Young Democrats Being Organized

The Young Democratic drive to mobilize America's 10 million new voters behind the Truman-Barkley ticket moved into high gear today with formation of an advisory campaign committee including 16 prominent young leaders in the Democratic party.

Organization of the committee was announced by Roy G. Baker, of Sherman, Texas, president of the Young Democratic Clubs of America. Vincent M. Gaughan of Buffalo, New York, executive secretary of the organization, has been named chairman of the committee.

Those serving are as follows: Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan, onetime president of the Young Democrats of Colorado; Rep. Lyndon B. Johnson, the Democratic nominee for U. S. Senate from Texas, and Rep. Olin E. Teague of Texas; Gov. John O. Pastore of Rhode Island; Gov. Clarence W. Meadows of West Virginia; Lt. Gov. Elbert N. Carvel of Delaware, Democratic candidate for Governor of Delaware; Mrs. Dorothy M. Vredenburgh, Vredenburgh, Ala., secretary of the Democratic National committee; Robert F. Wagner, Jr., chairman of the New York City Planning Commission; Edmund G. Brown, district attorney of San Francisco, Calif.

Also serving are Miss Margaret Truman, Washington, D. C.; Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y.; Dr. Josephine M. Pisani, co-chairman of the Youth Division of the N. Y. Democratic State committee; Miss Katherine Cullinan, regional director of the Young Democratic Clubs of America, Providence, R. I.; Mrs. Helen Warvel Noland, Indiana representative on the Young Democratic Clubs' National Committee, Bloomington, Ind.; Edward F. Pritchard, Jr., Lexington, Ky., attorney; and Judge William Wehrman, Covington, Ky.

"This committee of outstanding young men and women in the Democratic party has accepted our invitation to advise our organization in the task of carrying the Democratic party's message to the young men and women of America during these next trying weeks of the campaign," Baker said today.

"We of the Young Democratic Clubs intend to explain the Democratic principles and record to young voters in every county in the United States, and we are confident that an overwhelming majority of them will support the Truman-Barkley ticket and Democratic candidates for Congress Nov. 2," Baker added.

"Young Americans know that only through the Democratic party do they have a guarantee of a sound and years ahead—that a stable American economy is the key to world peace. Governor Dewey to date has failed to offer any evidence that the Republicans will act to insure our nation against inflation. He has offered nothing but platitudes; and action, not platitudes, is what young America demands today," continued the 33-year-old Texas attorney who is directing the most comprehensive campaign ever staged by the Young Democrats.

Complete campaign books for Young Democratic leaders have already been dispatched to 3,500 county and college clubs throughout the nation. The books contain instructions for mobilizing the youth vote for the Democratic party, with sample pamphlets, radio recordings and scripts, and speeches designed for young voters.

Those who will cast their first ballots Nov. 2 are getting special attention from the Democratic party's official youth organization. The "YD'er" will be made available to each first voter in the nation, as will a certificate prepared by the Young Democrats to recognize those who have reached voting age.

Town Board Favors Christmas Tree

At a meeting of the Town Board of Hope held last Thursday night, all those present expressed themselves as being in favor of having a Christmas tree and Santa Claus this year. This will be taken up at the November meeting. Those present at the board meeting were Jess Musgrave, S. C. Lovejoy and Chester Teague.

"My Husband Was a Sleeping Pill Addict." "Please God, take him away before he hurts someone else besides himself." This was the prayer of a young wife whose dream of romance was turned into a nightmare by the devil's capsules. Don't miss this revealing story in the American Weekly that great magazine distributed with next Sunday's Los Angeles Examiner.—Adv.

Joe Parker from Lordsburg was here over the week end visiting Mr. and Mrs. Orland Parker and family.

Stassen to Speak in Carlsbad Saturday

Harold E. Stassen, a prominent figure in the Republican party, will speak at Carlsbad Saturday night at 8 p. m. Mr. Stassen will be accompanied by General Patrick J. Hurley and Albert Mitchell, Republican National Committeemen.

Among the candidates who will be with Stassen are General Patrick J. Hurley, candidate for U. S. Senate. Manuel Lujan, candidate for governor, Ben F. Meyer and Herman Baca, candidates for Congress, Andrew Hendricks, candidate for Lt. Governor and Mrs. E. L. Moulton, national committeewoman. The meeting will be held at 8 p. m. at the Senior High School and will be broadcast on a statewide hookup at 8:30.

Uncle Sam Says

Once again we salute our Newspaper boys, honoring their thrift and enterprise. Nearly 500,000 of these boys are carrying on that sense of duty and responsibility which brings the papers to our door every day in the year. These nephews of mine are training for success, and a part of that training is in thrift. Last year, newspaper boys enrolled in Newspaper Thrift Clubs invested $2,000,000 in U. S. Savings Bonds. These bonds will pay them $4 for every $3 invested ten years hence. Every bond is guaranteed as the safe investment for everyone.

Obscene Literature

There has in past been several campaigns against obscene magazines being sold in drug stores and newsstands. This crusade against rotten literature should also include certain books that appear on the shelves of public libraries. One of these books is entitled "Such As We," by Pierre Scenei. It is just plain rotten and should be consigned to the nearest junk pile and burned, the sooner the better. People harp about what the younger generation is doing, but what is there to be done about it when books like the one above mentioned are allowed to be in circulation.

Truckload of Fruit Overtaken in Fog

A truckload of fruit overturned in a heavy fog on State Highway 83 last Saturday night, 13 miles west of Artesia. The truck driver, Marvin G. Prindle, 48, of Seagraves, Texas, was uninjured. The accident occurred on a sharp curve. The fog was so heavy that Prindle could not see more than 30 feet ahead. Prindle ran off the road while driving at a speed of 20 miles an hour and the truck turned over on its side when the driver tried to turn it back on the road. Before a wrecker reached the truck, someone stole a tire and tube from it. Prindle had bought the fruit near Weed and Mayhill and was returning to Seagraves.—Current-Argus.

