Commissioners Hear Building Update

Texans For Term Limitation Founder Visits

Rob Mosbacher, attorney and president of Mosbacher Energy Company of Houston, was guest speaker for the Muleshoe Rotary Club Tuesday at noon.

Introduced by Bruce Purdy, president, Mosbacher, a Republican who recently sought the Lt. Gov. seat, said he was in Muleshoe to speak about his group, Texans for Term Limitations. He said Texans for Term Limitations was founded in January, and he and his board were making a concentrated effort to take their message statewide in an effort to change the elections laws to affect elected persons such as:

Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, Comptroller of Public Accounts, Treasurer, Agriculture Commissioner and Land Commissioner-two, four-year terms; members of the Texas Railroad Commission, one, six-year term; members of the Texas Senate-two, four-year terms; members of the Texas House of Representatives-four, two-year terms; Texas members of the U. S. Senate-two, six-year terms; and Texas members of the U. S. House of Representatives-four, two-year terms.

As Missionary

Brandon Carpenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Carpenter of Muleshoe, will be a 1991 Baptist Student Union summer missionary at the Gulf Coast Baptist Association.

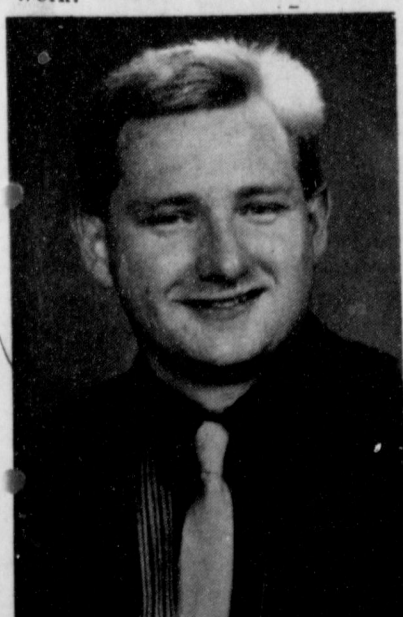

Carpenter, a sociology student at Texas Tech University, Lubbock, is one of 116 Texas college students who will share their Christian faith this summer through church and mission related ministries in 23 states and four foreign countries, said Jack Greever of Dallas, director of the Texas Baptist Division of Student Work.

Fellow BSUsers at about 130 campuses across the state are raising $130,000 to support the ministries of the 116 summer missionaries.

Baptist Student Unions are sponsored by the churches of the 2.5-million-member Baptist General Convention of Texas and are supported through the Cooperative Program gifts of about 5,400 churches and missions and through the Baptist associations and individual churches.

Through the Cooperative Program, the churches also support the work of about 7,500 missionaries in the U. S. and 114 foreign countries, plus six seminaries, the Radio and Television Commission and other causes.

Cooperative Program gifts also support 23 Texas Baptist educational and benevolent institutions, plus state missions work.

BRANDON CARPENTER

He said he talked about the term limitations during his campaign for lieutenant governor, and had talked about it for years before.

According to Mosbacher, 70 percent of the Texas people support term limitations, adding, "the only organized group in the country who opposes term limitations is legislators."

He said he advocates creating a nation of public servants instead of a nation of career politicians.

Giving some of his background, Mosbacher said that 20 years ago, he worked for Sen. Howard Baker in Washington, and watched everything change. He said he watched people who liked the 'power' of the job.

Term limitation is not a cure-all for the legislative problems, but is part of the answer, he added.

Mosbacher told the Rotarians, included would be 'money' reform and 'ethics' reform.

"But, term limitations would make the most change," he said. "Is this a new idea? Has it just come to light in the last few years? No! It is not new, it was part of the articles of confederation. In fact, Thomas Jefferson almost didn't sign the constitution because it didn't have a law on term limitation."

The speaker said that for the first 100 years of the country's existence, the legislators limited themselves, starting first with George Washington. Then Abe Lincoln served one term, then dropped out and waited a few years before running for office again, this time seeking the presidency. This century, Franklin Delano Roosevelt was the first president to serve more than two terms -- because of extenuating circumstances, said Mosbacher who added, "all presidents since that time have believed in term limitation."

