McMillan Drowning Victims' Bodies Found

Anti-Commies Surrender to Swiss Officers

BERN, Switzerland. (AP)—All three anti-Communists holding the barricaded Romanian legation here surrendered without bloodshed today. The men walked out the front door of the legation and between files of police stepped into a waiting police patrol wagon. They were effectively shielded from the view of almost all nonofficial spectators. The group had been given an ultimatum to get out or fight. Swiss tank officers surveyed the legation area and rifle-armed troops ringed the grounds. The ultimatum, first set for 11 a. m., was extended to 4 p. m. (8 a. m. MST) after the men showed their first signs of giving up. Capt. Hermann Alboth of the Swiss Army said there were only three men in the building at the end and the fourth man was only a bluff. Police who entered the legation after the three walked out, ending their dramatic 42-hour occupation of the legation, said the building was strewn with torn-up Communist propaganda material. Otherwise, they said, the building was not seriously damaged.

The three men were between 27 and 35 years of age. They refused to give their names. Police said the leader of the band told them his father had been killed by the Russians in Romania. The group, which slew the legation chauffeur when he resisted them early Tuesday, had vowed to hold the legation buildings in this capital of neutral Switzerland until their Red homeland freed five resistance leaders.

One-Record Disc Jockey Marathon Stirs Listeners

NEW ORLEANS. (AP)—The one-record marathon of two disc jockeys spun into its third day today. Bill Elliott and Bill Stanley, announcers at radio station WNOE, started their marathon with the record "Shitgy Boom" as a gag at 8 a. m. Monday to publicize the station's new all-night broadcasting schedule. They wore out two records and had to record the tune on tape to spare their third and last copy. The blues-rhythm tune was recently recorded and tells of a lover pleading for the return of his affections. The only breaks in the "Shitgy Boom" chant were newscasts, commercials and a broadcast of the feature race from the fairgrounds yesterday. Station manager James Gordon said phone calls flooded the stations' switchboard, some approving and a few complaining. He said one person said there must be something wrong with the station because "they keep hearing the same record."

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Annie Laurie Attaway, A. L. Attaway, Hugh McCullough, E. A. McCullough, all of Midland county, Tex., have petitioned to remove their suit against Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. from county to federal court. They seek to quiet title on oil, gas and other mineral rights on Lea county property.

House Quietly Kills Plan Ending Price Undercuts

SANTA FE. (AP)—The House unanimously and quietly killed a bill yesterday which would have prohibited price discrimination by merchants and banned loss leaders. Rep. M. S. Smith (D-Curry) the sponsor of HB170, told colleagues: "This bill closely corresponds with HB113. It seems like there has been so much trouble over

Suspects Held In Hatchet Attack On Clovis Girl

CLOVIS. (AP)—Dist. Atty. Richard Rowley is holding two men for questioning in the hatchet attack of a young girl, but he says he will not file charges until the girl is well enough to identify her attacker. Janice Wells, 14, was attacked by a hatchet-wielding man as she was alone at home Sunday night. Police rushing to her aid heard her screams over the telephone that lay off the hook in the room. She was looked in by hospital authorities as in considerably improved condition today. She suffered gashes on the head and throat.

A police roundup brought in two Negroes, Police Chief Ollie Darnon said. He refused to elaborate, except to say one of the two had a record and the other had what appeared to be blood on his trousers.

Dist. Atty. Richard Rowley said he wants to be certain he has the right man before filing charges. He said he would wait until Miss Wells can pick her attacker from a police line up.

PLANS CONTINUE ADS SANTA FE. (AP)—Land Commissioner E. S. Walker says his office will continue buying advertising in Sun Trails magazine. His statement came in answer to criticism from State Purchasing Agent A. G. Campbell of $200 spent by the land office on the color cover of the privately owned magazine last month. Walker said it was for forest fire prevention advertising.

SCHOLARSHIP AWARDED ALBUQUERQUE. (AP)—Freshmen engineering students from Clayton and Roswell have each received $500 scholarships to the University of New Mexico. John C. Elder, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Elder of Clayton, and Donald Dearbolt, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Dearholt of Roswell, are the recipients.

Runaway Trucks Stir Bitter Feeling Among Raton People

By SANKY TRIMBLE RATON. (AP)—Along First and Second streets, they still don't like what has been aptly described as a shotgun pointed down the community throat of this northern New Mexico city. There is still a certain amount of jitter over when the next runaway heavily-loaded truck will come roaring death down off Raton Pass straight into the heart of this former mining city. Likewise, there's still considerable bitterness that little has been done about the situation—bitterness which takes in both the New Mexico highway department and the state bureau of revenue.

It wasn't the first time there have been accidents—but it was the first death. Others have been injured. The town has been scared out of 10 years growth half a dozen times. School kids have just been miraculously missed. It still could happen—the shotgun is still loaded and pointing. Truck stop operator Jim Elliott, in his spare time an eloquent newspaper columnist, is one of the leaders in the battle to have something done. "There's no law of averages that says a truck has to go out of control because of brake failure in the middle of the night," he contends. "It could happen when those intersections are jammed with kids going home from school. It could happen in the business rush hours."

Bodies Found Near Center Of Reservoir

Bodies of two men believed to have died by drowning Monday afternoon at Lake McMillan were found within 55 minutes of each other near the lake's center this afternoon. Searchers found the bodies of Tom Harshaw, 41, of Loco Hills, and Cedell Busby, 27, of Eunice, near the center of Lake McMillan. The two men had last been seen by their wives an hour before sundown Monday. Harshaw's body was found at 12:15 this afternoon when a boat manned by Ira L. Garner and Ira Garner Jr., contacted it. The Garners were just about to cut the boat's motor and begin a new search pattern when the body was found. Immediately 30 other boats on the lake in the big search effort converged on the general area. Busby's body was found at 1:05, within 15 to 20 feet of Harshaw's. The boat was manned by Max and Wallace Johnson, who had joined the search effort this morning. Mrs. Harshaw identified her husband's body after notification by police at the home of friends in Artesia where she had been staying. She was at the lake when Busby's body was brought in. At 2 p. m. today, no official cause of death had been pronounced, but it is believed the men died by drowning. An ambulance arrived. (Continued on page 4)

State Drought Aid Again Dropped

ALBUQUERQUE. (AP)—B. B. Atchley, state farmers home administration director, says no appeals were filed in his office by midnight last night, so the state is off the drought relief program for the second time since the program started in July, 1953.

New Mexico farmers and ranchers in nine southern counties were allowed to buy a 60-day feed supply, and northern stockmen were allowed a 90-day supply under the program to hold them until spring. The counties under the program were Chaves, Curry, DeBaca, Eddy, Lincoln, Otero, Roosevelt, Socorro, Catron, Colfax, Guadalupe, Harding, Mora, Santa Fe, San Miguel, Torrance, Union and Valencia.

