Can She Bake A Cherry Pie?

YES SHE CAN! In fact, 17-year old Annette Hunt, Indianapolis, Ind., was judged the best cherry pie baker in the National Red Cherry Institute's 1956 contest. Named national winner, Annette triumphed over 125,000 girls and boys from 14 to 21, who competed in the contest at state and local levels. Winners from each state, plus Canada and Hawaii met at Chicago for the bakeoff, where the grand ballroom of the Sheraton Hotel was transformed into a giant electric kitchen with installation of 50 ranges. For her pie baking skill, Annette won the General Electric range in which she baked her winning pie, a college scholarship and trip to Washington, D.C.

Champion Cherry Pie Recipe
Filling
 4 cups frozen cherries, thawed and well drained, 2 (1 1/2 lb.) packages 3 tablespoons cherry juice 3 drops red food coloring
 1/2 teaspoon almond extract 1/4 cup cake flour 1 cup sugar 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/4 teaspoon melted butter
 Place drained cherries into mixing bowl. Combine cherry juice, food coloring, and almond extract. Pour over cherries. Put 1/2 cup cake flour, one cup sugar, and 1/2 teaspoon salt in flour sifter. Sift over cherries. Mix thoroughly. Add one tablespoon melted butter. Pour into 9-inch pastry-lined pie pan. Top with pastry strips arranged lattice fashion. Fold the bottom crust over the ends of strips. Make a fluted edge. Place in pre-heated oven. Bake at 400-F. for 45 minutes.

Crust
 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour 1 teaspoon salt
 3/4 cup lard (room temperature) 1/2 cup milk
 Sift flour and salt into mixing bowl. Cut-in half of the lard with pastry blender until mixture has appearance of fine meal. Add remaining lard and cut-in until mixture has consistency of large peas. Pour half of the milk over mixture and mix by pressing with blender. Add remaining milk and press dough together. Roll bottom crust and place in pie pan. Cut dough into 14 strips, each one-half inch wide, for top crust.

Villista Woman Captive Living In Mountainair

ALBUQUERQUE—A woman who was held captive nine days by Pancho Villa's men and released when they raided Columbus, N. M., 40 years ago is now living at Mountainair, it has been learned.
 She is Mrs. Will Medders, 66, who resides with her husband on a small cattle ranch five miles west of Mountainair.
 Mrs. Medders, an active "ranch woman" who goes deer hunting every year, is the former Mrs. Maude Hawk Wright. Her first husband, Edward Wright, was killed by the Villistas in Mexico in 1916.
 The story of Mrs. Wright's captivity and her description of the Villistas' march on Columbus was told last week in an Albuquerque Tribune column also printed in Associated Press newspapers. The story was compiled from old newspaper articles.
 It was stated in the column that "it is not known what became of Mrs. Wright" after her release from captivity.
 An infant son who was taken from the woman at the time of her capture and returned to her a week after the Columbus raid, is now living in Clovis. He is John Wright, who operates a sheet metal shop there.
 Mrs. Wright, after her release at Columbus, went to Safford, Ariz. to live with her parents. She was married to Will Medders in Safford in 1917, and moved to Mountainair shortly afterwards where they have ranched ever since.
 Mr. and Mrs. Medders have seven children, including Mrs. Ruth Luther of Mountainair, the first to inform the Tribune that the woman featured in the article is still alive.
 Mrs. Medders, a native of Alabama, had been living in Mexico with her first husband six years at the time of her capture by the Villistas. She was captured at her home near Pearson in Chihuahua, Mexico, March 1, 1916, and released nine days later about a mile south of Columbus.

Raton Editor Says Situation Clouded In Morocco As Nation Gets Freedom

EDITOR'S NOTE: Frank Pfeiffer, publisher of the Raton Range, is one of a group of American journalists touring the world's trouble spots—including the hectic Middle East. In the following report by air from Morocco, Pfeiffer outlines some of that nation's problems. He calls Morocco "of tremendous importance to the survival, not only to America, but of the free world. . . . It deserves something more than the attention given a barren waste."

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—As the clock strikes midnight tonight, other editors and I are agreed that we have just lived through the most exciting 48 hours of our lives—and we're not exactly young.
With more than 250,000 natives straining every muscle for a glimpse of him I could have reached out and touched the sultan of Morocco as he landed at 4 p. m. in his country's first brand new Super Constellation at the Rabat airport.
Less than 48 hours earlier we, as members of a 41-person group of touring journalists, had stood in the home of U. S. Consul George D. LaMont and received our first briefing on the birth of a new for the continued prosperity of their investments here, think America should protect their rights and possibly obtain extra concessions for them.

