Fort Hancock Rolls Past Lazbuddie

It was a cool afternoon Saturday, perfect football weather, when the Lazbuddie Longhorns and the Fort Hancock Mustangs took to the field in Lobo Stadium at Monahans. Each team vying for a shot at the six-man state championship.

Following a long hard battle, almost three hours, the Mustangs defeated the Longhorns 84-49. The Longhorns had a few bad breaks in the game and the Mustangs were there ready to capitalize on every one.

Going into the game, the Longhorns had a season record of 13-0 and the Mustangs had played 69 games since being defeated. It was quite a challenge for the Longhorns, but as one of the Mustangs stated, "They (Longhorns) are tough."

Lazbuddie received the opening kick off. The ball was fielded on the 15 yard line, but a Longhorn returned the ball to their own 24 yard line, where they put it into play. On the third play of the game, Brett Thomas raced down the field 21 yards, for a first down. Matt Cozby picked up another first down on a 24 yard pass from Thomas, putting the Longhorns within two yards of the endzone. Jon Cobey Miller made it into the endzone on the next play. The point after kick was good and Lazbuddie led 8-0 over the Mustangs.

The Longhorns lead was short lived, seven plays and three firstdowns later a Mustang made it into the endzone. The kick was good and the game was all tied up 8-8.

With 4:36 left in the quarter, the Longhorns were struck with hard luck, a Mustang intercepted a pass on the Longhorns nine yard line. On the next play, the Mustangs were back into the endzone. The kick failed and the Mustangs were on top 14-8.

Fort Hancock kicked back to the Longhorns and they put the ball into play on their own 20 yard line. With 3:50 left in the quarter, the Mustangs recovered a Longhorn fumble on the Longhorns 26 yard line. With 3:18 left in the quarter, Fort Hancock scored again. The kick was good and the Mustangs led 22-8 over the Longhorns.

Fort Hancock kicked to Lazbuddie and they put the ball into play on their own 20 yard line. The Longhorns were unable to move the ball and were forced to punt to the Mustangs. The punt was blocked and the Mustangs put the ball into play on the Longhorns eight yard line. On a third down play with two yards to go for pay dirt, Matt Cosbey recovered a Mustang fumble. The Longhorns picked up a first down before being forced to punt the ball back to the Mustangs, as the first quarter ended. At the end of the first quarter Fort

Methodist Church Schedules Annual Blood Drive

Muleshoe area residents will have the opportunity to save a life by donating blood at the community blood drive to be held on Thursday, December 10. The drive will be from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. in the fellowship hall of the First United Methodist Church.

Several changes have been made in the donor qualifications during the past year. The upper age limit for blood donors has been raised to 80. At one time the limit was 75, with a number of restrictions between the ages of 66 and 74. But a study released last year shows that older donors are no more likely to develop health problems than non-donors and in fact, may be healthier because of the health checks given each donor.

A very important change was made in the deferral period following surgery. Donors may now donate after a major or minor surgery as soon as they are healed and have been released from their

After the caroling and tours...everyone is invited into the Old Depot for refreshments. Evelyn Peat, chairman, reported that the public will enjoy their old family favorites of tea cakes and gingerbread. Also served will be a hot wassail that is guaranteed to

Winter Blast Hits Area, Activities Rescheduled

A winter storm bringing blizzard like conditions moved through the area over the weekend causing hazardous driving conditions as well as the cancellation of several events.

The city of Muleshoe officially received two inches of snow with winds dropping the chill factor down to below zero.

According to Muleshoe Chief of Police Wayne Holmes there were no accidents (not that he knew of, he was out of town) due to the weather.

The parade was postponed one week and according to Mike McDearmon, president of the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. McDearmon stated that the parade will be held this Saturday morning, weather permitting, as scheduled last week.

Other events either canceled or rescheduled include: the Boy Scouts will pick up the food bags, for the Community Food Box, following the parade; the Muleshoe Activities Committee (MAC) will hold their drawing for $1500 in MAC Bucks and 25 turkeys at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Civic Center; Nick Black's Magic and Illusion act has been rescheduled for 2 p.m. at Fry and Cox, all boys and girls are encouraged to go by and enjoy the act; and several merchants canceled their Moonlight Madness Sales.

In the drawing for MAC Bucks, a total of $1500 will be given in five different drawings, one, two, three, four and five hundred dollars.

One thing that did go on as planned was the Christmas Bazaar, where shoppers could find almost anything they were looking for in the 50 booths.

Those having booths gave door prizes.

Santa visited with the boys and girls at the Bailey County Civic Center and Coliseum Saturday afternoon.

The Jennyslippers held their annual barbecue dinner and it was reported that it was a success.

Old Fashioned Christmas Planned

The directors of the Muleshoe Heritage Foundation met Monday night, December 7 to complete their plans for the first Annual Carol of Lights and Old Fashioned Christmas to be held Thursday, December 17 at 6:30 p.m.

While the directors were busy making last minute plans and taking care of details...members of the Student Community Action Committee were inside the Janes Ranch House putting their home-made decorations on the Christmas tree. The two organizations are combining efforts to bring to Muleshoe a night of wonderful memories of Christmases that used to be.

