FIRE WAXED hot and heavy at Valley Lumber Co. Sunday but was confined to $3,000 damage through fortunate wind which blew fire and heat away from other lumber. Firemen in foreground wet down nearby lumber shed. (Advocate Photo)

Lumber Yard Fire Cost Set at $3,000

Fanned by a heavy wind, fire on Sunday afternoon destroyed $3,000 worth of stacked lumber at Valley Lumber Co. two miles north of Artesia.

"We were mighty lucky," yard foreman Bob Williams said Monday in releasing the preliminary damage estimate.

"If the wind had been blowing in the other direction, or the fire had been in a different location, the loss would have been heavy," he said.

As it was, the fire in an isolated stack of lumber in the northeast corner of the yard was whipped by a wind out of the south and southwest, rolling flames toward an open field, rather than back toward the yard itself.

Cause of the fire has not yet been determined, Williams said. It was discovered about 1 p. m. by James Ezell, watchman for the firm.

Firemen stood by as the blaze reduced lumber to charcoal. Precautionary wetting down of small stacks of lumber and a building nearby was done by volunteer firemen of the Artesia department.

Acting fire chief Elmo Naylor said only "a tremendous volume of water" would have allowed firemen to stop the blaze before it burned itself out.

Firemen stood by as the blaze swept through the lumber, then called a 5,000-gallon Lloyd Downey tanker truck filled with water. Charred lumber was thoroughly

Chamber Attacks Key Area Problems

Work on three vital Artesia area projects is scheduled in Santa Fe tomorrow and Wednesday by Chamber of Commerce representatives.

Paul W. Scott, C of C manager, said he and W. M. Siegenthaler, Artesia attorney, will confer with state and federal officials the next two days in Albuquerque and Santa Fe.

Topics to be taken up are development of the First street federal-aid urban project, completion of Highway 833 in the Sacramento mountains and construction of a U. S. 285 bridge south of Artesia as part of the army engineer flood control project.

Scott will confer with C. O. "Pete" Erwin, chief state highway engineer, in Santa Fe tomorrow on the urban project and the bridge. The urban project would reconstruct about four miles of First street, widening it to 100-foot width. The program, which would resemble that done in Roswell, would be federally financed.

The bridge will be necessitated near the Ranch House because of the flood levee project proposed for Artesia. Water from the levee in case of flood would be carried under the bridge. There is now only a dip in the road at the point where the levee would drain.

Siegenthaler, who is chairman of the chamber flood control committee, will confer with Scott and Erwin.

In Albuquerque Wednesday Scott will meet with C. Otto Lindh, chief forester of the U. S. forest service for this region, on completion of Highway 83.

The 15-mile unpaved stretch runs from the east boundary of Lincoln national forest west six miles past Mayhill.

Supreme Court Upholds Gas Regulation

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court decided today the federal power commission has authority to regulate prices of natural gas sold by Phillips Petroleum Co. to interstate pipeline companies.

The decision overturned a ruling by the commission that Phillips was not a natural gas company within the meaning of the natural gas act and the agency therefore had no jurisdiction over its rates.

Justice Minton delivered the 5-4 decision. He was joined by Chief Justice Warren and Justices Black, Reed, and Frankfurter.

Justices Douglas and Clark wrote dissenting opinions.

Justice Burton joined in Clark's dissent. Justice Jackson took no part in the case, which the high court had once refused to review, thus letting the FPC ruling stand as of that time.

Phillips produces and gathers natural gas in Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico and carries it to 10 processing plants in Texas and New Mexico. After processing, the gas is carried in pipes from 240 to 1,490 feet and sold in interstate commerce for resale to five pipeline companies.

Justice Minton, for the court majority, stated that "regulation of the sales in interstate commerce for resale made on a so-called independent natural gas producer is not essentially different from regulation of such sales when made by an affiliate of an interstate pipeline company."

Minton added: "In both cases the rates charged may have a direct and substantial effect on the price paid by the ultimate consumers. Protection of consumers against exploitation at the hands of natural gas companies was the primary aim of the natural gas act."

Attempts to weaken this protection by amendatory legislation exempting independent natural gas producers from federal regulation have repeatedly failed, and we refuse to achieve the same result by a strained interpretation of the existing statutory language."