'Coffee-Break' at Roswell Disrupts Telephone System

ROSSELL. (AP)—A "coffee break" interrupted telephone service for 1½ hours yesterday afternoon. Officials of the Mountain States Telephone Co. declined to discuss fully what happened. Union officials of the Communications Workers of America's local 8609 denied that the interruption was a wildcat strike or that anything of that sort is planned. Phone service here and over a wide area of southwestern New Mexico was disrupted between 3:30 and 5 p. m. when all 49 operators left their stations. Service was resumed when supervisory personnel took over under emergency conditions, a company official said. Someone explained that the interruption was "just a long coffee break."

Union officials denied rumors it grew out of a dispute over the downgrading of three male employees. A union meeting, termed a "members meeting" and barred to the press, was held last night. Union officials would not tell the purpose of it, but did say "management has agreed to a meeting at the state level to hash out the present problem" in Santa Fe later this week. They did not elaborate on what the "present problem" is.

Body of Eleventh Flood Victim Found Tuesday

Another body has been found near Hagerman, that of a Mexican National, missing since the Oct. 7 flood. He was identified as Manuel Rodriguez, although complete information on the man had not yet been obtained. This was the second flood victim's body found near Hagerman this week. The body was found by a group of Mexican Nationals digging fence holes just below from the Felix channel from the point where it flows into the Pecos river. The point where the body was found was just a half-mile from the place where a group of flood victims last fall launched a boat in an effort to conduct some rescue work. Apparently the boat capsized. Rodriguez' body was found almost completely covered with a huge piece of tin at the base of a salt cedar. Saturday a Walker Air Force airman and his family found the 10th body near the spot where Rodriguez was found. There are apparently two remaining bodies known missing but not yet found.

The action on HB139, aimed at abolishing the state engineer's authority over underground water in areas which voted to that effect, represented a stand by the lawmakers for statewide control of what many leaders call the state's most valuable and scarce natural resource. Also killed without ado was a bill which would have required registration of pistols and obtaining of permits to possess a pistol. "I could stand here and talk all day, and it wouldn't change a thing," Rep. Tom Mimmis (D-Quay), the pistol bill sponsor, said. Two other water bills received favorable committee reports and were placed on the House calendar. One would extend the provisions of the artesian underground water districts law to all underground water in the state.

First Drive-In Cleaning Plant Started By Guy's

Artesia's first drive-in drycleaning establishment will be conducted by Guy's Cleaners, currently located at 320 W. Main in new location. Building will begin Monday on $15,000 expansion, to be located east south of J. C. Penney Co. at 4 S. Fourth. Contractor is Ed Brown. Guy Smith, owner of the business for the past seven years, said building will be erected with new construction. It will be 35 by 45 feet. Smith said the best of the clean-plant's present equipment will be moved to the new drive-in building to be coupled with some new equipment to be purchased. Estimated time for the construction job is estimated at 45 days, plus delays.

The new plant will offer true drive-in service, Smith said, with men able to hand clothing for cleaning through convenient windows, and pickup in the same manner. Smith will be leased, he said. Smith is a native of the Artesia area, born on a ranch west of the city. For 20 years prior to owning his own business he was employed by Artesia Laundry and Cleaners.

Not Again? Oh Yes—Robber Strikes Twice

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP)—Floyd Williams, a service station attendant, looked up last night to see a familiar man in blue jeans and a sweat shirt confronting him with a revolver. "Not again," Williams said, slapping his forehead. "Yep," said the bandit. "Fork it over." Williams gave him the day's receipts, $60. Last Friday night the same gunman got $200.

Hospital Building Suit Dismissed

SANTA FE. (AP)—Dist. Judge David W. Carmody today dismissed a complaint by Paul Priest of Albuquerque against the Miners Hospital's award of a construction contract to Modern Construction Co., Santa Fe. Carmody's action followed a request from Priest that he do so. The dismissal was with prejudice, meaning it can never be filed again.

Funeral Service Set Thursday for Mrs. Foreman

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Emmer Foreman will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the First Baptist church with Rev. J. E. Mitchell conducting. Burial will be in Woodbine cemetery. Mrs. Foreman was born Nov. 1, 1884 at Briertown, Okla., and married Walter Foreman at Emery, Texas, in 1898. He died in 1930. She came to Artesia two years ago from Alamogordo. She died at 9:05 a. m. Tuesday at Artesia General hospital. She is survived by four sons, Henry, Espanola; Jessie, Artesia; Lester, Arkinds, Ark., and Linzie, New Boston, Texas; three daughters Mrs. Addie Morgan, Artesia; Mrs. Effie Farmer, Alamogordo, and Mrs. Virgin Estes, Carlsbad, 41 grandchildren, and 16 great grandchildren.

U. S. 70 GROUP MEETS ALAMOGORDO. (AP)—The new Mexico Highway 70 Assn will hold its annual convention here tomorrow. The president of the national organization, Charles Hassing of Rugo, Okla., will be among the speakers. Another speaker will be Pete Erwin, chief engineer for the New Mexico highway department.

Senator Charges Special Interests Kill Mellorine

By JULIUS GOLDEN SANTA FE. (AP)—Sen. Robert S. Taft (R-Ohio) declared today that the "Unfair Practices Act" and other bills put forth by the private interests, Palmer said. "It's just like the old oleomargarine fight and the same misstatements were said about oleo as were said yesterday about Mellorine. "What actually happened was that the Senate defeated American free enterprise." Palmer said the authority to sell and produce mellorine in New Mexico would have done the dairy industry little harm and the cotton industry relatively little good. The National Cotton Council has backed mellorine bills in various states. "When you get right down to it,"

Palmer said "it's the same old story. A frozen dessert like mellorine would have done the housewives good. But a special interest—the dairy producers—defeated it and the consumer lost again." Palmer said there was no doubt that a special interest defeated the bill. "Confessedly so," he said, "as evidenced by the debate in the Senate yesterday." The mellorine bill met staunch opposition from dairy counties. Sen. Earl Parker (D-Torrance), during the debate yesterday, said dairy farmers in New Mexico were just about breaking even. "One more, straw could well break the camel's back," Parker said. "Science has given us increased fine foods at increasingly lower prices," Palmer said. "It's a shame the special interests had to knock out this bill now." Meanwhile, a senator who asked that his name be withheld and who voted against the mellorine measure, said he voted against it "simply because of the pressure that came from my county. I believe most of the dairy farmers misunderstood the bill. I think it was a good bill but I wanted to vote against it." A supporter of the measure, Sen. Harold Agnew (D-Los Alamos), said "those who voted against it ought to practice what they preach." "These senators talk about the economic development commission to bring new industry to New from the southern portion of the state and the major opposition was from the north—where there is dairy farming. "It's a battle between the south and the north," said Sen. John P. Cusack (R-Chaves). "Maybe while I speak they ought to strike up 'Dixie'." Cusack summed up the feelings of the mellorine proponents, Palmer said, when the Chaves county Republican said: "As I see it, it's very simple. If you can eat it, you ought to be able to produce it." Palmer said the mellorine bill probably will pass two years from now.

