Erwin Clarifies County Land Use Committee Role on Roads

SANTA FE (AP)—State Highway Engineer C. O. Edwin said today there appears to be a lot of misunderstanding in Eddy county over how far the jurisdiction of the land-use planning committee goes.

The Carlsbad chamber has criticized the land use committee's refusal to put the Jal road high on the land use priority list.

Scott Reserves Comment On County Road Dispute

DALLAS (AP)—Paul W. Scott, Artesia Chamber of Commerce manager, says he will reserve comment until his return to Artesia on the action of the Eddy county land use committee in reversing a previous stand giving Artesia right-of-way money for an urban project.

Erwin said one point on which there has been misinterpretation is the allocation of $91,000 deobligation money in Eddy county.

Lawyer Accused As Red Schedules Appeal to Court

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS ... The New Mexico Board of Bar Examiners has twice refused to give an examination to an Albuquerque man partly because of its findings he formerly was connected with subversive organizations.

The portion of the Jal road in Eddy county is not on the secondary system, he said, although the part lying in Lea county was recently placed on that system.

County Eight, Forty Meeting Slated Friday

Eddy county saloon Eight and Forty will hold a 1 o'clock luncheon Friday at Norton hotel, Roswell, and will be followed by a business meeting in the home of Mrs. Leroy Walker, 201 W. Bland.

When the committee was originally set up, it was asked to consider farm-to-market roads primarily, Erwin said. The committee was also asked to consider other roads in the county—that is, primary roads.

White's Mother Dies Wednesday In Wisconsin

George P. White, 1009 Clayton, received word Wednesday that his mother, Mrs. Adeline White of Rice Lake, Wis., had died this morning after suffering a stroke a week ago.

"I have no doubt that the part in Eddy county could be put on that system if it were desired," Erwin added.

State Official Uninformed Of Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—New Mexico members of Congress were advised today by the agriculture department's drought relief committee that it has agreed to an emergency hay feed program for the state's farmers and ranchers.

The office of Rep. Dempsey (D-N.M.) said the program calls for the state and federal government to split transportation costs, up to $20 a ton, on emergency hay shipments to the state.

However, in Santa Fe, K. L. Scott, director of credit service for the USDA, told Gov. Mechem's office he was sure the program had not yet been approved despite Dempsey's statement.

State GOP Chief Meets With Local Republicans Here

State Republican Chairman Sonny Johns conferred with Artesia area Republican leaders on party organizational matters for the November general elections in a meeting here last night.

Meeting at the home of E. E. Kinney of Artesia, GOP county chairmen, Republican officials discussed recent campaign developments, but Johns indicated he would issue a statement later.

FBI Report Is Expected on Stolen Auto

Grouchy Snead Is Forced to Climb Tree in PGA

ST. PAUL, (AP)—Sam Snead, maneuvering with a sharp list to starboard and a grouchy look that was the natural result of a stiff neck, had to climb a tree on the 15th hole to make a reasonably good score in the first qualifying round of the 36th PGA championship.

Ed "Porky" Oliver, suffering from a painful kidney ailment that has forced him to drop out of several recent tournaments, held putts from all over the course for a five-under-par 66.

And 28 players shot 71 or better over the barren, un-hardened Keller course to turn the opening round of the nation's toughest test of professional golf into a race against par for the 64 available places in the match play bracket.

That was the story as 135 of America's leading pro golfers headed into today's qualifying second round of the PGA tournament with the prospect that a 36-hole total of 146 or better would be needed to get into the showdown stage of match play, starting tomorrow.

Snead's "shot" from a post oak tree was the high spot of the opening round in which the pros took Keller's par of 36-35-71 to pieces, just as had been predicted. The real business of the tournament begins tomorrow when 64 golfers buckle down to head-to-head matches. There'll be two rounds of 18 hole duels Friday.

Rebel All-Stars rule as favorites in the game. Boasting a pitching and hitting edge in season statistics, the South squad, managed by Abilene pilot Jay Haney, should win its eighth game and its sixth since the All-Star series was resumed after World War II.

