WELBORNE PRESENTS HUGE SCHOOL PLAN

City Council Asks Water Pipe Bids, Purchases Car

The Artesia City Council, meeting in regular session last night, filed for bids on 4,700 feet of 12-inch, and 3,750 feet of 12-inch, water pipe, and a used ladder truck that the utility firm was getting ready to trade in.

The Council also agreed to purchase from Southwestern Public Service Co. for the sum of $750 a used ladder truck that the utility firm was getting ready to trade in.

Hill's Circus was denied permission to set up inside the baseball park here the last week in March, because of the damage that would result to the turf, on the ball park, but it was agreed to let them use a vacant lot to the east of the ball park.

A request by the High School for use of the ball park for spring baseball games, between April 15 and May 12, was approved subject to clearance by the recreation committee.

The Council adopted a suggestion by Councilman J. J. Clarke that a committee meet with J. D. Smith, of Southwestern Public Service Co., and determine where additional street lighting is needed.

Councilman Joe Alvarado told the Council that he would like to see some more of the streets paved in the north end of town, and the paving committee was instructed to investigate the feasibility of further paving projects in that area at the present time.

It was brought up at the meeting that the Army Engineers were believed to have completed their flood control survey for Artesia but that results of the survey have not yet been made available and probably would not be before March.

The state auditor has agreed, at the request of the Council, to let the city audit wait until Ralph Shugart can get to it. Shugart has done the audit for a number of years.

Explosion Of Butane Gauge Damages House

A butane gauge exploded at the Judd Taylor farm north of Cottonwood about 9:00 p. m. yesterday causing about $200 damage to the Taylor residence, firemen said.

No one was injured by the explosion.

A small blaze resulted from the explosion and did some damage to the interior of the home.

The Artesia fire department made the run to the scene of the explosion, and helped to extinguish the fire that followed.

Frank Comments

by Frank Gardner

It appears that a suit will definitely be filed against E. B. Bullock and Sons, on South First street, in an effort to force them to remove a loading dock which officials claim is hindering collection of federal funds for the city's urban project.

Neil Watson, city attorney, last night informed the council that the city will join the county in a suit.

Some of the "old timers" belonging to the Oddfellows Lodge here were reportedly amazed—although they have lived here since the first years of the century—to learn at Eddy County has such an industry as the International Minerals and Chemicals Corp. operating at Carlsbad.

They received a first hand look at the operation last night through a film produced by International titled "Up From The Bed of a Desert Sea," which told the mining story.

Jeter Bryan, Carlsbad newsman who was appointed to the state legislature, is a virtual chameleon in a filing at county politics. In making the rounds yesterday he was not hiding the fact he will oppose Mrs. R. A. Wilcox for the democratic nomination.

Either Mrs. Wilcox or her late husband have held the job since 1935 and only in 1938 was there any opposition for the post.

While on the subject of politics, it appears that the county treasurer's job is the most desirable.

With the passing of each day more and more names are added to the list of aspirants. A. E. Dick announced his candidacy yesterday and today Madoline Lovett entered the race. That makes about a dozen already.

City Police Report Shows There Is Plenty Of Work

Have you ever stopped to think that services your police department performs over a six-month period?

The police report made to the City Council last night for the six-month period ending Dec. 31, 1955, will give a pretty good idea.

First of all, city police cars patrolled 45,693 miles during that time. Police investigated 124 accidents from which there were 25 injuries but no deaths.

They discovered and reported 281 open doors and 238 open windows while on night patrol, and saw to it that they were closed and locked to prevent breaks-ins.

They performed 125 police escorts and answered all fire calls in the city.

Police issued 3,472 tickets for meter violations, 163 tickets for running lights and stop signs, 164 tickets for illegal parking, 63 tickets for reckless driving, and 43 tickets for speeding.

Three cases of aggravated assault were investigated, and two cases of rape. There were four cases of burglary and 14 cases of larceny. Two instances of forgery were investigated, one sex offense and one case of weapons carrying. Two instances of violation of narcotics laws and 26 violations of liquor laws.

Twenty-five persons were apprehended for disorderly conduct and 137 for drunkenness, four for vagrancy, and 19 for driving while intoxicated.

There were 52 persons picked up for investigation on suspicion and 84 other offenses were investigated.

The department collected $9,866 in fines and $11,137 from parking meters.

R. A. Welborne Receives New Four Year Pact

R. A. Welborne has been awarded a new four-year contract as superintendent of Hagerman Schools by the town's board of education—a pact which will enable him to complete 30 years service as a teacher and school executive.

R. A. WELBORNE

The superintendent entered the Hagerman school system in 1930 as mathematics teacher and basketball coach, later becoming a physics teacher.

