BANKING EVOLUTION

By R. S. HECHT

President American Bankers Association

BANKING at one time was a private business, but more recently has developed into a profession—a semi-public profession. This change has not come suddenly but is the result of an evolutionary process.

R. S. HECHT

proven himself a man of courage and ability, and we may well expect him to meet the problems that lie before him with resolution and sound judgment.

Changes of momentous importance have occurred in our economic structures and bankers have had a difficult road to travel. Some will argue that all of these changes were evolutionary and inevitable, while others look upon many of them as revolutionary and unnecessary. It is extremely difficult to trace with any degree of accuracy the real causes for many of our troubles and it is not always easy in judging these developments to distinguish properly between cause and effect.

Unfortunately it has become the fashion to blame on our banking system all the troubles which the depression has brought. As a consequence we hear much of needed reform of banking by law. No one will deny that certain defects have developed in our existing banking laws which need correction, and that certain abuses were committed which no one wishes to defend or have remain possible in the future. Never before were bankers more determined than they are today to bring about whatever changes in our banking system are called for by the public welfare.

The best results can and will be accomplished by normal processes and gradual adjustments of our present private banking structure—suitably supervised by proper authority—rather than by the passage of still more drastic laws, offering panaceas in the form of more government-owned or government-controlled financial organizations.

The Basis of Good Laws

Leading laws relating to any phase of in the rough school of practical human experience and are usually the result of sound evolutionary processes rather than of sudden impulses to change fundamental principles.

If we analyze the new banking picture which has developed during the past eighteen months, we cannot help but arrive at the conclusion that evolutionary changes which have taken place in banking, and the economic life of the nation of which it is a part, have justified much of the banking legislation recently passed. As we look ahead and consider the new problems which are facing us we must inevitably come to the conclusion that some further changes in our banking laws will become necessary.

It is not enough that bankers merely acquiesce in banking imposed by law. Zeal for evolutionary banking reform must be more aggressive than that. Banking practice itself, without compulsion of law, can and should reflect the changes and lessons of the times and difficulties through which the nation has passed and, even to a greater extent than law, render banking more truly a good public servant by voluntary self-reform. In no small measure is this accomplished by the better training of the members of the banking fraternity and by instilling constantly higher ideals in those who are ultimately responsible for bank management.

As we march on into the world of tomorrow the banker has a greater opportunity for usefulness than ever before, and I hope that the service he will render to society will be so conscientious, so constructive and so satisfactory as to merit general approval and assure him his logical high place and leadership.

ADS. WILL TELL BANKERS' STORY

American Bankers Association
President Announces Move to Stimulate Newspaper
Advertising

NEW YORK.—Plans for stimulating wider use of informative newspaper advertising by banks in promoting public understanding and confidence in regard to existing banking conditions and methods have been announced by R. S. Hecht, President of the American Bankers Association, as a part of his organization's activities in aid of business recovery.

A general groundwork was prepared through a nationwide survey of advertising by banks relative to their willingness to extend justifiable loans to industry and trade. This, he said, revealed that a large number in all parts of the country, are pursuing aggressive policies along this line and encouraging their customers to develop forward-looking business plans. "It is our aim to aid in fostering this constructive attitude wherever possible," he said.

The Theme of New Advertising

The association's Advertising Department, under the direct supervision of the general executive officers, has prepared, at the headquarters in New York City, an informative advertising series or the use of member banks in the association to aid them in developing in their own communities better general public understanding regarding banking, Mr. Hecht said.

"The underlying theme of this adverising is that sound banking is based on helpful human relations and that it has a unity of interest with the people of its community which binds them together with a common purpose," he said.

"We are confident that if a clear understanding of this is brought home to the people in all our banking communities, it will go far in restoring the public confidence which good banking deserves. A bank in which people deservedly believe is doubly safe, it is to the public interest for the people to have confidence in their banks."

