standard insurance. The method of underwriting standard risks was changed from the "advance in age basis" to a new "classification basis."

The new policies were developed after extensive research to determine life insurance needs in the postwar economy. There were over fifty basic and comprehensive studies relating especially to trends of mortality, interest earnings and expenses.

Actual work on the new series of policies began just over a year ago and, according to New York Life's actuaries, "the sheer volume of computations it involved could not have been completed without the use of the most modern electronic equipment."

A company-wide team composed of top executives, actuaries, agents from the field, underwriters, investment experts, lawyers, economists and statisticians spent a full year on the project.

Among the features of the new policies are: a "whole life" policy particularly designed for special needs and available at all ages from 9 to 70; a new mortgage cancellation plan that protects a family for the unpaid balance of a mortgage until the debt is cancelled out; and an "estate builder" for children under which, when the child reaches age 21, the insurance increases to five times the basic amount.

Another fundamental insurance change incorporated in the New York Life policies is that they are of the ownership type. Under a unique transfer of ownership provision in these policies, the owner can readily convey his policy and all rights in it to a new owner. With this new concept the policy assumes the character of transferable property.

New Mexico holders have over 65 Million Dollars worth of New York Life Policies and New York Life has total investments of $36,819,963.00 investments in New Mexico.