In his dissent, Clark said the majority opinion "brings every gas operator, from the smallest producer to the largest pipeline, under federal regulatory control. Clark added:

"I also doing, the court acts contrary to the intention of the Congress, the understanding of the states, and that of the federal power commission itself. The federal power commission is thereby thrust into the regulatory domain traditionally reserved to the states."

LOS ALAMOS — AEC officials said today they expected to win their fight against a forest fire, which menaced this atomic city two days, before noon.

A gentle wind, with gusts up to 25 miles an hour, was blowing remaining flames back over the 1,100 acre burn.

Joe Burke, AEC personnel coordinator here, said, "it's in very good shape."

He said a fire break, manned by 400 men, had been established completely around the blaze, and "we hope to begin mopping up this morning."

He said it was expected 200 soldiers from Sandia Base at Albuquerque could be released this evening.

James R. Maddy, chief of health and safety for the city, said the fire should be only smoldering by noon if all goes well.

Simms Names T. E. Brown State Chairman of Democratic Party

State Central Committee Okay Is Seen

SANTA FE — T. E. "Tom" Brown Sr., a political unknown from Artesia, has been named by Democratic gubernatorial candidate John Simms Jr. as his choice for Democratic state chairman.

The action appeared to be a move to solidify the Democratic party in New Mexico.

Simms said he will recommend approval of the East Side church leader to succeed Rex Meador of Estancia. Although the naming of a chairman is up to the party's State Central committee, slated to meet June 14 in Santa Fe, a nod by Simms is tantamount to approval.

Meador gave public endorsement to the selection of Brown.

"After 14 months as state chairman of the Democratic party," Meador said, "I have decided to carry out my long-standing intention not to see re-election to that post."

Brown, who was in Seattle attending a Rotary International convention, told the Associated Press:

"I will be glad to serve the Democratic party in any capacity in which I can be helpful."

Simms called Brown "an outstanding Democrat and a leader of proven ability in business and civic affairs." He said Brown "enjoys the utmost respect of New Mexicans in all walks of life."

Brown is known to be acceptable to both U. S. senators, Dennis Chavez and Clinton P. Anderson, powerful forces in the Democratic party.

The East Sider was a backer during the pre-primary convention of W. O. Culbertson Jr. of Las Vegas, one of Simms' former opponents. Culbertson has the unqualified support of the Chavez forces.

Chavez recently made a plea to Simms to keep Meador as state chairman. Some observers thought Simms would have to do so to curry favor with the powerful Chavez faction.

Brown operates Brown Pipe & Supply Co., with headquarters and a store at Artesia, and stores at Carlsbad and Albuquerque.

He is a leader in the First Baptist church of Artesia.

In the past four years he has been identified as a leading figure in Eddy county's famous feud, which twice erupted into seeking legislative divorce of Artesia from Carlsbad and creation of a new Artesia county.

His influence in Democratic politics has steadily grown. He is a friend of both U. S. senators.

Brown came to Artesia in 1940 from Buni, Texas.

Appointment of Brown Surprise To His Son

Selection of T. E. Brown, Sr., of Artesia as Democratic gubernatorial candidate John Simms' choice for state Democratic chairman came as a complete surprise in Artesia.

"I didn't even know about it until people started asking about it in church yesterday," Brown's son, T. E. Brown, Jr., said today. He is associated with his father in business.

"We're all still a little stunned about it," he said, "but happy for Dad."

Three Accidents, One Hit-Run, Reported in City

Three minor accidents, one of them hit-and-run, were reported to city police this week end.

The hit-run accident occurred at 10:30 a. m. Sunday when a pick-up driven by Jose Lopez, 17, of 403 Gage, going west on Logan, was struck by another vehicle. There was no description of the second vehicle.

Damage to the pick-up was minor.

At 5:10 p. m., cars driven by Frank Anaya, Lake Arthur and Luis Castillo, Atoka, collided on W. Main.

Reports indicated both were going east on Main. Smith was on Kirtman's left and attempted a right turn when the collision occurred.

At 4:50 p. m., Sunday a 1949 pick-up driven by Cecil A. Smith, route 1, and Ward A. Kirtman, Walker Air Force Base, collided on W. Main.

Reports indicated both were going east on Main. Smith was on Kirtman's left and attempted a right turn when the collision occurred.

