Health Tips for the New School Year

up and to-do lists get longer, make sure to put your child's health on the list.

Updating vaccinations, scheduling annual physicals and alerting your child's school about allergies and illnesses are crucial steps to ensure their academic success, according to the American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP).

"Children need to feel their best in order to learn, and schools need to be able to provide for students' daily health issues as well as special needs, accidents and emergencies," says O. Marion Burton, MD, of the AAP.

You can ensure a safe and happy year for both parent and child with a little planning. Vaccinations

Thanks to immunizations, most children in the United States today lead much healthier lives than generations past. And while vaccines have reduced many infectious diseases to low levels in the United States, vacationers can bring old and new diseases back into the country. Measles, for example, is still prevalent in other parts of the world and has been linked to recent outbreaks in the U.S. Unvaccinated children are at risk.

That's why routine, up-todate vaccinations are as important today as they have ever been. There may be tears, but the pain associated with most immunizations is minor. Consult your pediatrician about keeping your child's vaccination schedule up to

Food Allergies and Illnesses If your child suffers from food allergies or other health issues

As the new school year gears that require management during the school day, be sure to contact the school nurse and update your child's health plan at school. This will ensure that proper steps are taken if the child develops symptoms while at school, and that his or her activities are not restricted unnecessarily.

A child's health can change from year to year or even month to month, so make sure the school is well aware of how to handle new conditions or restrictions. Parents should also check that you have provided the school with any special medications your child needs.

Annual Physicals Along with your child's regular annual physical, aspiring athletes should get a sports physical before the start of the season. Children's bodies are vulnerable to injury, and as voungsters move through middle childhood becoming bigger, stronger, faster, and more aggressive the incidence of injuries rises

Make sure your athlete wears well-fitted helmet, mouthpiece, face guard, padding, eye gear, protective cup, or other equipment appropriate for the sport. Of course, regardless of whether your child is on a competitive team or not, parents should promote physical activity for all

Discussing health issues with your pediatrician before the start of the year helps children, parents and school staff ensure students' health and safety all year long.

He's Only A Boy

Please don't curse the boy down there, He is my son you see. He's only just a boy you know. He means a lot to me. I didn't raise my son dear fan

For you to call him names, He may not be a superstar, It's just a high school game.

So please don't curse those boys down there,

They do the best they can. They never tried to lose a game, They're boys and you're a man. The game belongs to them you see, You are just a guest. They do not need a fan like you, They need the very best. If you have nothing nice to say, Please leave the boys alone.

And if you have no manners, Why don't you just stay home. So please don't curse those boys down there, Each one's his parents son.

Win, or lose, or tie, you see, To us they're NUMBER ONE!

90 Years Young —Alice Roby

Over 100 friends and family helped Alice celebrate her 90th birthday with a party at Cliff and Connie's home on Saturday, August 19th. Birthday cake, punch and snack foods were enjoyed by all. Four photo boards were displayed with pictures of Alice and her family. A great time was had for a great lady!!!!!

Alice (Santleben) Roby was born on August 16, 1923 to Ed and Opal Santleben, the second of three children. Her daddy was foreman of the Kennedy Ranch in Sabinal, Texas.

At the age of 3 years she fell into a wash pot of boiling water and was burned severely. The doctor stayed all night with the Santlebens thinking she would die before morning, but God had other plans. She was saved and has led an eventful and interesting life to say the least.

She grew up, attended school and graduated from Sabinal High School in 1940. She was a beautiful girl then, and she is a beautiful woman now.

Texas Dove Season Prospects Look Bright

AUSTIN -Texas dove hunters should see plenty of opportunity this fall as conditions are shaping up for an above average season, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department (TPWD). Dove season kicks off Sunday, September 1st across most of the state.

Texas dove hunters number upwards of 250,000 and collectively bag between 5-6 million doves during the 70-day season. Thanks to new rules approved by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) this year, hunters can possess up to 45 birds — three times the daily bag limit. Previously, the possession limit was twice the daily bag. Daily bag limits still apply.

The USFWS also approved for this year an expanded Special White-wing Dove Area (SWWDA) in South Texas. The SWWDA will now extend eastward along its current boundary and continue south along Interstate 37 from San Antonio to Corpus Christi, effectively doubling its current size.