R.A. Bradley, chairman of the lighting committee, reported that the roofs of all buildings had been outlined thanks to the help of community volunteers. This endeavor was accomplished by the use of bucket trucks from Bailey County Electric, Mission Cable Company, and Bomer Electric. Bradley expressed appreciation to all who participated on this project.

Carolyn Johnson, chairman of the Program Committee, reported that all area churches had been contacted encouraging their pastor and/or music director to help lead the community Christmas Caroling for the evening. Curtis Shelburne, president of the Ministerial Alliance, has agreed to lead the efforts in organizing the caroling.

Maureen Hooten and Vivian White reported plans for decorating the Janes Ranch House in vintage holiday finery. Their plans include Christmas decorations that will warm your hearts and bring the spirit of Christmas past to the present. Tours of the Ranch House

EMS Volunteers Give Santa A Helping Hand

By Stephen Hutchinson
Texas Tech Student

For the past several years Bailey County Emergency Service Organization has been helping needy families during the Christmas season.

The Bailey County EMS organization toy project utilizes the energy and skills of Bailey County EMS volunteers by offering a place for people to donate and give to their less fortunate Muleshoe neighbors.

Headed by committee chairman Linda Burton and co-chairman John McCutchen, the organization gets names of needy individuals and families and organizes the distribution of the gifts. Everyone on the committee is given two to four businesses to contact to help raise money and donations in the form of food, toys, clothes or other gifts.

Needy families are located by the toys project through the help of people who fill out an application at the Bailey County EMS building. These applications are then processed and categorized in accordance to size, gender, and age. Ages are broken down as follows: birth-2 yrs., 3-6 yrs., 7-9 yrs., 10-12 yrs., 13-15 yrs.

Joyce McGehee, office manager and Emergency Medical Technician Intermediate, says that any monetary donations do not leave Muleshoe.

"We try to spread the donations back out to the community," she said. "It all stays right here in town."

Last year 64 families with 265 children were helped.

"The merchants and the community have been very supportive," said McGehee.

Anyone who knows of a needy family can fill out an application at

New Approach To Teaching Of Reading

The state of Texas put out a challenge to the country's textbook publishers: develop a literature-based reading program that will interest and excite school children (1-8) about reading and, at the same time, build self-esteem and understanding among the state's multi-cultural population. Houghton-Mifflin Company, one of the country's leading school book publishers, has responded with an English and Spanish language program that is already being praised by state educators as one of the best reading programs ever developed.

"Houghton Mifflin Reading: The Literature Experience," and companion Spanish language "Celebremos la literatura" (Let's Celebrate Literature) represent the Company's third literature-based program-more than any other publisher. More than 90% of the selections have won literary awards or citations or have been written by award winning authors.

The Houghton Mifflin programs, designed specifically for Texas, are a response to Proclamation 68, issued by The Texas Education Agency. It's a visionary edict which requires the use of authentic literature from multiple books to teach reading. Unlike the past, where reading was taught with contrived, simplistic examples (ie. Look, look. See, see.), and where children learn about sounds of letters before they are eventually exposed to words, a number of studies show that children become better readers, writers and thinkers-and are more interested in reading-when they are taught using "real" books which incorporate the teaching of phonics. In fact, literature-based instruction enhances the teaching of phonics because students are learning phonics in a meaningful context.

Houghton Mifflin Reading: "The Literature Experience" is child tested and teacher approved. "I thought I was going to retire next year, but this program is the shot in the arm I needed. I will not be retiring so I can teach this program again," said Ms. Billie Martin, a 1st grade teacher in the Dallas area.

The sentiment was echoed by Ms. Helen Brock, a 5th grade teacher in Kileen Independent School District. "I would estimate that my students read 50% more than they did in the past, and they were reading joyfully. One of my students told me that the theme books 'made me want to read'.

Each grade level of the Houghton Mifflin program contains multiple books which are shrink-wrapped, ensuring that each child has his/her own books. "This provides equity for all children in every district in the state," said Mary Kelly, vice-president and general manager for Houghton Mifflin's southwest region.

And, for the first time, the state's Spanish speaking children will have exciting, grade level and ethnic appropriate reading materials. "Celebremos la Literatura" features a number of selections written and illustrated by Mexican Americans from Texas and the Southwest. Some of these authors were discovered by Houghton Mifflin and are being published for the first time. "Our program is a response to what bilingual educators in Texas have asked for: quality literature, not only from around Hispanic world, but using the authentic community voices of Mexican American authors and artists in Texas and the Southwest," said Kelly.

The themed Mifflin has its southwest regional office in Dallas; the home office is in Boston, Massachusetts. The company has been publishing textbooks for students around the country, including Texas, for 110 years, since 1882.

Bond Rate
U.S. savings bonds will earn interest at a rate of 5.04 percent for the next six months, the lowest since the government began selling variable-rate bonds in 1982, the Treasury Department said.