State police said the bloody toll was taken in an eight-hour period between 10 p. m. Saturday and 6 a. m. Sunday. The dead were identified by state police as:

Charles R. McCarley, 21, a Ft. Bliss soldier who died near Newman, N. M.;

Dan Dailey, about 28, a Laguna Indian who died near San Fidel west of Albuquerque;

Johnnie Baylock, 16, Los Lunas, who was struck by a car while walking on U. S. highway 85 near Los Lunas.

Dennis Kie, 40, a Laguna Indian, who met death in a collision near Grants.

McCarley was dead on arrival at a Fort Bliss hospital Sunday morning after the car in which he was a passenger, failed to make a curve on U. S. highway 54 five miles north of Newman. The town is near the Texas-New Mexico state line.

No Protests Heard After Radar Check

There are no howls of protest in Artesia after a State Police radar unit worker near the city Saturday night.

Police operated the radar check for an hour.

In the 60-mile-an-hour zone, "only two cars were going 60, and the rest weren't going over 35 miles an hour," said State Patrolman D. A. Bonine.

Highway Death Toll Surges With Death of Four

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
New Mexico's 1954 highway death toll surged to 151 over the weekend with the death of four persons in separate accidents.

Three persons suffered injuries—two seriously.

State police said the bloody toll was taken in an eight-hour period between 10 p. m. Saturday and 6 a. m. Sunday. The dead were identified by state police as:

Charles R. McCarley, 21, a Ft. Bliss soldier who died near Newman, N. M.;

Dan Dailey, about 28, a Laguna Indian who died near San Fidel west of Albuquerque;

Johnnie Baylock, 16, Los Lunas, who was struck by a car while walking on U. S. highway 85 near Los Lunas.

Dennis Kie, 40, a Laguna Indian, who met death in a collision near Grants.

McCarley was dead on arrival at a Fort Bliss hospital Sunday morning after the car in which he was a passenger, failed to make a curve on U. S. highway 54 five miles north of Newman. The town is near the Texas-New Mexico state line.

State Policeman H. C. Stanborn said the vehicle rolled 3 1/2 times. The driver of the car, Sam Houston IV, suffered minor injuries.

Dailey died Sunday morning when his pickup truck left the road and rolled 300 feet, overturning seven times. Robert Garcia, 26, a Laguna Indian, suffered serious injuries in the accident on U. S. highway 66 two miles west of Fidel. He was in serious condition in an Albuquerque hospital.

Baylock died when struck by a car driven by Bonifacio Lavota of Belen. State police said Lavota apparently was attempting to pass (Continued on Page Six)

Two Teenagers Escape Injury as Auto Overturns

Two teenagers luckily escaped serious injury when their car skidded 402 feet, the noverturnd near Artesia last night.

Driver of the car, Luis Rascon Castillo, 17, of Atoka, was charged with reckless driving by State Patrolman D. A. Bonine, following the accident.

With Castillo was Esther Leyva, 19, of 707 N. Roselawn. Castillo suffered only a bloody nose, Miss Leyva a bruised mouth. Both were treated at Artesia General hospital and immediately released.

Patrolman Bonine said the accident was caused by "a mixture of speed and inattentiveness to driving."

The accident occurred shortly after midnight about a fifth of a mile north of the Country club road-Hope by-pass intersection northwest of Artesia.

Patrolman Bonine said Castillo's car went 244 feet on the left shoulder of the road, skidded 100 feet in a sideskid across the pavement, then skidded another 58 feet in the right ditch before overturning on its top.

The 1946 Mercury coupe was heavily damaged.

Castillo's speed at time of the accident was estimated at 65 miles an hour by the officer, who said the driver apparently did not touch his brakes.

Family Responsibility for Aged

THERE HAS AND WILL continue to be considerable comment about the expenditure of welfare funds for old age and other assistance for those having relatives and friends able to take care of these cases.

We know that in many instances sons and daughters are able to assist their parents, and yet they refuse to accept this responsibility. In such instances the law requires the welfare department to give assistance. That is all they can do.

Under the state law we are advised that only a father is held responsible to help care and provide for minor children. There is no other legislation requiring relatives to take care of their next of kin if they are able to do so.

Whether such a law would accomplish its purpose is not known. It is possible that in some instances it would but in other cases it wouldn't. Such a law might prevent the welfare being able to provide help and assistance if there were a relative responsibility law on the statute books.

