Guffey Coal Act Is

Declared Invalid SIX members of the Supreme court of the United States ruled that the Guffey act to control the bituminous ecal industry is invalid, and another of the New Deal experiments goes into the discard. This is the act which President Roosevelt urged congress to pass notwithstanding doubts of its constitutionality

'however reasonable.' Five justices-Sutherland, Butler, Van Devanter, McReynolds, and Roberts - joined in the majority opinion which invalidated the whole act. Justices Cardozo, Brandeis, and Stone joined in a dissenting opinion in which they upheld the act. Chief Justice Hughes held in a separate opinion that the act was constitutional with respect to the marketing provisions but iconstitutional with respect to the labor regulations.

Sen. Guffey

The court in the majority opinion held that there is no authority in the Constitution for the control of the coal industry attempted in the Guffey act. The act was not valid either under the commerce clause or the welfare clause. Power was unlawfully delegated to set up a coal code similar to the codes of the invalidated NRA and the regulations establishing working hours of miners were a violation of the fifth amendment prohibiting the taking of property without due process of law. Mining, the court declared, is a local industry, the state jurisdiction whereof the federal government has no authority to invade.

Congress provided that if one part of the act were held unconstitutional other parts should not be affected. But the majority declined to accept that arrangement, ruling that the price fixing provisions were inextricably interven with the labor regulations.

Senator Guffey, author of the act, declined to comment on the opinion, but it was said he was preparing a substitute measure.

John Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, said that "it is a sad commentary upon our form of government when every decision of the Supreme court seems designed to fatten capital and starve and destroy the justices of the Appeals court called the entire relief appropriations act of 1935 into question. The act was invalid and hence RA was invalid, according to the court, Legally, however, none of the rest of the act will be affected by the decision because the other multitudinous activities of the New Deal under the appropriation were not before the court.

Solicitor Gen. Stanley Reed said an appeal would be taken to the Supreme court at once.

Uncle Sam Stands by Nine Power Pact

NEWS that Japan was greatly en-larging her force in North China led the State department in Washington to announce that the position of the United States is the same as that outlined last December by Secretary Hull affirming its support of the nine power pact that guarantees China's territorial integrity. At that time Mr. Hull said this country has a binding faith in the fundamental principles of its traditional policy. This government adheres to the provisions of the treaties to which it is a party and continues to bespeak respect by all nations for the provisions of treaties solemnly entered into for the purpose of facilitating and regulating, to reciprocal and common advantage. At the State department it was said that the reaffirmation of support of the nine power pact does not mean that the administration will abandon its policy of declining to take the initiative in any attempt to curb Japan for violations of the pact. This was attempted by Henry L. Stimson, secretary of state in the Hoover administration, with the gain of nothing but Japanese ill will, Japanese military strength in North China south of the Great Wall is now said to be fully 15,000 men. There are about 80,000 more in Manchukuo and still others in Inner Mongolia.

War Debts Will Be

Defaulted Again NEITHER Great Britain nor France has any intention of paying the installments on the American war debt due June 15. And almost certainly all the other debtor nations except Finland will follow the example of the two big ones and again default. British Foreign Minister Eden talked about the debts with Leon Blum, who probably will be premier of France soon, but there was no indication that either one was planning to make a payment Blum told the American club in Paris he hoped the war debt "misunderstandmight be cleared up, but he was just trying to be pleasant to the people of both America and France without spending any money.

Of course the debtor nations would like to have the issue cleared up, for as long as they are in default they are subject to the restrictions of the Johnson act which makes it unlawful for any person in the United States to purchase or sell the bonds, securities or other obligations of any foreign government or to make any loans to such a government while that government is in default in payment of its obligations to the United States.

Italy Releases Alleged Leader in King's Killing

DR. ANTON PAVELIC, alleged leader of Ustashi, the Croatian terrorist organization, and accused as one of the "master minds" in the assassination of King Alexander of Jugoslavia in Marseilles, has been set free by the Italian authorities. Released with him was his lieutenant, Eugene Kvaternik. The two were arrested at Turin in October, 1934, soon after the murder of Alexander, but the French authorities who were working on the case were never permitted to question them and an Italian tribunal refused the request of the French government for their extradition to France for trial.

