Science, Computer Labs To Be Occupied Monday

The day Watson Junior High Students have been anxiously waiting for is almost here, the completion of the addition (Science and Computer Labs). During Monday night's school board meeting, the board voted to accept the addition as substantially complete. Superintendent Bill Moore stated that the school hoped to be moved in and ready for the students to occupy the labs Monday morning.

Cindy Purdy, president, called the board meeting to order at 5 p.m. in the Watson Jr. High Library. The first item of business was a walk-through inspection of the Watson Jr.

High construction.

Following the walk-through, the board recessed and moved to the Administration Building where they reconvened at 7:30 to conduct business.

Following the recognition of visitors and school officials present, the minutes of the regular meeting held on Dec. 13, 1991 and the Board Workshop held on December 16, 1991, were read.

The board members approved payment to Ortega Construction for work completed on Watson Junior High.

The members also approved the elective "Peer Assistance and Leadership" (PAL) for addition to the course offerings at MHS for the 1992-93 school year.

Throckmorton Refinishing Re-opens Following Fire

It took a lot of determination and hard work plus a lot of help from the community, but Throckmorton Refinishing opened for business in their new location, exactly one month after the devastating fire that completely destroyed their business on December 20, 1991. The fire broke out somewhere between midnight and morning. The entire business was burned.

"The community has been wonderful," Mrs. Throckmorton said. "We could never have done it without the help from the community," Mrs. Throckmorton continued, in speaking of their re-opening. There have been a lot of donations, plus people have come armed with hammers ready to work. The 16 and Ave. D Church of Christ, where they are members, held a surprise shower in their honor.

Dan and Mildred "Millie" Throckmorton opened their business "Throckmorton Refinishing" 11 years ago in a one room building on their farm, in the YL Community. "In 1980, we began refinishing furniture for S&G Antiques in Muleshoe and Barbara Humphreys Antique Shop in Ruidosa, N.M. That was all we really intended to do. Sylvia Black and I hand stripped all the furniture (tables and chairs)."

In 1985, the Throckmortons put in a vat and began dipping the furniture. When they (both) were not on tractors, Mrs. Throckmorton said they worked together in the refinishing shop. With the farming situation being what it was in 1985, they rented out their farm and Throckmorton joined his wife in the refinishing business full time.

Over the years, from 1980 to 1991, when the business burned, the Throckmortons had built on to their business three times. It had grown from one room to seven rooms. Refinishing furniture wasn't the only thing the Throckmortons did, they also re-silvered mirrors. The Throckmortons are the only ones between Albuquerque and Dallas doing mirrors.

Mrs. Throckmorton stated that their business reaches out to people in Roosevelt and Holbert, Oklahoma; Lubbock, Brownfield, Seminole, Hereford, Amarillo, Friona, Midland, Por-

Chamber Comments

By Carolyn Johnson

With hard work comes rewards. How rewarding it was to announce that Governor Ann Richards will speak at our annual Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture Banquet! Securing the Governor was no easy feat. The Chamber Directors and the Muleshoe Activities Committee have worked cooperatively on this project since early September. Many letters have been written. Numerous phone calls have been made. Personal visits with key officials have taken place. Although we can breathe a sigh of relief, the real work is just beginning. Committees have already been formed and the work has begun to coordinate The Biggest Little Banquet in Texas. We encourage everyone who wants to be a part of this to please let us know. There's lots of work to be done and it will take all of us working together to achieve our goals.

Don't forget about our Membership Appreciation Breakfast to be held next Thursday, January 23rd, at 7 a.m. at the Bailey County Coliseum. A short program is planned to install our new Director announce our new slate of officers for 1992, and announce the winner of our logo contest. We will have some pertinent information to share with all members including an update on our banquet progress. Door prizes will be awarded. This breakfast is free of charge to all members and their employees. You don't want to miss it!

The retail merchants committee met this week to share problems and concerns, to discuss the past Moonlight Madness Sales, and to share ideas for future events. With all merchants feeling the crunch of the tough economic times, the meeting was still upbeat proving Henry Ford's point that "What's right about America is that although we have a mess of problems, we have great capacity, intellect, and resources to do something about them." The committee will have a questionnaire for all retail members to complete at the membership breakfast. Immediately following the breakfast, a short meeting will be held for the retailers.

The beginning of the new year is an excellent time to seek out new members. Again this week, we are pleased to announce two new members to the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. They are Central Texico and J&L Fashions. If your business is not a member of the Chamber, we urge you to get involved. Membership in your Chamber enables people to accomplish collectively what no one of them could do individually. To support your Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture by being an active member means a better and more prosperous community, a dividend which offsets the investment many fold.