Last fall, according to Mosbacher, California passed a term

Muleshoe Loses Some In Tax Rebate Check

"We're sending more than $229 million in local sales tax revenue back to local governments today, money that they can use to better serve the consumers who paid the money in the first place," State Comptroller John Sharp said Friday.

Statewide, monthly checks to city and county governments totaled $81.9 million, 6.2 percent more than last March's checks. Quarterly payments to mass transit authorities added up to $146.9 million, a 5.6 percent increase over the $139 million forwarded to them last year at this time.

"While the state's economy continues to grow at a faster rate than the U. S. economy, Texas is feeling the slowing effect of the national recession," Sharp said. "That's why statewide sales tax allocations this month increased moderately."

The March payments to cities and counties reflect taxes collected by businesses in January.

Sharp sent local sales tax rebate checks totaling $73.4 million to 885 cities, an increase of 5.1 percent over last March's payments of $69.8 million. City sales tax rates range from one percent to two percent.

Muleshoe's check for this pay period was $15,282.36, down 0.88 percent from the $15,417.40 received for the same period a year ago. To date for the year, the total is $57,976.53, up 3.38 percent from the $56,078.86 total of a year ago.

In Cochran County, Morton shows a decrease in current payments of 12.14 percent. Their current payment was $3,621.99, compared to the $4,122.50 from the same time last year. Payments to date for Morton are $14,640.65, down 3.17 from the $15,120.64 shown for March 1990.

Littlefield shows a decrease of 7.68 percent in current receipts. Their latest payment was for $14,067.78, compared to a total of $15,237.49 for the same period last year. They are showing an increase for the year of 3.64 percent. Total payments to date last year at this time were $57,927.04, compared to the $60,036.13 for the same time this year.

From Parmer County, Friona reports a decrease of 1.56 percent for their latest check. They received $6,928.25, compared to $7,038.21 for the same time a year ago. They are showing an increase for the year of 7.05 percent. To date this year, Friona has received a total of $29,184.29, compared to the $27,261.71 at the same time last year.

Houston received $12.6 million, the largest payment in the state. Dallas received the second largest payment, $7.2 million. San Antonio's check for $4.2 million was the third largest in the state, and Austin followed with $3.8 million.

Checks to county governments totaled $8.5 million, up 16.7 percent from last March's checks of $7.3 million.

Voters in 105 of Texas' 254 counties have approved collection of the 1/2 percent county sales tax, while voters in Uvalde County have approved an additional 1/2 percent tax for county health services. Last March, only 100 counties collected sales tax.

Checks totaling $146.9 million were also sent to the state's six

Jo Ann Head, field office coordinator in Muleshoe and Morton, for the Texas Department of Health, discussed the problems of trying to carry a large load of work, with far too little space.

Mrs. Head visited with the Bailey County Commissioners Court on Monday, to update them on seeking a grant to construct a new health services building in Muleshoe.

At this time, said Mrs. Head, their office is busier and busier, as they conduct more HIV screening. The HIV screening is the germ that causes AIDS (Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome). She said they are also seeing more patients with two full time nurses and one part time nurse working in the Muleshoe office.

She said Morton is sending a clerk and a nurse to Muleshoe part time, as the Morton office is not busy enough, and the Muleshoe office is overloaded.

This month, they are seeing 57 maternity cases, and on Monday and Wednesday, check their maternity cases, as well as conduct family planning classes and hold well-baby care.

Tuesday is reserved for immunizations and testing. They are currently checking 100-150 patients on Wednesday.

Also on Wednesday, other things are scheduled, such as the constant monitoring of two children who have tuberculosis in the county.

On Thursday, every other week, they have child health care, and the alternate Thursday is reserved for comprehensive testing and care.

Friday is family planning day, and she said they are currently working with 228 women. Some 180 of these women are on birth control pills, she said.

