Entered as second-class mail matter at the post office at Silverton, Texas in accordance with an act of Congress March 3, 1879.

VICE-PRESIDENT GARNER has my vote for sure. Even in the hottest congressional sessions, so the papers say, he has time for an after dinner nap. That man's ideas about that are mine exactly. When business gets so rushing that I haven't time for that cat-nap, I'll hire another printer—or more if necessary. John and I must have our noontime siesta—it's an old Spanish custom.

DOES ANYONE WISH to pay a small installment on a trip to Kansas? All offers considered and appreciated—no matter how small. Only one person to the family allowed to contribute.

CLINT SMALL, JR., was in the office a few minutes Monday, doing a little toward re-electing his dad. He's a nice appearing fellow and if he's a chip off the old block, then I guess the Senator isn't so bad.

WORTH ALEXANDER WRITES from Salt Lake City (Joe and family have moved to California) saying that they are enjoying a nice trip—and ends it by saying "Love to every one but you and Foust."

THE HIGHWAY BUSINESS is picking up. No less than six boys have passed here in the past hour via the thumb route. That is my one objection to surfacing roads—it's too hot on the feet of the hitch-hikers. Longer thumbs, lighter suit-cases, less black topped roads, more hitching and less hiking—that's a platform that will get the absentee vote.

JEANNE SUITS DEVOTES several inches of her "Chattergrams" in the Lockney Beacon to the Louis-Schmeling prize fight. There's a gal after my own heart. I wonder if she remembers the Tunny-Dempsey job, that still makes a good argument—with Dempsey the champ by fourteen long counts. (Sh, Temp, not a word.)

ENTOMOLOGISTS NAME about thirty-some principal insect pests in this country. They do about nine hundred million dollars worth of damage each year. So we poor human dubs have to pay our taxes and then raise $900,000,000 worth for the bugs, before we can have anything for ourselves.

IS THE STORK KNOCKING AT YOUR DOOR?

Arrange to have an automatic gas water heater installed in your home. Instant hot water day and night is a necessity when there's a baby in the home—and gas rates are so low now, you can't afford NOT to enjoy this convenience.

The low gas rate fixed by the Railroad Commission of Texas, and put in effect by the Company is lower than the rate in 591 other Texas cities and towns having gas service. Minimum bill also reduced.

Odd signs seen by Bill McDonald of Eastland, campaigning for State Land Commissioner:

A Gladewater garage advertises: "We take the dents out of accidents".

An Odessa Hotel has on the soap wrapper: "Take me and leave the towels."

And in El Paso there's a sign, "Pants pressed in the rear".

SMALL SPEAKS AT NIGHT

Senator Clint C. Small, conducting a vigorous campaign for re-election to the Texas Senate, contrived to out-wit Old Sol this week when he adopted a policy of speaking to Panhandle audiences at night rather than asking the people to brave afternoon heat to hear his discussions of regional problems.

Good-sized crowds at Tulia Tuesday night and Hereford Wednesday night heard his analysis of Texas financial difficulties and his pledge that funds for the prompt payment of old age pensions will be provided at the next session of the legislature. He will speak at Perryton Thursday night.

Small has paid little attention to the predictions of friends that he will be re-elected by a three-to-one majority and is making a more intensive tour of the district than he made in either of his two previous campaigns for the Senate.

The First Prayer in Congress

In September, 1774, the first Continental Congress met and offered up a petition for divine guidance through days which were ominously turbulent. The four kneeling figures in the left foreground are, from left to right, Patrick Henry, Va.; John Rutledge, S. C.; George Washington, Va., and Peyton Randolph, Va. Directly to the left and standing are Samuel and John Adams of Massachusetts. The Congress said in reference to the Intolerable Acts that "no obedience is due from this province." And "whereas our enemies have flattered themselves that they shall make an easy prey of this numerous, brave and hardy people," those "who are qualified" are urged "to acquaint themselves with the art of war as soon as possible, and do for that purpose appear under arms at least once a week." In drawing up of "The Association" to forbid the import of British goods after December 1, 1774, and the export of American goods to Great Britain, Ireland and the West Indies after September 10, 1775, aroused severe opposition but it has been called "virtually the beginning of the federal union."

