Mule Days '93 Begins With A Bang

Mule Days '93 started off with a bang, when a gang of bandits rode into Muleshoe thinking it would be an easy town to take. The bandits robbed Bank of America, taking a hostage, before continuing on down Main Street robbing businesses right and left.

There was one thing they had not counted on....Wyatt Earp, Matt Dillon and Festus Hagen. Earp, Dillon, Hagen and their deputies were waiting for the bandits when they came out of Western Drug....and the gun fight began.

Shots rang out to and fro before the gangsters were either shot or captured. As you would expect Wyatt Earp, Dillon and Hagen and their deputies were victorious again.

Mule owners came from several states to compete in various events, making this the biggest Mule Days in Muleshoe's history.

Some of the states that were represented were: Arkansas, Mississippi, Oklahoma, New Mexico and many areas of Texas.

The gun fight was followed by a big Mule-Day parade. Float winners were presented gift certificates in the amount of $75 for first place, $50 for second, and $25 for third.

Kids decorated their bicycles and come and join in the parade. Each participant in the decorated bicycles division received a participation certificate.

Mule events over the next three days will include seven halter classes, Youth Showman-ship, Western Pleasure, 10 events in the Trail Class, three classes in the Team Pull, Saddle Horn Pull, Open roping, steer stopping in the open division and youth division, Steer Dobbng in the open division and youth division and team penning.

A spokesman said "It is really amazing to see a mule jump flat footed over a bar 50 or more inches high in the Coon Mule Jump".

For more information or specific information concerning any of the events, contact Jack Wilson at the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture office at 272-4248.

There will be many other activities around town during this event. The Rotary Club Team Roping Competition at the Dusty Rhodes Arena on Friday evening beginning at 6:30 p.m.

A $1,675.00 hand made, by Clifton B. Allen, saddle will be given to the High Money Winner. Buckles will be given to the average winner of all ropings. Ropes will be given to First Go Winners each roping.

The Kiwanis Club will have an all you can eat pancake and sausage breakfast Saturday morning from 7:30 to 10:30, at the Muleshoe State Bank parking lot. Tickets will be $3 for adults and $2 for children 12 and under. Orange juice and coffee will be available for $.50.

The Lions Club will have their annual broom sale to benefit the blind on Wednesday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the parking lot of Muleshoe State Bank.

The Jennyslippers will sponsor a rest stop and information booth at the Mule Memorial each day.

The Muleshoe Heritage Foundation will have a Mexican Fiesta outdoors at the Heritage Complex on Thursday evening beginning at 7 p.m. R.A. Bradley of the Heritage Foundation said, "Everyone is invited to come out and enjoy an old fashioned get-together in the fresh air, and enjoy good food and some exciting entertainment".

The Seagraves Gun Fighters will be there to entertain with their 32" miniature mule "Jasper", along with local musical entertainment. Proceeds from this event go toward the refurbishing of the Heritage Complex.

There will be a Family Street Dance Saturday, August 14 from 8 to 11 p.m. in the 100 Block of Main Street. "Bring the children and dance your heart out," said Jack Wilson, manager of Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. "Come join the fun."