It would be a far more ideal situation for children to accept some responsibility insofar as their parents are concerned.

In many instances children do aid and help their parents. However, in other cases children able to help and assist their parents do not accept this responsibility and they are perfectly willing for the welfare department to care for their parents.

This in this modern day of ours is a little hard to understand but most of us like to avoid responsibility and we also are all a little more or less selfish or greedy.

Most of us do agree that the welfare department has tremendous responsibility with its limited funds in aiding and helping those cases when no other aid and help is available. They would like to be relieved of the responsibility of aiding and helping those who should be helped by their relatives.

Certainly it will be a fine thing if and when social security covers all individuals and funds will be available. That will be at some future date.

But maybe the legislature should give some thought and attention at the next session to a relative responsibility law.

Those State Taxes

TAXES, WHETHER city, county, state, or federal, are always a subject of interest to every citizen. We all know that taxes are assessed on individuals, on property, on products, on merchandise and in other ways to meet the needs of citizens.

Taxes are collected to provide our schools, our city government, county, state, and federal government and to provide services.

Most of us, because we have to pay these taxes, are always ready to point out taxes are too high.

We don't believe we are so concerned about high taxes as we are concerned about getting a dollar's value for every dollar we spend. We just want to be sure that our tax dollars do the job they are supposed to do. We know we have too much waste, too much extravagance, and too much lack of efficiency and economy.

And if we complain loud enough and long enough we help to reduce all of this and it makes our tax dollars go farther.

However, during the past fiscal year, 1953, the State of New Mexico collected a total of $70,000,000. This based on 750,000 population shows that taxes collected amounted to $94 per capita annually or an average of $1.80 weekly for every man, woman and child in the state. These are the figures as compiled by the Taxpayers Association of New Mexico.

Of the $70,000,000 total more than $63,000,000 was collected by the state bureau of revenue in 1952-53. Bureau collections include $23,600,000 million in school (sales) tax; $17,500,000 in state gasoline taxes; $5,700,000 in motor vehicle taxes; and $4,700,000 in taxes on petroleum and mineral production in the state.

State income tax payments that year amounted to well over $3,000,000; tobacco taxes some $2,600,000; and liquor taxes, $1,700,000.

That is a great deal of money but it also costs plenty of money for us to run our state and its various departments. Even with the taxes we collect we are still short with funds for a good many institutions.

We as citizens want and expect the various services we are getting today. As a rule we want more money and more services but always less taxes. More money would be available to all of our various branches of our government when we eliminate waste and extravagance and bring about efficiency and economical operation.

Clovis, Amarillo Spit WT-NM Pair of Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. For just a little while Sunday, the Amarillo Gold Sox had wedged into a first place tie with Clovis in the West Texas-New Mexico league—but the Sox made the mistake of arousing veteran Pioneer hurler Red Dial.

The Sox took the first game of a doubleheader with Clovis, 8-1, with Len Ruyle defeating Dial. The win gave the teams a tie for the league lead.

Dykes to Try New Bat Order For Orioles

NEW YORK — Jimmy Dykes is going after Casey Stengel's title—the line-up-shuffling champion of the American league. Dykes tried out another new batting order yesterday at Yankee Stadium. It was No. 28 by unofficial count of the men who travel with his low-flying Baltimore Orioles.

"I've got a player—I won't mention any names—but no matter where I put him, he comes up with men on bases," said Dykes. "You could pull his name out of a hat and he'd be up there with two men on. I even tried him leading off. Then the catcher and pitcher got on base for him.

"Our hitting is just anemic. That's the trouble with us. No mystery about it. Look at the averages. We've scored fewer runs than any club in either league and it isn't even close.

"That poor Turley never gets any runs. The most he ever had with us or the Browns was three. Once this year I took him out for a pinch hitter in the eighth. We got four in the ninth and won 7-3 or something like that but he wasn't in there."

While Dykes moaned about his hitting—or lack of it—he gloved about his pitching staff.

"We haven't had more than three or four bad-pitched games yet. Turley is going to be a great

19-Year-Old to Fight Maxim in New York Tonight

NEW YORK — Floyd Patterson, 19-year-old unbeaten graduate of the Olympic rings, moves into the big time tonight to box Joey Maxim, former light-heavyweight champion of the world, in an eight-round match at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway.