What Made July 4 Our Greatest Day

JULY 2, in the year 1776, fell on a Tuesday. The Continental Congress, then in convention in Philadelphia, opened its session at 9 a. m. in Independence Hall. The record of that day's business, as set forth in the Journal of the Continental Congress, is brief and lacking in many details, observes Hal Bealand in the Philadelphia Public Ledger. Several letters, including one from General Washington, were read and disposed of, that of Washington being "referred to the board of war and ordinance." Then the Journal says: "The congress resumed the consideration of the resolution agreed to by and reported from the committee of the whole; and the same being read, was agreed to as follows:

"Resolved, That these United Colonies are, and of right, ought to be, Free and Independent states; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connexion between them, and the State of Great Britain, is, and ought to be, totally dissolved.

"Agreeable to the order of the day, the congress resolved itself into a committee of the whole; the president resumed the chair, Mr. Harrison reported, that the committee have had under consideration the declaration to them referred; but, not having had time to go through, desired leave to sit again.

"Resolved, That this Congress will, tomorrow, again resolve itself into a committee of the whole, to take into their further consideration the declaration of independence."

A few minutes later the session adjourned until "9 o'clock to Morrow."

THIS resolution, agreed to many years ago, had been presented to the Congress for action on the seventh day of the June preceding, almost a month before. It was drawn up and presented by Richard Henry Lee, pursuant to a resolution of the Virginia house of burgesses adopted on May 15, the same year. It was seconded, when presented to the Congress, by John Adams, on behalf of the Massachusetts delegation. Consideration, however, was deferred until the following day, when it was referred to the committee of the whole. Postponed again on the eighth, which was a Saturday, on the tenth of June a committee was appointed "to prepare a declaration to the effect of the said first resolution." That committee was composed of Thomas Jefferson, chairman; John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, Robert R. Livingston and Roger Sherman.

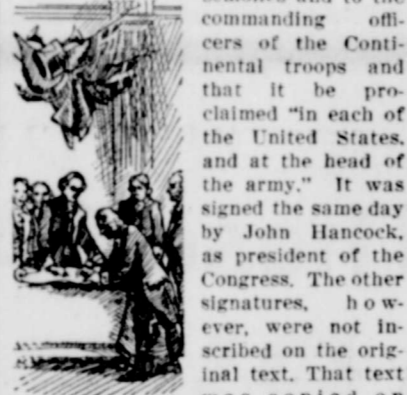

This committee brought in its report on June 28, with the first draft of the declaration. It was read and ordered to lie on the table. That was a Friday. The Congress adjourned that day until the following Monday, July 1.

THEN came July 2, with the passage of the resolution presented on the seventh of June by Mr. Lee, but still without agreement on the text of the declaration itself. July 3 saw a similarly fruitless discussion. But on Thursday morning July 4, differences had been smoothed out. The Journal, in its entry for that day, records: "Agreeable to the order of the day, the Congress resolved itself into a committee of the whole, to take into their further consideration, the declaration. The president resumed the chair. Mr. Harrison reported that the committee of the whole Congress have agreed to a Declaration, which he delivered in. The Declaration being again read, was agreed to."

The text of the declaration as agreed to finally was substantially as Jefferson had prepared it.

THE Declaration received the votes of all the Colonies except New York, whose delegates were not then authorized to commit themselves on the matter. A short time later they were so authorized and also sanctioned it. At the July 4 session, after agreement to the Declaration, the Congress ordered that it be printed and copies sent to the various Colonial Assemblies and to the commanding officers of the Continental troops and that it be proclaimed "in each of the United States, and at the head of the army." It was signed the same day by John Hancock, as president of the Congress. The other signatures, however, were not inscribed on the original text. That text was copied on parchment, and on August 2 the formality of signing took place. Fifty-three signed that day; three signed later in the year. Of the fifty-six signers, seven were not members of the Congress on July 4 when the Declaration was agreed to, and of those who were present on that historic day, seven never signed the document.

THE Declaration was not adopted by the Continental Congress until almost fifteen months after the War for Independence started with the engagements at Concord and Lexington. They occurred on April 19, 1775. In fact, seven important battles of that war had been fought before the resolution of independence introduced by Mr. Lee was agreed to. They were, besides Concord and Lexington, Ticonderoga, on May 10; Bunker Hill, on June 17; Montreal, on November 13; Quebec, on December 31, all in 1775; and Fort Mifflin, on June 28, 1776. George Washington had been commander-in-chief—though he was termed a general—of the Continental forces since June 15, 1775. At the time of the Declaration, Washington was in the field and had been for more than a year. On the day it was formally adopted he was in New York, preparing for what was to be the Battle of Long Island.