Politically independent observers think the French have pulled a dilly of a deal, and will continue to enjoy all the advantages of trade with Morocco without any of the responsibilities and expense incurred during the 44-year protectorate.
Actually, tonight there is no responsible government here. True, the French are still on hand, lined the road for miles this afternoon to protect the Sultan as he drove from the airport to Rabat, capital of Morocco, with his country's newly-won freedom obtained only recently in Paris. But little has been done by the literate five per cent of Morocco's 8 million population to set up a semblance of government as yet.
Certain to play an important part in the immediate future will be the UMT, Morocco's one-year-old, 560,000-member union organization. Open to all, the fast-growing union is attracting thousands of new members every month as it strives to improve the 50-cent hourly wage for skilled laborers. In another year it is expected to be in position to exert terrific political as well as economic pressure on officials

It has been a glorious two-day holiday for the natives as they celebrated with good old July 4th firecrackers and cap guns the freedom from France that they have been seeking since shortly after Morocco became a French protectorate in 1912. Tonight in my fourth-floor room in one of the world's most modern and beautiful hotels—the El Mansour in Casablanca—the joyous voices of crowds still singing in the streets floats up on a gentle March breeze.
Down deep under the surface of the popping firecrackers and singing crowds the feeling runs deep and the situation is anything but clear. Top government officials such as military Gen. Antoine Franchi are quick to point out that Morocco was the first nation in the world to extend recognition to the United States in the treaty of 1787 shortly after we had won our own freedom from England. This if nothing else, they insist, should cause America to be among the first to recognize Morocco.
Last night we met with a group of some 80 American businessmen of Casablanca. They profess fear Morocco as a result of the country's new freedom. America's dollars seem to be welcome in Morocco and a country that has no affection for the Soviets is not expected to do anything soon to shut off the welcome flow of cash.

"But," moaned a Midwestern editor this afternoon, "it almost makes one sick to think of the havoc that the Communists would inflict on this beautiful and modern city of Casablanca and the ease with which they could move in to do it unless the free world keeps a close watch on the situation."
Masked Addict Tells Story On Television Show
DALLAS, (AP)—A masked woman told of becoming a drug addict on a television program Sunday night, then listened to a panel of experts discuss her plea for help.
She appeared on a new WFAA-TV "Confession" show which has been fully endorsed by all Dallas area law enforcement agencies.
The Rev. Tom Shipp, pastor of the Lovers Lane Methodist Church insisted that the church wants to help. "You do have a home, friend, God loves you," he told the woman identified only as "Jane."
Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said second-time offenders should receive capital punishment for their "death on the installment plan" by selling drugs illegally.

Veteran's Information

Veterans of the Korean and post-Korean conflict period are losing valuable GI insurance rights because they are filing applications for special five-year term policies four months after separation instead of within 120 days.
The law grants only 120 days in which to apply for this nonconvertible term policy without medical examination.
"One hundred and twenty days," VA explained, VA explained, "can be, and usually is, LESS than four months. So, when a Korean or Post-Korean veteran counts on a four-month leeway and thus files his application one-two or three days late, he cannot be granted insurance under the law."
Not only must the application for this special five-year nonconvertible term policy be filed with VA within the 120-day period after separation, but the first premium also must be paid within the same period.
A longer period of time in which to apply is granted to Korean or post-Korean veterans who are found by VA to have service-connected disabilities. These veterans must apply within one year from the date VA finds their disabilities to be service-connected and they must pass a medical examination to show they are otherwise insurable except for their service-

Dallas Vandals Damage Homes, Eleven Detained

DALLAS, (AP)—Vandalism kept Dallas County cops busy over the weekend. Eleven teenagers were under arrest Monday and numerous new cases were reported.
Sheriff Bill Decker said five teenagers were involved in damage to six rural homes south of Hutchins. Damage was estimated at $5,600. Three others were held for knocking windows out of the Wilmer-Hutchins school.
Police Chief Grady McMahan of Garland said 80 autos on several used car lots had windows and windshields shot out by air rifles. Dallas police had counted 270 autos damaged by pellets at midnight Saturday and got more reports of vandalism Sunday.