Welborne became superintendent in 1942 and this year completes 26 years at Hagerman.

He was born in Houston, Mo., where he received his elementary education. The veteran school administrator received a bachelor's degree from Central Missouri State Teachers College in 1924 and a master's degree from the University of Missouri. The holder of a life administrative certificate he taught four years prior to joining the Hagerman system.

He is married to the former Doris Deiter, one-time music teacher in the Pecos Valley School. The Welbornes have two children, Cynthia, 13, and Lynn, 10, both of whom attend the Hagerman school.

Land Use Plan Chairmen Meet At Chamber Office

A preliminary planning meeting of Land Use Planning Committee chairmen from the six districts of North Eddy County, was scheduled for today at 2 p. m. at the Chamber of Commerce here.

The meeting today was to lay plans for a committee meeting to be held in Carlsbad Jan. 17.

District chairmen from North Eddy County are Forrest Lee, Lakewood; Donald Fanning, Atoka; Loretta Evans, Loco Hills; George Edward Kaiser, Artesia; C. R. Barley, Hope; and J. J. Terry, Cottonwood.

County commissioners were invited to attend the meeting and Thad Cox, vice-chairman of the Artesia district and chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Highway Committee, was to be present.

JILTED AIRMAN LEAVES CONTRITE BRIDE-TO-BE

HEADING TOWARD JAPAN, Air Force Lt. John Dillon Owens (left), says he will take year "to think it over," after Judy Wehle, 20, fled with Stephen Hahn (right), former boy friend, few hours before she was to have married Owens in Rochester, N. Y. After meeting with Hahn Judy decided she wanted to marry Owens after all.

New Mexico Baptists Arriving For Two-Day Conference Here

Large numbers of New Mexico Baptists began arriving in Artesia today to attend a two-day state wide evangelistic conference which opens tonight at the First Baptist Church at 7 p. m.

Dr. Carl E. Bates, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Amarillo will be main speaker for the conference sponsored by the New Mexico Baptist Convention. Theme of the conference is "Teaching Them To Observe All Things."

Tonight's meeting will be opened with worship in song and prayer under the direction of Ted Roberts, minister of music and education at the First Baptist Church in Hobbs.

The Rev. S. M. Morgan, pastor of the First Baptist Church here and host to the conference, will welcome visitors to the city at 7:15 p. m.

Also on tonight's program, over

Pennsylvania Students Ask Fate Of Frog

The Artesia City Council received a letter last night from Lakeview High School, Stoneboro, Pa., wanting to know what more was learned about a frog that was found imbedded in a chichee bed here in 1946.

The letter read, "Dear City Council:

"Our biology class is inquiring about the frog found in the cellar of John A. Mathis, Jr. in Artesia. The frog was found imbedded in a chichee bed set feet down. It was speculated that the frog was living in suspended animation until 1946 when a pick broke through the crust and the frog nopped out."

Since there appeared to be no way for the frog to have entered the hard crust, geologists speculated that the frog may have been there since the formation of the bed, possibly 2-million years ago.

A check showed that the frog is still in the possession of the Mathis family and that it has been (Continued on Page Four)

Police Told To Enforce Parking Law

The Artesia City Council last night instructed Police Chief Frank Powell to take steps to enforce City Ordinance 101, which prohibits parking on Main Street between First and Seventh Streets and on Second, Third, Roselawn and Fourth Streets from Main to the alleys north and south of Main between the hours of 2 and 5 a. m.

The reason for the necessity of this is to keep the street clear for the street sweeper to operate during those hours.

Chief Powell said signs will be put up on parking meter posts to this effect, and that measures will then be taken to enforce the ordinance.

The ordinance calls for a $25 fine for violation.

W. B. Westerman Dies At Hospital

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Saturday in Cross Plains, Texas for William W. Westerman, 65, of Loco Hills, who died early today at the Artesia General Hospital.

Mr. Westerman came to Loco Hills from Cross Plains about 11 years ago and was a switcher in the oil fields. He was a member of the Baptist Church at Cross Plains and the Masonic lodge there.

Masonic rites will be conducted.

Survivors include the widow, Jessie; one brother, three sisters and three stepchildren.

Friends may call at the Paulin Funeral Home tonight between 7 and 9:30 p. m.

Over Billion Dollars Sought To Ease Critical Shortages

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to provide 1 1/2 billion dollars in federal grants over the next five years to help conquer the nation's critical school shortage.

In a special message, the President also asked authority for federal purchase of up to 750 million dollars worth of local school bonds — if school districts cannot sell them in private markets at reasonable interest rates — and 20 million dollars for grants to the states for school planning.