The Brooklyn Negro will give away at least 10 pounds and years of experience to the cagey Maxim, who hasn't fought since he failed to win back his title from Archie Moore at Miami Jan. 27. Maxim, 32, is a 7-5 underdog.

Because Patterson is only 19, he is not allowed to fight more than eight rounds under New York law. Many think the short distance will be a handicap to Maxim, notably a slow starter.

Patterson has won 13 in a row, eight by knockouts, since he turned pro. He never has been matched with an opponent as clever as Maxim, No. 2 contender.

Maxim must come in at 177, give or take a pound, while Patterson

Chamber Chosen to Join Plan For Aid to Small Business

Artesia's Chamber of Commerce has been selected as one of only three cooperative offices of the U. S. department of commerce in New Mexico, Mgr. Paul W. Scott said Saturday.

The chamber office will join 900 cooperative offices throughout the United States in bringing to businessmen services offered by the department of commerce.

Special services for small business are stressed under the cooperative plan, Scott said.

Services include a booklet series with advice on how to start and operate every kind of small business, from a refrigeration and air conditioning service to a printing shop. The chamber will also give yearly business statistics, tips on merchandising for small business, and financial advice to pass on to businessmen.

Regular publications to be received by the chamber include a survey of current business, business service checklist, and a weekly report on foreign commerce.

Other such offices in New Mexico are at Roswell and Albuquerque.

"When we have material here a businessman is especially interested in," Scott said, "he may use it in the office, or we can obtain it for him at less than cost."

Scott said the U. S. department of commerce, a federal agency stressing small business assistance, investigated the Artesia chamber thoroughly before naming it a cooperative office.

"We agree to give widest possible publicity to material sent us by the agency," Scott said, "in return for receiving the huge volume of material offered to use. We are proud to have been named a cooperative office."

Since new offices are not generally being launched by the department, the Artesia chamber is especially honored by the appointment, Scott said.

It takes ten years to develop a new apple variety from a seed to a producing tree.

Mosquito is a Spanish word meaning "little fly."

The population of the world is increasing at a rate of about 1.4 per cent a year.

Strides in Toastmaster Club Work Reported at Area Meet

Great strides in speech training and education have been made in Area Three of the Toastmasters club, members were told here yesterday by their governor, Dick Smith of Carlsbad.

Smith was one of several speakers during the evening meeting of Toastmaster representatives at Artesia Country club.

More than 40 members, their wives, and guests were in attendance for the evening meeting, preceded by an area training session at the Artesia hotel.

Smith, who is governor of the area, including Roswell, Hobbs, Artesia, Carlsbad, Alamogordo and El Paso, complimented members on individual and group progress as evidenced by reports which had come to him.

He said six more such meetings would be held in the area and complimented Artesia members on the success of the local gathering.

Wallace Beck, president of the local club, president of P. Ruppert, served as toastmaster for the meeting, conducted as a regular Toastmaster meeting.

Hugh Calvert, Carlsbad, acted as topicmaster. His first question was directed at Paul Woodside, Lodi, Calif., a district governor of the Lodi area group.

Fire Line Is Completed Around Eagle Nest Blaze

EAGLE NEST — A fire line was complete today around an 800 acre blaze in Marino Valley on the Maxwell Land Grant, and officials said they believed if the calm weather held they could control the fire by nightfall.

At mid-morning, Ed Engstrom, district ranger, said, "There is too much hot line to call it controlled now, but we do expect to hold it today and establish control by tonight if present conditions prevail."

He said yesterday's wind of 50 miles an hour with gusts of "much greater" velocity had died down to a breeze of 20 miles an hour.

Engstrom said 170 firefighters were at the site, and 100 were on the fire line with others in reserve. He said that two crews of Taos Indians, one of Mesalero "Redhats" and two of Penasco's Spanish-American "Tortugas" were on the job.

He said the fire, which started yesterday, was in "very heavy logging slash and brush."

Regan Opposes Upper Colorado River Program

WASHINGTON — Rep. Ken Regan (D-Tex.) has come out with a statement strongly opposing the proposed Upper Colorado River reclamation project, recommended by the House interior committee of which he is a member.

Regan said the billion dollar project would create a "gigantic new federal hydro-electrical power empire" for the benefit of "infeasible, uneconomic" irrigation developments.