Mexico," Agnew said. "But when a new industry tries to get into New Mexico, it meets the opposition of special interests. It all boils down to some saying one thing and voting just the opposite." Sen. F. J. Dangle (D-Lea) said during the debate on the bill that "the Senate is overlooking the consumer." He said it is conceivable that many poor families cannot afford ice cream in their homes and mellorine could be the answer for them. "I believe there is room on the market for both products," Dangle said. Sen. Stephen Brock (D-Harding) (Continued on page 4)

Artesia Committee Named For World Day of Prayer

Members of the committee for World Day of Prayer observance Feb. 25 have been named by Mrs. James Hilton, Jr., chairman. They are Mrs. Ira Dixon, Mrs. Albert Betancourt, Mrs. Curtis Bolton, and Mrs. Raymond Lamb.

According to Mrs. Hilton, Mrs. Dixon and Mrs. Betancourt will see that shut-ins are visited and hear a special prayer that day. Mrs. Bolton is in charge of publicity for the event and Mrs. Bev Graham is to arrange a display window in a downtown store the week preceding World Day of Prayer.

Mrs. Raymond Lamb is in charge of observance for Girl Scouts and Dick Canfield is overseeing observances by Boy Scout troops. Mrs. Hilton has also announced the principals are planning special programs for all schools Feb. 25.

Mrs. Stanley Carper is to plan the special music for World Day of Prayer program which will be presented at 2:30 p. m., Feb. 25 at St. Paul Episcopal church. A nursery for small children, whose mothers wish to attend the service will be maintained at the First Presbyterian church.

A new color film strip entitled "Because Women Pray" is now available to all churches. It tells the story of persons helped by the prayers and gifts of the day. The film has already been shown to several church groups, Mrs. Hilton state and anyone wishing to use it should contact her.

"Because of the gravity of present world conditions, we feel a city-wide observance is especially important at this time," Mrs. Hilton said. "In addition to our universal prayer for peace, all countries of the world have been allotted various states for prayer emphasis. We in New Mexico are to pray especially for Korea and Kuwait (Arabia)."

Artesia will be among the 19,000 communities in the United States and 125 countries in the world observing the day. The local observance is sponsored by the Artesia Council of United Church Women.

Airman Surviving Wilderness Cold Smiles at Newsmen

WINNIPEG, Man. (AP)—Flashing a big grin, Tommy Pittman, who survived three bitterly cold nights and two days in the wilderness without food greeted newsmen: "I'm mighty glad to be here."

The 34-year-old U.S. Air Force captain could still laugh and smile although his right leg was broken and frost bitten and his head injured.

Last night Capt. Pittman was flown to Winnipeg, five hours after he was plucked from the northern Saskatchewan wilderness on which he dropped after a B-47 Stratojet bomber exploded at a height of 35,000 feet 110 miles west of The Pas, Man., last Saturday.

Pittman was taken to the Deer Lodge military hospital and after a quick examination by a staff doctor, called the press representative in to tell his story.

"I DIDN'T have anything else to do last Friday so I decided to go along for the ride," he said. He wanted to test out a new type of survival suit. The suit saved his life.

Pittman, a Stratojet captain himself, based at Riverside, Calif., was flying with Lt. Col. Kenneth G. McGrew, 33, and Capt. Lester E. Epton, 33, and Maj. Robert Dowdy, 31.

McGrew and Epton also survived the crash—McGrew was rescued a few hours after the crash, Epton Sunday morning. Dowdy's body was found in the wreckage of the plane.

Pittman, a native of Fabens, Texas, said Dowdy was knocked unconscious by the explosion, and he tried to press the button that would eject Dowdy's seat from the plane. But the violent motion of the plane sent him sliding.

"It was a bad sensation, like a person sliding down a hill, and that's how I went out," he said.

PITTMAN said his leg was broken in the plane—"it just seemed to buckle under me."

Sometimes between the explosion and when he reached the earth he lost all his survival gear, except for a .38 caliber pistol. He also had a handful of sulphur cold tablets which his wife slipped into his pocket before he left Riverside.

Pittman said he landed on his broken leg, "but I didn't feel a thing. It was numb."

Within 15 minutes he had fashioned a splint out of small branches and his shoe laces.

"But the shoe laces weren't sufficient so I chewed off two shroud lines from my chute."

It took him two hours to chew through the nylon ropes.

UNABLE to move, other than to raise himself, he formed a small shelter over his face with the parachute.

He decided not to eat any snow as it would use up too many calories. He ate six cold tablets before he was rescued.

"I tried to move two or three times but the snow was too deep." He fired three shots at a rabbit before bringing it down.

"But it stopped 20 feet away from me and I couldn't get it."

He watched the rescue of either McGrew or Epton take place about a mile away.

"I never lost faith though. I felt I could last a couple more days."

Tuesday morning, a U.S. Air Force search plane spotted the parachute and Pittman on the ground.

A para-rescue team in a helicopter picked him up.

Highlands Falls To St. Mike's

LAS VEGAS (AP)—Persistent Highlands university just couldn't quite make it and fell before St. Michael's of Santa Fe 79-78 in a New Mexico conference basketball game here last night.

Highlands managed to take a 40-39 lead at half time and then to grab the lead occasionally in the closing minutes. But Ray Martinez of St. Mike's plunked in a free throw with 10 seconds to go and gave his team the victory.

Jim Humphrey of St. Mike's led scoring with 27 points. Gene Fulgence of Highlands was second with 22.

Ben Caudle Nominated as President of Toastmasters

Ben Caudle has been chosen by a Toastmasters club nominating committee as its candidate for the club's presidency.

The recommendation came in a report from a nominating committee under Wallace Beck, which also proposed other candidates:

Owen Hensley, executive vice president; Keith Damp, educational vice president; Johnny Sparks, secretary-treasurer; Jack Bentley, sergeant-at-arms; Tommy Thompson, deputy district governor.

Nominations from the floor included those for Vernon Bryan as vice president; Andy Corbin, educational vice president and Bob Siegel, secretary-treasurer.

Election of officers is scheduled the first week in March, in installation first week in April.

Toastmaster for last night's meeting was Owen Hensley. Vernon Bryan acted as topic master. Topics concerned current events, Johnny Sparks spoke on "Citizens or Suicide," and M. T. Peters on "The Humorous Side of a Vacation." Sparks' critic was Keith Damp, Peters' critic Tommy Thompson.