In summary, this would mean a federal outlay over five years of some two billion with 750 million to be returned through eventual payment of bonds.

The states would be required to match the federal grants for construction.

The matching, however, would be under a formula whereby the wealthiest states put up $2 for each $1 of federal money while the poorer states would get $2 for each $1 they put out.

Eisenhower said a cardinal principle of his program is that "federal grants must not reduce the incentive for state and local efforts—but rather should stimulate an increase in such efforts."

"With this program," Eisenhower said in his 2,000-word message, "we can lay the basis for better education in America in the years ahead. In this way we keep faith with our children."

He made no mention of a question already stirring Congress—of whether federal education aid should go only to states adhering to the Supreme Court's ruling barring race segregation.

One reason Congress got nowhere in the last session on school aid was a split over this question. Eisenhower's plan for needier states to get the biggest share of federal money collides with a bill by Rep. Kelley (D-Pa.) which would split 1 1/2 billion in federal grants over a four-year period.

This bill, already approved by the House Education Committee, is due for early action.

The Kelley plan would provide money to the states on the basis of the number of school age children.

Eisenhower cautioned his program should be considered only as an emergency measure designed to help states and local communities "overcome the nation's critical classroom shortage within five years."

"Once this shortage is overcome, the federal grant program can and must go forward without federal funds, to meet their current and future needs. Present construction levels indicate their ability to do (Continued on Page Four)

State Prison Board Adopts New Press Relations Policy

SANTA FE, (AP)—The State Prison Board has adopted a "new deal" in the relations of the state penitentiary to the press.

The new press code, hailed as marking a milestone in press-prison relations, is subject to revision after Acting Warden Harold Swenson has looked it over, however.

Swenson, a veteran federal prison official, said it was the most wide open prison press policy he has seen. He warned it could "boomerang" and bring a return to a stricter policy in event of its abuse.

Boiled down, the new press code recognizes that the prison and prison farm are tax-supported institutions and the public is entitled to all possible information about their operations.

Public inspection of all records at reasonable hours, except certain ones like medical histories of inmates or confidential FBI reports.

The warden to make public breaches of discipline, except that he is authorized to withhold names if the offense is not in the felony class and if the warden feels they are caused by a desire for publicity.

Interviews with inmates, on written request and for a purpose in the public interest. Indiscriminate questioning of inmates is not intended.

In case of mass demonstrations of a serious nature that all possible information be made available to news media as rapidly as possible consistent with emergency conditions then existing.

Open board meetings except when personnel matters are being discussed which would, if reported, embarrass or damage individuals under discussion.

Summarizing, the code said: "It is the policy of the board to make a conscientious and earnest effort to make available to the public all possible information regarding these public institutions and the actions of this board. It is recognized that all conceivable situations cannot be covered in a statement of policy and for this reason the warden is instructed to at all times cooperate in all possible ways with representatives of news media and that he shall withhold only such information as would clearly and unmistakably jeopardize the safety of the community or the reasonable privacy of inmates and their families."

Many Crippling, Fatal Strokes Prevented By Anti-Clot Drugs

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—Many crippling and fatal brain strokes apparently can be prevented by wise use of anti-blood-clotting drugs.

The drugs are bringing encouraging results against brain strokes caused by formation of blood clots blocking main arteries to the brain. They cannot help against strokes due to other causes, such as the blow-out of weakened arteries in the brain.

Dr. Clark H. Millikan and Dr. Robert G. Siekert began using the drugs on patients suffering from special types of strokes. These strokes bring numbness, staggering gait, weakness, sometimes temporary paralysis of the eyes or limbs, slurred speech, unconsciousness or other troubles.

Some persons have several such strokes a day, or several a week. Without treatment, many die within a short time when a severe stroke hits.

These strokes apparently come because blood clots are building up in either the basilar artery, supplying the brainstem with blood, or the carotid artery which runs up through the side of the neck.

Autopsy studies showed that fatal clots in these arteries have a layered appearance, as though they had been built up gradually in layers.

The Mayo neurologists reasoned that each little stroke might be due to temporary interference in blood flow to the brain as the clot increased in size with a new layer. Anticoagulant drugs might prevent growth of the clot. If the clot blocks the artery completely, death or severe and permanent damage results.

Dr. Millikan and Dr. Siekert report promising results from daily or regular use of heparin or dicumarol, the same anticoagulants often used in treating heart attacks caused by blood clots.

In a number of patients, the little strokes stopped completely with no further trouble. Other patients showed great improvement. The drugs have been used to date on 53 patients, with only 14 per cent succumbing to strokes. But in another 23 persons not given the drugs, nearly half have died from strokes.

The studies are continuing.

