Pamphlet Offered On Property Taxes

Margaret Johnson, chief appraiser for the Bailey County Appraisal District, offers area property owners a pamphlet called "Texas Property Taxes" A Taxpayer's Guide to Rights, Remedies, and Responsibilities" to help them save on their property taxes.

Norm-Referenced Test Scheduled April 6, 7 And 8

Students in Grades 3-11 will take a norm-referenced test April 6, 7, and 8.

Texas state law has established both a Norm-Referenced Testing Program (NAPT) and a criterion-referenced testing program (TAAS) which are designed to provide different kinds of information.

NAPT, which is a norm-referenced test, can be used to compare the achievement of Texas students with that of students across the nation. This test measures a range of skills, from basic knowledge to the use of higher order thinking skills. Skills tested by NAPT represent curricula in schools across the nation in the subject areas of reading, language, mathematics, social studies, and science.

It is very important that parents who have students in grades three through 11 make a note of these dates April 6, 7, and 8 and encouraged your child to be prepared physically and mentally, and to be present on these all-important dates.

If you have questions, concerning these tests you may call the counselor or principals on each campus or Elizabeth Watson in the Administration Building. (272-3325)

Hospital Board Hears Operators Audit Review

The board of directors of Muleshoe Area Hospital District met in regular session Thursday night, March 26 in the dining room of Muleshoe Medical Center.

Following the reading and approval of the minutes of the previous meeting, Richard Murphy, administrator, gave a financial report. He stated that he had received a check in the amount of $133,000 in off set money, which was used to pay on outstanding bills.

A report was also given on the Health Care Center. It was reported that only one bed was vacant.

Loma Embry and Betty Ramage, representing Volunteers Plus met with the board. "We had two Lazy Boy recliners donated to the nursing home and we would like to purchase two swivel chairs and a hair dryer for the beauty shop," Mrs. Embry said. When asked if they had available funding Mrs. Embry replied, "yes the money for the two chairs will come from the Memorial Funds and the hair dryer from donations." The board voted in favor of the purchase.

Murphy stated that Hazel Gilbreath had agreed to act as Election Judge for Muleshoe, in the upcoming election. No judge has been appointed from Lazbuddie. Monday morning, April 6 a drawing will be held for positions on the Ballot, places one, three, and five.

A spokesman from Methodist Hospital gave an audit report. He stated that he found the hospital clean, neat, well organized and the personnel were very friendly.

Fine Arts Dinner Theatre Set Monday

Once again the Fine Arts Boosters will be showcasing students of the Drama, Band, and Art departments of both Watson Junior High and Muleshoe High School, on Monday night, April 6 in the high school cafeteria.

To make the evening a success, everyone's help is needed. They are asking that you help by taking a dessert, that may be served that evening.

They also plan to have a bake sale in conjunction with the other events, so your dessert needs to be taken in a disposable container.

All desserts need to be at the cafeteria by 4:30 p.m. If you have any questions you are asked to call Kay Graves at 272-5846.

The Fine Arts Boosters Dinner Theatre will be held on Monday, April 6. Muleshoe High School and Watson Junior High School Band and Art Departments will be participating.

He recommended that the board consider a Hospital-Home Health Agency, thus allowing patients to be discharged from the hospital earlier. That is the name of the game, treat them and get them out. You are reimbursed better.

He also recommended establishing a Swing Bed Program. "When a Medicare patient has extended past the Medicare time, they can be transferred to Swing Bed or Skilled Nurses Bed," he continued.

The spokesman stated that the hospital needed a program to explain to the medical staff how to diagnosis or give the patients history. He explained that the way the diagnosis is written makes a difference in the payment. About 60 to 65 percent of Muleshoe Area Medical Center's patients are Medicare.

With no further business, the board went into executive session.