POLAND feels that another European war is more than likely to break out soon, and she intends to be ready to take part in the conflict. A new government has been installed with Gen. Felician Slawoj-Skladkowski as premier and minister of the interior. The general took the oath of office wearing his uniform, which was taken as symbolic of the government's program. Poland will be adequately armed. Opposition leaders are warned that they will be prosecuted, as they were by Pilsudski after 1930.

tional Ohio Democrats polled about 500,000 votes in the primary, nearly 100,000 more than the Republicans, and they expressed their preference for Mr. Roosevelt over Col. Henry Breckenridge to the tune of 16 to 1. They also renominated Gov. Martin L. Davey. who will be opposed by John W. Bricker, Republican, in November. About twenty of Pennsylvania's delegation to the Republican convention were pledged to support the popular choice of the state, which turned out to be Mr. Borah, no other name being officially entered at the April 28 primary. The delegation, which is uninstructed, has now voted that those .embers must keep their pledge on the first ballot or until it becomes manifestly impossible for their choice to win. This action was taken on motion of former Senator David A. Reed.

Former Governor Small of Illinois Dies

L EN SMALL, twice governor of Illinois and prominent in the politics of the state for nearly forty years, died suddenly in a Kankakee hospital from an embolism resulting from an operation. He was seventy-three years old. Mr. Small's career was rather stormy. His enemies were many and bitter, and he fought them courageously; his friends were devoted to him, and he was always loyal to them. In addition to his eight years as governor, he served two terms as state treasurer. Moreover, he was defeated for governor four times. He sought the Republican nomination again in the recent primary but was defeated.

Tugwell's Report on Resettlement Work

R ESPONDING to a senate resoluport on the activities of the resettlement administration of which he is the head. He showed that it has 15,804 employees on the administration pay roll and has been allotted $275,549,944 to spend. Of this amount, the report stated, $98,-347,005 has been spent and a total of $173,-091,823 obligated, leaving $102,458,112 unincumbered

R. G. Tugwell Up to April 15, according to the report, the resettlement administration had taken options on 9.670,000 acres of land, of which options on 8,469,000 acres, costing $36,-344,000, had become legal commitments. As of May 1, the report said, 59,521 persons, including 3,581 on the CCC pay roll, were employed in connection with the land acquisition program.

Of 33 subsistence homestead projects, construction has been completed on 18, is in progress on 11 and final plans have been drafted for 4. The report lists four suburban housing projects, financed from a $31,000,000 allocation for this purpose. They are in Berwyn, Md., Bound Brook, N. J., Milwaukee, and Cincinnati.

On rural rehabilitation, the report says the RA has cared for more than 800,000 families. For its rehabilitation advances to individual "clients," the administration will expend $106,000,000 through June 30.

Inflation Bill Defeated

by the House

WE ARE not going to have any currency inflation, at least before next session of congress. The Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage refinancing bill, dragged out of committee by a petition signed by 218 house members, and then hotly debated for a day, was defeated by the decisive vote of 235 to 142. The bill called for the printing of three billion dollars for its financing. The petition signers included 159

Democrats, and before the vote every one of them was told by Pat Boland of Pennsylvania, the party whip, that the President didn't want the measure passed at this time and that if the member voted for the bill it would be just too bad for him. Besides this potent argument the Democratic leaders induced President William Green of the American Federation of Labor to intervene and he called together the federation's executive council and had it write a letter saying it was opposed to the bill because of the inflation fea-

President Still Wants Ship Canal and Quoddy

DRESIDENT ROOSEVELT was supposed to have abandoned for the present the Florida ship canal and Passamaquoddy tidal power projects for which the house refused to appropriate further funds. But Senator Robinson of Arkansas was called to the White House for a conference and returned to the house to introduce a resolution authorizing the President to appoint engineering boards of review for the two schemes.

The boards would present their findings by June 29, and, if favorable, the President would have authorization to set aside $10,000,000 for the canal and $9,000,000 for Passamaquoddy out of available relief money.

Starhemberg Ousted From Austrian Cabinet

CHANCELLOR KURT SCHUSCH-NIGG of Austria has long been at outs with the vice chancellor, Prince Ernst von Starhemberg, and now he has got rid of that active young man and is practically the sole dictator of the country. This was accomplished by the resignation of the cabinet and its reconstruction immediately with Von Starhemberg left out.

Italy May Withdraw From League of Nations

BECAUSE the League of Nations council would not immediately recognize Italy's annexation of Ethiopia and the creation of the new Roman empire, Premier Mussolini recalled his representatives from Geneva, and before long Italy may quit the league entirely. At present it is merely "not participating" in its activities.