Bob Siegel served as overall evaluator, Wallace Beck as timer. Pres. Dr. G. P. Ruppert announced the Artesia club will meet with the Carlsbad club next week. Artesia members will meet at Hotel Artesia, leaving at 6 p. m. for Carlsbad.

Guests last night were Cecil Fletcher and Virgil Jakeyay.

Marciano-Cockell Fight Scheduled

GROSSINGER, N. Y. (AP)—England's pudgy Don Cockell will get the first chance to put heavy-weight champion Rocky Marciano's battered and valuable nose to supreme test in a title fight in May. The site will probably be San Francisco's Kezar Stadium.

After watching his heavily protected meal ticket box another three rounds with sparmate Keene Simmons yesterday, manager Al Weill said he was satisfied with the condition of the champ's schnozzola. No blood was shed.

Al immediately pronounced Rocky fit for duty and surprised no one by announcing that Cockell, the 26-year-old British Empire king, would be the opponent.

Dentist, Dealer Tournery Leaders

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—A dentist and an automobile dealer who usually play only on weekends shot 69s yesterday to lead the first qualifying round of the National Tournament of Golf Club Champions.

Dr. Charles E. Emery of Corpus Christi, Tex., and Ken Smat's of Ridgewood, N. J., bettered par by three strokes on the 645-yard Pinnac de Cuba course.

Favorites trailed the leaders by two to five shots.

Billy Goodloe, defending titleholder from Valdosta, Ga., and Ray Taylor, North Carolina champion, fired 71s.

Brady, Burr Pit Strength in Movie

Formidable opponents in the raw drama of "They Were So Young," Lippert Pictures presentation at the Ocotillo theater tonight and Thursday, are co-stars Scott Brady and Raymond Burr.

Both actors are colorfully cast in the Kurt Neumann production, Burr as a Brazilian plantation owner and Brady as an American adventurer who opens a mine in the South American jungles.

As usual, a beautiful lady is the pawn of the encounter. In this case she is Johanna Matz, Continental charmer who is introduced in the feature as a mannequin involved with racketeers using a high-fashion house as a front for illicit activity. Five of Europe's loveliest models share feminine honors with Johanna in the new film, produced, directed and co-authored by Neumann, who made "The Carnival Story."

Jones Challenges Olson in Non-Title Match Tonight

CHICAGO (AP)—Ralph "Tiger" Jones, upsetter of Sugar Ray Robinson a month ago, unflinchingly challenges middleweight champion Bobo Olson in a non-title 10-rounder tonight at Chicago Stadium.

The confident YoYnkens, N. Y., Negro has been installed a 4-1 underdog against the finely conditioned San Francisco titleholder, who is unbeaten in his last 18 starts and has lost only six times in 66 bouts.

Texas Open Final Practice Slated

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Final practice rounds and a golf clinic take up the time of the hotshots of the tournament trail today as they square away for the $12,500 Texas Open. One of the stars, Jimmie Demaret, was on the doubtful list.

Demaret, usually a high finisher in the tournament here, was taken to a hospital last night when he had an attack while playing in a pro-amateur. It apparently was indigestion and Demaret was confident he would be all right and able to play in the open.

Historical Event

APPEARING at her Hollywood studio on crutches for wardrobe tests for her next picture, Betty Grable perhaps made screen history. It was believed the first time a glamor gal had appeared on crutches for such tests. She sprained her right ankle getting out of bed. (International)

Personal Mention

Mrs. Elsie Johnston of Phoenix, Ariz., is here attending to business matters, visiting her brother, V. L. Gates, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Houghtaling and children, Jerry, Susan, and Judy, took his sister, Mrs. Shelby Amos and daughter, Sherry June, to their home in Farmington on Saturday. They returned home by Albuquerque where they visited the zoo and other places of interest.

Dungarees for Wedding Bells Good Trade

AP Newsfeatures

Anybody wanna trade old dungarees for some wedding bells? It looks like there'll be a tremendous market in orange blossoms (i.e., if our correspondence is any indication. Mail from boys as well as girls center on the marriage theme. And right now the principle interest seems to be in engagements. Here are some of the letters with answers we hope will help guys and dolls in the future as well as those inquiring now...

Q. Do you have to give a girl an engagement ring? Can you be engaged and announce the engagement even though she doesn't get a ring?

A. Certainly. Lots of girls prefer it that way, hoping the boy will put that money toward the vine-covered cottage. If you can't afford a diamond, however, remember that any stone may be elected as the engagement stone. The girl's birthstone is usually second choice, although some girls prefer to wear the young man's birth gem.

Q. How should we announce our engagement?

A. Parents usually send the announcement with a photograph of the bride-to-be to local newspapers. Before that, however, all relatives are told although they are asked to keep the secret until the wedding date has been set.

Q. When does my future bride wear her engagement ring?

A. The ring is not usually worn until there has been a public announcement.

Q. Is it necessary to bring a gift to an engagement party?

A. No. Relatives and intimate friends usually do bring the couple a gift but it is not obligatory and should not be expected.

Q. Is it necessary to have a formal engagement party?

A. A tea or dinner party is customary but more young people are having the big informal type party which they enjoy more.

Q. Would it be considered corny to make the announcement over a hidden microphone at a large gathering?

A. No. Whatever really suits the couple might be done even as a departure from strict rules of etiquette. One couple might hang a large banner across the room with appropriate message, another might like to print small signs and stick them in cup cakes at each place setting.

Q. Should the girl give a gift to her fiancé?

A. It is not necessary. But some girls do it and such gifts as wallets, cigarette cases, tie clasps and cuff links are all considered acceptable.

Q. I do not have very much money and I'm afraid my girl will pick an expensive ring. What should I do?

A. Why not visit the jeweler in advance and pick out some rings within your price range. Ask the jeweler to show those rings only to your sweetheart.

German Youngsters Build Own Needed Classrooms

By MANFRED HENTSCHEL

SOLTAU, Germany (AP)—For more than six months there were no lessons in drawing and design in Soltau's secondary school—in- stead, the pupils constructed an additional school building.

The 107-foot-long bungalow, which contains four modern classrooms and a central heating room, did not cost a single pfennig of public funds. The project is unique in West German states which, without exception, are troubled by a severe school building shortage.

Boys Do Work

Under the direction of a few skilled workers—all of them volunteers—three or four dozen boys built up the walls, fixed the roof and laid the floor.

Today, a small oak sign is nailed above the entrance: "We helped ourselves."

"And it was great fun doing it," says Klaus Leven, 12, youngest of the bricklaying students. "We spent many evenings and spare hours on the building site, and there wasn't a single accident. But the whole thing wouldn't have come off without Herr Bartos—he is our drawing teacher. He is grand."