There is little working room in the current offices across the street west of the courthouse, reminded Mrs. Head, and they desperately need working room, as well as a room to conduct the regular classes.

According to Mrs. Head, the group working to try to help obtain a grant for the construction of a new building need a proposed location for the building to be confirmed by commissioners. She said it is generally recommended that the building be within the area where services are provided the most people, adding that some area around the courthouse would be ideal.

Commissioners had discussed in the past utilizing some county land located near the Bailey County Coliseum, however, as Mrs. Head pointed out, many of the people who utilize the services of the Texas Health Department, as well as other health services which would be located in the building, do not own vehicles, so must walk to the location.

She presented an architectural drawing of the proposed building to the commissioners. It would have 5,000 square feet, and house three services, which would be the Texas Health Department, Mental Health/Mental Retardation offices, as well as WIC.

With very little discussion, commissioners approved placing a cellular phone in the ambulance for Bailey County EMS Ambulance Service. The phone had been recommended for immediate access to a doctor or a hospital when an ambulance was on the road with a patient, and would especially be beneficial for a critical patient, or in transfer emergencies. As it was reported, the phone could be moved from ambulance to ambulance as deemed necessary.

Ambulance Director Jackey W. Burris also discussed with commissioners the continuing problems with the two ambulances operated by the EMS.

He said the EMS had been told by mechanics at three different locations that the big, emergency ambulance had "no hard miles" left on it.

He said, "I am not angry, but I'm frustrated. The oil is changed in the ambulances every 2,000 miles, and they are checked and serviced every morning. It is not negligence that is causing our ambulances to fail, they are just wearing out."

He cited an instance last week on an emergency transfer to Lubbock, where the ambulance would not travel over 40-55 miles per hour.

He also discussed what is causing the problem, and the attempts, to no avail, to get the problem with the ambulance fixed.

He gave prices for a new ambulance, and suggested trading in the older, smaller ambulance currently used for non-emergency transfers, and converting the large ambulance to a transfer ambulance.

Although the commissioners had indicated they preferred to wait until the new budget to obtain a new ambulance, they said necessity may possibly force the purchase of the ambulance before that time.

They are currently checking into the possibilities of obtain-

The Editor

Dear Editor:

Several days each week I walk, and there is no place to walk except in the streets. There are others who walk or jog. The only place for them to walk is in the streets also.

Sometimes when we walk the traffic is quite heavy, creating a hazard for the motorist as well as the pedestrian.

I am wondering if we could have a walkers-joggers path in the city park in Muleshoe. I have seen a similar path in one of the parks in Irving, Texas.

If you are interested, give me a call, 272-4187.

Marketing Education Students

Attend Career Conference

On March 7 and 9, four Marketing Education students from Muleshoe High School participated in the 45th Annual Career Development Conference for DECA, Texas Association. The conference was held in the Hyatt and Hilton Hotels and the Tarrant County Convention Center in Fort Worth.

In addition to business meetings, career workshops, and educational tours, students participated in curriculum related competitive events which allowed them to compare their knowledge and skills about various concepts in marketing, merchandising, and management, with those of students from over 500 high schools across the state. Approximately 2,000 DECA members and their advisors took part in the conference.

Students recognized as state finalists at the Grand Awards Assembly on Saturday, March 9, earned the right to compete at the National DECA Career Development Conference in Denver, Col. on April 20-23, 1991, with part of their expenses paid by the Texas Association of DECA.

According to the local chapter advisor, Lola Pylant from Muleshoe High School, the following students represented their chapter at the conference in Fort Worth: Kimberly Chance, Entrepreneurs Participating; Sheila Garner, Voting Delegate; Gena Sharp, Food Marketing Series; and Shawna Smith, Entrepreneur Written and Collegiate DECA Display.

Celebrating Passover Traditions

Of all traditional Jewish celebrations, the Passover Seder may be the most beloved. Steeped in history and rooted in culture, Passover is a time to celebrate strong family bonds. And, like most family gatherings, it poses particular challenges for anyone trying to lose weight.