Youth Corps Applications Now Being Accepted

The Muleshoe National Wildlife refuge is accepting applications from young men and women to fill four enrollee positions in the Youth Conservation Corps (YCC) Program. No prior work experience or special skills are required. The eight week program will run from June 8 through July 30.

To qualify, you must be 15 years of age and a permanent resident of the United States, its territories or possessions. Employment is without regard to social, economic, racial, or ethnic backgrounds. Handicapped Youth who can effectively participate in most YCC activities are eligible.

The YCC program is a well balanced work-learn-earn program that develops in participating youth an understanding and appreciation of the Nation's environment and heritage. It offers gainful summer employment to young, minimum wage of $4.25 per hour for a 40 hour work week.

Applications for the program will be accepted through April 15, 1992. Blank forms may be obtained from the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge, P.O. Box 549, Muleshoe, Texas 79347, telephone 806/946-3341, from area high schools, and the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce. In order for

For 27 years, they have held the title of the World's Most Famous Clowns of Basketball. They are the Harlem Entertainers. Their team will be in Muleshoe Friday, April 3 for a match up against some of Muleshoe's basketball greats. Their show is clever, funny, sensational, and just plain good. Those Harlem players who will make up the April 3 roster include: No. 00 Tracy "Badnews" Hardiman--formerly played with the Harlem Wizards, from OKC

Winkler Meat Company and Dale Oil Company are sponsoring the home team. Carefully selected on the basis of athletic ability, swiftness, and agility, they promise to be a real challenge--perhaps even an upset--against the Harlem Professionals. Coach David "Tough Man" Tipps has completed his recruiting and announces that his hometown roster includes:

No. 00 Jerry "The Enforcer" Hicks-- The only man on the team with a permit to shoot.

No. 8 Carrol "Cannon Ball" Precure--The one team member that's a real piece of artillery

No. 9 James "Tricky" Turnbow--Tricky enough to make one believe he's a basketball player.

No. 10 Robert "Hunter" Leopard--When it comes to the game, he knows how to net "em!

No. 11 Bret "Bad Dog" McCasland-- Just bad enough to need "divine intervention".

No. 12 Randy "Air" Adair-- Light as a breeze and handles the ball with such ease!

No. 13 Leon "Hangman" Hagerman--To date, no one has ever stolen the ball from the Hangman and lived to tell about it.

Not only will you see basketball as you've never seen it before, but you'll see cheerleaders as you've never seen them before. To support the home team, the Jennyslippers have organized the "Shake, Rattle, and Rollers--a group of cheerleaders who are working day and night to get in shape and learn all the new yells for Friday night's big event.

Conservation Tillage Cuts Farm Costs

By Rodnet Duus, S.C.

Conservation tillage is any tillage and planting system which maintains sufficient crop residue on the soil surface to prevent erosion. Soil erosion can be caused by either wind or water. Conservation tillage can reduce costly inputs while maintaining or improving yields and profits. A farmer can save money in three areas: time/labor, energy, and machinery costs.

Conservation tillage usually means fewer trips across a field. Eliminating tillage means eliminating the time that would be required for each tillage operation. Conservation tillage allows the producer to save time in the field, but it may require the producer to spend more time with management.

In agriculture, tractor fuel is the largest single use of energy. Conservation tillage saves fuel because of the reduced number of trips a producer makes across a field.

It reduces the need for various tillage implements. For example, the farmer could eliminate his moldboard and disk since residues

Forum Seeks Volunteer Families

The International Education Forum, a non-profit organization, whose mission is "To provide opportunities for greater understanding between cultures of the world" is now seeking loving and caring volunteer families who would like to share the "American dream" by hosting a foreign high school student in their home. I.E.F. is seeking families in the Muleshoe and Bailey County area.

For more information or to set up a home visit call: Ms. Joanna Willis, IEF Area Coordinator, phone: 806-797-5535 or the Southern Regional office at 1-800-346-2826.

I.E.F. brings qualified foreign students from over twenty countries for a 3, 5 or 10 month high school academic program.

