Artesia Polio Attack Is Running Over 'Normal' Rate for New Mexico

Health Official Says City May Have Epidemic

SANTA FE — State Health Director Gerald Clark was asked whether the recent polio outbreak in Artesia, where six cases have been reported since July 24 could be classed as an epidemic.

THE ERNEST BURRIS family of West of Artesia escaped serious injury when their car overturned west of Hope Sunday afternoon after a tire blew out. Car was extensively damaged.

Military Junks, Motor Boats Sunk By Shells

TAIPEH, Formosa — Chinese Nationalist warplanes struck at Communist shipping along the China coast today and the defense ministry said a Red gunboat, more than 100 wooden military junks and five motorized vessels were damaged.

Identification of the junks as military craft could indicate the Reds were massing an invasion fleet for an attack on Quemoy, but there was no official confirmation.

Quemoy, Nationalist island outpost just off Amoy opposite Formosa, has been under intermittent Communist artillery attack since Friday, when the Reds bombed it for five hours.

The defense ministry said Nationalist bombers struck today at Wuyu Island and Chihmei on the mainland coast within artillery range of Quemoy and at nearby Amoy, a major Red base.

Warships joined in the attack for the second day, the announcement said, adding that Red fire-power on Amoy was crippled. Intermittent anti-aircraft fire stopped entirely during the attack, the ministry said.

Pilots said dense clouds of smoke billowed for 40 minutes from White Stone fortress and for 25 minutes from East fortress, two major strongpoints at Amoy.

Fires also were reported on Tantung, a small island within gun range of Quemoy. All planes returned safely to the ministry said.

It was the second consecutive day that warships have shelled Amoy, big island base seven miles from Quemoy. Other attacks were aimed at Wuyu and nearby small islands from which the Reds have fired at Quemoy.

Labor Forces Are Said Moving to Aid Stockton

ALBUQUERQUE — The Albuquerque Tribune said today that a "large segment" of organized labor in Albuquerque and forces of U. S. Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-NM) have openly swung to support of Republican candidate for governor, Alvin Stockton.

Stockton appeared first at a labor union picnic in Albuquerque as the only invited state candidate of either party. The picnic was sponsored by the Hotel, Restaurant and Bartenders local, the Hod Carriers local and the Common Carriers local in Albuquerque. The fact Stockton was the only candidate invited was interpreted by some as meaning the support of these unions would go to the Republican candidate.

During the past year in civic improvement campaigns, the division has worked with Eddy county safety council, the governor's traffic committee, and other interested groups on numerous projects; requested a traffic flow count on principal streets; followed up the organization of the city planning commission, worked with the city council on a need for recreational program; and worked with the Community Chest on its campaign.

The division has also provided office space for the Mutual Concert Assn. membership drive; cooperated in investigating the district youth home project; cooperated with the Artesia Library on the adult education program; and will sponsor a clean-up, paint-up, and fix-up week.

The highway committee has pushed for additional paving on state highway 83 in the Mayhill area; recommended and worked for the sealing of 54.5 miles north, south, east, and west of Artesia; worked for the completion of work on curves on the Hope road; obtained right-of-way money for the

First street urban project; and is pushing for start of the urban project; continuing work on the oil field cut-off road; and met with the state highway commission and other highway groups five times.

In the education field, the division has cooperated with the school system on sponsoring the pre-school conference; and is planning a business-education day in the fall.

A government affairs committee has been organized to study those actions from the Artesia angle.

Under transportation and communication, the civic division has contacted Continental Airlines and requested a traffic forecast; attended three meetings on the need for revision of freight rates; and helped investigate the need for revision of state corporation commission.

In flood control planning, the division has worked with the Army engineers and congressmen for flood control project in the Artesia area.

Fire prevention progress has been made in organizing a fire prevention committee and successfully requesting a fire prevention survey for 1955.

LAKE ARTHUR NEWS— Luncheon Held in Honor Of Mrs. Carrol Jackson, Sr.

By MRS. RAY PATE

Mrs. Carroll Jackson, Jr., prepared a sumptuous luncheon on Thursday noon honoring her mother-in-law, Mrs. Carroll Jackson, Sr., on her birthday. Guests present at the affair were Carroll Jackson, Sr., Carroll Jackson, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Jackson and their children.