The North has won the past two games, at Clovis in 1952 by a 12-3 score and at Lubbock last year, 7-3. The North will be managed by Clovis' Grover Seitz who is seeing action in his eighth All-Star contest—his fifth as manager. Seitz piloted the South to a 10-8 win over the Yanks the last time the game was held at Amarillo in 1947.

Clovis Pioneers Regain Top Spot In WT-NM Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Clovis Pioneers regained the West Texas-New Mexico league lead Wednesday night from the Pampa Oilers. They now are one game ahead of the Oilers. The Pioneers tromped on Plainview 6-1, and Amarillo collected a double win from the Oilers 4-3 and 7-2.

In the other games, the Lubbock Hubbers, riding the bottom rung in league standings, edged Albuquerque 4-3.

At Pampa, George Payte, relieved in the sixth by Len Ruyle, got credit for the first Amarillo victory. In the second game, Jim Clarich went the distance to rack up the win, striking out 10.

Payte got in trouble several times before Ruyle relieved him, but two double plays and a spectacular catch by centerfielder John Rucker saved the game.

A triple with two out in the bottom of the ninth by Frank Karwoski gave Lubbock its decision over Albuquerque.

Veteran Firefighter, Chief Albert Richards Recalls Big Artesia Fires, Battle for Equipment

When the telephone company plugs in those big fire sirens Artesia citizens can be pretty sure competent men who know what they're doing are handling the big red trucks.

Albert Richards who, for the past 39 years has been connected with the Artesia fire department—22 years as its chief—has a whole raft of experience in fire-fighting to draw from.

Richards can recall when the fire department in Artesia was composed of a couple of hose carts which carried about 1,500 feet of hose each. They had to be pulled by hand. It usually took around eight men to pull them, and most of the time there were only about nine men on the force.

He says they couldn't take the carts past the city limits because there were only about eight plugs and they were nearly all on Main street. "Sometimes we couldn't even get to the plug shortage," he said.

Richards said the plugs carried about 50 pounds of pressure in those days. The carts were kept in a building that was situated behind what is now Williams Furniture store.

He said the fire station, then where the city police are now, was a short distance from the fire alarm—a bell hung in a tower in a building where Dr. Cox had his office, the old Telephone building.

Richards recalls "usually someone from the telephone office would ring the bell in case of fire but sometimes whoever located it would go swing on the weighted bell."

THE FIRST siren was located on the corner of the Ward building in 1894. That one now is behind the police station and another one, obtained from Pecos AFB after the last war, is situated on the city's warehouse.

The first mobile unit obtained by the local force was a Reo Speedwagon, bought in 1923. Richards said it was the darling of the force. It would hold 3 gallons of water for blaze fighting.

A Ford truck was obtained in 1936 and a Seagrave, the last one off the assembly line before the switch to war production, was purchased in 1941. Another Ford, a high-pressure 600 gallon pumper contracted for in 1952, rounds out the present complement of three service vehicles operated by the department.

Richards said, with a smile, the force has been after another new 750-gallon pumper for a couple of years but explained "it takes a good deal of lobbying to get the city to move. The new one would be used to help set up a sub-station in southern Artesia, another project the local department has been after for some time.

Richards, in displaying the present fire building, said members of the department laid the floor and put up the acoustical ceiling themselves. They have been in the modern building since 1949.

WHEN QUESTIONED about the longest run the trucks have been taken on, Richards said a trip up to Roswell during the war was probably the longest. A big fire in the city was put under control just before the Artesia pumps arrived.

Richards said the biggest local fire with the greatest loss was probably in the old Bullock warehouse, on the corner of First and Main. Another which needed all available help was in the old hay barn which was located about where Cox Motor now stands.

The Artesia fire department, recognized as one of the best in the state, has an rescuator which is credited with saving about seven lives to date. The instrument was paid for by members hauling scrap iron and turning over the proceeds to the department.

Richards said the force also has a portable iron lung that can be hatched up to a six-volt battery or a 11-volt line. It hasn't been used yet but Richards says the force is fortunate in having one that can be put into use when the occasion demands.

An indication of the high rating Richards and his force are given is evidenced in the fact that the fire department here has the lowest insurance rates that can be obtained by a volunteer fire department.