The Italians at Addis Ababa are executing many natives for espionage or murder, among them being the glant umbrella carrier of Halle Selassie. A number of newspaper men have been expelled because of "anti-Italian activities and espionage." Among them were George Steer, correspondent for the London Times and the New York Times; Isadore Nebenzahl, a representative of the Havas (French) News agency; Alkeos Anglopolo, a Hearst correspondent, and M. D. Robillard, director of an Ethiopian newspaper.

Common People for Roosevelt

New League Formed to Further F. D. R's Social Program; French Trade Pact

By EARL GODWIN TASHINGTON .- There is a newly organized outfit with a good name. . . . "The Good Neighbor League" . . . headed by an erstwhile Republican, Dr. Stanley High, a rather famed publicist who believes that Roosevelt's policy of loosening the tight social structure is the only thing that will save this country from a collapse. In this league, which has a sort of Golden Rule complex, there are thoughtful people active in church work, labor organization work, relief work, editorial work, etc. They are not politicians by any means, but they will undoubtedly turn out to have a vast political influence by stressing the fact that Roosevelt's policies are strongly endorsed by the great mass of inarticulate folks fadown in the social scale.

You'll find in the Good Neighbor league such men as Col. Patrick H. Callahan, the Louisville industrialist who long ago began sharing the wealth of his business with his workers. You'll find Fannie Hurst the author, A. P. Gianini, financier and chairman of the Bank of America; Clifford Gregory, editor of the Prairie Farmer; Dr. James William Crabtree, who heads a world-wide educational association-I wish there were room to list the leaders of this outpouring of people of independent thought and liberal tendencies who know that unless someone interprets events and politics the reactionaries will so completely mis-state the case as to fool millions of people. The league represents a definite movement to help Roosevelt do what he wants to do under the promise "to make America a better place in which to live."

It is a slap at the Du Ponts and their Liberty League, and will give that munitions group a lot to think about. It comes along about the same time that a young fellow with a lot of vision named Paul Best forms a nation-wide organization headed up as the Roosevelt First Voters-an outfit designed to reach young men and women who vote for the first time next fall. It is not a Democratic outfit-just an outfit in honor of the fact that Roose velt has touched the hearts and minds of young people who have heard a lot of promises but have seen no performance except from F. D. R. Especially interested are these Roosevelt First Voters in the policy of providing opportunities for young men and young

Then comes Labor's Non-Partisan league, which in my opinion is the most striking thing that has occurred in politics recently. This is an organization of labor union leaders and their followers to re-elect Roosevelt, whom they describe as the one man to carry on their fight for a fair wage at fair working conditions. The labor men in this league issue statements declaring themselves violently in opposition to the Liberty league and the National Association of Manufacturers and all so-called southern "grass roots" organizations opposed to Roosevelt. They known that these southern bursts of anti-Rooseveltism are financed here in Washington by the Liberty league or some close affiliation.

Heading Labor's Non-Partisan league is Maj. George L. Berry, a printing press union man; John Lewis, United Mine Workers' chief (and I think the most daring union leader in America) and Sidney Hillman, Garment Workers' head. . . . They have a well-knit army of tens of thousands all ready to go. They have 4,000 experienced platform men and women-speakers and campaigners and organizers.

SUGAR COAT G. O. P. MEET Plans to sugar coat the Republican national convention at Cleveland so that it will have an up-to-date streamlined, show window appearance, are being made by one of these New York super-publicity men named Bruce Barton, whom the Alf Landon element in the party brings in to give life to the unutterably dull campaign as run by Chairman Fletcher of the G. O. P. headquarters here. The fact that Barton has been recruited to publicize Alf Landon is interesting in the light of the fact that he is the author of a book entitled "The Man Nobody Knows."

However, anything that anybody can do to humanize a political convention, now that so many attend them via the radio, is commendable. The Democratic chieftains have been leading the way in publicity, air and printed, for several years. Now that the Republicans have decided to make improvements, the general public can sit back and have a swell time in a few days now, listening to the impassioned orators spell-binding. One interesting feature Barton is said to be planning is good music, planned to appeal to racial and sectional groups. Barton thinks that if his pipe organ at Cleveland plays "Old Kentucky Home" that will carry the Blue Grass state for Landon or whoever G. O. P. picks. I trust they will not make the mistake that the Al Smith boys made when the Georgia delegation nearly mobbed the band for playing."Marching Through Georgia" that tune being the greatest insult that can be offered a Georgia Democrat. as it is an echo of the Union army's destructive march through a stricken state. . . .

