Berdeen-Angus Show at Clovis

Headed By Colorado

CLOVIS — Consignors from Colorado Springs, Colo., and Clayton took top awards in the fifth annual Aberdeen-Angus show and sale here at the Clovis Livestock market yesterday.

Lawrence E. Lehman, Colorado feeder, had the champion Angus bull of the show, while Dr. C. M. Carley of Clayton consigned the grand champion female.

But it was the reserve champion bull, owned by Mead's Angus Mesa, Albuquerque, which set the top sales for the show.

The animals, and 148 other entries, will be sold at auction today.

Other events Monday included the Southwest Barrow Show and the fourth annual feeder lamb sale and show.

A team from 'New Mexico Boys' ranch won honors in swine competition, taking the grand champion pig and the award for the best pen of three.

The feeder lamb show, limited numbers, was won by R. E. Trullinger, Mosquero. His carload of lambs sold at $18.40, the highest of the day.

Several other carlots sold over the sale from $2 to $2.50 above the market price.

Scheduled for today, in addition to the Herford bull show, is the piglet stocker and feeder show for young animals. Over 2,000 cattle have been received and from the top livestock will be selected for judging.

The carlot sale will be held to arrive at both of Clovis' livestock carriers.

Over 200 Attend Mason's Birthday

Over 200 people attended the 50th anniversary celebration of the Masonic Lodge No. 28 AF&AM last night, to hear Grand Master of Masons in New Mexico, C. Roy Smith of Clovis, speak to the group on tolerance.

The only living charter member of the Artesia lodge, John S. Major of El Paso, Texas, was unable to attend the celebration due to poor health. Major is 84 years old and attended the first organizational meeting of the lodge Oct. 13, 1904.

To commemorate the occasion, a five-tier cake, weighing close to 40 pounds, was decorated with the lodge's identification. J. T. Mitchell, grand master of the local lodge, presided over the meeting and introduced Smith.

Smith, in his speech, compared tolerance in humans with tolerance of man-made machines. "It's too bad," he said, "humans cannot get along like the machines."

He explained that oil takes the friction out of machines, while "brotherly love" should be the oil in taking out friction among humans.

According to Mitchell, quite a number of out-of-town members returned to Artesia last night to take part in the golden anniversary. Those coming the furthest were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morgan of Denver, Colo. and Mr. and Mrs. Gray Wright of Fort Worth, Texas.

Also attending the meeting were G. Russell Bird of Roswell, senior grand deacon of the state; Roy Tynner of Roswell, district deputy grand master of the seventh Masonic district; Walter E. Edwards, Hobbs, past grand master of Masons in New Mexico and deputy of supreme council, 33rd degree of southern jurisdiction of Scottish Rite Masonry; L. A. Liggett, Santa Fe, secretary of coordinate bodies of Scottish Rite Masonry and Glenn McCoy, Carlsbad, past exalted high priest of Royal Arch Masonry.

Judge Postpones Hearing in Long Small Loans Case

SANTA FE — Judge Robert Fox has indefinitely postponed the hearing on the Taylor and Leake small loans case.

Judge Fox said it appears the hearing will take so long he would rather wait until more time is available for it.

Taylor and Leake, operators of three branch offices in Albuquerque, have sought to prevent Lillburn Homan, special loans investigator, from summoning them and some of their employees in the hearing.

Stringfellow Is Replaced In Utah Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Utah Republican leaders have scrapped the re-election bid of Douglas R. Stringfellow, the one-term congressman who has admitted posing falsely as a cloak-and-dagger hero of World War II.

The GOP state central committee, meeting in emergency session 48 hours after Stringfellow dramatically admitted his hoax, accepted his withdrawal as a candidate.

Named as a last-minute ballot replacement for Stringfellow was Dr. Henry Aldous Dixon, president of Utah state agricultural college. He'll be opposed in the Nov. 2 balloting by former Democratic Rep. Walter K. Granger.

Stringfellow, a disabled veteran who has retracted his story of behind-the-scenes exploits, got a standing ovation from the state committee. His injuries were suffered in helping to clear a mine field.

VICE-PRESIDENT Nixon today swings into another major campaign tour that will take him into 10 states. Appearances at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia are on today's schedule.

Nixon discussed the campaign with President Eisenhower for an hour yesterday. Emerging from the White House, he said he told Eisenhower the Republicans "have the election won—if we mobilize our strength."

In New York, Look magazine said yesterday a nation-wide survey indicates Democrats will win control of the House by a 236-198 margin and will gain a narrow 48-47 edge in the Senate.

Look said the survey was based on interviews with political writers and assessment of recent special elections. The magazine describes itself as nonpartisan and said it is supporting no candidates.

Ninety-Mile-Per Hour Chase Ends In DWI Charge

A 90-mile-per-hour chase between city police and a 25-year-old Hagerman resident ended with charges of driving while intoxicated filed against Robert Hickson last night.