More than 5,000 different kinds of sulfa drugs have been manufactured.

New Manner Of Living Invades British Families

LONDON (AP)—Tucked away in a quiet corner of a factory yard, 20 children play in a nursery—symbols of a silent revolution that has alerted the pattern of British family life.

Before World War II, only 900,000 British wives went out to work. Now nearly 4,000,000 are working. That is a third of all women and girls of working age in the country. Sociologists and child welfare experts are worried. Tens of thousands of babies are taken daily by their mothers to factory and workshop nurseries. Hundreds of thousands of schoolchildren come home to empty houses, letting themselves in with their own keys and preparing the kitchen for their mothers' return.

Full employment in Britain has led to a booming demand for women workers—and the women are cashing in.

John Watson, chairman of London's famous Tower Bridge Magistrates Court, said recently: "A race of children is growing up whom I call 'latchkey children.' Mothers who go to work... are a major cause of juvenile crime."

But Ronald Ledger, who represents industrial Romford in Parliament, said, "It is not the bad mother who goes out to work... it is the working mother who is the one prepared to make a sacrifice."

The working wives blame the rocketing cost of living with inflation and a "credit squeeze." Britain's shops are sacked with goods far out of grasp of the average family.

Designer Hannah Troy Advises Women Never To Appear Severe

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Woman's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—A woman should never look severe, in the opinion of Hannah Troy, who softens the uncompromising look of the straight silhouette this spring with feminine and frilly lingerie touches, ranging from a wide cape collar of crisp, white, embroidered organdie on a navy silk afternoon dress to a discreet little collar of linen and lace on a sheer beige wool sheath.

The white-collar girl is this designer's favorite for spring, and her crisp accents of linen and lace give a fresh and flattering look to the new fashions, viewed today by the nation's fashion press.

For after five war, this designer presents varied silhouettes, ranging from slim shafts of silk to draped harem skirts and full, gauzy skirts of chiffon or net.

Oleg Cassini dramatizes the feminine figure in new ways this spring using various devices to make a simple and carefully shaped sheath look daintily naughty. A case in point is the black linen sheath called "Hands Off," in which a cut-out section just above the bust provides air-conditioning and manages to give

Four-Year-Old Hobbs Girl Gets Surprise When Casey And Train Crew Stop For Visit

By RAYMOND F. WATERS
 Hobbs Daily News-Sun

When the mellow tones of the air horn on a diesel engine sounded one afternoon before the Texas-New Mexico Railroad freight train reached a small station four miles south of Hobbs, marked the beginning of a thrilling experience for a lonely little girl.

She gravely placed her hand in his. The trainmen carried Michalene over to where the big engine stood surprisingly still but with its motors idling. They put her down and then she saw the packages they had taken from the engine cab. One of them contained a big, beautiful doll almost as large as she was. The others were big boxes of candy, apples and nuts. Gifts from the trainmen, the girl with them read.

She didn't stop until the last car rattled by with a swirl of dust. "They're all up in the cab," her brother explained. "There's no one in the last car this time." "Oh, yes there is," she told him, "the 'boose man's there.'"

EVER WAVED AT A TRAIN when you were a kid? Little Michalene Winkle, 4, who lives near Hobbs, does—and the other day she got the surprise and treat of her life. The train stopped and the crew, who have noticed Michalene's faithfulness in waving, night and day, alighted, called her over and presented her with several boxes of toys and gifts. (AP Photo)

Rebels Moving Boldly To Whip Economic Problem

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina. (AP)—The rebel leaders who ousted dictator Juan D. Peron in a bold revolt are moving just as boldly to whip their economic problems.

The future of Maj. Gen. Pedro Eugenio Aramburo's provisional government may hang on the outcome. The government's latest idea is a novel minimum wage program, aimed mainly at jacking up wages to meet climbing living costs. Prices are going up because of earlier maneuvers by the men who succeeded Peron. They freed the peso to drop to its true level. And they removed, or adjusted upward, price controls on many consumer items.

NEW HIGHWAY BUILDING: When the new office building is completed and occupied in late March or early April, it will mark another step toward decentralization of the State Capital. The new highway department office building is to be located on Cerillos Road, some distance from the capital. Removal of the department from the state house grounds will provide new room there for many new agencies which have sprouted helter skelter in cubby hole offices all over Santa Fe, including the Economic Development Commission. ## We Have To Go After It

ALTHOUGH THERE ARE TIMES and occasions and perhaps in some lines of business we enjoy a good patronage without much effort but it is the business firm which goes after business that enjoys it.

There was a day and a time when the old general store merchant could sit behind his counter and wait for the customers to come in to buy what they wanted and needed, but that day has gone.