Our bouquet of the week goes to a group of people that are always eager to assist the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. We are referring to the individuals representing the different medias in Muleshoe. To everyone associated with the Muleshoe Journal, The West Texas Ranger, Channel 6 TV, and KMUL--we appreciate all that you do for us and want you to know what a pleasure it is working with you!

Mexican Markets Discussed

As Mexico indicated it may close its borders to U.S. hog imports, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry traveled to Mexico City to meet with that country's agriculture secretary and the U.S. ambassador to voice Texas' stake in maintaining access to Mexican markets.

Citing reports of swine disease, Mexico has announced that it will ban hog imports from the United States. U.S. Department of Agriculture officials are working with Mexico in an attempt to address this animal health issue.

Perry on a Tuesday afternoon met with Mexico's Agriculture Secretary Carlos Hank Gonzalez, U.S. Ambassador to Mexico John Negroponte and other high-ranking Mexican and U.S. officials in Mexico's capital to emphasize Texas' interests in the issue and in the proposed North American free trade agreement.

"Mexico is an important market for American hog producers, particularly for Texas hogs," Perry said, noting that Texas is the "gateway" for North American livestock exports to Mexico. "It is imperative that every step be taken to resolve this dispute as quickly as possible."

"Maintaining access to Mexican markets is critical to Texas and to our economy," Perry said. "It is crucial that decisions involving animal and plant trade issues between our two countries be based on scientific evidence."

The proposed restrictions come at a time when U.S. hog shipments to Mexico are increasing dramatically. During the first nine months of 1991, exports were up 300 percent compared to all of 1990. USDA figures show that 149,084 U.S. hogs valued at about $14 million were exported to Mexico during the first nine months of this year. In all of 1990, only 41,969 U.S. hogs were exported.

Mexico officials say they fear U.S. hogs may introduce a swine disease known as Swine Infertility and Respiratory Syndrome. The destruction, cotton plow-up and spraying is extremely effective in controlling pink bollworm and boll weevils."

TDA enforces Texas' pesticide laws and certain IPM practices such as the stalk destruction project for pink bollworm and boll weevil control. Texas has four boll weevil pest management zones encompassing the Lower Rio Grande Valley, Lower Coastal Bend, Upper Coastal Bend and the El Paso area.

"AA successful eradication plan for eliminating the boll weevil could eventually eliminate the need for insecticides to combat this pest," Perry said.

Proposals for diapause funds should include a one-page project summary; a review of previous diapause programs conducted by the producer, a detailed project description including a general work plan and rationale; project duration; a statement showing need of state funding with a financial statement of current and available assets; and a detailed project budget, including funds from other sources to be suited for the diapause program. A gull program report will be due four weeks after the project is completed.

IPM proposals should propose methods for implementing and conducting biologically intensive integrated pest management programs for farmer groups, on-farm demonstration trials, and education programs developed from state-of-the-art technology. Proposals must come from producer organizations involved in state-wide integrated pest management programs. Each proposal must include a one-page project summary; a review of any previous work related to the project; a project description encompassing a general work plan; project duration and rationale; a description of the project's anticipated impact; historical background information of the organization; and a project budget. A project report will be due within eight weeks upon completion of the project.

Proposals should be submitted to Keith Jones, Director for Agri-Systems, Producer Relations Divisions, TX Dept. of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78751, or call (512) 463-1088 for additional information.

A box lunch must be a planned lunch, says Miss Lillie Gentry of the A and M College Extension Service. It is not enough to go by the breakfast table and gather into a paper bag the odds and ends left from breakfast. The lunch box should furnish one third of the day's food requirements and for that reason deserves as much thought in planning as any other meal of the day.

Since many more people are carrying box lunches than ever before, the housewife would do well to first plan the box lunch the day before, second, plan a good breakfast as a prerequisite to the lunch; third, follow a lunch pattern in order to be sure, where there is plenty of food of a wholesome variety; fourth, give as much variety to the lunch as possible, and fifth purchase a good lunch pail and pack the lunch carefully.

Retaining all of the quality and distinction that again in 1951 won a commanding lead in styles, new Chevrolet trucks will be introduced at dealerships, Saturday, January 19, C and H Chevrolet is the dealer for the Muleshoe territory.

On display here will be representative models from the 22 series on 10 wheelbases that the company is scheduled to produce.

The Bailey County March of Dimes Drive will get in full swing shortly according to county chairman for the fund drive, says Jeff Peeler, manager of Southwestern Public Service.

Peeler says that the Muleshoe High School Student Council is to help with the collection of funds. Robert Garlington is president of the Student Council.

"We hope the people of the Muleshoe area will pitch in and help us come up with a good total," says Peeler.