A unique feature of the I.E.F. program is that the I.E.F. coordinator will work with the family to match them with a student that will be compatible with their lifestyle, interests, hobbies and goals. Upon registering each student completes a detailed application. This is available for perusal to aid in selecting such a student.

All students have been thoroughly screened and tested during the application process and all have good academic skills and sufficient English to function in an English-speaking family, community and high school setting.

The students bring ample spending money for personal needs and have full medical coverage. Host families are asked to take the student into their home and treat them as a family member.

The I.E.F. Coordinator will assist in the matching process of the host family and student and are responsible, as a local contact, during the student's stay for any questions or problems.

I.E.F. also has summer out-bound programs to Germany, Italy,

Former Resident Receives Commendation

Officer Jim Holmes received the following Letter of Commendation (accident report #92-8518) from Sgt. B.K. Hurst.

Holmes is the son of Claude Holmes, formerly of Muleshoe. March 10, 1992

On March 8, 1992 at approximately 0157 hours, you were on routine patrol of your beat when you were flagged down by citizens in the 600 block of East 19th Street. Upon your immediate investigation of the situation you discovered that a traffic accident had just occurred prior to your arrival. You found a white pickup that had been involved in the accident had left the roadway, flipped over and landed upside down in a drainage ditch of about five feet of water. You discovered that the occupants of the pickup were still in the vehicle, possibly injured and trapped without any hope of survival if you did not act immediately.

You advised dispatch of the situation and requested the response of E.M.S., the Fire department "Jaws of Life" and a wrecker. At this point you without hesitation or thought to personal injury, entered the water in the drainage ditch and physically forced open the door to the vehicle. With the assistance of two citizens, you then proceeded to enter the vehicle and remove all three of the passengers from the vehicle. You and the citizens had to make three different entrances into the vehicle to retrieve the passengers and carry them to the dry ground. During this rescue you received minor injury to your back.

I would like it to be known that you are hereby commended for your immediate and unselfish act under the above described situation. I would further like to state that you have displayed exceptional character and compassion for your fellow men. Your actions have made you an example not only to those who were present at the scene but also to all police officers who wear the badge. This letter will serve as documentation of such commendation, a copy of which will be placed in your personnel file.

EMMI RECRUITMENT--After a talk on the benefits of enrolling at the New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell, Kathy Flanary, Major, presented the Lions Club with copies of two books: NMMI: Visions, by Cathy Nelson and NMMI: A Centennial History by William Gibbs, and Eugene T. Jackson. The presentation was part of the recent Lions Club meeting. Accepting the books for the Lions Club is Mike Caldwell, at left. (Journal Photo)

Flanary Speaks To Lions on New Mexico Military Institute

The Muleshoe Chapter of Lions met Wednesday, March 25 in the Bailey County Civic Center with about 35 attending. Mike Caldwell presided. L.T. Johnson led the pledge of allegiance and Dave Sadduth led the invocation.

He also distributed posters to be hung in the Lions members places of work. He encouraged them to state at the meeting the differences that a prison would make in the individual businessman's business plan and future in this community. Messenger encouraged the Lions to include a mention of the April 1 meeting in all advertisements that they place in the media between now and April 1.

Mike Caldwell introduced Kathy Flanary, Major, a representative of the New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell, who spoke to the group on the advantages of enrollment at the school. Flanary is a former resident of this community and daughter of Ed and Jean Moore, who farm here.

"When we talk about class military schools in the U.S., there are New York Military Institute and New Mexico Military Institute," Flanary notes. "In the business world, our graduates excel. They are better persons who make a difference in society. Learning to live with honor is the most important aspect of the cadet's training."

Cadets at New Mexico Military Institute learn the right attitude and how to live with enthusiasm. It is a place of varied educational opportunities and provides a unique learning experience, according to Flanary.

She commented on the outstanding faculty at the school stating that in many cases the high school aged students are taught by full professors.