Fried chicken and assortment of appropriate dishes, ice cream and a birthday cake holding candles were served by the hostess, Mrs. Jackson, Jr.

Week-end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Nihart were a daughter and son-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. Don Wineinger and daughters, Betty and Jean of Delhi, La.; another daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Chandler and children, Skipper and Mike of Elida; and a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Nihart and two daughters, Beth and Pam of Elida.

Mrs. May McDonald returned on Friday from a three week visit to her childhood home in Butler, Pa. While visiting her sister, Mrs. A.

Mrs. W. W. Needham entered St. Mary's hospital, Roswell, Sunday night and Monday morning she underwent major surgery. Her attending physicians stated that she was resting as comfortable as could be expected immediately following the operation.

Visitors in the home of Mrs. May Gromo Friday were Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Kirby and Jimmie of Santa Fe. Mr. Kirby, who is blind and has been most of his life, is employed by the division of service for the blind in the state department.

His chief purpose is to show blind folks how to dial a phone, how to operate the talking book record machines which they furnish, how to travel around, teach them Braille, and all types of handicraft.

He replaced Mrs. Gromo's talking book machine and also taught her to thread a needle.

He derives a great deal of pleasure in this rehabilitation work. Value of his accomplishments cannot be expressed in mere words.

Harris Is Certain Dean Stone Best Rookie of Senators

WASHINGTON — He doesn't own a ouija board or a crystal ball, but Bucky Harris is smiling these days over a prediction he made in spring training at Orlando, Fla.

The manager of the Senators picked young Dean Stone, south paw hurler, as his best rookie. So far Stone has come through according to Harris' forecast. By July 4 he had a 7-1 record, the best on the Washington staff, and was named to the All-Star team by Casey Stengel.

In the spring Harris said: "Stone has demonstrated a lot of courage with some fine clutch pitching. He has the size I like in a pitcher. He's 6 feet 4 and weighs 205. The boy is only 23 and he has the enthusiasm and willingness that I like in a young ball player."

"Keep this boy in mind he's got the ability."

Last season with Chattanooga (Class AA) of the Southern Assn. Darrah Dean Stone fanned 107 in 165 innings. In 1952 with Charlotte of the Class B Tri-State League the big lefthander pitched two no-hitters.

Any wonder Bucky is all grins when someone says "a stone's throw from home plate?"

Texas Is Chosen Overwhelming Southwest Leader

FORT WORTH, (AP)—If Texas doesn't win the Southwest conference football championship this fall it'll be just about the greatest upset in history.

The annual poll of the Texas Christian University Sports Service, which takes in all the sports writers and sports casters of the region, shows 68 of 78 to have selected the Longhorns to parade to the title.

Rice got two votes, Baylor two and Rice and Baylor each was granted a tie by three writers. Even in that case, the tie would be with Texas.

In 21 years of polling, the TCU Sports Service found this to be the most overwhelming in favor of one team.

Ranking them in the order of finish, on a point basis, the writers picked them like this:

1. Texas
2. Rice
3. Baylor
4. Southern Methodist
5. Texas Christian
6. Arkansas
7. Texas A&M

Southern Methodist was given two votes for second, Arkansas got two thirds and A&M and TCU one third each.

Picture Frames Make Fine Trays

AP Newsfeatures

A picture frame makes a fine tray.

An attractive bottom can be formed in various ways. One is a clear glass pane secured by thin molding on the back. Or a colorful picture can be used under the glass. By using a backing of tempered hardboard you can lay colored tiles or a sheet of marbled plastic for the bottom—plastic laminate of the kitchen counter type.

Gordon Oberg, industrial designer, suggests using an unfinished modern frame of oak or ash in required size. His instructions for finishing such a frame follow:

Sand the bare wood smooth with fine production paper and dust thoroughly. For a pickled finish, apply a coat of white shellac enamel, dip a rag in alcohol and rub off the surplus, leaving the pigment in the pores of the wood.

