Cattleman Claims Surpluses Of Crops Not Dangerous

The farmer is entitled to a fair share of our prosperity today," Robert George, a Kansas cattleman, said in a speech addressed to about 130 members and guests of the Artesia Knife and Fork club at the Methodist Fellowship Hall last night.

George told Knife and Forkers that in 1954 the U. S. farmer made less than 50 cents an hour for the time he put into his farming activities. In eastern Kansas, where George lives, he said that the average farm income on an investment of $53,000 is only $2,600. In 1947, George said, the parity price of what the farmer bought was 124 per cent and parity on what he sold was 123 per cent. But in 1955 the parity price of his purchases was 154 per cent, and parity on his sales was only 81 per cent in only eight years.

Speaking of surpluses, George said that outside of cotton and wheat the farmer has overproduced only two per cent. We have on hand only an eight-month and 11-day supply of cotton, a two-year supply of wheat, and not over a four-month supply of anything else. George said that 18 per cent of the farm population have left the farm in the past five years. Only 13 per cent of the U. S. population lives on the farm today.

It is impossible for a young man to go into farming today unless he can step in and take over his father's established operation, or unless he has money of his own from some other source, George said. To succeed as a beginning farmer would take no less than $35,000, he said, and no young man is going to want to go that much in debt, or no banker is going to loan him that much to start a farm.

The family farm is disappearing and big business with the capital to buy large tracts of land and heavy machinery to farm it on a mass production basis, is taking over, George believes.

Actually the cost to each of us in the United States to support the government farm program has been only 38 cents for the entire 20-year program, George said. Government aid and service to agriculture is only 463-million dollars as compared to one-billion-41-million dollars aid to business over the same period.

"Food today is the cheapest thing you buy," George told club members. In 1900, he said, 46 per cent of the family income went for food, in 1920 it was 40 per cent, in 1940 it was 34 per cent, and in 1955 only 25 per cent went for food. "One hour's work today buys twice the amount of food it did in the boom year of 1929," George said.

George pointed out also that where in 1947, 55 per cent of the consumer's dollar went to the farmer, today it is only 41 per cent.

Today the consumer pays for advertising, packaging, display, parking, processing and preparation of the foods that was not a factor 30 years ago. Today the housewife spends 1.6 hours preparing food that then would have taken her five hours to prepare — and she pays for that, but it doesn't go to the farmer, George pointed out.

"What's the reason for the farmer's unequal share of the national income? Because he is unorganized, and being unorganized, he doesn't count politically, George believes.

What is the answer? George admits that he doesn't know what the answer is, but says there is no problem we can't solve if we quit knifing each other in the back and work together toward a solution.

Chamber Warns Against Phony Ware Vendors

The Chamber of Commerce today issued a warning to Artesia residents to beware of peddlers selling merchandise at cut-rate prices between now and Christmas. Paul Scott, chamber manager, said that the city will be plagued with peddlers from now until Christmas.

"They will be offering merchandise at way below established prices," Scott said, "and nine times out of 10 the stuff won't be worth the price paid."

Scott urges residents to make peddlers show a city license before buying from them, and also to ask them to show a blue card issued by the Chamber of Commerce.

Scott said that the Chamber investigates peddlers to see that they are legitimate businesses and not fly-by-night rackets before issuing the blue card of approval.

Scott said that the city has been issuing some licenses to peddlers who do not have Chamber approval.

The chamber manager announced that city crews are erecting iron pipe to support the Christmas street decorations 15 feet above the pavement.

It is hoped that the new support will be up for all of the decorations before Christmas, Scott said. The decorations will be transferred to the higher supports as fast as they are installed.

Scott said that the Chamber had purchased 900 feet of four-inch pipe and had another 40 feet contributed for the project. The new support will stand 23 feet above the pavement allowing several feet of sag in the decorations.

The decorations at present hang so low that there have been four instances of them being torn down by passing trucks in recent days.

Santa Arrives To Herald Yule Season In City

Hundreds of children thronged the streets of downtown Artesia at 4:30 p. m. yesterday to see Santa Claus ride through town on a fire-truck in a parade heralding the Christmas season.