Texas AARP Seeks Reform In Legislature

The American Association of Retired Persons Texas State Legislative Committee announced today that health care and tax reform will be its top legislative priorities for the upcoming session of the Texas Legislature in January. Nearly two million AARP members live in Texas.

The committee is calling for legislation to ensure universal access to health care for all Texans. It recommends creation of a single-payer system that would feature system-wide budgeting and a single electronic claims clearinghouse.

Also recommended by the committee are "equitable revisions" of the Texas tax system as needed to meet the state's fiscal needs. Such revisions would include "mandatory decreases in regressive taxes."

Other objectives of the AARP committee include strengthening the recent reform of the Texas insurance industry and opposing attempts by the utility industry to weaken or eliminate rate base regulation of public utility charges to consumers.

Chair of the AARP State Legislative Committee is Ben B. Cook of Bullard. Vice Chair is Roy Ray, Jr., of Austin. Secretary is Edith Hale of Alpine. Other committee members include: Kaneen O. Carstens of Schulenberg, Robert Darden of Waco, Earnest Dunnivant, Jr. of Sweeny; May Della Everett of Halton City; Richard B. Funk of San Angelo; Vicki Garza of Corpus Christi; Peggy L. Gordon of Wichita Falls; Vonie Hunphries of Nacogdoches; Jesus Laurel of Laredo, Dale D. Marvel of Houston; Martin O'Neal of Dallas; Troy Perkins of Amarillo; Don M. Tabor of Clyde; and David Tiner of Crane.

Ray is also coordinator of AARP's Capital City Task Force, which helps promote the Association's Legislative program to lawmakers, legislative staff, executive branch officials and other organizations in Austin.

AARP is the nation's leading organization for people age 50 and older. It serves their needs and interests through legislative advocacy, research, informative programs, and community services provided by a network of local chapters and experienced volunteers throughout the country. The organization also offers members a wide range of special membership benefits, including Modern Maturity magazine and the monthly AARP Bulletin.

The New Christy Minstrels In Concert

The New Christy Minstrels are a phenomenon in the history of the entertainment industry. Since their beginning in 1961, the Minstrels have surpassed virtually every major milestone of professional achievement and they continue to entertain audiences throughout the world as one of the most exciting and versatile groups in show business.

Where did it all begin? For the answer to that question, we must go back to 1842 - James Tyler was President and the West was still to be won! Lone minstrels were traveling the countryside performing the music of the day, but a man by the name of Edwin "Pops" Christy had an idea - he believed folk music would generate new excitement if performed with the harmony and variety of a group. Edwin Christy persisted in his idea and, for eighty years, the "Christy Minstrels" entertained throughout the United States and abroad as the most popular minstrel/variety show in existence. During the 1850's, "Pops" Christy warmed up to the simplicity of the music of a young songwriter by the name of Stephen Foster and put his music in the heart of America.

As late as 1917, The Christy Minstrel Show continued to play on Broadway as the longest running show in the history of show business. To this day, its record has not been broken. And if you should be fortunate enough to find an old Christy program, check for the names of Eddie Cantor and Al Jolson. That's where they got their start. The Christy Minstrels disbanded in 1921 - but folk music didn't die with them. It just took a back seat for forty years with the emergence of jazz, the big bands and then rock and roll. But, in the late 1950's, people once again began to listen to "people's music"; lone minstrels became popular, and the idea of the folk group was reborn. In 1961, The New Christy Minstrels performed their first show at the Troubadour in Los Angeles.

In the course of the decade that followed, The New Christy Minstrels did it all. Their single recording of Green, Green sold over three million copies, and was a harbinger of three Columbus gold albums to follow: Ramblin', Today, and The New Christy Minstrels' Greatest Hits. Early recording success led to a weekly television show on the NBC network and the message of folk music and good entertainment was presented to homes all over America.

Quite naturally, TV exposure demanded personal appearances, and to date, an estimated 45 million people have applauded the minstrels in live performances in virtually every country of the world - the Minstrels have travelled to Japan (twice), Australia, Rhodesia, Germany, Italy, Canada, Viet Nam and Thailand. Their 1967 appearance at the internationally famous San Remo Folk Festival - with a resulting sale of over 600,000 records of the winning song.

Everyone understands good music and entertainment - even Presidents and Queens. Presidents Kennedy, Johnson, and Nixon each invited the New Christy Minstrels to perform at the White House on several occasions: it was May 1968 that the Minstrels were honored with a Command Performance for the Queen of England. One of their most memorable visits to the White House was to welcome our returned prisoners of war back from Viet Nam. Having made two trips to Viet Nam during the war, the Minstrels were asked to appear on the program to welcome our men and women home.

Major sports events in the U.S. have also enjoyed the performances of the Minstrels, including World Series appearances, as well as many top football games such as the Super Bowl, Sugar Bowl, and others.

The Minstrels were also host to "Pesnyary," the Soviet Union's number-one folk/rock group, whose concert tour was a major historical event in the entertainment business. Not only was it the first time an American and Soviet group had shared the same stage, but they also made a stop in Nashville to record an album together that was released in the U.S.S.R. with great success and acclaim.