The Place of Advertising

"We feel that bank advertising has a special public duty to perform in this connection under existing conditions. The copy which will be supplied in the service we have developed will not only aid the individual bank in promoting the use of its own facilities but is also aimed to bring about with the aid of newspaper advertising a clearer public viewpoint regarding the essential part it occupies in the life of its community."

Mr. Hecht emphasized in regard to the new advertising facilities being offered to the members of the association that they are not a profit making venture and that there is no intention to disturb existing advertising arrangements, the idea being that these institutional services shall supplement rather than replace present plans, or that they will give assistance to member banks now lacking satisfactory arrangements.

MANY BANKS LONG LIVED

In the United States—
168 Banks over 100 years old.
2,472 Banks over 50 years old.
10,391 Banks over 25 years old.

There are in the United States 168 banks that have been in continuous existence for more than one hundred years. There are 2,472 banks over fifty years old, while 64% of all the banks in this country, or 10,391, are twenty-five years old or older.

In other words, practically two-thirds of the banks in this country have come through several successive periods of depression and panic, including 1907, 1914-1920 and 1929-33.

The Oldest Bank

The oldest bank in the country, which is in Boston, was chartered February 17, 1784.

In the 64% of banks that are twenty-five years old or older is lodged a major portion of the banking resources of the nation. In commenting recently upon the stability of a great majority of the banks in the United States, Dr. Harold Stonier, Educational Director of the American Bankers Association, said:

"The fact that we have so many banks that have been in existence a long period of years is an eloquent tribute to the genius of American managerial ability, for no other country has experienced such wild gambling eras and resultant periods of business stagnation as those through which our country has passed at frequent intervals during the past century."

RED CROSS AGENCIES SAFEGUARD HEALTH

First Aid, Life Saving, Nursing Care, Promote Health and Safety

Five outstanding services make up the health-conservation program of the American Red Cross, according to the annual report just issued in Washington. These services are first aid and life saving, which together have trained more than a million persons; nursing, with an active enrollment of 36,133 registered nurses; Public Health Nursing, conducted by 750 nurses in 424 chapters last year; and Home Hygiene, which has taught more than 700,000 men and women simple ways of caring for the sick at home.

"The achievements of the Red Cross in public health nursing place it among the leaders in this field," said James L. Fleser, vice chairman in charge of domestic operations. "This service was organized in 1919 to meet

RECOVERED BY THE PEOPLE AND the ravages of the flu epidemic which in 1918-1919 took so great a toll of life.

"Since that time Red Cross nursing services have been pioneers in more than one half of the counties in the United States. Many services we established were taken over later by civic, state and federal agencies, and the Red Cross continues to establish services in other new fields. Red Cross nurses made more than a million visits to patients last year, and 629,025 children in schools were inspected.

"Red Cross courses in home hygiene and care of the sick are especially important in times of depression, because they teach families to maintain hygienic conditions in their own homes and to recognize symptoms of illness

NATIONAL SAVINGS MARK INCREASES

NEW YORK.—The annual savings compilation of the American Bankers Association for the year ending June 30, 1934, shows that for the first time since 1930 total savings in all American banks recorded an annual increase.

A statement by W. Espey Albig, Deputy Manager of the association in charge of its Savings Division, in the organization's monthly magazine "Banking," says that savings deposited in banks as of June 30, 1934, gained 2.5 per cent as compared with a year earlier.

"The aggregate is an increase over last year of $742,132,000, the first since the year which closed June 30, 1930," he says. "This is a notable achievement, for the decline since 1930 had been precipitate and all-embracing. In that year savings had reached the all-time high of $25,478,631,000. A year ago the amount was $21,125,534,000, a loss in three years of $7,353,097,000. This year the figure stands at $21,867,666,000.

"Depositors, too, have gained in number, going from 39,262,442 on June 30, 1933, to 39,562,174 on June 30 this year, a gain of 299,732. Four years ago there were 32,729,432 depositors, or one depositor for each 2.3 persons in the country. Now there is one account for each 2.2 persons."