TANGLE PREDICTED

Administration leadership managed to choke back the demand for a lowinterest means of paying off farm mortgages, when the house voted down the Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage bill, But while conservatism won a momentary victory, I look for the episode to start a tremendous tangle in coming events . . . particularly in politics, Wouldn't surprise me in the least if it is the touch-off for a grand assault by Father Coughlin and other radicals who have a tremendous following for their theory that the way to salvation is through a currency so completely diluted that it will wash the banks and bankers all away.

The proposal that the federal government should pay off farm mortgages with three billions of new money, and then reimburse itself by very small annual payments from farmers at a rate of about 11/2 per cent a year is attractive enough to any farmer with a mortgage; and had enough support to get 142 votes in the house in the face of strong administration opposi-But the method is looked on by 80 many leaders as dangerously inflationary that for all intents and purposes it is too radical a measure to get to the statute books until there is a much more radical following in both houses of congress. The strongest attack on the measure came from organized labor, which feels the financing of the shortage payments by three billions of new money (to be either borrowed or printed), would dilute currency to a state where prices would sky-rocket and wages remain static. That idea killed the bill-and that alone. Scores of men who are sympathetic with the farm problem voted against the Frazier-Lemke measure, on the ground that this diluted money would be ruinous to everybody-explaining that the farm-mortgage problem and other rural economic tangles would be straightened by a price reform and better business, rather than by greenback money.

But agrarian movements in the past have never died out as the result of a first defeat. I look for this Frazier-Lemke movement to sweep the Middle West and Northwest. Father Coughlin and his Union for Social Justice will become more important than ever from the standpoint of the make-up of the next congress. Scores of good fellows were put on the spot by the vote in the house; and many members will have to fight for their lives on account of their position in that vote. I also look for a strong counter-proposal. . . .

A COMING LEADER

Representative Lemke of North Dakota is a coming radical leader. He was the only Republican to get a bill of any consequence through congress in the first half of this administration; that was the Frazier-Lemke moratorium bill which granted time to farmers who had come up to the limit on mortgage payments. The Supreme court held the bill unconstitutional.

Lemke is listed as a Republican, but he is not. Actually he is a Nonpartisan Leaguer and when the league captured and ate up the Republican party in North Dakota he became the party's state chairman. But no Republican would claim him as a brother, because Lemke has stood for some of general of his state he drafted laws which have been called revolutionary. They include state banks, state insurance for farmers against hail, stateowned flour mills, and other far reaching changes.

This radical farm leader is not without educational background. He studied in two of the most conservative institutions on earth; one was Yale university and the other was Georgetown university here in the national capital. I look to see this gentleman attempt some great things for himself and his radical following before the next administration is through.

TRADE PACT WITH FRANCE We have been engaged in a ten-year trade war with France; now it's all over. A new trade agreement has been completed which lowers tariffs; and permits us to deal more freely with France while they in turn have a better market for their goods (particularly wines and perfumes). Our tobacco raisers see a great opportunity to do a lot more business with the French, and all told every one should be gratified. There is no sharp excitement about a new trade agreement, but world-wide peaceful results are bound to flow because the new-style treaties are a part of the new era wherein the seeds of war are being eliminated by a neighborly policy. Of course, there will be criticism directed at certain items. It will be charged, as in the case of the Canadian trade treaty, that foreigners are allowed to rush in and steal our markets; but all told the French and Canadian treaties together are being praised by some of the harshest opponents of the Roosevelt administration At last we are getting to the point where we can tear down our fences and do business with our worldneighbors on the same human, common sense basis as we do in our own

It has been proven that past wars have sprung from the selfish, nationalistic tendencies of nations to build high tariff barriers and bottle themselves up in a ferment of selfishness. The new policy is like going down town and mingling with your fellows and learning that a little give-and-take in trading is the way to make friends -and at the same time do more bus ness. You lose a little on one item but you make up on another. Best of all both sides remain friends.

Advice, warnings, speculation; confusion. And then Nan Downer pushed through the circle.

"What's wrong? . . . Oh! Tip! Why, Tip. . . . " The tall flopped heavily. the dirt smeared tongue lolled; the dog panted and whined. The girl dropped to her knees beside him and he put his nose in her lap. . . . The eyes closed and Tip drew a quivering sigh. He had come to Nan at last. Now he could be touched; now the hurt could be examined.