Flanary showed a short video that gave a recruitment message. She emphasized that training at the Institute underscores but is not limited to military discipline. The arts are an important part of the well-rounded curriculum there.

"We have a beautiful campus and have produced thousands of commissioned officers," Flanary says. Among graduates from the Institute are a Congressional Medal of Honor recipient and awards winners of many other kinds.

Four years of high school education and two years of college training are available at the Institute. Among the activities that occur at the Institute are drills, parades and other events. Cadets there lead an extremely active life.

The school offers a regimen that is demanding, but the result is a superior education for its graduates.

Such notables as journalist Sam Donaldson and artist Peter Hurd are graduates of the New Mexico Military Institute. Founded in 1891, the school is forward thinking with its highly disciplined environment. Ninety-three percent of NMMI's graduates say they would return to school there if given the opportunity.

With an emphasis on maturity, education, discipline and success, the school offers a personalized approach to training. Individual cadets experience total development that helps them resolve life problems.

"We have resources such as small class size, counselors and advisors that meet the cadets' difficulties and help them excel. Cost for one year of schooling at the Institute is about $6500. If in-state, the cost drops to $5100.

"Cadets study each night from 7-9:30. They have to keep up. A new computer terminal network that will allow students to access the library from their rooms is being installed at the campus in Roswell. This will be a campus wide network," Flanary says.

"We are only the fifth such school in the U.S. to have such an advantage."

Flanary paid a public tribute to her parents, the Ed Moores. They attended her talk along with her sister Lana. "My parents emphasized the importance of education and played a large part in my development," she says.

"We at the Institute provide responsibilities to youth that help them develop as responsible individuals and this is what they sorely need."

Cadets at NMMI are encouraged to relate current events to what they are learning in the classroom.

Caldwell noted that there are 118 girls at NMMI. They constitute about a tenth of the entire student body. Commenting that his daughter is enrolled, he said he was especially impressed with the tutorial rooms at the Institute that help students with math and science and other subject areas.

The school teaches discipline and mental preparation. "It is more strict than other public schools and many won't make it because of the high level of discipline required," Flanary says. She believes that anyone interested in attending should get in shape physically and learn to show respect to elders.

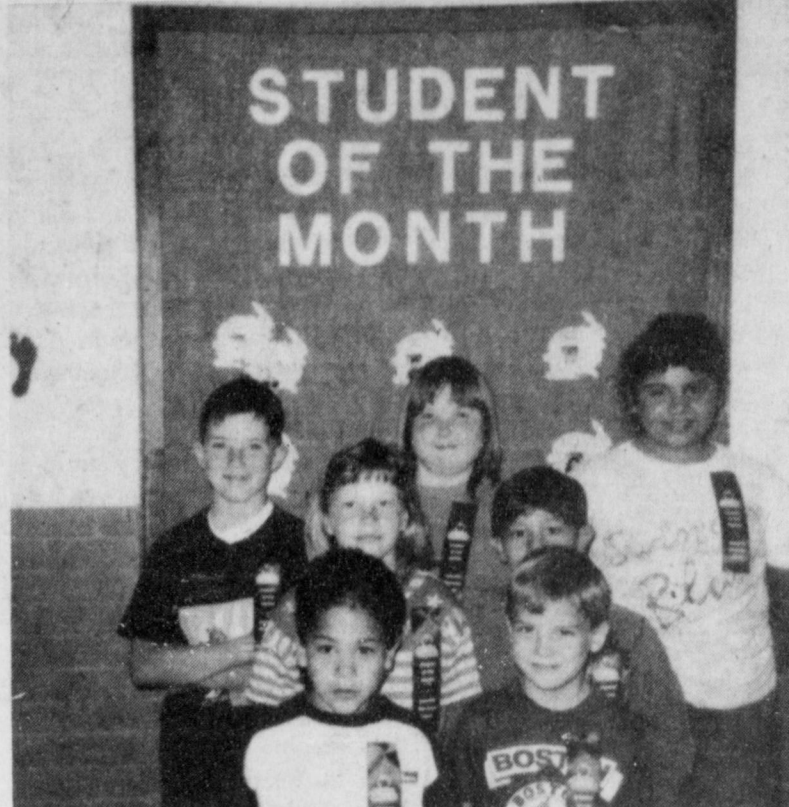

For more information on the Institute, write Director of Admissions, NMMI, 101 West College Blvd., Roswell, N.M. 88201-5173.