The Muleshoe Demolay Chapter is still taking entries for their Muleshoe Ping Pong Tournament to be held February 17, 18 and 19 at the Methodist Fellowship Hall. There will be two divisions in singles, up to 14 years of age and 15 and older and one division in doubles. The entry fee for singles will be $2 per persons and for doubles it will be $3 per couple.

Muleshoe Squares News

Square dance lessons are in full swing at the American Legion Hall here in Muleshoe. This coming Thursday night will be the last time for one to get in on lessons this year. We have eight couple, three singles, and three former square dance couples taking lessons. They are having a great time and we are really enjoying having them. Lessons will begin at 7 p.m. this next Thursday with regular square dancing afterward.

All club members need to be present as we will probably have a meeting following square dancing. There are some very important items to be discussed.

Our 11th anniversary dance will be February 8 at the Bailey County Coliseum.

According to local reports brought back from the American Agriculture Movement's National Convention recently in St. Louis, Mo., new ideas have been derived to raise the net farm income.

Library News

By Anne Camp

A New Year's Resolution was to get back to publicity for the Library. So here goes: Anne Camp and Izetta Shain, Muleshoe Library Rep. attended a meeting of area librarians and their representatives. This meeting was on long range planning, and some exciting plans were discussed. Each library will soon be receiving a Fax machine from the West Texas Library System.

In future years it may be possible to link all participating libraries together by computer, to share resources. This past year Brownfield Public Library and the Brownfield School System have completed a joint catalog of their holdings, and are sharing their resources and reported that it is working very well.

Artist of the month is Joanna Gartin and everyone is invited to come and see her lovely watercolor prints and originals. What she can do with cotton bolls and rusty barbed wire is unique and beautiful!

With elections coming up, the serious voter might be interested in a new book titled "Congressional Voting Guide," a ten year compilation of the 99th Congress--you can readily find out how your congressman and representative voted on every important issue from school lunches to prayer in school and immigration reform.

The most requested book this year by far is Scarlett -- the sequel to Gone with the Wind. We are almost caught up on our list of reserves. So you may call and reserve it, and then you should get it in a short time.

Storyhour is still being held the 1st and 3rd Wednesday from 10:15 to 11 a.m. Toby King helped with this week's storytime, and brought refreshments.

Toast To Texas Set March 2

Bailey County employees will join Monday, March 2 at 1:30 p.m. in a "Toast to Texas" observance. This will commemorate the 75th anniversary of Bailey County. Open house celebrations will be held at the courthouse and at affiliate offices. Refreshments will be served and employees will dress in period costumes from the 1917 era.

The Jennyslippers have conducted this "Toast to Texas" for the last two years. This year, since so many county offices have been moved or "fixed up" a bit, it's a good time to visit the courthouse.

The toast will be held on the courthouse lawn or at the east courthouse door. Employees will appear in a variety of costumes.

Nelda Merriott and Marilyn Cox are heading the committee for the event and Billie Downing, Sharon Plott, Donna Kirk, Joy Williams and Kandy McWhorter are serving as members of the committee. A representative from Texas Highways is expected to be here for the toast.

Price Honored

The George White district banquet was held Saturday, January 11 in Littlefield. Christy Price was awarded a certificate of appreciation.

Leonard Griswold got a Silver Spade award. Betty Griswold received an organizer pin for 19 years of service.

Background On New Parenting Program Given

Connie Kenmore, counselor at DeShazo Elementary, introduced the parenting program which she co-ordinates with Liz Tipps, nurse at Dillman.

Mrs. Kenmore says, "We are piloting the program in connection with the Regional Educational Service Center in Lubbock. Individual parents are being trained to help. We are focusing on the upper elementary grades and sharing responsibility. The sponsor of the program is the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Center. The parenting group will meet on five consecutive Mondays beginning January 27 from 7 to 9 p.m. at DeShazo Elementary.

Parents of students in grades 4, 5 and 6 are particularly involved. Lines of communication between students and parents are being studied."

Juan and Janie Mejia, Liz Tipps and Nancy Barrier are leading the program. A workshop and video will be presented. Babysitting and refreshments will be provided.

Kenmore discussed the history of the parenting program that the schools are promoting.

In September, 1990 the Region 17 Education Service Center received funding from the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse to implement the parent training program entitled "Preparing for the Drug (Free) Years." The program is currently being implemented in six West Texas communities consisting of Crosbyton, Mador, Seminole, Spur, Tahoka, and Post. The service center wishes to expand the program to six different communities during the 1991-1992 school year.

The "Preparing for the Drug (Free) Years" program has two different components. School districts wishing to participate in the program for the 1991-92 school year must participate in both components of the program. The entire project is divided into two components to include: 1.) The "Preparing for the Drug (Free) Years" parent training program, and 2.) an evaluation study entitled "The Impact of Parent Training on Family-Related Risk Factors for Drug and Alcohol Abuse."