Trained to Save Lives

First aid certificates were issued by the Red Cross last year to 130,972 persons who finished the course of instruction put on by the chapters. Included in this list were more than 70,000 foremen, time clerks and other key employees on Federal Civil Works projects. Further evidence of the government's endorsement of the first aid program is found in projects now under way where Red Cross chapters, at the request of the War Department, are giving first aid instruction in CCC camps. Where it has been requested by Army engineers the same instruction is also made available to key men working on federal water conservancy and flood control projects.

FEBRUARY 100 PER CENT

The coming February will be the fifth one for us in Baird. For the past four seasons during the month of February we have especially solicited your 100% patronage. February is a short month. We wonder if everyone in this trade territory will not agree to use OUR bakery products only for that time.

The Merchants and Bakery are well stocked with our varieties, principally Plain Bread, Buttered Bread, Mixed Whole Wheat Bread, Rolls, 100% Whole Wheat Bread in a round loaf, doughnuts, pies and cakes.

If you have not been using what we make, please do so throughout February. Perhaps you know of someone not supporting us. If so, kindly speak a good word to them for us. We thank you in advance for that.

Let the entire community rally as one for the only manufacturing enterprise left in your town. You will be happier and so will we.

HOT WATER

Prevents Waste...Increases household efficiency!

You aren't really living in this modern age if you still have to hand-light your water heater. The most up-to-date and thoroughly care-free way to insure abundant, clean hot water at any minute is a Gas Automatic Water Heater. No waiting then for water to heat if you want a quick bath or have dishwashing or laundry work to do!

A gas heater is the most efficient automatic hot water system you can own. Thermostat control prevents fuel waste. It uses only enough fuel to keep your hot water supply at just the temperature you prefer. Before spring cleaning gets under way, have installed this efficient helper.

Your Cheapest Method of Water Heating

Because of the low cost of your natural gas service, one of these modern automatic heaters is economical to operate. For instance, one will heat enough water for two hot baths at a cost of only 1 cent!

Your gas appliance dealer or your gas company has wide selections of modern gas appliances. See them. Remember, National Housing Act Loans take in these appliances.

Just What Does It All Mean to Me?

That is the question that naturally comes to your mind when you think of or talk to your neighbors about the rather bewildering activities of the federal government in Washington.

Fragmentary news reports of congressional action or administration policies often are confusing, but if you will read William Bruckart's interpretative WASHINGTON DIGEST, which is published each week in this paper, you will know more about what all the moves on the capital checkerboard mean to you.

Through long service as a Washington correspondent, Mr. Bruckart is particularly well qualified for this particular job. He gives you an illuminating interpretation of what Congress is doing or is expected to do, and what is happening or is expected to happen in other departments of the government.

READ the Bruckart letter every week for an intelligent understanding of what is going on at the national capital.

Eula Locals

Eula, Texas, Jan. 19, 1935
Well, how is The Star force? We are all ok out this way. We had a nice little rain which was a welcome visitor. We need much more, although what we have will help small grain for a few days. Farmers seem to be getting along well with their plowing. There will be quite a lot of small grain in and around Eula this year. We sure hope we will get plenty of rain so we can make a good feed crop for we sure need a feed crop.

I want to congratulate the Commissioners Court and our County Judge for keeping our County Agent, Mr. Jenkins; Also Miss Moore. I think the county agent can do us more good this coming year than he has done in the past. It is to be hoped he wont have to put most of his time in his office this year. We need him out in the country and I know he is to help us all he can. Here's hoping we can make Callahan County one among the best. We have the soil, all we need is the rain and if we get plenty of rain this year we will show old man depression that he cant hold Callahan County under his feet.

Well we have a new bunch of Commissioners to handle our county affairs. All are fine men; now let's all get up behind them and help them all we can, for I know they will be glad to have our help. "Smile and the world will smile with you", as the late Uncle Tom Norrell used to say, we are all humans.

