ROSEMARY SPENCER JEFFERIES Rosemary Spencer Jefferies

Rosemary Spencer Jefferies was received into the arms of her Lord and Savior Jesus Christ and reunited with her husband of 59 years on August 21, 2016. Rosemary was born in a tworoom farmhouse near Cross Plains, Texas, on May 11, 1937, to parents Franklin and Helen Spencer. She was raised on the family farm and graduated in 1955 from Cross Plains High School where she was named "Most Beautiful Girl", was a majorette and twirler in the band, and represented the FFA at the state competition. She was an excellent student who had many friends.

After graduating Rosemary worked as a bookkeeper in Baird, Texas, where one fateful day a tall, dark and handsome coach at the local high school spied this young beauty while picking up mail at the Post Office. This meeting began courtship that culminated in her marrying H.R. Jefferies on November 28, 1956. Rosemary and H.R. lived in Baird, Abilene, Paducah and Comanche. They had three children - David, Spencer and Kirk - with Rosemary serving her family as the most devoted wife, mother and homemaker there could ever be. Behind every great man is a great woman, and that great woman was Rosemary Jefferies. She was a true prayer warrior for her family where she always "kept that prayerwheel turning." Rosemary al clubs and was involved in loc was an active member of First Baptist Church of Comanche where she led youth choirs for many years and served on various committees. She was musically talented as a pianist with a beautiful voice who entertained at the Whitestone retirement community.

Locally

In 1989 Rosemary was rewarded for her perseverance and patience in raising three sons with the addition of a daughter (in-law) to the family. She became a fanatical grandparent in 1992 with the birth of her first grandchild. In the years to follow she was richly blessed as two more daughters became part of the family along with eight more grandchildren. She was "Meemaw" to all of her grandchildren as she unapologetically spoiled them in extraordinary fashion. She truly loved the Lord and her family, and loved nothing more than spending time with her family, especially her grandkids.

Rosemary was preceded in death by her parents and husband who met her at the Gates. She is survived by her brother Bill and wife Sara of Abilene; sister-in-laws, Capitola Meyerdirk of Abilene and Thelda Jefferies of San Antonio; sons and daughter-in-laws, David and Glenda of Corpus Christi, Spencer and Candace of Argyle, and Kirk and Ann of Fort Worth; grandchildren Brenna, Reagan, Jacob, Jewel, Henry, Annabelle, Cayley, Hattie and George; "adopted" grandchildren Sarah and Hayden Taylor; and many nieces and nephews.

A celebration of the life of Rosemary Jefferies will be held on August 27 at 10:30am at First Baptist Church Comanche, with burial to follow. Arrangements handled by Heartland Funeral Homeof Comanche. Family visitation will be held on August 26 from 6-7pm at Heartland. In lieu of flowers, the family requests that memorial gifts be made to First Baptist Church Comanche, 407 N Houston, Comanche, TX 76442. The family would like to express its deepest appreciation to Aunt Cap, Rick and Kelly, and Bob and Beth who faithfully ministered to the family of H.R. and Rosemary over the past few years.

NEW MARKET BANNER

The Market at Clyde at The Old Firehouse Has New Banner

The Market at Clyde is displaying a new banner made for them by RDA Graphics in Clyde. The vendors are very pleased with the quality of the banner and happy to see it displayed.

This past Saturday, Aug 13th, was a beautiful day for vendors to meet at The Old Firehouse on North First Street. There was a nice variety for shoppers. All items were handmade by local artist, artisans and home cooks.

Each month The Market will have a local church or non-profit cooking and selling food. This month Clyde First Assembly of God served Pulled Pork, Hamburgers and Hot Dogs. There were so many compliments on the Pulled Pork that they have been asked to return September 10. They are raising funds for a new stage serve food for a fund raiser.

and sound equipment for their Children's Church. Thanks are sent out to all of those that showed their support by purchasing sandwiches and meals.

It has been noted that approximately half of the customers that shop at The Market at Clyde come from Abilene and the surrounding area. Those shoppers are tending to be repeat customers. Thank you to all of the loyal friends and customers for your support.

If you are interested in becoming a vendor at The Market at Clyde please email themarketatclyde@gmail.com or call 325-518-3939. You may also use this same contact information if you are a nonprofit or church that would like to be considered for booth to

DPS reminds drivers to obey traffic laws, Watch For Children as new school year begins

AUSTIN - As the start of the new school year approaches, the Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) cautions Texans to watch for children who are walking to and from school or waiting for buses. Drivers should be especially alert and careful around school buses - which make frequent stops and always follow traffic laws regarding school buses and school zones

"DPS is calling on drivers to do their part in keeping our children safe this school year by always obeying school zone speed limits and stopping for school buses," said DPS Director Steven McCraw. "Individuals who disregard the law and illegally pass stopped school buses not only face significant traffic fines, but they needlessly put children in harm's way - and we take these violations very seriously." The moments when students are entering or exiting a bus can be one of the most dangerous times during a child's trip on a school bus. Accordingly, DPS urges drivers to slow down and pay attention in school zones, since children may unexpectedly step into a roadway without checking for oncoming traffic.

