There's no doubt but that we are to build a new jail within the near future, that we can save money by taking advantage of the federal money. Application must be made by September 30.

Will the people of Briscoe County express themselves on this question? This office is impartial on the question. It is up to the citizens.

Architects have furnished drawings of a $20,000 building free, and they may be found in my office.

To Give Good Base For Topping

Upon the suggestion of George Lider, WPA supervisor of Amarillo, City Councilmen are investigating a new method of paving, and hold high hopes that it will be found workable in Silverton.

Regional WPA engineers have maintained that hauling caliche from the cap rock would prove too expensive as a way of hardsurfacing Silverton streets. Now they come forth with a "stabilization" process which has been proven to be inexpensive, and at the same time long lasting. Paving through this method means plowing up the street surface, pulverizing the dirt and mixing it with a mixture which causes it to harden until it can be used as the base for asphalt top.

Samples of various kinds of soil were brought here, that had been "stabilized" and according to WPA engineers, there is no Pinkney, Amarillo packer, is takreason why the same treatment ing no chances on the weather. cannot be given the streets hereand at a much smaller cost than ion have been insured against rain. caliche base.

Hitler Woos Central Europe With Overtures to Hungary By Joseph W. La Bine-

Foreign

At Nickelsdorf, Austria, an imposing triumphal arch was raised. Vienna's railway station was decorated. At Kiel a 10,000-ton battleship awaited launching. Thus, feeling like a girl with several ardent suitors, Hungary's Regent Nicholas Horthy sped in glory last week from Budapest to Berlin.

Not since Benito Mussolini visited Adolf Hitler last spring had Berlin made such plans. Indeed the same trappings that greeted Il Duce now greeted Admiral Horthy. But Adolf Hitler had more than benign friendship in mind.

Hungary lies directly in the path of Germany's "drive to the east" in which she would swallow Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Jugo-Slavia, thereby unifying all central Europe. As Nicholas Horthy closeted himself with Hitler, rumors of proposals began flying. Rumors: (1) Joint proposal by Italy and Germany to incorporate Hungary in the Rome-Berlin axis; (2) proposal that Hungary leave the League of Nations, declaring the Trianon treaty of 1920 void; (3) offer by Italy and Germany for extended Hungarian minority rights in Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Jugo-Slavia; (4) German-Hungarian economic unity.

What made Regent Horthy feel like a sought-after maiden was another offer, this one from foreign ministers of Czechoslovakia, Jugo-Slavia and Rumania, whose Little Entente met at Bled, Jugo-Slavia. Their offers included a nonaggression pact and military equality.

War

In Paris, Premier Edouard Dala dier jolted France from its vacation sluggishness to demand abolition of the 40-hour week "in the interests of military and economic defense." In Germany, Adolf Hitler's giant war maneuvers entered their second week. In both Rome and London, eyes focused from distant China to nearby Spain, theaters of 1938's two wars. The war picture:

• Having set Britain's Neville Chamberlain back on his ear by refusing a proposal for evacuating foreign soldiers, Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco opened his drive to end Spain's civil war before a third winter sets in. Aimed at loyalist Barcelona were crack Navarese and Italian troops, while overhead rebel planes rained death. Along the Ebro river front, 5,000 government militiamen were captured. But biggest news of the Spanish war came not from Spain, but from Switzerland.

At Zurich, Premier Juan Negrin arrived for conferences with the duke of Alba, Franco envoy. After three days of hide-and-seek in which neither Negrin nor Alba could be found, observers wondered whether Spain's two emissaries were hiding from each other or had agreed · While China's Chiang Kai-Shek led his troops in defense of Hankow last week, Former Premier Wang-Ching-Wei threatened to supplant him as leader of what little government now remains in that battlepocked country. Tired of war, Japan mobilized 1,000,000 men and looked to Italy for help.