"Broken!" gasped Ezra. "And . . Good Lord, sergeant, this dog's been

The words echoed from a dozen throats, "Shot!"

"He was with Kerry!" Nan cried. "He was with Kerry, I am sure . . . Ezra! Where is Kerry? Where is . . .'

"That," snapped the policeman, "is what we've got to find out! Come on, you trailers! Look! You can see every step he took in this road!"

Midafternoon, now, and his head folled drunkenly as Young fought off that cloud of darkness. He could not hold it much longer. The cabin was beyond his range of vision. . .

He had one cartridge left. He remembered that. For weeks, it seemed, his intermittent firing had kept West within that cabin. He had only one more shot to fire, and he could not see the bead of his sight. That was all blurred, like other matters: pain and sickness and his manner of getting

His face drooped heavily against the stock. He was so weary. He wanted to sleep . . . just a moment . . . just a second. . . . One little wink of re-

And then he knew that for ever so long voices had been in his ears. Voices, saying over and over: "Here he went" . . . Or was it just once that the words had been said? Just once? "Here he went!" It must have been Jim Hinkle saying that. Jim's voice, saying it just now, just once! . "Here he went!"

And Jim was standing there in the road, bent over, with a group around him. . . . And Nan with her hand on Jim's shoulder, and the sound of glass breaking. .

Glass breaking! Window glass breaking before the thrust of a rifle barrel through the pane; tinkling as it spilled over the sill. . And a man with his shoulder slammed tight against the window casing sighting that rifle, and

He could see the bead of his front sight, could see it flash true against that bulky breast and the recoil did not hurt, that time. He did not even think of it. . . . He saw that other rifle barrel fly upward, saw Tod West spin about, back to the window. . . . Saw him stand there a moment and then, in the terrible silence, saw him disappear with the crash which loosed torrents of cries and words and sounds of running feet. . . .

Then Kerry Young put his cheek down on the cool, moist earth and drew a long breath. . .

They had him back at Nan's in an hour. Ezra had the bullet out before sundown. It was midnight when he opened his eyes.

At first, he thought he was alone in the room and then realized that he could not be alone; a man alone cannot have that sweet sense of peace and It would not do to get too close to permanence and well being which spread over him like a mantle. . . .

"Nan," he breathed and she came quickly close. "Oh, Kerry!" The words were a sob.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Lord's Supper.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC-What the Lord's Supper Means to Me.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC-What the Lord's Supper Meant

The last meal that Jesus ate with his disciples was the Passover, the memorial of the national deliverance which pointed to the supreme deliverance to be effected by Christ on the cross of Calvary. In connection with this Passover, the feast of the new covenant was instituted. This feast also has a double import. It looks backward to the great deliverance wrought through Christ's atoning death, and forward to the even greater deliverance which He shall accomplish at his second coming (I Cor. 11:26).

I. The Last Passover (vv. 7-18). 1. The Passover prepared (vv. 7-13),

a. As the time had arrived for the killing of the Passover, Jesus directed Peter and John to make ready for it

b. The disciples inquired (v. 9) where they should prepare the Passover. Doubtless, they were eager to be of service to their Master and Lord.

c. Jesus gave strange directions (vv. 10-12), that they should go into the city, where they would find a man bearing a pitcher of water. The custom was for women to carry the water. This unusual occurrence would make it the easier for them to recognize the man of whom they would ask, "Where is the guest chamber where I shall eat the Passover with my disciples?"

d. The disciples gave unquestioning obedience (v. 13), not permitting the unusual instructions to raise the question of sanity or reasonableness, Jesus, because he was omniscient, knew just how the matter would turn out, and the disciples found it even so.

2. The Passover eaten (vv. 14-18). a. The historic group around that table (v. 14) was composed of Jesus and the Twelve, the apostles.

b. Jesus' words to the disciples (vv. 15-18).

(1) "I have desired to eat this Passover with you before I suffer" (v. 15). He desired to show them the meaning of the passion through which he was to go. He also craved their human sympathy as he passed through this terrible ordeal,

(2) "I will not any more eat thereof until it be fulfilled in the kingdom of God" (v. 16). His death was the antitypical fulfillment of the Passover meal. He declared that this would be He stared hard at the ceiling through | the last time that they could share together this sacred ordinance before the detion of his mediatorial work

(3) "Take this cup and divide it among ourselves" (vv. 17, 18). By the token of the cup the disciples were partaking of the shed blood. This cup should be distinguished from the cup of the feast of the new covenant.