State law requires that approaching drivers stop when a bus is stopped and operating a visual signal - either red flashing lights or a stop sign. Drivers should not proceed until the school bus resumes motion; the driver is signaled by the bus driver to proceed; or the visual signal is no longer activated. A driver does not have to stop for a school bus that is operating a visual signal if it is on a highway with roadways separated by an intervening space or physical barrier. (If a highway is divided only by a left-turning lane, the roadways are not considered separated, and drivers must stop for school buses.) Drivers who illegally pass school buses face fines up to $1,250 for a first offense. For individuals convicted of this offense more than once, the law allows the individual's driver license to be suspended for up to six months. (A ticket for illegally passing a school bus cannot be dismissed through defensive driving.)

Jeremiah 29:11 Project Delivers Over 1000 Hot Meals, Along with Books and Snacks, During Summer Months

We Did It Again!

Our Summer 2016 - Jeremiah 29:11 Program was a great success. We served hot meals to children and youth who would not have had a hot lunch during the summer months.

These nutritious meals were prepared at the Cross Plains Senior Center by the loving hearts and hands of Vivian Wooten, Carie Wheeler and Jordan Collier. Dannes Turner, director of the center helped keep us organized and "on target". Ray Decker, Leslie Wyatt and Hannah McKinney were a big help.

A large bag of nutritious snacks for the weekend and age-appropriate books for each child were delivered with the hot meals every Friday.

Lots of volunteers helped with the delivery of the meals, books and snacks. Here are the Facts...

We served about 1050 meals We served 29 meals each day We spent about $4200 on meals

We delivered 27-29 ageappropriate books each week.

These books were compliments of the Cross Plains Library. the Frances R. Dewing Foundation and the Cross Plains Kiwanis Chapter. The snacks were compliments of the Trull Foundation.

Our bags were donated by the Cross Plains Dollar General. We served meals from May 30th - August 19th. Manyorganizations, churches, and individuals gave of their finances and time.

Our volunteers for delivery and putting snacks in bags were very much appreciated. Those volunteers were: Lexie Bagley, Sam Horan, Roby Odom, Korbin McLean, Kaymie Wells, Bailey Wells, Alexis Thompson, Christine Woodard, Loralei Woodard, Marsha Ossowski, Sheila Allen, Brittany Boque, Mona Dyer, Vicky Worley, Debbie Edington, Pam Harris, David and Mindy Estes, Barbara Dillard, Whitney and Matt Henderson, Cliff and Connie Kirkham and all the Seniors and volunteers at the Senior Center who helped fill the weekend snack bags. Wow! We couldn't have done it without you!

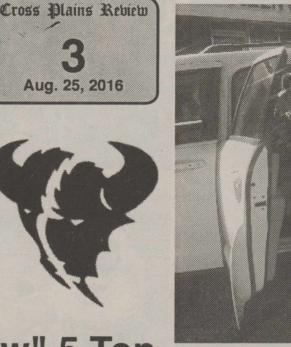

Getting the Meals Ready - Sheila Allen and Marsha Ossowski, along with Hannah McKinney at left, prepare hot meals for the Jeremiah 29:11 Project. Marsha and Sheila also delivered meals on Thursdays.

Bagging Up Goodies - Brandy Deliege and her daughters Mikki and Addi bag up goodies for the Jeremiah 29:11 Project. The project sends a bag of healthy snacks home to program participants each Friday during the summer.

Cross Plains VFD Receives "New" 5 Ton Truck from Texas A&M Forest Service; Will Become Heavy Brush Firetruck

The Texas A&M Forest Service delivered a 1998

Brittany Bogue loading the car and getting ready to deliver hot meals.

Stewart and Stevenson M1083 Diesel Cargo 5 Ton 6x6 Truck to the Cross Plains Volunteer Fire Department on Tuesday morning.

Our local volunteer firefighters will convert this truck into a Heavy Brush truck for fighting fire in the Cross Plains area. When completed, the vehicle will be placed into service as "Number 56".

Tanks, pump, lights and other parts have been removed from the "Old Number 56" brush truck that was, until recently, in service. The firefighters will use this equipment on the new truck. The body of the old truck was sent back with the Forest Service.

