RECONSTITUTIONS

Tuberculosis Testing Set February 8

In April of 1991, Muleshoe Independent School District, in conjunction with the local office of the Texas Department of Health, conducted a district wide tuberculosis testing program.

The number of positive results were within the state averages, but were slightly higher than expected for this population.

Due to these findings and the fact that tuberculosis continues to be found nationwide, the health department is again recommending tuberculosis testing of selected grade levels in the Muleshoe schools.

This is a follow-up program to the testing in 1991 and it is anticipated that most children will test negative.

Those involved in this round of testing will include Early Childhood, Pre-Kindergarten, Kindergarten, and First Grade at Dillman Elementary, Seventh Grade at Watson Junior High, and all students who have enrolled in the school district at any grade level since April 1991.

Parents of these students will be receiving permission sheets on February 3. They are encouraged to sign the permission sheets and return them to the child's school by Cont. Page 6, Col. 3

We need to know now of any changes that would cause a farm or farms to be combined or divided for the 1993 program year.

INTEREST RATE

The loan interest rate for January is 3.75 percent.

This office will be closed Monday, February 15, 1993, in observance of Presidents Day.

Taxes for Teens

Teachers have one other important lesson for their students — how to pay and file taxes.

Through the Understanding Taxes high school program, high school students learn the basics of the tax system and tax form preparation. The modular package contains video programs on a VHS cassette; software to "walk" students through the 1040EZ, W-2 and W-4 tax forms; an instructor's overview booklet; and lesson plans with transparencies and duplicating masters.

The Understanding Taxes program was developed and approved by the Joint Council on Economic Education, the IRS, the Agency for Instructional Technology, and representatives from all 50 states' education and economic education agencies.

Teachers interested in the program may call the IRS Taxpayer Education Coordinator at 1-800-829-1040. Classroom volunteers may contact the IRS to find out where they can help.

Farm Bureau News

Farmers and ranchers from 50 states and Puerto Rico said "yes" to the North American Free Trade Agreement and presented a united front for the preservation of private property rights this week at the American Farm Bureau Federation annual meeting.

The delegates, after a lengthy debate, adopted by a two-to-one margin a resolution supporting NAFTA, as signed by President Bush, and urged adoption of the trade agreement by Congress.

However, the delegates supported strengthening traditional safeguards in implementing NAFTA legislation to accommodate the concerns of specific commodity interests such as sugar and peanuts. They also supported implementing legislation requiring congressional approval for other countries to join in on the NAFTA agreement.

Texas Farm Bureau President S.M. True expected the delegates to spend a lot of time on the private property rights issue.

"People in agriculture have a real fear of an out-of-control government taking away their homes and livelihoods," True said. "They're seeing private property being taken or rendered useless by government regulation and they want it stopped."

Delegates urged amendments or deletions to laws and regulations that allow federal agencies to establish rules of control which interfere with individual property rights.

Delegates adopted a resolution that opposed any action by federal agencies which would result in a net loss of private in any state, and opposed the establishment of subsidized, tax-exempt farming enterprises which could offer unfair competition.

Delegates also said businesses and farms should be reimbursed costs they have incurred to prove they meet government regulations, if they show they met the requirements before the regulations became effective.

resolution was one of several resolutions offered by an active Texas delegation at the convention. Bob Currie, a Texas delegate from Kennard, offered a resolution saying that private property owners should be compensated for the loss of the use of their property if that property is adversely affected by provisions of the Endangered Species Act.

TFB Vice President Bob Stallman was successful in presenting clarifying language which respect to GATT trigger provisions included in the 100-Farm Bill for implementing a marketing loan program for feed grains and wheat.

Russ Arnold, TFB State Director from Trinity, successfully introduced a resolution that said funding of the National Endowment for the Arts with federal tax dollars should be eliminated.

Also, State Director Harlan Huffman of McGregor was scheduled to introduce a resolution supporting high speed rail projects only if very specific criteria are met. A similar resolution passed recently at the Texas Farm Bureau annual meeting.

In other action, delegates: *Said a balanced federal budget should be accomplished through spending restraint and cutbacks. The delegates stated they opposed all tax increases and reaffirmed that as a top priority for Farm Bureau.