Over the years the Minstrels have appeared with such personalities as Bob Hope, Andy Williams, Danny Thomas, Vikki Carr, The 5th Dimension, Alan King, Connie Francis, Jimmy Durante, Joey Bishop, Jose Feliciano, Dinah Shore, Julie Andrews, Foster Brooks, Buddy Hackett, and Phyllis Diller.

They have also performed with some of the major symphony orchestras such as Los Angeles, Detroit, Atlanta, Charleston, Portland, Cleveland, Dallas and Cincinnati.

Each of the Christy's is a strong solo performer in his or her own right, and looking at some of The New Christy Minstrel alumni is proof of that - Kenny Rogers, John Denver, Kim Carnes, Karen Black, and Barry McGuire.

The New Christy Minstrels continue to deliver exciting performers with one basic belief: People appreciate good entertainment. A continuing search for the freshest, most talented young performers in the land and performers of the finest in folk and popular music guarantee the future performing success of the Minstrels for many years to come. Now in their thirteenth year, the Minstrels still maintain their busy performing schedule and continue to bring their own style of entertainment to people around the globe.

Barry McGuire

Barry McGuire stepped into the public eye in 1962 as the gravelly-voiced lead singer of The New Christy Minstrels. He launched his musical career with the million-sellers Green, Green, which he wrote and recorded with the New Christy Minstrels, and Green Back Dollar, which he co-wrote for the Kinston Trio.

In 1965, at the heart of the peace movement, Barry McGuire went solo.

Echoing around the world as an anthem of the times, his third hit, Eve Of Destruction, expressed his growing awareness of social hypocrisy. Three years later, he was cast in the original production of the Broadway musical Hair, playing both of the leading male roles at different times. Once again Barry McGuire's voice was heard proclaiming the ideals of a radical generation.

In the early 70's his life took a new direction. Having found answers to questions he posed in Eve of Destruction, he left Hollywood and set out to do whatever he could to bring about a positive change. Mr. McGuire's transformation is exemplified in the lyrics of his music which focus on the importance of family, the value of children, and his personal journey through life.

In 1988, Barry McGuire teamed up with World-Vision in New Zealand and sang with more than ten thousand children from over four hundred primary schools in 57 different cities. These concerts generated nearly fifteen hundred sponsors for third-world needs, the concerts proved to be an explosion of musical fun that will long be remembered throughout New Zealand. They also created an atmosphere that brought about a greater ethnic awareness within the local communities, with many individuals experiencing a reinforcement of family unity and a new appreciation for each others' unique potential.

Encouraged by letters and personal responses from children, parents, teachers, principals and public officials. McGuire is now introducing these concerts to other parts of the world.

Along with wife, Mari, and their two children, Brennan and Melee, Barry McGuire has returned to the United States from an extensive six-year exposure to the desperate needs of third-world countries. The McGuires, along with several other concerned associates, are laying the foundations for Families and Friends International, an organization designed to give assistance and hope to all children.

The New Christy Minstrels will be heard in concert December 14, 1992 (Monday) at 8:00 p.m. at the Hereford High School Auditorium. For subscribers to Community Concerts only. Subscriptions are $15. per season. For more information or to subscribe contact Elaine Damron, 272-4641.

Cable TV Bill Will Require More Tax Dollars

Cable television regulations recently passed by Congress may result in lower subscription rates, but a Texas Christian University communications professor said the savings will come at the expense of spending more tax dollars.

Dr. Ginger Clark noted the legislation will require the Federal Communications Commission to spend up to $250 million over the next five years to implement and oversee the mandated changes.

Among the work to be accomplished will be conducting "mammoth-sized" studies to determine a fair and equitable rate structure for cable service and developing a method to evaluate whether or not cable companies are providing adequate service, she explained.

"I don't think the FCC is welcoming this change because it will impose a great deal of new work on the agency and require more in terms of budgeting," she said.

Clark said the FCC's budget is relatively small compared to some larger regulatory agencies. Despite an FCC budget request for nearly $150 million for fiscal 1993, Congress only allocated $126 million. She added the FCC is facing such budget restrictions that the agency has considered requiring employees to take 14 days a year of unpaid leave.

"This whole telecommunication industry is one of the most rapidly-changing industries that we have and probably one that is in the greatest need of some sort of oversight, but the agency responsible for doing that is probably one of the lowest-budgeted agencies in Washington," she said.

Public Forums Set December 15 At Lubbock

Parents, daycare providers and other Texans interested in participating in the revision of minimum standards for licensed child day care facilities are urged to attend the Texas Department of Protective and Regulatory Services (PRS) public forum on December 15 at 7 p.m. at the Lubbockview Christian Church, 3301 34th Street, Lubbock. The department has been working with various groups in revising the minimum standards for all licensed child day-care programs.

The purpose of the public forum is to discuss with parents, providers and other interested citizen recommendations and suggestions for changes to the minimum standards. The following issues will be covered:

- *Number of children cared for by one adult and number of children in a group.
- *Training and qualifications for directors and staff.