Retired Persons Hear Talk on ValuCare

A lively discussion at the Friday, March 27 meeting of the AARP followed a talk by Jannie Moseley, co-ordinator of Muleshoe's new ValuCare office. The office is located in the Muleshoe Area Medical Center.

"Office operations are going really well at this stage," says Moseley. She reports that recently ValuCare has obtained 44 new members and 28 merchants in the Muleshoe community are participating by giving members discounts on goods and services.

There is a ValuCare newsletter that goes to members, reports Moseley. It contains valuable information on topics of interest to this reading audience.

"When a ValuCare member has to have medical care and has no family or anyone to help him or her, I go and offer to run errands and help the patient in any way I can," Moseley says. "I also visit the hospital every day a member is hospitalized."

Among the other benefits of ValuCare are free health screening for matters like cholesterol tests, hearing, blood pressure checks and other types of tests at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

There are other types of free benefits. For instance, at Methodist Hospital Cafeteria in Lubbock, discounts of up to 25% help family members who must stay near the hospital while a loved one is being treated. There are also hotel discounts available in Lubbock.

Moseley discussed the card for members of ValuCare. On it, is recorded the individual's medical history, giving information through a microfilm process on all conditions and records.

Membership for a year is $30 or

$50 for a couple. Age to qualify is 65 except in cases where the patient is disabled and has been allowed Medicare coverage at an earlier age.

"If you are already a member and need to update you ValuCare card there is no charge for this," Moseley says. Card renewal annually is necessary and Moseley can handle renewal for any ValuCare member.

Express hospital admission that streamlines the process for patients as well as courtesy dismissal from the hospital are benefits for ValuCare members. They receive extra help in removing their personal belongings on the day of their dismissal and do not have to go through the business office of the hospital to check out as do other patients.

AARP members engaged in a brisk discussion on their experiences with ValuCare membership, reporting that it is a real benefit and one that would be hard to replace.

"More merchants want to participate in the discount program here in this community than I have had time to visit with," says Moseley.

Further information on the overall ValuCare program can be obtained from Jannie Moseley at Muleshoe Area Medical Center. Phone is 272-4521, ext. 261.

such as a pool or patio," Johnson said.

The law provides an additional tax benefit for certain homeowners. If the surviving spouse of an over-65 homeowner is at least 55 at the time of the older spouse's death, then he or she can retain the tax ceiling.

The tax ceiling, however, does not apply for other taxing units, such as the county and cities.

The chief appraiser pointed out, though, that over-65 homeowners do not need to reapply for the exemption this year if they received the exemption and tax ceiling last year. Only those who became 65 during 1991 and those who have never had the exemption and tax ceiling must apply in 1992.

Homeowners are also eligible for a $3,000 general homestead exemption because the county levies a tax for farm-to-market roads or flood control.

Johnson added that any taxing unit may offer a local-option homestead exemption that allows a percentage of each residence homestead's appraised value to be exempt. In 1992, a taxing unit may exempt up to 20 percent of each qualified homestead's appraised value.

The pamphlet also describes other exemptions available, such as those for disabled veterans, other disabled persons and senior citizens.

Productivity appraisal is another type of tax relief available to owners of agricultural or timber land. It is available in two forms, referred to by its location in the Texas Constitution: "1-d" or agricultural-use appraisal and "1-d-1" or open-space land appraisal.

