Rotary Speaker Talks About Touring Air Force Academy

Telling of trials and travails in trying to find a speaker for Rotary on Tuesday, Jess Winn ended up being his own program.

He said he was going to talk about "Military."

He told about a trip he and Dave Marr made to the Air Force Academy a few years ago as V.I.P. visitors.

They also visited NORAD at Cheyenne Mountain near Colorado Springs.

He told about leaving Lubbock in a 3-star general's plane, and the outstanding treatment they received.

Arriving in Colorado Springs they were hosted at the officers club, then toured the Air Force Academy, which he termed, "A sight to behold."

He was particularly impressed by the chapel, which is used by all denominations.

He said they visited the mountains, which are fully utilized by the military. He said they had three Olympic sized swimming pools, as well as two larger than regular sized swimming pools.

"We toured from one end to the other," he said. "I have a grandson I am encouraging to get his education by attending the Air Force Academy."

Winn touched on rifles like he 'had never seen before' carried by the guards around the NORAD facilities, and who (the guards) appeared to know how to use them.

Winn talked about doors, which were 14' thick solid steel, and were opened and closed hydraulically.

The speaker said in case of attack, the mountain was self-sustained with food and water, and all necessities for 180 days underground.

He talked about visiting the Weather Center, where weather is monitored all over the world at the same time; of the War Room, where three American generals and three Canadian generals are on duty at any time. The hand-screened generals discuss events throughout the world, keeping constant monitors on world events. He said they could tell you within two miles where an incoming missile would land if it was not shot down.

Winn talked about a screen that would pick up any plane in the air, anywhere, if it had not filed a flight plan, and cited several examples, such as near the Gulf of Mexico, a suspected dope plane; a plane in Iowa, Cont. Page 6, Col. 1

Muleshoe Teachers, Parents To Tour Europe

A group of local teachers met Sunday to finalize their plans for a seventeen-day European trip.

The group will leave Sunday, June 10, at 8 a.m. from Lubbock. They will meet several travelers in Dallas for the flight via Pan Am to JFK in New York and then on to London, England for the first country of a six-country tour.

After two days in London, touring the main sites, including Westminster Abbey and Buckingham Palace, plus a visit to a theater, they will go to Canterbury Cathedral.

They will board a ferry at Dover to cross the English Channel and continue to Paris, France, for a two-day visit.

Notre Dame, the Louvre Museum, and Versailles will be the most notable attractions in Paris. Lucerne, Switzerland will be the next stop. Shopping and a trip up Mt. Pelatus will be enjoyed by all the group, said coordinator Johanna Wrinkle.

The group will drive south through the beautiful Swiss countryside and cross into Italy and drive east to Verona for an opportunity to see Jliet's house (of Romeo and Juliet by William Shakespeare) before going on to Venice for two days. A gondola ride with more shopping will delight the group, said Mrs. Wrinkle. The Bridge of Sighs and St. Mark's Basilica will be on the morning tour. Next, the goal of the group when they get to Vienna, Austria, is to see the Spanish Riding School. The breathtakingly beautiful Schoenbrunn Palace will be toured in Vienna.

The tour will continue across the Austrian countryside, along the Danube River to Salzburg for a visit. The Cathedral and Hohensalzburg Fortress will keep the travelers busy before they leave for a three day stay in Munich.

In Munich, the Texas travelers will visit Nymphenburg Palace and see a Glöckenspiel performance.

The group will also visit Dachau while in Munich. Dachau was once a concentration camp, but now is a museum.

The medieval walled town of Rothenburg will be the next stop. After this, Heidelberg on the banks of the Neckar River will be visited.

The next day, a cruise on the Rhine will enable the group to view beautiful vineyards and Cont. Page 6, Col. 1

SERVICE PERSONNEL APPRECIATION BANQUET TUESDAY

On Tuesday at 8 p.m. service station, restaurant and motel personnel will be honored at a banquet at the Corral Restaurant, according to Chamber of Commerce manager, Jerry Hutton.

The banquet is to be slated by the Chamber of Commerce as a special 'Thank You' for these unsung ambassadors of Muleshoe, said the CofC manager.