Tax On Gifts?

No matter how modest a $10,000-gift giver may be, the Internal Revenue Service wants to know about the gift transaction.

Usually, people may give as many gifts of cash or property as they please, without reporting the gift, as long as the total value of all gifts given to a donee during a calendar year is $10,000 or less. Certain gifts of more than $10,000 for qualifying medical or educational expenses do not need to be reported.

A gift that carries with it a "future interest," however, must be reported regardless of its worth.

Even when you do have to report gift giving on your annual return, you still may not have to pay any tax on the gift. The first $10,000 in value of gifts (other than gifts of future interest in property) to each person or recipient is excluded from tax and a special "unified credit" of $192,800 may eliminate the payment of gift taxes for many gifts.

If you receive a gift, you do not have to report the gift's value as income. However, you must include in your income any income from property you receive as a gift (for example, dividends from stock given to you).

For more information on gift taxes, order free Publication 448, Federal Estate and Gift Taxes, by calling the IRS at 1-800-829-3676.

New Years Insights For The Disabled

The New Year's tradition of evaluating our lives to make plans for improving the prospect for the future is once again upon us. Individuals with disabilities often require the assistance of agencies to obtain or regain the ability to achieve the prospects others are able to obtain on their own.

Individuals with disabilities often find the rules and regulations of the agencies difficult to overcome and understand. Since much of the funding of these agencies is from federal dollars, provisions have been made to assist individuals in obtaining many of these services. In Texas, the organization designated to provide assistance for individuals with disabilities in overcoming these barriers is Advocacy, Incorporated.

Advocacy, Inc. is an independent non-profit corporation funded by Congress to advocate, protect, and advance the legal, human, and service rights of people with disabilities. In the West Texas area, Advocacy, Inc.'s office is in Lubbock. This office provides information and intake services daily, Tuesday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. until 12:30 noon (Central time). Toll-free number 1-800-880-4456.

The West Texas Office can provide information and technical assistance in the area of procedures, regulations, or laws which affect individuals with disabilities. Staff is available to assist in priority issue areas, to provide education and training, material, and workshops for professionals, consumers, and advocates. They have information about what services are available and how to access them.

A Miracle Wedding Gift

When Jennifer Creech mails out thank-you notes for her wedding gifts, she'll have to address one to the unlikely name "urokinase," care of The Methodist Hospital.

Just two weeks before her wedding day, Jennifer suffered a stroke. She blacked out and was rushed to Methodist. At the time, the prognosis wasn't good.

Jennifer, 21, had lost movement on her right side and couldn't talk. A neurologist who examined Jennifer assessed that the stroke could have caused serious brain damage.

But Methodist neuroradiologist Dr. Michel Mawad was waiting for a patient like Jennifer. Mawad is the lead investigator in clinical trials of an experimental drug called urokinase.

"My father agreed to let the doctor give me the drug," recalls Jennifer. Almost immediately after Jennifer received a dose of urokinase, she regained use of her arm and started moving her leg.

"I remember being wheeled into intensive care and really, I didn't feel that bad," she says. "And aside from a few headaches, afterward it was like nothing ever happened."

Mawad says the drug dissolved a blood clot that apparently caused Jennifer's stroke. "Following a stroke, our first step is to do an arteriogram, a procedure that actually takes a picture inside the head. It clearly indicates the presence of a blood clot," he explains.

When the clot is located, a small catheter is snaked through the carotid artery, a main blood supply route to the brain. Urokinase is injected through the catheter until it reaches the blood clot.

"The drug dissolves the clot and restores blood flow and oxygen to the brain," says Mawad. "If we get a patient early, within six to eight hours of the onset of the stroke, we can limit the amount of brain damage with this treatment."

Methodist is the only center in the United States approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to conduct clinical trials on urokinase. The drug has been used successfully to dissolve life-threatening blood clots in victims of heart attacks.

While results may typically not be as dramatic as Jennifer's, Mawad says the drug can minimize the effects of a stroke and make recovery and rehabilitation periods much shorter.

Jennifer was released from the hospital a week after she was admitted. Once home, she mailed a wedding invitation to Dr. Mawad.