II. The Feast of the New Covenant (vv. 19, 20).

This feast took place at the close of the pascal supper.

1. The bread a symbol of Christ's body (v. 19). As bread nourishes and strengthens our bodies, so Christ is food to our spiritual nature. Unless the body receives nourishment, it decays. Unless our souls feed upon Christ, we shall perish. Christ's giving the physical bread to his disciples signified the giving of himself to them. 2. The cup a symbol of Christ's blood

(v. 20). He said, "This cup is the new testament in my blood which was shed for you," indicating that each one must personally accept the atonement made by the shedding of his blood.

III. The Treachery of Judas (vv. 21-23).

1. The time of its manifestation (v. 21). It was while they were eating the last Passover that Jesus made announcement of the betrayal. Perhaps Jesus was in this manner offering Judas an opportunity at this last moment to repent.

2. The betrayal was by the determinate counsel of God (v. 22, cf. Acts 2:23). Nothing takes place by chance, Even the sinful acts of wicked men come within the permissive providence of God. This does not, however, lessen the guilt of sinners, for Jesus said, "Woe unto the man by whom he is betrayed."

3. The sorrowful question (v. 23). That the disciples were not suspicious of one another is evident from the personal nature of the question they asked, "Lord, is it I?" (Matt. 26:22). Well may each believer ask if he is in any way betraying his Savior and Lord.

True Happiness

Genuine happiness is the delicate perfume of a holy life. The sanctified soul exhales happiness as the flowers emit sweet odors. Heaven is a tropical garden of conscious spirits and its atmosphere is laden with happiness as the normal product of their purity.-D. C. Knowles.

Floyd Gibbons Adventurers'

"Wrestling for Life" By FLOYD GIBBONS Famous Headline Hunter.

M EET Fellow Adventurer Jack Kapsol of Brooklyn, N. Y. Jack is a gas station attendant and comes into the club with flying colors and a story of a hand-to-hand battle he had with a hold-up man. Speaking of hold-ups in gas stations, I want to tell you about Bill Kernan, a friend of mine who runs a service station in Miami, Fla. Bill was sitting alone in his lonely station one night last winter. There had been a lot of gas station hold-ups in town recently and Bill was feeling pretty nervous this night. He had quite a bit of money in the cash register and didn't like the looks of the weather. It was raining cats and dogs and the streets were deserted.

Suddenly the lights of a big car driving into his driveway startled him. The car skidded to a stop and two men jumped out and entered the office. Bill took one look at them and nearly fainted. Both wore masks!

Masked Devil and Pirate Hold Up Gas Station.

Without waiting for the command, Bill raised his hands over his head and dropped weakly into a chair. He looked his night visitors over with popping eyes. And no wonder! One of them looked like the devil-I mean exactly that -he was dressed in a devil's costume complete from horns to spiked tail! The other masked man was a pirate and pistols and daggers peeped threateningly from his belt!

What a disguise, Bill thought, and with chattering teeth he told them to help themselves to the cash register. Bill's boss had told him not to resist in case of a holdup and Bill, being an obedient employee, obeyed. But the men paid no attention to the cash register. The pirate instead drew out a long pistol and leveled it at Bill's trembling head:

"Give us some gas or your life," he growled. Bill jumped at the command and quickly filled their tank. He spilled a lot of the gas on the road but that didn't matter. All he wanted to do was to get rid of his dangerous customers as soon as possible. A few gallons of gas was a cheap price to pay, he thought,

Holdup Turns Out to Be Revelers' Lark.

Then as he finished filling the tank Bill got another shock. The devil reached in a mysterious pocket and handed him a five dollar bill. Bill looked at the money in amazement. A strong whisky odor came from the devil's breath, "Keep the change," he muttered thickly.

And the two "bandits" climbed into their big car and drove back to the fancy dress ball they had just left!

This Time It's Really a Serious Affair. That's one service man's story. Jack Kapsol's experience wasn't quite so funny and his bandit hadn't been to any masquerade either.

Jack had the night watch at his father's service station on Liberty avenue in Jamaica, L. I. One Saturday night-or rather Sunday morning, for it was 3 a. m .- Jack was sitting alone waiting for customers. The date was December 1, 1934. Business had been good that day and there was plenty of jack in Jack's cash register.

