Green Fireball Is Seen By Driller in Area Oilfield

Now Artesia has a fireball! A. J. Smith of Smith Drilling company here says, an employee, Ike Awalt, spotted a fireball Wednesday 20 miles south of the city and that it exploded six feet above the ground. Smith said Awalt was with a crew of rig workers when the green fireball was seen. He said the men did not investigate the area, but offered to take anyone interested to within "a short distance of the spot."

The Artesia fireball was one of several reported in New Mexico in the past few days. Other sightings were reported from Lordsburg, Hobbs, Mayhill, and Roswell. Meanwhile, the Air Force has announced in El Paso that it wants additional information on the "unknown object or meteorite reported to have fallen near Mayhill."

Four Air Force planes have searched the area but no crater has been sighted. Officials at Biggs Air Force Base said "it is the policy of the Air Force to investigate unknown flying objects when reports of two or more eyewitnesses agree."

At Biggs, Maj. Emerson L. Armstrong, base operation officer, is in charge of investigating of unknown flying objects. He wants additional information from eyewitnesses who saw the fireball in Lincoln National Forest Tuesday.

Major Armstrong expressed the personal opinion that the object had probably burned out or broken up before it hit the ground, but emphasized that he is not a meteorite expert. He said that meteorites or pieces of meteorites often hit the ground in such a way that they become imbedded in the earth without making a crater and without making much of a disturbance where they hit.

Donald Thigpen, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Thigpen of Cottonwood, is winner of a $25 first prize in an Artesia school essay contest.

It will be entered in the state contest.

Cole Resting In Home Here From Attack

It would seem Fred Cole of Artesia, the freshman representative to the legislature from Eddy county, has enough to worry about with his own illness. But not so, the genial, outgoing Cole, who is home today a month after being stricken by coronary thrombosis just before the final week of the 1955 legislature.

Cole Suggests Finance Group Find Answers

SANTA FE (AP)—State Rep. Fred Cole of Artesia said here Wednesday the newly-appointed legislative interim public finance committee "should get busy and find some way to get the welfare department on its feet."

The Artesia Democrat said that "something has got to be done about the old folks' plight until the time that a special session of the legislature can be called."

Cole said that he had been receiving numerous letters from persons on old age assistance "from people not in my district."

He said he, like Gov. Simms, doesn't favor a special session until after the fiscal year is ended and "we can see where we stand."

"But the winter months are coming and we're going to have to do something about the problem before then," he said.

Cole said that he was pleased with welfare Director Murray Hintz' announcement that $200,000 could be saved by cutting off 77 welfare employees.

"This new public finance committee should get together right away and see what can be done to raise money for the welfare department," Cole said. "As far as the proposal to raise the parimutuel betting tax goes, that would only give us a portion of what's needed," he added.

Manuel Palma's physician reported Thursday the 12-year-old boy is doing all right considering the circumstances.

The boy is still at Artesia General hospital undergoing treatment for burns received last month when he attempted to retrieve a wire he had thrown over a power line.

His doctor said "it's just a matter of recuperation now." "His burns are serious and he's going to have a lot of trouble with them and will for a long time."

Health Director Sees No Alarm Over Measles

SANTA FE (AP)—The increase in measles cases in New Mexico—up by over a 1,000 from last year—isn't anything to be worried about, state health department officials said today.

In fact, it may be a good thing. Most doctors agree that the earlier a child gets measles the milder the case.

"Actually, measles are just a normal part of childhood and we don't consider the increase to mean anything special," state health Director Gerald Clark said. "Most respiratory diseases, like measles, increase in the spring but since the introduction of antibiotic drugs, a fatality from measles is rare."

There are three kinds of measles and a lot of parents get worried needlessly when their child comes down with say, german measles when he's already had the regular kind.

L. E. Keys Dies As Blaze Strikes

An Artesia man was killed early today in a fire that swept through a rock front hotel at Mayhill, about 69 miles west of here in the Sacramento mountains. Sixteen others rushed from the blazing building.

Dead from suffocation was L. E. Keys, about 45, who owned the Denny Lumber Co. near the small mountain town. His family lives at 1595 Yucca avenue, Artesia.

Survivors include his widow and two children, Nancy 14, and Kay 8. The Associated Press reported the hotel and a cafe in the building were destroyed. A grocery store on the main floor escaped with some damage.

The fire was brought under control around 10 a.m. today by fire departments from Cloucroft and Alamogordo. The fire was hampered by the fact that there is no running water in Mayhill and the firemen had to douse the flames with water from a nearby stream.

Koy Allen, operator of the hotel, said he was awakened about 4 a.m. by a crash, which was later found to be plaster falling on him from the ceiling in Keys' room.

Allen rushed to the room and groped his way into the room and set Keys' body on the bed.

Allen awakened nine other guests in the hotel and his wife and five children, aged 5 to 16, and warned them to leave. Then Allen and a guest of the hotel, D. D. Clark returned to Keys' room and removed him to the cafe on the main floor, at the time undamaged.

They gave him artificial respiration, but Allen said he had apparently been dead for some time. The body was not carried, but carried sight burns on the right side.

Allen estimated the fire must have started around 1 a.m. and smoldered for some time. He said an easy chair in the room was nothing but a heap of ashes. The mattress on which Keys lay was hot, but had not burned.

The hotel building was owned by W. L. Stirman of Roswell. Allen said Stirman had "some" insurance on the building, but he himself had none.

The Building was 150 feet long by about 30 high. Allen lost everything he had with the exception of some bedroom furnishings. He declined to estimate total loss.

The Clay Thomason grocery on the main floor was partially gutted but much of the stock was successfully removed.

Mrs. Jim Mahill, whose son-in-law operates the Mayhill Mercantile Co. across the street from the hotel, said the fire departments from Cloucroft and Alamogordo arrived between 5:30 a.m. and 5:45.

