Nationally Known Food Authority Describes Its Place in the Diet By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS

ONE of the most significant contributions of modern nutritional science was the discovery of the importance of the protective foods-milk, eggs, fresh fruits and vegetables. These foods abound in the minerals and vitamins that help to insure normal growth and health, and safeguard us against the deficiency diseases.

In this group, milk and dairy products made from it assume a commanding position because milk is the best and most practical source of calcium and vitamins A and G. These substances should be consumed in much greater proportions than at present if we are to increase health and efficiency and improve our chances The first rule in for longevity.

amounts of the protective foods is to allow daily a quart of milk for every child and at least a pint for each adult. This amount of milk need not always be consumed as a beverage, however. It may be used in cooked dishes or eaten in the form of cheese and ice cream.

Composition of Ice Cream

Ice cream is often regarded as tains pieces of the whole fruit. a confection, but it deserves to be classed among our most nutritious foods. It is composed of varying proportions of cream, milk, sugar, flavoring and frequently a binder or stabilizer such as gelatin. The composition varies somewhat between the home-made and the commercial product, and the commercial product differs in various states. That is because standards governing the butter fat content differ widely so that the requirement ranges from 8 to 14 per cent. Most large commercial companies produce an ice cream with about 12 per cent fat.

Guard Against Contamination Some states require the pasteurization of the milk or cream used in manufacturing ice cream; others stipulate that the entire mix sert suitable for every member of the family. They also may be used for less rich but equally refreshing milk or buttermilk sherbets. A canned freezing mix is likewise available and is especially nice in a fruit flavor as it con-

A Comparison With Milk

If we regard one-sixth of a quart of ice cream as an average serving, and compare it with one cup of milk, we make the interesting discovery that there is a close relation between the two. The ice cream provides about 24 more calories and only a trifle less protein, calcium, phosphorus, iron and vitamin A. There is considerably less vitamin G, but ice cream is nevertheless considered an excellent source of this important vitamin.

A Healthful Food

It then becomes apparent why ice cream is considered as an excellent food, not only for adults but for children and convales-

Be sure to buy from a dealer who keeps it well frozen, for ice cream that has been melted and frozen again may be dangerous, owing to the opportunity for multiplication of bacteria the while it was melted. See to it, also, that the dealer uses sanitary trition authority states that its methods in dispensing.

Home-Made Ice Cream

An easy way to make certain of the purity of the ice cream you serve is to make this delicious dessert at home. Motor-driven freezers are available, as well as those that are manually operated. And the homemaker with an automatic refrigerator finds it easier to make ice cream than to prepare many less interesting and nutritious desserts.

Ice cream powders which simplify the preparation of homemade ice cream, can be obtained unflavored, or in a variety of flavors, including lemon and maple, in addition to the popular vanilla, chocolate and strawberry. Plain ice cream may be used in-Because of the possibilities for terchangeably with simple milk puddings. Rich mixtures, such as those filled with nuts and crystallized fruits, rank with the heartier desserts and should follow a ighter meal.

Ice cream is so rich in nourishment that it should not be consumed indiscriminately between meals, but should always be considered as part of the day's ration. When that is done, one nubeneficial effects can hardly be overestimated.

Effect on Digestion

One frequently hears the question, "Doesn't the eating of ice cream retard the digestion of other foods consumed at the same time?" The answer is that it does slow up slightly the emptying time of the stomach but this delay is without significance and is more than compensated for by the important nutrients it provides. Many people believe that it is injurious to follow ice cream with hot coffee. But it has been dem. onstrated that just the opposite in true. The coffee raises the tem perature of the food in the stom ach and thus modifies the cooling effect of the ice cream.

Another common question concerns the effect of cake or pie a la mode. Experiments indicate that eating ice cream with cake or pie produces a more satisfactory gastric juice than when either of these foods is eaten alone. One must take into consideration, however, t¹ at cake or pie a la mode is a rich combination and plan the remainder of the meal accordingly.

Use More Ice Cream

It has been estimated that five billion pounds of milk are used each year in the production of commercial ice cream, which provides about three gallons of ice cream per capita. The amounts of ice cream made at home will raise this figure somewhat. But the amount consumed may well be further increased, because when properly made from pure ingredients, ice cream deserves to rank with other dairy products among our most wholesome and

Weekly News Review Failure of Democratic Purge Gives Republicans New Fear

Politics

If Franklin Roosevelt ever planned to "purge" his Democratic party of undesirables, he now knows the purge has failed. On the presidential black list may have been Iowa's Gillette, Nevada's McCarran, Colorado's Adams, and Missouri's Clark. By last week these New Deal haters were either renominated or assured of winning their state primaries at the expense of administration favorites.