"For the last two decades, white-winged dove populations have steadily expanded both their numbers and their geographical extent," said Dave Morrison, Small Game Program Director with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. "We

4th Street Church of Christ Cisco

The 4th Street Church of Christ in Cisco, Texas is having a weekend meeting on September 6, 7, and 8th. Services will start at 7:00 p.m. on Friday and Saturday nights and at 10:30 Sunday morning. There will be a potluck dinner on Sunday after church. Our speaker will be Pat Mannon from Huntsville, Arkansas. He will be speaking on the importance of the doctrine of the Bible. Brother Mannon has a heart full of love for the Lord and His work. He is an excellent speaker and all who share in this meeting will be edified by being there. The church is located on the corner of 4th and J street in Cisco. We invite you all to come and worship God with us. believe, and the Service agrees, an expansion is appropriate to take advantage of additional hunting opportunities."

To take advantage of the earliest possible opening dates for the special area, the season will run Sunday, Sept. 1st through Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 2nd, and then reopen Saturday, Sept. 7th and Sunday, Sept. 8th. The daily bag limit during the combined four-day season is 15 doves in the aggregate to include no more than two mourning doves and two white-tipped doves and hunting during the early season in the SWWDA is permitted only from noon to rent from Sept. 1st-Oct. 23rd and Dec. 20th-Jan. 5th. The South Zone dove season is set for Sept. 20th-Oct. 27th and Dec. 20th-Jan. 20th, with the regular season in the SWWDA Sept. 20th-Oct. 23rd and Dec. 20th-Jan. 20th.

According to Shaun Oldenburger, TPWD's Dove Program Leader, hunters can expect to see an increase from last year in dove numbers.

"It appears that breeding dove numbers have increased from last year in many regions of the state," he said. "Increased precipitation helped improve dove production and generate ample food supplies. It should be a

Rural America and the Affordable Care Act

By Jon Bailey, jonb@cfra.org, Center for Rural Affairs

On October 1, 2013, many Americans will begin purchasing insurance from health insurance marketplaces. As they begin to research and purchase insurance, millions for the first time, the cost in premiums for their choice of coverage will be a consideration. Affordability will determine the success of the primary goal of the Affordable Care Act - enrollment in health insurance excoverage and reduce the nation's

The new healthcare law provides tax credits and subsidies to make health insurance more affordable for many. A new Center for Rural Affairs report (http:/ /files.cfra.org/pdf/ACAsubsidies.pdf) summarizes these provisions, how they will work, and their importance to rural Americans

Rural residents are responsible for nearly 22 percent more of their total health care costs (premiums and out-of-pocket costs) than are urban or suburban residents. Rural areas also have generally lower incomes. Combined with higher uninsured and underinsured rates, more rural residents are likely to be eligible for cost-sharing assistance and receive more valuable health insurance through the new health insurance marketplaces.

Cost-sharing and limiting outof-pocket medical expenses will be crucial for many rural families. The proportion of rural residents with nearly every chronic disease or condition is higher than in urban centers. And rural residents receive fewer regular medical check-ups and routine diagnostic tests than they medichanges to increase insurance cally and statistically should. DPS boosts patrols for Labor Day enforcement period

AUSTIN — The Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) will increase DWI patrols from August 19th - September 9th, which includes the Labor Day holiday weekend. DPS troopers will focus DWI patrols in high-risk locations at times when alcohol-related crashes are most frequent. The enhanced patrols that target impaired drivers are funded through a grant from the Texas Department of Transportation

"Keeping Texas roadways safe for all travelers is a vital concern for DPS, and these increased patrols are designed to save lives by getting intoxicated drivers off the road," said DPS Director Steven McCraw. "The Department urges drivers to mark the Labor Day holiday responsibly by utilizing safe driving practices and not drinking and driving."

During the Labor Day enforcement effort last year, DPS troopers made 1,879 DWI arrests, and approximately 503 of those were the direct result of the increased patrols. Last year during this same time period, DPS enforcement also resulted in 24,779 speeding citations, 3,890 seat belt/child safety seat citations and 4,062 no insurance tickets. In addition, troopers made 1,238 fugitive arrests, 895 felony arrests and 889 drug arrests during routine patrol operations.

DPS offers the following tips for safe travel during the Labor Day holiday:

- · Don't drink and drive. Designate a driver or take a

Proposed voluntary traceability system

During the Cattle Industry Summer Conference in Denver last week, participants heard of a potential voluntary, incentivebased program for tracing calves and feeder cattle. Jim Collins, director of industry relations with the Southeastern Livestock Network, presented a report from the Cattle Industry Animal Traceability (ATS) Working Group to the NCBA's Cattle Health and Well Being Commit-

Collins says the working group has focused on developing a framework for a voluntary traceability system to support beef exports and domestic demand. USDA this year launched their Animal Disease Traceability (ADT) system, but it covers limited classes of cattle, focusing mostly on mature breeding cattle. USDA plans to address traceability of calves and feeder cattle in a later rule-making process, after the ADT system is up and running.