If you'd like to help with the expenses of converting the

Service to Offer Final Professional Food Manager Certification Training Course for 2016

Statistics indicate that foodborne illness continues to be a health issue in the United States. Each year, 1 in 6 Americans will become sick, 128,000 will become hospitalized, and 3,000 will die due to a foodborne illness.

Texas Food Establishment Rules state that each food establishment is required to have one certified food manager on site.

Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service in Taylor, Jones and Nolan Counties, is offering a professional food manager certification training course. This two day program will be offered for $125.00 on October 17 and October 18 at the Taylor County Extension Office. Cost includes training, materials, and the ServSafe food manager certification examination. The food manager's certification will be valid for five years. Registration deadline is September 26 and only 50 individuals will be accepted into the course.

This program is designed to not only prepare food service managers to pass the certification examination; it will provide valuable education regarding the safe handling of food. Almost 50 cents of every dollar Americans spend on food is spent on meals prepared away from home. Therefore, careful attention to food safety will help keep customers safe and satisfied.

Foodborne illnesses are estimated to cost thousands of dollars in lost wages, insurance, and medical bills. With these statistics, knowledge of how to prevent foodborne illness is essential. The benefits of improved food safety include:

 Increased customer satisfaction

• Improved relationships with health officials

• Prevention of bad publicity and law suits due to foodborne illness

By attending the course, food service managers will learn about:

 Identifying potentially hazardous foods and common errors in food handling

 Preventing contamination and cross-contamination of food

• Teaching and encouraging personal hygiene for employees Complying with government regulations

• Maintaining clean utensils, equipment and surroundings Controlling pests

Foodborne illnesses can be prevented by following simple food safety practices. For more information about the Professional Food Manager Certification Training course of Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service, called "Food Safety: It's Our Business," call Jane Rowan at 325-672-6048. You may also access a downloadable registration form at http://taylor.agrilife.org.

TxDot urges drivers to plan for a sober ride leading up to Labor Day Holiday

'Plan While You Can' Campaign aims to reduce crashes, save lives during holiday weekend

AUSTIN — As celebrations are finalized to mark the last days of summer, the Texas Department of Transportation urges drivers to make a plan leading up to the Labor Day holiday — a plan for a safe and sober ride home. "Drinking and driving remains a big problem in Texas," said TxDOT Executive Director James Bass. "If you plan to gaming technology to educate the public about the effects of alcohol on a person's reflexes. As participants play, virtual drinks are added and the players' on-screen avatars become less able to dodge incoming "dodgeballs." The game demonstrates how even one drink can slow reaction times.

drink, you must plan ahead for a safe and sober ride home. It's a plan that could save a family — even your own — from the heartbreak of losing a loved one."

TxDOT's "Plan While You Can" campaign kicked off today in San Antonio and runs through September 5 to coincide with Labor Day and increased DWI enforcement in Texas. During the Labor Day holiday period in 2015, there were 359 alcohol-related crashes that led to 12 fatalities and 36 serious injuries.

The campaign is a multi-city tour featuring an interactive dodgeball game that uses As always, TxDOT strongly encourages everyone to plan for a sober ride before going out. In addition to potentially life threatening crashes, drivers under the influence of alcohol could face up to $17,000 in fines and fees, jail time and loss of their driver's license. Visit SoberRides.org to find alternatives to drinking and driving, such as:

• Calling a taxi or using a transportation app on your smartphone.

• Using mass transit.

New Postage Stamp

A two dollar postage stamp will shortly be issued by the post office department. The highest existing value for general use is the 60 cents stamp, and the need of a higher value has been urged. It was at first proposed to put Mr. Garfield's portrait on this stamp, but the authorities ordered it put on the five cent stamp, which is used for single letter postage on all letters passing between this country and others of the postal union. The two dollar stamp will be mainly used on heavy packages passing across the waters, several countries have already issued stamps of high values. England has one of 10s and one of 20s.

HHS awards $5,054,133 to improve Texas health center quality Shackelford Community Resource Clinic receives $74,636 in three awards

Texas is receiving 71 awards totaling $5,054,133 to invest in health center quality improvement efforts, and to provide high quality comprehensive care. Health centers in Texas will use these funds to expand current quality improvement systems and infrastructure and to improve primary care service delivery in the communities they serve.

"Millions of Americans rely on health centers to provide them with quality health care," said Dr. Mary Wakefield, HHS Acting Deputy Secretary. "These quality improvement awards will support health centers to continue to deliver superior health care that engages patients, improves care coordination and bridges overall access to care."

Health centers are receiving these FY 16 funds based upon high levels of performance in one or more of the following categories: Improving Quality of Care, Advancing Health Equity, Maintaining Patient-Centered Medical Home (PCMH) Recognition, Enhancing Access to Care, and Delivering Value. This funding comes from the Affordable Care Act's Community Health Center (CHC) Fund, which was extended with bipartisan support in the Medicare Access and CHIP Reauthorization Act (MACRA) of 2015.