Chief Richards and his 18-man volunteer force have made their presence felt in the good service they have rendered the area in the past. The organization is a credit to Artesia and its long-time chief.

day approved, 238-170, a sliding scale of price floors ranging from 82 1/2 to 90 per cent of parity for five basic crops—wheat, corn, cotton, rice and peanuts. A general farm bill—of which the price support section was a key part—was passed on a voice vote.

Advocates of high, unvarying supports have contended the President's program might cut drastically into farmers' income. Benson countered in a nationwide broadcast earlier this week that that isn't so.

Aiken said in a separate interview that "actually the compromise did not mean much" and that it was designed "largely to counteract propaganda."

House acceptance of the flexible support principle was regarded as an administration victory, even though the range approved was only half the 75-90 per cent sought by President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson. The compromise was offered with the backing of House Republican leaders.

Parity is a farm price standard said by law to be fair to growers in relation to their costs. Commenting on the House development, Young said in an interview a bipartisan Senate bloc backing continued rigid supports at 90 per cent of parity probably is stronger than the House coalition that was beaten on the issue.

BUT, YOUNG WONDERED: "Are we strong enough to win?" The price support issue promises to play a major role in the November struggle between the Democrats and Republicans for control of Congress.

Congress in 1949 voted to switch to flexible price supports from the high, rigid system which has been in effect since early World War II days. However, the changeover has been postponed from time to time and now is due to become operative at the end of the 1954 crop year.

The House agriculture committee had voted to continue 90 per cent supports for another year. So did the Senate agriculture committee. But the house group's recommendations were upset yesterday.

THE EISENHOWER-BENSON concept is that supports should be lowered to discourage production in times of abundance and raised to spur farm output in scarcity periods.

The administration has voiced concern over mounting surpluses—now totaling 6 1/2 billion dollars in value—bulging government storehouses. The surpluses have been collected under high-level price support operations.

Coupled with the price support features of the farm bill is a provision calling for a "set aside" of 2 1/2 billion dollars worth of these backed-up surpluses for relief, foreign aid, stockpiling and other purposes. This was recommended by the administration as a device for easing the price-depressing effects of the government-held other basic crops would have been supported at from 82 to near 90 per cent under the Eisenhower program."

Aiken said the Senate agriculture committee has agreed to meet Wednesday to complete its farm bill. He said the measure should reach the Senate by next weekend or the following Monday.

The Vermont senator said a House-approved plan to boost supports on dairy products to 80 per cent of parity "has some merit." This would be 5 per cent above the level fixed by Secretary Benson on April 1. Commenting further on provisions in the House bill, Aiken said a "two price wheat plan seems unworkable."

Under that plan, wheat farmers would vote whether (A) to continue under direct price supports or (B) to change to a system designed to give them 100 per cent of parity on wheat sold for domestic consumption, with the rest of their output unsupported for feed or export at world prices.

CONSTRUCTION DEMONSTRATION ENDS IN DISASTER

A 300-TON concrete roof slab rests on a squashed truck and eight men are suffering injuries as result of this demonstration of new construction technique in San Mateo, Calif. One was injured, and the seven on top were injured. The construction process consists of pouring the roof into forms directly on top of the floor slab, then hauling it upward and into place with hydraulic lifts. (International Soundphoto)

Senator Sees Rosy Future For Farm Bill

By EDWIN B. HASKINSON
WASHINGTON — (AP)—Senate supporters of the Eisenhower flexible farm price support program took heart today after a notable administration victory in the House.

"We are well on the way to completing a farm bill that the President can accept," said Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) chairman of the Senate agriculture committee.

At the same time, Senate advocates of continued high, rigid price props for basic field crops argued that the House bill for the moment at least—by House approval yesterday of farm legislation embodying the flexible principle, although in a narrower range than that sought by the administration.

Sen. Young (R-ND), a leader of the high support faction in the Senate, conceded he was "greatly surprised" by the 58-vote margin by which the House late yester-

Lovington Man Appeals Ruling By Bar Board

SANTA FE — For 1 1/2 years Harry C. Henington of Lovington has been seeking to take the state's bar examinations and the board of bar examiners has refused to let him.

Furthermore, the board says, it will continue to refuse until Henington complies with state requirements that the applicant be a graduate of a law school approved by the American Bar Assn. and can present a New Mexico attorney's certificate saying the applicant is of good moral character.