*Other suggested changes to the requirements to improve the supervision and care of children.

*Ensuring adequate space available for young children in the facility.

*Elimination of corporal punishment from child care.

*Ensuring visibility of all areas of care.

Opportunity for discussion of other child care issues will be made available.

The PRS Licensing division is required by state law to develop regulations for day-care facilities, in order to protect the health, safety, and well being of children in out-of-home care.

At the end of the 1992 fiscal year, PRS had licensed 8,066 day care facilities in Texas. These facilities have the capacity to serve 572,120 children.

For more information on the Public forums, call the Child-Care Licensing Hotline at 1-800-862-5252 or the Licensing Regional Office in Amarillo at (806) 352-5005.

Lone Star Legal Relics Stored In Austin

In the basement of the Texas Law Center are legal relics from the Lone Star State. Stored in fire-, humidity- and theft-proof walls, a century and a half of law-related historical materials are accessible for research and educational purposes to Bar members, scholars and the public.

The Governor Bill and Vera Daniel Center for Legal History, the culmination of a ten year effort, holds archives dating back to the early nineteenth century.

"We may be able to tell you when your home-town bar association was founded or, when your grandfather received his law license," says Cynthia Freeman, the Center's archivist and Records Manager.

But facts and figures aren't all you will find. The Center for Legal History, opened in May of 1991, houses scores of historical State Bar records and 30 or so rare and precious items acquired from Texas' legal community since the Center started receiving donations last summer.

"We spent the better part of our first year processing State Bar historical records we acquired upon opening," says Freeman. "The thrust of our day-to-day responsibilities includes researching, collecting and preserving Texas' historic legal records."

Notable acquisitions made since then include a black and white photograph depicting the 1917 Camp Logan Court-martial of 63 African American soldiers—the largest U.S. murder trial ever.

The Daniel Center stores historical documents too, such as the legal briefs of early oil and gas and legal aid attorney, Frank Scurlock and an 1842 divorce decree on Republic of Texas stationery with, "State of Texas" inked over it.

The Texas Bar Historical Foundation, founded in 1986 and instrumental in the construction of the archives center, is believed to be the only one of its kind among state bar organizations nationally.

"What makes the Center for Legal History unique from other archives facilities around the country is its association with the State Bar. Most archive facilities function as part of bar foundations, independent from the state organizations," says Freeman.

The State Bar's Board of Directors named the Daniel Center in recognition of Governor and Mrs. Bill Daniel. Upon accepting the appointment of Chairman to the History and Traditions and Historical Preservation Committee in 1983, Daniel led efforts to construct the state-of-the-art facility. Daniel also serves as president of the Historical Foundation.

Depending on the condition and form of the donation, Freeman and Assistant Archivist, Angela Dorau, decide on the most appropriate method of preservation. Collections range from paper records, to video and motion picture film. All donations made to the Center for legal history become the property of the Historical Foundation.

"Countless historical items exist around the state but before the opening of the Daniel Center, no one felt assured their donations were in good hands," says Daniel. The Center now affords members of the legal community comfort in knowing materials donated will be preserved and accessible to the public.

Freeman says much of the Center's activities over the next 12 months will be focused on procuring historical materials. "We are especially interested in materials dating from 1882 to 1939—the days of the Texas Bar Association. If you're thinking about what you may have stored in your own office or library, consider such items as records, files, maps, posters, programs, correspondence, robes, seals, furniture, stamps, and rare published materials associated with a significant legal event or person," says Freeman.

In addition to operating an archives repository, the Daniel Center produces historical legal displays such as the Spanish Law Exhibit, which chronicled the Spanish period of Texas and illustrated remnants of Spanish legal principles still alive in the Texas law today. "We plan to produce two exhibits annually," says Freeman.

Members of the History and Traditions Committee and the trustees of the Texas Bar Historical Foundation encourage members of the legal community to donate historical materials and to become active members of the Historical Foundation. Those interested in either should contact Cynthia Freeman at the State Bar of Texas, P.O. Box 12487, Austin 78711, 512/463-1412.

Stay Happy And Healthy During The Holidays

The holiday season can be one of the busiest, most chaotic times of the year. Holidays tend to bring out bad eating habits, lack of sleep, weight gain and additional sources of stress that can lead to illness, mood swings, and depression in many people. However, holiday season fatigue can easily be overcome with a regular exercise program of as little as four to five hours of exercise a week.

Combining a regular exercise routine with a balanced diet during the holidays is an ideal way to do something good for yourself and create a habit of physical wellness. Exercise and good eating habits will burn calories, lower cholesterol, strengthen bones, lower blood pressure and reduce stress. Experts agree that exercise not only helps you feel more relaxed and self-confident, but heightens creativity and puts you in a better mood.