"Health centers are evaluated on a set of performance measures emphasizing health outcomes and the value of care delivered," said Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) Acting Administrator Jim Macrae. "These measures provide a balanced, comprehensive look at services to manage conditions among the vulnerable populations served by health centers."

Nationally, more than $100 million was awarded to 1.304 health centers in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and seven territories for quality improvement efforts.

Total funding in Texas was $5,054,133 for 71 awards.

Shackelford County Community Resource, headquartered in Albany, received a total of $74,636 in three separate awards.

The Shackelford County Community Resource received a $10,000 award for EHR Reporter. Electronic Health Record (EHR) Reporters, are employed EHRs to report on all clinical quality measures (CQM) date for all the health center's patients.

The Shackelford Community Resource Clinic also received a Clinic Quality Improvers award in the amount of $14,636. The Clinical Quality Improvers award demonstrated notable improvement in one of more CQMs between 2014 and 2015. Shackelford Community Resource Clinic was also awarded a PCMH Recognition award in the amount of $50,000. The PCMH Recognition award went to health centers that achieved PCMH recognition for their service delivery sites.

Shackelford County Community Resource has clinics in Albany, Breckenridge, Baird, Clyde, Cross Plains and Merkel.

Nearly 1,400 health centers operating over 9,800 sites provide care to more than 24 million people across this nation, in every U.S. state, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and the Pacific Basin. Today, health centers employ nearly 190,000 people.

their exploits echoed across the empty plains into the American imagination. Doc Holliday became one of the most famous of these figures, and his journey into' legend began in the Lone Star State

John Henry "Doc" Holliday was born in central Georgia in 1851. His father was a veteran of the Mexican War and the Civil War. He became an expert shot while a youngster. When he was a teenager, his mother and stepbrother both died from tuberculosis, a widespread and deadly lung infection that was often called the "white plague." Holliday was an ambitious young man with a brilliant mind. He reportedly absorbed languages such as Greek, Latin, and French. In 1870, he enrolled at the Pennsylvania College at the notorious shoot-out at of Dental Surgery, the most prestigious dental school in the country at the time, though few such schools were to be had. In just over a year, at the age of 20, he completed his doctorate.

He soon established a dental practice in Georgia and was on his way to a quiet, respectable career when he also came down with tuberculosis. While the disease is easily curable today, it was a death sentence in the 1870s. The common belief at the time was that the warm, dry climates of the West could slow the deterioration of the lungs. So with little left to lose, Holliday moved to Texas.

He established a successful dental practice in downtown Dallas in 1873. However, his coughing fits during examinations and news of his contagious illness frightened away many patients. As a result, the gambling he once enjoyed for recreation became an important source of income

As Dallas leaders attempted to tame the wild frontier city, gambling became a crime. Well-known gamblers like Holliday were targeted, and he was indicted in 1874 for illegal gambling. The situation grew even worse in 1875 when he got into a shootout with a Dallas bartender. While he was acquitted in the incident, Holliday realized his from tuberculosis made it difficult to stay in business. Within a few months, he left for Fort Griffin, northeast of modern-day Abilene. His Grayson County office was the last known time he had a regular dental practice.

At Fort Griffin, Holliday began gambling full time and moving from place to place. For a time, he worked as a card dealer in Colorado. On a trip back to Fort Griffin, he met Wyatt Earp, who was then working as a Deputy U. S. Marshal in pursuit of a suspected train robber.

The two became close friends and that loyalty itself became a legend. Holliday saved Earp's life on several occasions and stood with him and his brothers the O. K. Corral in Tombstone, Arizona, in 1881.

but his increasing complications fight at the O. K. Corral spread and eventually found their way into the movies. While many variations on the story have appeared, from such actors as Victor Mature, Kirk Douglas, and Dennis Quaid, many depictions gained acclaim for the portrayal of the legendary figure who was as quick with a one-liner as he was with his guns. Val Kilmer's performance as an unflappable and quick-witted Holliday in Tombstone (1993) has by itself won a legion of fans.

> Arrested more than a dozen times and responsible for shooting an untold number of men, Holliday was never convicted of a crime. Each April, Denison celebrates the Doc Holliday Festival in honor of its one-time resident.

Land values, rental rates have to come down, report says

By Spencer Chase © Copyright Agri-Pulse Communications, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Aug.15, 2016 - More affordable cropland isn't just something that could improve producer margins; it's something that is an absolute necessity, according to a new report.