For the most part those merchants are out of business today, too. They went out of business because of the lack of business and because they did not fit themselves into modern day business methods.

Today there are a good many factors important to success in business. We first have to have the merchandise or the service that the public wants. We definitely have to have competitive prices. We must provide the service the customer has a right to expect and that the customer needs in order to get the maximum service out of the item purchased.

Our sales people must be polite, courteous and make the customer feel it has been a pleasure to serve them and that we have appreciated the business. We must create within the customer a desire to return and trade with us.

We must back our merchandise; we must see the customer gets the quality expected and they have paid to get and be concerned about it if they have.

We also must invite the people to buy and trade with us. This may not sound very important but many an individual has lost a sale merely because they did not advise the customer they would be more than glad to serve them.

Today in this modern time shoppers and buyers have come to expect not only to read in their daily newspaper the news of the day about the happenings but they also have come to read the merchandising news in the paper. That, of course, is the advertising.

We have to keep them informed of our new merchandise; of our special prices; of the service we offer; and we have to invite them and to impress on them we want their business.

We have to do this time after time over a period of time. There are those who never do this. There are others who do it in a limited way. There are still others who spend tremendous sums in newspaper advertising. They feel it is a good investment or they wouldn't be doing it. We have to go after business today if we expect to enjoy it.

City Council

years in a highly satisfactory manner and at a very low rate but he had announced earlier that he would not be able to get to it on schedule this year.

The Council acknowledged an obligation to put sewer and water lines into the Douglas Addition on streets where people are wanting to build.

On the other hand, the Council said it feels the city is not obligated to run extra water line in an area outside the city limits, so that some residents who are building new houses in that area can tie onto city water. It was felt that it should be up to the residents there to get together and present the city with a satisfactory arrangement for paying for the water lines.

The city, in calling for bids on additional water pipe last night, has either spent or obligated itself to spend $91,500 on the current water and sewer program. It has $63,000 left, with which to purchase eight-inch water pipe to lay from First to Thirteenth Streets at a later date, and to buy sewer tile and pay for having it laid. Councilman H. B. Gilmore said he believed this would be more than sufficient to finish the project.

The Council also authorized the asking for bids for four fire plugs. It was brought out before the Council, in considering the purchase of a ladder truck from Southwestern Public Service Co., that the utility firm is making the vehicle available to the city at approximately $250 less than the trade-in value of it, merely to keep the extra ladder truck in town in case it is needed. Also it has been necessary for the city to borrow the truck on frequent occasions when the need has arisen.

Hope Rises Detroit's Three Strikebound Newspapers May Resume Publication Soon

DETROIT (AP) — The possibility that Detroit's three strikebound newspapers would resume publication by Monday rose today after leaders of three striking unions said they would recommend acceptance of management's latest contract proposals.

The city's three metropolitan dailies — the Free Press, News and the Times — have been shut down since Dec. 1.

The striking unions — stereotypers, mailers and printers — scheduled Saturday membership meetings to vote on the publishers' offer of a $3.75 weekly wage increase on 12-month contracts expiring Nov. 30. The new proposal

Over Billion-

A fact sheet issued by the Department of Welfare in connection with the message estimated that school construction needs over the next five years will be about 470,000 classrooms.

This summary also said that state and local governments will build 67,000 classrooms this year at a cost of 2 1/2 billion dollars.

The President set forth a picture of a nation with school rooms already jammed and the shortage growing sharply.

"Today hundreds of thousands of children study under overcrowded conditions, in half-day or double-shift school sessions, or in makeshift buildings not designed as schools," he said.

He cautioned that "the responsibility for public education rests with the states and the local communities."

And, he said, federal action "which infringes upon this principle is alien to our system."

Nevertheless, he remarked that the nation's history has shown the federal government "can and he should help localities solve problems."

In the program, there are a number of devices the administration figures will level out the educational situation throughout the country. Chief among them are provisions to give the biggest share of the money to the states that need it most and give sort of a bonus to states which up to now have done the best job in coping with the school problem.

"We must recognize that some states have more financial resources than others," Eisenhower said. "We must recognize that a weakness in education anywhere is a weakness in the nation as a whole."

He proposed three ways of fulfilling this principle:
1. "In distributing federal funds, larger amounts per school-age child should be allotted to states with lower income per child.
2. "In fixing matching requirements, states with lower income should not be required to put up as large a proportion of funds as higher income states."
3. "As the states distribute these funds the highest priority should be given to school districts with the least economic ability to meet their needs."

In calling for state matching funds, he said that "if federal funds are used merely to replace funds which otherwise would or could be provided at state and local levels, there is no net gain of reportedly contains an option to renew the pact for another year at that time with an additional $2.75 boost.