They were aided by the local forest rangers, A. E. Hutchinson, and Fred Menninghaus. Keys was born June 28, 1910, in Marshall, Texas. He lived in Artesia two and a half years and has operated the Myhill lumber concern eight years.

Survivors also include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Keys, two brothers, H. C. and Warren F. Keys, two sisters, Mrs. George Pirtle and Miss Lena Keys, all of Marshall.

His car had been found earlier parked on U. S. 85 about 1 1/2 miles from where his body was later found. Capt. White said death apparently came from natural causes. Wiggins left home last Saturday in a car owned by his son, Neal. His son said the man had been ill.

Union Service Is Planned in City For Good Friday

Union Good Friday services will be held tomorrow from noon until 3 p.m. at First Presbyterian church.

Under sponsorship of the Ministerial Alliance, the program will include Easter music, scripture, prayer, poetry and a dedication time.

There will be no sermon preached. The alliance has asked that all stores in the city close during the hours of the service. It has been requested that those unable to close allow employees to attend.

The young public has been urged to cooperate with the merchants and plan to make their purchases at a time other than during the service.

Red Cross Drive Nearly Complete

Hollis Watson, chairman of the North Eddy county Red Cross fund campaign, announced Thursday he plans "to keep the drive open until our goal of $4,500 is reached."

Watson estimated late Wednesday that "we are still about $125 short of our assigned quota."

The campaign was officially scheduled to end March 31.

His car had been found earlier parked on U. S. 85 about 1 1/2 miles from where his body was later found. Capt. White said death apparently came from natural causes. Wiggins left home last Saturday in a car owned by his son, Neal. His son said the man had been ill.

Settlement Cook Book Top Seller

MILWAUKEE (AP)—When it comes to feeding the hungry, The Settlement Cook Book has the situation surrounded.

This 54-year old guide to good eating not only can guide the bride or blueprint the bounty of a banquet. Its revenues go for philanthropies in education, recreation and community culture.

And the dual spiritual-temporal personality of the cook book project has been quite a success in both phases. Mrs. Sarah Ettenheim, president of the nonprofit corporation that now handles publication, says that the book has sold 1,250,000 copies in 31 editions.

That she says, has enabled it to make more than $500,000 in gifts to various philanthropies. Although the publishing venture has been associated with the Milwaukee Jewish community—and paid for the lot on which the city's first Jewish Community Center was built—its charities are unrestricted, Mrs. Ettenheim says.

Latst major award was a $50,000 gift which helped make possible a $1,750,000 center to succeed that first community gathering place.

The Settlement Cook Book was the product of a lady with a mission—two of them, in fact. Mrs. Simon Kander was a founder of the Keep Klean Mission—a bath house set up nearly 60 years ago to provide hot water for refugees from Poland and Russia.

Mrs. Kander's project grew, with classes in sewing, language and—naturally—cooking added. Presently she decided to prepare a manual of recipes in order to enable her pupils to practice at home. She assembled her own favorites, collected favorites from friends, borrowed others and made the changes she thought add a special touch.

Then, with a committee of other women to help sell advertising to finance the project, the first Settlement Cook-Book went to press in 1901. It sold 1,000 copies the first year, and still is going strong. Mrs. Kander died in 1940 and the corporation now headed by Mrs. Ettenheim took over the continuing job of changing, editing and adding to the store of culinary treasures in the book.

HOLLYWOOD— New Western Movies Pack Adult Theme

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Can you imagine a TV Western series without a sheriff, desperado, horse chase, or gun duel?

That's what the fertile TV mind of Worthington Miner has brought forth. The veteran producer has made a sample film of a series to be called "Frontier." But it won't be in the "he went thataway" tradition.

The first of the series is largely the story of a man and wife who pioneered where the city of Omaha now stands. Only the beginning and ends shows prairie wagon trains. The rest is the story of how two people fight the wilderness.

Undermanned NuMexers Drop Exhibition to Roswell by 7-2

Sports Edge Artesia 10-9 Hitting

Artesia's undermanned NuMexers dropped their exhibition opening game against the Longhorn League 7-2 to the Roswell Rockets last night.

All players and die-hard fans braved biting cold for a contest that went the full nine innings, but for the NuMexers. Their runs were clustered in the first frame.

Artesia started on the mound for the NuMexers, gave up six hits and runs in the full six innings he pitched. "Big Daddy" Bob Herron was the seventh starter, giving up four hits, one run.

Artesia fanned two Rockets in the first frame, but a single by Bill Knapp and a pair of wild pitches tallied a run. Pruitt singled in the second, advancing Knapp and an error.

The Rockets scored three in the second on two singles, three errors, and another in the sixth with a double and a single. The final run came in the eighth on two doubles and a single.

Artesia scored in the bottom of the ninth on a walk to King and a single and another walk.

The NuMexers' performance was let down by five critical errors against the Rockets. Neither team was in good form, but the NuMexers obviously were suffering from a lack of seasoned players.

Artesia's A. Lanning expects runs will begin arriving in Artesia from Dallas as the Dallas Rockets release ballplayers under April 6 cut-down date.

The NuMexers were heavily outscored, their hitting was down to Roswell's—10 for the Rockets against nine for Artesia.

Bulldog B Baseball Team Knocks Out Carlsbad By 6-2

The Bulldogs B team performed like a crew of professionals here yesterday in coming from behind in the fifth inning to clobber the Carlsbad B team 6-2.

Don Long tied into a pitch in the fifth and landed the ball clear out of the field and into main street in front of T & J Food Basket. His home run tied the score 2-2 and sparked the Bulldog squad on to win.

When Long hit the four bagger there were two outs and he had a 3-0 count on him. Coach Jack Barron said it was "at least a 210-foot drive."

DiMaggio Cut From Eagles' Mound Staff

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas Eagles yesterday dropped pitcher Bart DiMaggio and catcher Jim Fiscali as the club trimmed its squad to meet Texas League limits.