Florian Bartos, 46, initiated the project in 1953 and in May last year started excavation work with his boys—only to get entangled with local red tape. Soltau authorities were sceptical, for the plans, if carried out by a private contractor, would cost $18,500.

Objections Dropped

Fearing that the project would fail and they would have to pay to finish it, city authorities even threatened to take disciplinary action against Bartos. But the stout, balding teacher convinced them that:

1—actual building costs would, at a maximum, reach $7,140.

2—this amount would be guaranteed by the pupils' parents.

3—hundreds of citizens would share the burden once construction started.

Bartos was right. Soon after the boys set to work, local businessmen and artisans gave a hand.

Carpenter Helps

"One evening, a 70-year-old pensioned carpenter appeared on the scene, took his coat off and showed us how to raft the ceilings. We didn't even know his name," says Hermann Mennenga, 17, the oldest of the pupils.

Friedhelm Menke, 15, brought his father Wilhelm, 54, along to install two flower windows. Wilhelm Renken, the school's headle, did most of the plumbing after regular working hours. Local businessmen delivered gratis window glass, wood, water pipes and speakers to be installed in classrooms. Friedrich Roden, a local architect and alumnus of the school, supervised the construction work as a hobby.

Only $4,280 was spent for raw materials. This will be paid by the pupils' parents at a period of several years.

Recreation Night for Men Slated at High School

Weekly night recreation sessions for adult men are scheduled to begin Thursday evening at Artesia Senior high school. Sessions are scheduled from 7:30 to 10:30, with one of the school coaching staff on hand to sponsor the activity. No fees have yet been set, but a tentative fee of 25 cents a session has been mentioned. Included in the program will be volleyball teams composed of faculty men and other recreation night patrons. Men interested in the program should attend Thursday night organization, and bring their own equipment — shoes and table clothes.

Two Teams in Top Ten Welding League Leads

The Associated Press reports Washington and North Carolina State, two of the nation's top teams, seem to be gathering momentum as the collegiate football season progresses. The Colonials, ranked fifth in the week's Associated Press poll, led their 11th straight victory last night as they staged a comeback to subdue Washington and Lee 69-62. George Washington hosts a 20-3 over-all mark. The Wolfpack, No. 7, downed Duke 47-14. The Wolfpack has six out of its last seven games ending its season record to 22-4. Oregon State, saw by two other ranked teams, last night. The Terrapins, 11, received a scare from St. Clements and had to rally to out a 68-66 verdict. Oregon State, No. 16, wrapped up the North Pacific Coast conference with a Division championship of 26 triumph over Idaho. The Terrapins, Dick O'Neal broke Southwest conference record by throwing for one season led first-place Texas Christian to a 75-56 conquest over Texas. Large Washington, runner-up in Virginia in the Southern conference race, overcame a 40-33 time deficit against Washington and Lee. The Colonials collected 20 points at the outset of the second half while holding the rivals scoreless for eight minutes and building up an unmountable 53-40 advantage. Devlin's 28 points topped Seitz, a 260-pound reserve, led the scoring impetus in 15 minutes as North Carolina opened Duke in an Atlantic Coast conference game. The shooting kept the Wolfpack attention during the final minutes and it was his field goal that state ahead for good. Maryland, in squeezing past season, remained tied for first in the ACC with N. C. State. Terrapins surged back in the five minute after trailing at time by 14 points. Southern Methodist kept its title alive with an 81-56 conquest over Texas A&M as Jim Krebs hit 47 points. Rice, led by Joe Embert's 32-point output, edged Baylor 80-68 in another west conference game.

Carlsbad Takes 'Dogs' 76-71

Chances of being seeded in the coming district basketball tournament dwindled even further last night for the Artesia Bulldogs, who lost a thrill-packed game to the Carlsbad Cavemen 76-71 at Carlsbad. The lead in the game was not decided until the very last minute when Carlsbad's leading scorer for the night, Joe Willmore, clinched the game for the Cavemen with a long two-pointer. Artesia led in the first half 18-14, then lost the lead in the second and left the score at 39-38 during intermission.

By this time several Bulldogs had three and four foul on them, including Artesia's leading pointmaker, Nelson Moore. Moore sat much of the game out, with Coach Verlon Davis using him sparingly because of personal fouls already against him. Moore went into the game in the last period, and managed to stay foulless until the last run. The Bulldogs were trailing at

In the fourth quarter the 'Dogs lost the services of two starting players, Johnny Riddle and Jimmy Shipp, via the foul route. The loss to Carlsbad was the second this season for the Bulldogs, giving them a conference record of 5-4 and a schedule record of 14-6. Taking honors for high point man was Clyde Chaney, who netted a total of 23 points for Artesia, followed by Moore who netted 16. Big gun in the Carlsbad offense was Willmore with a whopping 31 point total for the evening. The box score:

Senate Okays Bill Cutting Activities Association Power

SANTA FE — The Senate has passed 18-8 a bill to cut the power of the New Mexico High School Activities Assn.

The measure puts the organization under the state school board and allows schools dissatisfied with association rulings on telecasts to appeal to the school board. The bill passed yesterday was a modified version. The original measure would have barred high schools from joining the NMS-HAA. Sen Lewis Cox Jr. (D-Curry) who introduced the bill, said he "made the measure less drastic myself in committee by amendments because after conferring with several people I felt the amended bill could do the job."

U. C. Montgomery, association executive secretary, who was on the Senate floor during debate, refused to comment after the bill's passage, but before that he told a reporter the measure would put high school athletics into politics. In the meantime, it was learned attempts were underway to get high school leaders and newspapers to oppose the bill when it gets to the House.

Cox, saying the NMHSAA is supreme in New Mexico high school athletics now, explained he introduced the bill because "Coxvis got a raw deal from the association and had no resource to appeal to anyone."

Clovis high school was forced to forfeit all its football games last season after being charged with using an ineligible player. Sen T. C. Jaramillo (R-Socorro), a supporter of the bill, said the "association should be under the law instead of being immune and independent as it has for so many years."