Demo Candidates Continue Tour

Senator A. Ben Barkley, Democratic candidate for Vice President, was campaigning in New Mexico this week, stopping briefly in Albuquerque, and appearing at a mass meeting in Clovis. He delivered the principal address of the evening at the Clovis rally, praising the state administration of Governor Mabry and the fine work of Clinton Anderson as Secretary of Agriculture. Barkley's speech was broadcast over a state wide radio network. Anderson, Mabry and other state candidates were at Clovis with Barkley on Wednesday, Oct. 13.

Governor Mabry will be the principal speaker at a rally in Lordsburg on Thursday, Oct. 14. The mass meeting will be held at the City Hall, starting at 8 p. m. With Mabry will be Lieutenant Governor Joseph M. Montoya, also a candidate for re-election on the Democratic ticket; John E. Miles, candidate for Congress; Charles L. Rose, candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction; Dan Sedillo, and Ingram B. Pickett, candidates for Corporation Commissioners.

On Friday, Mabry and his group will be in Silver City for a Rally in the court room at the Court House, starting at 8 p. m. Mabry will also be on the air with a 15-minute broadcast over KSIL at 5:15 p. m.

On Saturday, Oct. 16, Governor Mabry will deliver the Governor's Day address at the Luna County Fair in Deming. A parade through the business section of Deming will precede the Governor's Day activities, at which the Governor will also award prizes to winners in 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America competitions.

A day of relaxation at the races in Silver City is on the program for the Governor and his group Sunday, Oct. 17. On Monday Mabry and his party will resume their campaigning with a meeting in Hatch at the American Legion Hall starting at 8 p. m.

On Tuesday, Oct. 19, Mabry, Miles, and other candidates will be in Las Cruces for a Rally at the County Court House, starting at 8 p. m. The Governor will be on the air at 8 p. m. over KOBE, Las Cruces, KAVE, Carlsbad, KSIL Silver City and KR0D El Paso, Texas.

On Wednesday Mabry and his party will be in Roswell for a rally at the Junior High School Auditorium at 8 p. m. The Governor will also speak over KGFL, time of the broadcast to be announced later.

Clinton P. Anderson, Democratic Candidate for U. S. Senator, will be in Taos for a rally on Thursday, Oct. 14. With Anderson will be Rep. Antonio M. Fernandez, candidate for re-election to Congress; Mrs. Alice Romero, candidate for Secretary of State; H. R. Rodgers, candidate for State Treasurer; Guy Shepard, candidate for Commissioner of Public Lands; and Joe L. Martinez, candidate for Attorney General.

Anderson and his party will move to Raton on Friday, Oct. 15 for a meeting in the Court Room at 8 p. m. Another meeting will be held on Raton East Side, which will be followed by a free dance.

Anderson and his group will be in Union County on Saturday, Oct. 16, visiting a number of towns en route to Clayton for another rally. On Sunday, Anderson will be in Mora County for visits at several towns, and Harding County will be the scene of Monday's campaigning with visits to Roy and Mosquero for night rallies.

School News

The Freshman girls who are in Home Ec are going to give a skating party Friday. The whole class is very prompt about bringing their class dues every month. We hope to start entertaining very soon.

7th and 8th Grade News—Jerry Dugman has been absent from school for several days. We do not have an excuse for him. We plan on giving a hobby fair soon. We had our six weeks test this past week. It wasn't as tough as we thought it would be. J. C. Blakeney was absent from school Monday.

3rd and 4th Grades—We want to say "Thank You" to Mrs. Floyd Greene for the delicious cookies that she sent to our room Friday. The pupils were pleasantly surprised. The pupils studied hard for their sixth week tests. The 3rd grade pupils who made 100 in spelling every week for six weeks were: Phyllis Bush, Melissa Mae Jones, Betty Madron, Bobby Parker, Barbara Seeley, Exa Ann Teel, Alice Wilkinson, and Patsy Young.

The 4th grade pupils who made 100 in spelling for six weeks were: George Chalk, Peggy Clements and Gary Crockett. We have studied time telling on our cardboard clock this week. We have decorated our room for Halloween. We had perfect attendance last week. Gary Crockett celebrated his 10th birthday Tuesday by his mother, Mrs. Guy Crockett, giving him a birthday party at school. All of the pupils enjoyed the nice refreshments. Many happy returns of the day, Gary.

5th and 6th Grade News—In geography class this week we are visiting the New England states. We are pretending we are making the trip by airplane, car and boat. We are learning about fishing, whaling, commerce and shipbuilding. Patsy Wells has gone on a trip to Oklahoma and Texas with her parents. She will be gone for two weeks. We received our report cards Wednesday. Some of us were happy and some of us were disappointed. We have all agreed to work harder the next six weeks. The 5th and 6th grade boys are anxious to start practicing basketball.

2nd Grade News—Report cards came out Wednesday and some of our Mamas were disappointed. But we had forgotten so much during the summer months that it was almost like beginning again. Now you should see the A's going down in the grade book since we have our new readers. It helped us a great deal to review those first grade books. And now that we can write most of the letters we are using our speller. We are most excited about getting stars each Friday. Mrs. Young wishes she could have samples of our writing put in the paper.

1st Grade News—Jeri Lynn, George and Barry have been losing teeth and George had to be vaccinated again. The fairies didn't dance on his arm long enough. All of us have new puzzle books which we try so hard to keep looking nice. Some of our Mamas will be so surprised when they see 100 written on each page. We began writing and phonics this week. This writing is really fun. We like it best of all. Come to see our black cats and orange pumpkins.

'Starter' Fertilizer Boosts Tomato Yield
Best Results Obtained With Cannery Produce

Tomato yields have been increased greatly by scientists who used starter solutions at transplanting time. Completely soluble, high analysis fertilizers now are available which will make excellent "starter" or transplanting solutions for cannery tomatoes, according to the New York state experiment station.

One of the best of three new formulas is a 15-30-14 combination of chemically pure ingredients which dissolves completely in water, thus avoiding the time and trouble of straining out the insoluble residue which results if ordinary fertilizers are used for this purpose. Excellent results may be obtained from using the 15-30-14 formula at the rate of four pounds to 50 gallons of water, or 10 pounds to a 5-10-5 to the same amount of water.