There are now 22 men on the Eagles' squad, but three who recently returned from military service do not count against the league's 19-man limit.

Cubs Moving Off For Home Base

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs shoved off for home today with Hank Sauer nursing a lame back and Clyde McCullough a sore head.

Sauer's back ailment is not considered serious and the big slugging outfielder said he will be ready to play Saturday against the Chicago White Sox.

McCullough was hit on the head by Bob Speake's bat and three stitches were needed to close the gash.

Manager Stan Hack is not too pleased with the club's hitting.

Sauer hasn't been hitting but you don't have to worry about the big guy. We hit 36 homers in spring games, but I don't let this carry me away because many of them would have been easy outs in the larger big league parks. I would like to see a few more singles."

Field of 78 to Vie in Masters Golf Tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Snead or Souchak? Hogan or Herbert? Middlecoff or Mangrum? Who will win the 19th Masters golf championship?

Either one of them could, but maybe none of them will. There are many more fine golfers in the field of 78 who could capture this tournament and earn one of golf's most cherished titles.

Fifty-nine professionals and 19 amateurs were assigned tee times for today's first round of the 1955 Masters, which in 21 years has grown in prestige until it ranks second only to the National Open.

In the 440-yard relay John Huber, Joe Denton, Russell Clack, and Jim Mitchell completed the course in 50 seconds flat to tie the existing record.

The summary: (1) Mitchell, Artesia 8:6; (2) Covington, Eisenhower 3; Huber, Artesia.

100-yard dash—Perini, Eisenhower, 11:00; (2) Covington, Eisenhower 3; Clack, Artesia.

Dallas Clobbers Houston as Texas League Opens

Three top hurling jobs and a 1-man show by a San Antonio rookie got the Texas league off to a rousing start Wednesday night with defending champion Houston among the winners but Shreveport, the 1954 full season leader, taking a terrific clouting from Dallas.

Dave Roberts, rookie first baseman, was the boy who put on the show—he clouted two homers and a double and drove in four runs, leading San Antonio to a 6-2 victory over Oklahoma City.

John Red Murff spun a 5-hitter as Dallas, which was supposed to lack power but have airtight defense, smashed 13 hits and made four errors in clubbing Shreveport 3-2. The hobbles gave Shreveport all its runs.

Four More Spots Remain as Date For Colonial Nears

FORT WORTH (AP)—Thirty-eight places have been filled and four more will be picked this week for the ninth annual $25,000 Colonial National invitational golf tournament May 4-8.

The field limited to 48 and under the Colonial system six of the entries are determined by what they do on the winter tour, which ends this weekend with the Masters Tournament.

Chicago White Sox Pound Raschi, Haddix for 13 Runs as Stanky's Cards Drop Game on Pitching

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Unless Eddie Stanky really is a changed man this season, $5 will get you $10 the scrappy little manager of the St. Louis Cardinals had his hands jammed in his hip pockets, staring bitterly at the ground and ripping the turf in Little Rock ball park yesterday.

Harvey Haddix, his southpaw ace, and the struggling Vic Raschi were belted for a 13-3 decision by the Chicago White Sox.

It was pitching, or the lack of it that outweighed the Cards' hitting power and scuttled them in six place last season. Haddix particularly had trouble. He was off to a bad start and then, after gaining his form, he was injured and lost his effectiveness again.

Thus far this spring—with opening day just around the weekend—Haddix has had it rough. In five exhibition appearances he has a 0-3 record. Raschi, bothered by a bad back, made his first appearance in the White Sox game.

The Man who done them wrong in Little Rock was Walt Dropp, swatting a three-run homer off Haddix and a two-run clout off Raschi. That pushed Dropp's home run production to six in eight days. Haddix left in the fifth, trailing 7-0. Raschi was clipped for five runs in the sixth. Tony Jacobs came on in the seventh and the White Sox wound up with 19 hits.

The Cards, meanwhile, swung for 14 hits, but couldn't get the runners across against Chicago's Jack Harsham and Mike Fornieles. Rip Repulski was the most productive Card, hitting a home run and three singles.

In the first game to be played in a major league park this season, Brooklyn defeated Washington in Griffith Stadium 6-0 as Carl Erskine blanked the Senators with some difficulty.

Even Elephants Get Seasick on Stormy Voyage

SEATTLE (AP)—The freighter Hawaiian Craftsmen had such a stormy voyage even the elephants got seasick.

The Matson ship docked yesterday after a six-day crossing from Honolulu. Aboard were three elephants, three horses and nine trained pigs of the Ward-Bell indoor circus, which played three weeks in Hawaii.

"Man, were those animals sick," said Third officer M. R. Arnbrust, Portland Ore. "We were rolling up to 35 degrees."

Does It Provide Control?

Among those constitutional amendments to be submitted to the voters next September will be one calling for the election of a five-man corporation commission to replace the two commissions we have today — public service and corporation.

The public service commission today regulates the rates on power lines and gas and has certain control over gas lines. The corporation commission has control over telephone rates, bus and truck operations, insurance firms, and all corporations.

The three members of the public service commission under the present laws are named or appointed for specific terms by the governor. The members of the corporation commission are elected by the voters.

For several years now there has been talk of consolidating these two commissions into one. The argument that has always prevailed has been one of the question of whether the members would be elected or appointed.

The proposed constitutional amendment calls for the five members of the commission to be elected. They would have control over all of the matters that now come under the public service commission and the corporation commission.

But the constitutional amendment must be approved by the voters before it is adopted. The explanation regarding the constitutional amendment points out the legislature would retain control over the commission and the utilities.

We believe that public service commission or corporation commission is set up to regulate the utility companies and other matters coming before them but we are opposed to control of these matters. We have been convinced for a long time that we have too much "control" in private enterprise and private business today.

We believe the average citizen, taxpayer, and voter also objects to control of affairs rather than the power and authority to regulate.