Landowners who wish their land to receive 1-d appraisal must apply each year. A signed, sworn application must be filed with the chief appraiser by April 30. However, owners of land receiving 1-d-1 appraisal do not need to reapply, unless the chief appraiser requests in writing that they do so.

Because the qualifications are less restrictive, many landowners choose to apply for 1-d-1. However, if the land's use is changed to a nonagricultural one, the period for recapturing lost taxes is longer than for 1-d appraisal.

"Appraisal district personnel can offer more information about special land appraisal, tax renditions and exemptions," Johnson said. The information is also found in the "Remedies" pamphlet.

She said the pamphlet also contains information about preparing and presenting protest to the appraisal review board (ARB). The ARB is a citizen board that examines appraisal records and hears taxpayer protests to ensure that property values are fair and uniform.

Another section deals with the procedures voters must follow to petition for an election to limit the amount of a tax increase adopted by any taxing unit.

"I urge all property owners in the Bailey County Appraisal District to read the pamphlet and learn about all possible property tax relief," Johnson said. "Remember, all applications must be filed with the appraisal office by April 30 of this year."

FmHA To Approve Loans At County Level

At the urging of U.S. Representative Larry Combest (R-Texas), the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) today cleared away one of the major bottlenecks in the timely processing of subordinated farm loans.

Following up on meetings in Lubbock held with lenders, congressman Combest has addressed concerns about delays in FmHA loan processing with FmHA Administrator LaVerne Ausman. Today, the FmHA administrator has directed that subordinated loans may once again be approved at the county level, shortening the turnaround time for processing and approval of farmers' FmHA subordinated loans. Subordinated loans from FmHA give local lenders first lien on a note signed by the producer.

"I thank FmHA for responding to our concerns of loan processing, in recognition of the critical timing of the planting season," said Combest. "Producers and lenders needed FmHA to take up the slack on this financial lifeline and pull these loans through the system more efficiently. For my part, I was pleased to have given a good yank on that rope."

At Combest's urging, FmHA in

To prepare the citizens of the South Plains for the upcoming severe weather season, the National Weather Service Forecast Office in Lubbock has planned several activities relating to severe weather.

The week of April 5-11 has been declared Severe Weather Awareness Week for the South Plains. During the week, a series of Public Information Statements describing severe weather threats will be issued by the National Weather Service (NWS). These statements will be disseminated on the NOAA Weather Wire and broadcast on NOAA Weather Radio. The purpose of these statements is to remind citizens of the dangers of severe weather and to urge them to review their personal severe weather plans.

In cooperation with numerous emergency management officials and local agencies, the NWS will present a series of area severe weather seminars at various locations across the South Plains. These seminars are an effort to educate the citizens of the area regarding the threats of severe weather.

the previous week had granted his request to begin loan processing without requiring completion of three unnecessary, time-consuming loan documents. These changes were widely supported by producers and lenders as vital to meeting the challenges of the current loan-making season.

Report From Larry Combest

By Larry Combest

It is understandable with all the names and checks bouncing in congress that you should ask about my actions. While the public awaits the list, I have provided reporters with copies of an Ethics Committee letter confirming that my House Bank account has not been overdrafted. For various reasons and in varying amounts, 296 of the current 435 members of the U.S. House of Representatives have failed in balancing their personal checkbooks. Some of my colleagues who at first brushed off public reaction only demonstrated how truly out of touch they are with people who carefully manage their own personal budgets.

I have always supported disclosure of all the names of those congressional check writers. Last fall, Speaker of the House Tom Foley (D-Washington) declared the matter closed and recently the Ethics Committee tried to settle for the release of just 24 names. The public won this issue with pressure that forced the House to vote to release all the names. Now, those same constituents can best judge their own representatives, once they have the facts.