The solution is applied at transplanting time at the rate of one-fourth pint to the plant. Increased yields of a ton and a half of tomatoes are not uncommon from the use of these solutions, which cost less than $1 an acre for materials. The beneficial effects are especially marked at the first picking of cannery tomatoes. Market gardeners are not likely to find the practice so beneficial because of the more intensive fertilization of their land and the better nourished plants they usually employ.

Use of Weed Killer Boosts Corn Yield
2,4-D Spray Increases Output by 18 Bushels

First large-scale experiment using butyl ester of 2,4-D for control of weeds in corn fields has definitely proven the chemical to be unharmed to corn and has resulted in increased yields up to 18 bushels per acre, a check on a number of Henderson, Ky., farms indicate.

Applied to some 18,000 acres at a cost of less than $10,000, 2,4-D has given credit for saving the last corn crop in that section.

Fields treated with 2,4-D and later cultivated yielded 86.8 bushels of corn per acre as against a yield of 68.68 bushels per acre for a comparable field which had only been cultivated.

The fields checked had been sprayed with butyl ester of 2,4-D applied by a low-gallonage method requiring less than a pint of the weed-killer to five gallons of water per acre.

The increased yield in fields sprayed was attributed to the greatly lowered weed population. Similar beneficial results can be achieved by hand hoeing for weed control but the high cost of hand-hoeing makes this method impractical in most cases.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Western Allies Place Berlin Issue Before U.N. as Negotiations Fail; Two Unions Barred From A-Plants

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

'BLACK FURY': Peace Threat

There was no war in sight, yet the East-West situation was starkly dangerous.

It was dangerous for the United States, Great Britain, France and Russia—and for the United Nations which now had to thrust its hands into the tangled skein of diplomatic threads and try to straighten out the snarls.

PRACTICALLY no optimism existed among U. N. delegations in Paris. There was no reason for any.

The United States, Britain and France had broken off negotiations with Russia over blockaded Berlin and referred the issue to the U. N. security council as a threat to peace.

No hint of appeasement appeared in the western nations' attitude. They said they would reserve to themselves the full right to take whatever measures were necessary to maintain their position in Berlin while referring the case to the U. N.

BRITISH FOREIGN Secretary Ernest Bevin told the U. N. general assembly that Russia would be to blame if a "black fury," the incalculable disaster of atomic war, strikes the world.

Immediate cause of this inflamed condition in Europe was the blatant bad faith exercised by the Soviets during the 59-day series of talks in Moscow between the three western ambassadors and Stalin and Molotov.

After the three ambassadors, Smith of the U. S., Roberts of England and Chataigneau of France, had left the Soviet capital the western allies made public a 24,000-word "white paper" charging the Russians with wenching on a secret agreement by Stalin to lift the Berlin blockade.

WHEN THE western nations discovered the disillusioning fact that Russia was literally trying to pull a fast one in order to gain control of Berlin, further direct negotiation was patently useless. Thus, the issue was turned over to the security council.

Not that anyone hoped the security council would be able to take any effective action. The Russian veto probably would nullify any efforts it might make.

MOTIVES: Russian

Washington believes the crisis centering in Berlin will continue at fever pitch at least until next spring—provided it does not explode into total war before then.

It is a bad outlook, of course, from the U. S. viewpoint. But for the Russians the coming six months loom as a golden opportunity to expand their power in Europe and throughout the world.

THEY WILL be able to do this, they believe, because American efforts and sentiment will be divided and weakened by the election campaign.

Official Soviet attitude is that American leaders will be so immersed in domestic affairs that they will be able to give only a fraction

Futility Unlimited

These are the three western ambassadors to Russia who engaged in six weeks of rigorous but unavailing diplomatic fencing with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov on the subject of Germany and the Berlin blockade. They were able to accomplish nothing and finally left Moscow to report to the heads of their respective governments. Left to right are: Yves Chataigneau, France; Walter Bedell Smith, U. S.; and Frank Roberts, Great Britain.

of their time to consideration of international developments.

That's why the Russians are trying to shoot the works now. It is why they saw fit to make the virtually impossible demand for control of all traffic—land, air and water—between Berlin and western Germany as one of the conditions for lifting the blockade which has throttled the German capital since June.

WHAT IS IT the Russians want so badly that they are willing to risk an atomic war to get?

Briefly, they want to get the U. S. out of Europe, and that means nothing else but that they want to control Europe themselves.

The Kremlin, some time ago, rejected a proposal that Russia and the western allies stabilize their military and political positions roughly along the lines that existed immediately after the war.

ACCORDING TO the Russian plan for domination of Europe, that arrangement would be no good because the Soviets fear the West would gain and they would lose too much.

With American help, western Europe could consolidate and strengthen its position and possibly prosper to the extent that Russia's situation in the East would be endangered. Moreover, the Soviet satellites, influenced by a free and thriving West, would be difficult to control.

IN THE RUSSIAN mind it follows, then, that America must be driven out, the European recovery program destroyed and the whole of Europe reduced to such a state of disorder and poverty that it would be unable to resist Russian demands.

ANYTHING NEW Cooler Crisis

HOTTEST QUESTION of the month in Washington for a while was not "Who will win the election?" It was not "Will we get into war?"

It was a question of who ordered 96 gleaming, new 1948 model refrigerators installed in the offices of every one of the United States senators.

Government workers were busily engaged in clamping the refrigerators to the office floors (at an estimated cost of well above $10,000) before anybody thought to ask who had conceived this ingenious scheme.

THE PROJECT called for moving refrigerators into the offices of senators who never before had had them and putting new ones into those senatorial sanctums that already were equipped with old ones.

It was a clear case of higher standards of living for solons.

Senate appropriations committee staff-members denied they had approved any appropriation for senatorial refrigerators, said furthermore that there was no record of any such appropriation.

RANKING NEXT to the riddle of who put the refrigerators there was the question of why a senator should need a refrigerator in the first place.

Somebody said maybe they were intended to replace the pigeonhole as convenient spots to keep legislation proposed by the President on ice.