Parent Training Program

The "Parenting for the Drug (Free) Years" program is targeted to parents of upper elementary school students. Each school district will serve as the lead agency for implementation of the program in their respective communities. Two parent educators will be selected from each community who will be responsible for coordination, recruitment, and teaching of the actual workshop sessions. The parent educators will be compensated monetarily for the training they receive as well as for the workshop sessions they teach.

All materials needed to teach the program will be provided free-of-charge by the service center. Funding for child care during the workshop sessions will also be provided.

Evaluation Study

The purpose of the evaluation study is to determine the effects that this particular parent training program has on decreasing the risk factors associated with teenage drug and alcohol abuse. The results of the study could have a significant impact on how we approach drug abuse prevention methodology.

The school districts planning to participate in the program during the 1991-92 school year will serve as the control group for the study being conducted in the spring of 1991. A confidential student questionnaire will be administered to 5th grade students by trained interviewers upon receiving signed parental consent forms.

The student questionnaires will be strictly confidential and will only be identified by an assigned identification number. All subjects may choose to discontinue their participation in the project at any

Retired Teachers Association News

Muleshoe Area Retired Teachers met Friday, January 17 at 3 p.m. for their regular meeting in the fellowship hall of the 16th and Ave. D Church of Christ.

Refreshments of earthquake cake, nuts and spiced tea or coffee were served by the hostesses Winona Dudgeon and Mary B. Obenhaus.

The president, Mabel Wolfe called the meeting to order, and led the group in the pledge of allegiance to the U.S.A. and the Texas flags.

Wilma Smith introduced Carolyn Johnson, manager of Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. She told the group of a Leadership Muleshoe Organization. This organization has high school students and adult leaders. The motto is "Learning Today To Be Leaders Tomorrow."

Mrs. Johnson introduced three students, Jody Fields, Rhonda Scott and Kip McCall.

These students discussed the purposes and how the organization will prepare them for tomorrow.

As retired teachers the group is very proud of the youth in Muleshoe.

Members present were Mabel Wolfe, Winona Dudgeon, Mary B. Obenhaus, Wilma Smith, Maxine Ragsdale, Margie Moore, Ann Oyler, Eloise Wilson, Pauline Guinn, Jean Moore, Jewel Pool, Alene Bryant and Maude Blaylock.

The next meeting will be February 21 at 3 p.m.

time. The student questionnaire is an abbreviated version of the student questionnaire currently being utilized in the Seattle Social Development Project conducted by the University of Washington. There are no known risks of physical, psychological or social natures.

Should you wish to participate, please contact Leigh Mires at 806-793-4864.

Tops Club

TOPS chapter No. 34 met at 6 p.m. January 16 at the Girl Scout Hut. Leader Laverne James called the meeting to order. The TOPS pledge was recited and fellowship song sung. Mrs. James led the group in a prayer.

Betty Jo Davis, weight recorder, called the roll with 23 members answering with the amount they had lost or gained. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by Aurora Mata, secretary, and they were approved as read.

Charlotte Campbell was named best loser for the week. Runners-up included; Carolyn Stancell, first; and Alma Robertson, second.

TOPS had a visitor Thursday night, Missy Royal.

The meeting was adjourned with the singing of the goodnight song.

Callen Dale Grissam

Chip and Rhonda Grissam of Farwell announce the birth of a boy, Callen Dale Grissam. He was born at 6:10 p.m. Monday, January 20 in Clovis High Plains Hospital and weighed 7 lb., 10 1/2 oz. and was 21 and 3/4" long. Grandmother is Marde Grissam of Farwell. Grandfather is C. R. Dale of Oklahoma Lane. Great grandmother is Lora Dale of Muleshoe. The child has a two year old sister, Callie Sha.

Earl Ruby, brother of the late Jack Ruby, who shot Lee Harvey Oswald:

"I don't feel too good about having to get rid of the gun but I'm glad the bills will be paid." (commenting on his sale of the Jack Ruby pistol for $220,000.)"

The nature and purpose of the PAL course will be implemented as a peer helping program in which selected high school students will be trained to work as peer facilitators with other, typically younger students on their own campuses, and/or from feeder middle or elementary schools.

Participants will be trained in a variety of helping skills which will enable them to assist other students in having a more positive and productive school experience.

The course will serve the dual purpose of providing practical knowledge and skills, as well as actual field experience, for students potentially interested in careers in education or other helping professions; and utilizing positive peer influence as a central strategy for addressing such issues as at-risk youth, drop-outs, substance abuse prevention, teen pregnancy and suicide, absenteeism, low achievement, behavior problems, students with special needs, and other areas of concern in the district.