J. A. Nance and W. H. Ferguson and several of the young folks was visiting in Abilene Friday evening.

Mrs. Ethel Cazaux, of Abilene and Mrs. Joe Muth of Lake Charles, L. A. spent Sunday with Mr and Mrs R. P. Stephenson.

This is Sunday night and we have a touch of real winter and by the time this letter reaches the mail box the ground may be covered with white snow, anything to bring more moisture will be ok to everybody.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Farrar have moved to California, where they will make their home.

Well, here's wishing The Star force and every one who reads The Star, a Wonderful Year—1935.

Ransom Notes May Be Death Warrant

EXPERTS ANALYZE KIDNAPER'S NOTES

Compare Handwriting With That of Hauptmann.

By W. C. WEBBER
FLEMINGTON, N. J.—Such seemingly innocent trivialities as failure to dot an "i," cross a "t," the slant of a letter, a hyphen, may prove a deciding factor in sending a man to the electric chair convicted of the crime of murdering little Charles Lindbergh, son of the famous aviator. Those tiny, individual characteristics, which handwriting experts assert are ineradicable in each person's writing, are being fought over point by point, curve by curve, as the state introduces what some observers claim is strong evidence that Bruno Richard Hauptmann, Bronx ex-carpenter, was author of the notes which resulted in payment of the $50,000 ransom money by Dr. J. F. "Jafsie" Condon.

Huge photostatic enlargements of certain words and letters from the ransom letters and from Hauptmann's admitted writings have been hung in the courtroom for the information of the jury. The sheets, each 6 feet in height and 4 feet in width have been tacked to the wall behind the witness chair where the kidnapers' ladder had rested earlier in the trial. The admitted writings and the disputed writings are shown in parallel columns marked "Hauptmann writing" and "ransom notes."

Albert S. Osborn, seventy-six years old and silvery-haired, testified in a clear, resonant voice that it was his opinion the ransom notes were all written by the writer of the various papers signed by Richard Hauptmann, and that all fourteen of the ransom notes were written by the same writer.

Osborn was positive in his statement that Hauptmann penned the notes. The expert proved a good witness, despite his deafness which forced attorneys to speak very loudly when addressing him. He identified himself as an expert in 39 states and in Canada and England, and is the author of two books on the subject of handwriting. In several verbal exchanges with defense attorneys he proved himself more than a match.

In explaining his comparison, Osborn gave an exposition on the general basis for comparison of handwritings. Characteristics in handwriting, he said, are the same as the characteristics of anything else. There are many things by which handwriting might be identified exactly as a man, or an automobile or a horse is identified, by general description, and then by individual marks and scars and by characteristics which in combination make it apparent that they are not the result of accident, he continued.

When pupils learn the same system of writing, if they learn to write perfectly, one writing cannot be distinguished from another, but that does not occur, Osborn pointed out. Writing, he said, begins as an acquired qualification, it is an acquired habit first imitating the forms, and then the forms become more easily made, until finally writing becomes succession of habitual motions. Certain identical habitual motions were to be seen in both the writing on the ransom notes and the accepted writing done by Hauptmann, Osborn declared.

The letter "x" was pointed out at the start. Mr. Osborn showed that it was a clear, open "x," looking more like "ee," and that it wasn't an "x" at all. The "t," he testified, showed decided German characteristics, as did the letters "h" and "a." Hauptmann had a peculiar habit of finishing words in an awkward way with strokes that are too long, Osborn said, and also used a hyphen between the two words in "New York." In the ransom notes, he said, he found only three of the 391 "t's" were crossed, and the same was true of a "very large number" of the samples Hauptmann wrote for the police. Only seven of the small "t's" in the ransom notes were dotted, and the same proportion held true in Hauptmann's admitted writing, Osborn continued, and several sheets did not have a dotted "t" at all.