"Sticking with a food plan may be difficult on special days when we're surrounded by family who may not understand our determination," says Weight Watchers Home Economist Pat Teaster. "Holidays require certain skills to decide on a plan of action, stick with it and handle comments from well-meaning family members."

To help you develop these skills, Teaster offers the following tips from Weight Watchers:

- Choose what you will eat. Decide which holiday foods are your favorites and plan to enjoy a portion of these at a planned time.

- Focus your attention on non-food traditions associated with Passover and enjoy sharing family memories.

- If you're a guest, volunteer to help the hostess and try to stay busy. Also offer to bring a low-calorie appetizer or dish.

- If possible, offer to host the

A Good Chance

Two somewhat intoxicated gentlemen were standing near the water's edge when one lost his balance and fell in. "Help! Help!" called out the unfortunate one as he floundered about. "I can't swim a stroke." "Whash you hollerin' about?" asked the other, as he found a comfortable spot and sat down to watch. "You gotta fine chansh t' learn, ain't you?"

IN FASHION

The traditional wedding is seeing changes as the bride and groom seek to make this an event that reflects their relationship.

The bride's gown may not be the traditional white satin. She may prefer off-white or light pink. It may be floor-length with cathedral train or ballet length. A simple dress or suit of lace is considered correct attire.

It is not unusual for the couple to write a part of the wedding vows.

TAXPAYERS' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities

Want to learn more about the property tax system? That's possible by reading a pamphlet the State Property Tax Board has written and made available at the local appraisal district office.

It's called "Taxpayers' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities" and it may help you save money. Learn about tax relief available through

- homestead exemptions
- disabled veteran exemptions
- special productivity value for farm, ranch, and timber land
- tax deferral for over-65 homeowners

You'll learn how your property is appraised. That way, you can decide if the appraisal district's value is reasonable.

If you think it isn't, the pamphlet tells you how to prepare an appeal to the appraisal review board. You'll learn the types of protests the appraisal review board can hear and useful evidence to bring to your hearing.

Important dates in the tax year are listed. You'll know what your responsibilities are and when you are obligated to satisfy them.

"Remedies" is free to taxpayers. Ask for yours today!

metropolitan transit authorities and one city transit department. These checks reflect taxes collected in November, December and January.

For the first time, checks were also sent to three of the state's special purpose districts, which began collecting sales tax in January. Checks to hospital districts located in Baylor, Ector and Reeves counties totaled $459,167.

Businesses collect both the states 6 1/4 percent sales tax and all local sales taxes and send them to the Comptroller's Office with their tax returns. The state then retains its share and rebates cities, counties and other taxing entities their local portion of the sales tax.

All local sales taxes must be approved by area voters. Most local governments deposit the money in their General Fund and use it for services such as fire fighting, road maintenance and law enforcement. City sales taxes may also be dedicated for specific purposes, such as economic development and property tax reduction.

After discussing and considering bids for janitorial service for the courthouse, law enforcement center and district judge's office, the bid was awarded to Muleshoe Janitorial Service. Also bidding on the service was Williams Janitorial Service.

In other action, commissioners approved the depository bank contract; granted easements to W. T. Millen and J. C. limitation bill with a 70 percent vote.

He said the strategy in Texas was to get petitions with 250,000 signatures, then present it to Texas Governor Ann Richards, who he said favors term limitation, as does the Lieutenant Governor.

He said Texans for Term Limitations hope to get the bill on a ballot in 1992, to be implemented by January, 1993, and with the first legislators to be affected in the year 2000.

He believes some legislators will favor the term limitation bill, as the state will have to look at re-districting as they do every ten years after the U. S. Census is released. Representatives worry about having to serve in a new district following re-districting, he pointed out. "I am optimistic we can get petitions signed across the state," he said.

On politicians being re-elected year after year, Mosbacher said 80 percent of the people express displeasure with their legislators, but 96 percent of the legislators get re-elected by Americans and Texans because the voters will cast ballots for "known evil" any day over "unknown evil."