As long as we expect these private companies and corporations to provide services, provide jobs and payrolls, pay taxes, and to do business, they have a right to operate and run their own businesses without control from the state or the federal government.

Regulating the companies, their services, and their rates we feel comes within the province of the state. Beyond that we believe is going too far.

If the proposed constitutional amendment provides for control we believe that we should defeat the amendment and keep what we have until we eliminate this business of control of private business.

NEW MEXICANS IN WASHINGTON—

Collins Logging Up Miles As U.S. Legion Commander

By MORRIS CLEAVENGER
WASHINGTON P.—Seaborn P. Collins is logging up travel miles at a terrific rate as national commander of the American Legion.

Collins hasn't kept an exact computation since he left his business interests in Las Cruces last September to take over the top Legion post, but he has covered somewhere between 8,000 and 12,000 miles a month by his own estimates.

When he stopped here briefly for a few speaking engagements, Collins estimated that his travels in March alone would run something like 14,000 miles, most of it by air.

And there was no let-up in sight. Ahead was a trip to Hawaii, and then back half way across the world again to London. Collins said he was planning to take Mrs. Collins on a Hawaiian trip.

These trips are all work, but the tall New Mexican seems to be thriving on it. His brisk pace has lost him a little weight, but it hasn't slowed him any.

"It's a wonderful experience," he told a reporter.

"Even after a long, hard trip, if I can get an hour's nap, I'm fit and ready to go again."

Probably it was a good thing that Collins was born with a tough set of vocal cords. For one of the biggest jobs of any Legion commander is just talking.

In every city he hits in his crisscrossing of the country, day after day, Collins makes anywhere from one to eight appearances—speeches, news conferences, or meetings with legislators who are considering bills of interest to the Legion.

In Washington, for instance, he spoke at one of the Legion's big affairs, the annual dinner for members of Congress.

Then he drove to Hagerstown, Md., for another speech.

In between the speeches and news conferences, of course, at meetings with local Legion officials.

The Legion maintains three major national offices, in Indianapolis, Ind., New York, and Washington. Collins is based in a hotel room at Indianapolis, but has to get to the other places fairly often.

He has two main subjects in his talks—foreign relations and the threat of communism to America. And always he tries to drive home the point that the nation cannot afford to have either of these problems made partisan issues.

Another thing sometimes concerns the New Mexican. Too many people, he believes, feel that the Legion is interested only in matters that affect it directly as a group of veterans.

That simply isn't true, he says. The major points in the Legion program, he explained, are rehabilitation of veterans, child welfare, national defense and security, Americanism, and foreign relations.

"And of these, he said, "only one, rehabilitation, is exclusively for the Legion. The others are for all the people."

Collins said, the Legion has spent 117 million dollars in child welfare work since 1925, the money going to the aid of children generally, not just veterans' children.

Collins will be succeeded as commander by someone else next October. He was asked if he has any plans to seek another kind of office after that date.

"Right now," he said, "I'm just running hard for the job of past national commander."

But he seems to be loving every minute of being commander.

Rural Residents Of Red China Show Discontent

By FRED HAMPSON
HONG KONG P.—The wife of a Chinese cook has come back to Hong Kong from a visit to her family village in Red China 30 miles upriver from the Fukien coast.

This is her account of farm life in Red China.

The small farmer and laborer gets half an ounce of cooking oil a month against normal consumption of eight ounces. He gets one catty 1 1/3 pounds of rice a day against a normal consumption of 1 1/2. He's allowed eight ounces of meat if he can find it. When hogs are butchered, soldiers and government workers are first served.

Farmers cannot use their own rice or hogs if they please. They must sell to the government monopoly and buy back as they need. There is a supply of fish about one third of the time. Soldiers and government workers always get theirs first.

Cotton padding is almost nonexistent. This is important, for

New Mexico Air Warning Is Vital to Civil Defense Plan

By ROBERT A. BARNES

ALBUQUERQUE P.—Civilians in five Western states will be asked later this month to help tighten this nation's air defense warning network.

A call for 12,000 volunteers in each state for service in the Ground Observer Corps will go out, Brig. Gen. Wendell W. Bowman says. It is hoped to have the observer posts operating in late June or early July.

States coming into the GOC setup are Arizona, Utah, Texas, New Mexico, and Colorado.

Information given in Arizona, New Mexico, or one of those other Southwestern states probably could spell the difference whether places like St. Louis or Kansas City would cease to exist," Bowman told a group of civil defense leaders here. He is commander of the 34th Air Division.

ABOUT 60 TOP civil defense personnel from four of the states were briefed at Kirtland Air Force base recently as groundwork was laid for establishment of the GOC.

Bowman said a goal of 200 observation posts in each state has been set. Their purpose would be to fill gaps in the present warning system consisting of radar stations at strategic points.

Much of the recruiting, Bowman told the Associated Press, will be done through local and state civil defense agencies. The operation as contemplated will be a combined military-civil function.

"We all know the threat facing us," the general said. "The Russian long range air force, with the weapons it has today, poses a threat this nation has never faced before. Events have overtaken us to the point where national security cannot be carried out by the military alone."

HE TOLD THE group two things are highly important: Intelligence about the Russians' production and buildup, and some warning of impending attack. This country cannot afford to have unidentified aircraft flying around, he said.

"We can't stop them all," he went on. "We must have the strength to stop most of an attack and blunt the rest." He said it is essential that time be gained for his country's offense force to attack and for civilian defense organizations to get into action.

If air strength is built to that poor Chinese cope with cold weather by padding their clothing and blankets. The cook's wife took her own padded cotton blanket to Fukien from Hong Kong. On the return trip it was confiscated at Canton because the people's government does not permit the export of padded bed clothing.

Are people hungry? Everybody is a little bit hungry all the time, she said. One doesn't starve but he never gets enough. Is there open discontent? More than you would think.

capability, Bowman said, it is felt war itself can be prevented. Bowman said there is no question that the Southwest can be hit by enemy bombers. He said there is no cause for complacency, based on geography, in this region.