Now the scrap is in the courts. Dist. Judge Robert E. Fox commanded the board to give Henington the examination or show cause why it should not do so.

Atty. Gen. Richard H. Robinson, in his answer to the court, contended the District Court lacks jurisdiction in the case and could not issue the order.

Henington maintains the two provisions are unconstitutional.

WHEN will we find a real CURE for CANCER?

ONE BY ONE, most of man's natural enemies have become only bitter memories.

HOW ABOUT CANCER? THE TRUTH is that this terrible disease can already be completely cured in about half of the cases . . . if caught in time.

THE OTHER HALF can be helped. They cannot yet—be saved.

RESEARCH aimed at a final, complete solution to the cancer problem is proceeding as fast as available funds permit. Last year, with the help of $5 million allocated by the American Cancer Society from donations made by Americans everywhere, encouraging progress was made.

BUT "ENCOURAGING PROGRESS" is not enough. More money is needed. After all, $5 million is less than four cents per American per year. When your American Cancer Society Volunteer calls on you, this year, won't you please try to manage a really generous contribution? A big check, if you please . . . it's really needed!

Entry Deadline—

(Continued from Page One) firms may choose their own contestants to enter in the contest or they may sponsor one of the candidates who enters the contest through registering directly with the sorority.

The voting will begin at noon next Thursday, July 29, and continue for two weeks until Aug. 11, first day of the rodeo. The girl receiving the most penny votes will be declared winner.

She will be crowned with a Stetson hat, lead rodeo grand entries, and receive a host of gifts from Artesia merchants.

Rains Drench—

(Continued from Page One) "We have to plant. It is a gamble that another rain will fall. It is a gamble that another early frost won't catch us as it has the past two years.

"If we lose, it means the farmer would be out the price of another planting, and he already has borrowed two, three and four times for plantings. But we have to take the chance."

The rains were not general, falling largely south and west of Portales and depositing from .8 to 2 inches in that area. But at Rodgers the dust still blew.

Farmers in the belt that received the rain, however, today surveyed their bare, drenched lands and figured their chances of another late planting.

Earlier in the day it had been a grim story that was poured into the governor's ears as he held two-hour question and answer session with farmers and ranchers.

He was told that only through the emergency feed program has some 1,109 Roosevelt county dairymen and ranchers been able to keep in operation, and that without the separate feed could not last the winter.

Farmers stressed that after borrowing money for two or three years to plant crops that were never harvested, they will be unable to finance cover crops.

But they were taking a more hopeful attitude today, planning to start planting a late crop as soon as they can get in the fields.

Sage to End—

Motorized strength has swelled in the past year, he said, with 992 wheeled units scheduled to pass in a motorized review on Governor's Day. These include guns, trailers and other military vehicles.

Sage will have completed about 35 years of service when he yields the command. Thirty-three years of that have been with the New Mexico's famed 200th Coast Anti-Aircraft Artillery which fought on Bataan in 1942. ## Builder Declares Housing Officials Launched Scandal

WASHINGTON — A Los Angeles builder told investigating senators today that Federal Housing Administration officials taught builders exactly how to profit from a postwar government-backed housing program without putting up "any capital."

The witness, Arthur B. Weber, said he couldn't remember the name of the FHA man he said came from Washington to tell him and others builders how to make money from the government program.

Weber, testifying under oath, said that he cleared $387,543 on two projects and later sold his interest in them for an additional profit of $125,000.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) chairman of the Senate banking committee which is conducting the housing investigation, asked Weber: "Do you feel that you were promoted in this" by the FHA? Weber replied: "There is no question about that. Frankly, I wish I had never seen them. We acted in good faith. Our hands were tied."

Dempsey Deplores Piecemeal U.S. Highway Program

WASHINGTON — The proposal to spend 50 billion dollars in federal funds on roads would be far less than the aggregate wasted each year in highway accidents on "deplorably inadequate" roads, Rep. Dempsey (D-NM) said today.

He said the American highway problem today is on a national scale rather than only state-wide. Dempsey warned thinly-populated states to be on guard against demands for the federal government to move out of the highway picture.

The proposal, submitted by the National Governor's Conference to President Eisenhower, had received opposition from state governors in heavily populated states.