According to Chief Frank Powell, Hickson attempted to outrun the police, reaching speeds of 90 miles-per-hour at times. He was finally arrested 10 miles north of town by Powell.

Want to Live To 100? Try Oatmeal Diet

BUTLER, Pa. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morris held a double celebration yesterday.

It was not only Mr. Morris' 100th birthday anniversary but the 60th anniversary of his wedding. His wife, who is 82, gave this reason for her husband's longevity:

"It's because he eats oatmeal for breakfast every morning."

GOP Says Simms Dodges Answers Of Real Issues

SANTA FE — Republican Campaign Manager Peter Cable said today that John F. Simms, Democratic candidate for governor, "is attempting to answer all the issues of the campaign with charges of 'smear'."

Cable, in a statement released by his office, said Simms has refused to debate the issues all through the campaign, "but now evidently realizes people want to know his stand on issues and has decided the only answer he can offer is the word 'smear.'"

Said Cable: "The people still want to know Simms' answer to these Republican statements."

"That Simms has told one group one thing and another group another. Example: In Farmington he promised the people of San Juan county all the water in the San Juan River. In Albuquerque, he said Bernalillo residents deserved some of the water."

"That Simms served as a lobbyist. Example: In the 1951 Legislature Simms lobbied to increase the truck load limit from 32,000 pounds to 36,000 pounds."

"That Simms has refused to discuss major issues. Examples: How will he get the money for his numerous campaign promises? What is his exact stand on the primary? He has said he favors a return to the direct primary only if a better method cannot be found."

"That Simms is a 'gloom and doom boy'. He has gone about the state saying that only he can provide jobs for New Mexicans, although per capita income is up and manufacturing payrolls have increased 10 per cent."

"That Simms lacks qualities of leadership. He has surrounded himself in 1954 with the same type of people he did in the 1949 Legislature, when the House payroll was padded while he was speaker."

Anderson Sees A-Power As Answer to Problems In U.S.-Red Cold War

C of C Optimistic Over Oil Road

High optimism was expressed by Chamber of Commerce Mgr. Paul Scott this morning in connection with the proposed oil cut-off road southeast of Artesia.

According to Scott, Lea county commissioners agreed to write a letter yesterday to the state highway department asking for a survey of the proposed highway.

Scott attended the meeting and placed the proposition before the commissioners, which he said, was met with great approval.

The commissioners said they would write the letter in about two weeks, after they do a preliminary survey themselves. Eddy county commissioners have already written a letter to the state requesting the survey.

About 15 miles of the road will be in Eddy County with the rest, about five miles, in Lea.

Scott said this morning he was sure the commissioners could get the road built as soon as the state finishes a survey. Scott said the road will aid Hobbs and Artesia a great deal since the oil fields in that area are now enjoying an expansion.

Fictitious Letter Writers Castigate Brown, Democrats

A "letters to the editor" column in the El Paso Times has been used to castigate the Democratic party and Tom Brown Sr., according to F. R. Elvin, Eddy county tax assessor agent from Artesia.

Elvin said the letters were signed by fictitious names with fictitious addresses. He said the letters have appeared in the Times during the past 60 days.

According to Elvin, the letter received by the Times had an Artesia postmark on the envelope.

The first was signed by a T. K. Hickman, route 1, Artesia; the second by a Z. W. Waller, Artesia and the last by C. W. Moore of 508 Bullock.

Simms Says GOP Errs in Linking Him to 'Faction'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Two top Democratic candidates, Sen. Clinton Anderson of New Mexico, and gubernatorial hopeful John Simms, shared the spotlight in a political rally at Albuquerque last night.

Anderson praised Simms and his program for the economic development of the state, while Simms struck mostly at the Republicans' "last minute, frantic efforts to convince the voters I am subservient to some clique or faction from the past in New Mexico politics."

Most of the state's Democratic candidates attended, and many made short talks, but Anderson and Simms held the center of the stage.

Anderson devoted his entire speech to praising Simms and his plans for improving the economic development of the state.

While Simms is planning a revival of the Economic Development Commission.

SEEK GAS INCREASE

WASHINGTON — Some 29 wholesale natural gas customers in New Mexico, Texas, Arizona and California will be effected if a proposed rate increase is approved. The El Paso Natural Gas Co. has asked power commission approval for a 15 per cent annual wholesale gas rate increase. The company said the increase is necessary to maintain a 6½ per cent rate of return.

Atomic Energy May Answer Food Shortage

LAS VEGAS, (AP)—Sen. Clinton Anderson told a combined meeting of Las Vegas civic clubs here today that atomic energy may provide the key to what will be the major world problem in the near future—how to feed a world population increasing at about 20 million people a year.

Anderson, seeking re-election, discussed new developments in the adaptation of atomic energy to peaceful uses. He particularly emphasized the necessity of staying ahead of Russia in the development of atomic power as well as in the construction of destructive weapons.

