Rep. Blanton 'Survives 65th Attack' Given Tribe by House Colleagues

Abilene News

Congressman Thos. L. Blanton of Abilene, expected home in the next few days from the historic session of congress, 'survived' the sixty-fifth consecutive attack made on him by the Washington Daily Herald, according to one of his closing speeches as it appears in the Congressional Record, copies of which have been received here.

The Herald for months has been lambasting the Abilene congressman because he opposed certain appropriations on prerogatives which the Herald thought the capital city ought to have. For years a member of the district committee of the house, which rules the District of Columbia, Blanton was called 'the mayor of Washington'. Now, as a member of the all-powerful appropriations committee, his influence in the district is stronger than ever.

Tributes

In the midst of a speech reviewing the work of the appropriations committee, Blanton was interrupted by Rep. Byrns of Tennessee, democratic majority leader of the house, who paid this tribute to the Texan:

MR. BYRNS. The gentleman has paid a very high compliment to the several members of the Appropriations Committee, all of which every Member of the House knows is deserved. Of course, the gentleman is too modest to speak of his own efforts upon that committee, but I want to say that I served with the gentleman for two years upon that committee, and there is no more vigilant member of the committee in the interests of the people and in the interest of saving money for them than the gentleman from Texas (Mr. Blanton). We all know that the gentleman, in the course of his service, has saved multiplied millions for the people and that he gives close and valuable attention to this legislation. (Applause.)

Resuming his speech, Judge Blanton was presently interrupted by Rep. Boylan of New York, with whom he has had several 'run-ins' over prohibition and other issues. Rep. Boylan said:

MR. BOYLAN. I would like to say that the people of his district are fortunate in having so able a Representative as you, sir, and I trust that they will keep sending you here for years. (Applause.)

From Cannon

The tributes to the Texan were topped off by a speech from Rep. Cannon of Illinois, who said:

MR. CANNON of Missouri, Mr. Speaker, there is one of the many virtues of the gentleman from Texas which I think should be particularly emphasized at this time. That is his absolute fairness. The local press may have taken occasion from time to time to criticize him for advocating reductions in appropriations for the benefit of the District which he considered excessive or extravagant. I hope it will not overlook the fact that he has been just as ready to oppose reductions in appropriations which he considered unjustified. His fairness in this respect and his friendship for the District are shown by an item in this report, when the bill came back from the Senate it carried an amendment reducing the appropriation for the tariff department from $45,000 to $10,000. It was an unreasonable cut, but we were in a position where it would have been accepted but for the staunch objection of the gentleman from Texas, who insisted that in justice to the city of Washington the service could not be adequately maintained if the amendment was agreed to and on his insistence the original appropriation was restored. The city of Washington and the taxpayers of Washington have no better friend than the gentleman from Texas (Mr. Blanton). He insists on rigid economy in all Government expenditures, but he is just as insistent on adequate provision for all legitimate functions of government.

Let me repeat what I have said many times before both publicly and privately: The gentleman from Texas is, in my opinion, one

WITH BAIRD BAPTIST

Our meeting closed Sunday night with a lot of good done. Several were saved and I baptised eight last Wednesday night and one of these a fine young father joined at this mid-week service after the meeting closed; that is good proof that the effects of the meeting is going on. We had two additions by letters during the meeting. We are hoping that we may just keep on receiving them until all of the ones who should be, are members with us.

I liked this meeting. I enjoyed the preacher, his fellowship, his sermons, his attitudes and the family. I am sincerely glad that we had him for the meeting. I also liked the nice spirit of cooperation on the part of all and I want to thank every one who in any way contributed to the success of the meeting.

Last night we had the new building question up, and a committee was appointed to submit plans in a future meeting. We are indeed earnest; we need the building; we want to build; we are able to build and now if we can determine the cost we certainly will build a new Baptist church.

Let me urge every one to be in their place next Sunday for all the services.