NO ATOMS: Two Unions

Morally afraid of skulduggery at the atomic crossroads, the government has acted to bar unions whose officers refuse to take the non-Communist oath from its atom bomb plants.

SPECIFICALLY, the atomic energy commission issued an order telling two CIO unions to keep out of atomic installations—the CIO United Electric Workers and the CIO United Public Workers.

The action came on the heels of congressional charges that a network of Soviet spy rings tried during the war to dig up atomic secrets.

Also, the atomic energy commission said, other unions from now on will be recognized officially as qualified to work in atom plants only if they can qualify for certification by the national labor relations board.

Said David E. Lilienthal, chairman of the commission, all atomic energy facilities must be operated "in a manner best calculated to assure that those who participate in the program are loyal to the United States.

Rose Bushed

No one has yet counted up all the "Tokyo Roses," but it seems like there's one behind every bush. Latest of these is California-born Mrs. Iva Togury D'Aquino, whom the U. S. government charges with being one of Japan's most ardent wartime radio propagandists. She was brought here to stand trial for treason.

WHIZ: Rocket Plane

It wasn't the sort of subject that Stuart Symington cared to be very specific about, but the air secretary did hint in an Air Force association speech that the U. S. X-1 rocket-powered research plane might have blasted through the air at a speed of from 860 to 1,000 miles an hour.

SYMINGTON MADE this startling semi-disclosure in an off-hand manner. Enumerating achievements by the air force during the past year, he made mention of "an airplane flying hundreds of miles faster than the speed of sound, which is 760 miles per hour at sea level."

AS ORIGINALLY designed, the X-1 was supposed to reach a speed of 1,107 miles an hour at 40,000 feet altitude and 1,700 miles an hour at 80,000 feet.

AS FAR AS is known, only two X-1 type planes now are in operation by the government—one by the air force and the other by the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

Five other X-1 models are on order, and a new and drastically different design, the X-4, is awaiting trial flight.

BIG LIFT: To Berlin

Despite the smug Russian belief that Berlin could not be supplied from the air, the American air lift to the blockaded German capital has been spectacularly successful.

DURING THE first 90 days of the great aerial portage American transport planes flew more than 200,000 tons of food, fuel and medicine into Berlin since the Soviets clamped on their blockade in mid-June.

Air force headquarters at Wiesbaden said its planes had flown more than 15 million miles, through good weather and bad, along the narrow air corridors from the western zone of Germany to keep the heart of Berlin's isolated western sector beating.

IN THE FIRST 90 days 22,846 flights were made, with the air cargo including 125,608 tons of coal, 68,142 tons of food and 7,748 tons of other necessary items.

A typical 24-hour period in the air lift has about 400 flights carrying more than 3,000 tons of supplies into the besieged city.

EXPORTS: Up or Down?

Predictions by the department of agriculture that U. S. grain exports during the current crop year may top last year's record by nearly four million tons was expected to give rise to a cabinet tiff over how much grain should be shipped overseas.

There are two schools of thought. Charles F. Brannon, secretary of agriculture, favors increasing exports to prevent possible surpluses in the U. S. that might lead to an expensive price support program.

SECRETARY OF Commerce Charles W. Sawyer, on the other hand, insists that grain shipments should be cut to a minimum in order to keep food prices down in this country. He argues, also, that Europe would be better off to use its dollars for industrial machinery rather than food.

According to the agriculture department, the world's big exporting countries probably will have about 10 per cent more grain to spare this year than in 1947-48 when exports topped 34.6 million tons.

THE DEPARTMENT added that the U. S. "is again likely to provide nearly half of the total world trade."

Last year the United States exported slightly more than 15 million tons—nearly 44 per cent of all the grain exported.

Better Care, Feeding Increase Hog Profits

Improved Rations and Cleanliness Stressed

Extra care for the brood sow and her litter, with emphasis on cleanliness and better feeding, will assure extra profits whether the herd includes one sow or a hundred.

Proof of that assertion is contained in the experience of Joseph O'Bryan of Hiatville, Kas., nationally-known breeder and exhibitor of purebred Hampshires, who raises about 3,000 hogs a year, most of them for market.

Although O'Bryan raises hogs on a wholesale scale, he keeps his operation on an individual farm basis as a means of insuring proper care. A program of better care and better feeding for sows and their litters, introduced on his farms in the fall of 1947, already has paid dividends, O'Bryan reports. With 100 litters last spring, he raised as much pork as he formerly raised from 150.

Early in the gestation period sows were given a special ration of 80 per cent oats, 5 per cent meat scrap, 4 per cent pelleted milk product and the balance either corn or wheat. Sows were sprayed and washed thoroughly prior to farrowing. Clean pens and a brooder for the little pigs also were provided. The sow's ration was changed when the pigs were about two weeks old, cutting down oats to about 40 per cent and increasing portions of wheat or corn.

At less than two weeks of age little pigs were started creep feeding in a low pan or trough. Their ration consisted of 80 per cent oats, 4 per cent meat scrap, 8 per cent pelleted milk product and the balance course wheat. Pans and troughs were washed and disinfected regularly. As the little pigs grow, oats in the ration is reduced while corn or wheat is increased to about 70 to 80 per cent.

Summarizing the program, O'Bryan maintains that he had much stronger pigs at birth, with earlier, faster and cheaper gains and a marked reduction in mortality.

'Police Force'

Plenty of organic matter is a good "police force" for ridding soil of bacteria that cause diseases of growing crops. R. C. Thomas, associate pathologist of the Ohio agricultural experiment station, estimates that 50 million bacteria live in a single ounce of soil. Some of these are beneficial. Others are harmful to crops. The good kind rot the organic matter and release plant nutrients to build a fertile soil. The harmful kind cause plant disease.

Adding organic matter to soil will help increase the good kind and at the same time cut down the harmful bacteria population. Adding organic matter makes the soil a better home for the good kind so they flourish and grow. Extracts from organic matter contain viruses that make disease-causing bacteria harmless to plants.

A good soil management program will increase the soil's organic matter supply and help free the land of disease-causing bacteria.

