Clerical Error Hurting Workmen's Compensation

SANTA FE, (P)—New Mexico's workman's compensation law discriminates against the working man because of an error by the Senate clerical staff last year, the Supreme Court says. The high court said it faced a "strong temptation" to go by the Senate official Journal instead of by the enrolled and engrossed copy of a disputed bill. It decided against this departure from tradition because of evils it felt would probably follow if Journal entries were accepted as the record of bills actually passed. "As the act now appears in the books, the injured employe is penalized 50 per cent of his compensation when his injury is caused by his failure to use a safety device in any industry covered by the act, while the employer, so far as we can determine, is only penalized when he is in the mining industry and the device is required by the Mine Safety Act." The opinion, written by Chief Justice McChesney, says. The Senate Journal shows the Senate passed an amendment by Sen. T. E. Lusk (D-Eddy) which would have corrected it, the court said, but the amendment was omitted from the enrolled and engrossed copy. (Continued on Page 4.)

Council to Study Urban Project Proposal Tonight

Big item in city council meeting tonight, according to Mayor William H. Yeager, will be discussion of the new urban road project, which calls for two major decisions by the city council. Primary decision will be whether to light the new four-lane project from center lights, or from the edge of the highway. The situation was discussed yesterday by a state utility agent, city officials, and officials from Southwestern Public Service Co. District officials of the company met again yesterday afternoon where they made suggestions to those present on the best lighting available to the city for the lowest cost. The district officials, working out of Roswell, took the plans to Roswell last night to prepare out a more detailed plan and cost chart which will be presented to the council tonight. Chamber of Commerce Mgr. Paul Scott will attend the meetings. Another decision expected to be made tonight by the council will be whether to put asphalt islands in the two-lane dividers, or landscape the islands with an agreement to maintain the lawn. Yeager said there might be a continued discussion on the city planning commission, which was tabled at the last meeting for further study, on a suggestion by Yeager the commission be reorganized.

Location Near Country Club Is Abandoned

Artesia will receive a new cemetery in the near future, with plans now calling for five acres of land north of Artesia near the cotton compress, to be made into the Restlawn cemetery. According to Gregory Yelvington, representative for Norman Anderson and Associates, a full-time office will be maintained in Artesia and will open immediately. Yelvington said location of the office will be 108 S. Third. The representative explained a full-time man will care for the cemetery, with plots selling for $100 to $125 each. He explained the cost will cover perpetual care for the cemetery and individual plots. The cemetery was first proposed to the city council, with a tentative location set northwest of Artesia, near the Country Club. However, the council tabled the proposal for further investigation. Yelvington said the present location is outside the one-mile authority limit beyond the corporate limits for the city council. Yelvington said an arrangement will be made with one of the banks in Artesia for purchase of separate or family plots. Yelvington was not sure when actual landscaping for the new cemetery would get underway, although he said the site should be completely landscaped by next summer. Plans call for professional landscaping, complete with trees, shrubbery and natural flower beds. The cemetery firm's main office is located in El Paso, Texas. Yelvington will remain in Artesia until all details are arranged, he said.

Two Are Killed In Accident Near Dexter

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Three deaths in accidents at Dexter and Grants yesterday raised the New Mexico traffic total for 1954 to 309. Joe Bob Dowdy, 24, and Ruth Mason, 26, died following a collision with a truck two miles south of Dexter on a farm market road. Dowdy was dead on arrival at St. Mary's Hospital in Roswell. Miss Mason, his companion in the car, died at 5:30 this morning.

Dowdy's car crashed into a truck driven by William Buttierrez, 20, as the truck made a left turn. Buttierrez was not injured. Irene Martinez, 25, died yesterday from injuries received when an auto driven by Albert Brown, 35, ran off state road 54 four miles south of Grants.