Five days later Jennifer Clines walked down the aisle with groom John Creech in her childhood church, with her brother presiding over the ceremony. And of all the wedding gifts the couple received, Jennifer is glad she got one of them early.

News From Baylor College Of Medicine

Houston's colleges and universities, led by Baylor College of Medicine, account for more than one-third of the state's research and development spending.

Texas colleges and universities spent more than $1.2 billion on research and development in 1991, the latest year for which comparative numbers are available from the National Science Foundation.

Houston's top five academic institutions' research totals were: --Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, 30th nationally, $161 million.

--U.T.M.D. Anderson Cancer Center, 53rd nationally, $109 million.

--U.T. Health Science Center, 102 nationally, $54 million.

--University of Houston, 116th nationally, $42 million.

--Rice University, 132nd nationally, $31 million.

Baylor's total of $161.1 million for research and development accounts for 40 percent of Houston's $396.9 million and 13.4 percent of the state total of $1.2 billion.

Among all state institutions, Texas A&M University, with $288 million, ranked 8th in the nation in total research expenditures, and the University of Texas at Austin, with $237 million, ranked 16th. These rankings include spending in all areas of research at A&M and U.T. while Baylor's was all in the biomedical sciences.

Baylor is also a leader in research expenditures among the nation's 126 medical schools. For the past five years, Baylor has ranked among the top five percent of academic medical centers in research and development, according to statistics from the Association of American Medical Colleges.

Know The Weather

What happens when a cold front and a warm front meet head-on? What are the characteristics of the stationary front produced?

A cold front, running into a warm front with about equal momentum, stagnates and marks time. The warm front also comes to a halt and the result, where the two air masses have met, is a stationary front.

A stationary front almost always produces prolonged rain and cloud and erratic wind currents. Sometimes the rain lasts for many days, until one of the systems breaks through the other and another strong front moves in.

If you're planning to fly in private aircraft, the weather map symbol of a stationary front should be highly discouraging, for landing and navigating in such an area is hazardous and often dangerous.

Keep Them!

New Year's resolutions are worthwhile efforts. Practically all aim at improvement, ending bad habits or being a better person.

In other words, these resolutions are the result of the soul-searching and self-improvement. Did you resolve to stop smoking, drink less, be more loving with family and friends, spend less, take better care of your health? If so, keep your focus on the goal and succeed!

Byliners Writing Contest To Be Held

Writers from more than 50 Texas cities and towns have already responded to the Tenth Annual TEXAS-WIDE WRITERS CONTEST sponsored by the Corpus Christi Byliners. There is still time to enter the contest, however; deadline is March first. Texas residents, Winter Texans, or out-of-state members of the organization may enter.

The popular contest is sponsored by the Byliners, a 54 year old nonprofit organization of writers. Proceeds from the competition support Byliners' Memorial Scholarship at Del Mar College in Corpus Christi. To celebrate the tenth anniversary of the contest Byliners are offering two new categories—light verse and science fiction short story.

Over $1500 in cash prizes for first, second, and third places will be awarded in ten categories: rhymed poem, unrhymed poem, light verse, short story, science fiction short story, children's story (fiction or non-fiction), nonfiction article, nostalgia article, novel and nonfiction book. Certificates of honorable mention will be given in all categories and special merit awards in selected categories. Winners will be announced and prizes presented May 15, 1993 at the annual awards luncheon in Corpus Christi.

To receive a rules brochure, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to BYLINERS CONTEST, P.O. Box 6218, Corpus Christi, TX 78466.

Some Useful Tips For Household Chores

By Jeff Keller

(NU) - Do-it-yourselfers, here are some tips for taking care of chores around the house:

— An estimated 13,900 clothes dryer-related fires occur each year, according to the Consumer Product Safety Commission. Some are caused by lint build-up in the exhaust duct. Be aware that corrugated vinyl ducts seem more likely to lead to a fire than metal ducts. And make sure to clean the ducts frequently.

— Want to top off a 4-by-4 post in the ground? First, draw lines all around the post at the point of the cut, making sure they are all square. Then, fasten 1-by-2 "guide" cleats at the lines to help guide the saw. Rest the saw blade on these cleats as you cut and you'll end up with a square cut across the post.