THE MERE establishment of the ground observer corps will not mean much in itself, the general warned. Volunteers are needed who are willing to work because they realize how important is their proper performance.

Brig. Gen. William Canterbury, commanding general of the Air Force special weapons center at Kirtland, said Kirtland planes have carried all of the latest types of bombs, nuclear and otherwise.

HOLLYWOOD P.—After four years as the laconic cop of Dragnet, Jack Webb is making the jump into an entirely new character, a rugged cornet player of the Roaring '20s.

He will star in and direct "Pete Kelly's Blues," a big-screen movie for theaters. He is also producing, but he won't take the credit on the screen. He thinks the multiple credits are too ostentatious.

Caught up with the fast-moving Webb on a music stage at Warners where he was recording one of the 38 numbers in the film. Peggy Lee was singing a dramatic song in which she breaks down. Webb was all over the place, giving directions until he got the record just as he wanted it.

Later I asked him about Pete Kelly. Who is he—Joe Friday with a cornet?
"No, not at all," he said. "It will be a complete change. I'm not the world's greatest actor; I'm not even one of the 1,000 greatest actors. But I think the characterization will come out differently. I play naturally. But that doesn't mean Jack Webb is Pete Kelly, any more than I'm Joe Friday. I've always tried to leave the character behind when I walk out of the studio at night.

"I think Kelly will be different emotionally from Friday. Because of his job, Joe isn't allowed to show much emotion. But we'll show Kelly first as a confused individual wallowing up the era of the '20s. He gets in a jam and wavers through fear, but he ends up on the right side of the law.

"There'll be some violence, because you can't attempt to picture that era without violence. But I've always been careful with the amount of violence I have shown because of the young following that Dragnet has. I'm not going to endanger that."

Peiping's Western Reds Are Among Loneliest in China

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG P.—The handful of Western Communists and pro-Communists who serve Peiping are the loneliest people in China.

Businessmen and correspondents visiting China recently brought out differing reports about the exiles, but all agree they are a lonesome lot.

Some are worried about passports. None so far has served all ties with home. The most widely known are two British pro-Communist correspondents, Alan Winnington, and Wilfred Burchett. They got the spotlight in Korea when they acted as unofficial spokesmen for the Chinese Reds.

It was there too that they put their passports in danger. The British government has condoned pro-Communist, even anti-British work, in China proper. But the propaganda these two did for the Reds in Korea—where British troops were fighting—cost Winnington his passport and may cost Burchett his.

Burchett's papers expire in May. He has asked for renewal. Winnington's request for renewal was refused. He now can get only papers good for return to the United Kingdom; once there he could not leave.

Michael Shapiro, another British correspondent, lost his passport for his efforts in Korea, according to returning visitors.

Winnington and Shapiro represent the London Daily Worker and work for the Communist New China News Agency. They live well, like medium-level Communist bureaucrats, with commodious houses, two or more servants, sufficient heat, clothing and good food.

Burchett has never worked officially for the Reds. His overseas correspondence seems to pay him amply. One visitor said he lived better than the others and certainly seemed to have more ready cash.

33 LOSE LICENSES

SANTA FE P.—A total of New Mexico drivers had their licenses revoked during the first part of March, records of the driver's license division show were for a period of from 90 to one year.

China off and on for years, who once resided in the United States, is on the staff of a magazine called China. The magazine is an English-language publication devoted to propagandizing Communist industrial growth.

Nan Green, a British woman, held various jobs in Peiping, passport recently expired but renewed. A few Americans still work in Peiping.

A Midwesterner named Bill Winter, is teaching in Peiping university. Returned visitors say he calls himself an "American general." He is reported to be compiling a new English textbook for the Reds. Another American is George Hatem, long a resident in China who has taken the name Ma Hai-teh.

A returned British journalist who visited the exiles called "lost souls." He says they seem to have chosen Communism because it gave them an importance they could not win in a competitive society.

Glass spheres filled with water were used as lenses in the experiment.

Does It Provide Control?

Among those constitutional amendments to be submitted to the voters next September will be one calling for the election of a five-man corporation commission to replace the two commissions we have today — public service and corporation.

The public service commission today regulates the rates on power lines and gas and has certain control over gas lines. The corporation commission has control over telephone rates, bus and truck operations, insurance firms, and all corporations.

The three members of the public service commission under the present laws are named or appointed for specific terms by the governor. The members of the corporation commission are elected by the voters.

For several years now there has been talk of consolidating these two commissions into one. The argument that has always prevailed has been one of the question of whether the members would be elected or appointed.

The proposed constitutional amendment calls for the five members of the commission to be elected. They would have control over all of the matters that now come under the public service commission and the corporation commission.

But the constitutional amendment must be approved by the voters before it is adopted. The explanation regarding the constitutional amendment points out the legislature would retain control over the commission and the utilities.

We believe that public service commission or corporation commission is set up to regulate the utility companies and other matters coming before them but we are opposed to control of these matters. We have been convinced for a long time that we have too much 'control' in private enterprise and private business today.

We believe the average citizen, taxpayer, and voter also objects to control of affairs rather than the power and authority to regulate.

As long as we expect these private companies and corporations to provide services, provide jobs and payrolls, pay taxes, and to do business, they have a right to operate and run their own businesses without control from the state or the federal government.

Regulating the companies, their services, and their rates we feel comes within the province of the state. Beyond that we believe is going too far.

If the proposed constitutional amendment provides for control we believe that we should defeat the amendment and keep what we have until we eliminate this business of control of private business.

NEW MEXICANS IN WASHINGTON—

Collins Logging Up Miles As U.S. Legion Commander

By MORRIS CLEAVENER WASHINGTON (AP)—Seaborn P. Collins is logging up travel miles at a terrific rate as national commander of the American Legion.