That report, released Monday by Rabobank's Sterling Liddell, says that land valuations and rental rates need to be decreased over the course of the next two years to compensate for decreased commodity prices and tighter profit margins.

"While each rental agreement is different and should be analyzed separately, generally this means a $30/acre to $50/ acre decrease," he said after describing dropping price projections. "Such a move would push returns from farming back to near breakeven.

Rural Infrastructure Summit An increase in commodity prices between 2006 and 2013 was mirrored in asking prices for acres suitable for planting. In nine of the 12 years prior to 2014, most row crop areas in the U.S. observed doubledigit year-on-year growth, but steady decreases have followed in the last two years. That's something that has to happen, Liddell asserts, if producers are going to be profitable in the face of "a 40 percent to 50 percent decline in commodity row crop prices and the inability for some costs - particularly land - to decline at the same rate."

the production of row crop commodities, the cost of land must reflect substantial longterm changes in profitability," Liddell said in the report. "However, as of 2014, the cost of renting an acre of land has significantly detached from the returns generated from producing the crop."

Whilemaybenotassubstantial as might be necessary, land values appear to be dropping. According to the Department of Agriculture, cropland prices have dropped 1 percent nationwide in the last year to an average of $4,090 per acre, but have still increased in 21 states over the same time period. Values in Pennsylvania have seen the biggest increase (up 3.4 percent to $6,100 per acre), and California has the priciest overall land at an average of almost $11,000 per acre.

Unsurprisingly, the Corn Belt remains the costliest region in the country to acquire some new land; prices in lowa, Illinois, and Indiana all top $7,000 per acre even with year-over-year price decreases in several of the region's states. Just to the west, four states along the central strip of the continental U.S. experienced significant drops: North Dakota land is down 6.5 percent to $2,000 per acre, South Dakota is down 5.6 percent to $3,520 per acre, Nebraska land is down 4.3 percent to an average of $4,850 per acre, and Kansas land experienced the biggest value drop in the country, down 7.2 percent to $2,050 per acre. USDA's figures track land value, not necessarily rental "As the primary asset in rates, but the two are usually closely related.

If rental rates do not decrease, Liddell paints a somewhat dismal picture for what could happen as producers look to adjust. Other costs of production inputs such as nutrients or crop protectants may be targeted for savings, something he says could "degrade the production value of the land for multiple years." Producers could also be forced to walk away from land or take on acres in the form of custom farming agreements, both of which would be riskier alternatives than paying lower rent.

Like what you see on the Agri-Pulse website? See even more ag, rural policy and energy news when you sign up for a four-week free trial Agri-Pulse subscription.

On top of the need for cheaper rent, Liddell says in the report that some land - possibly as much as 3 million to 5 million acres nationwide - may need to be pulled from production to compensate for bin-busting harvests like what USDA is predicting for this growing season.

And why should a landowner be willing to accept less for their asset? Liddell points to the financial reality of the situation.

"The call to action is for landowners to clearly understand the economic condition of farming and negotiate appropriate rental rates that will allow the tenant to farm effectively," he said.

Cross Plains 2016 retail sales lower by 10% compared to 2015

The City of Cross Plains' one percent city sales tax payments in 2016 are just over ten percent lower than 2015, according to the Texas State Comptroller's office.

Texas State Comptroller Glenn Hegar reported the city's sales tax payment on Wednesday, August 10th Cross Plains' 2016 sales tax payments for the year totaled $145,044.74, which is 10.23 percent lower than the $161,586.99 in sales tax rebate payments collected in 2015.

The payment to the city for August 2016 was $21,032.69, which is lower by 8.74 percent from the August 2015 payment of $23,047.10.

Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar announced today, Wednesday, August 10th, he will send cities, counties, transit systems and special purpose taxing districts $769.3 million in local sales tax allocations for August, 1.2 percent more than in August 2015. These allocations are based on sales made in June by businesses that report tax monthly, and sales made in April, May and June by quarterly filers.

"The cities of San Antonio, Austin, Fort Worth, Arlington, Plano and Irving saw noticeable increases in sales tax allocations," Hegar said. "Energy-centric cities, such as Houston and Midland, continue to see decreases in sales tax allocations.'

Hegar sent Texas cities $505.2 million in August 2016, which is higher by 1.8 percent compared to August 2015 and higher by 0.9 percent year-to-date.

He reported $43.0 million in August 2016 allocations to Texas counties, which is lower by 7.1 percent compared to August 2015 and lower by 6.0 percent year-to-date.

The Texas transit systems received $174.4 million in August 2016 sales tax allocations, which is 1.4 percent higher than August 2015 and higher by 0.7 percent year-to-date.

Special Purpose Taxing Districts received $46.8 million in August 2016 allocations, which is 1.8 percent higher than August 2015 and higher by 0.4 percent year-to-date.