Another instance of similarity which

Osborn pointed out to the jury was a hyphen used between the two words in "New York." A specimen taken from the writing that was on the sleeping suit wrapper was pointed out as having this characteristic. A photostatic copy of Hauptmann's writing on one of the automobile registrations was then shown by Osborn to have this same name hyphenated.

Other words pointed out by the expert as showing examples of broken English and German spellings in both sets of writings were: "auer" for "our," "aus" for "us," "Wy" for "wy," "note" for "not," "gute" for "good," "ingore" for "ignore," "singature" for "signature" and "hte" for "the."

The expert testified that he had examined about a hundred samples of hand writing which had been brought to him by New Jersey police and federal agents. Among these, he said, were samples of writing by Isadore Fisch, German furrier, who, the state contends, was actually the abductor of the baby. Fisch died later in Germany.

Fisch continues to loom in the background as the defense's chief reliance. In suggesting that Fisch wrote the ransom notes, a spokesman for the prosecution declares that this line of defense will not avail, since it does not take the eye of an expert to see the utter dissimilarity between the neat, flourishing penmanship of Fisch and the scrawl of the ransom notes. It is understood from those who have samples of Fisch's handwriting in their possession that his hand was that of a man who took pride in his penmanship, forming his letters neatly and correctly and dotting all i's and crossing all t's.

The defense has maintained that Fisch is the actual receiver of the ransom money, that it was he who kidnaped the child, and Hauptmann was his wholly unconscious dupe. Hauptmann has declared that he was associated with Fisch in the fur trade, and that he loaned Fisch $7,500 and that Fisch left with him a package which only a few weeks before his arrest, Hauptmann discovered to be the ransom money, the bulk of which was found in his garage. The state holds it can prove that ransom notes were circulated by him many months earlier than last summer, or even last spring.

Relly attempted to show that too few handwriting exhibits had been brought into the courtroom, then opened up a line of questioning designed to force Osborn to admit that a Scandinavian could have written the ransom notes. The expert said there was an essential difference between German and Scandinavian script.

Some connection was seen between this line of questioning and that of Relly when Betty Gow, the baby's nurse, was on the stand, with reference to "Red" Johnson, Norwegian sailor, whom she admitted having told of activities of the Lindbergh household on the day the kidnaping occurred.

Another handwriting expert whose testimony has been unshaken under questioning of Relly is Elbridge W. Stein, who said he had testified in the recent Vanderbilt case in New York as well as the Wendel and Ridley cases. Stein said he had first studied the ransom notes and request writings of Hauptmann in July, 1932, and declared it was his opinion that the same man, Hauptmann, wrote both. He admitted there were differences, but insisted that there were similarities between the spelling in the two sets of writing. Charts and photographs of words taken from the ransom notes and the other writings done by Hauptmann were produced by Stein in support of his statements.

As the hearing progresses, Hauptmann appears to have lost much of the calmness which marked his first appearance in court. The stolidity of the ex-carpenter which was so remarkable when he was identified by both Colonel Lindbergh and Dr. J. F. Condon is not so apparent. Emotions show in his face, although even close watchers admit there has been no sign of fear or alarm among them. Occasionally he talks to his wife in a low voice.

The accused continues to follow each word of the trial with deep interest. He appeared especially interested in the handwriting testimony, craning his neck to see as the expert pointed out on the large chart the similarities between his own and the ransom writing. Colonel Lindbergh, who has been attending all the court sessions, was also absorbed as the experts gave their testimony.

The Man Who Cut the Wires

SOME years ago Pittsburgh was much wrought up over the robbery of a safe belonging to the Union Express company.

One hundred thousand dollars was taken from the receptacle, and no one knew how it had been done.

The safe came into the Union station in the usual manner, locked and guarded, and was conveyed to the office of the company in the custody of armed men.

But the messenger, who was supposed to be in charge of the valuable property, could not be found.