The street was deserted when a big blue Buick drove up and two tough looking characters asked for 10 gallons of gas. Jack gave it to them and they gave him a two dollar bill in payment. When he started into the office to get the change one of the men-a big fellow in a heavy overcoat-followed him.

"Hand all the dough over," the big man ordered with a curse and pulled a heavy black-jack out of his coat pocket. Jack says the black-jack was an ugly looking weapon and the sight of it almost made him obey. But he figured he couldn't give up his father's money without a struggle. Besides, Jack is an amateur wrestler and a pretty big fellow himself.

Jack's Knowledge of Wrestling Was a Life Saver.

He reached for the cash register, pretending to obey, and then suddenly made a flying tackle at the holdup man. Wham! the black-jack whistled through the air and down went both men. Jack had been too fast for the blacklack. He got under it as the weapon whizzed by his ear and grabbing the bandit's arm applied a "Japanese arm lock."

Did you ever see that hold? It's a pip and you can snap a man's arm with it. But the arm Jack held had a heavy overcoat on it and its powerful owner broke the hold. Jack got a "full Nelson" on him next and was able to keep away from the black-jack.

And now comes as strange an ending as any professional wrestling bont ever had. The bandit had been smoking a cigarette when he came in. The shock of Jack's attack had knocked the lighted cigarette on the floor. In a corner of the office was a keg of highly inflammable anti-freeze solution.

Danger of Explosion Was Greater Than Robbery.

The tap had leaked and as Jack struggled desperately on the floor he saw to his horror that the cigarette had ignited the liquid. A blue streak of flame was already heading for the keg. The next minute might see an explosion that would make the wrestling match a tie-with both wrestlers dead!

Jack didn't know what to do. But his opponent did and he did it fast. The bandit apparently had no desire to be blown up. He saw the fire starting and he started with it. Right out the door he went and slamming it after him was off in the car with his partner in a cloud of Jack had literally fallen out of the frying pan into the fire! The money was safe but now it looked like the whole place would go up in flames.

Jack Kicked Death Right Out the Door. He jumped for his leather coat and tried to smother the increasing blaze.

The burning liquid splashed on his arms and burnt him severely. The wood of the keg was actually burning when he tried to move it to safety. One spark on that keg and it would be all over. He braced himself against the wall and with his pants leg burning kicked the keg off its cradle and out the door! Wow! If that isn't kicking dynamite, what is? But Jack got away with it. He stamped out the fire inside the station and then took an inventory. The inventory showed that he had lost: one coat, one pair of pants and, last but not least, two eyebrows! @-WNU Service.

Selling Short

To sell short on the stock exchange is to sell securities expecting to repurchase them at a lower price. The seller is "short" as he lacks what he has sold. All sales at the stock exchange are practically spot cash, delivery being required within 24 hours (with rare exceptions), so those short must purchase what they have sold (to deliver next day) or failing to do so, must borrow the necessary securities to deliver, which loan they expect ultimately to repay by purchasing securities at a lower price. In other words, it amounts those of the Supreme court judges, the to speculating for a decline in prices.

Notaries Public in Ohio

Notaries public came into existence in Ohio by an act of the legislature in February of 1910, when there was subsequently authorized and appointed one each in Chillicothe, Steubenville, Cincinnati and Marietta. Two $1 fees were stipulated, one for attesting a document and the other for making a record in a book which the notary kept for this purpose. Strangely, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, it so happened that these fees resulted in incomes for each of the notaries greater than

the Original Row-Crop Tractor

THE McCormick-Deering Farmall tractor and the Farmali machines are the central figures of a new era of low-cost crop production. They have made Farmall farmers master of time, season, crop, and acreage. Not only does the Farmall operate economically all the regular equipment within its power range, but it is the original tractor designed for planting and cultivating row crops.

The Farmall is built in two sizes-the regular 2-plow Farmall and the 3-plow Farmall 30. Special Farmall machines are made for both tractors.

THE BULLFROGS' SERENADE An Original Poem

When summer rains are coming, Falling on the dusty dust, Don't you like to hear the bullfrogs Serenading us?

In the coolness of the evening Don't you like to watch frogs play, atching bugs from out your garden In peculiar, comic way?

Aren't you kind o' glad When bullfrogs come again, And croak their serenade for you After summer rains?