When this has dried, rub it lightly with fine steel wool and dust it again. Then apply two coats of 5-pound pure white shellac, cut half and half with alcohol. Let the last coat dry overnight.

Greer's Triple Saves Playoff Game for Rockets in Twelfth

CARLSBAD. (P)—Stubby Greer's clutch triple in the 12th inning provided Roswell's Rockets with the winning run, and a gambling defensive move in the bottom of the frame preserved a 4-3 victory for the Rockets over the Carlsbad Potashers in the opening game of play-offs here Monday night.

We Produce That Beef

THE CATTLEMEN of New Mexico need help. Practically every county group is now organizing and launching a campaign to convince us we should buy and use more beef. Eddy county beef producers and cattlemen are working with the state cattlemen's association on such a program.

They are urging that we of North Eddy county and Artesia join hands with them in encouraging buying, using and eating of more beef to help create a greater demand, to help hold their market and prices or perhaps to improve this market.

The droughts in our state have been a little rough on the cattlemen because no moisture has meant no pasture. This has meant that the cattlemen have been forced to purchase feed for their livestock.

New Mexico cattlemen and others have gone along now during these dry years and taken what came their way. It hasn't been easy or pleasant.

Now with some moisture in the state it is hoped we will have more and we will have pastures.

But the cattlemen need to move beef now. They certainly want a fair price for their product. And there is one way that this can be done—for us to buy and use more beef and create a demand. By doing this we can help improve their market and we can help hold prices for them.

After all, these cattle raisers go along from year to year and provide us with the wonderful meat we enjoy. We take it all for granted and always figure there will always be plenty of beef because there always has been.

But cattlemen are in business like anyone else. If they can't make money from the production then they can't remain in business very long. They are not saying this—we are saying it for them.

And so if we want to continue to enjoy the wonderful beef we have in our nation—some of the finest in the world—and if we want to show our appreciation for the fine job the cattlemen have done for us we can best do that now by eating and using more beef.

Our stores can feature beef and we can call for now and we can buy more beef and we can help improve the market and we can help hold prices on beef produced by our own cattlemen and ranchers.

We are sure that we are grateful and appreciative of the fine job they do in producing fine meat for us and we will answer their plea.

OUR READERS WRITE—

Liquor Establishments Violate Closing Hours

Editor, Artesia Advocate, Artesia, New Mexico.

Dear Sir:

My attention has been called to the fact that for the last several years, the liquor establishments in the city limits have been closing at 11:00 p. m. on weekdays and at midnight on Saturdays, and Artesia residents have been quite grateful to these business owners for their nice cooperation in attempting to curb drunkenness, drunk driving and generally, cooperating with the law enforcement agencies in this vicinity.

I am sure that the police officers will vouch that their early closing certainly minimized crimes that would, otherwise, might have been committed.

However, for the last few weeks, we have had a local tavern that remains open till after the hours mentioned above.

I certainly hope that the other establishment do not start doing the same thing and remaining open until 2 a. m. every night and returning to the "Wild and Woolly" days. On the contrary, they should get together and work for the betterment of their business.

Being as it is, the liquor dealers are subject to some rather severe criticism, which in many instances is certainly not deserving, and it is my personal opinion that if they go back to the old days and remain open till the wee hours of the morning, this will be but another step from the anti-liquor people towards a local option election. You, liquor dealers, get together!

Both the candidates talked about workmen's compensation and minimum wage laws.

Simms declared that the old "trickle down" theory of economics for the average man is back with Republicans state and national administrations and charged that the forgotten man of the 1930s is again being forgotten.

He accused the state Republican administration of taking no positive steps to "see that Mr. Average Citizen has and holds a job, that payrolls remain stable, that industry is diversified so that wide fluctuations between prosperity and depression will be modified, that our existing industries prosper so that their employees may prosper as well."

HE PLEDGED also to strengthen the state labor department "for the protection of labor and for the protection of the public in general."

BREEZIN' AROUND— Apathetic 35 Per Cent Of Voters Possess Power

By JESS TRUETT

The season is rapidly approaching when all candidates will be spilling for every one to get out and vote. We notice this spied had been in order in past elections and often wonder why the necessity.