Typical of the demands made by the striking unions was that of the stereotypers, who originally asked a $10 weekly pay hike, plus an additional work crew or extra pay for handling color printing.

Eisenhower noted that many state legislatures have no session this year. He proposed that in the first year of the five-year program federal funds may be matched either by states or local school districts. After that the states would have to supply the matching money.

He called also for a formula that would cut the proportion of federal funds "for those few states which are noticeably lagging."

Spokesmen at the Welfare Department said that only eight or nine states fall into this category and that the remaining 39 or 40 would get a type of bonus for good work performed.

Eisenhower noted that a serious shortage is imminent at the college level, particularly in the training of doctors, teachers, nurses, scientists and engineers.

He said the federal government must leave responsibility for college buildings to state, localities, private groups and institutions. However, he said that he is going to appoint a committee of educators and citizens to set forth proposals on how best to deal with these problems.

He also called attention to what he called the "sorely neglected field" of educational research.

Such research, he said, could lead to the solution of how to educate more people, to staff the nation's schools, to educate retarded children and those of special abilities, to combat juvenile delinquency and to understand the educational needs of a mobile population.

He said research studies should be conducted by U. S. Education office in cooperation with state education departments, colleges and universities.

The President paid tribute to those in the teaching profession, and by implication suggested better pay for them. He put it this way:

"Good teachers do not just happen. They are the product of the highest personal motivation, encouraged and helped in their work by adequate salaries and the respect, support, good will of their neighbors.

"The quality of American teaching has never been better. But the rewards for too many teachers are not commensurate with their work and their role in American life."

"It is my earnest hope that, along with progress in other aspects of education, the states and communities will give increasing attention to this taproot of all education—good teachers, and hence good teaching."

Many White Collar Workers Think Selves Prize Suckers

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone reflections of a Pavement Plato: Many a white collar worker today believes he has become civilization's biggest sucker, the forgotten man of the 20th Century.

His voice is relatively unheard in the land. Few politicians bother to ask his views or explore his plight. The only people who seek him out are bill collectors, and it is his cash, not his charms, that draws them.

Let us get out our crying towel and listen to the woes of a typical member of the paper clip brigade, which run about as follows:

"Every other class in America seems to get something special from the government except the white collar class, why are we overlooked? When do we get our turn at the public trough?"

"They talk about a soil bank for farmers. How about a fund to pay for our soiled white collars?"

"Why can't Congress at least vote us some help under the eign aid program? Certainly group has been more foreign government aid than the rest of us."

There is at least an ounce of truth within this pound of flesh.

Farmers have a lobby. Veterans have a lobby. Manufacturers have a lobby. The unions have a lobby. So do the railroads, the airlines, the shipping lines, the postmen, school teachers, toy makers and amateur watchmakers have their lobbies.

About the only two groups who are white collar workers are widows. They remain largely unorganized and therefore, perhaps unrepresented. Since they can't punish a politician, why should they worry about them?

Time has passed the white collar man by. That white collar once a badge of pretended respectability, has become more of a stigma of faceless nonentity. It no longer pays off at the pay window.

It used to be the guys in the office seeking to borrow money. Today it's the guys in the white collars.

The average white collar worker now is the greatest prize the installment plan and the finance company. Debts go on his daily bread.

If he has to fly to see his mother, he has to borrow money.

If he takes a vacation trip first has to float a loan.

If he needs a new car, he has to borrow enough money to buy a new suit in order to look respectable enough to persuade a finance company to advance him enough to make the down payment on the automobile.

He is in hock up to his eyes—this average white collar worker—over everything from his future to the fillings in his teeth.

At least he claims he is. And he feels he fights his personal emergencies alone. The federal government shows no sign of creating a new cabinet of "Secretaries of the White Collar Class."

The white collar man is not only by his present predicament but by fears for the future. He is afraid automation schemes will stream up new and more efficient business machines.

He will do away with his very turning him into a refugee of progress.

When the frog was found it was apparently not of special interest to any of the Mathis' except their young son. As the frog was handed to him it jumped from the boy's hand and landed back in the excavation—breaking its leg.

After again being "captured" the frog refused to eat and two days later died. It was then put into the formaldehyde where it has remained ever since.

MIYAMURA APPOINTED AIDE
GALLUP, (AP)—Hiroshi (Mike) Miyamura, medal of honor winner for action during the Korean War, has been named a national aide-de-camp to the Commander in Chief Timothy J. Murphy of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The Free Press contract with the Guild expired Nov. 15 and has been continued on a day-to-day basis during negotiations. The Detroit Times-Guid contract runs until Jan. 26 and is renewable only on wage issues.