With her as passengers were Margaret Garcia, 19, Grants, in critical condition, and Rosita Martinez, 7, Grants, seriously hurt. Brown, once of Thoreau and now of American Falls, Idaho, was in fair condition, and Margie Garcia, four years, Margaret Garcia's daughter, was treated for minor injuries. Dick McCool, state policeman who investigated, said he planned to file a charge of negligent homicide against Brown. The officer said the car left the road, struck the opposite wall of an arroyo and fell about 15 to 20 feet.

Attorneys to File Appeal From Decision

BULLETIN District Judge Luis Armijo this afternoon sentenced 14-year-old Eulalio Salgado of Carlsbad to nine to 10 years at hard labor in the New Mexico state penitentiary for the Aug. 7 slaying of Nick Gomez of Artesia. The law provides 1 to 10 years for conviction on charges of voluntary manslaughter.

CARLSBAD — — — Fourteen-year-old Eulalio Salgado, Jr., of Carlsbad was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter today by a district court jury that pondered its decision all night. Judge Luis Armijo of Las Vegas, presiding in the case, announced he would pass sentence on the boy at 1:30 p. m. today. E. K. Neumann, defense counsel, indicated he would file an appeal.

The case was handed to the jury at 9:15 p. m. Tuesday. The verdict was reached about 7:15 a. m. today, and was given to the court about 10 a. m. Young Salgado was convicted of the fatal slaying of Nick Gomez, 17, Artesia, during a gang fight outside Our Lady of Grace parish hall Aug. 7. The boy told the jury he had jerked a butcher knife from his pocket and "swung" at Gomez after the Artesia youth had cursed him and "swung at" him with a knife. "Your verdict has been well considered, I am sure," Judge Armijo told the jury before dismissing it.

Accident Charge Is Withdrawn Charges of negligent homicide filed against a driver involved in a three-vehicle collision which took the life of a seven-months-old baby this week-end have been withdrawn. Bonine, who investigated the accident. In the accident Bobbie Ray McCabe, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert McCabe, died of injuries received in the accident. Filed at the request of the district attorney, the charges were in effect withdrawn pending a consultation between Mrs. Robert's attorney and Dist. Atty. Pat Hangan.

GOP Chairman Says Two-Party System Not Dead

By JOHN B. CURTIS SANTA FE — — — State Republican Chairman M. B. Johns, refuses to go along with any speculation that the two-party system may be dead in New Mexico. There has been some talk along that line since the big Democrat landslide of Nov. 2. That sweep knocked the Republicans loose from the governorship, the lone hold they had gotten on the state government since the days of Gov. R. C. Dillon a generation ago. Johns, while disappointed, did not speak with the despair which might have been expected from the leader of an organization whose defeat had been so completed. The Democratic victory extended into the New Mexico House of Representatives, where Republicans were left only four seats — two more than their all-time low, in 1937. "I'm a deep believer in the two-party system and I want to see it perpetuated," Johns said. "For instance, I think we should try to bring up our strength in such Democratic strongholds as Lea and Eddy counties. I don't feel that New Mexico is ever going to cease to be a two-party state. "We'll try to keep a permanent party headquarters and develop a stronger organization in the interests of two-party government. "We'll watch with interest what occurs in the legislature, and we still will be able to make known our views and our conclusions." Johns said he does not feel that New Mexico Republicans ever again will be shut out of state elective offices as completely as they were from 1930 to 1950. He said the Republican party nationally and in the state "has a fine outstanding record of honesty and morality." He is inclined to blame complacency and satisfaction with existing conditions for Republican failure to do better at the polls. "People's memories are short," Johns said. "They forget how Republicans cleaned up after 20 years of corruption. But I just hope gambling doesn't start breaking out again, and things like that. You'll be hearing from us if it does. After all, 82,000 people voted for Mechem and Stockton." At state Democratic headquarters, things were reported back on an even keel after the campaign rush. State Chairman Tom Brown is taking a 30-day vacation. Santa Fe Democrats were hearing that Brown, who did not take the chairmanship only for the campaign, intends to build up an active, well-coordinated organization. "The dope is," says one, "that everything is going to be on the organization line, that is everybody is going to have to have the endorsement of his county chairman, and so on. That kind of operation got pretty loose during the last four years. It got so that some officials who felt they owed the party nothing did not even consult the party about their personnel. But supposedly, things are going to be different from now on." One source said the new Democratic policy is going to be pegged to the idea that the best organization is built by trying to help the people all year long. He predicted that two years from now the Democrats will boast "a tighter organization than Johnny Miles ever had." That, indeed, would be an accomplishment. Former Gov. Miles, himself a onetime state chairman, was known for his efficient organization.