Mexican Ground Squirrel

Skittish is a word to describe someone who is constantly in a state of nervousness and movement. The same word can be used to describe a familiar rodent of West Texas, the Mexican Ground Squirrel.

Mexican Ground Squirrels (Spermophilus mexicanus) prefer to inhabit the grassy or brushy areas in western and southern Texas. More often than not, these favored areas are enhanced by mesquite and prickly-pear cactus. Overgrazed pastures are also a significant habitat resource, as are manmade clearings. Found in Texas from the lower Texas Panhandle southeastward to Port Aransas, this species occupies four major eco-regions of Texas: the southern Llano Estacado, the Trans-Pecos. the Edwards Plateau, and the Tamaulipan Thornscrub.

Mexican Ground Squirrels are the second-largest of the four species of the genus of total length, of which five inches is comprised of the tail. Reading genres are a personal choice. What I like to read may not suit your taste. And vice versa. That's why I am doing this review on a book that I could not finish. As a matter of fact, I was listening to the first disc of the audiobook and could not get past track #8. I don't consider myself a prude, but there was so much foul language (including the "f" word and the "N" word) and fornicating that I just couldn't listen anymore. Which is a shame, because it sounded like a fun story, and the woman who reads it on the CD - Catherine Taber - has a sweet southern drawl that is easy to listen to.

The audio book is "Gods in Alabama" by Joshilyn Jackson. It was recommended by a patron who knew that I liked Janet Evanovich's Stephanie Plum Series. Arlene Fleet hails from Possett. Alabama and has moved up north to go to college. She made three promises to God: she will never tell another lie; she will stop having sex with every man who crosses her path; and, she will NEVER, EVER go back to Possett. Well you know what they say about never saying "never." In return, God will give her a small miracle - make sure no one ever finds the body she left there. Ten years later, a twist of fate lands Arlene back in Possett (seems God broke His part of the deal - how ludicrous!) and her past is catching up to her.

That's all I can tell you about the story since I didn't listen to it . But if you can tolerate the negatives I pointed out, then this might be quite entertaining. Just let me know how it all turned out!

Texas Hunting, Fishing Licenses

Offer New Way to Fight Hunger

Licenses On Sale Monday To Include Donation to Hunters for the Hungry

Austin - Texas hunters and fisherman will encounter a new opportunity to donate money to Hunters for the Hungry when purchasing or renewing their licenses this year. Their donation will support a popular program that provides thousands of servings of venison annually to struggling Texans.

"Hunters for the Hungry brings healthy protein to struggling families while encouraging environmental stewardship,' said Celia Cole, CEO of Feeding Texas, which sponsors the program. "It's a win-win for hunters, landowners, processors and Texans who are struggling to make ends meet." The program, which is a partnership between Feeding Texas, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department and local meat processors, offers hunters the opportunity to donate excess deer meat to needy families in their community. The meat is distributed through a statewide network of regional food banks via local charities. The new donation option resulted from legislation passed by the Texas Legislature in 2015. Roughly 2.6 million licenses are sold in Texas annually.

"We encourage all hunters and fishermen who want to give to their community to make a donation when they apply for a license this year," said Cole. Contributions from hunting licenses will allow Feeding Texas to expand the program. Hunters who want to donate meat must bring either a white tail or mule deer to a participating meat processor, pay a discounted processing fee and receive a tax-deductible receipt for their donation. The processor grinds and packages the meat for distribution by a local food bank. The program has operated in Texas for over twenty years and has been managed by Feeding Texas since 2012.

Feeding Texas leads a unified effort for a hunger-free Texas. To learn more about supporting Hunters for the Hungry, call 512-527-3624.

Voters in November election have additional ID options announces Secretary Cascos

AUSTIN - Today, Texas copy or original of one of the Secretary of State Carlos H. Cascos announced voters will have additional options when presenting ID at the polls for the November election.

"In elections this fall, Texas voters who cannot obtain one of the seven forms of approved photo ID will have additional options when casting their ballots," said Secretary Cascos. "My agency is working to make sure Texans know about these changes and that all qualified voters are ready to cast a ballot."

As provided by a court order issued today, if a voter is not able to obtain one of the seven forms of approved photo ID, the voter may vote by (1) signing a declaration at the polls explaining why the voter is unable to obtain one of the seven forms of approved photo ID, and (2) providing one of various forms of supporting documentation.

Supporting documentation can be a certified birth certificate (must be an original), a valid voter registration certificate, a following: current utility bill, bank statement, government check, or paycheck, or other government document that shows the name and address of the voter, although government documents which include a photo must be original and cannot be copies. If a voter meets these requirements and is otherwise eligible to vote, the voter will be able to cast a regular ballot in the election.