"If the Russians become the first to furnish the underdeveloped areas of the world with atomically produced energy for peaceful purposes, they will have won a major propaganda victory," Anderson said.

"THE REAL PROBLEM OF atomic power today is economic. The reactor development program of the atomic energy commission—as now envisaged—should result in great advances both in research and development of the atomic power field. But to stay ahead, we must also somehow persuade private power interests to take a chance on the future. So far private industry has been negligent in exploiting atomic energy for peaceful uses. But the time is coming for these interests to show a willingness to spend money in developing this unknown art and gaining experience with atomic power plants, despite their high cost."

"Actually, we are not yet certain what the most effective peacetime uses of atomic energy may be. Certainly power will be one of them, as will radioactive materials and heat that can be usefully applied to industrial processes."

"It is ironical that radioactive isotopes, now considered perhaps the most valuable of all benefits that flow from splitting the atom, were waste by-products in the manufacture of the fissionable materials originally intended solely for destructive purposes," Anderson said.

"WE ALREADY HAVE SPENT twelve and one-half billion dollars on our atomic program. But the use of radioisotopes alone may well more than repay that expenditure."

"The use of radioisotopes in agriculture can play a major role in assuring a far greater output of farm products and a far more stable output."

"The use of radioisotopes is teaching us how plants grow and produce for us; how we can use new methods of cultivation and fertilization; how we can develop disease resistant plants; how we can develop livestock and poultry resistant to disease and climatic conditions. Radio sterilization of food is expected soon to become"

Seventeen Companies in Health, Hospital, Accident Insurance Charged for False Ads

By STERLING F. GREEN WASHINGTON, (AP)—The federal trade commission today accused 17 companies in the health, hospital and accident insurance business of "false and misleading advertising."

Together, the 17 firms—including the four largest in the field—represent annual premium payments of more than 300 million dollars, or about 1-3 of the total health and accident policies written on individuals in the country.

Among those named in the FTC complaints—which grew out of a 10-month nationwide investigation—were the Bankers Life and Casualty Co. of Chicago (The White Cross), Mutual Benefit Health and Accident Assn. of Omaha (Mutual of Omaha), Reserve Life Insurance Co. of Dallas, and United Insurance Co. of Chicago.

Each firm was charged with from three to five allegedly deceptive practices. Each was allowed 30 days to file replies. Individual hearings are to be held in December.

If, after these hearings, the FTC finds there is basis for the charges it may issue orders forbidding these practices in the future.

FTC Chairman Edward F. Howrey said the action is aimed at false or deceptive advertising claims concerning the extent of insurance protection and benefits payable.

Howrey said in a statement this first broad inquiry of its kind grew out of a "flood of letters" sent by policy holders who he said complained the insurance coverage they received was not the same as advertised.

The FTC complaints attacked the following alleged misrepresentations:

1. Policy termination. A typical advertising claim, it was charged, talks about "no automatic termination age. . . You and your family are covered from 1 to 75."
2. Actually, FTC said, most policies are renewable only at option of the company and can be canceled at the end of any term for any reason.
3. Extent of coverage. FTC said that, whereas benefits are advertised, "for each sickness or accident," many policies pay nothing for losses due to nervous disorders, venereal disease, childbirth, dental operations and so on.
4. Maximum dollar limits. Advertising claims of "up to $25 for each surgical operation" are deceptive in many cases, said FTC, because the full amount is payable for only one or two relatively rare operations.

5. Starting time of coverage. Although some companies represent insurance as being effective when issued, FTC said, coverage for many sicknesses is delayed until the policy has been in effect for a time—such as six months for tuberculosis or heart disease.
6. Health status of the insured. FTC charged many companies state they do not require medical examinations, but fail to save the policy does not cover any loss traceable to a condition which existed when the policy was issued.
7. Sale of a plan. Some companies imply, FTC said, that many benefits are obtainable from purchase of a single policy for a few cents a day, when actually several policies are required to get all the advertised benefits.

7. Some advertisements offer regularly monthly income "even for life," FTC charged, but only in cases of total disability due to accidental bodily injury are lifetime payments made.

One firm—The Life Insurance Co. of America, and its officers—are charged with falsely representing that it is an old, established, reliable life insurance company and a pioneer in the accident and health field. The corporation is less than two years old, FTC said, and its volume of life insurance is "insignificant." A hearing in this case will be held in Wilmington, Del., Dec. 21.

Local Doctor Discusses Cause Of Tonsillitis

The tonsils have a function to perform in the body. But often when the first sore throat appears, the patient is inclined to feel that the quicker the child's tonsils are taken out, the better. Strange, isn't it that we don't feel the same way about the other organs of the body? Somehow the importance of the tonsils is not quite fully understood.