Despite the deliberate action of the Congress, however, there had been demands for a declaration of independence months before that July day in 1776. There was the Macklenberg Declaration, passed on May 20, 1775. And on April 22, 1776, the freeholders of Cumberland county, Virginia, called for similar action by the Virginia convention itself, which met on May 6 and moved for the declaration which Richard Henry Lee presented to the Congress the following month.

Presidents and the Fourth

Data of things that happened on the Fourth of July reveal that one President, Calvin Coolidge, was born on the Fourth and three Presidents, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson and James Monroe, died on July 4. Adams and Jefferson dying on the same date in 1826.

Independence Day From Washington Star

WHEN those fleeting flaming glories Were displayed across the sky In remembrance of the stories Of brave men in days gone by, Then we thought of deeds of daring And of clear and steadfast minds That had set the country faring Safe through the tempestuous winds.

Then we pondered on the toiling And the watchers of the night; Of the suffering and despoiling Braved in reverence of the right. And each memory we cherish Shall not fade away and die, Shall not be allowed to perish Like a rocket in the sky.

Where Old Glory Was First Flown

IN June, 1777, a committee having been appointed by congress to confer with General Washington concerning a design for a national flag, it reported in favor of one containing thirteen stripes, alternately red and white, and a blue field adorned with thirteen white stars. This was adopted June 14, and the design was carried to the upholstering shop of Mrs. Ross, No. 239 Arch street, Philadelphia, where the first national flag was made.

The original design required six-pointed stars, but, upon Mrs. Ross' suggestion that five-pointed stars would be more symmetrical, the pattern was changed. This lady was a afterward given the position of manufacturer of government flags, which occupation upon her death was retained by her children.

The claim is well established, states a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, that a flag of this design of stars and stripes was first hoisted at Fort Stanwix, called Fort Schuyler at the time, near the present city of Rome, N. Y., on August 3, 1777. It was first under fire three days later in the battle of Oriskany.

By act of congress January 13, 1794, the design of the flag was changed so as to incorporate fifteen stripes and fifteen stars, after the admission of Vermont and Kentucky, and one star was to be added for every subsequent state admitted. This, however, was repealed in 1818, when the original number of stripes was established, the stars continuing to increase as new states were admitted.

DISPLAYING THE FLAG

THE flag code states that when the flag is displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the union should be uppermost and to the flag's own right, i. e., to the observer's left. Under the heading "Cautions," the code reads: "Do not use the flag as drapery in any form whatever. Use bunting of blue, white and red."

All Around the House

Chintz spreads are lovely for the summer cottage or to give a summery look to the apartment if you are spending the summer at home. Gay little flower designs are scattered over the surface of the chintz.

Meringue falls when the oven is too hot. If you wish to bake a meringue successfully, have even less than moderate heat.

Don't use a stiff brush when washing linoleum. This destroys the luster. Wash lightly with soap and water.

Leftover fruit juices should be canned for next winter's use. Added to gelatin desserts, puddings, etc., they give a delicious flavor.

Oriental poppies always grow in the autumn. It is, therefore, wise to divide plants the latter part of July or in August so that they may get a good start before cold weather sets in.

One-third whitening, one-third plaster of paris (poison) and one-third flour mixed with water into a smooth paste, is excellent for filling small cracks in plaster.

The ends of rugs should always be left open when they are rolled and tied up for the summer.

Pinch off all side shoots of tomato plants and remove some of the large branches that do not bear blossoms. The flowering branches will then get more sun and fruit more quickly.

Fresh gingerbread topped with ice cream makes a delicious dessert.

When pressing a linen suit, dampen with cheesecloth that has been dipped in water, then press linen on wrong side.

Label preserving jars with adhesive tape and write on tape with red ink what each jar contains.

New cabbage cut in strips, dropped in salted water and boiled for from ten to fifteen minutes, is much more digestible than when boiled for a longer time.