— When it comes time to stick, the best adhesive is one that does the job well — and lasts. 3M recently introduced several practical items, including an epoxy that is mixed in a pouch to eliminate odors and mess, and a heavy-duty adhesive that permanently attaches heavy objects to surfaces. A really unique item is a one-time-use scraper that releases a liquid to remove gummy adhesive and tape residue. A separate line for car-care uses also is available.

— Nothing can be more of an eyesore or can make you sorer than a stud which has bowed out in a freshly framed wall. There's a trick you can employ that will remove the bow without having to remove the stud. With a hand saw, cut a V-shaped groove at the point where it bows the most, about two-thirds of the way through the stud. Push against the stud and have a helper drive a nail at an angle down through the groove. No more bow.

— If your toilet runs periodically for a short time, then stops, you probably have a worn out flapper or tank ball. The rubber becomes soft and allows water to leak out of the seal at the base of the flush valve. Replace with a new flapper or tank ball.

(Jeff Keller can be heard nationwide every Saturday morning on the "Mr. Handyman" show. Check local radio listings for time and station.)

Don't Fly!

Winter weather annually brings an added danger to flying. In recent weeks there have been several airline disasters which claimed the lives of all crewmen and passengers.

The lesson to be learned is not to avoid flying. It is to avoid flying when the weather at one's destination is extremely bad. Despite marvelous, modern pilot aids for flying blind, mistakes and misinterpretations are still possible.

Mistakes when pilots are flying totally on instruments without visibility happen.

Mule-Buddies Remain Undefeated

When the Hornets took to the basketball court they planned to sting the fifth and sixth grade Muleshoe-Lazbuddie Kings, boys basketball team.

"For the first time this season, an opponent scored on the Mule-Buddies in the first quarter, and for the first time this season they trailed at the end of the first quarter, 6-5, said Cindy Barrett. "However, they decisively swatted the Hornets and put them away by 19 points, 33 to 14."

"Mason Sinclair was on fire and burned the nets for a team high 12 points, along with a team high 3 assists. He also added four rebounds," Ms. Barrett continued.

"Dustin Cleavenger pumped in 6 points and hit the boards for a team high 15 rebounds. Bret Clements shot the basketball through the hoops for 4 points and pulled in four rebounds. Ky Kennedy tossed in 3 points and rebounded the ball four times.

"Josh Morris scored 4 points and leaped high for seven rebounds. Judd Glover shot well scoring 3 points. Jerrey Bruns scored 2 points, and along with Glover, both caused the Hornets to turn the ball over several times," Ms. Barrett continued.

According to Ms. Barrett, James Barrett caused headaches all night for the Hornets due to his precise passing. James created two assists.

The score by quarters was: First Quarter: Hornets 5, Mule-Buddies 5; Second Quarter: Hornets 12, Mule-Buddies 14; Third Quarter: Hornets 12, Mule-Buddies 27; and Fourth Quarter, Hornets 14, Mule-Buddies 33.

"This season exciting things have occurred for the Mule-Buddies. In each of the three games played the Mule-Buddies have kept their opponents scoreless in one of the four quarters," said Ms. Barrett. "The Mule-Buddies have only trailed once this season, and are 3-0 winning by 49 points, 13 points, and 19 points."

The Muleshoe-Lazbuddie Kings shot 22 free-throws and made 12 of them for 55 percent. For the season they have shot 38 percent from the free-throw strip. According to Mrs. Barrett, last weekend they showed tremendous improvement from the line and they plan to practice vigorously to improve the record to 4-0.

Their next game will be Saturday, January 30 at Marshall Jr. High in Clovis, N.M. (old gym) at 6 p.m. Central Standard time.

"The Mule-Buddies and their coaches appreciates all of the parents and fans who attend the games and cheer for them."

"The energy created causes the Mule-Buddies to put away their

SBA Disaster Loan Assistance Deadline Nears

Businesses in six West Texas counties have until February 2, to file applications for low-interest disaster loans from the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA).

The SBA's Economic Injury Disaster Loans are available from businesses dependent on farmers and ranchers sustaining crop losses from early freeze, low water temperature, and heavy rains which occurred October 1 through December 31, 1991.