Releasing names is only a first step. The real lesson to be learned by Congress is in changing how it runs its own house. The old patronage system of the Speaker appointing insiders to important positions overseeing the House Bank and the House Post Office has been discredited. In a move forcing accountability, the U.S. Attorney General has appointed an independent investigator to review the House Bank and separate allegations of check-cashing, employee theft and certain sales at the House Post office. In the place of the same old patronage system of appointments, I favor a two-thirds majority of the House electing qualified professionals to oversee the specialized administrative duties of accounting, security and other daily operations.

More to the point, Congress has a lot to make up for in how it has conducted The People's Business. When passing laws on workplace safety, wages, the environment, freedom of information and employment standards, Congress has exempted itself from these same laws it has legislated on the people. I am a cosponsor of the "Congressional Accountability Act" requiring Congress to abide by the rules and regulations it imposes on others. If congressional accountability became the law of the land, the People's House might then have more in common with The People.

Many of you are understandably angry, as I am, at the legislative arrogance and indifference of Congress. This majority attitude has played a part in current troubles. The machine of national government sounds like it is long overdue for a tune-up.

We should not hastily junk the car because its tires are flat. The engine of democracy still runs. The freedom and creativity of its people are the spark plugs and pistons that drive future generations. We cannot let the flat tires slow us down. Let's fix the flats and move on.

Below is the Ethics Committee to Combest.

Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Mr. Combest:

The following information is provided in response to your letter of March 23, 1992.

The records available to the Committee indicate that between July 1, 1988, and October 3, 1991, the 39-month period covered by House Resolution 236, all checks written on your House Bank account were covered by sufficient funds in the account.

Sincerely,

The President's veto of the so-called Economic Growth Plan was poorly described as a middle income tax break that raised taxes on the rich. Those who sold the plan to the American people operated on the old adage, "What they don't know, won't hurt them." Actually, the political salesmen lost sight of the goal that the idea of economic growth is to create jobs to help 9-point-2 million unemployed Americans, not wage a war between the rich and the middle class. The hurt inflicted on the economy, senior citizens, first-time homebuyers and the unemployed is a big cost for such a small 41-cent-a-day middle income tax break.

There were 189 of us conservative members of the U.S. House of Representatives who voted to kill this tax bill, but 311 "tax and spenders" sent the bill to the President, which he vetoed. Congressional leaders claimed they had sent the President the economic plan that he asked for in his State of the Union message. In reality, they saddled small businesses with $78 billion in taxes and added $30 billion to the deficit over the next three years—all for a temporary 41-cent-a-day tax relief for middle-income earners.

Senior citizens, caught in the financial squeeze of lower interest earnings on their life savings, would have gained nothing from the tax bill. Additionally, the leadership's own scorekeeper, the Congressional Budget Office, estimates that the costly measure would have been paid for by more than $5-and-a-half billion in Medicare cuts over the next three years.

Fortunately, this tax bill was vetoed as promised, but the congressional leaders claimed the President was protecting the rich at the expense of the middle class. Congressional leaders not only failed to mention the huge costs, but they failed to include the one provision that would create 700,000 jobs: the $5,000 tax credit for first-time homebuyers. Building more than 300,000 homes would also have added $6 billion in additional federal revenues. The first-time homebuyer tax credit would have paid for itself, and once again helped the housing industry lead the nation out of recession, as it has seven times before.

Increasing taxes hurts jobs and hurts the economy. I voted against the 1990 Budget Deal two years ago because it increased taxes by $181 billion. Now, in the name of middle-income tax breaks, the congressional leadership would again have raised taxes, aiming at the rich, but hitting 90 percent of the country's small business owners. Sole proprietorships and partnerships would have had to cut back on payroll by cutting jobs. The resulting layoffs would have worsened the recession. You might have thought the tax and spend group would have learned a lesson from the 1990 Budget Deal. They tried to hide the costs so well, it seems that they lost sight of the economy.