Top Southwest Teams Pull Ahead

By The Associated Press

The one-two teams in the Southwest conference, Texas Christian and Southern Methodist, pulled a little ahead of the field with easy Tuesday night victories. The leading Christians almost swept the Texas Longhorns from the boards at Gregory Gym in Austin for their seventh conference victory and 16th decision of the season. Dazzling Dick O'Neal, the giant soph center broke the conference free throw record as he scored 12 of his 36 points for the night on charities to lead TCU to a 75-56 triumph. O'Neal, the conference scoring leader, boosted his total for the season to 574 of which 261 is against SWC opponents. Ray Downs of Texas, second man in

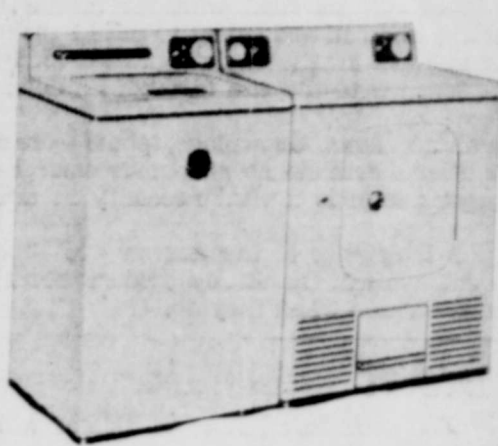

Texas City Top Replacement

AUSTIN — Texas City appeared today as the likely replacement of the Temple Eagles in the Big State basketball league.

Temple was asked to surrender its franchise at a league meeting here yesterday after C. D. Brown, spokesman for the five-man Eagle delegation, asked permission to sell its franchise. Derrest Williams said that Texas City is building a $130,000 ball park which will seat 3,250 and will possess one of the finest lighting systems in the minor leagues. The loss of Temple leaves the Big State league with only seven clubs two months before the 1955 season is to start.

Organization for Emergencies

TWO DROWNING tragedies within a week, each claiming two lives each, have served to underscore need for civic preparedness to deal with such disasters and others out of the ordinary.

No city can be prepared for every eventuality which might befall it; it has to be ready, however, for those which probability indicates are likely to occur.

Equipment and organization are keys to preparedness. Is Artesia and North Eddy county organized for emergency? Are we equipped properly for emergency?

Civil defense got its first workout in an emergency Monday evening when it was called to aid in the search for two men lost at Lake McMillan. It organized food service to volunteers, speeded it to the site through its defense organization.

Fire, auto accidents, drownings, plane crashes, and other such incidents demand no particular emergency equipment, but organization is a vital necessity in dealing with them.

Perhaps civil defense is the answer to these extraordinary events which thankfully seldom occur, but demand immediate action when they do.

'Living Desert'

An attraction soon in an Artesia theater will be Walt Disney's "The Living Desert."

We do not customarily deal with motion pictures in this space, yet this is one film everyone should be urged to see.

We who live in the desert here have a first class chance to become more familiar with it, for the genius of patient photographers, their movie cameras loaded with color film, have brought to the screen vivid epics of war and peace, love and hate, life and death among the animals of the desert we too seldom see.

Don't be misled that a film produced by Walt Disney is a cartoon. The inimitable Mr. Disney has branched out to touch other creative expression with the magic of his imagination and craftsmanship.

This is a movie you should see.

an opponent of the measure, said he would be forced to vote against the mellorine bill because, although it would aid some beef-steer producers, "in checking I have found that butterfat costs 78 to 80 cents a pound compared to five to seven cents apound for animal fat."

"I can't see hurting the dairy industry that way."

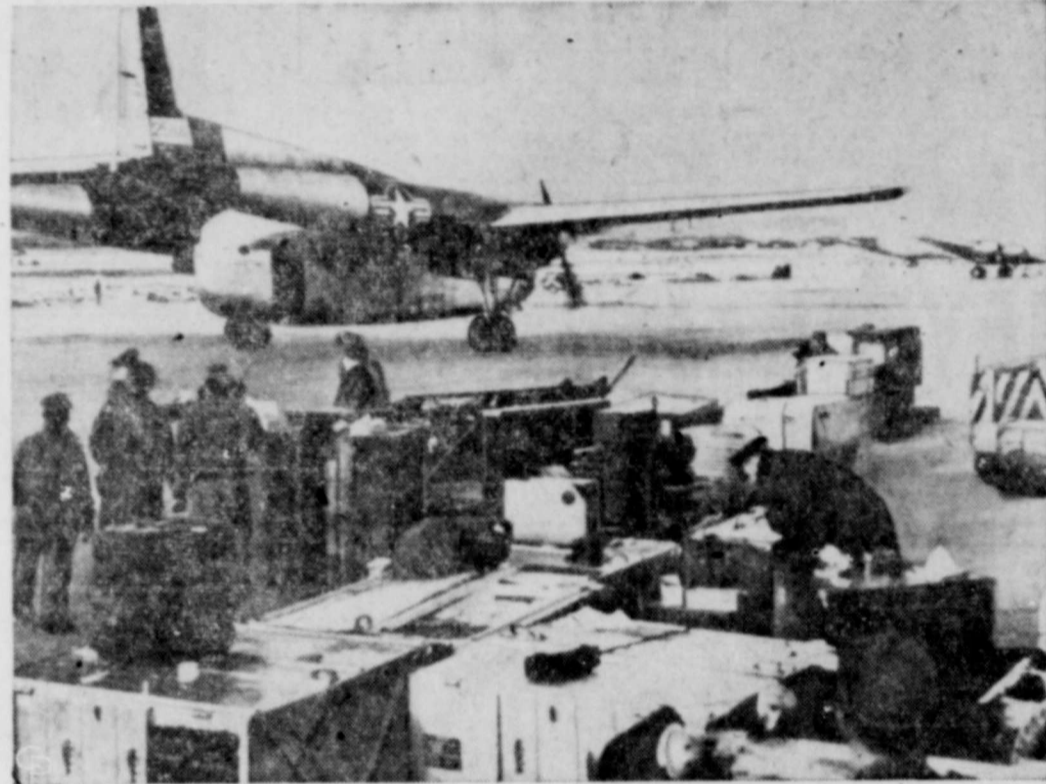

Insurance payments for damage in 1954's hurricanes Carol and Edna were about 138 million dollars, not including auto and marine losses.

truckers cause the trouble. They don't know how to handle their 60,000-pound monsters in mountains. They pump their brakes like a passenger car motorist, the brakes heat and fail to catch. Then look out below!

There was a mass protest meeting after the two deaths. Elliott says the highway department promised immediate action. What was accomplished, he contends, was merely the erection of larger and better signs calling attention of truckers to a truck trap—or safety lane—where they would steer their runaway trucks up on the pass. Elliott doesn't think much of the truck traps—or the highway department's insistence they be called safety lanes.

"Most drivers," he said, "would rather take the risk of avoiding killing someone down in Raton than drive themselves into almost certain suicide." The traps, one fenced across, are so constructed, the truck operator says, that a speeding truck could not be kept on them.

One solution, Elliott and others contend, is to move the port of entry from the foot of the pass to the top of the mountain. There truckers would be required to stop and could be forcefully warned of the dangers ahead.

But, says Elliott, even this has not been done. There are scales, to weigh the trucks and their contents in place. There is plenty of ground for a port of entry building. But still the port has not been moved.

And still there's that aversion along First and Second streets to the feeling that just any minute now death and destruction may come barreling down Raton Pass right into the throat of the city.