The Chamber of Commerce today announced results of the judging of store window decorations by four out-of-town judges last night. Winners are:

The Toggery Shop, 315 W. Main, first prize; Clark's Shoes, 207 S. Main, and Floore Floral, 106 S. Tenth, tied for second place; Artesia Shoe Stores, 321 W. Main, third prize, and Brainard-Corbin, 412 W. Quay, honorable mention. Certificates of award were issued to winners by the Chamber of Commerce.

Christmas street lighting was turned on at 5:30 yesterday.

Fire Department Called Twice

The fire department was called at 12:30 a. m. today to battle a roof blaze on a vacant house at Seventh and Hank Streets.

The fire was confined to the roof and the only other damage to the house resulted from water and smoke. Some windows were broken to get at the blaze.

The owners of the house were not available for comment and firemen declined to estimate the damage.

Firemen also made a run at 5:30 p. m. yesterday to put out a trash fire at the rear of the Elks Club.

State, Tractor Batteries Taken

Joe Howell, 712 W. Chisum, reported a battery stolen off a tractor at his residence yesterday, state police said today.

The state highway department also reported some batteries stolen off their equipment west of Maljamar last night.

Lea County Ranchers Called Unreasonable Fee Chargers

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—An accusation that some Lea County ranchers have been charged unreasonable fees against companies which enter their land has been made at a meeting of oil men here.

The charge, made by a number of oil operators, led to creation of a special committee to try to solve the problem where state-owned lands are involved.

A "code of ethics" covering desirable relations between landowners and oil-gas firms was set up more than a year ago.

But those at a meeting of the public land committee of the New Mexico Oil and Gas Assn. generally agreed that the code has not eased the situation entirely, although they say it has helped.

"The code did some good," said Clarence E. Hinkle, Roswell oilman and chairman of the Public Lands Committee. "But in Lea County especially the landowners have been holding up the oil companies; there's no question about it."

Frank Elliott, Roswell oilman said the situation "has been getting worse all the time."

Land Commissioner E. S. Walker told the group that "you people started this deal." He said the oil people had let themselves be pushed "until the situation has gotten out of hand."

Former Welfare Director Enters SCC Campaign

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Dee Sturges former director of the State welfare Department, has announced he will seek the Democratic nomination for state corporation commissioner. Another potential candidate eliminated himself from the race.

Sturges, the second Democrat to openly announce his candidacy for the commission, will seek the post being vacated by the expiration of the term of John Block of Espanola. Block is expected to seek re-election.

Floyd Cross of Truth or Consequences, chief clerk of the last House of Representatives, previously had announced his candidacy.

The secretary of the New Mexico Motor Carriers Assn., Leslie Thomas, Albuquerque, announced last night he would not be a candidate.

Sturges said he was seeking election to the three-man commission because "I used to have some dealings with the Corporation Commission and I've often been shocked at how little the commissioners have known about the technical end of the business."

'No Particular Emergency' Reported Behind Meeting

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower today called the National Security Council to a meeting on Thursday at Camp David near Thurmont, Mo. The White House said no particular emergency lay behind the decision.

Both Parties Asked To Shun Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles today called on Republicans as well as Democrats to avoid partisan foreign policy quarrels which, he said, might "endanger our nation."

Dulles suggested at a news conference that Republicans as well as Democrats, should avoid what he called "excesses" in debate on foreign policy in the campaign.

He said he himself is trying to avoid getting drawn into "what would reasonably be considered a partisan position."

Dulles said he has no present intention of making Republican party speeches in the 1956 campaign. But, he added, unspecified events could change his mind.

Dulles refused to comment on criticisms of Eisenhower administration foreign policy made by Adlai Stevenson, Gov. Averall Harriman of New York, and other top Democrats.

The meeting with newsmen was Dulles' first since his return from the foreign ministers' conference at Geneva.

Answering questions, Dulles said Democrats could well follow the example he said had been set by Republicans during the presidential campaigns of 1944, 1948 and 1952.

Dulles opened his news conference by reading a prepared statement in which he said:

"Our nation will need the same bipartisan unity which in the past has given authority, vitality and much success to our foreign policies."