Collins hasn't kept an exact computation since he left his business interests in Las Cruces last September to take over the top Legion post, but he has covered somewhere between 8,000 and 12,000 miles a month by his own estimates.

When he stopped here briefly for a few speaking engagements, Collins estimated that his travels in March alone would run something like 14,000 miles, most of it by air.

And there was no let-up in sight. Ahead was a trip to Hawaii, and then back half way across the world again to London. Collins said he was planning to take Mrs. Collins on a Hawaiian trip.

These trips are all work, but the tall New Mexican seems to be thriving on it. His brisk pace has lost him a little weight, but it hasn't slowed him any.

"It's a wonderful experience," he told a reporter. "Even after a long, hard trip, if I can get an hour's nap, I'm fit and ready to go again."

Probably it was a good thing that Collins was born with a tough set of vocal cords. For one of the biggest jobs of any Legion commander is just talking.

In every city he hits in his crisscrossing of the country, day after day, Collins makes anywhere from one to eight appearances—speeches, news conferences, or meetings with legislators who are considering bills of interest to the Legion.

In Washington, for instance, he spoke at one of the Legion's big affairs, the annual dinner for members of Congress.

Then he drove to Hagerstown, Md., for another speech.

In between the speeches and news conferences, of course, are meetings with local Legion officials.

The Legion maintains three major national offices, in Indianapolis, Ind., New York, and Washington. Collins is based in a hotel room at Indianapolis, but has to get to the other places fairly often.

He has two main subjects in his talks—foreign relations and the threat of communism to America. And always he tries to drive home the point that the nation cannot afford to have either of these problems made partisan issues.

Another thing sometimes concerns the New Mexican. Too many people, he believes, feel that the Legion is interested only in matters that affect it directly as a group of veterans.

That simply isn't true, he says. The major points in the Legion program, he explained, are rehabilitation of veterans, child welfare, national defense and security, Americanism, and foreign relations.

"And of these, he said, 'only one, rehabilitation, is exclusively for the Legion. The others are for all the people.'

Collins said, the Legion has spent 117 million dollars in child welfare work since 1925, the money going to the aid of children generally, not just veterans' children.

Collins will be succeeded as commander by someone else next October. He was asked if he has any plans to seek another kind of office after that date.

"Right now," he said, "I'm just running hard for the job of past national commander."

But he seems to be loving every minute of being commander.

Rural Residents Of Red China Show Discontent

By FRED HAMPSON HONG KONG (AP)—The wife of a Chinese cook has come back to Hong Kong from a visit to her family village in Red China 30 miles upriver from the Fukien coast.

This is her account of farm life in Red China.

The small farmer and laborer gets half an ounce of cooking oil a month against normal consumption of eight ounces. He gets one catty 1 1/3 pounds of rice a day against a normal consumption of 1 1/2. He's allowed eight ounces of meat if he can find it. When hogs are butchered, soldiers and government workers are first served.

Farmers cannot use their own rice or hogs as they please. They must sell to the government monopoly and buy back as they need. There is a supply of fish about one third of the time. Soldiers and government workers always get theirs first.

Cotton padding is almost nonexistent. This is important, for capability. Bowman said, it is felt war itself can be prevented. Bowman said there is no question that the Southwest can be hit by enemy bombers. He said there is no cause for complacency, based on geography, in this region.

THE MERE establishment of the ground observer corps will not mean much in itself, the general warned. Volunteers are needed who are willing to work because they realize how important is their proper performance.

Brig. Gen. William Canterbury, commanding general of the Air Force special weapons center at Kirtland, said Kirtland planes have carried all of the latest types of bombs, nuclear and otherwise.

New Mexico Air Warning Is Vital to Civil Defense Plan

By ROBERT A. BARNES ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Civilians in five Western states will be asked later this month to help tighten this nation's air defense warning network.

A call for 12,000 volunteers in each state for service in the Ground Observer Corps will go out, Brig. Gen. Wendell W. Bowman says. It is hoped to have the observer posts operating in late June or early July.

States coming into the GOC setup are Arizona, Utah, Texas, New Mexico, and Colorado.

Information given in Arizona, New Mexico, or one of those other Southwestern states probably could spell the difference whether places like St. Louis or Kansas City would cease to exist," Bowman told a group of civil defense leaders here. He is commander of the 34th Air Division.

ABOUT 60 TOP civil defense personnel from four of the states were briefed at Kirtland Air Force base recently as groundwork was laid for establishment of the GOC.

Bowman said a goal of 200 observation posts in each state has been set. Their purpose would be to fill gaps in the present warning system consisting of radar stations at strategic points.

Much of the recruiting, Bowman told the Associated Press, will be done through local and state civil defense agencies. The operation as contemplated will be a combined military-civil function.

"We all know the threat facing us," the general said. "The Russian long range air force, with the weapons it has today, poses a threat this nation has never faced before. Events have overtaken us to the point where national security cannot be carried out by the military alone."

HE TOLD THE group two things are highly important: Intelligence about the Russians' production and buildup, and some warning of impending attack. This country cannot afford to have unidentified aircraft flying around, he said.

"We can't stop them all," he went on. "We must have the strength to stop most of an attack and blunt the rest." He said it is essential that time be gained for his country's offensive force to attack and for civilian defense organizations to get into action.

If air strength is built to that poor Chinese cope with cold weather by padding their clothing and blankets. The cook's wife took her own padded cotton blanket to Fukien from Hong Kong. On the return trip it was confiscated at Canton because the people's government does not permit the export of padded bed clothing.

Are people hungry? Everybody is a little bit hungry all the time, she said. One doesn't starve but he never gets enough. Is there open discontent? More than you would think.

Thinker Haven Idea Puzzles Village Folk

By RAE CORELLI PUGWASH, N. S. (AP)—Old-timer Charlie Teed, 88, knows Cyrus Eaton about as well as anyone else in Pugwash but the Cleveland millionaire's plan to open a "home for thinkers" here has him puzzled.