Committee Votes Statehood for Alaska, Hawaii

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The House Interior Committee voted 19-6 today to admit both Alaska and Hawaii as states.

Committee approval cleared the bill for action by the House when and if the rules committee gives it clearance.

Approval of the bill, which lacks administration endorsement in its combined form, was voted by 10 Democrats and nine Republicans and moved the issue toward an uncertain fate. Four Democrats and two Republicans voted "no."

President Eisenhower wants immediate statehood for Hawaii but has said action on Alaska should be delayed until that territory's "complex problems" have been solved.

The use of yellow fever germs in biological warfare would be possible, says the World Health Organization.

District Tractor Clinic for 4-Hers Enters Last Day

The last day of a three-day tractor maintenance clinic for 4-H boys from Chaves, De Baca, Eddy, Lea and Lincoln counties started with lectures and actual work on tractors and their working parts.

This is the third clinic held in the state this year. The first two were held in January at Tucumcari and State College. The Artesia clinic is being held at the International Harvester building with the Allis Chalmers, International, Ferguson, Case, John Deere, Massey-Harris, Minneapolis-Moline, McCarty-Sherman and Oliver companies cooperating in the schooling of 4-Hers.

According to instructors at the clinic, about 30 boys from the five county area registered in the clinic.

Instructors are Leo Dirnberger, extension agricultural engineer; Geronimo Chavez, associate state 4-H club leader, H. L. Hildwein, assistant director of extension and Ed Wickor, special representative from Stanolind and Gas Co., Tulsa, Okla.

The course covered such things as tractor safety, lubrication, cooling systems, fuel saving, ignition, costs, transmission difficulties and multiple "smaller" problems in keeping a tractor in A-1 condition.

Gun Registration Bill Killed in House Committee

rived at the lake shortly before 2. Harshaw is survived by his wife and a daughter, Jerry, a student at North Texas State Teachers College. Busby is survived by his wife, and Barbara Sue, 4, Mrs. Busby is expecting a third child.

Harshaw was an employe of Texas-New Mexico Oil Pipeline Co., employed at Loco Hills, and Busby by an employe of Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Co., working at Eunice.

The two men were last seen an hour before sundown Monday by their wives. The two women, after the men had been unseen several minutes, built a large signal fire on a point near the south end of the reservoir, hoping to guide them to shore.

Mrs. Harshaw later told searchers, after the capsized boat had been found, she feared she had seen the boat upside down just before sundown Monday. She said she believed there was a man clinging to the boat, a 12-foot "Arkansas Traveler," metal boat.

Harshaw owned the boat, and was offering it to Busby for sale. Busby is the brother of Mrs. Harshaw.

Search parties hurriedly summoned to the scene by police discovered the boat shortly before midnight Monday, near the center of the lake. Mrs. Harshaw was in a boat near the discovery, and gued in its favor, and members of the National Rifle Assn. and the Game Protective Assn., argued against it.

A. H. Hathaway, retired state police captain, said peace officers "need something to protect them from the promiscuous sale of pistols."

R. H. Hedgecock of Ruidoso said a part of the bill which would permit a State Police chief to revoke a permit would "be putting the power to disarm the state of New Mexico in the hands of the State Police."

quickly identified it.

Search parties turned out in force at sundown Tuesday again today. Grappling hooks were ordered made in Artesia, well, and Carlsbad, and State police sent more grappling equipment from Las Vegas and cities near resort lakes.

Mrs. Harshaw later told police that when the men had failed to appear at 6 p. m., a half hour after they were last seen, she asked unidentified man at the head of the lake to phone police.

The man assured her, "While they'll be back."

The two women then returned to the site from which the men had launched the boat and built a large signal fire. After a few minutes they again notified the police who called police.

A full-scale search was underway by 9 p. m., and nearly a dozen boats brought up through the night.

Searching continued on a scale through the night, and quickly expanded Tuesday morning as scores of men from Eddy and Chaves counties sent boats to the scene and men came forward to man the search craft.

New Guinea was so named cause early explorers thought natives resembled those of in Africa.

Winter Raisins Crown in Small California Area

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) - Do you have raisins on your winter menu? It's almost a sure bet they came from a small, four-county area in the San Joaquin Valley.

The growers there say they produce 40 per cent of the world supply of raisins and almost 100 per cent of the U. S. tonnage. Now they are working in their own research organization to get you to use more raisins.

The industry got its start in 1872 when William Thompson sent east for cuttings of a hotheose grape he remembered from his boyhood in England. He grafted the cuttings to three muscat vines at his Sutter County ranch. He did not dream that he was on the way to turn a luxury into a household staple—and a huge industry that now returns upwards of 40 million dollars to growers annually.

Raisin variety grapes are grown primarily in what is known as the raisin belt—Madera, Fresno, Kings and Tulare Counties—because of the semi-desert climate, rich soil and because the flat valley floor is ideal for irrigated farming and mechanized operations.

Several other varieties of grapes are dried for raisins on a smaller scale but Thompsons are by far the most popular.

The raisin growers have had a long battle to control the marketing of their business. In 1912, a cooperative called The California Associated Raisin Co. was formed. That organization, later renamed The Sun-Maid Growers of California, today is the largest raisin packing concern in the world.

In recent years the raisin men have joined in setting up a federal raisin marketing order. All raisins termed surplus are removed from competitive channels and are placed in a pool for export or sale to a non-competitive agency.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. SAREUTNER, AP Real Estate Editor

NEW APPLIANCES, new materials and other technological developments to make our homes more comfortable, more livable and more durable are exhibited annually in a sort of private world's fair for the benefit of some 21,000 home builders attending their January convention in Chicago.

More than 350 exhibitors reserved space to display new ideas during the sessions of the National Assn. of Home Builders from Jan. 16 to 20. A preview of some 400 of these products is provided for the light construction industry by the American Builder, trade publication.

So many of these items are of interest to homeowners and everyone thinking about a home, you might like to look over our shoulder at a few in this January number of American Builder, which is virtually a new products catalogue.

A PACKAGED fold-away dining unit is shown. Table and benches for four persons are surfaced with plastic and metal trimmed. When folded up, the entire unit looks like a shallow built-in cabinet. It's nifty for small kitchens, breakfast nooks, recreation rooms, terraces and breezeways.

A SIT DOWN sink with a recessed front to provide knee room, yet with a sink bowl of standard size and stainless steel, has been designed to take the backache out of parsing, slicing, peeling, sorting and washing fruit and vegetables.

MATCHING refrigerator and freezer units, approximately square instead of tall and narrow, can be installed one above the other, or side by side at counter height. They are designed to be built into the wall, freeing more floor space for the kitchen.