Dulles added that "careless or uninformed indulgence in partisan excesses" could result in peril to the country.

Sir Winston Churchill Will Celebrate Birthday Tomorrow

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill observes his 81st birthday tomorrow.

In the seven months since he moved to age and resigned as prime minister, Churchill has made only one appearance in the House of Commons, where he spent more than half a century. That was to appear after the May elections as a Conservative backbencher—an ordinary member of Parliament.

But outside the glare of world attention, the veteran statesman has kept busy.

He spent two months this fall vacationing on the French Riviera. Much of his time there was devoted to writing and painting.

Now in the peaceful solitude of his country home, Churchill dines and polishes a few more pages of his book on the history of the English-speaking people. It is scheduled to be published next year.

If the whim strikes, he settles down before an easel to put a few more touches of bold color on a canvas.

Dressed in a floppy hat and the green suit he made famous, he walks along the paths of his estate in Kent with Rufus, his poodle, leaning excitedly at his side.

Since retiring, Churchill—"I am a friend of animals" has expanded his interest in race horses by buying a stud farm. To him his mares, stallions and foals are "mother horses, father horses and baby horses."

Among his rare public appearances now are those at the race track.

Churchill is said to keep in close touch with current events, but his mood seems to be that of a mad who feels he has a right to relax and in a detached sort of way watch history unfold. He gives the impression of deliberately trying to avoid any appearance of having a say in state policy—a right that might normally fall to him as a respected elder statesman.

Faure Stakes Political Life On Vote Today

PARIS (AP)—Backed in a corner after nine months of adroit parliamentary maneuvering, Premier Edgar Faure prepared to stake his government's life today on a vote of confidence on his demand for early elections.

The general expectation at the National Assembly was that Faure would be voted out. The Assembly ballot was due early tonight.

The resulting Cabinet crisis was expected to last several weeks, with the next Cabinet to be only a temporary team to arrange for election of the new Assembly in the spring. A spring vote could be billed as a compromise between the December date Faure sought and the balloting which otherwise would come in June.

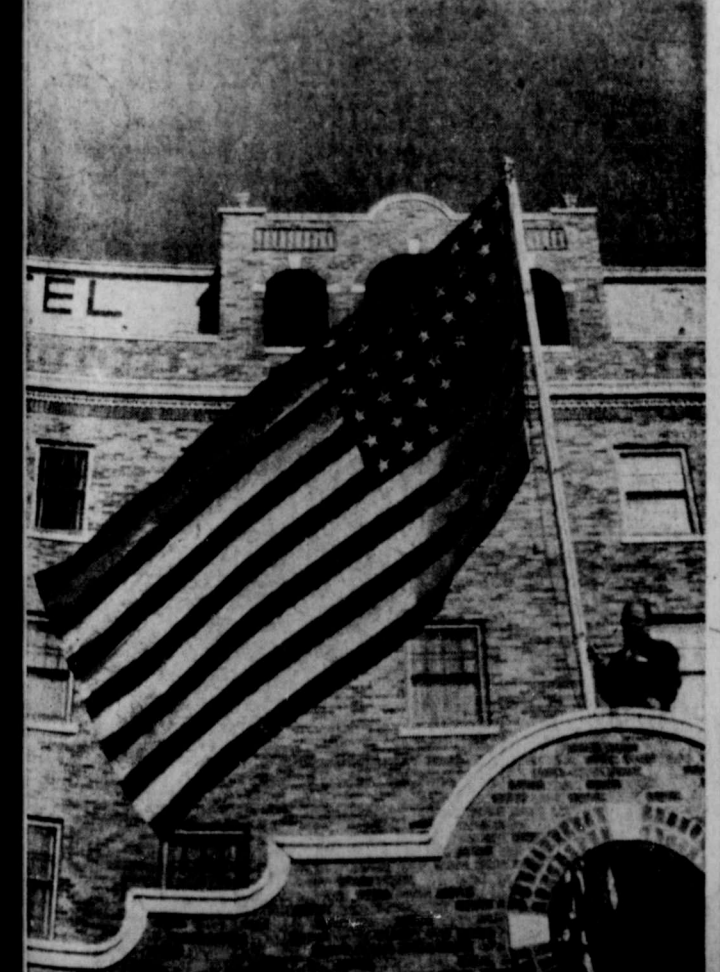

Officially the vote was scheduled on the question of the Assembly's work schedule for this week. The House's Agenda Committee recommended that it debate a motion by Francois Mitterrand, major supporter of former Pierre-Men-