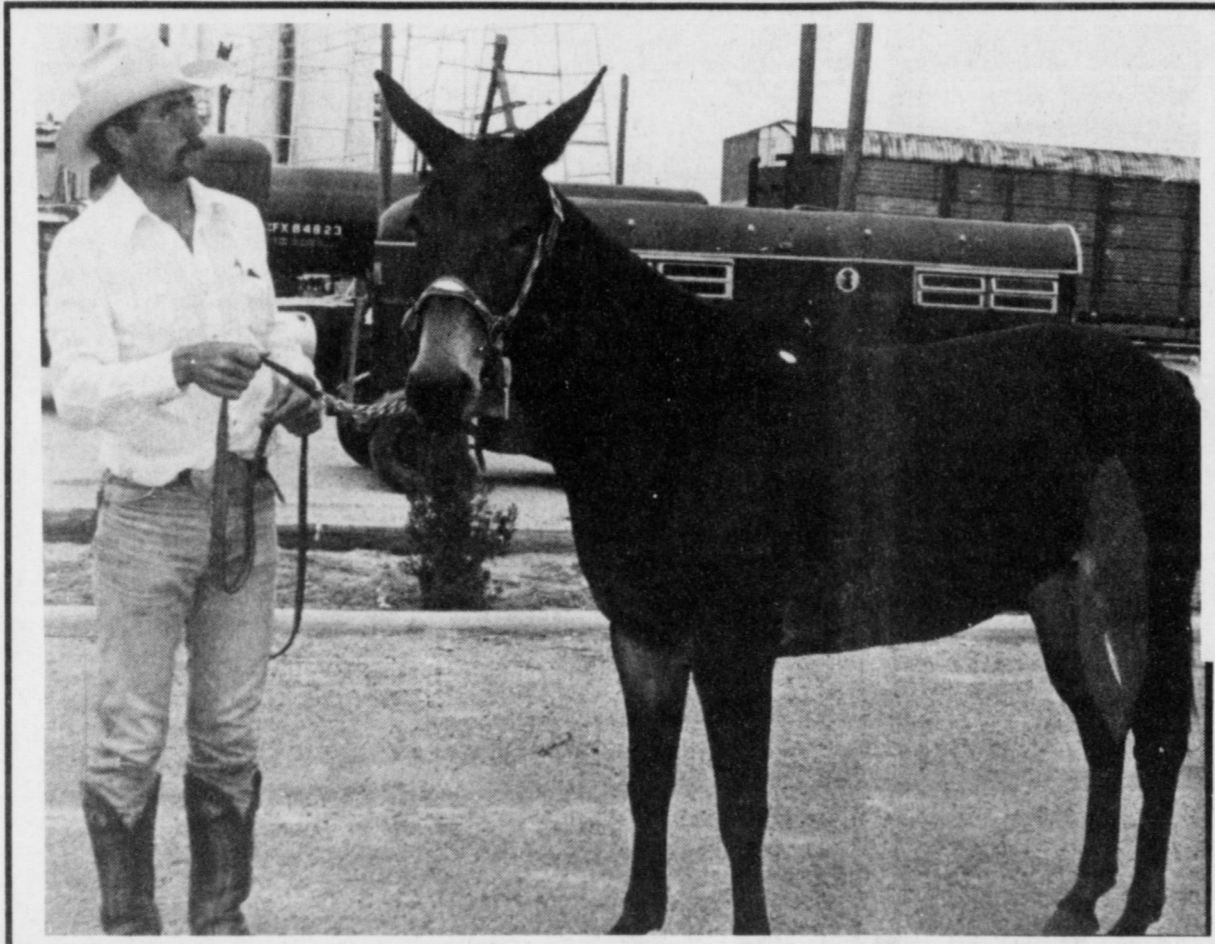

Some of the Muleshoe merchants will be having special Mule-Day activities, promotions, and entertainment events throughout the four day celebration.

David Bradley will be at Joe's Boot Shop on Saturday, August 14. Each summer between 1960 and 1974, Bradley spent the summers in Muleshoe in the home of his grandparents, Arthur and Chelle Bradley. In 1975, Bradley moved to Muleshoe and began working for Carl's Meat Market. He worked there until 1976, when he got a job with Piggly Wiggly, transferring to Amarillo in 1977.

On Saturday there will be Mechanical Mule Roping at Joe's Boot Shop from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. with a $1,000 jackpot.

MISD Board Approves Sudan Proposals

"We have three contracts from neighboring districts that could have an impact on our 1993-94 budget," Superintendent of MISD Bill Moore told the board members Monday night. "Two of them are from Sudan ISD and one of them is from Whiteface ISD.

"The Sudan proposals are subject to the approval of the voters of SISD. If these proposals are passed by the voters in that district they will be for a one year contract."

In the first proposal, Sudan asks the MISD to tell the TEA that Sudan has permission to count transfer students from MISD on their WADA. This involves four students who have been attending Sudan. MISD has not been receiving funds for these students.

"If we agree to the first proposition, Sudan would like to purchase attendance credits for 200 students from us. The rules have changed on this option, and it would now be advantageous to us to agree to this proposal.