The working group has spent the past 18 months developing a concept that would support the ADT system. The proposed voluntary ATS system would work as a public-private partnership with private, non-profit oversight to assure confidentiality of data in the system. It would essentially create linkages with existing private systems that currently provide age-, sourceand process-verification services for producers involved in valueadded marketing.

Animal-health officials would be able to query the database under approved circumstances to trace cattle, such as in the case of a disease outbreak.

The ATS system would use radio-frequency ID (RFID) to maintain the speed of commerce. Collins says the system would provide financial incentives, allowing producers to receive premiums for cattle that qualify for export or other valueadded markets. It also would facilitate voluntary transfer of information from feedyards to cow-calf producers. Collins says their proposal would provide traceability for animal-health purposes while leveraging the and prevent its spread.

Historically, vaccination has been viewed as a secondary strategy, primarily because the FMD-protective antibodies in vaccinated animals mimic those resulting from exposure. However, attitudes regarding vaccistrategy are changing. Other elements of a control strategy include biosecurity and "stamping out," or destruction of animals in an affected area.

Zack says APHIS has set three primary FMD response goals: FMD in animals as quickly as

2. Eradicate FMD using strategies that seek to stabilize animal agriculture, the food supply, the economy and protect public

3. Provide science- and riskbased approaches and systems to facilitate continuity of business for non-infected animals and non-contaminated animal products.

If it becomes apparent that stamping out will not achieve control, containment and eradication of FMD, alternative strategies will be considered. Zack outlined several strategies that could come into play, depending in part on the size of the outbreak and the virulence of

Doctor of Neurophysiology Visits Museum — Dr. William H. Cooke, Director of the Laboratory for Applied Autonomic Neurophysiology at the University of Texas, San Antonio. The primary focus of this laboratory is the "study of human cardiovascular and cerebrovascular regulatory mechanisms." As he pulled into the parking area at the museum on his motorcycle, he quipped that such a ride is a great stress reliever! His interest in the Conan stories as a young teen-ager paralleled his own interest in body building and using his imagination to take him to different worlds and times. Since that beginning, Cooke has branched out into several of Howard's other stories as well as interest in Howard's life as a writer. To that end, he has retraced Howard's journey from Peaster to Cross Plains, as written about in letters to friends. He was delighted to be directed to the series of books published by the Robert E. Howard Foundation Press that share the collected letters of Howard's. A neurophysiologist-definitely a first at the

REH Visitors — Eric Woodward and Stan Lejeune took a break from their jobs to come to Cross Plains just to visit REH Museum last week. Woodard works as a sub-contractor installing fire sprinkler systems in the Lake Charles area and Leieune is a professor of Biology at the Delgado Community College in New Orleans. Like so many visitors before him, Woodward became interested in Howard's stories via the comic book route as a teen-ager. His tastes have since expanded to several other genres and he is currently interested in westerns. Another avenue of the comic books he has pursued are the fantastic covers created by the late Frank Frazetta. To this end, the guys had visited the Frazetta Home and Museum in PA a few years ago and continued to be impressed with the art of Frazetta. Laden with books and t-shirts, the pair stopped by Jean's for lunch before heading to Brownwood to see the Howard related sites.

REH Visitor — Justin Whitney of Houston continued the steady stream of visitors at the REH Museum last Tuesday. After working for years as a broadcasting engineer for Fox Sports, he is currently devoting full time efforts to his writing. True to his interest in Howard, he is writing a fantasy novel that promises to be completed soon. In addition to his interest in the fantasy realm and the comics, he is currently delving into the tales of Steve Costigan, Howard's boxing protagonist. Promising to return with friends, he left with several books to prove to those friends that he had been here.

Texas Economy Grows by 19,900 Jobs in July

AUSTIN — The Texas for Financial Activities. The economy added 19,900 seasonally adjusted total nonfarm jobs in July for a total of 293,000 jobs added since July 2012. Texas' seasonally adjusted unemployment rate held steady in July at 6.5 percent. Texas' unemployment rate remained below the nation's July unemployment rate of 7.4 percent.

"As of July, Texas has maintained a positive annual growth rate for 39 straight months," said Texas Workforce Commission (TWC) Chairman Andres Alcantar. "Financial Activities led the way in July with 9,000 added jobs; the largest monthly increase in that major industry since 1998. We encourage job seekers to visit their local Workforce Solutions office to find current employment opportunities."

This was the sixth monthly gain in the past seven months monthly growth brings the over-the-year total jobs added in the industry to 19,000.