Let's use a little horse sense and check into the matter for a theory. We will concede 50 per cent of the qualified voters are interested in most elections on their investigations of candidates, their qualifications, and loyalty to government. This percentage usually go to the polls on their own initiative, which is considered a good turnout, especially, in off-year elections.

Too often this 50 per cent constitutes a majority of voters in most elections.

Fifteen per cent of the registered voters are not merely tacticians for legitimate reasons, but stay away from the polls for petty reasons. They don't like the way certain candidates let their dog run loose in his neighborhood, maybe the candidate came to town and did not phone them or write them in advance, or maybe he does not like the candidate's Uncle Charley because he sold him a cow one time that had spoiled milk glands.

Maybe this 15 per cent put a chip on their shoulder at their 21st birthday and have never taken it off. Maybe when they go to church, they enjoy having the preacher mention their name complimentarily. When they go to their local post office, none others are to be served except them, and that if others are present, they are trespassing.

Maybe they take similar attitudes toward the candidates of their party for unknown reasons and vote against him for spite or stay away from the poles for similar reasons. When past administrations are not so successful, and times are a bit hard in the minds of this 15 per cent, they begin to yell for a change and help to create so-called landslides.

In past elections, 65 per cent is considered an excellent vote for landslides. Now what about the 35 per cent of registered voters not yet mentioned. Why are they not at the polls on election days. When you ask them why, usually you get an answer similar to the following.

They do not know the candidates, or they have not read or heard much about them, therefore, they have no choice, then their vote would not count much any way as they view it. They are too busy in their shops or on the farms attending emergencies, or they heard their boss in the office, store or shop is for the other fellow for whom they cannot go along, and they are afraid of irritating the boss.

They complain that the politicians have held their conventions, caucuses, and the required committee meetings to decide on the candidates and strategy to be used, and that these meetings were railroaded by politicians for personal gain and that they were neither consulted nor considered.

Now as we view the situation, this 35 per cent interested voter plus what may be persuaded to vote from the 15 per cent "doubtfuls" is the majority in any election, while the tactician 35 per cent is the minority and the vote the candidates need to reach for reasons of interest in better government.

How can it be done? One suggestion would be to have county candidates set up a county itinerary working in conjunction with itineraries of the top party candidates that the issues may be laid squarely before the voters of this group in every precinct and country store in the county.

It is true, some county candidates do not have opposition after their party primaries and are more than satisfied to free ride the general elections. Occasionally, a few county candidates who do not have opposition in the general elections, are loyal to their party in financial assistance to their state organizations equal to the cost of making campaigns with opposition, while others keep their purses closed to their party organizations, expecting them to carry the financial load in their respective counties.

After all, the entire blame for the practice of apathy should not be placed on the 35 per cent registered voters. Let party leaders accept their portion of the blame for not bringing political issues direct to these voters to the extent they may feel assured they are being considered and have important parts in governmental and political affairs much so as many one, even to the political strategist.

When this is done, the ballyhoo to get out and vote would not be a necessity. When this 35 per cent is made to feel their importance in the political world and exercise

Archbishop Warns New Mexico Group Reds Menace U.S.

ALBUQUERQUE — Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, warned an Albuquerque audience yesterday against "Communist treacheries sweeping across the world, marring and despoiling the face of free America."

The noted Catholic prelate, speaking at a luncheon after dedicating a chapel at the Newman Center, Catholic center for University of New Mexico students, warned of appealing Russia with a Soviet peace.

"We shall ourselves be guilty of contributing to our country's destruction," he said, "if we do not protect her against lustborn hates of communistic treacheries."

"It is not in defense of my faith that I condemn atheistic Communism, but as an American in defense of my country," he continued.

"If Russia truly wants peace," the cardinal said, "let her not in stubborn blindness vengefully oppose the principles of justice for which America is still fighting."

POSTAL HEADACHE

BOSTON — Every summer it's the same. The Boston post office is haunted by Indians.

Chemquasabamcoicok, Ronkonkoma, Minnewaska, Passadumkeag—New England lakes named by Indians long ago. People go there on vacation and friends write to them there, often without even naming the state. What's more, the friends even misspell the names.