The seven forms of approved photo ID are:

 Texas driver license issued by the Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS)

 Texas Election Identification Certificate issued by DPS

• Texas personal identification card issued by DPS

 Texas license to carry a handgun issued by DPS

• United States military identification card containing the person's photograph

• United States citizenship certificate containing the person's photograph

 United States passport With the exception of the U.S. citizenship certificate, the approved photo ID must be current or have expired no more than four years before being presented for voter qualification at the polling place.

Voters with a disability may continue to apply with the county registrar for a permanent exemption to showing approved photo ID (which now may be expired no more than four years) at the polls. Also, voters who (1) have a consistent religious objections to being photographed or (2) do not present one of the seven forms of approved photo ID because of certain natural disasters as declared by the President of the United States or the Texas Governor, may continue apply for a temporary exemption to showing approved photo ID at the polls.

Early voting begins October 24th and ends November 4th. Election Day is November 8th.

PICTURED ABOVE ARE THREE OF CALLAHAN COUNTY'S FINEST: CHIEF DEPUTY RICK JOWERS, SGT. CHRIS LEVINS, AND DEPUTY JACOB STENNETT. BASED ON GOOD INFORMATION FROM ALERT PROPERTY OWNERS, THE DEPUTIES WERE ABLE TO CATCH AN ALLEGED THIEF AND ARE STANDING NEXT TO THE SUSPECT'S 1989 F150 PICKUP TRUCK. THE PICKUP WAS USED IN THE ALLEGED CRIME. THE CRIME WAS FOILED BY BRAVE AND ALERT PROPERTY OWNERS. SO THE SUSPECT IS NOW IN THE CALLAHAN COUNTY JAIL.

Property owners stay alert and keep 911 handy!!

Saturday, August 20th was a good day for three Callahan County Deputies.

The Deputies teamed up with property owners to catch a thief attempting to steal a 12 foot trailer, equipped with a Bobcat Welder and lots of welding equipment and tools.

The Callahan County Deputies were tipped off and assisted by the property owners a very brave couple who are building a new home just west of the Eula Baptist Church.

The lady property owner went to their new house to get a lawnmower and once there, saw a strange pickup backed up to their trailer and a strange man standing beside it.

She pulled up to investigate and the man told her he was stuck and asked her if she could pull him out of the mud. He told her he was there to cut firewood.

The homeowner knew he was lying because he had no chain saw and their was a pair of bolt cutters laying in his front seat. The lock on her gate had been cut and the gate was standing open. She bravely took pictures of his license plate and called her husband for help. Her husband wasn't far away and arrived at their house quickly.

The man, she had caught on her property had, during this time, started walking hurriedly down the road and caught a ride with someone who didn't know he was an alleged thief. The lady's husband arrived at their property shortly after the man she had caught on her property had walked away, so she and her husband drove after and caught up with the vehicle that the alleged thief was riding in and followed it. Meanwhile, as this was taking place, the property owners were calling 911.

Deputies were hurrying to intercept both vehicles. They stopped them on highway 603, just after they crossed FM 18 and the railroad tracks near alleged thief was taken into cents/lb. custody his day in court. While at the University. jail booking the suspect in, it was discovered that he had a warrant for theft of a firearm out of Knox County!! PROPERTY OWNERS STAY ALERT WITH 911 HANDY!!!

Flowers Add Beauty Along Main Street

Downtown Cross Plains is more colorful with the addition of some live - and some "notso-live" flowering plants along Main Street thanks to the City of Cross Plains, the Cross Plains EDC and some very caring residents.

Several years ago, the Cross Plains Chamber of Commerce started holding quarterly meeting inviting business owners, non-profit organizations and citizens to come to share ideas and to help make Cross Plains all it can be. One of the projects created are growing and look nice from that meeting was the along Main Street. beautification of Main Street. Diana Miller and Connie Kirkham spearheaded the project. Their first task was to try to locate cement planters that would match the cement planters that were already on Main Street. Meghann Lewis Long of Meghann's Market in Eastland, found the planters. They were immediately purchased, picked up and planted.

City employees Brayden Kennedy and Sean Conway unloaded the heavy planters - thankfully! Diana Miller, Debbie Gosnell and Connie Kirkham determined where the planters would be placed.

Carie Wheeler and Connie Kirkham, with the help of some of the City workers filled the planters with soil and planted flowers in them.

Attractive Metal Flowers "planted" in downtown Cross Plains.

The bright pick flowers planted in the new planters a few weeks ago

The Cross Plains EDC, the City of Cross Plains, Don and Debbie Gosnell, Terri Coburn, Russ and Diana Miller and Cliff and Connie Kirkham purchased the planters, soil and flowers.