Even when the tonsils become diseased or enlarged, removal is not always necessary. We don't remove the stomach when it becomes upset . . . we don't amputate a finger at the first sign of swelling. We try to get to the CAUSE of the trouble. And we often find that CAUSE to be a nerve pressure which is preventing the tonsils from receiving their 100% quota of nerve energy which is necessary to make the tonsils healthy. So the Chiropactic objective is to save the tonsils for the function they should perform, and we often find Chiropactic to be very beneficial in these cases.

Therefore it is not right to say "we have done everything possible" unless Chiropactic is included.

For further information about Chiropactic, you are invited to consult Dr. Kathryn Behnke Rains, Palmer Graduate Chiropactor, 408 W. Richards, phone 861. Office hours daily except Saturday afternoon. —Adv.

Bulldogs Long Injury List Shows Sudden Growth after Kermit

Despite a 25-20 loss to Kermit last week and sudden growth of injury list, the Artesia Bulldogs returned to the practice field Monday evening, a determined and wiser ball club.

Coach Reese Smith immediately set his forward wall to work on offensive maneuvers. According to some of the Bulldogs, Kermit had at least six different defenses which they used at will.

The whole team received only the whole-contact practice.

On the injury list and heading at the moment, is quarterback Johnny Riddle, the mastermind of Smith's split-T, suffering from a bruised ankle.

Riddle suited up for Monday's game, but only after an ample amount of tape was placed on his injured ankle. Coach Jack Barron said "we aren't going to take any chances with Riddle." Barron said Max Ratliff, a junior this year, will probably handle the quarterback chores in the upcoming N. M. M. I. game here Friday.

Bill Mayes is still on the "benched by injury" list, although coaches expect him to be ready in two more weeks. Jay Mitchell was also injured in the Kermit game along with Riddle, Smith said, and like Riddle, will see only limited action in the Friday night game.

Leo Barker, Bulldog scabback, guard Don Price and Wayne Westerman will also see limited action Friday night, due to injuries received in the Clovis game.

Barron said the Institute team isn't too tough, "but any team is tough against us," because of our size.

Gridders to Be Guests of Quarterback Club Tonight

1951 highlights of the Southwestern conference.

Scheduled to give brief addresses are Supt. of Schools Vernon Mills and Quarterbacker J. D. Smith.

Members and non-members are invited to attend the meeting.

Two Class A Clubs Almost Have Crowns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One Class A New Mexico high school football team has already wrapped up the title in its district and another plans to clinch its crown this week.

St. Mike's of Santa Fe, unbeaten in three District 1A starts, still has another league game on the slate, but would be the winner of the district whether it beats Belen or not.

And Gadsden of Anthony, defending state Class A champs, could wrap up its District 3A title this week against Western of Silver City. The Anthony team will be heavily favored to cop the title this week.

Gadsden already owns a 40-13 victory over Western in a non-district game. Both teams agreed before the previous match that only the second game would count on the district records.

St. Mike's clinched its title last week with a 27-13 victory over previously unbeaten Los Alamos. The Mike's will take the week off this week.

The only 1A District game on a light schedule pits Socorro and Gallup in a game that is scheduled to decide nothing at all. In District 3A, Cobre of Hurley and Alamo, currently tied for second place, meet to determine that position in the ranks.

Pace-setting Katon is expected to strengthen its position atop the District 2A ladder in a district game with third-place Espanola this week.

Two District 4A teams take on Class AA opposition this week. Leading Tucumcari tackles rough Highland and New Mexico Military goes to Artesia.

In other, non-district games, Deming is at Belen, Los Alamos tests cross-district Taos, Clayton is at Trinidad, Colo., Las Vegas takes on Class AA Santa Fe and Portales picks on little Fort Sumner.

Oklahoma Top Team in U.S. By 115 Votes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Oklahoma continued to ride out the storm of upsets and hold down its perch as the No. 1 college football team in the country today.

The mighty Sooners, who trampled Kansas 65-0 last week, polled 1,891 points in the Associated Press' weekly pool of sports writers and sportscasters. They captured 115 first-place votes of the 212 cast.

The next three teams—Wisconsin, UCLA and Ohio State—also stayed in the same positions as a week ago. They all polled more than 1,000 votes on the basis of 10 for first, 9 for second and so on down the line.

Wisconsin had 42 firsts and 1,732 points; UCLA, 23 firsts and 1,590 points; and Ohio State, 8 firsts, good for 1,387 points. Wisconsin and Ohio State collide at Columbus this week.

The rest of the top 10 was well scrambled from a week ago. There are four new members—Arkansas, Minnesota, Army and West Virginia. All recorded upset victories, and now are Nos. 7, 8, 9, and 10, respectively.

Purdue, Duke, Penn State and Navy all dropped out of the top 10 on the basis of defeats. Duke took the longest slide, from No. 6 to No. 19, as a result of its 28-14 loss to Army. Conversely, the Cadets gained the most ground, going from No. 18 to No. 9.

Notre Dame, still striving for national honors, jumped from eighth to sixth after whipping Michigan State 20-19, and Mississippi advanced from seventh to fifth as a result of its 34-7 victory over Tulane.