Other folks in this village share Charlie's puzzlement. The 500-odd villagers devote much of their time to loading lumber on foreign vessels or lobster fishing.

Eaton plans to turn his 15-room summer home here into a thinking haven for Canadians, Americans and British scholars.

The first guests, to be nominated by universities, are scheduled to move in this summer. The first year will be experimental.

Teed remembers "CY" Eaton as a boy when Joe Eaton's family was struggling to make a living at Pugwash Junction, six miles from here. Joe ran a general store and farmed.

Cy used to be a quiet sort; didn't seem to go out much," Teed said. "But I remember his pa sayin' there was nobody as trustworthy as Cy."

On the question of his "home for thinkers," Charlie just gingered his bushy white mustache and looked bemused.

Joe O'Connor, a 38-year-old lumber inspector, and Mrs. Edgar Gayton, who helps operate a tea room, agreed that Eaton's plan would be a success if it makes Pugwash a bigger spot on the map.

Jack Webb to Make Jump From Friday to Musician

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (AP)—After four years as the laconic cop of Dragnet, Jack Webb is making the jump into an entirely new character, a rugged cornet player of the Roaring '20s.

He will star in and direct "Pete Kelly's Blues," a big-screen movie for theaters. He is also producing, but he won't take the credit on the screen. He thinks the multiple credits are too ostentatious.

Caught up with the fast-moving Webb on a music stage at Warners where he was recording one of the 38 numbers in the film. Peggy Lee was singing a dramatic song in which she breaks down. Webb was all over the place, giving directions until he got the record just as he wanted it.

Later I asked him about Pete Kelly. Who is he—Joe Friday with a cornet? "No, not at all," he said. "It will be a complete change. I'm not the world's greatest actor; I'm not even one of the 1,000 greatest actors. But I think the characterization will come out differently. I play naturally. But that doesn't mean Jack Webb is Pete Kelly, any more than I'm Joe Friday. I've always tried to leave the character behind when I walk out of the studio at night.

"I think Kelly will be different emotionally from Friday. Because of his job, Joe isn't allowed to show much emotion. But we'll show Kelly first as a confused individual wallowing up the era of the 20's. He gets in a jam and wavers through fear, but he ends up on the right side of the law."

"There'll be some of the violence, because you can't attempt to picture that era without violence. But I've always been careful with the amount of violence I have shown because of the young following that Dragnet has. I'm not going to endanger that."

Peiping's Western Reds Are Among Loneliest in China

By FRED HAMPSON HONG KONG (AP)—The handful of Western Communists and pro-Communists who serve Peiping are the loneliest people in China.

Businessmen and correspondents visiting China recently brought out differing reports about the exiles, but all agree they are a lonesome lot.

Some are worried about passports. None so far has served all ties with home. The most widely known are two British pro-Communist correspondents, Alan Winnington, and Wilfred Burchett.

They got the spotlight in Korea when they acted as unofficial spokesmen for the Chinese Reds.

It was there too that they put their passports in danger. The British government has condoned pro-Communist, even anti-British work, in China proper. But the propaganda these two did for the Reds in Korea—where British troops were fighting—cost Winnington his passport and may cost Burchett his.

Burchett's papers expire in May. He has asked for renewal. Winnington's request for renewal was refused. He now can get only papers good for return to the United Kingdom; once there he could not leave.

Michael Shapiro, another British correspondent, lost his passport for his efforts in Korea, according to returning visitors.

Winnington and Shapiro represent the London Daily Worker and work for the Communist New China News Agency. They live well, like medium-level Communist bureaucrats, with commodious houses, two or more servants, sufficient heat, clothing and good food.

Burchett has never worked officially for the Reds. His overseas corresponding seems to pay him amply. One visitor said he lived better than the others and certainly seemed to have more ready cash.

33 LOSE LICENSES

SANTA FE (AP)—A total of New Mexico drivers had their licenses revoked during the part of March, records of the driver's license division show were for a period of from 90 to one year.

China off and on for years who once resided in the United States, is on the staff of a magazine called China re-constructs. It is an English-language publication devoted to propagandizing Communist industrial efforts.

Nan Green, a British writer, held various jobs in Peiping, passport recently expired but renewed.

A few Americans still work in Peiping.

A Midwesterner named Red Winter, is teaching in Peiping university. Returned visitors say he calls himself an "American-eral." He is reported to be compiling a new English textbook for the Reds. Another American is George Hatem, long a resident of China who has taken the name Ma Hai-teh.

A returned British journalist who visited the exiles called "lost souls." He says they seem to have chosen Communism because it gave them an importance they could not win in a competitive society.

STARS of Irving Berlin musical hit "White Christmas" continuing three more night at Landsun theater include Bing Crosby, Rosemary Clooney, Danny Kaye, and Vera Ellen. Movie is in Vista Vision.

Berlin's 'White Christmas' Continues Three More Nights

Irving Berlin's "White Christmas" continues at Landsun theater tonight, Friday, and Saturday with its sparkling songs and special VistaVision.

Starring Bing Crosby, Danny Kaye, Rosemary Clooney and Vera Ellen, the frothy mixture of music and mirth has still a fifth and sixth star, these being Vista Vision and the sensational Irving Berlin score.

VistaVision is everything that was said about it. This electrifying process literally makes the motion picture screen come to life. Never before has a picture been seen with such clarity and definition.

Cabin Cruisers Held to Move Government

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH WASHINGTON (AP)—Two sleek cabin cruisers the Navy keeps in constant readiness for President Eisenhower's use are maintained primarily, the White House says, "for any emergency requiring relocation of the government."

James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, gave no further details. "Any details as to their specific role in any emergency could defeat the whole purpose as to why they are kept available at all times," he said.

ACTUALLY, the White House feels there is only a remote chance the cruisers would have to be called into service in any "relocation of the government." But presidential aides are determined to be fully prepared.