Automatic Egg Washer

Prof. F. B. Wright demonstrating the new egg washing machine developed at Cornell university. The device makes it possible for two persons to wash, dry and pack five cases of eggs an hour, five times as fast as the same jobs could be done by hand. As most poultrymen and their wives spend from two to four evenings a week cleaning eggs by hand, this machine will result in a big saving in time.

This is Humphrey Radiantfire Circulator Model 40C—the medium size. Note how the radiant heat—just like heat from the sun—pours out through the open front while warm air rises from the grille at the top to circulate throughout the room, carrying warmth and comfort to every corner.

HUMPHREY RADIANTFIRE

Circulator

The Humphrey Radiantfire Circulator is beautiful. It's the kind of heater you will be proud to have in your home. Decidedly modern appearance and rich finish, with just enough chrome trim for sparkling good taste, make it the finest looking space heater on the market.

But beauty is not the whole Humphrey story... The Radiantfire Circulator gives you healthful, economical heat at the touch of a match. First, radiant heat pours through the open front to warm cold floors and the lower levels of the room. Then, warm air circulates through the grille at the top, carrying comfort to every corner of the room. The gas fuel makes it clean and odorless. And all this wonderful comfort costs just a few cents an hour.

A Humphrey Radiantfire Circulator is just the thing for a chilly room, a summer cottage, or even small homes. Come in today and see the wonderful things a Humphrey Radiantfire Circulator can do for you.

SCRIPTURE: Leviticus 19:1-18; Deuteronomy 5-6; Matthew 22:34-40.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalms 19:1-14.

Life and Law
Lesson for October 17, 1948

YOU, friend reader, probably know less about what is in the books of Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers and Deuteronomy than any other part of the Bible. These are the sections mostly filled with laws—“Thou shalt . . . Thou shalt not.” You either skip these entirely or you say to yourself, “Well, that has nothing to do with me.” If so, you have been missing one of the most interesting sections of the Bible.

Dr. Foreman

The Living Soul of Law

THERE are two ways of looking at any law, or you might say there are two sides of every law, the inside and the outside, the soul and the body as it were. The body, the outside, is the letter of the law; the inside or soul of the law is the spirit or principle of the law.

The body of the law, like the body of a man, dies; it is not intended to live on and on. But the soul of the law (if it has one; some don't) lives forever.

Take, for instance, that law in Lev. 19:9, 10. The body of it, the letter, says: Do not be efficient in getting in your crops. Leave some wheat in the field. Leave some grapes on the vine.

Today that sounds rather stupid, on the face of it, and no good farmer would pay attention to it. But look at the spirit of that law: the wheat and the grapes were to be left for “the poor and the stranger.” There was then no Red Cross, no bureau of displaced persons, no traveler's aid, no family service, no social security, none of our many modern agencies for the underprivileged. Those who had property were bidden to have a care for those who had none.

The duty of society to see that no one starves, the duty of all to help those in need, that is the living soul of this law, and it still breathes in laws of the 20th century—laws of old age assistance, maternity assistance, pension plans and so forth.

The living soul of the Old Testament laws can be expressed this way: The love of justice and the justice of love. The best and wisest laws today are those which give this same spirit its fullest and most practical form.

Jesus' Last Word

THE Jews figured out that there were in all 613 separate commandments in all the laws combined. They used to have interesting debates as to which was the most important.

They came to Jesus with that well-worn question. Jesus quoted only two laws, one from Deut. 6:5 and the other from Lev. 19:18. Love God, love your neighbor, he said. All the other laws depend on these two.

To this day, Christian thinkers are not entirely agreed as to just how far Old Testament laws may be binding on Christians. But all are agreed on two points: The basic principle of these laws is always good, and that fundamental principle is love.

Love Is Not Repealed

THIS is what Christians mean when they say that the laws of God are eternal. We do not mean that every law between the covers of the Bible can and should be used as the law of our land today.

What we do mean is that the spirit of these laws is immortal, for the spirit is love, and love never has been repealed.

Show me a law which helps the strong at the expense of the weak, a law which encourages cheating and selfishness and fighting, and I will show you a bad law. Show me a law which encourages and helps men to deal fairly with one another and to live together in peace, and I will show you a good law. Every law that helps you love your neighbor is a good law; indeed there is something divine about it, for God is Love.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

How to Find God

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.
By KATHLEEN NORRIS

“IN THESE frightening times,” writes Betty McCoy from Salt Lake City, “I want to find God, for myself and for my children. It is terrifying to have to bring them up in a world where everything is so difficult and so uncertain.

“Life must have been safer and simpler a few generations ago, but all that science has done, in demolishing time, space, domestic drudgery and epidemics, in providing inexhaustible entertainment, motor cars, telephones, electric equipment, radio, is to have complicated the whole scheme and made things worse than ever.

“Gene and I,” the letter continues, “have no foolish hope of making the future secure for the children, or attempting to predict what the future will be. What we hope now is to prepare them for whatever may come, and have them accept it courageously. And if we, and they, could find God, would that not be the greatest of all possible safeguards?”

Church Has No Meaning.

“I don't mean just going to church and Sunday school,” writes Betty, “I've had that, and it never has meant anything to me. My people, and Gene's too, were religious in a lifeless, polite sort of way, and they weren't one bit better than the neighbors who never went near a church. My brothers are good men and successful men, and they long ago dropped all pretense of believing in anything spiritual, or rather believing in the churches as necessary.

“But they, like my husband, do actually believe in God, though they don't say much about it. What puzzles us is what to give, what to tell our children, who are now 8, 6, and 2. If we are going to tell them the story of a Leader Whose law is love, forgiveness, meekness, sharing, then how can we defend our own lives or all the lives of the other church-going people who give an hour a week to a sort of courtesy call on God, and show absolutely no difference in any other way, going right on with law suits, scandals and money-seeking materialism?”

Betty, the answer is as simple as sunlight, as simple as the rolling waves of the sea. But just because it is so near, so tremendous and so easy, it is hard to find, and every human soul must make that search alone. If we had had better leaders, all during the long years since Jesus Christ preached His doctrine, we should not be so puzzled now.