Russia Offers To Quit Tests If U. S. Agrees

LONDON (AP)—Russia offered again today to stop testing nuclear weapons if the United States and Britain promise to quit also.

The offer, broadcast by the Moscow radio, came only three days after the Kremlin announced the Soviet Union had exploded its most powerful hydrogen bomb.

Today's broadcast said: "We cannot discontinue the production and testing of nuclear weapons so long as both the U. S. A. and Britain manufacture such weapons and test them."

"Proposals which the U. S. S. R. put before the United Nations stipulate a total ban in nuclear weapons and their removal from national armaments."

"And as one of the first moves to disarm, the U. S. S. R. suggests that countries which possess nuclear weapons pledge to discontinue their testing. We are ready to do so here and now if the other powers possessing such weapons agree to do the same."

Grimms' Fairy Tales Adaptation To Be Presented Here Dec. 5

The famous story of "The Bremen Town Musicians," adapted from Grimm's Fairy Tales for a children's theatre production, being presented here Dec. 5 by Park, Central and Hermosa P. T. A.'s, is being enacted by a talented young cast of Western actors whose educational backgrounds have well equipped them for this specialized field of theatre.

As the story involves a dog (Mr. Wiggers), a cat (Madam Folline), a donkey (Bonniface), a rooster (Jerome), a wicked Archduke, a benign old prime minister, a mean farmer, a robber chief, and a bewitched prince, it has been necessary to double cast some of the roles.

Triple threat man of the production is Walter Murphy, talented young actor from Sacramento. In this production he plays the role of the wicked Archduke, the mean old farmer, and the Robber Chief. Clever makeup, quick costume changes, and most of all, three distinct characterizations make it difficult to pick out his clever doubling!

A graduate of Sacramento State College, he has had a wide variety of roles in non-professional and professional theatrical companies. Summer stock and several minor roles in the Sacramento Music Circus have helped him prepare for his quick changes in The Bremen Town Musicians. Children will remember him for the roles he played in last season's "Giant of Knockman" in which he was the cheerful cousin, and also played Mr. Meebly, the leprechaun.

Another bit of double casting is accomplished with ease by Robert

Bush, a new member of the company. The role of Mr. Wiggers (the dog) and the role of the Prime Minister are both portrayed by him.

As music is his major in education, and as he has a fine baritone voice, several songs were written into the play for him. As the Prime Minister he sings the song "The Bremen Ron-De-Lay," considered a "hit" tune of the production. As Mr. Wiggers he opens the second act of the play singing a "Sniffing" song.

No newcomer to children's theatre, he has played in numerous performances including "Treasure Island" and "Rose Red and Snow White," both of these in Santa Barbara where he was a student at the University of California at the branch there. During his service in the U. S. Army at Camp Zama, Japan, he won the top award for all around proficiency in the Entertainment-Music Theatre Workshop. He is a graduate of San Francisco State College in music.

Another musical member of the cast is Eleanor Holland, also from San Francisco State College. She plays the role of the rooster, Jerome. As he is a chicken-with his head-cut-off-kind of a rooster, she developed a delightful scolding, brained character for the role. Also a music major, she has a clear soprano voice, perfect for the rooster, who turns out to be quite a singing bird! She has appeared recently in the State College production of Contrick's "Bernardine."

Sally Grafton, diminutive four-foot-nine-inch tall actress from Bakersfield, Calif., plays the role of Madam Folline. With a background of theatre in Bakersfield, and also in television, she more than compensates for her small stature with the wonderful "Mow-ow" and purr she has developed for her role as the cat, Madam Folline. As she plays the violin in the play she makes an appealing picture in her gray satin costume. She has already established herself as a favorite with the children.