JOE R. MAYES.

Give The Kids A Break

School's out. Thousands of children all over the country are pouring forth from the classrooms to spend their days out of doors during the summer months. It's time for motorists to be more alert than ever—unless they are many of these children will be injured or even killed as they traverse the streets and highways to fields and playgrounds.

The schools have done a fine job training youngsters to watch out for themselves. In consequence, when the statistics of adult and child pedestrian accidents are compared, the children are shown to be better. They are more safety conscious.

In spite of this good work 3,400 boys and girls between the ages of five and fourteen were killed last year and 152,550 were injured, according to the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters.

Drivers, give these youngsters the right of way; drive drive slowly and cautiously through residential districts; and watch out for the child who darts out from behind a parked car. Every daylight hour should be a safety hour now that school is closed. Help to reduce child fatalities, and give the kids a break.

Keeping A Town Snappy

No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name a business being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This applies to all kinds of business—general stores, dry goods groceries, furniture dealers, mechanics, professional men, druggists and in fact all classes of business men. This does not mean that you should have a whole or half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two line spacer. A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in the town by looking at the business mentioned in the paper. This is the best possible town advertiser. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and the town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to town but refuses to advertise his own is not a valuable addition to any town. The life and the snap of a town depends upon the wideawake liberal advertising men. It's the truth.—American Banker's Magazine.

Start Driving Nails

In an editorial concerning the renovating campaigns that have found a welcome in a multitude of American communities, the Saturday Evening Post says: 'When a city or a town makes a united effort to improve the local employment and business situation, it also builds up its own confidence. There is less uncertainty and apathy when everybody pitches in to stimulate work of such a useful kind—It is nothing but good local business. But its greatest benefit will come when it is adopted by practically all the cities and towns in the country. The slogan of the renovative movement is a simple one, but for that very reason it is capable of having a far-reaching effect. The slogan is: 'If a man drives a nail he helps business.'

There is another good slogan, too, and that one is: 'Employment and investment are cheaper than charity.' One of the main purposes of renovating campaigns is to provide the unemployed with productive work—as distinct from work which is not necessary, and is given more or less as charity. During the past three years millions of structures—hotels, warehouses, business buildings and residences—have been allowed to run down. Their owners have taken the attitude that economy came first—that they would spend as little as possible until they could see what was coming. To permit them to go on longer without repairs is the most prodigal kind of luxury. True economy is to protect the investment they represent by making improvements and repairs now—when they can be had at rock-bottom prices.

It's time to start driving nails.

This Week In Washington

(Autocaster Service)

Washington, June 19—Now that Congress has gone home and the President's machinery for carrying out the program of the New Deal has not yet got into full action, this is a good time to look over the situation and see where, in a way of speaking, we are at.

On point which experienced political observers are commenting on is that President Roosevelt has shown himself an astute politician by keeping the tariff issue out of the extra session of congress with which his Administration began. That isn't because he doesn't want to do something about tariffs, but because, as a student of political history, with a very smart set of advisers close to him, he knows that nothing is more certain to wreck an Administration than a tariff squabble. And any kind of tariff discussion in Congress always gets down to a squabble between local interests.

It was a tariff law that wrecked the Taft Administration; it was another tariff law that started the Hoover administration on the down grade. Each of those two Presidents called Congress in extra session, but neither was able to control the situation after Congress met. Each got a tariff bill which he did not like but felt compelled to accept. And the enmities arising out of those tariff debates broke up the party in each case.

President Roosevelt wants tariff revision. He is, indeed, bound by his party's platform to bring about tariff reductions. He would have liked to have had power before the World Economic Conference began, to offer tariff reductions as an offset to European claims to relief from war debts. But he needed other domestic legislation worse than he did the tariff at this time, and he shrewdly demanded and got pretty nearly all of his program through, so that, no matter what may happen when the tariff comes up for discussion at the next session—as it will—the President will still be sitting in the seat of power.