Teacher Spotlight

By Sylvia Alvarado

This week our teacher spotlight shines on Mrs. Alice Arguello, a teacher assistant of migrant students. Our faculty and students are fortunate to have such a fine, dedicated faculty member.

Mrs. Alice Arguello was born in Phoenix Arizona, on June 14. She was raised in Slaton, Texas. She is happily married to Abel Arguello, the postmaster here in Muleshoe. She is an extremely proud mother of three sons: Arthur, Albert, and Andy. She enjoys arts and crafts and sewing because they are relaxing to her. Her favorite foods are steak and baked potatoes. These are some interesting facts about Mrs. Arguello.

Mrs. Arguello originally majored in Human Services. She went to South Plains College in Levelland, Texas, and to Clovis Community College in Clovis, New Mexico. She assists students with reading, math, and English. Mrs. Arguello helps sixth, seventh, and eighth graders. She is a wonderful teacher and a positive role model for everyone. Mrs. Arguello chooses to teach because she enjoys being around children. If she were to teach another area it would be kindergarten. She enjoys being a teacher assistant.

Mrs. Arguello is a very friendly teacher. The faculty and student body hope she will continue to teach and help develop the young people in our community. She is a fine example for others to model.

Mrs. Steinbock Science Teacher Of Week

By Leslie Powell

The Watson Junior High School's teacher spotlight this week focuses on Mrs. Steinbock is Watson Jr. High School's seventh grade life science teacher.

I will list some facts about Mrs. Steinbock's personal background. Mrs. Steinbock was born on March 26, 1962, right here in Muleshoe, Texas! She grew up in a small community thirty miles southwest of Muleshoe called Maple. She went to school and graduated in Three-Way. She attended Junior College at South Plains College in Levelland, Texas, and then advanced to West Texas State University in Canyon, Texas. Mrs. Steinbock majored in Composite Science-Secondary Education. Now Mrs. Steinbock is back here in Muleshoe!

Mrs. Steinbock is an interesting person. Her husband, Charleston, is a farmer. She is the mother of two children. Her daughter, Montana, is an active three and half year old, and Brock, her son, is a typical, cute one and a half year old. When it is time to eat, Mrs. Steinbock enjoys barbecue of any kind. She absolutely adores all kinds of animals! She has raised everything from fishes, cats, rabbits, dogs, to horses and miniature donkeys. She hopes to someday raise a wallaby (that is a miniature kangaroo). Mrs. Steinbock's family is very important to her--along with her animals, of course!

Mrs. Steinbock thinks she chose an interesting profession. She chose to teach because she seems to relate to kids better than to adults (maybe because she is still a kid at heart!) She decided to teach science because science of all areas have always interested her. She seems to understand them easily. From the W.J.H.S. students' point of view, she must have chosen the perfect career because she does such a good job at it.

W.J.H.S. is extremely thankful to have such a wonderful, dedicated teacher, Mrs. Belinda Steinbock. She does a fantastic job of teaching science and making school a fun place to learn!

Asparagus and Spaghetti

|---------------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| 4 tablespoons butter | 2 tablespoons chopped parsley |
| 3 tablespoons olive oil | 1 teaspoon salt |
| 2 cloves garlic, smashed | 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground pepper |
| 8 asparagus spears, (fresh or frozen) | 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese |
| 1/2 pound spaghetti | |

Place butter, oil and garlic in small saucepan over low heat. Cook until garlic is soft. In skillet in boiling, salted water, cook asparagus until tender. Drain well and set aside. While vegetables cook, bring large pot of salted water to boil. Add spaghetti and cook until tender. Toss drained spaghetti with garlic sauce, adding parsley, salt and pepper. Toss until well coated. This unique, patented, double-banded steel wheel gives flotation equal to the standard rubber tire. Its open center and straight traction lugs allows movement of soil from the pressure of the bands to flow inward. This soil then remains untouched by the mini-MAX TRAX which builds a bridge between the two bands.