Britain has already refused negotiations with Japan unless her rights in China are safeguarded. But after two months of secret mediation. Italy came out in the open with a plan to establish Wang Ching-Wei as head of a revised Chinese central government. That Germany belonged in this picture was apparent; one of Wang's chief aims would be adherence to the German-Jap-Italian pact against communism.

Labor

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor had two reasons to be happy last week. Smallest reason was that Franklin Roosevelt agreed the Wagner labor act must be amended. Biggest reason was that John Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization was embroiled in several family quar-

Several weeks ago, Homer Martin, president of C. I. O.'s United mobile Workers, expelled five presidents for alleged communistic leanings. Last week these vice presidents called a convention of U. A. W.'s insurgent bloc in Toledo, asking Boss Lewis to end the fight. Specific requests were (1) appointment of a "dictator" for U. A. W., and (2) an election to let members themselves decide the issue. Meanwhile, in western Kentucky, President Joseph Ozanic of the Progressive Mine Workers of America gave John Lewis another headache. Four thousand miners, who left C. I. O.'s United Mine Workers three years ago, took out membership in A. F. of L.'s Progressive body.

Final quarrel was that between Francis Gorman, United Textile Workers president, and Sidney Hillman, head of Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America. Last week Gorman asked his followers to desert C. I. O. because of "dictatorship and communism."

Canada

Fortnight ago, the economic ties linking Canada and the U.S. were forged tighter at Kingston, Ontario. There, Franklin Roosevelt promised U. S. aid should Canada ever find herself at war. There, too, he spoke bravely for the long-argued St. Lawrence waterway project. Last week, as Franklin Roosevelt settled back at Hyde Park, these bits of Canadian-American news made head-

(1) Ontario's Premier Mitchell Hepburn bluntly told Prime Minister MacKenzie King he would oppose the St. Lawrence project until Canada's railroad losses stop.

(2) Observers predicted America's neutrality act would be revised to insert Canada among Western Hemisphere nations excepted from the act's applications.

(3) Washington continued negotiations for an international highway to Alaska, passing through Canadian soil, which would probably be built with $14,000,000 PWA funds.

Domestic

New York rushed to work one morning last week. All subway stations were crowded; at one the crowd was too great. Pulling away from this station a train stopped momentarily to free a woman caught in the door. Behind, unable to stop, rushed a second train piloted by Motorman Salvatore Cota. His train crashed into the rear of the first, telescoping. Then came explosion, darkness, panic. Halfhour later authorities were able to report two dead, 40 injured. As Mayor Fiorella H. LaGuardia looked on, Motorman Cota had his leg amputated before he could be released from the wreckage.

Politics

"Purge" crept into John Public's vocabulary last week with devastating speed. More than ever before, S. voters looked at New York, Maryland and Georgia where reside Franklin Roosevelt's three favorite "purgees," Democratic legislators he wants ousted in next month's primaries because they oppose certain New Deal measures. Last week these senators caused this news:

• In Georgia, Purgee Walter F. George drew support from James W. Arnold, Republican national committeeman who asked G. O. P. partisans to vote for George against his Roosevelt opponent, Lawrence S. Camp. Two days earlier, RFC Attorney Edgar B. Dunlap was asked to resign because he was stumping for George's re-election. • In Maryland, Purgee Millard E. Tydings thundered into a microphone that his commonwealth "will not permit her star in the flag to be purged from the constellation of the states."

. In New York, Purgee John J. O'Connor picked up "the gage which the President has thrown down," promised to fight Franklin Roosevelt's "invitation to a dictatorship." Three days later Franklin Roosevelt and WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins found themselves embarrassed when New York's Worker's alliance, a WPA union, announced plans to raise a $50,000 war chest to use against Representative O'Connor. Said Harry Hopkins: "I don't like it . . . I don't know what can be done about it."

Crime

At stake in a Manhattan courtroom last week was an Owosso, Mich., boy's chance to be Republican candidate for governor of New York. The boy was District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey. His chance lay in conviction of James J. Hines, Tammany leader, for alleged conspiracy in the flourishing 100 million-dollar-a-year "numbers" racket, once conducted by the late Arthur (Dutch Schultz) Flegenheimer.