"FIRE BALL SIGHTED"
SANTA FE — Two Santa Fe residents report they saw a large red-yellow "fire-ball" slide across the sky south of here early last night leaving a luminous trail. Walter Davies, Santa Fe high school student, and an unidentified woman told of seeing the object move "quite slowly at a 45 degree angle toward the horizon."

1954 JUNIOR HIGH HORNET FOOTBALL TEAM, UNDEFEATED

Junior High Hornets Win Honors for Top Season

Coach Bud Wilborn's Junior High Hornets received the praise of all Quarterback club members last night and the complete high school coaching staff at a special dinner for the Hornets and their fathers.

Two members of the Junior high team received individual awards, one for the best leadership and the other for the most improvement. Wilborn told the group the boys had a tough time deciding who had shown the most improvement, since the whole team improved so much from the first practice.

Bulldog team in another year. Clack will be a freshman next year. The leadership award went to James Mitchell, also a senior, presented by Neil Watson—who talked the boy into giving a speech. The "speech" was a well deserved pat on the back to Wilborn for teaching all the boys football fundamentals.

SPORTS ROUNDUP—Griffith Not Cantankerous In Opposing A's Sale

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—Clark Griffith, the aged owner of the Washington Nats, wasn't just being cantankerous when he fought the transfer of the Philadelphia Athletics to Kansas City right down to the bitter end. The "Old Fox" might well have been battling for the very life of his club, and the fact that he lost gives a sad side to the big baseball transaction.

Baltimore owners come up with a contending team. The cut in TV revenue promises to be serious enough right from the start. The Nats are bound to take a substantial whack. The same beer sponsor operates both from Washington and Baltimore, and he cannot reasonably be expected to slip each club its former figure.

When the 1955 American league season opens, the aggressive Baltimore Orioles will be in business as an Eastern team only 40 easy miles from Washington. It will be a natural alignment, in contrast to last year's silly situation in which the Orioles were members of the Western tier of teams. But it also could prove a mortal blow to the Washington franchise.

League President Will Harridge, determined that the scrapping owners should reach a decision at their meeting here two days ago, overrode Griffith's stormy protest on this angle with the statement that it was a matter for the two teams and the sponsor to thresh out among themselves. The Orioles, now comparatively well heeled, probably can afford to shrug it off, but it won't be that simple for the Nats.

Bulldog Coaches Remind Quarterbacks of Way Roswell Dashed Artesia Pennant Aspirations

Bulldog coaches were singing the familiar song of "They did it before—and they can do it again" last night at a meeting of the Quarterback club where Reese Smith warned downtown boosters not to become overconfident.

Smith said many Artesians might be sorrowfully disappointed Friday night when they find out Roswell has a mighty tough team. "Too many people," he said, "think just because we got past the Cavemen we have a cinch for this district."

Referring to the Carlsbad game, Smith said he had heard some criticism about all the passing. "But if you had to run through a line of men, you'd pass too," Smith pointed out that both TDs were made by passing—and we're just as proud of those boys as if we'd beat 'em 60-0.

Coach Walt Bynum said Roswell hasn't impressed anyone yet as being a good, championship team. "But," he cautioned, "they haven't lost a ball game this season—and they didn't lose one last year."

Coach Verlon Davis, who scouted the game with Bynum, said Roswell can and will give Artesia lots of trouble. "They'll be up for this game—just like they were last year when they took us to camp."