President's Great Power

The delegation of authority by Congress to the President in unmatched in political history. Mr. Roosevelt today has the power to close all banks and open those he pleases; to embargo gold and strike the gold clause from past, present and future contracts; to effect controlled inflation of the currency by a variety of methods; to pay a bounty to farmers in order to increase the price of their crops; to coordinate and regulate industry and suspend the antitrust laws while doing so; to regulate and reorganize the nation's railway system; to create an entirely new and economical pension system; to borrow billions for public works and to dispense a dole on a national scale.

No President ever had so much power in peace time. And no President has ever had so much power over Congress. That is not solely because patronage has been withheld pending the granting of power to the President. Much of the President's strength with the able and, for the most part, patriotic and well-intentioned men in the Senate and House, is due to the knowledge which they cannot escape, that the President has the people of the United States behind him as no President since Washington has had them. To oppose the President is to oppose the constituents back home; so they gave him what he asked for.

A Positive Program

A curious commentary on the certainty with which the Presidential program has been put through is the fact that the Administration does not wait for Congress to act but goes ahead with its plans as soon as it has sent the desired bill to the Capital. When the newspapers were bristling with headlines based on Senate opposition to the National Industry Control act, while the Senate finance committee was trying to pull the teeth out of that measure and Senators were thundering against it on the floor, the organization to administer the new law, under General Hugh Johnson, opened its headquarters! Employees were hired, regulators for the several industries were chosen, important in-

Make Perfect Coffee . . . EVERY TIME . . . with These Automatic "Electrical Servants"

Authorities agree that the only perfect coffee is real French Drip Coffee. This is because a perfect brew requires three very definite things. First, that coffee grounds and water should come in contact but once. . . . Second, that the contact should be of about 3 1/2 minutes duration. . . . Third, that the water used in coffee-making should not be boiled, but maintained at a temperature about 16 degrees below the boiling point. When these three definite things are done, the result is a smooth, rich flavor . . . a clear, sparkling amber color . . . and an intriguing, appetite-awakening aroma.

Here are two appliances that enable you to make perfect coffee EVERY TIME! The Manning-Bowman French Drip Coffee Urn, and the Hotpoint Coffee-Maker automatically assure the perfection of all your coffee. No embarrassing failures . . . no disgusting "dishwater" coffee . . . none that would "float an egg." You'll have perfect coffee every time through the automatic perfection of these modern "Electrical Servants."

Specially priced, for a limited time only, you'll find one of these modern appliances an absolute necessity in your home. Like all electrical appliances, too, they may save money for you—for this modern way requires less coffee to produce a wonderful brew. Ask any employe for a demonstration TODAY. Convenient terms if desired!

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule . . . and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

Henry Ford Dearborn, Mich.

June 19, 1933

A COMPANY THIRTY YEARS OLD

Last Friday the Ford Motor Company completed 30 years of automobile making.

It is also my fortieth year at the same job. I made my first engine in 1893, and it still runs. This is the engine that won the Selden Patent Suit—which took the motor car out of the exclusive class, and opened the automobile industry to hundreds of manufacturers who started during the last 30 years.

Some of the men who began with me that June day in 1903, are working here yet. All of the principles we laid down then, are still operative; we find that they have great survival value for the future. To date they have produced and sold over 21,000,000 Ford cars.

Although we created the automobile market we have never thought it was good for anyone to monopolize it. We have always believed that before business could be good for one, it must be good for all. Our discoveries and improvements have always been open to other manufacturers without patent restrictions.

Of course, there is one thing we cannot share—everyone must get it for himself—and that is experience. Money could duplicate our buildings and machines, but it cannot duplicate 40 years of experience. And it is experience that makes a motor car.

But the past does not especially concern me; it has all been a preparation for the future. For myself, I feel that I have just been gathering the tools to do something worth while, and that my real task is still ahead.