Fortnight ago, the trial opened as witness after witness added to the pile of evidence that made New York bookies bet 5 to 1 on Hines' conviction. One-time associate of Flegenheimer, George Weinberg told of attending a meeting where Hines was placed on the payroll at $500 to $1,000 a week as "fixer." Julius ("Red") Williams, Negro, repudiated grand jury testimony linking Hines and Weinberg, was promptly slapped back in jail. 'Big Joe" Ison, another Harlemite, told how $125 was deducted from his weekly racket salary for "Jimmy Hines' club." But the expose Tom Dewey waited for did not begin until one Alexander Pompez took the Shortly before the trial opened, Dewey filed a bill of particulars accusing his predecessor, William E. Dodge, and Magistrate Hulon Capshaw of connection with the numbers racket. When Alexander Pompez told last week how Magistrate Capshaw's court had dismissed 12 of his workers who had been caught red-handed, it seemed Dewey's chance had come. But solemn Judge Ferdinand Pecora ruled there was Capshaw's name into the case.

Still in high spirits, Dewey polished up his star witness who was expected to blow the case wide open. The witness: "J. Richard ("Dixie") Davis, legal adviser and successor to Schultz, who was indicted with Hines but pleaded guilty and turned state's evidence. was one of the few persons likely to know where Dutch Schultz got his tremendous political influence.

Though not phenomenal, the overnight hop demonstrated what may be expected of substratosphere flights. All four fliers breathed through oxygen masks attached to a single cylinder.

Miscellany

At Pittsburgh, the corpse of Rev. Joseph A. Frey lay in a funeral parlor, surrounded by members of his congregation. For hours on end a weary photographer kept his camera focused on the dead man's face. Reason for this eerie affair was that Reverend Frey told his flock he would "come back," first with a spiritual manifestation, later with a physical one. The photographer's duty: to catch "spiritual emanations." Said he: "It is possible there will be half a dozen faces of the Reverend Frey's dead friends in the picture when it is developed." • At Monticello, N. Y., Mayor Louis de Hoyos banned shorts as feminine attire except to "old women, mothers and ladies of mature age." His reasoning: "If I know anything about women, it won't ever come to Samuel 7:3. "Revivals are costly. The spiritual awakening which our country so much needs must begin with spiritual deepening which the church so much needs. There is a price to be paid . . . Strange gods must be put away, gods of worldly pleasure, worldly ambition, love of ease and self-gratification. It is the unwillingness to pay the price that keeps us from the richness and power of the full spiritual life" (Prof. M. Lowell).

I. Return Unto the Lord (v. 3). Samuel appears in his first public ministry to call on his people to return to the Lord. Back of that public act is the history of a godly life and devoted service to the Lord and to His nation. Such a man improper foundation for bringing can consistently urge others to turn to God.

The response of the people was wholehearted. They were thoroughly sick of their sin and separation from the favor of God. The earnest of their sincerity was their obedience to the admonition of Samuel that they turn from idolatry. II. Put Away False Gods (vv. 3, 4).

Israel had learned from their heathen neighbors to worship their false gods. These they must put away if God was to be able to bless them. The same prerequisite to spiritual revival exists today. III. Gather Together and Pray

Spiritual life thrives on the gathcrisis in Israel was met by a great convocation of the people. We need together for a prize fight, a football are the people who should be in our churches?

"I will pray," said Samuel. He was a great intercessor. (See I Sam. 15:11; Ps. 99:6; Jer. 15:1.) Revival never comes without a history of faithful intercession on the part of those whose hearts were really burdened. Ask yourself, How much have I really prayed for a revival in my church, my community, and my nation? If I should begin to pray in earnest, would not God hear me and answer?