Farmers and ranchers are not eligible for these SBA loans. Applications and further information can be obtained by calling the SBA, toll-free at 1-800-366-6303, or TDD 817-267-4688 for the hearing impaired.

Businesses in the the following counties have until February 2, to file an application: Castro, Deaf Smith, Oldham, Parmer, Potter and Randall.

These loans are intended to assist businesses in offering working capital losses which they suffered as a result of the early freeze, low water temperature, and heavy and continuous rainfall reducing the crop income of the area farmers and ranchers. Small businesses claiming to have been physically injured by the adverse weather are not eligible.

opponents. Also special thanks goes to Jason Crawford, Barak Harlan, Megan Harlan, and Amber Bruns for keeping stats, and to Tucker Crawford for being a terrific manager. Gwynn Sinclair does a great job keeping the books. She helped the Mule-Buddies score two free throws in the third quarter by noticing an error in the official books," Ms. Barrett continued.

Texas Tech Seeks Clients For Small Business Institute

The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) has announced that the Small Business Institute (SBI) is in operation at Texas Tech University for the Spring semester. Client businesses are now being selected for the program according to Walter Fronstin, District Director of the Lubbock SBA office.

Fronstin said, "The program helps about 25 Lubbock area small businesses each year and provides graduating seniors with a practical 'real world' experience, while providing them with an opportunity to apply the skills they have learned in class to a live business environment."

In past years, Texas Tech student terms have performed such efforts as market research projects, advertising studies, recordkeeping and paperwork analyses, examined business costs compared to industry ratings and other similar projects.

Lubbock area businesses wishing to participate in the program should contact professor Fred Volker, SBI Director at TTU, at (806) 742-3461 or call SBA, (806) 743-7462.

Traveling With The Texas Angler

By Keith Warren

This is one of the busiest times of the year for many fishing guides, fishing tackle manufacturers and boat companies. Across the State of Texas this is the boat show season, and these folks mentioned above are travelling the state to show off their stuff and hopefully acquire new business.

As most serious fishermen, I have just about everything I need, or at least I think so. But each year die hard fishermen like myself find themselves going back to the annual show in hopes of finding something they just can't do without. These early spring shows are held in most major cities and are excellent opportunities for fishermen to basically find everything they need under one roof. I have been visiting and working these shows for years, and run into a lot of the same people year after year. It sometimes appears that these shows are as much a social event as they are a sportsman's show.

There are many years where there is little new with our industry, but this year is different. Major sign changes in bass boats are impressive, as are the new models. Champion has introduced two wide body base boats, up to 20'4". These boats are available with totally submersible built-in battery chargers, redesigned gas tank compartments, aluminum deck lids and lots of small changes and additions.

Saltwater boat designs are changing as well, taking on a sleeker look, and incorporating many features that freshwater boats have had for years. Storage compartments, built in aerated bait wells, and depth finders are now becoming standard items on bay boats.

New fishing lures are always popping up each year. This year the most impressive I've seen is the new Ultimate Bait" by Wisconsin Pharnacal.

The school district was one of six in the nation awarded a $40,000 grant by the National Council For Vocational Agriculture Education in 1991. The grant was used to develop and test a national aquaculture curriculum for high school students.

"The best way to teach people about agriculture is by letting them get their hands dirty," Perry said. "The marine education center lets them know that agriculture has a place in chemistry, biology and math and that these subjects have a place in agriculture."

They claim it is a totally biodegradable soft plastic replacement. Within 24 hours this lure will biodegrade in the water and is made of fish food. It is available in all the normal soft plastic shapes; grubs, worms and crawfish, and in some pretty impressive color combinations.

Strike King Lures is introducing a brand new design for a sinner bait blade; taking the best features of both, the vibrations of a round blade and the flash of a willow leaf blade. The bait is called "Spin Dance" and should be available soon.

My advice for those of you planning to attend a show is to spend sometime in each booth asking what new. You'll be surprised with what's you learn.

Keith Warren is the Host of The Texas Angler Television Show, which broadcasts Statewide. Catch The Texas Angler locally on KAMK on Saturday at 6:30. For more information contact The Texas Angler at 210?625-3474.