No Cheers Come From Rival Clubs After A's Saved

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK — Seven National American league clubs have been asked to learn that, after all, they are doomed still to play 77 games against the Philadelphia Athletics in Connie Mack stadium this season.

This means that, in most cases, they will come away dragging a defeat for the trip, and it accounts for the pronounced absence of jubilation around the league.

The visiting club in the American league is paid off at the rate of approximately 29 cents for each ticket sold. The lusterless Athletics of the campaign recently closed received a total of only 323,000 fans through their home turnstiles, and requires only a little simple arithmetic to show why the popularity was "On to Kansas City!"

Breaking down the total, we find an average of only 4,200 fans per game watched the A's battle their way into the league cellar, and that the visiting club collected only $1,218 for each nine-inning fight.

A league executive who has had great experience in transporting and feeding athletes estimates that it takes about $2,200 to carry the usual baseball party of 31 or 32 from New York to Philadelphia and to support it there during a three-game series. This doesn't get it out of Philadelphia.

At the end of a typical three-game session in the Quaker City, the visiting club's road secretary carried off a check for $3,654 during the past season. That is, he netted that amount away from the park. After he had bailed his little group out of the hotel he had only $1,454 to show for three days of sweat and tears.

This doesn't sound too bad until you stop to consider that player salaries go right on even when a club is only beating the A's. As no team makes its payroll public, there is no way of computing accurately the tab for a long week-end in Philadelphia comes to, but you wouldn't want to pick it up.

NCAA to Disclose Possible Probes

NEW ORLEANS — A National Collegiate Athletic Assn. committee was expected to disclose today or tomorrow whether any member school is under investigation for breaking NCAA rules.

The report of the committee on rules infractions will highlight the three-day meeting here of the 18-member NCAA council. Most of yesterday's opening session was devoted to routine business.

Walter Byers, NCAA executive secretary, said he did not believe the council would recommend any major rule changes to the annual convention in New York Jan. 5.

He also announced the Sugar Bowl, Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference and Drake Relays had agreed to bar violators of NCAA regulations.

SMU Different, May Still Win Conference Title

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, (AP)—The Southern Methodist university football team of the moment is entirely different from those of the glamorous forties but it may accomplish the same thing.

SMU last won a Southwest conference championship in 1948. It was the second in a row for the Mustangs of Matty Bell's coaching. Those teams lost one game in two years.

Doak Walker, Gil Johnson and Kyle Rote were the stars. They made long runs, threw prodigious passes and roared across the national scene with a flourish.

On into the fifties came those razzle-dazzle outfits that counted that day lost when somebody didn't run 75 yards for a score or a 50-yard pass was flipped by the mighty Fred Benners.

Saxton to Serve 15 Days in Jail After Welter Fight

PLEASANTVILLE, N. J. — Johnny Saxton has a date to serve 15 days in jail, starting Thursday morning, for traffic violations but he says he's going to take something with him to keep him warm—Kid Gavilan's welter-weight crown.

"What you've got to do, you've got to do," said the 24-year-old New Yorker. "I've got to pay that penalty in New York and get to get it over with."

Asked whether the impending term affected him mentally, the strong, muscular youngster replied:

Alabama Tackle Is Never Bothered By Grid Worry

By BARD LINDEMAN

NEW YORK, (AP)—With the football season turning into the second and most important half for the ambitious clubs, a conference title, a trip to a bowl and national ranking can be lost by a missed signal, an offside, a turned ankle or a bad bounce in the open.

It is therefore refreshing as well as entertaining to read what George Mason, Alabama tackle, engineering student and young father, has to say: "Nothing worries me and when it does I don't think about it."

A philosopher of the same mould is West Virginia Coach Art "Pappy" Lewis. His Mountaineers are unbeaten and he was asked if he thought the club could make it through the season without a defeat.

"Honest," he said, "I'm not worried about anything right now except VMI for next Saturday and the grocery bill."

NOTRE DAME COACH TERRY Brennan may not have realized it but he hung a big funeral wreath about the neck of two-platoon football when he explained why six of his regular muscle-guys played 60 minutes against Michigan State in Saturday's 20-19 victory. Said Terry:

"We had to go with men who had the most experience and one we were functioning as a unit I didn't want to change."

Not specialists, just rugged blockers and runners won for Notre Dame. Seventeen men did all the work.

BEAR BRYANT, IN HIS FIRST year as head man at Texas A&M, is finding out how long 60 minutes can be of a Saturday in the Southwest Conference.

The Bear likes to say, "You've gotta have chicken to make chicken salad." With his mostly-mayonnaise-and-lettuce salad Bryant's Aggies have upset Georgia but lost to Texas Tech, Oklahoma A&M, Houston and TCU. TCU won it Saturday 21-20. The Houston score was 10-7. Bryant has a squad of 32, smallest in the history of the school and the conference.