Set A Gay Table On Christmas Day

This Christmas table is set with the beautiful new Silver Melody pattern by International Sterling. Representing the "balanced place setting" idea, forks on the left curve gracefully toward the plate while knives and spoons on the right also curve inward. This makes the art of table setting an easy one, since there need be no hesitation as to which side of the plate flat silver should be placed. The delicate carved flower on the pistol-grip handles combines modern and traditional styles harmoniously. The ball favors in the table's centerpiece are attractive Christmas decorations and can be taken home by the guests.

Little To Choose Between A A Title Foes

Roswell, Las Cruces Much Alike

By The Associated Press
The only thing that seems to concern the championship school football game between Roswell and Las Cruces is that the game will not follow the pattern set in the first two title games.

Those games the results were surprising reversals of form, an upset of the "dope."

The Coyotes and Bulldogs enter playoffs Friday night at Roswell as top-pick teams. Before, there was a pretty good indication of how things were going to come out.

1953 Roswell was a top-heavy team to smash Albuquerque. The Coyotes had to settle for a demerit 21-19 demerit following year, Artesia was poised to whip Highland. The teams upset Artesia 20-0.

Stockton, now attempting to put some finishing touches on his immediate plans before opening the season Saturday, is beginning his first year at the head of the Lobo basketball team and his first as a college coach.

He brought with him a new system, lots of hope and energy, the special magic that won him two high school state championships in the last five years, and the driving force that has made him about the most respected basketball coach in the state.

"I'm running it just like I did at Clovis. We're going to have a pattern type play this year—not run and shoot. I don't know how my system will work in college or out—but I'm going to use it until somebody shows me otherwise," he said.

"About the only trouble we are going to have are my newness to college coaching, the newness of my boys to the system I'm going to use and the need for a post man."

"We have several boys who will be able to make it at the post, but right now it doesn't look like any one of them will be able to handle it the way it should be handled. If one of them works out, things will look a lot better," he said.

Saturday the Lobos will open their season in El Paso against Texas Western. He will send a lineup composed of one senior and probably four sophomores against to clear up the picture, either. The only common foes Roswell and Las Cruces have met were Artesia and Carlsbad. Roswell whipped the two teams 42-14 and 21-6, respectively. Las Cruces turned the trick 39-13 and 24-6.

At Roswell, Coach Johnson has said that Roswell has "looked bad" out last two games. We could be in lots of trouble." Camunez at Las Cruces is a little more enthusiastic—but is a long way from predicting a victory.

Everything Is New As Lobos Prepare For Cage Season

By ROBERT GREEN

ALBUQUERQUE, (AP)—A freshman coach, a crew of sophomores and a new system may be in the process of installing the beginnings of a regime in the bleak and victory-scarce history of University of New Mexico basketball teams.

"We've got lots of want-to," coach Bill Stockton says, "but there's a long way to go. We're going to lose a lot of ball games. It's just that everyone and everything is so very new."

Monte Irvin Brought Back To Majors By Chicago Cubs

By JOE REICHLER

COLUMBUS, Ohio, (AP)—Monte Irvin, whose big bat played a key role in the New York Giants' miracle finish in 1951, is coming back to the major leagues at the ripe old age of 37 this time with the Chicago Cubs.

The slugging outfielder, abandoned by the Giants last summer, was the only big name among the 10 minor leagues selected by the majors for a total of $15,000 in yesterday's annual draft session, which officially opened the winter baseball meetings.

Although an unusual number of big league managers were here only one trade was consummated. The Chicago Cubs sent Hal Jeffcoat, a fair relief pitcher, to the Cincinnati Redlegs in an even-up exchange for Hobie Landrith, a second-string catcher.

The Cubs in desperate need of a strong right-handed outfielder, plucked Irvin from Minneapolis, the Giants' farm club in the American Assn., for the 10,000 draft price, beating out at least two other clubs—Detroit and Cincinnati.

Chicago also took title to pitcher Vito Valentinetti from Toronto. Valentinetti had a 9-15 record with Charleston last season.