Sorghum Price Pegged To Corn In Senate Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The producers of five million bushels of New Mexico grain sorghum look forward to a small price increase and a future securely entwined with corn, Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-NM) said Monday.
The sorghums won a feed-value equivalent rating in price supports through an amendment by Sens. Chavez and Price Daniel (D-Tex.) to the agriculture bill now before Congress. The net and immediate effect of the amendment would raise sorghums by six cents a hundred from the present $1.80 supported price.
"Corn has long been a pet and favored grain, largely because of the Corn Belt states, and for the first time the grain sorghums will take their place alongside corn," Chavez said. "Since the two are practically even in feed value to animals, whatever price is pegged for the favored corn will go to sorghum growers."
Sens. Daniel and Chavez teamed up to sponsor the sorghum grain amendments, which were adopted by the Senate. Sens. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.), Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.) and Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) also joined on the amendments to the big farm bill, which has provoked the most debate of any bill this year.

New Mexico has more than 360,000 acres devoted to sorghum grains, much of it grown under irrigation. It has been the only agricultural commodity at the low 70 per cent of parity in the last two years.

SFR APPROVES PLAN
LAS CRUCES (AP)—The Santa Fe Railway has given its approval to a plan to demolish a 15-mile overpass on U. S. 70, 80 miles west of the city. A grade crossing is to be built instead. Consider the overpass a bottleneck.

Chavez, joining in the farm bill debate late at night, told the Senate he was tired of hearing so much concern about Iowa pigs and Corn Belt grain in relation to politics or the national economy.
"We see that attempts are being made to have the pigs in Iowa reared all right, on account of what will happen in November," the senator said. "However, we wish to have the secretary of Agriculture and the Republican national administration treat the commercial sorghum area of the West on a par with the Corn Belt."
Sorghum grains were not under mandatory support as was corn, Chavez said. The sorghums were left to the discretion of the agriculture secretary, he asserted, and while corn rode about at 85 to 90 per cent of parity, sorghum grains were dropped to the bottom of 70 per cent in one action by the secretary of agriculture.
Placing sorghum grains on a plane where its relative feed value to corn, which averages 90 1/2 per cent of corn, has been sought in the Congress at various times in the last decade. The Senate ap-

Put a half cup of sugar in a cup of water and a tablespoon of lemon juice in a small pan; stir over low heat until sugar dissolves. Boil, without stirring, for five minutes. Dip the sugar syrup over grapefruit and slice them into a fruit dessert.
The Daniel Chavez amendment marked the concrete action to equate the feed prices, Chavez said.

Frigidity Hits Central Portion Of Nation Today West Is Named

By The Associated Press
Frigid temperatures blanketed the central portion of the nation Monday from the Rocky Mountains eastward to the Appalachians. However, a warming trend was reported in Montana and along the North Atlantic Coast.
In the central area, temperatures fell 5 to 25 degrees from Sunday's readings with lesser falls reported in the Southwest and in the Northern Plains where cold air already was present.
The cold wave also left a snow cover over parts of the Midwest and Northern Plains.
Snow falls Monday were light and scattered from the Rockies east into southern Nebraska, Kansas and southwest Iowa.
Widely scattered showers occurred over the Southeastern states the southern Ohio Valley, through the Middle Atlantic states and along the New England coast.

GAME MEET CALLED

SANTA FE (AP)—Sportsmen and outdoorsmen will meet at Cimarron Thursday to discuss big game problems. The meeting was called by Homer Pickens, state conservation director. The proposed split season for deer has been the biggest subject of discussion so far this year. Pickens said the State Game Commission is hopeful that practical dates can be worked out which will make for a good conservation program.

Sugar 'N Spice, 'N Everything Nice Goes Well With Grapefruit

Tangy Florida grapefruit halves are a boon to hurried meal-planners, for with variations in toppings they'll please every member of the family. Those who like things tart and on the sharp side may add salt or nutmeg, or eat the fruit plain. The sweet-tooths have a wide choice—honey, brown sugar, maple syrup, or molasses. And for a special flavor treat, put a spoonful of warm mincemeat in the center of each half. Sharp French dressing ladled over the sections is mighty good eating, too, as a dinner appetizer.
The fruit which Florida is shipping to all parts of the country, now is of excellent quality. There is both the pretty pink-fleshed fruit and the white-meat; seeded or seedless varieties. When you purchase grapefruit, pick out the plump, heavy ones, and be sure to get the thin-skinned ones to get the most for your money.
To prepare for serving, cut fruit in half, with a sharp knife, cut around each section, loosening fruit from dividing membranes; do not cut around entire outer edge of fruit. Serve with any of the toppings mentioned, or dot with butter and put under your broiler until slightly browned on top. Broiled grapefruit is a good winter dessert, and one that's as good for you as it is good to eat.