The Guild represents editorial and office workers at the Free Press and Times. It represents only maintenance workers at the News.

The strike began Dec. 1 when 116 stereotypers left their jobs when their contract expired. Mailers joined the strike Dec. 19 and the printers struck the following day. Other unions declined to cross picket lines.

Eight unions were engaged in contract talks during the walkout. Federal and state mediators joined in efforts to end the tieup.

The pressmen and the paper and plate handlers, who did not strike, settled last month for a $3.75 weekly wage increase on 15-month contracts expiring March 1, 1957.

The stereotypers had a basic wage rate of $3.08. Pay of other unions ranged from slightly above to slightly below that figure.

Braves Deep In Left Field Candidates

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — The Milwaukee Braves are dugout deep in left field candidates, and with no squatter's rights at County Stadium seven baseball players are on the run in a wide-open race.

The seven players in the running are outfielders Bobby Thomson, Chuck Tanner, Andy Pafko, Wes Covington and Al Spangler, plus first baseman Joe Adcock and first baseman-outfielder Earl Hersh.

Manager Charlie Grimm, with long ball threat George Crowe, slick-fielding Frank Torre and Adcock available for first base has said he plans to experiment with Joe in the outfield.

Adcock, 28, slipped to 264 last year, and missed the tail end of the season when a pitch by Jim Hearn fractured his right wrist. He recently signed a '56 contract and reported the break had knitted perfectly and gave him no trouble.

The 23-year-old Hersh, who batted .314 for Atlanta in the Southern Assn. last season, will make the switch to the outfield because of the Braves' abundance of first sackers.

Thomson and Tanner, who split the left field chores in '55, both say they won't be counted out of consideration despite poor seasons. Thomson, never right after suffering a broken ankle in the spring of 1954, batted .257, Tanner 10 points less.

Covington, 23, and Spangler, 22, were teammates at Jacksonville in the South Atlantic League and both come highly recommended. Covington led the league with .326 batting average while Spangler batted .287.

Grimm has said Pafko, 34, still can help the club but, "I don't think he will be able to go 100 games this year." Pafko finished up with a .266 batting average in '55. Few can beat him as a first-rate utility man.

PENNSYLVANIA MAN SUED. ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — John Esposito of New Castle, Pa., has been sued in Federal Court here by Kelsey Presley, former McKinley County Sheriff. Presley claims he was totally disabled in an auto accident last Oct. in Gallup.

Pascual Perez Retains Title By Turning Back Leo Espinosa

BUENOS AIRES, Arg. — Pascual Perez, who looks more like a jockey than a fighter, still was in possession of the world flyweight title today after turning back the challenge of the Philippines, Leo Espinosa.

The little Argentine, standing under five feet and weighing only 107 3/4 pounds, pouncing out a 15-round decision last night before a sellout Luna Park crowd of more than 25,000 in the second defense of his title.

Espinosa weighed 111 1/2. Perez's next title fight probably will be against Dai Dower of Wales in London, perhaps in April. He is undefeated in 26 pro fights.

Only a draw with Japan's Yoshio Shirai, from whom he won the title in November 1954, mars his record.

Under Argentine regulations the vote of the three judges was not announced. But on the Associated Press card, Perez won 10 rounds, Espinosa 3 and 2 were even.

Perez cut Espinosa under the left eye in the third round and had him down for a count of four in the ninth. Blood from the wound seemed to bother the Filipino as it flowed freely at intervals but a boxing commission physician said the cut was of little importance.

Espinosa got up in the ninth after being floored with a stinging left and was receiving still more punishment when the bell ended the round. The pace, fast through the first 10 rounds, was slow through the last five as Espinosa concentrated on trying to put across a knockout punch. But he was outclassed by the fast-moving Perez.

Hogan's Charity May Not Extend To Other Golfers

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. — Ben Hogan comes out of retirement tomorrow for charity, but his benevolence may not extend to other pros entered in the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament.

Blazing Ben, who retired last June after failing to win the National Open, turned in a nifty 65 in a practice round Wednesday at Cypress Point and remarked, "I was putting better than I have in two years."

Both he and his crooner partner in the pro-amateur meet had said before that practice round that they did not expect they would raise a winning sweat during the $15,000, 54-hole tourney.

Crosby said he convinced Hogan to leave his Texas home by pointing out his appearance would increase the gate. The singer said he returned to play after four years on the sidelines because Hogan "was mighty persuasive."

After that Crosby shot a creditable practice 75 and Hogan fired seven birdies and an eagle for his 65.

Crosby for 10 years has been picking up the tab for the tourney and donating receipts to charity. He is putting out a $7,500 first prize for best pro and a $1,500 first prize for the play-for-pay man in the winning pro-amateur team.