Tips For Maintaining Your Holiday Exercise Program

As the holidays become more hectic, even the most regimented exerciser has difficulty sticking to a program of physical activity. Nordic Track, a manufacturer of high-quality exercise equipment, provides some suggestions for sticking to a regular exercise program:

1. Tailor your exercise program to suit your own unique preferences. Experiment to find out about different forms of exercise and discover what you like. Be sure to consider activities that increase flexibility, build muscle, tax your cardiovascular system, strengthen bone and burn fat.
2. Listen to your body. Enjoy yourself! Don't overdo it - start slowly and progress gradually. Exercise discomfort is a major reason why people drop out.
3. Exercise at the time of day that is most convenient for your schedule.
4. Keep your exercise surroundings pleasant. Consider putting a television or stereo in the room to keep you entertained. It is imperative to make everything about your exercise routine as appealing as possible.

5. Look at the "big picture" rather than the "quick fix" when it comes to exercise. It is important to focus on the long term benefits rather than look for immediate results.

6. Find a partner who shares your new exercise goals or has a schedule compatible with yours.

7. Keep yourself motivated by changing:

- a. your stretching regimen
- b. the type of aerobic exercise you do
- c. your muscular conditioning regimen
- d. the time of day when you work out
- e. the place
- f. your exercise companions

8. Take a before picture then follow it up with a "results" photo several months later.

9. Keep accurate records of your workouts and progress. Set and update your goals regularly.

10. Find quality equipment for your in-home workout that you enjoy and will help you achieve your goals - like a Nordic Track!

11. Reward yourself at regular intervals with things such as clothing or weekend trips.

12. Work exercise into the fabric of your life. Your goal is a more active lifestyle, not just a hour's worth of exercise several days a week. You must find a way to work the pattern of increased physical activity into your life as effortlessly as possible.

13. Learn to enjoy yourself. All of these strategies are intended to make your exercise program more enjoyable. Try to find ways to transform what started as a duty into a source of pleasure and entertainment.

State Bar Sponsors Competition

High school students from across the state will defend the U.S. Bill of Rights in Austin on Jan. 9, 1993, in the state finals of the seventh annual National Bicentennial Competition. The event, sponsored by the State Bar of Texas through its Law-Related Education program, simulates a congressional hearing and is held before a panel of judges.

"The competition provides an excellent incentive for students to learn more about our constitution," said Rhonda Haynes, director of the Bar's Law-Related Education program and state coordinator of the competition. "It gives them a chance to use our history rather than just memorize it for a test."

According to Haynes, the National Bicentennial Competition on the Constitution and Bill of Rights is part of the We the People...curriculum developed by the Center for Civic Education in California. The educational program is designed to provide elementary, middle school and high school students with an understanding of the Constitution and Bill of Rights and the rights and responsibilities of citizens.

Competing teams in the Texas finals will be welcomed to Austin in the House Chambers on Jan. 9 at 8:30 a.m., and the series of debates will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the Texas Law Center. Tours of the Capitol, the Supreme Court Building and the LBJ Library are scheduled during the debates and the awards luncheon.

The winning team will represent Texas at the national competition in Washington, D.C., in the spring. Last year's Texas representative, McAllen Memorial High School from McAllen, placed fourth among 46 teams in the National Bicentennial Competition in the nation's capital.

Registration deadline for high school teams involved in the We the People...program to participate in the State National Bicentennial Competition is Dec. 11.

'Tis The Season' To Love Your Turkey

'Tis the season to deck the halls, shop the malls, trim the tree and love your turkey.

Love your turkey? Yes...since so many of us spend the day after Christmas shopping our cookbooks for new ways to disguise and digest all that leftover Christmas turkey.

If your attempts to recycle leftover turkey have left you feeling helpless and hungry, Chef Thomas Palmer of The Methodist Hospital's Chez Eddy restaurant has some suggestions that will have you dancing to the beat of your turkey's drumsticks.

"Think of your Christmas turkey as a healthy investment in many other delicious dinners," says Chef Palmer. "The hustle and bustle of the holiday season can be exhausting and often means grabbing a quick bite to eat rather than sitting down to a nutritious meal."

Chef Palmer recommends being economical with your time and your turkey. "Turkey is a tasty ingredient in soups and stews and both can be prepared now, popped in the freezer, and pulled out when you'd rather be on the couch than in the kitchen."

If you just plain don't want any leftover turkey, Palmer advises selecting a smaller turkey or choosing a turkey breast. "But, since turkey is an inexpensive, low-calorie cut of meat, buying a larger turkey would be smart if your family actually looks forward to leftovers."

Self-basting turkeys may simplify your job, but Chef Palmer warns they inject oils under the skin which add fat to the turkey. Palmer advises only buying a fresh turkey if you plan to cook it in a day or two. If you choose a frozen turkey, it should be thawed under cold, running water or in the refrigerator.

Turkeys with pop-up timers are great and help ensure the turkey is cooking properly and reaching the desired internal temperature (170-175 degrees for medium-done). If your turkey doesn't have a pop-up timer, you should insert a meat thermometer into the thickest part of the turkey breast so you'll be sure its cooked thoroughly before you serve it.

After your holiday dinner has been served and you're clearing the table, don't forget the turkey! Turkey should be wrapped tightly and stored in the refrigerator--it should not be left sitting out. Cooked turkey may be kept in the refrigerator for 3-4 days or it can be frozen.