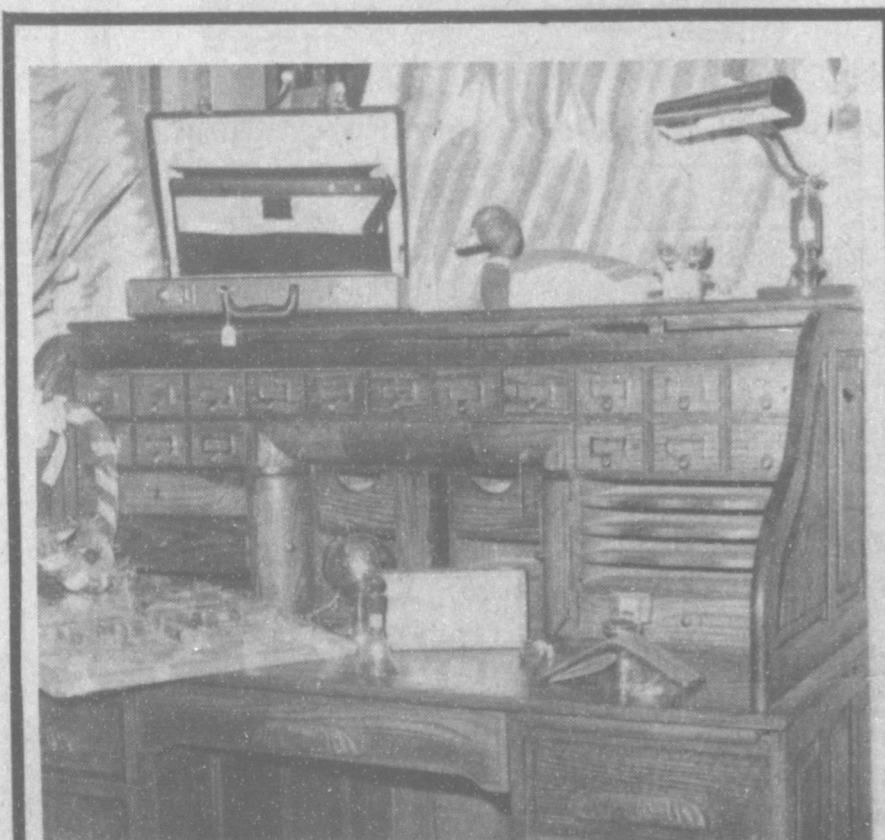

"When tourists first come into Muleshoe, the persons they meet first, such as the service station operator or the waitress in the restaurant, often leaves a lasting impression about the area," said Hutton. "If the person who serves them is friendly and polite, then they have a good feeling about Muleshoe, and if they are abrupt and withdrawn, then the tourist usually has a "bad taste" in his mouth about our town."

"All station owners and their employees, and all restaurants and their employees, including drive-in restaurants and motel personnel are invited to attend the special banquet in their honor."

A New Twist To Meal-In-A-Bun

A MEAL-IN-A-BUN may sound old hat, but not with these newest twists for hot dogs, veggies or fruits--just in time to celebrate July as Hot Dog Month.

"Hot Dogs are the world's most convenient fun food, so why not offer it in novel, healthful ways--bun-buddy style," suggests Yvonne Sutton, home economist for The International Sausage Council, Westchester, IL. Here are a few new twists to enliven an all-time favorite:

BBQ Franks with Garden Vegetables

Cut franks into 1/4-inch pennywise slices. In skillet, saute with fresh onion rings. Mix well with favorite barbeque sauce. Cook over medium heat until heated through. Cover bottom half of toasted hot dog bun with alfalfa sprouts. Spoon BBQ franks and onion rings over top. Garnish with fresh garden vegetables, e.g., broccoli flowerettes, grated carrot, diced sweet peppers, for added flavor and crunch.

Frank Stir Fry

Cut franks into thirds; split each third into 4 diagonal cuts but not all the way through. In skillet saute in oil until the frank pieces curl; add slices of zucchini, radishes, and red onion slivers. Saute 2-3 minutes. Add your favorite stir fry sauce just to coat and glaze. Serve over rice or in toasted hot dog bun.

Mexicali Hot Dog

Spread bottom half of toasted hot dog bun with refried beans.

Split hot dog 3/4 way down the center, and fill with grated Monterrey Jack cheese. Broil bun until beans are heated; keep warm. Broil hot dog until cheese melts and is bubbly. Top refried bean half with shredded lettuce, chopped tomato and green onion slices. Place hot dog on top. Spoon on salsa. If desired, add a dollop of guacamole or sour cream. Cover with remaining top of bun.

Pineapple-Swiss Cheese Frank Melt

Partially cook slices of bacon--one for each frank you are preparing. Set aside. Cut frank down the center 3/4 through. Fill with strips of Swiss Cheese (1 slice per frank/cut into 4 vertical strips). Wrap in bacon slice. Broil franks, bacon and pineapple slices together, brushed with teryaki sauce, until cheese melts. Serve in toasted hot dog bun.

More Than Words

"I don't like your dog. Every time I come he barks and I don't trust him. I'd come more often if it wasn't for your dog." "A dog," said the host without blinking, "is a man's best friend."

New Corn Herbicide Kills Johnson Grass

by: Spencer Tanksley, CEA-AGRI

Corn growers across the country now have a new herbicide to control johnsongrass. Beacon, a product from Ciba-Geigy, recently received label approval from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). The herbicide is the first postemergence product for control of these problem grasses in corn.