The Cubs were the only club to choose more than one player in the lightest draft since 1945 when the same number of players were selected.

The biggest surprise was Washington's selection of a practically unknown pitcher, right-hander Conrad Grob, from Montreal, as the No. 1 pick. Grob, 23, had an 11-9 record at Mobile before being moved to Montreal.

The second choice went to Pittsburgh, which selected Jack McMahon, a southpaw on the Denver roster who turned in an 11-5 record for Birmingham last season. Baltimore picked first baseman Bob Boyd off Rochester. A former outfielder with the Chicago White Sox, Boyd batted .309, drove in 94 runs and hit 15 home runs in Houston.

The St. Louis Cardinals picked pitcher Billy Muffett, who was 10-4 at Shreveport. Muffett came off the Los Angeles roster.

Kansas City took title to Bill Herriague from Oakland. Herriague, a right-hander, had a 15-7 mark at Montgomery.

The Tigers selected Joe Preski, who had a 6-10 record at Omaha. The Giants took right-hander Steve Ridzik, former Philadelphia and Cincinnati pitcher, drafted from Seattle.

Milwaukee took southpaw Lou Sleater from Columbus. The former American Leaguer was 1-1 at Toledo.

The Giants completed their coaching staff with the selection of Ray Mueller, former National League catcher, as bullpen coach.

Oklahoma Wins Mythical National Football Crown

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

The Associated Press
Undefeated Oklahoma, winning at polls in the same whirlwind fashion that it won most of its games, today captured the 1955 national college football championship and the Father J. Hugh O'Donnell Trophy in the 20th annual Associated Press poll.

The bowl-bound Sooners amassed 3,581 points in the season's final AP poll of sports writers and broadcasters. It topped Michigan State by more than 300 points. Maryland, Oklahoma's opponent in the Orange Bowl Jan. 2, finished third.

Oklahoma succeeds Ohio State, Big Ten champion for the second straight year, as winner of the national championship trophy. It is the second time the Sooners have taken the award, named in honor of the late Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell.

In the final 1955 balloting, Oklahoma was first on 218 of the 294 ballots cast, second on 99 and third on 35. It was one of the heaviest votes in the 20-year history of the poll.

Michigan State, with 88 first-place votes, polled a second-place total of 3,204 points and Maryland, with 55 firsts, received 3,024 points. Others finishing in the top 10 were UCLA, which will meet Michigan State in the Rose Bowl, Ohio State, Texas Christian, Georgia Tech, Auburn, Notre Dame and Mississippi.

Other previous winners of the O'Donnell Trophy were Michigan, Notre Dame, Tennessee, Michigan State and Maryland.

Oklahoma, leader of the weekly polls for four weeks preceding the final ballot, wound up its season with a 53-0 walkover against Oklahoma A&M, its 10th victory of the season and 29th in a row.

TCU will oppose Mississippi in the Cotton Bowl, Georgia Tech will play Pittsburgh (rated 11th) in the Sugar Bowl and Auburn will play unranked Vanderbilt in the Gator Bowl.

The leaders, with first-place votes in parentheses:

- Oklahoma (218) 3,581
- Michigan State (88) 3,204
- Maryland (55) 3,024
- UCLA (9) 2,637
- Ohio State (4) 1,980
- TCU (9) 1,941
- Georgia Tech 1,301
- Auburn (6) 854
- Notre Dame 796
- Mississippi (1) 708

The second 10:

- Pittsburgh (1) 282
- Michigan 217
- Southern California 149
- Miami, Fla. 136
- Miami, Ohio 113
- Stanford 94
- Texas A&M 90

Despite Earlier Defeat DeMarco Appears Confident

BOSTON (AP)—For a fellow who Carmen Basilio the last time around, ex-welterweight champion Tony DeMarco fairly breathes confidence. Tony is sure he is going to take back the 147-pound title from Basilio in the Boston Garden Wednesday night.

The 23-year-old, 5-5½ ex-champ says he feels 100 per cent better now. He's had only one fighting chance to prove that and on the record it looks good. Big-chested Tony stopped heavier Chico Vejar, the Stanford, Conn., actor-fighter with the push-button chin in 2-40 of the first round on Sept. 14.

