Roswell Pointing for Bulldog Upset Friday

By BUCK LANIER, Roswell Record Sports Editor
ROSWELL—The season actually begins for the Roswell Coyotes Friday in Artesia. Facing an eight-game winning streak on the line, the defending state AA champions face their severest test of the year against the vengeful Bulldogs. Although the Coyotes are rated 12-point underdogs by the "smart boys," White may prove wrong.

Well's eight game win faces an odd situation tonight. The Coyotes have been beaten when it absorbed a 26-0 licking. Although the Coyotes are rated 12-point underdogs by the "smart boys," White may prove wrong.

Stadium Talk Spreading Among Football Boosters

By EVAN MAHANEY
STADIUM TALK IS BEGINNING to pick up, with the meeting of the school board Monday night officially discussing the possibilities of erecting the stadium. They said any group is welcome to show the board the need and interest for a new stadium.

The board asked, however, that planning of a possible stadium include representatives of the Quarterbacks, Bulldog Boosters, PTA, baseball directors, city council, Chamber of Commerce and Artesia Education Assn. In other words, all interested parties be representative of their organization in the planning committee.

The Quarterbacks have already gone on record as favoring a new stadium, along with several other organizations in Artesia. The school board took the position that there are many ways to view the possibility, and made it clear they wish to hear all pro and con comments.

There's a little pro comment from us. If we win the district championship, the big step to state championship will be a game with Albuquerque Highland. Vernon Mills at football practice, put the question to us: "Where will we play the game?" He explained that the teams have to agree on a stadium, and Artesia has the right to ask for the game here.

But the next question, the one we ask, was: "Would we dare invite the whole state of New Mexico to our stadium and playing field?" In the first place, the present stadium is patetically unable to accommodate a state play-off crowd. Secondly, the field is a far cry from being the turf it should be.

Albuquerque, on the other hand, has a beautiful stadium with all needed seats readily available. Don't misunderstand us. This point to as the factor that sent there seems to be no one thing to the Eagles tumbling from the heights.

Yet, it's all there, eight consecutive whippings if you discount the Clovis forfeit, in black and white. Most observers close to the team tend to put the situation at the doorstep of a number of reasons.

TRADITIONS AND PRECEDENTS have fallen all over the place in the long losing streak.

Fisher-coached Hobbs teams had never, for example lost two in a years. They had never lost to Rosrow during a season. They had well, Clovis, Las Cruces or Lov-bless shut out only twice in six sington—all foes of long standing. In fact, Lovington hadn't beaten a Hobbs team since 1943.

Clearly, lack of experience is a cause for much of the misery. Sophomores have carried much of the burden and inexperienced juniors have been called on more and more as injuries and drop-outs thinned the ranks. One of the four lettermen suffered a broken neck and another dropped from the squad on his own volition.

The drop-outs probably have hurt somewhat, although Fisher contends that "a boy who doesn't have his heart in it isn't going to do us much good anyway." He is puzzled by the quitting, though, and isn't able to come up with a reason for it.

SOME BELIEVE THAT THE schedule, too, is a factor. It's slate ever carded for a Hobbs team possibly the toughest all-around—and that makes a heap of difference when the material's thin to begin with.

Critics—and naturally there are plenty this year where there were few before—say Fisher works his squad too hard. Yet the coach, always a perfectionist, probably is going slower, if anything, than usual.

And some observers believe simply that the school has come upon a drought year, with fewer athletes in the high school classes than in any preceding term.

The answer appears to lie somewhere between all the theories, with a little of each playing a

Theories Galore Pile Up to Explain '54 Fall Of Once-Mighty Hobbs Eagles to Low Fortunes

By VIC JAMESON Sports Editor, Hobbs News-Sun
HOBBS, (AP)—There are plenty of rags-to-riches stories in the world of football, but you seldom see one on riches-to-rags.

That's the kind of story this is—on a team that only last year was one of the most feared in the state, but is now on the bottom of the heap without so much as one actual victory to ease the pain.

What made the Hobbs Eagles fall from glory to the gutter in the space of only one season? Coach Duane Fisher wryly says, "I don't think the coaches' brains turned to buttermilk that fast." Nor is there any de-emphasis to blame it on.

The caliber of the players, while admittedly not close to that of some of Hobbs' championship years, isn't nearly so bad as the record indicates. In other words, high. Mrs. Beadle spent some three hours in line for tickets to the Carlsbad game. While there she noticed the parents of many Bulldogs, patiently awaiting their turn in line—even though their own sons would be among participants in the game. She said:

"I for one, want to go on record as favoring a plan whereby each boy who goes out for practice, day after day, whether he makes the team or not, should be allowed two tickets for his father and mother before available tickets are offered to the school administration, the school board, faculty members, prominent citizens and ordinary citizens."