That fact, however, gave a clew upon which the authorities were able to start an investigation.

Thomas Furlong, one of the ablest railroad detectives in the United States, was put upon the case, and the first question he asked was the name of the messenger who had charge of the safe when it left the other end of the line.

That was easily answered. The man was J. J. Bingham, not only a reliable employee, but a brother of the superintendent of the express company.

"Find Bingham," said Furlong, curtly.

He was found very readily at his home and was just as much astonished to hear of the robbery as the officials had been.

But he was able to give Furlong some significant information.

He said that he had received a telegram the day before from his brother, George Bingham, which directed him to look out for the new messenger, "J. C. Brooks."

The telegram added:

"Meet him at Templeton, en route. Turn over cash and valuables to him and take receipt for same. Then report to superintendent at Parkersburg, who will give you further orders."

Obedience to orders was ingrained in J. J. Bingham, and he did exactly what he was told to do in the telegram.

The suspicion that anything was wrong never occurred to him.

The men in the service were used to being shifted at short notice.

He did not find the superintendent at Parkersburg in his office, and had gone home to change his clothes.

The telegram was a forgery.

Detective Furlong made his decision quickly. He determined to go to Templeton to get the lay of the land.

While he was walking around the station he came across a little girl, sitting on a log.

He got into conversation with the child and she remarked that he was not the first stranger that had been in town in the last two days.

Questioned further, she said another man had been there and had torn a sheet of paper into little bits and thrown them behind the station.

By rare good fortune Furlong found the scraps of paper. He got down on his hands and knees and gathered them, and after that he went into the station, and, by the use of nuclage and a fresh sheet, managed to paste them together.

The result was a blank check on a bank at Carlisle.

But that was not all. While Furlong was doing his Sherlock Holmes act he found a little pocket telegraph instrument.

In itself it meant nothing.

In connection with other things it meant everything.

The detective hastened to Carlisle, where he continued his inquiries.

He talked to the station agent and wanted to know if there was a telegraph operator in town.

There was one by the name of Macaulay and only a few days before he had been inquiring where he was likely to obtain a small instrument.

In less than a week Furlong had reconstructed the whole affair.

Macaulay, a shiftless character, needed money.

He conceived the idea of robbing the express company.

Getting his telegraph instrument and ascertaining the name of the messenger who would be on duty with the safe of valuables, he had gone to a lonely spot in the wood near Kittingham.

He cut the wire and connected it with his pocket instrument.

He sent the telegram to Bingham, met him at the appointed place and then proceeded with the safe to Pittsburgh.

Having been given the keys, he opened the safe en route and rifled it of the valuables.

Then he locked it and accompanied it to the Smoky city and saw it loaded on the express wagon and started on its destination, duly guarded.

Before reaching the office he slipped away and disappeared with the loot.

The search for him went almost around the world, and he died before being brought to trial.

FINE RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENT BY 1934 EXPLORERS

The maze of water passages and adjoining islands in Tierra del Fuego, near the southern tip of South America, was explored in 1934, in a 26-foot boat by Amos Burg, on an expedition sent out by the National Geographic Society. Burg also rounded Cape Horn in his small craft.

An expedition of the California Institute of Technology rediscovered a chasm in a mountainous section of Chihuahua, Mexico, comparable in size and grandeur to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. It was known only to Indians and a few miners.

The 17,000-foot twin peaks of Mount Foraker in McKinley national park, Alaska, were sealed for the first time August 6 by Charles Houston, T. Graham Brown, and Chychele Waterston.

Mount Crillon, previously unexplored peak near the Alaskan coast, 100 miles northwest of Juneau, was climbed on July 21 by Bradford Washburn and his Harvard-Dartmouth expedition. The mountain is 12,727 feet high.

In March, Polish explorers, led by M. K. Markiewicz-Jodko, found a new route to the top of 23,038-foot Aconcagua in the Andes, highest mountain in the western hemisphere.