News of purge failure has recently sent the most dour conservative into ecstasies. For once, it appears, Franklin Roosevelt's domination over the party is at ebb tide. But last week a few foes began thinking instead of effervescing:

Is purge failure helping untangle badly twisted United States political lines? Decidedly the contrary. Is purge failure eliminating Franklin Roosevelt as a third termer? Probably not.

Originally the purge idea sought to transform the Democratic party into an instrument of coherent liberalism, implying formation of an equally coherent conservative party on the other side. But when congress convenes next winter the United States will see instead a hodgepodge of multi-colored political thought from which little but bickering can be expected.

Deeply tanned from his 20-day fishing trip to tropical Pacific waters Franklin Roosevelt was back in his 48 states last week, still mum about third term rumors that have kept newsmen busy since he left. Of all rumors, most thought-provoking was that purge failure robs the President of party control, robs him also of the right to name a successor in 1940. Not willing to be robbed, enthusiastic New Dealer Roosevelt would rather run himself than pass the mantle to a less ardent New Dealer.

as Kentucky prepared to choose a Democratic senator. At Jackson, Former Sheriff Lee Combs and his brother attended a rally for their own faction, then walked brazenly into a rally of opposition forces. When the smoke cleared, Lee Combs was shot dead. A few minutes later his father organized kinfolk to search for William Combs, who was no relative but the alleged slayer.

another. Finally Ambassador Mamoru Shigemitsu at Moscow received word to open peace negotiations. Last week it appeared proud, stubborn Japan would have to eat crow if she wanted peace with prouder, more stubborn Russia. Muttering that "the time has come to terminate these endless incidents," Foreign Minister Litvinoff matched Tokyo's proposals with an even better set:

(1) Immediate cessation of hostilities, with mutual withdrawal behind a fixed line.

(2) That line to be determined by the Russ-China treaty of June 26, 1886

(3) Appointment of a bilateral commission, two Russians, one Manchukuan, one Jap, to negotiate for redemarcation of the line on basis of the 1886 treaty.

While Japan boasted after two weeks that 1,500 Russ soldiers had been killed and wounded against 180 on her own side, two tattered Soviet deserters walked into her Siberian Blue Grass politics was red hot camp to air their grievances against Moscow.

> They deserted because their fathers, well-to-do Kulak farmers, had been heavily taxed, heavily oppressed in the Soviet drive for collective agriculture. "Our slogan is defend the fatherland of liberty." one said, "but how can we soldiers defend such a system when the cows. horses and even their barns are taken away.

To Japan it looked like Russia's poor Siberian administration was her ally.

 Last week weary Japanese troops were still more than 100 miles down the flooded Yangtze river from their goal. Nanking, long since deserted by the Chinese government. While defending troops claimed the invaders had been repelled in battle after battle, crafty Japs were evidently resorting to brains instead of brawn to capture another part of China. In the past Manchuria and Peking governments were undermined by palm-rubbing Tokyo agents and disgruntled Chinese officials. Result in each case has been a puppet state, completely divorced from China. Last week at peaceful Canton. only a few miles from Britain's Hongkong, came reports of secret negotiations to sway South China from the central government. Promising to prevent recurrence of disastrous bombings which left Canton a bloody shambles last month, Jap agents would set up an independent government closely allied to Tokyo. Meanwhile Japan refused to stop her bombing attacks on Canton. For two successive days last week war planes swooped down with their cargoes of death, finally striking within 400 yards of the foreign settlement Aviation where thousands had taken refuge. Next day Canton's Catholic cathedral was struck while hundreds cowered in terror within.

SUNDAY Improved At Callander, Ont., Olivia Dionne's Uniform famous five children failed to appear before their daily tourist audience. Dr. Roy Dafoe, who has guided the four-year-old quintuplets since birth, reported they suffered from upset stomachs. Next day Pappa Dionne worried publicly over

Emilie, who had taken no nourishment for 24 hours. • Two days after former cinema actress Pearl White died in Paris, Warner Oland of "Charlie Chan" fame succumbed in his native Swe-uen of bronchial pneumonia. • At Hammond, La., Governor Richard W. Leche poured coffee, served sandwiches to pickets surrounding a box factory.

the Nazified St. John: "Then they took green branches, went to meet him and cried: HEIL to him that comes in the name of God. HEIL to thee, thou shalt be our king."

That Pennsylvania's Sen. James J. Davis has been more successful with U. S. Moose than his Tennessee Valley authority investigating committee, was admitted last week. From Washington to Knoxville, in the heart of TVA's far-flung power empire, the committee has dug for facts, rumors and figures to establish why ousted TVA Administrator Arthur Morgan raised such a hullabaloo last winter.