These new planters and their flowers add to the charm and character of downtown Cross Plains. Notice them as you drive down Main Street.

Along with the blooming flowers in the new planters on Main Street, you'll notice some brightly colored "no-so-live" flowers brightening up the sidewalks in downtown.

These beautiful metal flowers were purchased by the Cross Plains EDC. Brayden Kennedy, Debbie Gosnell and Ray Decker have worked hard on "planting" the new metal flowers. This job is a work in progress. These flowers truly won't die!

We are so thankful for our Caring Community and for all the people who are working to make Cross Plains a more beautiful place.

Do Not Trim Trees around electric lines, don't touch trees in wires

Don't Touch Trees in Wires. Homeowners can easily become injured - often fatally while attempting to trim trees near overhead electrical wires. Though it is tempting to try to save money with this "do-it-yourself" approach, the potential for electrocution is not worth the risk.

Terrible accidents can happen when a homeowner uses polemounted cutting tools and/or metal ladders when attempting to trim backyard trees and shrubs. Too often, an energized overhead wire is not noticed and is touched by pruning tools, causing injury or death. Examples include:

A Florida resident was hospitalized after attempting to cut palm branches while standing on a ladder. One of the branches made contact with a power line and severely shocked the man. The local fire department had responded to four similar incidents during the previous year.

A homeowner climbed a ladder to trim a tree branch that was dropping leaves into his aboveground swimming pool and causing a nuisance. A branch came in contact with the power line, shocking the man with a jolt of electricity and sending him into cardiac arrest. He fell 20 feet to the ground, but was revived by medics at the scene. One Florida man was killed and another was seriously injured after being shocked by transmission lines while trimming trees. The homeowner was cutting down a tree when it fell directly onto a transmission line. He was pronounced dead on the scene. A Good victim was shocked and burned through the energized ground around the victim.

These are not freak accidents; they are preventable.

Tree limbs can conduct electricity. When trees grow near overhead electrical wires, they can contact the wires and become energized. Trees and wires are dangerous, full of electrical power that can injure or kill humans.

Thereareseveralthingsthatcan go wrong for do-it-yourselfers trying to trim tree branches. For example, if proper tree cutting techniques are not understood, the cut branch can swing in unpredictable directions as it falls and could easily land on an energized wire.

Don't be fooled by the voltage of the lines. You may think that working on the trees or shrubs near your home's service line is safer than working near the high voltage secondary distribution lines on the pole by the street, but that's simply not true.

There are three-wire (called "triplex") lines connecting the power lines on the pole to your house (meter). Service wires leading from the pole to the house can pack a punch. The type of shock you might have received (and survived) when changing a household light switch is not the same type of shock you will receive if you contact a low-voltage utility wire.

A common house switch carries 120 volts but the electric flow is usually limited to 10, 15 or 20 amps. A common "house drop" (service wire) contains

Samaritan who tried to help the 240 volts and up to 20 amps or more. Given the right set of circumstances, even the shock a person gets from a common light switch can kill, but at the same time, it is easier to break electrical contact while standing inside a house. If a person is climbing a ladder or is in the tree, it may be more difficult to break contact with the energized wire. This means that the service line over a typical yard could easily kill a person

> Here are a few tips to avoid trees in wires:

Look for power lines before pruning trees and large shrubs. If lines are anywhere near the tree, don't attempt any tree work. Professional tree climbers have the training and equipment needed to perform these tasks safely.

Never climb a tree in order to prune it. Even if the wires aren't currently touching the tree, remember that the tree's branches will shift once you begin climbing or removing limbs.

Wearing rubber-soled shoes or rubber gloves while tree pruning will not prevent a fatal shock.

Never extend long-handled saws or pruners into a tree without checking for power lines. Electricity is always trying to go somewhere, and it will easily travel through metal, water, trees, and/or the ground.

Don't move ladders or longhandled pruning tools around the yard without first looking up. Always read and heed ladder-use safety labels.

More importantly, hire an insured, tree care professional with the experience, expertise and equipment to safely take down or prune trees in wires. Require proof of liability insurance, and check to see if the cost of the work is covered by your insurance company. Find a professional

Contact the Tree Care Industry Association (TCIA), a public and professional resource on trees and arboriculture since 1938. It has more than 2,300 member tree care firms and affiliated companies who recognize stringent safety and performance standards and who are required to carry liability insurance. TCIA has the nation's only Accreditation program that helps consumers find tree care companies that have been inspected and accredited based on: adherence to industry standards for quality and safety; maintenance of trained, professional staff; and dedication to ethics and quality in business practices. An easy way to find a tree care service provider in your area is to use the "Locate Your Local TCIA Member Companies" program.