Grimes and Associates was selected as an architectural firm to serve as consultants in conducting an in-depth facilities assessment.

A report was given on the tax collection, bank balances, fund balances and the board voted to pay monthly bills.

Informational reports were given by Mrs. Purdy, Superintendent Bill Moore, Buck Johnson, assistant superintendent for instruction; and Elizabeth Watson, assistant superintendent for instruction.

Throckmorton Refinishing opened Monday morning here in Muleshoe, with seven rooms. Mrs. Throckmorton told the Journal that they were averaging 100 pieces of furniture a month and expect to continue. "We are already booked up until April."

In addition to Dan and Millie, Throckmorton Refinishing employs four other people, Fina Deltoroso, Cherry Estep, Juana Shelburne and a high school student, Dustin Wilhite.

Throckmorton Refinishing not only refinishes furniture and mirrors, they also sell antique furniture. "I encourage young people starting out today to go to used furniture stores, pick up old pieces that are all wood, they are a lot better and will last longer," Mrs. Throckmorton continued.

Friday night the Throckmortons' served a chili supper to all their friends who had been so helpful.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Committee Member:
We appreciate you serving on a committee to plan and coordinate the Biggest Little Banquet in Texas. This will, no doubt, be one of the biggest events ever held in Muleshoe! To plan and carry out this banquet will take lots of work and organization.

I am enclosing a list of the committee organization structure. Already, a total of eleven (11) committees have been formed. Your committee chairman will be contacting you regarding your meeting dates and responsibilities.

Again, we appreciate your help and look forward to working with you!

Sincerely,
Carolyn Johnson, Manager

Charles Arntzen Resigns

Dr. Charles J. Arntzen, deputy chancellor and dean of the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences at Texas A&M University, is resigning his position to develop a plant research program at the university's new Institute of Biosciences and Technology in Houston.

The Texas A&M System Board of Regents last week accepted Arntzen's request for reassignment, effective Jan. 1, and appointed Dr. Charles Lee as interim dean and deputy chancellor. The board also named Lee to succeed Arntzen as director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station on an interim basis.

Lee has been associate deputy chancellor and executive associate agriculture dean.

"This new position offers an opportunity to lead a research effort in an exciting area of fundamental science," Arntzen said. "I am hearing the end of my four-year term as dean, and the timing seems right to move on to this new challenge."

Arntzen, who was elected to the National Academy of Sciences in 1983 for his pioneering research in photosynthesis and plant molecular biology, will establish a laboratory that will investigate how food crops can be genetically modified to improve their nutritional content. He also will research genetic ways to enhance the value of medicinal plants.

While deputy chancellor and dean, Arntzen helped establish the Institute for Biosciences and Technology, which will seek to bridge and thereby enhance the research involving human and animal health, nutrition and disease.

Dr. Herbert H. Richardson, chancellor of the Texas A&M University System, praised Arntzen for his leadership.

"Under his direction, the College of Agriculture has grown significantly in the quality of students and faculty, in the volume and quality of its research, and in national and international stature. He provided essential intellectual leadership in developing the IBT in Houston and established a new and important biotechnology focus to complement our traditional agricultural research programs," Richardson added.

Texas A&M ranks second in the country in number of undergraduate agriculture students. Since 1988, enrollment has increased by 20 percent to nearly 3,800 this fall. One third of all students in the college have won academic scholarships, including 32 National Merit Scholarships.

The agriculture program's graduate enrollment also has increased, despite a nationwide trend to the contrary, and Texas A&M graduates more agricultural scientists than any other program.

Arntzen, a native of Minnesota, studied cell physiology at Purdue University, receiving his doctorate in 1970.

From 1970 to 1984, he held faculty positions at the University of Illinois-Urbana and Michigan State University and visiting faculty posts in France, Australia and China. He joined the DuPont Company in Wilmington, Del., in 1984 and directed biotechnology research in DuPont's agricultural products department.

Arntzen serves on the board of governors of the University of Chicago for the Argonne National Laboratory, on the National Agricultural Biotechnology Council and on the scientific advisory board of the Hong Kong Institute of Biotechnology. He is chairman of the national biotechnology policies board of the National Institutes of Health and serves on the editorial board of Lee, associate deputy chancellor and executive associate dean since 1990, is a former associate director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and professor and department head in Texas A&M's forest science department.

Science

He has been dean of the School of Forest Resources at Mississippi State, associate director of the Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station and head of the forestry department at the University of Arkansas at Monticello.

He received his doctoral degree in forestry and genetics in 1972 from North Carolina State University.