But the Bear has a six-year contract and plenty of salad-making ahead. "There are a lot of good football players between Oklahoma and Mexico," says Chef Bryant.

OKLAHOMA'S GREAT CENTER, Kurt Burris, helped himself in his campaign for an All-America selection by playing well defensively against Kansas. He also scored a touchdown, falling on a block punt in the K-U end zone.

The Sooners boomed to 10 touchdowns in the game and the prettiest of them was a 91-yard race by soph quarterback Jimmy Harris on a "keeper" play that he kept and kept and kept until he was over.

The Soo canal carried 95,844,449 tons of iron ore in 1953.

Artesia Sports Scene Changing Fall Weather Poses Threat of Colds

By EVAN MAHANEY

The fall weather seems to be bringing sportsmen out of the walls as of late, with tennis mornings, golf afternoons, and football nights, not to mention the anticipation of deer season just around the corner.

But no matter what the weather is, a Monday in Artesia is always the same. On Monday the sports enthusiasts forget their high golf scores, rifle practice or aching muscles to talk over the weekend's football results.

What happened to Artesia when they stepped out of the state? The Main Street ballplayer can answer the question in a dozen different ways, but they'll all agree it was a terrific game. Those who traveled to Kermit, though disappointed by the loss, still feel the trip was well worth the time.

But Bulldog mentor Reese Smith is worried, to say the least. On his injury list are seven first string men, practically three quarters of his original team. Those seven men are all suffering from sprains, bad knees, or pulled muscles.

Yet this isn't the end of Smith's plight. Some of the boys have re-sniffles and coughs as a result of the changing weather. Fortunately, none of the boys are "out" as a result of colds, but Smith has warned them to take care of themselves—lest Old Man Cold get a good grip on 'em.

IF EVER YOU'RE IN DOUBT some Monday about the result of Oklahoma's Saturday game, just drop by the office of Artesia's chamber of commerce. Once there, Paul Scott will "fill you in" on the latest victory march of the Sooners. Just one word of warning: Make sure you have plenty of time to kill.

HAVE YOU NOTICED HOW fast the sporting magazines disappear from the magazine racks lately? Reason being, of course, hunters are beginning to look for the latest developments and possible predictions for the upcoming deer season, followed by bear and other big game in the state.

Sporting goods stores are beginning to display more hunting and camping equipment in anticipation of November, while civic clubs are beginning their own private drives for sporting equipment.

Those hunters not planning to buy a new gun for the season, are taking great pains in cleaning up their present model, stocking up on shells and driving the woman of the household crazy with questions such as, "Honey, where'd you pack my hunting jacket. I can't find it!"

If you're planning to invade the cold country to get your deer this year, you might be interested in a new body belt which has just hit the market. According to latest reports, although we haven't seen the item, a new belt capable of keeping the body warm in cold

Arkansas Is Riding High In Southwest

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. — A band of young Arkansians who had been picked to hold up the Southwest conference from the bottom today are riding atop that tough football loop with a record of four straight triumphs.

The astounding University of Arkansas Razorbacks soundly thrashed the University of Texas 20-7 at Austin Saturday to maintain their undefeated, untied record and rate seventh among the nation's top teams in the Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters.

Coach Bowden Wyatt's crew actually has a five-game winning streak, starting with the conquest of Tulsa University in the final game of the 1953 season.

So far this year, Arkansas has defeated Tulsa 41-0; Texas Christian 20-13; Baylor 21-20; and Texas.

Before the season opened, Wyatt told newsmen that 7 of the 10 Razorback foes would be the physical superiors of Arkansas.

"We might be as strong by the end of the year as we were at the close of last season," said the coach. Arkansas won only three games and lost seven in 1953.

Wyatt pointed to inexperience at tailback and center—where only sophomores hold forth—and lack of talent at the ends, where there were no lettermen available, as weak spots that Arkansas would find impossible to overcome.

Let's Keep It at Home

THE AVERAGE civic-minded individual is always interested in helping to keep business at home. Our growth, progress, and advancement as a community with fine stores and alert, wide-awake merchants depends on the business they enjoy.

Most of us know and realize that our merchants and business people can only afford to stock certain kinds and types of merchandise providing they have calls for this merchandise and they can sell it.

We also know the improvements in their stores depends directly on the business which they enjoy in our community. But the business of buying and trading at home applies to all of us. We can't preach and talk buy and trade at home and then spend our money outside of our home community. Likewise a merchant can not urge other people to buy and trade with him or at home and spend his money where he pleases.

We recall a bank employe in a Louisiana city once advising us that he earned his salary, it was his money, and he could spend it where he pleased. In one sense of the word he was correct—he had earned it and it was his money. But the fact remained if the local people had not patronized that bank and provided work to be done he would not have a job. So he, too, was dependent on the people buying and trading at home.