Dempsey said the comment from those governors indicated their desire to get rid of the bureau of public roads.

Three Are Killed In Fireworks Plant Explosion

CRANBURY, N. J. — State police said at least three persons were killed and three seriously injured in an explosion and fire at the Unexcelled Chemical Co. fireworks plant today.

bers constituted the unit when it was started.

THE ORGANIZATION HAS grown rapidly. In 18 months it has skyrocketed from 43rd to fourth spot in the nation in the ratio of its personnel to authorized strength.

In May the guard numbered 3,090 officers and men, or 68.9 per cent of its authorized strength of 4,480. At the end of June, Sage said, the guard stood at 71.9 per cent of its authorized strength. But national rankings are not yet available.

The new building has given the Center more room to work in and spread out. The firm has about three times as much space as it had at the old location, allowing much more show room and more complete facilities. A model electric kitchen is a special feature of the new appliance center.

State GOP—

"The real issues are whether or not the American people are going to stand any longer for the disruption of orderly governmental processes that Sen. McCarthy represents; whether Sen. McCarthy is going to be permitted to encroach upon the executive prerogative; whether he is going to be permitted to destroy the constitutional relationship between the executive and legislative branches of government; whether he is going to be permitted to undermine the Bill of Rights."

Erwin Clarifies—

(Continued from Page 1) "Everybody in the state has a right to study the road network and to give us recommendations," Erwin said. "We're glad of the interest and those folks are certainly entitled to know the answers to these questions."

At least eight persons were treated at the scene. The blast, heard two miles away and followed by a mushroom-shaped white cloud, blew up a galvanized iron building and knocked another smaller structure of its foundation. The victims were believed to have been working in the wrecked building.

Fined For Intoxication NM Lawyer—

JAMES R. WOOSLEY, Lake Arthur, was fined $20 this morning by Justice of Peace John Ellicott on a charge of being drunk in a public place. Woosley was picked up last night about 6:40 p. m. by city police.

The Board of Bar Examiners denied his application for examination "for the reason that taking into consideration the use of aliases by the applicant, his former connection with subversive organizations, and his record of arrests, he has failed to satisfy the board as to the requisite moral character for admission to the bar of New Mexico."

The original action was by the board on Feb. 22 in Albuquerque on July 16, it held a special meeting at which Schwarc and Dunleavy appeared and ruled "after due consideration of the evidence introduced, the board was of the unanimous opinion that the former determination should stand and affirmed its former action."

Schwarc said he voluntarily gave full details of his past to the university on entering school, on his application to the State Supreme Court and to the bar examiners, saying "there was no attempt to hide anything."

disburse funds for the total amount of the claim for the freight and would be reimbursed by the federal government for 50 per cent of the amount paid or ten dollars per ton, whichever was less.

After getting the hay, the farmer or rancher in order to receive assistance in the payment of freight charges must submit to the state a claim on an approved form. The claim must be supported by a notarized affidavit by the venter certifying to amount sold, price and origin of the hay; bonded scale tickets showing amount of hay delivered; a statement from the trucker certifying to the number of miles the hay was hauled, and a copy of the drought feed application as approved by the county committee of the farmers home administration.

TO BE ELIGIBLE for assistance under the hay program as proposed by the state, the farmer or rancher would have to apply through his county FHA committee for the amount of hay to be bought under the program. The application would have to be approved before he bought the hay.

The amount of hay purchased under the program for which assistance on freight costs would be given must not exceed ten pounds per animal unit per day, the committee said, and would apply only to the number of animal units in the foundation herd.

Western Nations—

meeting is expected shortly. The agreement was reached, these officials said, among Secretary of States Dulles, Undersecretary Walter Bedell Smith, British Foreign Secretary Eden and others at Geneva after it became certain that the righting in Indochina would be ended by negotiated peace with the Communists.

Some officials told a reporter the meeting probably will be held some place in the Asian area and that the level of representations—Foreign Ministers or persons of lesser rank—is yet to be determined.

The United States originally proposed that 10 nations make up the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. They were the United States, Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, the Philippines and the Indochinese states of Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

The British wanted to bring in as many additional Asian nations as possible, including India, Burma and Pakistan.