Albuquerque Duke Sale Is Slated to Businessmen

ALBUQUERQUE — Sale of the Albuquerque Dukes to a group of local businessmen will be completed within the next few days, owner H. G. "C" Fausett announced today.

The selling price is $25,000. Fausett said he has agreed to a plan set up today whereby the sale of $100 shares will be conducted among the interested Albuquerque baseball fans.

More than half of the money needed to purchase the team has been pledged, Fausett said. "It is quite possible the Dukes might be community-owned before the week is out," Fausett added.

league meetings get under way in Houston the last week in November.

Businessmen who met with Fausett formulated a plan for the sale of the team. Minimum cost of one share is $100, but a maximum of five shares has been set for an individual stock holder.

"The plan will allow many more people to have an active part in the operation of the club," Fausett said.

A stockholder's meeting will be called in the near future when the $25,000 purchase price is raised. Stock holders at that time will make plans for the operation of the club.

The Duke owner said he hoped to complete the sale of the team as early as possible in order to accept a position with his brother's construction firm in Little Rock, Ark.

The $25,000 purchase price includes the Duke City franchise in the class B West Texas-New Mexico league, plus all the physical assets Fausett has in the club here. Seventeen players, 66 uniforms, concession equipment, office supplies and other maintenance equipment is also included in the deal.

Fausett also said that the new Duke owners are almost certain to get a working agreement with some major league team. He says he's received promising replies in his search for a working agreement in the past two weeks.

Fausett has been holding informal conferences with local businessmen for two weeks trying to find some method of disposing of the baseball franchise. He decided two weeks ago that he would not operate the team next year.

Sports Coverage Helps Relations

THE CARLSBAD CURRENT-ARGUS won itself a good many friends and boosted Artesia-Carlsbad relations with its post-game coverage of last Friday night's classic football game at the Cave City.

While the Current-Argus had gone all-out in its pre-game pep-up, claiming Carlsbad by two TDs, the Sunday after it good-naturedly proclaimed "Wait Until Next Year" in its banner headline over the game story.

For three days straight preceding the game, the newspaper had run a picture of the Artesia backfield, proclaiming "Carlsbad CAN Stop This Backfield." On Sunday one word was changed—"Carlsbad DIDN'T Stop This Backfield."

Sports Editor John Alexander in his column, "Alexander's Alley," simply said "I was wrong." His account of the game as the topnotch football contest it was fair, and in the best tradition of sportsmanship.

In addition to the Current-Argus, other developments played a part in leaving Artesia students and adult fans with a might good feeling after the game—more than even a victory would give. Carlsbad students, by chipping in their small change, purchased a bulldog pup for presentation to the Artesia club—a gesture which brought from the Artesia cheerleader the response "I only wish we could give you a real live Caveman."

Make no mistake that the rivalry Friday night was less intense, the teams less determined. But there surrounded the entire affair an attitude of good will and geniality.

Perhaps we adults can take the high schoolers' example and work out our differences with no less determination, or less rivalry, but with good will added.

Boost Possible in Collections

JOHN SIMMS, JR., governor-elect, declared the other day he will investigate the possibilities of increasing the state's revenues through more strict enforcement of present revenue-collecting measures.

It is possible, Simms said, that the state might increase its income tax collections from the present $3 million annually to as much as $5 million—or more.

Simms is undertaking the study before he enters office to succeed Gov. Edwin L. Mechem.

Simms has the backing of New Mexico's tax-paying public in this particular instance, for the frequent and unceasing bragadocio by So-and-So that he has never paid state income tax is grossly unfair to the conscientious New Mexican who divvies up his share.

Four Candidates

Bill Lorange, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Lorange, has been a resident of Artesia since 1945. Bill has been a member of the student council for the past four years, was president of Junior high school student body. Bill has been home room president for the past two years and is now junior class president.

He is at the present time in Jackson, Miss., at a meeting of the Southern Association of Student Council members. The group is discussing learning more about student council work. The meeting will end Saturday, Nov. 12.