LUBBOCK, Friday, December 4, 1992
By Shawn Wade

The Grower Advisory Committees for the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) Classing Offices in Lubbock and Lamesa met during the past week to discuss the progress of the 1992 crop according to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG).

Committee members were briefed on the current status of the two offices and updated on the number of bales classed to date as well as how many bales were expected to be received at the individual offices. The Lamesa office indicates a total of 255,250 bales have been classed, half of the 480,000 bales currently estimated to go through the office. The Lubbock office also proved to be about halfway through with a total of 330,000 bales classed from the estimated 675,000 bales expected.

The Advisory committees are made up of cotton growers from across the area and act as a forum through which producers can provide input directly to the local classing office and USDA's Cotton Division.

The committees meet approximately three times during the harvest season. At the meetings they discuss how the office's are running and bring forth any complaints or issues that may have been brought to their attention by producers in their area.

One of the topics of discussion at the recent meetings was the Module Averaging Pilot Project being conducted at classing offices across the cotton belt. The purpose of the project is to develop a method through which the repeatability of classing data can be improved.

"What the module average hopes to provide is a more repeatable measure of the fiber characteristics within a single bale," says Donald Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President.

The basis for using a module, or trailer, average was the discovery that bales from a single module provide the same range of results from HVI testing as a similar number of tests run on a single bale would provide. So far results from the project have proven the module average to be more sustainable when compared to the results of a single test on the bale.

Producers can participate in the project simply by asking their gin to provide the classing office the module number that corresponds with certain bales. Gins that use either the TelCot or TelMark systems can easily download this information through these systems to the classing office computer directly.

Wendell Wilbanks, director of the Lubbock classing office, notes that gins can also submit the data by FAX, or other timely method, so it can be keyed into the computer manually before the cotton is classed.

Participation in the project is strictly voluntary and producers can participate at any level they want, either on a single module or on the entire production of a farm.

Don Lewallen, director of the Lamesa classing office, adds that this is the second year for the project and that a total of four fiber measurements are averaged. They are micronaire, strength, length, and length uniformity. He explains that the averages are run automatically by the computer and any bale that has a measurement outside the ranges specified in the computer is removed from the average and retested automatically at no charge to the producer.

Wilbanks explained that the project has been very well received across the belt and that over one million bales were included in the project in 1991.

Texas Tourism Trends Outpace Nation's

Despite sluggish economic news affecting travel spending across the U.S., tourism spending increases in Texas far outstripped those of the nation from 1990 to 1991, according to comparative information released from the Texas Department of Commerce Tourism Division and the U.S. Travel Data Center.

Commerce's Tourism Division, will soon release a study titled Economic Impact of Travel on Texas Counties, 1990-1991 showing domestic tourism spending in Texas grew 5.5 percent. When international tourism spending is factored in, the increase was 6.4 percent.

For Texas, these amounts represent $18 billion per year and almost $21 billion per year, respectively, according to Tourism Division officials. Total state tax revenue during 1991 was $832.3 million; local communities received $533.4 million in tax revenues.

Tourism Division officials estimate that 410,000 jobs in Texas are directly related to the tourism and travel industry, accounting for 5.8 percent of total employment in the state for 1991. If all tourism and travel related jobs in 1991 had not been in existence, the 6.6 percent state unemployment rate for that year would have swelled to 11.8 percent.

For every $50,246 spent in Texas by U.S. and international travelers, one job was generated during 1991, officials estimate.

"We aggressively market Texas as a premiere tourist destination and the numbers clearly show that our marketing is working. The Tourism Division's efforts have contributed to that success," said Cathy Bonner, executive director of the Texas Department of Commerce.

Rate Falls

The nation's unemployment rate dipped to a six-month low of 7.4 percent in October, the government said in a report showing President-elect Clinton will inherit an economy still struggling to shake off the recession.

New winter gasolines will reduce air pollution.

PUBLIC NOTICE

GTE Southwest Incorporated (GTSW) and Contel of Texas Inc. (Contel) have filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to seek approval to provide two new private line services and to change rates for existing services. GTE's intraexchange DS1 Service will be offered pursuant to the rates proposed with this filing and will no longer be available through concurrence with GTE's interLATA access tariff rates which are lower. Contel's intraexchange DS1/DDS Service will be offered pursuant to the rates proposed with this filing and will no longer be available through Contel's current private line tariff rates. Existing customers with DS1/DDS Service will not be affected by these rate changes. DS1 1.544 Megabits per second (Mbps) Service and Digital Data Service (DDS) will normally be used for the transmission of data communications or large volumes of voice communications between two locations. These services are optional and will not affect the existing rates of customers who do not order these services. The estimated annual effect on GTE-SW's revenues in the first year is $1,080,567. The estimated annual effect on Contel's revenues in the first year are $42,383.

DS1 Service
DS1 Service is an intraLATA Private Line Service which provides a dedicated, high capacity channel which may be used for simultaneous two-way transmission of voice data or other digitally encoded customer information signals. DS1 Service provides a transmission speed of 1.544 Mbps and is designed to provide an average performance of at least 95 percent error-free seconds of transmission over a continuous 24-hour period.