Thank you Mrs. Beadle—we agree. Advanced argument is that only so many tickets are available—and they must be distributed fairly. Well, perhaps our new stadium wouldn't help Artesia parents secure tickets to a game in Carlsbad—but we can look on the other side of the fence and see where other schools can take advantage of our stadium and give parents of their footballers advance tickets to Artesia.

The Advocate is open to all other pro and con remarks—if you have something to add, let us know.

Supreme Court to Review Exclusive Boxing Contracts

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The future of boxing's "exclusive contract" rested today with the Supreme Court, weighing a governmental challenge of the International Boxing Club.

The government urged the court to declare the fight game to be a business engaged in interstate commerce. Such a ruling would threaten the tight control of IBC has exercised over championship fights for the past five years.

There was no way to determine when the court might rule on the justice department's appeal from a ruling by the U. S. district court for Southern New York.

That court denied the government's monopoly charge. It held that boxing is analogous to baseball and the Supreme Court already has ruled baseball to be exempt from the nation's antitrust laws.

In legal arguments before the high court Wednesday, the IBC attorneys centered on the baseball precedent, claiming that when baseball was exempted from the antitrust laws, so were boxing and all other professional sports.

Philip Elman, special assistant to the attorney general, said in arguing the government's case that the boxing setup is in no way comparable to that in baseball.

Elman based much of his argument on the widespread use of television in boxing events. He said promoters get most of their fight income from TV rights and that as far as they were concerned, "fights might just as well be put on in TV studios."

Department Sees 40,000 Hunters Out for Weekend

SANTA FE — (AP) — The state game department estimated from 30,000 to 40,000 hunters would be in the field this week.

Today, Veterans' Day, was a holiday for many and this was expected to add to the number of hunters.

With the deer getting wilder as the big game season progresses, it was figured only about half to two-thirds as many deer would be killed in the next four days as were taken in the first two days.

The department had no recent reports on how hunters were doing over the state. Officials said there is no provision for day-to-day checks giving the score of hunters vs. deer and turkey.

Deputy State Game Warden Fred Thompson said south-central New Mexico has been subjected to "terrific hunting pressure." He suggested hunters should try other regions, such as the Organ and San Andres Mountains and the Gila country.

Whatever the reasons, everyone up and down the football line hopes they'll not get a lasting grip on the players due to return. There is still hope that the experiences of this year can be salvaged to fashion a Hobbs team of the old tradition by next season.

Good Taste Is Easy in Home At Low Cost

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Home is what you make it. And good taste is easy on the budget if you'll just keep your eyes open.

A recent home furnishings show in New York, for instance, was packed with ideas, ripe for use by clever homemakers. Here are some:

If walls are your problem — cracks, unsightly blemishes or walls that need a mere perking up, try mattress ticking, sandpaper or burlap. Perhaps your taste would veer to leather or clay tile. Wallpaper murals may enhance tiny rooms. Embossed plastic wall coverings in stone, straw or burlap look like the real thing.

Floor fun can begin with exciting tiles in cork, leather, linoleum, parquet, clay and vinyl. Some of these have inlay of aluminum, brass, stainless steel and pewter. Soft area rugs topped these floor coverings and every hue from white to purple was used in hard and soft floorings. Raspberry in vinyl tile was particularly luscious for those who are not afraid of color.

Color can sparkle throughout the house providing it is used with a deft hand. Try any of the jewel colors with white and pastels. Use tangerine with gold or white. Try various shades of purple for a charming vineyard effect. Deep Japanese lacquer shades or combinations of the Empire colors — Venetian red and gold have a particular elegance. Bristol blue accessories will liven up the dulllest color scheme.

A small room can look larger by matching a wall and floor. The theme of one room covered with a "terrazzo" linoleum inlay was carried over to a storage cabinet clear across one wall making the room seem deeper. Where seating space must be tossed on the floor for company occasions, perk up a dull wall by covering a shelf clear across it and down to the floor in sparkling mosaic tile.

One color trick employed by a decorator to blaze up an attic decor involved the use of crimson red orange and pink, easier on the eyes than you'd think.

Pebble sculpture was another innovation worth the effort. It was achieved by putting pebbles in wet cement encased in a metal frame. The black and white of the pebble sculpture slabs used along a wall carried out the black and white theme of a room furnished with a Scandinavian chair, upholstered in black wool, and a teal table. Textured wood blinds at the windows are charming budget accessories, available in pastels and decorator hues. Vertical sun blinds electronically controlled may be reversed at will. These go from floor to ceiling.

SALT LAKE CITY — — — — — When they turn water into their new industrial heaters, two inventors here have trouble convincing people they are not trying to burn the water. The superheat steam in white-hot tubes and use it to atomize oil which is the real fuel.

George W. Jackson and Bill G. Daugherty say their method gets more heat out of the oil. They have produced a number of the big heaters and hope to develop one small enough to heat an ordinary home.

Big trouble is, things get so hot in their burners that metals usually put into furnaces won't stand up. For the small heaters they plan to use metals which have been developed for jet engines.