"It's good to see growth across several different fieldsin particular Mining and Logging, which includes jobs in the oil and gas industries," said TWC Commissioner Representing Labor Ronny Congleton. "That industry grew by 8,000 jobs in July alone and has grown by almost 6 percent in the last year."

Information employment surged in July with the addition of 4,800 positions. This industry has grown by 6,300 jobs over the last year for an annual growth rate of 3.2 percent. Trade, Transportation, and Utilities also saw positive job gains over the month in Texas, adding 3,200 jobs for a total of 53,000 jobs added over the year.

"The private sector continues to lead the way for our state's economy, adding more than 278,000 jobs over the last year," said TWC Commissioner Representing Employers Hope Andrade. "Our 3.1 percent annual growth rate compares favorably to 2.1 percent for the private sector nationally."

The Midland Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA) had the lowest July unemployment rate in the state at 3.5 percent. The Odessa MSA came in second at 4.2 percent and the Amarillo MSA third at 5.1 percent (not seasonally

Can anyone resist the lure of hummingbirds?

These tiny jewels are able to fly backward and upside down and to hover in midair. Their ranks include the world's smallest bird, and their eggs can be small enough to fit on the face of a penny. Yet they are capable of migrating as far as two thousand miles, even flying five hundred miles over the open water of the Gulf of Mexico to wintering grounds in Mexico and Central America. In Texas we are lucky enough to have them in parks, around schools, and in our backyards.

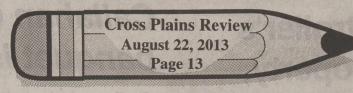

The Big Country Chapter of Texas Master Naturalist is happy to provide an opportunity to the public to learn more about these elegant little fliers on August 24th, from 9AM to 12 Noon. Our speaker will be Mark Klym, coauthor of the book, Hummingbirds of Texas. Mark works as a wildlife diversity biologist with Texas Parks and Wildlife and is coordinator of the Hummingbird Roundup and Texas Wildscapes programs. He is from Canada and studied at Lake Superior State University, where he received degrees in Biological Science and in Fisheries and Wildlife Management.

Mark's program will cover identification of hummingbirds typically found in Texas. The presentation will also help you to manage your surroundings to make them attractive and safe for these tiny visitors. Our workshop will finish with explanation of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Hummingbird Roundup program; this program is an important source of information to biologists concerned with the birds' movements and habits and will give you an excellent way to begin your career as a "Citizen Scientist."

The Hummingbird Workshop will be presented at the Taylor County Extension Office located on the grounds of the Taylor County Expo Center on the morning of August 24th, from 9 to 12 noon. There is no admission or pre-registration. Please join the Big Country Master Naturalist for this great opportunity to learn about some of our most beautiful and fascinating birds.

PR Daily Honors Comptroller's Office for Unclaimed Property, Scholarship Foundation Outreach

AUSTIN - PR Daily recently honored the Texas Comptroller's Office for excellence in outreach and promotion of two programs aimed at helping Texans: the Comptroller's Unclaimed Property Division and the Texas Match the Promise FoundationSM.

PR Daily - an online website that follows trends and opinions on public relations, marketing, social media and media - awarded the Comptroller's office as a part of its 2013 Nonprofit PR Awards. The Comptroller's efforts were honored after being judged among the works of more than 200 nonprofits and state and local government entities.

The Comptroller's office received honorable mentions in the Best Press Release and Best Traditional Marketing Campaign categories. PR Daily specifically honored a key staff member and two teams for their contributions: Delane Caesar, Chief of Information college tuition plan.

Outreach, Data Services and Transparency; Comptroller's Unclaimed Property Division; and the Comptroller's Texas Match the Promise team.

The campaign and press release both were used in outreach efforts to spur public awareness of the Comptroller's Unclaimed Property Division and the Match the Promise Foundation scholarship program.

The Unclaimed Property Division provides Texans opportunities to search for forgotten money, file claims and donate to the Texas Match the Promise Foundation. The Foundation encourages families to save for college by awarding matching scholarship and tuition grants to deserving Texas children whose parents have made a commitment to save for their child's education through the Texas Tuition Promise FundTM, the state's prepaid

Both the Unclaimed Property and the Match the Promise teams have celebrated recent milestones. In July, the Comptroller's office celebrated the return of $1 billion in unclaimed property since 2007, which exceeds the amount returned in the 44 years before 2007. And in March, the Texas Match the Promise Foundation awarded its first-ever round of scholarships and grants to 60 Texas students.

Texans can search for their unclaimed property at www.ClaimltTexas.org, and anyone wishing to learn more about Match the Promise Foundation or donate to the fund providing scholarships and grants to deserving Texans should visit www.MatchThePromise.org.