All hands concede that Eisenhower is much more likely to use the boats for pleasure cruises if he uses them at all, but he has displayed little interest in them. He used one of them last Aug. 9 to take his three grandchildren for a Potomac river ride. He hasn't been near either boat since.

Except for two or three trial runs, the boats haven't been used by anyone else either, the White House says, but their engines are kept tuned and ready.

Eisenhower aides had the two cruisers set aside for emergency or pleasure use after the President ordered the big presidential yacht Williamsburg decommissioned. He

New Medical Advances Bring Relief to Many

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

OUR monthly report on new medical advances brings news of help today for victims of rheumatic fever, leukemia and certain types of non-pulmonary tuberculous lesions.

The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation of New York City recently announced that a new form of penicillin has "proved unusually effective in the control and prevention of rheumatic fever."

Effects of New Antibiotic
Effects of the new antibiotic, called benzathine penicillin, were described in a recent issue of the Foundation's Bulletin on Rheumatic Diseases, issued monthly to physicians and scientists throughout the world.

The report states that the antibiotic eradicates the streptococcal infection that may lead to rheumatic fever. One injection will protect a child for an entire month. "I'll have more to say about this new discovery in a later column."

Anti-Folic Acid Drug
A new anti-folic acid drug, Methotrexate, has been announced by the Lederle Laboratories Division of the American Cyanamid Company. Methotrexate is chemically similar to another anti-leukemia new hit tunes especially written for "White Christmas," once again point out the genius of master tunesman, Mr. Berlin.

The inimitable Bing Crosby and warm-voiced thrush Rosemary Clooney make up a who-could-ask-for-anything-more-singing-combination rendering the Berlin tunes in memorable fashion. Vera Ellen turns in some stunning dancing and Danny Kaye does everything. Kaye sings, dances and when not engaged in these entertaining enterprises, he is up to some rib-tickling antics.

With all of its many songs and dances "White Christmas" has plenty of time for a tightly-knit comedy romance that had last night's audience chuckling from beginning to end. The story has to do with two GI buddies, Bing and Danny, who form a show-business act and soar to stardom.

During the course of their adventures they meet and fall in love with a sister act, Rosemary Clooney and Vera-Ellen. They follow the girls to a Vermont Inn that is owned and operated by their old Army General, Dean Jagger.

The fly in the ointment is that the General is going broke. No snow, no customers and no cash in the register. Bing and Danny decide to put on their show at the Inn.

After many problems that threaten both the show and the romances, all ends well with the right girl in the arms of the right guy and with the Vermont countryside covered with snow by Christmas eve.

called the yacht, which President Truman used quite a bit, an "unnecessary luxury."

THE CRUISERS had been commandeered from private owners during the war. The owners had not chosen to buy them back.

They are named for the President's granddaughters—the Susie E and the Barbara Anne. The Barbara Anne has been thoroughly reconditioned and fitted with four new diesel engines at a cost of about $140,000. Renovation of the 60-foot Susie E cost about $35,000. The latter was formerly called the Margie after Margaret Truman.

MCKEE LOW BIDDER
OMAHA (AP)—Apparent low bidder yesterday on construction of a new Strategic Air Command control center at Offutt Air Force Base was Robert E. McKee, Santa Fe and El Paso. The McKee firm bid $8,662,464 compared with a $9,351,988 government estimate. There were eight other bidders.

drug, Aminopterin, developed in 1947. When used in combination with ACTH, cortisone and other compounds, Methotrexate is said to help give 70 per cent of children doomed with leukemia a temporary return to good health.

Animal tests indicate that the new anti-folic acid may work on children who do not respond to compounds now in use.

Enzyme Jelly
Development of an enzyme jelly useful in treatment of certain types of non-pulmonary tuberculous lesions was reported in a recent issue of the American Review of Tuberculosis.

Dr. George N. Hazlehurst of New York University College of Medicine wrote that the jelly "was found effective in healing a number of suppurative tuberculous lymph nodes." Each lesion, he said, must be treated on an individual basis.

Areas of the disease not in direct contact with the jelly, he explained, are not affected by the application.

GEORGI ZAROUBIN, Russian Ambassador to the United States, leaves the State Department in Washington after conferring with Herbert Hoover, Jr., Undersecretary of State. The ship was seized by Chinese Nationalists last June while en route to Red China.

Loaded Army Ambulance Tied Up By Red Tape

WINCHESTER, Mass. (AP)—Army regulations tied up a disabled Army ambulance for two hours yesterday.

The ambulance broke down while it was carrying an ailing soldier from a visit to his home to the Ft. Devens hospital. The driver found the trouble to be a defective fuel pump. A replacement could have been obtained at the corner gasoline station, but such purchases are forbidden by Army regulations.

A second ambulance had to be sent from Ft. Devens to Winchester, about 35 miles to take soldier Richard Beck the rest of the way. Beck was suffering from a virus infection.

Realistic Posing Brings Police On Double Again

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—After an $8,000 bank holdup here yesterday, a police officer asked a pretty bank cashier, Mrs. Sylvia Zupo, to pose for pictures showing how she stepped on the holdup alarm button.

A few moments later, police burst through the door. "There couldn't have been two holdups here," said officer M. L. Hunsaker.

Mrs. Zupo blushed. "I guess I pressed the bank alarm again," she said.

Recent studies indicate that the United States has more than three million alcoholics.

Ancient Herb Is Aid to Cattle

CHICAGO (AP)—An ancient Egyptian herb is being used on cattle to determine if it will prevent cancer of the eye, a researcher said yesterday.

Dr. Lee Clark of Houston, director of the University of Texas Animal Hospital, said the herb "shows promise" of affording protection against the type of cancer caused by exposure to sunlight. Eye cancer affects as much as 5 per cent of the herds in the Southwest. The researcher did not identify the herb, but he said it had been used in the U. S. to treat a skin condition caused by lack of pigmentation.