In the Himalayas, F. E. Shipton and companions made the first exploration by westerners of the slopes of Nanda Devi, marking out possible routes for a future attack on the peak itself.

One of the most spectacular archeological discoveries of the year came in March when two French aviators, Capt. Edouard Corniglion-Molinier and Andre Malraux, flew into the interior of Arabia northeast of Yemen and sighted and photographed from the air the ruins of a great city previously unknown to the West.

The remains of seven Mayan cities, one surrounded by a moat, were discovered in northern Guatemala by expeditions of the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

(By REV. F. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

Lesson for February 3

PETER'S RESTORATION

LESSON TEXT—Mark 16:7; Luke 24:34; John 20:1-10; John 21:1-19.

GOLDEN TEXT—He saith unto him the third time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? Peter was grieved because he said unto him the third time, Lovest thou me? And he said unto him, Lord, thou knowest all things; thou knowest that I love thee, Jesus saith unto him, Feed my sheep John 21:17.

PRIMARY TOPIC—When Jesus Helped Peter. TRY AGAIN.

JUNIOR TOPIC—What Peter Learned When He Failed.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How to Prove Our Love for Christ. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Test of Loyalty.

As there were seven definite steps in Peter's downfall, so there are seven definite steps in his restoration. These steps in both his downfall and his restoration were most strikingly presented by G. Campbell Morgan at the Bible conference in Northfield in 1898.

I. Christ's Prayer for Peter (Luke 22:31, 32).

Little did Peter realize the testings through which he would be forced to pass. Christ revealed to him that Satan desired to have him to sift as wheat and informed him that he had already prayed for his abiding faith. We see thus that before Peter fell the Lord began the preparation for his restoration. The Lord knew that soon he would have to announce to him that before the cock crew he would deny him, twice.

II. The Look of Jesus (Luke 22:61, 62).

This look was not one of contempt, but one, doubtless, filled with pity and pain. It revealed the heart of God. It brought to Peter the full consciousness of his cowardice and disloyalty and his blasphemous words of denial, while at the same time displaying Christ's love and pity.

III. Christ's Message Through the Women (Mark 16:7).

The Lord's message was "Go tell my disciples and Peter." Had the message merely been, "Go tell my disciples," Peter would have believed himself not included. The message indicated that Christ had particular consideration for him and loved him still. What new hope filled Peter's heart as he heard this message from the risen Lord is seen in his words: "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which, according to his abundant mercy, hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead" (1 Pet. 1:3).

IV. A Personal Interview With the Risen Lord (Luke 24:34).

The declaration is here made that the risen Lord had appeared to Simon. The nature of the conversation is bidden in mystery. It may be that the Lord reminded him of his boasting self-confidence, his warning himself at the enemies' fire and his blasphemy, but only to assure him of his unchanging love and that the Cross which he shunned was the very means of covering up his grievous sins (Luke 24:34; cf. John 20:1-10).

Peter's Open Confession of Love (John 21:11-17).

The disciples had gone back to their fishing. As they returned weary and hungry Christ invited them to breakfast. In connection with this ministry of providing food and warmth, Jesus, by skillful questions, induced Peter to confess him three times. A vital step in Peter's restoration was his professing anew his love for his Lord. What marvelous grace, that the one who had across the fire of the enemy denied his Lord should now across the fire prepared by the Lord three times confess his love for his Lord.

VI. His Word Given Back (John 21:17, 18).

Instead of putting poor Peter on probation before giving him anything to do, he immediately brought him back into fellowship with his Lord in service. It was because Peter passed satisfactorily the examination and the Lord saw his real love for him that he permitted Peter to begin his work.