Disputing a claim about forcing somebody to be cut loose who is invaluable and irreplaceable, he said, "how about the S&L situation, and others."

For those who face a limited term does not mean they will be sent to Siberia. They can run for something else or be appointed to another office.

"We want new faces, new ideas," he emphasized.

"Any argument against term limitation is not unhealthy, but it is something we need in this state, in this nation," he concluded.

Mosbacher answered several questions posed by Rotarians at the end of his discussion.

Rob Mosbacher was accompanied to Muleshoe by an aide, Mark Sanders, who had petitions for those who wished to pick them up at the end of the meeting.

Visiting Rotarians were Hugh Moseley, Farwell and Bob Addison, Ft. Sumner, N.M.. Other guests included Jackey W. Burris, Douglass Field, Rotary Anns present were Julie Cage and Judy Watson.

Futures Workshop Slate Here In April

An Introduction to Futures and Options Workshop for Corn and Cattle Producers has been planned in Muleshoe for April 4-5, announces Spencer Tanksley, county Extension agent. This workshop is being sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas A&M University System.

A farmer or rancher may not be able to control price, but he can control how and when he prices. Market information and price prediction tools can provide valuable assistance in timing pricing decisions and in marketing and production planning.

To help producers make the most of their products at the market place, this workshop is being conducted at the Bailey County Civic Center on Highway 84 on the west edge of Muleshoe. It will include 12 hours of training and will run from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. each day. The workshop will provide market updates as well as basic training in various pricing alternatives available to area farmers and ranchers. Special emphasis will be placed on the marketing of corn and cattle.

The cost of the workshop is $50, which covers workshop materials and two meals. Anyone is welcome to register by coming by or calling the county Extension office in Muleshoe BY MARCH 20th.

Spouses are also invited to attend this meeting. The $50 fee includes materials and lunches for both.

If you wish to register by mail, please send your name, address, city, state and zip code, along with a check for $50 made payable to TAEX Account #20650, TO BE RECEIVED PRIOR TO THE MARCH 20TH DEADLINE DATE to the county Extension agent in Muleshoe.

Instructors for the workshop will be:

Ernie Davis - Extension Economist - Livestock Marketing, College Station.

Mark Waller - Extension Economist - Grain Marketing and Policy, College Station.

Jackie Smith - Extension Economist - Management, Lubbock.

Topics to be covered are:
* Introduction to how futures markets operate and how to hedge a future price of your commodity.

* How to determine your local market price from the futures price.

* Introduction to commodity options. How options can be used as price insurance. How to hedge deficiency payments.

* Review the current supply/demand estimates and market prospects.

* Estimating break-even price and setting marketing objectives.

* Discuss pricing strategies and their advantages and disadvantages.

Examples using futures and options markets will be practiced by the group to gain a working understanding of the mechanics of forward pricing.

For more information on this special workshop, contact one of the following: Dr. Jackie Smith (806) 746-6101; Spencer Tanksley, Bailey County CEA (806) 272-4583; J. D. Ragland, Castro County CEA (806) 647-4116; Monty Dozier, Lamb County CEA (806) 385-4004; or Gary Patterson, Parmer County CEA, (806) 481-3619.

This should be a timely and worthwhile workshop for our area and local farmers and ranchers, said Tanksley, who encourages you to make your reservations promptly so that you may take advantage of the materials and information which are being offered.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serves people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

TSTA Seeks Health Care For Employees

The Texas State Teachers Association today had sharp criticism for a report to the legislature that recommends "totally inadequate and unacceptable" health insurance plans for Texas public school employees.

Speaking at a Capitol news conference on Friday, TSTA President Olivia "Ollie" Besteiro said the state's largest education association is proposing to provide school employees with health insurance benefits that are comparable to those already received by other state employees.

The TSTA proposal is contained in legislation sponsored by Sen. Carl Parker (D-Port Arthur) and Rep. Ernestine Glossbrenner (D-Alice), who chair the Senate Education and House Public Education Committees, respectively.