Only reason for building the three major dams involved, said Regan in his statement yesterday, "is to put the federal government into the power business to make money to subsidize the irrigation features of the immense project."

seven to nine cars stalled in two-to-three-foot drifts.

Their occupants doubled up with travelers in the last four or five cars escorted down from the 12,100 foot level by rescuers using snowplows. They reached Estes Park, eastern gateway to the park, shortly after 3 a. m.

He said none suffered serious effects from being marooned "except for the wear and tear on their nerves." Their names were not learned.

Charles Denton, owner of the company, said damage would be covered by insurance.

Joe Must Go Club Fails in Campaign

SAUK CITY, Wis. — The Joe Must Go club announced today it failed to obtain enough signatures on petitions to recall Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

The club issued a statement signed by its officers declaring the drive to secure signatures, which ended at midnight Saturday, did not reach the 403,904 signatures required by law.

The club did not report on the number of signatures it did obtain. The statement said that while the group failed to obtain the signatures it needed, it felt certain that.

Pickets Patrol Albuquerque Bus Station

ALBUQUERQUE — Pickets lined the street in front of the Albuquerque Continental bus station today, but buses of a subsidiary line continued to operate from the station.

Tourists-of-the-Week Find Artesia Rocks Interesting

Artesia proved to be fertile territory for the Paul M. Woodside of Lodi, Calif., to pursue Mrs. Woodside's favorite hobby—rock collecting.

The Woodside's were "arrested" Friday as Artesia's tourists-of-the-week.

Mrs. Woodside, an amateur gemologist, told Paul W. Scott, Chamber of Commerce manager, of her interest. Scott immediately began to find samples of local mineral ore, which include sulphur, Pecos River "diamonds," and potash, one of the Pecos Valley's richest sources of wealth.

The Woodside's were "arrested" under a Chamber of Commerce tourist-of-the-week program. Every week chamber representatives, riding in a police car, stop an out-of-state car and invite the tourists to remain overnight in Artesia as

Pickets Patrol Albuquerque Bus Station

ALBUQUERQUE — Pickets lined the street in front of the Albuquerque Continental bus station today, but buses of a subsidiary line continued to operate from the station.

Drivers of the non-struck Rocky Mountain division, running from Salt Lake City to Albuquerque, drove their vehicles to the station. Management took over and drove them into the station, then out and handed them back to the non-struck company.

The picket line was set up yesterday after the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen called the strike Saturday. Union sources said the strike was over a one-half-cent-a-mile wage cut and the transfer of 16 bus drivers living in Albuquerque from the Western division to the Central division.

Snow Traps Three Dozen Motorists In Colorado

ESTES PARK, Colo. — About three dozen motorists were rescued early today from a summer blizzard which trapped their cars on a trail Ridge Road high in the Rocky Mountain National Park.

Dist. Ranger Edward J. Kirk of the National Park Service said it was necessary, however, to leave guests of the city. The tourists are feted to a steak dinner, invited to attend local entertainment events for the evening, given overnight lodging, breakfast, and a full tank of gas—all on the house.

"The only catch to this," Scott told the Woodside's, "is that you have to tell people wherever you go about Artesia."

Scott and C of C Pres. Cecil Waldrep served as the Woodside's hosts, showing them attractions of this city of 12,000 in the fertile, irrigated Pecos Valley of South-eastern New Mexico.

The Woodside's didn't miss a chance to tell about their hometown of Lodi, where they own a hardware store, tokay grape vineyard, and juice plant producing grape juice concentrate. More than 90 per cent of the world's tokay grapes are raised in the Lodi area, Woodside said. Lodi is a city of 16,000 population.

The Woodside's are on vacation trip which brought them through Nevada and the Arizona Grand Canyon county to Artesia. The trip has given Mrs. Woodside an excellent opportunity to pursue her hobby of rock collection, cutting, and polishing.

From Artesia the couple continued on their vacation, planning to visit Carlsbad Caverns national park, 50 miles south of Artesia.

Hosts for the Woodside's stay in Artesia were Mac's Artesia room, Artesia hotel and Artesia hotel coffee shop, Guy Chevrolet Co., and Artesia theaters.

BIDS ASKED DENVER — The general services administration has invited bids on the construction of a new frame and corrugated iron shop building at the Deming purchase depot, Deming, N. M. Bids will be received until June 9 at regional office of the GSA, 41, Denver federal center.