Fantastic Entertainment Planned For Stock Show

Fort Worth Stock Show Rodeo fans will be delighted with the fantastic array of special entertainment planned for the 28 performances of the World's Original Indoor rodeo in Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum January 22 through February 7.

The excitement will begin with the colorful presentations of the grand entry, followed by rapid-fire action of over 700 champion cowboys and challengers as they concentrate their best efforts against what has been described as the toughest rodeo stock available in the sport.

Neal Gay of Mesquite, Texas, again will serve as rodeo production manager. He has selected a team of stock providers who rank among the best in the nation to assure that cowboys will only be out on the top bucking, roping and dogging stock.

The rodeo production team includes stock from nine companies, bringing a high percentage of the National Finals Rodeo bucking stock here.

An outstanding team of rodeo bull fighting clowns are also scheduled to participate. They are Tommy Hare of Moore Haven, Florida; Rob Smets of Oakland, Oregon; and Dale J. Woodard of French Camp, California. Bob Tallman of Baker, Oregon, will serve as official announcer.

All the reigning world champion cowboys have signed to participate in the rodeo events. Ty Murray of Stephenville, Texas is world all-around champion, holding his fourth straight title. He competes in bareback and saddle bronc and bull riding. Billy Etbauer of Ree Heights, S.D., is the saddle bronc champ; Wayne Herman of Dickinson, N.D., holds the bareback bronc title; Cody Custer of Wickenburg, Az. is bull riding champ; Joe Beaver of Huntsville, Texas top calf roper; and Mark Roy of Dalemead, Alberta, Canada, best steer wrestler.

Spaced within the action events will be the return of the Canadian chuck wagon races. This WBAP Radio-sponsored event features four miniature chuck wagon racing at full tilt in coliseum area. Individual wagons are sponsored by Winn-Dixie Texas, Coors, Justin Boots and the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Another returning favorite on the Fort Worth Rodeo scene will be Whiplash, the cowboy monkey, in the saddle aboard his fast-moving, highly trained mount, a Scottish Sheep Dog. Together with some instruction from renowned animal trainer and showman, Tommy Lucia of Weatherford, Texas, Whiplash and his mount demonstrate the art of maneuvering and working sheep.

Making a debut appearance to a Fort Worth crowd will be Vicki Adams and her beautiful grey American Quarter Horse named "Silverado". Miss Adams, of mixed Indian and Spanish descent, was born and raised on the Yakima Indian Reservation in Washington State. Miss Adams, a highly qualified horse trainer, trick rider, and Roman rider, will present "Silverado" in a spectacular feature timed to music and movements.

After 20 years, the grace and athletic ability of the cutting horse will return to the rodeo arena at the Stock Show. Styled as the "Cowtown Cutting", the competitive event will be presented by Coors.

Top cutters in the National Cutting Horse Association have been invited to participate to assure a high quality contest. Several modifications of the standard NCHA rule format will be in effect during the rodeo where contestants will be vying for $23,800 purse. Three contestants will work each performance.

Rodeo tickets are $12 each for Friday night and weekend performances and $10 for Monday through Thursday nights and all weekday matinees. The rodeo box office, located in the lobby of Will Rogers Coliseum, is open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and from noon until 5 p.m. on Sundays. Tickets are also available at all Rainbow Ticketmaster locations.

Taxpayers on the Move Get Extra Tax Benefits

U.S. taxpayers who must move abroad due to their job or business may be able to deduct part or all of their move on their U.S. tax return.

The taxpayer moving abroad may also be able to extend the replacement period to reinvest any realized gain in another home. For military personnel that extension may amount to up to eight years in some cases.

Actual moving expenses that can be deducted on tax returns include:

- selling of the old house and buying a new one,
- househunting trips,
- meals and lodging at the new location while in temporary housing, and
- the cost of moving furniture and related household goods.

Factors that influence qualifying for these moving deductions include how soon the taxpayer begins working in the new location after the move, time on the job and distance tests.

Details on these extensions and deductions are included in IRS Publication 521, Moving Expenses, and Publication 54, Tax Guide For United States Citizens and Resident Aliens Abroad. They can be obtained by writing to the IRS, Forms Distribution Center, P.O. Box 25866, Richmond, VA 23289, USA.

There are three sureties of happiness: good habits, amiability, and forbearance.