A Worthwhile Speaker.

One of the country's most distinguished advisers on matters social and psychopathic talks on the radio sometimes in the late afternoons. All I know of him is that he is a scientist, a lecturer, a teacher and a writer on this subject. He is always worth hearing, and one thing he said recently especially impressed me. He said that America must not forget that in all her history she has had one mighty ally, the one whose guidance has made her what she is.

That ally is God. His name is incorporated in our great documents of state, the Constitution, the Bill of Rights, our legal contracts, our court oaths. We turned to Him in our very beginnings and we are not ashamed to state on the very currency for which men work, that our trust was in Him. If we leave Him out of our future national and international dealings, we are cheating our children indeed.

And the way to find Him? The old way, the old promise. Ask and ye shall receive.

AROUND THE HOUSE

To keep straw hats clean, flick occasionally with a clean cloth or brush lightly with a clothes brush. This prevents dust from accumulating in the weave crevices.

Drop cookies may often be flattened with the tines of a fork; just press fork in two directions, making a crisscross pattern.

Ash trays should be emptied and washed each night before closing up the house. This prevents a stale, musty odor the following day.

Grapefruit juice may be combined with ginger ale and ice for a cooling drink.

Be sure to skim all the fat from the drippings of a lamb or mutton roast before you make the gravy. Then you'll have the flavor of meat without the strong fat flavor.

Butter needs protection from air, from light and from evaporation of its moisture in order to keep its fresh taste and texture. The paraffined carton does a fine job of performing these duties.

Strangers in Love

By Vina Delmar

Kathleen Manners, on her way to marry her fiancé, Martin, meets and falls in love with fascinating Johnny Virginia, whom she marries upon her arrival in Los Angeles. She keeps details of the marriage secret, leading her mother to believe she married Martin. However, when her mother drops in for an unexpected visit a showdown is inevitable. The two women go to the race track where Medicine Man, running in the big race, falls, throwing his jockey, Rickey, who is killed. Johnny is forced to kill his horse. He is upset when Kathleen does not stay with him and leaves her. Mrs. Manners is concerned at learning the circumstances of her daughter's marriage.

CHAPTER VIII

He hardly turned his head as she approached, but he knew that it was she. "Oh, hello," he said.

"Hello, Johnny."

He was standing at the rail with a stop watch in his hand. His eyes were squinted, staring through the blue shadows at a horse and rider that seemed gigantic, black figures against the sky. "What do you want?"

"I want to tell you that you've had me wrong. That I want to go with you wherever you're going; that I'll take the bad with the good, and never cry if only I'm with you."

He looked at the stop watch and frowned out at the horse and rider. "Take him back to the three-quarter pole," he yelled at the rider.

"Johnny, I love you. I don't care what's ahead for us, if only—"

The stop watch clicked. Johnny glanced at it, and called to the exercise boy, "Cool him out."

"Johnny, I—"

"Oh, go home, will you?"

His black eyes blazed as he looked at her. "I'm working can't you see that? I'm busy. Don't you have any sense? Make me tell you the truth. All right, then, I will. I'd never intended to take you to Saratoga. I couldn't take you to Saratoga. We had to be quits before I got there."

She stood staring up into his angry face. "Tell me why you couldn't take me to Saratoga."

"Because of a good reason. I have a home in Saratoga, and somebody in it. Do you see now?"

She nodded her head solemnly, but her heart had taken a sudden, wild leap of hope. "You love her, Johnny? Better than you love me?"

"I wasn't tired of her in six months like I am of you."

"I understand everything now, Johnny. It's all right. Don't mind about anything. I won't bother you any more." She stood staring into the blue shadows. "I see your money difficulties, too. Medicine Man's insurance won't keep that Saratoga woman forever, will it?"

He lit a cigarette and flipped the match away from him. "I owe that to a gambling house," he said. "So what?"

"So nothing, Johnny—only, that I'd like to ask who's wearing the old school tie now. Who's got a silly head full of collegian ideals?"

His eyes were hard. "What do you mean?"

"I mean you. A woman in Saratoga! Johnny, heroics like that are worthy of the kindergarten. Trying to make me run out on you because you're broke. You can't do it, darling. Trying to stuff me off on Mother, who'll be kind to me, give me a good home, and in time find me another Martin. You can't do it."

He drew deeply upon his cigarette. "You're such a fool to torture yourself when we were so happy together."

"We were happy in the big money. Things are different—"

"We were happy because we had each other. Can't you see that?"

"You don't know what it's like to be broke," he said.

The Virginias Get Together

"Yes, I do. It makes you learn to do the toughest things and like it. It makes you brave and more able than the next fellow. It makes you understand how other people think and feel. It makes you big enough to do things like turning Medicine Man's insurance money over to Rickey McAvoy's mother."

"Who ever said—?"

"Not a soul, Johnny, and no one will ever say it again. I just worked it out on the 'where-else-would-I-be' principle. I know there are things you just wouldn't do. I've really gotten to know you."

"Maybe you have. But I'm still wondering about you. Don't you know that well-brought-up girls don't come chasing after men who have deserted them? It simply isn't done."

"But I did it, Johnny."

"Yeah," he sighed. "I'm licked. Come on, headache, where do we go from here?" And, as he stooped to kiss her, she saw that suddenly he wasn't a stranger . . .

The Virginias were back in their box at the race track. People noticed and whispered. It was the first time they'd been there since the day Johnny Virginia's horse and rider were killed. They had taken it to heart, too. They looked different. Not that they weren't always unfriendly and solemn-faced, but they looked like people who had been hit with a hammer and were just regaining consciousness.

"There's nothing wrong with them that a few winners wouldn't cure," people in the know whispered together. "When that horse fell down, it took fifty thousand dollars with it that Johnny was counting on. He wasn't smart enough to beat that race. Old Lady Luck handed him an ace of Spades for a change. Maybe it'll do him good."

"I don't know. He's not a bad guy. There was a day in Florida he staked me when I was awful hard up."

"Who? Virginia? I thought he had ice water instead of blood."