THREE FAMOUS SMILES

A FARMER'S LIFE
"As He Lives It"
By ED HOLMES
STATION C.E.H. FARM

BOY HOWDY!! Fried chicken eating time is now in full swing. We always start eating them just as soon as they will flavor the gravy good. They don't ever get too big. A pressure cooker makes them all tender.

This community needed new songs for singing at the school house on Sunday nights. Here is the way we got them through the cooperation and courtesy of Mrs. V. Andrews of Floydada, Mrs. Calvin Nisbet and Billie Nations of Plainview.

These three arranged their pupils expression, singing and dancing pupils into a fine evening of entertainment, under colored lights in the Sand Hill auditorium last Friday night June 28th. Everybody enjoyed the program. We welcomed all candidates free and many of them came. To others we charged 5 and 10 cents admission. Many from other communities came to the program.

We have the new song books, the pupils got some needed experience, and the teachers the publicity for their good work. We are all benefited and all happy.

C. P. McCOLLOUGH
Sec'y Douglass for Senator Club

Yesterday in talking to a good business man whose children helped wonderfully on the program, he had this to say, "Ed, let's do this over some time. I think that was a fine plan".

I'm simply tipping you leaders in every rural community in any county that you can get a fine program in your own auditorium for the asking, easily raise some money for some worthy undertaking and everybody will be helped.

Now about Uncle Sam using discrimination between bankers and producing farmers in loaning money. Read this startling statement by Lynn J. Frazier in a letter to me dated May 20, 1936 concerning the Frazier-Lemke Farm Refinance Bill and just after our House of Representatives had defeated the bill in the final vote.

He said, "You will find enclosed a copy by states of the vote on the bill. If your Congressman voted against this bill and you are satisfied with his vote, or his excuses, that is your affair. If, however, you do not agree, ask him, when he appears requesting your support in the coming election, how he can countenance the Government letting the bankers have money at the average cost of only 30c per thousand dollars (cost of printing) and yet refuse to let farmers have money at 3 cents on a dollar, or $30 per thousand. Ask him why the bankers can obtain money at 30c a thousand on security of notes, drafts, bills of exchange or acceptance and yet the farmer was refused money at $30 a thousand with their homes and farms as security."

To this average farmer it doesn't seem a crime that our government should let the bankers have the money for 30c per thousand dollars, if that is all it costs to print it. The crime is when the average fellow wants to produce some material thing for a decent living and in order to do so is forced to borrow the same money from the privileged for $100 per thousand instead of 30c.

Our structure of starving producers and million dollar parasites is beginning to stagger, not because we are learning the facts, but because of the facts.

Thank Goodness, we have some Congressmen who are getting out the facts and are trying to help and protect the producer.

ON TEXAS FARMS AND RANCHES

By Minnie Fisher Cunningham

Culminating the Centennial Farm and Home Demonstration contest, in which more than two thousand farms and ranches were entered, winners have been selected in nine districts from among the 137 who were tops in their counties.

The five highest ranking contestants in each district have been selected and announced. The nine first rankers automatically become the state winners since there are nine placings in the state contest.

Judging these nine first class farms and ranches to place them in the order of their excellence is now going on. And since district judges are reporting that the county winners were heard to choose between, the State judging is probably a very difficult business, calling for nice discrimination.

According to reports of county and district judges these Texans have honored their state as themselves by establishing splendid demonstrations of good agricultural and home practices.

Send your news in early next week.

To demonstrate—to conduct a demonstration—means in essence to show how a thing is done. Texas will fail to reap full advantages from the patriotism from these 2,000 demonstrators if many persons do not reap from their demonstrations how to carry on more successfully.

A New Standard in Tractor Value

McCormick-Deering

Pneumatic tires, as shown, supplied on special order.

THERE has never been a tractor built with as many distinctive features as the new McCormick-Deering Model W-30 Tractor. In many respects, it is like a modern automobile.

Take a look at some of its features: Replaceable cylinders and hardened exhaust-valve seat inserts in the engine; 34 ball and roller bearings located on the crankshaft, fan shaft, in the governor, clutch, transmission, final drive, and front and rear wheels. Triple seals in the front wheels and special diaphragm oil seals in the rear axle give perfect protection against grit and dirt. All controls located conveniently in front of the operator. Unusually easy to steer.

We want to show you these and the other features on the McCormick-Deering W-30 Tractor. Stop in the next time you are going by.