Beacon also features unique packaging, with pre-measured doses in water-soluble packets. There's no concern for container rinsing and/or disposal. And it's effective at low rates. A single box, about the size of a child's shoebox, can treat 50 acres of corn.

Beacon is unique and totally new for corn. This sulfonylurea herbicide is more selective and effective on johnsongrass than other herbicide options.

Growers are warned, however, not to apply Beacon if the insecticide Counter is used in the corn field anytime during the season. When other insecticides are used at seeding, growers should wait 20 days before they apply Beacon.

Proper application timing is important, too. Growers should apply Beacon at the recommended two-acres-per-packet rate (0.76 ounces per acre) when corn is between four and 20 inches high.

It's not necessary to incorporate Beacon, so there's less risk of soil erosion or loss of moisture because of cultivation, a real benefit for reduced tillage practices.

And Beacon offers other benefits. Its three-week residual in the soil means growers can rotate corn fields treated with Beacon to soybeans or grain sorghum the following year with no concern about carryover, regardless of weather conditions.

Beacon's packaging is unique, with exact-dose, water-soluble packets (the size of teabags). Each packet treats two acres. There is no need to pour or measure chemicals, and there is no hassle with container rinsing and/or disposal.

The highly concentrated formulation means low dosage and more convenient handling and storage. Beacon is available in an easy-to-open, disposable polyethylene bag that contains five packets, enough to treat 10 acres of corn. Five bags come packaged in a box (about the size of a child's shoebox), enough to treat 50 acres.

With the water-soluble packets, however, it is important to have the spray tank half-full with agitating water before dropping the Beacon packets into the tank. Then add either a nonionic surfactant like X-77 or an appropriate crop oil concentrate before adding more water.

Because of the late approval from EPA and first-year production limitations, supplies of Beacon may be limited in some areas. According to Ciba-Geigy, full distribution will be available

Moth Invasion To Disappear Very Soon

A large number of moths are now congregating at night around lights in Bailey County. These moths are the adults of two or three species of mesquite cutworms. The number of these moths increased rapidly during the past few days. They will be present in large numbers for about a week then they will quickly disappear.

The mesquite cutworm larvae feed on mesquite leaves. They feed at night and remain hidden under the rough bark or at the base of the tree during the day. When full grown the larvae are about 1 1/4 inches in length. They are black with light-colored to gray parallel lines running the length of the body.

Most of the foliage may be stripped from mesquite trees that are heavily infested by mesquite cutworms. When these cutworms are damaging mesquite trees in the home landscape carbaryl (Sevin®) will provide effective control when sprayed on the foliage.

The moths which are almost black have a light colored line about 1/3 of the way back across the wings. When the wings are folded this line forms a V. There is a crescent shaped orange spot on the end of the underwings.

If the moths become a problem in the home, aerosol sprays containing pyrethrins or resmethrins will be helpful in controlling the moths. They will not cause any damage in the home but may be a nuisance. Use yellow lights that do not attract the moths if the presence of large numbers of moth become a problem.

by fall 1990. Corn growers should contact their local agricultural chemical dealer for more information.

Bullock Reviews State Tax Loss

State Comptroller Bob Bullock stated that Texas loses $432 million a year in federal funds because of federal laws and policies that give other states more than their fair share of federal tax dollars.

"The war between the states didn't end in 1865. Regional battles are fought every day in Washington and Texas keeps ending up on the casualty list," Bullock said.

In the second of a five-part series of reports on federal funds in Texas, Bullock outlined 25 specific changes in federal laws and policies that would bring more than $400 million a year in additional federal funds back to Texas.

Bullock said the changes needed at the federal level would gain Texas about 20 percent of the $2.4 billion the state is being shortchanged each year in federal funds. The remaining 80 percent can be accomplished by changes at the state and local levels, which will be detailed in future reports, Bullock said.

these regional battles for decades. But this is the first time anyone in the state has given them a comprehensive listing of many ways Texas gets short-changed in Washington. It won't be easy to change these laws but for the first time we can see the scope of the problem."

The series of reports, called "Dollars We Deserve," is based on a three-year study by the Comptroller's Economic Analysis Center which is the most extensive review of federal programs ever done in any state.

If necessary, committee members will write your story for you, and it will be included in the book, LAMB COUNTY HERITAGE, (to be published by Curtis Media in 1991.)

Some federal laws that distribute money have been slanted to benefit smaller states and states in the Northeast and Midwest. Bullock said representatives from those states have traditionally dominated the congressional committees that draft federal aid formulas for education, health and human services funding.

For example, the report says Texas loses $90 million a year in housing and community development funds because the formulas are based on how much of the state's housing was built before 1940. This formula guarantees that older northeastern states get a larger share of federal housing money.