Judge Rose Spector Announces Candidacy

Saying it's time for "a different perspective" on the state's highest court, San Antonio District Court Judge Rose Spector Wednesday formally announced her candidacy for the Texas Supreme Court.

If Spector's campaign is successful, she would be the first woman elected to the nine member Texas Supreme Court.

Spector, who has been a trial judge in San Antonio for the past 17 years, said she plans to run "a positive campaign that emphasizes the importance of an independent judiciary."

"Overall, I believe in our judicial system, and I believe in our jury system," Spector said. "But I also understand that our system isn't perfect--there is more to be done."

Increasingly, she added, our courts--particularly the Supreme Court--are asked to rule on legal issues that have a significant and lasting effect on all Texans.

"The decisions the Supreme Court makes today will affect the lives of our children--and the lives of our children's children," she said. The voters of Texas cannot allow the state's highest court to become an ivory tower in Austin.

"I've always had great reverence

State Agency's Phone Lines Busy

"The phones have not stopped ringing at the Texas Employment commission since November 17," said Commissioner Mary Scott Nabers. Nabers said the Emergency Unemployment Compensation Act (Extended Jobless Benefits) has increased the workload tremendously for state employees who have been working tirelessly to get extended benefit checks to eligible claimants.

"The TEC wants nothing more than to get benefits checks into the hands of claimants as quickly as possible. We know how desperately these checks are needed," Nabers said. "We need to eliminate some of the phone calls, however, so that we can focus on getting checks in the mail."

State employees in TEC's benefits section are answering thousands of calls a day, and on one record day, 40,000 claimant calls were recorded on the TEC toll-free emergency benefit hotline.

The new federal law, signed by President Bush, extends benefits for up to 13 weeks for unemployed individuals who have exhausted regular benefits. "Those who are eligible for emergency compensation will receive a special notice in the mail explaining how to apply and we really want claimants to wait for that notice," said Jean Mitchell, head of TEC's Benefits department. "Claimants who call to check on eligibility only slow the process."

Mitchell explained that after a claimant receives the last regular benefits check, the individual will receive notice about how to apply for extended benefits. "We are asking claimants to wait one to two weeks after initial benefits have exhausted before calling TEC to check on their eligibility for the extension," said Mitchell. "The lag time will not affect the amount of money they will receive."

Some confusion can be eliminated if claimants understand that the turnaround for receiving extended benefits is sometimes longer than the turnaround for receiving regular benefits. "The screening process of extended benefit claims is more detailed because the program requires TEC to do more confirmation of the applicant's information. That, combined with everything else being handled out of the state office, is slowing us down," Nabers said. Mitchell was quick to point out that the state's delay will not affect the number of checks a claimant will receive. "Many individuals will receive two checks at once while we try to catch up," she said. "We could eliminate a large portion of the calls coming in if claimants would make it a rule of thumb to wait an extra week to 10 days for the checks to come."

Nabers said employers' state tax rates will not be affected by this new federal legislation. Claimants who still have questions about their claims may call 1-800-235-6056.

TEC serves as the state's official employment agency serving both employers and employees.

Notice To Taxpayers

Robin Hood Forum Says School Finance Law Failure

Representatives from property-wealthy school districts are maintaining that not only is school funding legislation passed earlier this year unconstitutional but also fails to provide the promised funding equity.

More than 50 districts banded together in a group called the "Robin Hood Forum" and filed a suit challenging the constitutionality of the law which was upheld by a lower court. The suit is expected to be ruled on by the Supreme court any day.

"This new law adds another layer of bureaucracy and, in the end, increased property taxes in almost every district in the state," says Superintendent Marion Czaja, Glen Rose.

Also research being conducted by the Robing Hood Forum indicated that while the new law has hurt programs in the wealthier districts it has not significantly helped poorer districts.

"The bottom line is that the state of Texas is once again pushing its own responsibility to adequately fund quality education down to the local taxpayer," said Bill Reaves, superintendent in Palacios ISD. "Nobody is really a winner under this plan because it still fails to deliver a sufficient amount of money to poorer school districts so they truly can make a difference. At the same time, it simply levels down higher spending schools to a state-imposed standard of mediocrity."

Many of the poor districts that received additional money through the County Education District (CED) distribution report that their local property taxes have also increased with little or no improvement in their educational programs.

"This is not a rich against poor issue. Any way you cut it, the burden falls on local taxpayers whether they reside in a poor district or a rich district," said Andrews ISD Superintendent James Pennington.

The majority of these property-wealthy districts are small, rural and comprised of working class folks, with moderate-to-low income. Also, minorities represent a significant high percentage in some districts.

"We cannot sit back and allow erosion of the quality education that we have worked so hard to deliver to students in our districts," said Czaja, who is chairperson of the Litigation Group that is spearheading the Robin Hood Forum.