IV. God Will Save Us (v. 8).

"Behold, the Lord's hand is not shortened that it cannot save, neither his ear heavy that it cannot hear" (Isa. 59:1). "Thus saith the Lord . . . have I no power to deliver?" (Isa. 50:1, 2). God saved Israel and delivered them out of the hands of their enemies. The Philistines, seeing them gathered together to pray, assumed that they were preparing to fight and attacked. In the previous battle at that very spot (I Sam. 4:1-10) Israel had fought with the weapons of men Now they fought with the weapon of prayer and faith in God, and America is valiantly battling problems of these distressing days, but one fears that all too often the weapons are those of the arm of flesh which will fail us. Let us look up instead of to one another. "God will save us" (v. 8).

V. Ebenezer (v. 12).

Our forefathers, familiar with the truth of Scripture, used biblical words in naming their children. The present generation all too often know the names simply as the strange signatures on old letters. The word "Ebenezer" might well merit a bit of a revival itself. Here Israel had met a disastrous defeat. They were broken by it and had become an almost hopeless people. Now God had given them victory in the very same spot and they raised a stone of remembrance of God's help. The word "Ebenezer" means "stone of help," but also carries with it the meaning of Samuel's word, "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us" (v. 12). There is an inspiring word of hope here for every troubled soul. You may, like Israel, have fallen into sin. Your life may be defeated. You may be utterly discouraged. Return to the Lord, put away sin, gather with God's people, pray, and God will give you victory, even at the very point of former defeat.

Banks brought in the cocktails. He was, Hale learned, a man of fifty who had been with the Kneelands for 15 years. He was soft-voiced, soft-footed, deferential, and sorely tried by Miss Hosanna, with whose nigh housekeeping standards he was not always in sympathy. Mrs. Spen-cer Forbes straightened with the first real interest she had shown. "Not too much acid this time, Banks?" she asked alertly.

"I hope not, Madam." Banks flance slid past her face and fastened on Hale. Hale took a cocktail and a sandwich from the tray the man offered him. Miss Hosanna had waved it from her with the simple but eloquent word "Poison!" Mrs. Spencer Forbes, who had already drunk one cocktail, apparently in one gulp, took another from he tray Banks had thoughtfully left on a low table beside her. Her outlook on life brightened.

They were all in the living-room except Casper Kneeland, when Hale went downstairs in response to the summons of the gong. ### School Days: Everywhere!

Almost universally, September is acknowledged as the beginning of the school season. While American youngsters are packing their books off to the classroom for another year, children elsewhere are doing the same thing. Above is a class for beginners in the art of spelling under the instruction of white missionaries in session in the heart of the Belgian Congo. Meanwhile, in a central European country, youngsters are also rushing off to their classes to study the "readin'-'ritin'-'rithmatic' procedure.

TWELVE BILLION TIN CANS A YEAR!

Tin cans, some 12,000,000,000 of them annually, take to market and American homes a vast variety of products. They constitute the product of one of America's great industries, which used in 1933, for instance, more steel than buildings, or railroads, or any other steel customer except the automobile industry. There are about a hundred cans produced in this country for each man, woman and child and only some 60 per cent of them are used for food.

The origin of the tin can goes back to Nicolas Appert, a Frenchman, who developed a method of preserving food in 1804. It was essentially the method used today: Heating the food and putting it up in sealed containers. Here's New Note in Filet Crochet Doilies

C. Houston Goudiss Asks Will Your Child Be Ready For School?

Noted Food Authority Outlines a Correct Diet for the Growing Youngster

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS

WHEN school closed last June, most parents looked forward to the long weeks ahead when their children could play in the sunshine, get plenty of rest, and build up a splendid fund of vitality to last them all through the new school year.

Some mothers resolved to do everything possible to prevent a recurrence of last season's disheartening colds.

child should have every day. Contains sample menus, and also shows how inexpensive foods may be substituted for Others planned to look into a blood-building diet that would give Mary or Johnnie more pep and rosier cheeks. Perhaps there were teeth that required attention, or a nose or throat condition to be corrected. Now, within a few weeks, the children will be returning to school, or in some cases beginning their school life. Every mother should ask herself whether she has made the most of opportunities offered by the vacation period.