This is true about everything we have in our home community. It is possible because of the money being spent. All business people invest their money in a business firm or an institution to make money. The question of whether they make money determines the number of employes they have, the amount of their payroll, the taxes they pay, the license fees they pay, the kind of a store, firm or institution they can operate, and their gifts and contributions to the community. And those of us engaged in business here need to practice the buying and trading at home if we expect others to do that. If we are in business and want local business then we can't spend our money elsewhere and expect the local folks to spend their money with us.

And the fact still remained that the progress and the prosperity of our community depends directly on the business our local stores, firms, and service institutions enjoy. It is the dollars which remain at home that continue to circulate and serve our community. Those dollars we send away never return, come back or continue to help our community.

Delaware Fuss On Segregation Back in Court

WILMINGTON, Del. — The question of whether 10 Negro students may attend the previously all-white Milford (Del.) high school returned to the court of chancery today.

Vice-Chancellor William Marvel has already ruled that Negroes have the right to attend the Milford school.

The question before him today was should he grant an injunction, requested by the National Ass'n for the Advancement of Colored People, to restrain the Milford school board from keeping the Negroes out of the high school.

The 10 Negro students were integrated at the beginning of the present school term, under provisions of a U. S. Supreme Court ruling. Boycotts, inspired in part by the National Ass'n for the Advancement of White People, cut attendance drastically and resulted in the resignation of the original Milford school board.

A new board told the Negro students to return to an all-Negro high school in Dover. But until yesterday the Negro students had not attended any school.

Under orders from the state board of education yesterday, they attended the first classes since their ouster from high school in Georgetown. The high school principal, James Webb, said their enrollment was on a temporary basis only.

(Continued from Page One) ment Commission the Republicans "are bemoaning what they believe is a lack of funds, not realizing that whatever we invest in this project will be returned many times in future taxes," Anderson said.

Anderson, who is running for reelection against Republican Gov. Edwin L. Mechem, said "we must have in the executive office in Santa Fe a man willing to work hard so that others may work. John Simms will do that."

Simms, striking at what he called the Republican's attempts to link his with some faction, told the group "you know that this wild charge is not true. I say it is a lie."

Simms said he has "attempted to discuss the real issues of this campaign."

"I have attempted to discuss with the voters the economic future to New Mexico. I have tried to talk in terms of jobs, payrolls, new industries, conservation and development of natural resources."

"I have offered a specific program. But what have the Republicans done?" he challenged.

Career Conflicts Lead to Breakup Of Tyrone Powers

HOLLYWOOD — The marriage of Tyrone Power and Linda Christian, solemnized five years ago in Santa Francisco Catholic church in Rome, has broken up. The two movie stars blame the split on "incompatibility over careers" but say there are no immediate plans for divorce.

The shapely Miss Christian will stay in Hollywood and pursue her film career. Power is leaving for New York as soon as he finishes his current movie, "Untamed," to start rehearsals for "The Dark is Light Enough," in which he will co-star on the stage with Kathrine Cornell.

Before the marriage, Power told reporters Miss Christian would give up her acting career "because two actors in one family wouldn't work."

Theirs was a year-long international romance in Italy, Mexico, Spain and Hollywood. The church sanctioned the marriage because it had not recognized the civil ceremony which united Power with Annabella, French actress.

The couple's joint announcement of their split said their two

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Dulles leaves for Paris today to join Western European diplomats in working out detailed arrangements for bringing West Germany into the anti-communist defensive alliance.

Among the problems to be solved is the extent of control to daughters, Romina Francesca, 3, and Tary, 2, will remain in the custody of Miss Christian.

Field Work in Artesia Area For Farm Census Scheduled

Field work in the 1954 census of agriculture gets underway locally on Oct. 29 when a force of enumerators will start visiting every farm in the area, according to Field Supervisor Helen Chandler Ryan of Albuquerque.

Farm census questionnaires have been mailed to all farm operators. The enumerators will visit all local farms to collect the questionnaires and, if necessary, assist the farmer in filling out the report form.

The 1954 census of agriculture is the 18th in a series of nationwide farm enumerations, the first of which was conducted in 1940. The census of agriculture is taken at five-year intervals to provide up-to-date statistical information about more than five million farms which supply food and raw materials for manufacture of goods used by the people of the United States, now numbering about 162.5 million.

The current census will yield information on the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock production and inventories, selected farm facilities and equipment and selected farm expenditures.

Mrs. Ryan emphasized that all information about individuals and their farm operations furnished to the census bureau is held in absolute confidence under federal law. It is used only to provide summary figures such as totals, averages, and percentages.

The information on an individual report cannot be furnished to any one other than sworn census employees and thus cannot be used for investigation, taxation or regulation.

Farm Implements Without Lights Menace on Roads

An unlighted farm implement traveling the highways during these evenings of early darkness creates a potential accident hazard for the farmer and motorist alike, says county agent Richard Marek.

A motorist, even though driving at moderate speed, has often rammed into a slowly-moving farm implement in the early dusk because he did not know it was ahead. In many cases, the county agent points out, the farm operator is the fatality—not the motorist.