Besteiro said she is "outraged at the school employee health insurance study conducted by the Teacher Retirement System and recently presented to members of the Texas Legislature."

According to TSTA, the TRS report oversteps its legislative mandate, which was to "jointly develop with the Commissioner of Education and the State Board of Education a recommendation for a state health insurance plan for public school employees and report the recommendations to the 72nd Legislature."

The study, said Besteiro, "is openly hostile toward the health and economic well-being of the very people who support TRS-- the school employees of Texas."

She stated, "instead of presenting a viable plan and cost proposal which might give school employees health care parity with other state employees, the TRS report lays out several alternatives of worthless coverage which, at best, would have a $7,000 annual deductible and, at worst, a $9,000 annual deductible before employees could recover 100 percent coverage of medical costs.

"Under one of their alternatives, family coverage costs to the employee would be a minimum of $5,052 the first year and by the tenth year, that same coverage would cost the employee $13,440 annually."

The recent TRS survey of all Texas school districts indicates that 132 districts offer no plan at all. Another 105 districts offer poor quality plans and contribute nothing toward the premiums. An additional 224 districts contribute $50 or less toward the employee portion of monthly health care.

Only 34 school districts of the 1,010 responding to TSTA's survey contribute $154.50 or more toward employee health insurance premiums, the amount now paid by the state for TRS and other state employees.

The TSTA position is that teachers and other school employees provide a vital state service and that they deserve parity in health benefits. Providing school employees with comparable coverage would cost approximately $650 million to $700 million.

Texas Senate Week In Review

On Wednesday, February 20, the Texas Senate passed landmark legislation relating to the public school finance crisis. With the Supreme Court's April 1 deadline looming over the legislature, Senate Bill 351, sponsored by Senator Carl Parker of Port Arthur, was passed by a vote of 20-7 after over two hours of debate on the Senate floor. The bill restructures the public school finance system to equalize access to both state and local funds for all districts. Revenue will be drawn from all property wealth in the state at similar tax rates, with school districts maintaining local control of fund expenditures and educational policies. Senate Bill 351 divides the state into twenty regions in which the Comptroller will redistribute the funds according to the needs of each school district within these regions. Lieutenant Governor Bob Bullock thanked and congratulated the Senate upon completion of its task. Senate Bill 351 now goes onto the Texas House for deliberation. In related business, on Tuesday, February 19, the Senate passed Senate Joint Resolutions 19 and 20 proposing constitutional amendments to alleviate funding discrepancies relating to public school finance. Senate Joint Resolution 19 proposes a constitutional amendment to authorize the Legislature to allocate that portion of the Available School Fund that is currently distributed to high wealth districts to all other districts. Senate Joint Resolution 20 proposes a constitutional amendment authorizing the equitable distribution among school districts of ad valorem taxes assessed and collected for the support of public free schools. The school finance plan established in Senate Bill 351 will still function in the event the voters or the Texas House do not approve Senate Joint Resolutions 19 and 20. However, if Senate Joint Resolution 29 is approved by the voters, the regional education districts will be eliminated and redistribution of excess revenues will occur at the state level.

On Thursday, February 21, legislation relating to comprehensive insurance reform was filed by Senators John Montford of Lubbock and Carl Parker of Port Arthur. Governor Ann Richards has given insurance reform a top priority in her administration. Announced at a press conference in her office, the legislation will attempt to stabilize insurance rates, prevent fraud in the industry, decrease industry insolvency and protect consumers. Senate Bill 2 repeals the insurance industry's exemption from the state's anti-trust act, and requires the State Board of Insurance to collect and compile independent data rather than relying on the industry for rate making information. Senate Bill 4 is a concerned primarily with fraud in the insurance industry.

Other news this week included an address by EPA Director Williams Reilly to a Joint Session of the Legislature in the House Chamber on Tuesday, February 19.

The Senate stood adjourned until 2:00 p.m. Monday, February 25.