Great changes are upon the world. False ideas of every kind are vanishing in the general upheaval. Those who built truly on principle will survive—their service will carry over. Business integrity and commodity honor will be fully justified. And newer and better ways of living will appear.

That is the outlook for this young thirty-year old Company of ours.

Henry Ford

Delinquent Tax Bill

The following is a brief outline of the provisions of the Delinquent Tax Bill which has been passed by the Senate and House. The bill, as finally passed, is a combination of House Bill 142 and Senate Bill 262:

The bill provides that all taxes delinquent to the State, any county and other political subdivisions of the state on February 1, 1933, may be paid at any time prior to July 1, 1933, with interest and penalties which have already accrued deducted. If these taxes are paid prior to October 1, 1933

there will be added a penalty of one percent; if they are paid between October 1, 1933, and December 1, 1933, there will be an added penalty of 2 per cent; if they are paid between January 1, 1934, and March 31, 1933, there will be added a penalty of four per cent; if they are paid between April 1, 1934, and June 30, 1934, there will be an added penalty of six per cent.

The above provisions shall not apply to cities, independent school districts or special school districts unless and until the governing boards thereof pass an ordinance or order adopting the plan.

Industrialists were asked to go on the national board. There was, in short, no doubt about what Congress was going to do.

In the ninety-ninth day of its first session the 73rd Congress made a record for important legislation which few Congresses have equalled in their two full years of existence. Fourteen laws which constitute the Administration program were enacted, besides one other bill of major importance which did not come from the White House. That is Senator Wagner's bill providing for a national employment system and cooperation with the states in its operation.

In Ninety-Nine Days
 The laws which make up the President's program are:

1. Emergency banking relief.
2. Maintenance of Government's credit (usually called the economy law).
3. Permitting and taxing beer.
4. Emergency Agricultural relief, farm mortgage relief and currency issuance and regulation, including inflationary powers; all of these being included in one law.
5. Unemployment relief (reforestation camps).
6. Federal emergency relief.
7. Muscle Shoals and Tennessee Valley development.
8. Relief of small-home owners.
9. Supervision of traffic in securities.
10. Railroad reorganization and relief.
11. Repeal of the gold clause in Federal and private obligations.
12. Veterans Appropriation.
13. Industrial recovery act, providing for control of industry.
14. The Glass-Steagall banking reform law insuring depositors.

That is a tremendous list of new legislation. Many of these laws completely change the methods in which business has been conducted and establish new functions of immense power for the Government. As in war time, new bureaus and administrative boards are finding it hard to get office space in which to begin their new duties.

It looks like a busy Summer ahead for Uncle Sam.

What Makes a Safe Tire? ... I KNOW!

ARE you willing to risk your life on advertising statements claiming blowout-proof and unblowable tires? One manufacturer gives as the reason for claiming blowout-proof tires—the use of one ply of another color—another, a patented "no breaker" construction—a mail order house, high stretch "elastic" cords, etc., etc. Actually the fundamental cause of a tire blowout is the flexing of the tire which causes friction of the fibers in the cord, resulting in heat and causing the rubber to soften and the cords to deteriorate.

There is a reason why Firestone Tires have won the 500-mile Indianapolis race for 14 consecutive years, the most grueling tire test. The reason is the Firestone patented extra process of Gum-Dipping which saturates every fiber and insulates every cord with pure rubber—which gives strength to the cords and prevents friction and heat in the fibers. This year 42 drivers in this race equipped their cars with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires and not a single driver had any tire trouble.

Race drivers know why Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires are safer and not subject to blowout and will not risk their lives on ordinary tires. Your life and the lives of your family are often in danger at the high road speeds of today and you should not take greater risks than the race drivers who make sure that they have the best and safest tires they can buy—Firestone. Come in today. We will give you a liberal trade-in allowance for your old tires on new Firestone High Speed Tires—the safest tires in the World.