The committee's aim, said Davis, was to find the "real, true 'yardstick' cost of power and the total amount of money going into TVA development." Last week, after spending more than half the $50,000 appropriation, Chairman Davis decided 85 per cent of his rummaging was concerned with uninteresting auditing and accounting. Named to investigate for the investigating committee was a private investigator, M. C. Conick, whose personal headache TVA now becomes.

Lesson for August 21 HANNAH: GODLY MOTHERHOOD

LESSON TEXT-I Samuel 1:9-18; 2: GOLDEN TEXT-Her children arise up, and call her blessed. Proverbs 31:28.

"Godly Motherhood" - All the power and grace of the infinite God working in and through the most tender and at the same time most potent human relationship-motherhood! There indeed is the solution of many of our national and social problems. For we agree with the poet that man, who regards himself as being mighty, ruling over land and sea, must defer to a mightier power.

'For the hand that rocks the cradle Is the hand that rules the world." Hannah was the mother of Samuel, who became one of Israel's outstanding leaders-a priest, a prophet, and "the maker of kings." God needed a great man, so He chose for him a great mother. Our study for today will be topical rather than textual and extended to related portions in chapters 1 and who was spiritual and sacrificial, sin, heaven and the Hebrew prophbut at the same time practical in her daily life and service.

Many are the tributes offered to mothers, but none has deeper significance than the testimony of a boy or girl that their mother has led them both by precept and example to have faith in God. Though other advantages may be beyond the reach even of the most selfdenying mother, this most important of all benefits she may bring her children, but only if she herself is an earnest and faithful follower of the Lord.

The Little Girl's Dress.

This dress will make your small daughter look even more adorable, with its high, snug waist, square neck, puff sleeves and full skirt. You'll probably want to make her half a dozen dresses just like this! And she'll certainly beg for at least one little sweetheart apron, to wear when she is helping you-or thinking she is! For the dress, choose dimity, dotted Swiss, gingham or percale. For the apron, organdy, dimity or lawn. No. 1559 is designed for sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 4% yards of 35-inch material; 21/2 yards of ricrac to trim as pictured. No. 1468 is designed for sizes 2, , 6 and 8 years. Size 4 requires 1% yards of 35-inch material for the dress; % yard for the apron. Six yards of ribbon or braid to trim dress; 1 yard for belt. Two and one-half yards of ruffling to trim apron.

Success in Sewing. Success in sewing, like in any other field, depends upon how you approach the task in hand. To help you turn out clothes professional looking in every detail, we have a book which plainly sets forth the simple rules of home dressmaking. The beginner will find every step in making a dress clearly outlined and illustrated within its covers. For the experienced sewer there are many

KENTUCKY'S ALBEN BARKLEY It was surely a fine day.

Foreign

Since 1931, when Japan marched into Manchuria, Tokyo and Moscow have been "on the brink of war." Last week they appeared to be fighting two wars: In one, at the isolated Russian-Manchukuan-Korean frontier nobody knew who was winning. In the other, being waged in the Moscow office of Soviet Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinoff, it appeared that Russia had the upper hand.

Amidst a barrage of incidents, communiques and curt notes, Asia's two powers were attempting to settle ownership of a shell-pocked hill near the village of Changkufeng.

Russia-Jap hostilities in this sector date back to 1931 when Japan marched into Manchuria and looked longingly at land patrolled by Russia's autonomous Siberian army, But not until mid-July this year did the five-year "secret war" break into the open. Since then both powers have attacked and counter attacked for days on end, moving troops, artillery and planes to little Changkufeng.

Already tired of one war (see be-

Back to London last week from darkest Africa came Missionary John Harris with a strange tale. His story: In Bechuanaland lives Ramonolwana Senan, believed to be 140 years old yet still in good health and boasting all but one tooth. He has a son more than 100 years old, and a daughter 16. • Twenty thousand bathers at New York's Rockaway beach sought relief from sticky weather last week. In the distance were unimportant rumblings of thunder. Suddenly the air was splintered by a bolt of lightning that zig-zagged 300 feet down the beach, killing three, felling hundreds. Next day investigators wondered if a huge steel bridge, passing almost immediately over the beach, might have drawn the freak bolt.