VII. Willingness to Suffer for Christ (John 21:18, 19).

While Peter had now openly confessed Christ and had received at the Lord's hands his work, he needed to be made willing to drink the bitter cup of suffering for his Lord. Jesus made it clear to him that he was to follow his Lord in crucifixion. He was now willing to suffer the shame of the cross for the glory of God. Peter, with the other disciples, later counted it joy that they were counted worthy to suffer (Acts 5:41). It was the Cross of Christ over which Peter blundered. After his restoration his greatest happiness was to suffer for Christ's sake.

Meekness

Meekness is more than the absence of self-assertion; it is the manifestation of the mighty power of God.

Noblest Friendship

One of the chief values of a noble friendship is that it keeps one living at his best.

The soul's discovery of God is the greatest moment in the life of any man!

RUG WELL NAMED "BED OF ROSES"

By GRANDMOTHER CLARK

The original rug shown measures 44 inches and requires four pounds of rags to complete. It is braided with three strands, but can be crocheted. A crocheted rug has better wearing properties. Many colors are used in the following combinations: Center circle in white, yellow, red, and black. Three of the outer circles in various rust shades. The other three circles in two shades of blue, and yellow. Outer edge is rose, yellow, black.

This rug shows that beautiful rugs can be made of rags. The regulation or common rag rug is either round or oval, with various color combinations, and when finished has no particular beauty. In making the above "Bed of Roses" rug, make seven small round rugs about twelve inches in diameter, and set together as shown here, then work rows all around to size wanted. It's a different rug and only another idea of what can be made of rags. The best material for making rag rugs is "Linkraft." When using this new material no cutting or matching of sizes is necessary. Linkraft is a round knitted material like jersey. It comes in links about five inches long, but stretches to about nine inches when linked together. These links are to be linked together in solid colors or mixed as desired. Linkraft is very durable, does not fray like rag strips and Linkraft rugs weigh about 20% less than rag rugs.

If you are interested in making rag rugs, send for Grandmother Clark's Book No. 25 on Crocheted and Braided Rugs. Twenty-six rugs are illustrated, with instructions. A wonderful selection to pick from when having a good-looking rug in mind. Send 15c to Rug Department for Book No. 25. Address, Home Craft Company, Dept. "C," Nineteenth & St. Louis Ave., St. Louis, Mo. Enclose stamped addressed envelope when writing for any information.

"Since then I have used six bottles and now I can get up in the morning and eat corned beef and cabbage, my stomach is in such good condition."

Beautiful Berries

WHY not go berrying today? It needn't be a long, hard trip, since your objective need merely be the nearest grocery store. And it needn't be arduous either, as you will find these blackberries, blueberries, gooseberries, loganberries and raspberries all picked and clean and ready to be eaten—in cans.

But the point is how to serve them after you have come back. Here are some ways that we would suggest:

Blackberry Trifle: Spread three-fourths cup cornflakes in the bottom of a well-buttered baking dish and cover with one cup of drained canned blackberries. Sprinkle one-fourth cup sugar over, dot with one tablespoon butter, and cover with another three-fourths cup of cornflakes. Pour in the blackberry syrup, and bake in a moderate—375 degree—oven for thirty minutes. Serves four and has the advantage of costing not more than a quarter.

Tarts and Blanc Mange

Blueberry Tarts: Line tart shells with pastry. Mix two cups canned blueberries, four tablespoons four, one tablespoon sugar and one tablespoon lemon juice, and fill shells with this mixture. Bake in a hot oven—425 degrees—for from fifteen to twenty minutes.

Jellied Blanc Mange: Soften one tablespoon gelatin in four tablespoons cold water. Beat two egg yolks slightly, add six tablespoons sugar, a few grains of salt and two cups scalded diluted evaporated milk. Cook in double boiler until it coats the spoon. Add the gelatin and stir until dissolved. Cool, add one-half teaspoon vanilla and pour into wet molds. Chill. Turn out and pour over one cup cold canned raspberries. Serves six.

And how about loganberry shortcake and the dozens of other dishes you can make with raspberries? Why not go berrying today?