The others turned to look in amazement at one of their group.

He was back in little more than an hour. The horses were at the post for the fifth race when he slid into the chair beside her.

who had seen a softer Johnny Virginia than anyone knew existed.

"Yeah. He staked me. I just walked up and braced him for a hundred. He didn't ask a question, just handed it over. He's seen me a million times since and always says 'Hi' but never stops to talk. Don't seem to want his dough back, either. I owed a feed bill and room rent. I'd never have gotten out if it hadn't been for Johnny Virginia."

Johnny Hears Some Good News

"Well, he knew you were another trainer just like himself."

"Yeah? That's really a compliment. When I get results like Virginia—"

The old trainer stood staring up at the box where the Virginias sat. "I oughtn't to tell him," he murmured. "Why should I be so generous? I've got a dozen friends and I can't tell them all, but gee, he sure was swell in Florida."

And after a while he walked up the steps and down the passageway and stood in front of the box where Johnny Virginia sat with the pretty girl he had married. "Hello, Virginia; remember me?"

Johnny Virginia nodded. "I remember," he said briefly.

"I remember, too," the trainer said. "Look, Virginia. Put your ear down a minute."

"I'm using it up here," Johnny told him.

"I want to give you something you'll never get unless I give it to you."

Johnny bent toward him. "In the fifth race, there's a horse named Rifeman," the trainer whispered. "He's mine. I'm dropping him into a forty-five hundred-dollar claiming race and he's going to walk in. He's handicap material, but no one knows what his workouts have been. He doesn't belong with that bunch of bums, but no one knows it except me and you. The horse'll be a good price and he'll win in a gallop. Get your bet down."

"Thanks," Johnny said. "Debt squared?" asked the other anxiously.

"Too early to say."

"Virginia, it's in the bag. The workouts have left the track sizzling. See you later."

The trainer moved with the crowd that passed the box on its continued move to and from the betting machines. Johnny turned to Kathleen. "Give me your ring," he said quietly. He glanced at the clock on the tote board. "Fifth race. Sure I can make it. Put your hand down between the chairs and I'll slide the ring off. . . . There; I've got it. You don't mind, do you?"

"Of course not, Jimmy."

"You'll have another one just like it some day."

"It doesn't matter, Johnny."

He was back in little more than an hour. The horses were at the post for the fifth race when he slid into the chair beside her. She looked at him inquiringly.

"I got the bet down," he said.

"Oh, then it's all right."

"Is it? Let's wait till the race is run and we'll know more about that."

"And there they go."

"It's Rifeman, by three lengths— Carry On is second—"

She turned to Johnny: "Well, darling, I guess he won it."

"Yes. Did you see how he ran? Did you notice his stride? What a colt! When he has a few more pounds on him and someone to show him how to—"

"Johnny!"

John and Kathleen Look at the Future

"What's the matter?"

"You didn't claim him?"

"Why not? He was in a claiming race, wasn't he?"

"But he was safe in there because no one knew how good he was. It was only through the kindness of his trainer's heart that you found out what sort of a horse he was. That isn't square, Johnny; that isn't—"

"The trainer stuck him down in class to make a killing, didn't he? That wasn't square, either. That was being smart. Well, if a smarter guy claims the horse out, that's just life, isn't it?"

"But, Johnny—"

"Well," Johnny said. "I'm going back to the barn. Want to come?"

"Better cash your tickets first," Kathleen said. "He was ten to one; we ought to—"

"Kathleen."

"Yes."

"Look; I never thought about the bet. I was in a hurry and— But we've got the horse, haven't we?"

"Yes, dear. We have the horse. Come on, Clever Mr. Virginia. Let's go to the barns and look our future over."

Origin of Mascara

Woman's oldest manufactured beauty aid, according to a Hollywood make-up man, is mascara. This material is known to have been compounded by the Egyptians as far back as 4,000 B. C. Inspection of feminine portraits of that time, as presented by wall paintings in modernly unearthed tombs, leads one to suspect that the glamor gals of ancient Egypt were highly comparable with those of today.

And it's all because, at the last town election, folks got out and voted—85 per cent of them! That way, they passed the amendment calling for park improvements—over those opposing it. Reminds you again how important the right to vote is in this country. And it's a right we can retain only by exercising it! . . . like all the other individual liberties—from freedom to enjoy a glass of beer or ale, to a woman's right to vote along with men. Folks can thank themselves that on summer evenings they'll be able to listen to band concerts in a well-kept park . . . enjoying a bottle of beer or soda pop (whichever they prefer). Because from where I sit, that's a freedom they've earned by exercising a still more important freedom: Voting!

Use of Weed Killer Boosts Corn Yield
2,4-D Spray Increases Output by 18 Bushels

First large-scale experiment using butyl ester of 2,4-D for control of weeds in corn fields has definitely proven the chemical to be unharmed to corn and has resulted in increased yields up to 18 bushels per acre, a check on a number of Henderson, Ky., farms indicate.

Applied to some 18,000 acres at a cost of less than $10,000, 2,4-D was given credit for saving the last corn crop in that section.

Fields treated with 2,4-D and later cultivated yielded 86.8 bushels of corn per acre as against a yield of 69.63 bushels per acre for a comparable field which had only been cultivated.

The fields checked had been sprayed with butyl ester of 2,4-D applied by a low-gallonage method requiring less than a pint of the weed-killer to five gallons of water per acre.

The increased yield in fields sprayed was attributed to the greatly lowered weed population. Similar beneficial results can be achieved by hand-hoeing for weed control but the high cost of hand-hoeing makes this method impractical in most cases.

'Starter' Fertilizer Boosts Tomato Yield
Best Results Obtained With Cannery Produce

Tomato yields have been increased greatly by scientists who used starter solutions at transplanting time. Completely soluble, high analysis fertilizers now are available which will make excellent "starter" or transplanting solutions for cannery tomatoes, according to the New York state experiment station.