Nobody ever writes to anybody at Lake Chargoggogomanchanagogochauungungamaag, however. Everybody seems to agree—according to the postal clerks—that it's easier to use the English name of this Massachusetts resort: Lake Webster.

HIGHWAY EXPANSION

TOKYO — Japan plans to build a super highway between Tokyo and Kobe in western Japan, financing the project through toll charges.

This was disclosed by the Construction Ministry, which said 5,700 miles of highways will be built under a five-year plan financed by a gasoline tax. The ministry said only 20 per cent of Japan's roads were suitable for vehicular traffic.

SHE'S FOR THEM

LANSING, Mich. — Mrs. Julia M. Emery says that about women in politics:

They can't be pushed around politically; they don't make long-winded speeches when they have nothing to say, and they're generally brighter than men and they pay more attention to business.

Mrs. Emery, 74, a member of the Connecticut legislature, is founder of the National Order of Women Legislators. She had spent 30 years in politics.

WRONG TELEPHONE

CHARLESTON, S. C. — Belgian Sailor M. A. LeBrun spied what he thought was a sidewalk telephone while his ship was in port here. He put in a call.

The response was terrific. Every fire department vehicle in the vicinity showed up like magic with sirens wailing.

Noting the obvious harassment and embarrassment of the stranger, fire department officials decided not to prosecute him for turning in a false alarm.

Artesia Boy Runner-Up in Essay Contest

Patricia Copeland, Amistad, N. M., has been named state winner in the 1953-54 nation-wide essay contest on "Building Fertility to Cut Farm Costs." Miss Copeland received $50, first place award at the Las Vegas Zone meeting of supervisors of Soil Conservation Districts last week.

Runners-up in the contests were Larry Brewton, Artesia, and Robert Elkins, Farmington. Brewton will receive the second place award of $25, Elkins, a certificate of award for placing third in the contest.

The youth essay contest is sponsored by the National Grange and the American Plant Food Council. Hershel D. Newsom, master of the National Grange, and Paul T. Tritt, president of the American Plant Food Council, praised the work of the state and local winners in emphasizing the importance of maintaining, replenishing, and increasing the fertility of the land.

"Widespread interest in this project," they said, "is reassuring evidence that the young men and women of our country are not only concerned about conservation farming in relationship to abundant living, but are doing something about it."

Awards to the second and third place contestants will be presented by L. C. Brown, state extension conservationist, at zone meetings of soil conservation district supervisors.

New Mexico Crop Of Turkeys High, Prices to Lower

New Mexico's turkey crop will be about 5 per cent less this year than last, says J. Z. Rowe, extension economist at New Mexico A&M college. But, in the U. S. crop will be a record this year according to a preliminary estimate by the crop reporting board—about a 9 per cent increase above last year.

Production of small varieties of turkeys is up 16 per cent, the economist says. These varieties now make up 30 per cent of all the turkeys raised in the nation.

New Mexico growers who are preparing to sell their turkeys should watch the markets very closely, Rowe cautions. With no additional strength expected in the markets from consumer buying this year, and with increased marketing, many turkey growers may not receive as favorable prices as they expect. There is a continuous trend toward earlier marketing of birds which means that many growers will be watching feeding margins and the market price, in order to sell their birds at the time when they can realize maximum profits.

The situation is favorable to the consumer—he will probably be able to obtain a good buy in turkeys this year, Rowe adds.

Historic Cookery Booklet Available To Homemakers

The revised and newly illustrated edition of "Historic Cookery," that little booklet of New Mexican food recipes, is now available at county extension service offices.

This is the fourth reprint of "Historic Cookery," one of the most popular circulars ever released by the New Mexico Extension Service.

The booklet contains over 40 pages of recipes which tell how to prepare chili sauces, meats, vegetables, soups, sandwiches, and desserts, the New Mexican way.

"Historic Cookery," (extension circular No. 250), was written by Mrs. Fabiola C. de Baca Gilbert of Santa Fe.

Copies may be procured from county extension agents or by writing to the department of information, New Mexico A&M college, Box 757, State College, N. M.