"We must inform taxpayers of the serious implications of this legislation on the future of education in this state. We also will enlist the support of citizens and business leaders to push for a revitalized state commitment to public education," Czaja said.

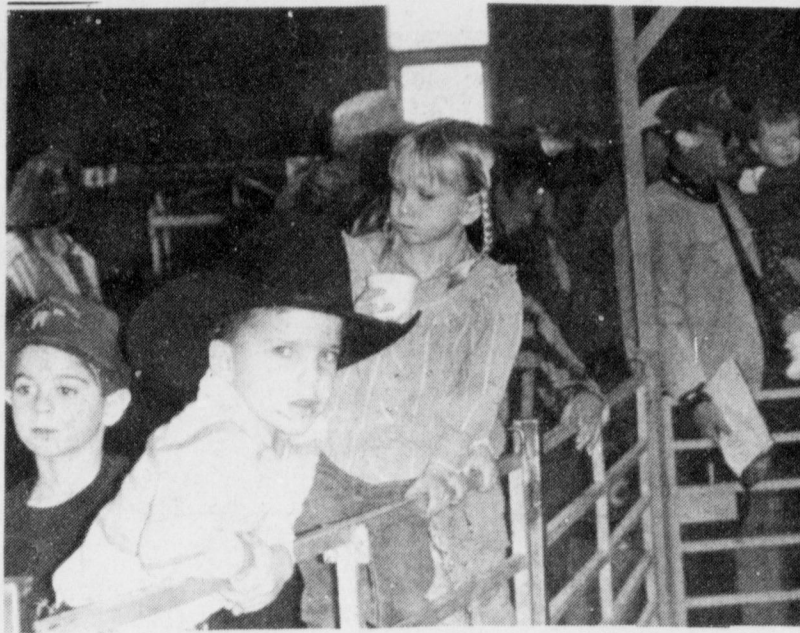

With a Supreme Court decision on the constitutionality of the legislation expected any day, members other Robin Hood Forum are hoping that the Court will overturn the law and abolish the County Education Districts (CEDs).

"We believe that the present law is unconstitutional because the taxes collected and redistributed by the CEDs amount to state ad valorem taxes in violation of a constitutional ban on such taxes," Czaja said. "If the Court rules in our favor and a special session is called, the legislators can look again at the issues without the crowded agenda of regular session. The future of our state will be determined by our level of commitment to each child in every district. I believe the state can fund quality education."

As Attorneys James George and Hugh Lowe have written, we can do that "...with a new tax system that taxes real wealth in a real worked and supports the schools from all the wealth available in Texas. When our legislators ran for office, they said they wanted to go to Austin and work for us."

"If the Supreme Court declares the County Education District Tax unconstitutional, the people of Texas should not be required to pay $4.5 billion in taxes they do not owe because the Legislature or Governor believes the task too hard or that the task requires too much courage. The times are too hard to ask Texans to make such a sacrifice."

The nature of men is always the same; it is their habits that separate them. —Confucius.

Bone Disease Begins In Childhood

A researcher at the Children's Nutrition Research Center (CNRC)
in Houston suspects osteoporosis, a crippling bone disease, may begin in childhood.

"Most of an adult's skeleton is built and enlarged during adolescence. Being shortchanged on calcium at his stage of life could be especially damaging," said Dr.
Steve Abrams, assistant professor of pediatrics at Baylor College of Medicine.

Little is known about how growing children absorb calcium from foods and deposit it into healthy bones. Previous studies were performed more than 40 years ago and do not represent growth or dietary patterns of American children today.

Abrams is working on a study that will help fill this "calcium gap" by measuring calcium absorption and skeletal formation of young girls. Girls were chosen for the study because women are more susceptible to bone loss in later years.

The study will follow 50 white and 50 black volunteers between the ages of 5 and 15. Abrams will look at the amount of calcium absorbed from the diet, how it is distributed and how rapidly that calcium forms bones in relationship to age, the onset of puberty, diet and race.

Current Recommended Daily Allowances (RDAs) of calcium range from 800 milligrams for children ages 1-10 and 1,200 milligrams for children 11 and older. Abrams suspects the RDA may not be adequate for the skeletal needs of all children.

Abrams believes that many children do not receive enough calcium. He also expects to find a significant difference in calcium distribution and bone density among ethnic groups. Caucasians appear to be at higher risk for developing osteoporosis than blacks.

Osteoporosis, a disease that causes bones to break easily, leads to hip fractures and crushed vertebrae as well as "dowager's hump," a telltale sign of a collapsing spine. Osteoporosis affects an estimated 20 million Americans--most of them elderly women.