Competent observers say that he has been very impressive in the gym since then. He has been banging away with both hands and keeping his attack going.

The confidence in DeMarco's camp seems to have spread around the city. The odds, which had favored the 28-year-old Basilio by 9-5, have dropped to 7-5. Many here believe it will be 6-5 and pick 'em by the time they step into the Boston Garden ring.

Promoter Sam Silverman expects to sell out the Boston Garden to its 13,900 capacity.

This fight will be telecast and broadcast across the country but the New England area will be blacked out.

Red Sox Buy San Francisco Seals Franchise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Boston Red Sox have bought the San Francisco franchise for $150,000 in a deal calculated to strengthen the Pacific Coast League and are negotiating the sale of their Louisville farm in the American Assn.

Joe Cronin, Red Sox general manager, surprised the minor league convention last night by buying the Coast League outfit at Cleveland's Hank Greenburg sat back and waited for the club to fall into his lap.

Assured the Red Sox would do "everything possible" to have a contending club in San Francisco, the league's directors approved the sale.

In addition to the franchise, the Red Sox acquired the contracts of 19 players, including veterans like Gene Bearden, Billy Judnich and Bill Serena and who have had a whirl in the majors.

The league assumed all obligations of the former owners, the San Francisco Seals, Inc., headed by Damon Miller. It had declared the franchise forfeited by Miller's group at a special meeting at Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 11. Out of the $150,000 cost some $50,000 to pay a note due the league and $6,750 in back salary to former Manager Tommy Heath. After all debts are paid, the remainder will revert to Miller's group.

Cronin revealed a deal to sell the Red Sox's Louisville farm was in "the talking stage." He said negotiations were under way with a "local group" but he declined to name names.

BOMBER TAXED 1 MILLION
DETROIT (AP)—Internal Revenue authorities yesterday filed a second tax lien against Joe Louis, former world heavyweight boxing champion. The government claims Louis owes a total of $507,610 in back taxes and interest for the years 1949, 1950 and 1951. Louis also has been facing claims totaling $651,771 in taxes from 1946 to 1949.

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Two powerful small college football teams—Missouri Valley and Juniata—will play in the 10th annual Tangerine Bowl Game Jan. 2. Missouri Valley, champion of the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Assn. which has appeared in seven previous postseason games, was selected last night.

Labor Union Merger Success Depends Largely On Meany

Editor's Note: AFL and CIO will merge next week into a single, powerful alliance of 16 million members. What are the aims of this group, socially and politically? Will it succeed? Can it reconcile factions long at odds? The answers depend largely on one man, George Meany.

By NORMAN WALKER
NEW YORK (AP)—George Meany, erstwhile Bronx plumber, became head of the AFL three years ago. He quickly announced his primary aim was to arrange a merger with the CIO.

It seemed an impossible task. Jealousies and conflicts among rival unions and their leaders had doomed many prior merger attempts.

Considering all the problems, three years has been a short time for Meany, with his typical plodding, make-haste-slowly approach, has succeeded in steering the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations into a single, powerful alliance of 16 million members. It will end a 20-year split in organized labor.

Will the new organization endure? What will this formidable combination mean in terms of new inroads against employers, in organizing more union members, in influencing national politics—the stated union objectives for the merger?

Answers to these questions largely depend on Meany, the pudgy, 225-pound, coldly practical union leader. Walter Reuther, dynamic young head of the CIO, has stepped aside and Meany, as the undisputed choice for president of the new AFL-CIO, will be American's No. 1 labor chief.

He has tried to calm the fears expressed by some businessmen and politicians that the merged union federation will become a "giant labor monopoly" seeking eventually to take over control of the government.

"To indicate that the united labor movement will attempt to horsewhip the rest of the country is a complete distortion of the facts," says the blunt-spoken, 61-year-old Meany.

"It is dedicated, not to predatory objectives, but to serve as a force for good in the progress of our country."

This joint convention, by the way, will be in an armory just a few blocks from Grand Central Station. The rail terminal is one of the structures Meany helped build when as a young man he was lugging his plumber's wrenches around New York.