PANELED DRAPERIES are available, looking much like venetian blinds with slats standing on end. The strips are made of hardwood cloth and are opened and closed by means of a concealed control rod. These strips can be removed, washed and put back while still damp, without ironing.

LOCK ESCUTHEONS, highly decorative, are now made in both brass and aluminum. Designs are deeply etched and inlaid with brightly colored enamels. They ought to make a nice impression on anyone trying your front door knob.

FLAKE PANELING is another attractive novelty. Trust somebody to take a tree apart and put it back together again. These new panels and tiles for walls and built in furniture are made of wood flakes compressed back into boards to display unusual wood-like designs. The panels come in 4 by 8-foot sheets, 1/2-inch thick, and the tiles in 12 by 12 and 16 by 16 inches, all in maple, fir, cedar and pine.

(Mind taking a rain check for the rest of the 400? Space is getting short).

IN THE MAIL, today was an announcement of another of those wonderful concoctions they now put up in aerosol cans to spray at your leisure. This one is a wall-paper cleaner. It's supposed to remove grease stains, such as hair oil, or any other oil, as well as stains. You spray it on, let it dry until the film turns white, then wipe it off with a soft clean cloth.

Library Head Doesn't Want Name in Paper

By JANE EADS WASHINGTON (AP) - Dr. Louis B. Wright, director, says the Folger Library recently received a letter from a New York promotion agency offering for a dollar a 20-page pamphlet entitled "How to Get Your Name in the Paper." He doesn't think he'll buy.

"We would think," he says, "that a really up-and-coming agency in these times could sell for at least two dollars a pamphlet, on how to keep your name out of the papers."

"Ever wonder why some people in your community, in your business, are in the papers more than other people?" the agency's blurb asked Dr. Wright. He wondered, yes, but he says he's decided to keep his dollar and keep on wondering.

"Having lived in the purlieus of Hollywood in our time and seen to what lengths publicity-seekers will go," he says, "we like the relative quiet of Washington. If we wanted publicity, we could just walk a few steps to the Capital and holler 'sub- version!' That would do it."

One could also get a few free tips on the art, if you can call it that, from some Washington hostesses, whose names I simply refuse to "get into the papers" at this time.

congressman from New Jersey, T. James Tamm, pats his middle lightly when telling people how to pronounce his name.

"The accent is on the tum," he says. The nephew of the famous late Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to President Wilson, T. James had no luck renting a size 56 dress suit to wear to a recent White House white tie shindig. He had to go home to find one.

Rep. Edith Green (D-Ore) also a newcomer, agrees. Her issue was public power. She says she wore her voice to a whisper defending public power against cries of "socialism" raised by her opponents.

price supports criss-crossing her 200-mile-long, 250-mile-wide district, shaking 20,000 hands, attending 15 county fairs and a pickle festival.

"It was really fun — and the pickles were good," she told a luncheon group. She explained the formula for winning elections is finding an issue and working hard.

Driller Cafe Established Artesia Firm

One of Artesia's longest-established food businesses is Driller Cafe at 328 W. Main street, now under operation of Bill Thomas. Thomas has owned the establishment for the past seven years in partnership with his brother, Tommy. It was purchased from Ray Carter, who operated it previously as Carter's Cafe.

The Thomases later purchased the American Cafe, and Bill now operates the Driller Cafe, Tommy the American.

Featured at Driller Cafe is a complete line of full breakfasts, lunches, and dinners. Specialty of the house, Thomas says, is "wop salad," a salad made under an authentic Italian recipe Thomas brought to Artesia with him.

Driller Cafe is open every day from 6 a. m. to 8 p. m. Thomas is in charge of food preparation and cooking.

Waitress service is available throughout the cafe's opening hours.

As one of Artesia's longest established cafes, the Driller cafe prides itself on satisfaction to customers in its food and cooking. Thomas believes in serving food of good quality in keeping with his policy of offering it at the lowest possible costs.

"We are operating a cafe at which the average man and his family can afford to eat," Thomas says. "Our prices are very reasonable, but the food does not suffer in quality because of that policy." The cafe is fully staffed throughout the day and customers may at any time order anything from a cup of coffee to a full dinner, Thomas points out.

Thomas two years ago remodeled the cafe in its present decor to offer customers more efficient service in more pleasant surroundings.

Homsley Lumber Company Sets Policy for Service

Homsley Lumber Co. believes in the oldtime business adage "if we don't have it for you, we can get it."

Whether its inexpensive native pine or Douglas fir, Homsley Lumber, owned and managed by R. A. "Bob" Homsley, stocks or has handy access to everything needed for home construction, repairs, and remodeling.

Homsley knows what's needed in those lines — he built and sold 100 houses in the HoMac and Carper additions in Artesia from 1954 to 1952.

Assisting him in operation of the lumber firm is Noel Southard, buying manager for the business. Homsley purchased the business in 1952 from L. E. Williams & Son. The Williams family had launched it in 1940 with a planing mill, later adding a dry kiln, and in 1946, the main building now occupied by Homsley Lumber.

Homsley came to the Artesia area in 1944, working in the oilfields a year before starting construction of his house projects.

Texas-born, Homsley worked in Clovis during the war years, and later at Hobbs.

Southard is a native of Wheeling, Ark. He was employed by an Arkansas electric cooperative with offices at Salem, Ark., before moving to Anderson, Ind., for war work during World War II. Homsley estimates 90 per cent of the lumber his firm handles is "native lumber," cut from the mountain area west of Artesia and other nearby parts of New Mexico. The store also stocks a complete

Guy's Cleaners Time-Proved Methods Best

Old-fashioned dry cleaning is still the best, thinks Guy Smith, owner and manager of Guy's Cleaners at 320 W. Main.

While Guy's is scheduled to move into a new plant within the next two months, time-proven cleaning methods will be retained, Smith says.

He explains it this way: "The synthetic fluids are fine, and they're not as volatile as older types may be. But to really get clothes clean, nothing can beat the old fashioned fluids, and with a little care in their use, they're satisfactory."

As announced on page one today, construction will begin Monday on a new, drive-in plant for the cleaning establishment, which Guy has owned for the past seven years.

Smith, a native of North Eddy county, has lived in this area throughout his life. For 20 years he was employed by Artesia Laundry and Cleaners before buying his own business.

In his 27 years in business working for others as well as himself, Smith has built up an enormous number of miles in delivery. Yet he can point with pride to the accomplishment that never in that period of times has he had a serious accident. It's an accomplishment he doesn't like to brag about, however — "Brag about your accident-free driving and you're apt to have one the next day," he says. Smith purchased his present business from E. B. McCaw.

Guy's Cleaners present plant is at 320 W. Main. His new building will be at 304 S. Fourth, just south of Penney's. Move to the new location is expected in about 45 days, barring unforeseen delays.