One of the best of three new formulas is a 15-30-14 combination of chemically pure ingredients which dissolves completely in water, thus avoiding the time and trouble of straining out the insoluble residue which results if ordinary fertilizers are used for this purpose. Excellent results may be obtained from using the 15-30-14 formula at the rate of four pounds to 50 gallons of water, or 10 pounds to a 5-10-5 to the same amount of water.

The solution is applied at transplanting time at the rate of one-fourth pint to the plant. Increased yields of a ton and a half of tomatoes are not uncommon from the use of these solutions, which cost less than $1 an acre for materials. The beneficial effects are especially marked at the first picking of cannery tomatoes. Market gardeners are not likely to find the practice so beneficial because of the more intensive fertilization of their land and the better nourished plants they usually employ.

Uncle Sam Says

Can you keep on the "up" side of life's see-saw? The bumps come when you are on the "down" side and they aren't funny. For most of these bumps are financial ones and they hurt, unless you cushion the shock. Millions of Americans have discovered the safe, automatic pillow against financial bumps. That pillow is U.S. Savings Bonds. By allotting only $2.50 a week, you will accumulate $1440.84 in ten years. There are two convenient methods for the purchase of U.S. Savings Bonds—the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or, if self-employed, the Bond-a-Month Plan where you bank.

Families Enjoy Variety in Desserts!
(See Recipes Below)

Dessert Patterns

"MY FAMILY CAN enjoy the same meat and vegetable dishes," says a homemaker, "but they really want variety in their desserts. It's hard to keep enough good, easy to make things on hand to satisfy them."

Well, our hunger patterns are usually satisfied by the time we get to the "frosting" of the meal, and we all like something special. We may want to save the main course, but we like surprises for desserts.

The woman who is busy with many household duties might like to skip dessert just because she can't think of something new, or because desserts are a bit too complicated to prepare, or so she thinks. How about some easy but sure to be good desserts for family or company dinners?

YOU'LL WANT to choose a light, fluffy gelatin or fruit dessert when the meal's been substantial. If, on the other hand, the meal has been a hurry-up affair then give the folks a nice, rich, baked dessert which will really stick to the ribs. Above all, make them picture pretty, gay, colorful and breath-takingly good like those in the column today.

Cranberry Log

- 1/2 cup sifted cake flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 3 egg yolks
- 3 egg whites
- 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1/2 cup sugar

Beat egg whites until frothy. Add cream of tartar and beat stiff. Add 1/4 cup sugar and beat until points are formed. Add remaining sugar to egg yolks and beat until thick and light colored. Fold carefully into egg white mixture. Then fold in sifted dry ingredients. Pour into a shallow pan, 9 by 12 inches, which has been greased and lined with waxed paper. Bake 20-25 minutes at 350 degrees. Have ready a strip of waxed paper cut about 15 inches longer than the cake. Sprinkle thickly with powdered sugar the section on which the cake will be turned. Roll up 15 inches of paper to form a thin roller which will make center for the rolled cake.

When cake has baked, turn out on powdered sugar. Remove paper from cake. Then, starting with roller, roll up cake like a jelly roll. Cool.

Unroll cake when cool and spread with softened cream cheese and re-roll tightly.

Cherry Cream Pudding (Serves 6-8)

- 6 eggs, separated
- 1 1/4 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup boiling water
- 1 cup sifted cake flour
- 1 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 teaspoon almond extract

Slowly boil sugar and water until it threads when dropped from the end of a spoon. Beat the whites stiff. Pour hot syrup over whites slowly, and beat until cool. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored and blend in egg white mixture. Add flavorings, then sifted dry ingredients. Bake in an ungreased tube pan in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until golden and done, about one hour. Cool and fill center with one can (No. 1) of black, pitted cherries which have been folded in two cups sweetened whipped cream.

Molded Rice Pudding (Serves 6-8)

- 2 cups cooked rice
- 1 No. 2 1/2 size can apricots
- 2 tablespoons gelatin
- 1/4 cup cold water
- 2 slices pineapple, cut up
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Add the juice from the can of apricots to the cooked rice. Stir over a low flame until rice has absorbed the juice. Soak gelatin in cold water. Stir into hot rice. Add all except a few apricots (saved for garnish) which have been rubbed through a sieve. Mix in pineapple. Mix lightly so as not to mash the rice. When mixture begins to set, add whipped cream which has been mixed with sugar and vanilla. Pour into a cold rinsed mold and allow to chill. Turn out onto platter and garnish with apricot halves and additional whipped cream, if desired.

HERE ARE EASY variations of an unflavored gelatin and orange juice dessert. You also may use any other fruit juice you prefer to unlock even more possibilities for you.

Basic Clear Orange Gelatine (Serves 4)

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatine
- 1/2 cup cold orange juice
- 1 1/4 cups hot orange juice
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

Soften gelatine in cold orange juice. Add hot orange juice, sugar and salt; stir until dissolved. Pour into molds and chill until firm.

ORANGE WHIP: Use basic recipe with following change. Chill gelatine mixture until slightly thicker than unbeaten egg whites; beat with rotary beater until light and fluffy. Turn into molds and chill until firm.

*ORANGE SPANISH CREAM: Use basic recipe with following changes. Soften gelatine in one cup cold milk in top of double boiler. Place over boiling water. Add sugar and salt and stir until gelatine and sugar are dissolved. Beat two egg yolks slightly. Pour a small amount of the hot mixture over egg yolks. Return to double boiler and cook over hot, not boiling, water, stirring constantly until mixture coats the spoon. Remove from heat; cool. Stir in three-quarter cup cold orange juice; chill until thickened. Beat two egg whites until stiff. Fold in gelatine mixture and chill until firm in mold.

50,000-Mile Trip For Vacation

A two-year vacation and 50,000 miles, from Alaska to Guatemala, are ahead of Harold W. Siebens of St. Louis, Mo. Siebens sold his business last year on the advice of his doctors.

He will be accompanied on his jaunt by his mother, two daughters, a son and radio technician. They are traveling in two light trucks, each with a house trailer attached.

"I've always wanted to take a trip like this," Siebens said as he started out recently, "with nothing to worry about but the road ahead and all the time in the world." The first lap of the trip will take the group to Alaska by way of the Alaska highway.