DS1 Service is available in and between all exchanges of GTE-SW and Contel where digital facilities exist. DS1 Service is available on a point-to-point intraLATA basis between two Customer Designated Locations (CDL), between a Serving Wire Center (SWC) and a CDL, between a CDL and a point of connection with another service provider or between two SWCs.

IntraLATA DS1 Private Line Service is comprised of three rate elements: DS1 Local Loop, DS1 Transport and DS1 Transport Termination. Each element is described below.

DS1 Local Loop
This rate element is for the cable facilities from the CDL to the SWC. The customer has two payment options for the purchase of DS1 Local Loops. There is a month-to-month plan or term contract Optional Payment Plan (OPP).

The month-to-month payment basis allows the customer to establish and disconnect DS1 Services, without penalty, other than to meet the minimum service interval of one month's service, as needed. Under the month-to-month service, the additional DS1 Local Loop rate applies only when the additional DS1 Local Loop (s) is (are) ordered at the same time and between the same two CDLs as the first DS1 Local Loop.

The OPP plan allows the customer to select a term of service (1 YR, 3 YR and 5 YR) with lower monthly rates associated with longer term contracts. If the customer selects an OPP, additional DS1 Local Loops may be ordered and installed at the Additional DS1 Local Loop rate between any SWC and CDL covered by the OPP, at any time during the term of that OPP.

DS1 Transport
This rate element is for the mileage sensitive charges for transporting a DS1 signal between Serving Wire Centers. Transport occurs only when the two CDLs being connected are served by two different SWCs.

DS1 Transport Termination
This rate element is for the equipment to terminate DS1 Transport at the SWCs. This charge applies only when DS1 Transport is required for the service configuration of the customer. One transport termination charge applies at each end of the DS1 Transport.

Proposed Rates and Charges for DS1 Service are as follows:

	Nonrecurring Charge	Monthly Rates
DS1 Local Loop
Month-to-Month
First System	$ 1,000.00	$ 298.00
12-month term

Digital Data Service

DDS provides a transmission path for digital data signals within the same LATA.

DDS Service is available in and between all exchanges of GTE-SW and Contel where digital facilities exist. DDS Service is available on a point-to-point intraLATA basis between two CDLs or between a CDL and a point of connection with another service provider.

IntraLATA DDS Private Line Service is comprised of three rate elements: DDS Local Loop, DDS Transport and DDS Transport Termination. Each element is described below.

DDS Local Loop
This rate element is for the cable facilities from the CDL to the SWC. The customer may establish and disconnect DDS Local Loops without penalty other than the minimum service interval of one month's service, as his/her needs demand.

DDS Transport
This rate element is for the mileage sensitive charges for transporting a DDS signal between SWCs. Transport occurs only when the two CDLs being connected are served by two different SWCs.

DDS Transport Termination
This rate element is for the equipment to terminate DDS Transport at the SWCs. This charge applies only when DDS Transport is required for the service configuration of the customer. One transport termination charge applies at each end of the service.

Drugs By Mail

Mail-order pharmacies are the latest trend in the medicine and drug buying game. The trend is likely to grow.

That's partly because pharmacies in some areas still offer slow, traditional service. The buyer must wait quite a time to have a pharmacist pour pills out of a big bottle into a small one.

Mail-order drugs are often cheaper. Big mail-order houses get special discounts from drug companies, which set high prices, generally, in the U.S. (lower in other countries frequently).

Mail-order houses often offer cheaper generic equivalents for many drugs. They have minimum overhead. Many have sophisticated computer systems to quickly track customer records.

In time, many drug store chains are likely to turn to mail order. Walgreen (1700 stores) already has. The suffering patient thus may often be able to avoid that trip to the pharmacy.

DRINKING AND DRIVING CAN ADD UP.

Surviving The Holiday 'Weight Gain' Season

According to nutrition experts, most Americans gain an average of five to seven pounds during the time period between Thanksgiving and New Year's Day.

"The holidays are a prime time for weight gain," said Tracey Norman, R.D., outpatient dietician at Methodist Hospital. "People try to stick to their diets, but with all the goodies around, they usually end up cheating."

Norman suggests the following tips for getting through the holiday season with a minimal amount of weight gain:

- *Follow the one-plate plan--Fill a dinner plate with a variety of low-fat selections such as seafood and chicken, vegetables, bread and pasta. Tasting a little bit of everything brings about a "full" feeling.
- *Alternate Beverages--Alcoholic beverages can be high in "hidden" calories and may stimulate the appetite. Choose wine spritzers instead of cocktails, and alternate them with diet soda or sparkling water.
- *Have dessert in moderation--Not eating sweets often backfires. People often feel so cheated or deprived, they end up eating twice as much dessert when they get home. Take a small piece of dessert and savor it by eating slowly.
- *Burn off the fat and calories--Exercise to help make up for indulgences. Go roller-skating, take a brisk walk or take the stairs instead of the escalator at the department store.