McMurray University Hosts Texas

Womens History Exhibit

A 22-panel exhibit from the Institute of Texan Cultures in San Antonio, telling the stories of historic Texas women, will be on display at McMurray University February 18 to March 15.

McMurray will observe Women's History Week March 4-8, and the exhibit in the United Methodist Campus Center will be part of the celebration.

The traveling exhibit, "Texas Women--A Celebration of History," incorporates photographs, artifacts, diary excerpts and words of Texas women themselves. The exhibit depicts not only the state's most accomplished heroines, but also reveals the struggles, sorrows and joys of the more typical women.

The exhibit, on display for the first time ever in Abilene, portrays historic Texas women as effective politicians and reformists, responsible for enacting legislation on child labor, infant health care, women's suffrage, prohibition, education and prison reform. "Texas Women" brings to the forefront women whose contributions to the state are often ignored by historians.

The exhibit is the result of a two-year research project established by the Foundation for Women's Resources a nonprofit organization. Hundreds of volunteers participated in the search for the truth about women's roles in Texas. The facts the volunteers discovered are now documented in the Texas Women's History Collection at Texas Woman's University in Denton.

The exhibit covers five areas--builders, politicians, survivors, enrichers, and workers.

Groups, as well as individuals, are invited to see the exhibit free of charge. Also, information about specific areas of Texas women's history is available upon request for more information, contact the McMurray office of University Relations, 915-691-6377.

SPC Nursing Program Receives Accreditation

The National League for Nursing, the organization which oversees standards for all nursing education programs in the United States, has granted an initial five-year accreditation to South Plains College's associate degree nursing program and rated the program's faculty and facilities exceptional, said Marla Cottenoir, R.N. and program director.

"We were really pleased with the accreditation process and results," said Mrs. Cottenoir, who also chairs the allied health department. "A committee from the National League for Nursing visited the campus last fall and took an in-depth look at all facets of college operations affecting the nursing program, including faculty, facilities, budget, library holdings and other areas."

In addition, NLN committee members also visited hospitals affiliated with the program where ADN students receive their clinical training and examined a self-study of the program prepared by SPC administrators, faculty and staff. SPC's staff did an excellent job on the self-study, and I would like to extend my thanks to them for their support and hard work," she said.

Mrs. Cottenoir met in New York City with members of the Board of Review for Associate Degree Program, the NLN committee which approves studies accreditation. She recently received a letter from Dr. Joyce P. Murray, the board's secretary, notifying her that accreditation had been granted.

"The NLN's mission is to develop and improve the standards for quality nursing education in the United States. The national organization keeps a close watch on all associate degree, baccalaureate and higher degree programs, diploma and practical nursing programs," she added.

Mrs. Cottenoir noted that the accreditation is retroactive for the past 12 months and should facilitate students' transfer to schools with four-year nursing programs, she noted.

"Although most of our students go directly into the workforce upon graduation if they are not already employed in the nursing field, we are seeing an increasing number of students who transfer to nursing schools to get their bachelor's degree," she added.

Since the program's inception in 1985, 110 program graduates have fanned out to nursing positions in hospitals, clinics, nursing homes and private medical practices throughout the South Plains area, Mrs. Cottenoir noted. And the program has thus far maintained a 100% passage rate on state board exams. Mrs. Cottenoir noted that five students are scheduled to take their state boards in February and another 30 spring 1991 graduates set to take their state board exams in July.

SPC's ADN program has not only impressed the National League for Nursing but also are hospital staff members, who observe the hands-on clinical training these students receive in hospitals affiliated with the program.

"The program has absolutely made a positive impact on the Lubbock health care industry," said Suze Luker, nurse recruiter for Methodist Hospital. "The quality of the training has enabled graduates to walk in and go right to work at Methodist, for example," she said.

Patsy Locke, vice president of nursing at St. Mary of the Plains Hospital, agreed. "Graduates of SPC's ADN program provide a very strong workforce for our hospitals. They have done a really fine job of training these people."