Have you put forth a conscientious effort toward making your children 100 per cent fit for school? If there is still time! You cannot finish the job in a few weeks, but you can make a good start. And you owe it to your children to begin at once. For whether they enjoy school or find it tedious, whether they make excellent records or lag behind their fellows, depends in large measure upon their fitness.

Every child is entitled to good health, safeguarded by high rea source of vitamin A. sistance. And in this age of amazing scientific discoveries, every child should enjoy these blessings.

Perhaps the most important factor of all is the carefully balanced diet. When planned to take full advantage of modern nutritional discoveries, it will insure normal growth and health, and another meal. build up high resistance that is like a protecting wall to safeguard

With our present knowledge of the power of food, there should be one ill-nourished child in our land. Yet the spectre of malnutrition rears its ugly head among children of the well-to-do as well as in homes where money is scarce. For, as a rule, it is not lack of money, but lack of knowledge of food values, or faulty eating habits which are responsible for this tragedy.

Don't Overlook Protective Foods A child's diet should be built upon a foundation of the protective foods-milk, eggs, fruits and vegetables. Milk takes precedence absolute necessity if children are to develop strong, straight bones and sound teeth. The penalty for breaking this fundamental rule is retarded growth, fragile, crooked bones, decayed teeth and possibly nervousness. How dare any mother inflict such punishment upon her children? A fine amount of calcium, high grade protein, and some of every known vitamin can be furnished so easily by providing children with a quart of milk daily-either as a beverage, or in soups, cream sauces, puddings, cocoa or with cereals.

As a rule, school children may have lean meat, fish, chicken or liver once a day, and a second protein food, such as cheese or legumes, is usually introduced at

Energy Foods in Abundance

There must be plenty of energy foods, such as potatoes, rice, macaroni, bread and butter, and cereals, to help prevent the physical fatigue which lowers resistance. At least one starchy food belongs in every meal.

A well-cooked cereal should be provided once daily; in warm weather a ready-to-eat cereal may be used instead. In order to provide an abundance of minerals. and vitamin B, nutritionists place emphasis upon the whole grain va-

For desserts, choose rice, tapioca and bread puddings; gelatine, either plain or with fruit; fresh or over all of these because it is an stewed fruit; milk sherbets or ice

> In planning meals for children, it is important at all times to keep the menus simple, and prepare foods so that they are appetizing and easily digestible. -*-

Aids to Good Nutrition

It is important also to bear in mind that the most perfect diet will not provide sound nutrition unless the food is properly digested and assimilated. Adequate sleep and rest, which do away with fatigue, are therefore essential. However perfect the diet, overexertion and undue fatigue, if continued, will soon bring about a state of lowered resistance.

In planning a program of daily living that will make and keep your children fit for school, put food first. But consider also rest, fresh air and sunshine, and regular habits. It would be well, too, to check up on the child's general health before he returns to school, so that he will not be handicapped by some physical defect, such as bad teeth, diseased tonsils, faulty vision or impaired hearing-all of which hinder the ability to learn.

Never forget for a moment that a child's happiness and success are closely related to his health. All mothers should remember this, for it is no exaggeration to say that THE POWER OF A NA-TION DEPENDS UPON THE HEALTH OF ITS CHILDREN.

TELLO EVERYBODY:

You know, they say troubles never come singly, and I know doggone well that is true in at least one case. It's the case of Amy Castaldi of Chicago. When fate began piling up grief on Amy's shoulders, she piled it up high.

It was a Friday morning, the second day of July, 1933, when things began to go wrong. Amy's eight-year-old son, out playing with some other kids, burned the pupil of his right eye. He was in constant pain, and for two days and nights after that Amy never left his beside until a far worse calamity forced her to. And right on the heels of that accident came the news that an uncle had died in Louisville, Ky. Amy couldn't go to the funeral. Not with her boy in constant agony. So, on Saturday night her husband went without her, leaving her to take care of her son, and her two young daughters.