Bill has taken parliamentary procedures under the direction of J. T. Short. He is a charter member of the Junior Honor Society and is now a member of the Senior Honor Society. He also participates in the Science club, high school chorus, Allied Youth, and is an art editor on the annual staff.

Kaye Brashers and Mary Margaret Whitson have combined efforts in backing Bill while he is in Mississippi.

Diekie Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thad Cox of 802 W. Missouri, has been a most active member in the junior class. He represented the class as the carnival king candidate. He is a member of DeMolay and Allied Youth. Now sixteen, he has lived in Artesia for the past nine and one half years. Diekie is a member of the Artesia high school band.

Jerry Daugherty is backing his campaign.

Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Martin, has recently returned from Texas where he has lived for the past few months. He has made his home in Artesia for a number of years and is well known here. Marshall was winner in the state on his essays, "Voice of Democracy" and "Conservation." He is a member of Student Council, has been on the past two years, and is a member of the Science club. Marshall was vice-president of the sophomore class. Betty Burch is working as his manager as the race gets into full swing.

Their poker game was interrupted by a mysterious noise outside the tent. The hunter, shot-gun in hand went to investigate. Seems he had one number six shot in the gun however, and he didn't really think he'd need it.

As the hunter circled the tree, there stood Bear on hind legs reaching for the day's kill hanging from the tree. The hunter surprised the bear and vice-versa.

In the confusion that followed the shot-gun was fired, apparently doing no damage. Then man vs. bear met in mortal combat with only one blow being struck.

The hunter whacked the bear over the head, shattering his shot-gun and sending the surprised animal scurrying into the woods.

Hope Promise

The story is circulating that Mrs. Georgia Lusk during her election campaigning made promises to folks in the Hope area about the future of the Hope school if she should be elected.

According to one Hope man, Mrs. Lusk made "some pretty substantial promises" that the school would be continued if she was elected.

Mrs. Lusk carried the Hope precinct by 59 to 42 in the Nov. 2 general election.

Because of the alleged tall promises, some are saying the Hope boosters are fighting a delaying action until Mrs. Lusk enters office in January.

Conservatives

Reports from the high school say Mabel Kinney, a junior, is running for vice-president of the student body.

One of the four candidates elected automatically becomes student body and Student Council president next year.

Now, Miss Kinney is the first girl to seek the nomination since 1945. Our inside information is that the high school element has some doubts about electing a GIRL to that office.

Which goes to being the dangerous radicals some folks think the younger generation has become, the teenage element is among the most conservative of ultraconservative elements, firm in resistance to anything different.

PORTALES, (AP)—A pair of convicted hijackers have filed a motion in district court here for the return to them of cash which their victim says was lifted from him at gunpoint. Don Felton and Eddie Rutledge, now serving penitentiary terms for robbing Kay Cantrell, filed an answer to a petition by Cantrell who had asked the court to direct the sheriff to return a wrist watch and $210 in cash, which was found in the shoes of the two robbers when they were captured.

Sheriff J. E. Vettes filed a separate petition asking the court not only to determine the ownership of the money and the wrist watch, but of 30 bottles of whiskey which the robbers said they took from Cantrell.

McCabe Family Said Improving. Hospital authorities this morning said the condition of the Bert McCabe family is better, with those reported in serious condition yesterday showing a definite improvement.

95 Per Cent

State Patrolman Bob Jurney of Carlsbad, in Artesia last night to bring blood for transfusions for Frank Newman, 17-year-old injured in a hunting accident, paused to have coffee with some reporters.

During the great discussion, Jurney had this to offer on his law work observations: Ninety-five per cent of the public is law-abiding. Of that 95 per cent there is roughly 20 per cent which has to be reminded sometimes of the way of the straight-and-narrow — traffic tickets, warnings from police, etc. The other 75 per cent generally try to "do right."

It's that 5 per cent that gives law officers their main trouble.

ALL MAN CAN DO

No more can be done... No more determined effort is possible than that exercised to achieve excellence in every Maddux Monument.