Those were the days when Meany's wages were the chief support for his grandfather, his mother and seven younger brothers and sisters. His father, Mike, a local union president and Democratic party precinct captain, had died. Meany, Irish as they come, married an Irish girl, a garment workers' union member.

Meany's rise in unionism was swift. Becoming president of the New York State Federation of Labor in 1934, he pushed 72 labor bills through the State Legislature in one year. His achievements led to his selection as the AFL's national secretary-treasurer five years later.

Ever since then, Meany has been a man to be reckoned with in union affairs. While the late AFL President William Green was inclined to compromise and avoid conflict, Meany as his chief lieutenant was constantly prodding Green to take more stands.

Gradually, both before and after he was selected to head the AFL in 1952, Meany quietly took on all the old-line AFL chieftains in tests of strength and, by besting them one by one, has in practically every case earned their respect and support.

Out in San Francisco at the 1947 AFL convention, Meany tangled with John L. Lewis, head of the miners union. Lewis wanted the AFL to refuse to submit the non-Communist affidavits required by the newly enacted Taft-Hartley law. He cowed AFL bigwigs with such scathing language as "I don't think the federation has a head—its neck has just grown up and haired over."

It was Meany who rose to answer the attack. "None of us," he reassured, with AFL leaders, "thinks it is a good law. But it was placed on the statute books under the Democratic system, and the only way it is going to be changed is by our representatives under that system."

Just as the convention supported Meany against Lewis in that instance, Meany by courage, persuasion and logic has won all the big arguments he's had within the federation. There have been a lot of them.

His determination and diplomacy in dealing with fellow union leaders are largely responsible for patching together the AFL-CIO MERGER. Perhaps these qualities are a clue to what to expect from the new combined organization.

The AFL now with about 11 million members, has been considered on the whole conservative. The smaller CIO, with about five million members, has often been called "radical" and regarded on the "left" on the American scene.

It appears likely that Meany will try to steer a middle course, whipping the old-line AFL chieftains into more economic and political activity while taming the CIO to a more moderate course.

So long as Meany is the dominant figure in the new setup it will depend much on him whether the distillation of the AFL and CIO becomes strong, weak or moderate. The chances are he'll move cautiously at the outset, gradually consolidating the cumbersome alliance.

"We have a united labor movement determined to use its best brains and brawn and energy to continue to move forward," Meany has said. "We like the idea of saying that America is the wealthiest nation on earth. We are given to bragging a little bit too."

"Perhaps we don't mean it the same as others when we say that, because when we measure the wealth of this nation we measure it by the human yardstick, not by tall buildings, roads or natural resources, but by the standards of life of the great mass of the citizens."

BROTHERS STRANDED
ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Two Albuquerque brothers were rescued cold but unharmed over the weekend after being trapped for six hours on a cable car above the Rio Grande near Corrales. The youths, Robert and Gerald Manerlyn, entered a conservancy district cable car and rode halfway across the river when the car slipped the cable. A conservancy official rescued them from another cable car.

Asbestos Board Is Barn Saver

About this time of year the progressive farmer is likely to be looking over his buildings with an eye toward making repairs and improvements that will increase efficiency during the coming year.

The chances are he will find one or more structures which, because of deteriorated sidewalls, are adding nothing to the good looks and serviceability of his farm layout. Dilapidated exteriors, agricultural engineers report, are among the most common complaints suffered by farm buildings.

Sidewalls which fail to supply adequate protection against weather are a drawback to profitable operation as well as a source of discomfort to animals and those who care for them, farm experts assert.

In recent years a procedure for restoring shabby exterior walls to good condition at modest expense has been adopted in many sections of the country. It consists of covering the walls with asbestos-cement board, a highly durable and noncombustible material. Asbestos board comes in large, easily applied sheets. Each sheet is 4 feet wide and 8 feet long, so one panel covers an area of 32 square feet.

Asbestos board is completely fire-safe and never needs painting for preservation. It doesn't rot, rust or corrode and it is safe from attacks by rodents and termites. It is obtainable from most building material dealers.