Fierce Gale Struck Her House.

Night had come on. Amy had put her two little girls to bed and they had gone to sleep. She was back at her son's bedside, weary and worn, for another long night's vigil. The hours rolled on. The wind had begun to rise. At 2 o'clock in the morning it was blowing a young gale. The Castaldis' house was completely exposed to that wind on three sides. On the other it was protected by a factory, but the gale wasn't blowing from that direction.

The wind rose steadily. It whistled and howled in the telephone wires outside. The whistle rose to a shriek, and still it kept on rising. Then, suddenly, the lights went out in the street. A burst of hailstones rattled against the house. And at almost the same time a window crashed in the front of the dwelling. The house was shaking-shaking violently. It was about all Amy's frazzled nerves could stand. She let out a scream. The scream woke up her two little girls, and they came running from their beds. The little boy was already awake. He, poor kid, hadn't slept for two nights. Fled With Her Three Children.

Another window broke with a clatter, glass falling to the floor. The kids huddled around Amy, clutching at her dress. One by one the windows crashed, there was a louder crash-a shriek of rending wood-and a huge piece of sheet metal came TEARING RIGHT THROUGH THE SIDE OF THE HOUSE!

The wind had stopped howling now. Instead, it tore by with a loud, steady, hissing roar. The house was deluged with water that came through the broken windows. Now rocks and pieces of lumber came hurtling in and Amy could hear more flying debris battering against the side of the house with a force that was all but tearing it to pieces. On top of this law, some 10 or 12 months later, Mr. Roosevelt lam-

"I was about to faint with fright," Amy says. "I grabbed my hildren and ran for the back door. I took hold of the knob and tried to open it. It wouldn't budge. The movement of the house under the force of the storm, had warped it tightly shut. My children were screaming, and their cries gave me strength. I tugged at the door with renewed vigor and finally opened it."

But when the door opened, Amy paused and looked out on a scene that looked almost as uninviting as did the inside of her home. Before her was nothing but the blackest of darkness and the terrible hissing roar of the wind. Thunder boomed and a streak of lightning rent the sky. As the flash illuminated the heavens she could see that the air was full of flying debris. More rocks and pieces of sheet metal-boards, bricks and everything imaginable.

Just Escaped a Live Wire.

Says she: "My head was reeling. I almost fainted again. A piece of sheet metal landed near us, barely missing our heads as it fell from above. For a minute I wondered if the world were coming to an end, and I began to pray. Then, with what little strength I had left, I gathered my children close and made for the gate of our back yard." The wind tore at her, almost sweeping her off her feet. Clinging to all three of her children, she led them across the yard. When she came to where the gate should have been she found it gone-and the rest of the fence along with it. Across the street the factory—the nearest solid building—and she headed "We walked and stumbled—fell and picked ourselves up again," she

"I thought that trip would never come to an end, but finally we reached the factory. We learned later that we had walked over a live wire that had been blown down and we can only thank God that none of us stepped on it. But once we were inside the building the night watchman came to our rescue."

When Amy went back to her house the next morning she found every window broken. The furniture was water-soaked and broken by flying debris and the whole doggone placed looked—well—like a cyclone had struck it, which was the truth. "But I didn't care about that," says Amy, "for my children were safe. The next day the papers carried stories about the freak tornado and told about the damage it did. But no newspaper will ever be able to describe the way I felt during those awful moments while it was occurring." Copyright .- WNU Service.

Threads of Life

It's odd. A man thinks his own will guides his own life. But the world is full of human lives; a man shifted time and time again as it is bound to blunder into some of them, weave his own with them indissolubly, or touch and drift away and touch again, or narrowly miss touching and maybe never know. The pattern is on the loom. And sometimes, looking back, you see a part of it. A thread weaves in and out and disappears; it is not broken but still weaving somewhere. Is it incidence when it appears again? Unknown or unconscious forces.