• When she was first launched, England's proud Queen Mary was also queen of the Atlantic. Then came the French Normandie to set a westward passage record of 3 days, 22 hours, 52 minutes. Last week her powerful engines churned the Queen Mary to a new record, clipping 1 hour, 14 minutes off the Normandie's mark.

appeared that U. A. W.'s trouble was simply a fight between Stalinist heart when she Communists and Lovestone Communists, each willing to fight for their own beliefs no matter how many unions are destroyed. Standing on the sidelines at Detroit awaiting the opportune moment was A. F. of L.'s Francis Dillon who headed the U. A. W. when it was a respectable Labor Federation affiliate.

Meanwhile at Los Angeles, four C. I. O. unions voted to withdraw from Radical Harry Bridges' Industrial Union council, charging he had brought the body under Communist control.

Since its birth shortly after the World war, U. S. commercial aviation has been bounced back and forth by a dozen government agencies, has suffered from repudiated agreements and constantly changing administration. Worst blow was the government's repudiation of airmail contracts five years ago, an experiment that ended in headaches for all.

Last winter congress established a Civil Aeronautics authority to manage commercial aviation permanently and sensibly. Its job: To administer air mail contracts, supervise commercial air lines and private fliers and study aviation safety.

Last week the new authority took over its job, two weeks before the act goes into effect. As Chairman Elmer J. Noble of Greenwich, Conn., walked into his office for the first time he hoped to regulate aviatica as successfully as another policy-forming board, the Interstate Commerce commission, has supervised railroading.

Sports

Several weeks ago a young Chicago broker, Fred Tuerk, bet his partner half a $30,000 plantation he couldn't play 144 holes of golf from dawn to dusk without going over 95 on any 18 holes. Partner J. Smith Ferebee took him up, starting out one morning last week. By nightfall all 144 holes were played at an average of 86 strokes per 18 holes.

Next day Broker Ferebee, still golf hungry, played again.

recently found guilty of consorting deed against the vicious modern theory that children are a sort of II. Sacrificial.

The most precious possession a woman can have is a child of her own. It was, then, the deepest and finest sacrifice of a noble mother-

1 Dedicated her how to God, even before his birth (1:11). Yet this act so fine and commendable was in reality only an intelligent recognition of the fact that children are a gift of God. Your children and mine belong to God. Let us not stand in His way (or their way) as He graciously leads them out into service for Him.

2. She kept her promise (1:24-28). Many parents have solemnly dedicated their children to God before their birth, and then later the prospect of separation from them has been too much for the parents. and the promise to God has been thrust aside. The writer has on many occasions seen young men and women weep with brokenhearted dismay because a mother or father has forbidden them to go to China, Africa, or elsewhere at God's call. Mother, have you kept your promise to God regarding your boy, your girl?

III. Practical.

Hannah not only promised her boy to God; she made the completion of that promise certain.

1. By guiding her boy in the right way (1:24). As a matter of fact, she went with him to the temple. A mother who "sends" her boy to Sunday school or church will never help him like the mother of whom it may be said "she brought him unto the house of the Lord.'

2. By providing for her boy (2:18, 19). There is no more tender and meaningful story in all literature than that of Hannah bringing her boy his "little coat." It is still true that the best "support" a missionary of the Cross can have is a home that "stands by."

The story is told of a missionary candidate who had no "board" back of her but the "washboard" of a godly mother, and who made a valiant and useful servant in the foreign field. Such an arrangement may not be the most desirable and it really should not be necessary if God's people would give, but it has its glorious advantages.

Such a mether as Hannah would have such a son as Samuel of whom it is said that he "was in favour both with the Lord, and also with men" (2:26).

Hale put in the next day shopping. The experience decreased his supply of ready cash but increasingly raised his spirits. He was not an economical young man, and even before the prospect of a camp visit he had realized that he must start his new life with a suitable American wardrobe. There were not many temptations to be sartorially dashing in Spain. There were plenty today, and he yielded to them with an abandon that endeared him to clerks. Moreover it was a pleasure to salesmen to fit him. They let him grasp their impression that he would do credit to the suits and shirts and ties and shoes and knickerbockers he was buying. FOR MOST EFFICIENT AND PRODUCTIVE FARMING EQUIP ALL YOUR TRACTORS AND FARM IMPLEMENTS WITH Firestone GROUND GRIP TIRES

The party should have been gay

... but something sinister hung over this rich man's summer estate -over the owner's sister Miss Hosanna, "a pin cushion of a woman;" over his niece Joan, and his son Bert; over a young scientist, Dr. Craig; over a man named Ainsworth and over Mrs. Spencer Forbes, a neurotic, sharp-tongued, social-minded woman.

Grim and threatening mysteries develop and are shrewdly and logically solved by young Rex Hale, hired to find out what ailed these unhappy people. In doing so, he found romance and happiness himself. It's the smoothest mystery-romance you've ever read!