The designs are chosen with painstaking care. The stock is selected and inspected inch by inch. The cutting, finishing and carving are checked step by step for absolute quality.

From start to finish, Maddux Monuments are dominated by the hard and fast rule that they must be as fine as it is possible to make them. They are that way when they go into the cemetery or they don't go.

As a result, The Maddux Monument Co. is able to assure its customers of finer monuments... monuments with tangible superiority that show up under inspection and that thrive on competition. There are thousands of excellent monuments and satisfied customers to testify to that contention.

MRS. FRANCES CURRIER, North Eddy County March of Dimes chairman, seems to know just what to do with the coin collector which Jim Edgington is handing her. He is the western division fund-raising director for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Looking on is R. P. "Bob" Conway, New Mexico State March of Dimes chairman. The three attended the Wednesday meeting of March of Dimes officials in Denver.

March of Dimes Campaign; Polio Vaccine Discussed

Future use of the new Salk polio vaccine in North Eddy county and New Mexico was the chief topic discussed at a conference of polio leaders in Denver Wednesday, which was attended by Mrs. Frances Currier, recently appointed March of Dimes director of North Eddy county. Mrs. Currier lives in Artesia.

According to Mrs. Currier, plans also were made for the 1955 March of Dimes. "We know that 1955 will be most important year in the fight against polio," Mrs. Currier said.

"While we are placing a great deal of hope in the new vaccine, it will be sometime next spring before a complete evaluation is made. But even though our hopes are high, we know, too, that our patient care program for the thousands of this and other years victims, and our research—now more important than ever—must be maintained," she said.

The Denver meeting was the fifth in a series of Western conferences. Earlier meetings were held in Los Angeles, Seattle, Reno, and Great Falls, Mont.

March of Dimes leaders from Wyoming, Kansas, Nebraska, Utah, and New Mexico as well as Colorado attended the Denver meeting, Mrs. Currier said.

Principal speakers at the March of Dimes conference were Dr. H. A. Press, San Francisco, and Burr Gibson of New York, assistant fund-raising director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Dr. Press is Western medical consultant for the Foundation.

Southwestern Public Service Hits Safety Mark

Southwestern Public Service Co. employees Saturday reached 3-million man-hours without a lost-time accident, only the second time in the history of the electric power industry that an entire company has recorded such a safety accomplishment.

Edison Electric Institute safety officials told A. R. Watson, the company's executive vice-president and general manager, that at the present time, the company was the only one with a continuing safety record that had passed the 3-million man-hour mark.

"No other accomplishments in the history of our company equals this outstanding safety achievement. Such a record requires the devotion of safety of nearly 2,000 men and women. The exceptional factor in this effort is the fact that our employees have accomplished it during the months that their work schedule is the heaviest in the so-called hazardous phases of every work. Safety is an integral part of every employee's thinking. This is a teamwork accomplishment," Watson said.

The highest award of the National Safety Council, the award of honor, will now go to the company's employees. Earlier they had qualified for the National Safety Council award of merit when they recorded their first million accident-free hours.

The company has gone since Jan. 30 of this year without a lost-time accident. It takes the employees just over three months to work a million man-hours. "We made our first million," employees determined to strike a new company and industry high. Now they have reached three million, their determination and enthusiasms are more than trebled. We set our for our fourth million with confidence, firm in knowledge that we serve our customers best when we serve safely," Watson concluded.

NOVEMBER 11th Veterans Day

The membership of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce has resolved that the least that could be done to honor the men of this community who have served their country during the time of all its armed encounters would be to close all possible places of business on November 11, a national day of respect and commemoration which will now be known as Veteran's Day, by proclamation of President Eisenhower.

Your Chamber of Commerce, accordingly, voted that, so far as possible, its members would not do business on Veteran's Day, November 11, 1954, and the undersigned merchants of Artesia are taking this means of notifying the public that they will comply with the wishes of the Chamber membership.