In the starting field are 125 two-man teams, including such sharp-shooting pros as Byron Nelson, Marvin Bux Ward, Dr. Carl Middleoff, Dues Ford, Bo Winger, Walter Burkemo, Lloyd Mangrum, Bob Roburg, Bud Holscher, Gene Littler, Mike Souchak, Tommy Bolt, Ed Oliver, John Bulla and Dutch Harrison.

Nelson had a 68 in practice while Ward had a 71, Bolt a 70 and Mangrum a 67.

Among the amateurs are Freeman Gosden, Andy of Amos 'n' Andy, Phil Harris, Johnny Weissmuller, Hoagy Carmichael, Gordon Macrae, Dean Martin, President Eisenhower's brother Edgar and Lindsay Crosby.

Temple Owls Continue To Fool Experts By Winning Ninth Straight Over Villanova

By BEN OLAN, The Associated Press. Temple wasn't supposed to set the college basketball world on fire this season, but it's rapidly becoming the nation's Cinderella team.

The Owls had an 11-10 record last season. They were hopeful, but not overly optimistic, going into the current campaign. Duquesne, La Salle and Syracuse were some of the clubs rated ahead of them among the Eastern independents.

Today, however, Temple showed a perfect 9-0 slate and was one of four major schools remains unbeaten. The others are San Francisco (12-0), Dayton (11-0) and St. Francis of Brooklyn (9-0).

er rallying late in the game. Duke's sixth-ranked Blue Devils were the only others among the country's top 10 teams to see action. They beat Clemson 109-80 in an Atlantic Coast Conference tilt.

In other games, St. Louis tripped Bradley 75-67 in a Missouri Valley skirmish. Carnegie Tech pulled the upset of the night by edging West Virginia 68-66. Louisville beat Notre Dame 30-75 in overtime. Tennessee defeated Georgia 62-59 in the Southeastern Conference and Columbia knocked off Pennsylvania 82-74 in the Ivy League.

Hal (King) Lear scored 37 points to lead Temple to its victory. Villanova battled the Owls on even terms at 70-70 until Hal Reinfield hit on a three-point play, Guy Rodgers connected on a jump shot and Lear converted two free throws for a seven-point victory. The Owls' other victims include fifth-ranked tucky and two Ivy League Princeton and Penn.

Duke took command in the minute of its game against son, raced to a 53-38 halftime advantage and then turned the into a rout. Bill Yarbrough 38 points for the losers.

Underdog Carnegie Tech won only its third game starts, had to come from behind in the last two minutes. Frank put Tech in front 66-62 with two quick baskets. Rod had a hot night for West with 28 points and 17 rebounds. Louisville, ranked 13th, and then registered five points in the fourth minute overtime to nip the Irish.

Sports In Brief

By The Associated Press

RACING. MIAMI, Fla.—I Appeal ($3.30) won the Luna Handicap at Tropical Park.

NEW ORLEANS—Leather Kid ($2.80) captured the feature at the Fair Grounds.

ARCADIA, Calif.—Neva ($13) took the Santa Ynez stakes at Santa Anita.

FIGHTS. CHICAGO — Johnny Holman, 201, Chicago, stopped Bob Satterfield, 184 1/2, Chicago, 8.

BUENOS AIRES—Pascual Perez, 107 3/4, Argentina, outpointed Leo Espinosa, 111 1/2, Philippines, 15. Perez retained world flyweight title.

PUPILS INCREASING. ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — Doctor Charles Spain, a special consultant for the Albuquerque public schools says the pupil population is increasing at the rate of approximately 3,500 per year.

Spain says the two biggest problems of the public schools are the increasing student population, and the need for attracting more people into the education field.

Glass Jaw Costs Bob Satterfield Chance At Title

CHICAGO — Bob Satterfield's chin got in his way again last night, keeping him once more from crossing the threshold to heavyweight title contention.

Johnny Holman, a hulking 201-pounder with the reach of an octopus catapulted three long rights to Satterfield's sensitive button.

Three times Satterfield, out weighed by 17 pounds, fell like someone yelled "Timber!" He went down for a nine count in the second round of the nationally televised fight at Chicago Stadium, for eight in the third and finally the scheduled 10-round bout was stopped in the eighth.

Holman's right in the eighth fattened the 135-pounder. But Satterfield staggered up just at the count of 10 with eight seconds to go before the bell.

Referee Bernie Weissman stopped it, giving Holman a technical knockout. Satterfield, at 32, was being hoisted as bait for heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano. But all that appeared vanished now and the unpredictable fight has returned to the also-ran class.