Adequate lighting of farm implements on highways after dark is required by law just as it is required for the motor vehicle. Both headlights and tail lights must be visible for at least 500 feet on towing implements, Marek explains. He cautions that trailing implements generally block out tractor tail lights.

"The simplest solution," the county agent says, "is to place some very highly reflective material on the rear of any farm implement which may be used on highways after dark. Using a liberal amount of such tape will give advance warning to approaching motorists if it is kept clean and placed within the proper light beam range."

Reflective materials are available at hardware stores, gasoline stations and implement stores. Some 4-H clubs in New Mexico have organized a program to place tapes on farm implements.

"When you consider that 18 out of 19 fatalities in a recent farm implement motor vehicle accident survey were farm operators, you can see where the farm operator is placed on the defensive. Lighting care can prevent this."

Cockerill to Retire, Stucky Named as Successor

Prof. P. W. Cockerill, head of the agricultural economics department at New Mexico A&M college since 1934, will retire from that position Nov. 1, Dr. R. A. Nichols, dean and director of agriculture at A&M, announced today.

Cockerill will continue on the college staff as assistant dean of agriculture and home economics and as professor of agricultural economics. He has been with the college since 1929.

Dr. H. R. Stucky, extension economist at Montana state college, has been appointed to succeed Cockerill as head of the agricultural economics department.

Dr. Stucky, who received his B. S. degree from the University of Idaho and his master's and doctor's degrees at the University of Minnesota, has had wide experience in agricultural education in the West.

Before becoming extension economist at Montana State, he had been a teacher of vocational agriculture, a county agent, and a district soil conservationist.

Dr. and Mrs. Stucky have a daughter, Creta, who is a senior at Montana State college this year, and a son, John, who will enroll as a junior at Las Cruces Union high school.

New Agriculture Yearbook Views Market Methods

The U. S. department of agriculture announced today the publication of its 1954 Yearbook of Agriculture, a 520-page volume packed with facts about the complex system that brings American farm products to their users.

Entitled "Marketing," the book comprises 18 sections and 88 chapters and was written by 117 marketing specialists, most of whom are employees of the Department and of agricultural colleges.

The purpose of the book is to give information about the dynamic business that brings American been known to infest corrals, feed, and range for a considerable length of time and when introduced into a herd, will spread quickly.

The first symptom is small red spots on the lips. These spots become pustules and, after breaking, form scabs.

The disease is easily and cheaply controlled by vaccination, the county agent says. Vaccination should be carried out before weaning or when shipping feeder lambs. Buyers prefer feeder lambs that have been vaccinated and will often pay more for them.

Annual vaccination of known infected flocks will practically eliminate the disease within a few years, Marek says.

Garden Fertility Needs Attention During Autumn

Give attention this fall to soil fertility in your garden, flower beds and yet-to-be-planted lawn areas, advises county agent Richard Marek of the agricultural extension service of New Mexico A&M college.

Several grasses and small grains can be planted now as winter cover crops and turned under as green manure crops in the spring. These will protect the soil during the winter and add large amounts of organic matter to the soil. Possibly the best crop for this purpose is annual rye-grass, but the small grains such as barley, wheat and oats can also be used.

In using annual rye-grass, the county agent makes the following recommendations: Sow at least a month before freezing occurs. Loosen the soil and make it level. Apply fertilizer if the soil is not exceptionally good and then rake the seed in lightly. Three pounds of seed of each 1,000 square feet should be ample. Follow this with an irrigation. Planting rye-grass between your rows of late vegetables is a good way to allow the grass to begin growth before the vegetables are harvested, Marek adds.

Be careful not to let your cover crop not too mature before turning it under in the spring, cautions the county agent, as older plant tissue decomposes much lower than young, rapidly growing tissues.

Pig Pre-Starters Revolutionary

The practice of giving baby food to baby pigs—or pre-starter rations—has revolutionized swine husbandry, according to recent statistics, says county agricultural agent Richard Marek.

In 1952, it was estimated that 35 per cent of all pigs farrowed died due to injury, disease, or malnutrition. Today, with farmers taking the pigs away from the sow at 7 or 8 days of age, or at 5 pounds of weight, and giving them a pre-starter ration fortified with antibiotics, such as terramycin, the story is different.

Instead of losing 35 per cent of all pigs, many farmers have reduced mortality to less than 10 per cent, points out the county agent. And instead of eight-week weights averaging less than 30 pounds, pigs in that age bracket fed "baby food" average 40 pounds and more.

Sore Mouth in Sheep Breaks Out At Weaning Time

Be on the lookout for sore-mouth disease in sheep, especially in lambs ready for weaning, warns county extension agent Richard Marek.

Lambs are especially susceptible to the disease because of the rough, dry feed at this time of year, but older sheep may also be affected unless they have built up an immunity through previous exposure.

Sore-mouth disease, technically called "contagious ethymia," has