There is no cure, but Abrams believes that understanding calcium needs and bone growth during childhood can lead to its prevention.

COTTON NEWS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

LUBBOCK, Friday, January 17, 1992

The 50-man Board of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers went on record opposing a proposal to move the announcement time of the Adjusted World Price (AWP) and Course Count Adjustment (CCA) at its January 15 Board meeting.

The proposal, if adopted, would move the AWP announcement time back to 8:00 p.m. EST Thursday, effective immediately.

Current procedures direct the Secretary of Agriculture to make the announcement on Thursday as soon after 4:00 p.m. EST as possible. The new AWP then goes into effect at 12:01 a.m. Friday.

The PCG Board formulated its comments on the proposed change, citing the following reasons for its stance:

That such a change was impractical in the middle of a marketing year;

That the proposal was not given ample lead time; and that

The current system has been very effective since it was implemented in 1986 and no change is needed.

Formal comments on the proposal were due in Washington by 5:00 p.m. EST, January 15.

In addition to the formulation of comments on the AWP proposal the PCG Board also reaffirmed its intentions to urge full funding of the recently approved disaster program. PCG Board members noted that without the additional $755 million in discretionary funds the program will fall short of meeting all the expected claims.

The President can request the additional funds at any time.

"Information at this time indicates that the $995 million initially approved by the President will simply not be enough to cover all claims," explains PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson. "We are going to continue to urge that the additional funds be made available to make up the difference between currently available funds and the actual total of disaster claims."

Many producers are wondering how disaster claims will be computed. Sign-up for the program begins February 3 and runs through March 13. ASCS officials expect checks to be mailed between April 16 and May 1, 1992.

County ASCS offices will soon be mailing information packets concerning the disaster assistance program to producers. Included in the packet will be information about eligible crops, how the disaster payment will be computed and a worksheet for determining whether or not a farm is eligible for the program.

The formula for figuring eligibility of a farm with crop insurance for disaster assistance is:

ASCS Yield x Acres x 65% = Disaster level. If the farm's total harvested, appraised and assigned production is less than the disaster level, then the producer may apply for disaster assistance on that farm.

Likewise, the formula for figuring eligibility of a farm without crop insurance for disaster assistance is:

ASCS Yield x Acres x 60% = Disaster level. If the farm's total harvested, appraised and assigned production is less than the disaster level, then the producer may apply for disaster assistance on that farm.

ASCS officials suggest that producers come prepared when they apply for the disaster program. Producers will need the following after determining if one or more producers on the farm are eligible:

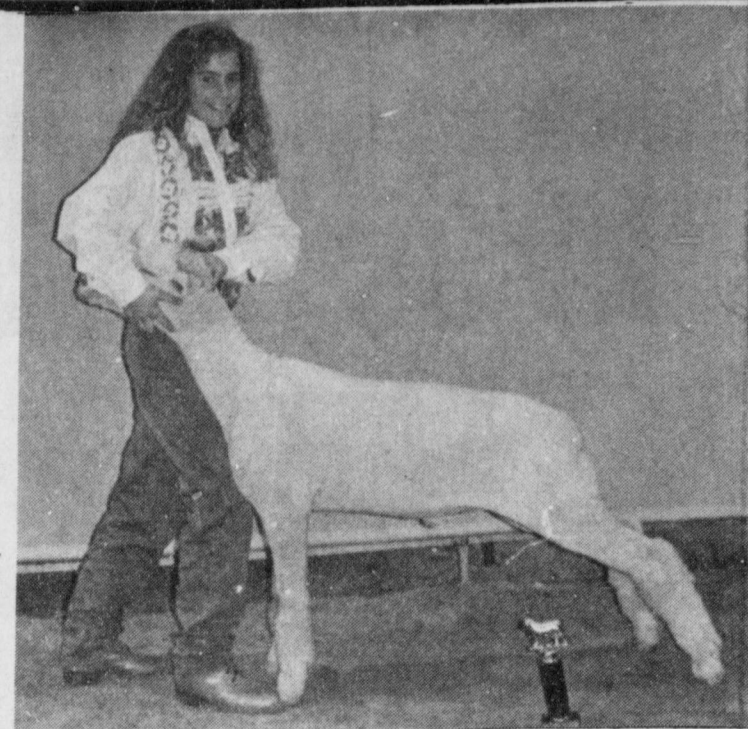

a) proof of production on ASCS Forms 503 or 658;

b) 1991 crop insurance information, if applicable, for all producers with insurance, including a statement showing farm premium and amount of claim if there was a loss on the farm; and, c) copies of any FCIC/multiperil crop appraisal. Any questions concerning the disaster assistance program will be able to be answered by county ASCS personnel around the end of January, after they have been briefed on the new regulations.