"They will pay us at the rate which they are currently spending per WADA, which is about $5200 per WADA, and the state will deduct from us the amount we spend per WADA, which is about $3350 per WADA. That means we would net the difference-$1850-for each student they buy. If they buy 100 students, we increase revenue by $370,000.

The purpose of this agreement is to enable SISD to reduce its wealth per student to a level that is not greater than the equalized wealth level for the district for the 1993-94 school year.

"In the third proposal, Whiteface is offering to pay $1,000,000 for the operation of Pep in 1993-94. The budget we have developed for Pep under current operating guidelines is $529,000. With the increased budget, we would plan to add two additional vocational programs, Health Occupations and Cosmetology, as well as complete all of the building renovations that we have been doing in phases as funds come available. We would be giving up the WADA for those students to Whiteface.

"Our WADA at Pep last year was about 51 with an average daily attendance of 30. When we started the Pep project, it was hoped that we could get to a break-even point. In other words, the students attending down there would generate enough money from the state to pay the cost of that program to the district. We did not achieve that the first year, and probably would not be the second year. So the funds we would lose from the state by giving up that WADA would not be as much as it would cost us to send them to Pep. Therefore, it is to our advantage to let Whiteface pay for the program and assume our WADA for those students. This would be a one year contract," Moore continued. The board voted to accept these proposals provided they pass the voters at Sudan.

Cindy Purdy, president of the MISD board of trustees, called the school board meeting to order Monday night at 6:30 p.m. at the high school library. Following a walkthrough of the construction at Thedda Schooler, principal at the Pep School thanked all of the board members for their support over the past school year as well as summer school.

Ms. Schooler reported that during the regular 1992-93 term at Pep there were seven students to graduate and 37 withdrawals. Five of the withdrawals moved to other schools, one enrolled in home schooling, three dropped out but may return, one returned to Muleshoe schools, four were dismissed for behavior, three changed to GED, four dropped out because of pregnancy, and 17 dropped out (most after a short time, one to work to support a child.

Five students have completed requirements for graduation, but have not passed the TAAS test. Twenty-two students are expected to return for this school term. One of these students is over 21.

The board renewed their fuel contract with Dale Oil Company for the coming term.

The board also approved the waiver request from the high school that would provide for exemptions

Weeds On Vacant Lots A Problem

City Ordinance 65A states that it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation who shall own or occupy any lot in the City of Muleshoe to allow weeds, rubbish, brush, or any other unsightly, objectionable or unsanitary matter to accumulate or grow on said lot.

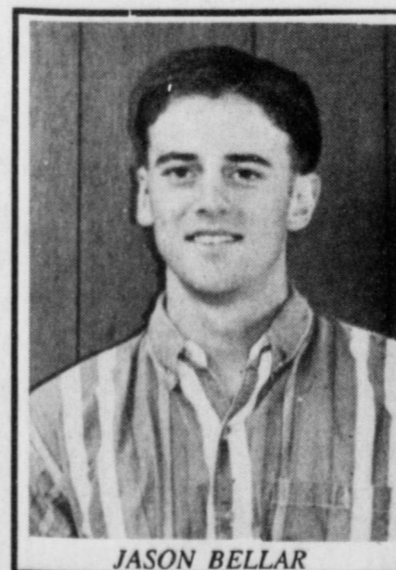

It is again the time of year when, after the occasional rain showers, the weeds on vacant lots are becoming a problem in the city. The City of Muleshoe would like to encourage you to please have these lots mowed and cleaned to prevent health hazards from occurring.

Della Snell, Code Enforcement Officer, has contacted several individuals who have the equipment and are available to do this kind of work. A list of the people is available at the Muleshoe Police Department or at City Hall. If you are unable to clean or mow the lots yourself or you do not have the equipment to do so, these people are available for you to hire.

If you have property that needs attention, it is your responsibility to attend to this immediate problem. Failure to comply with this City Ordinance may result in the issuance of a citation and fine.

There are also a number of junk or abandoned vehicles in the City. Ordinance 122A states that it shall be unlawful for vehicles to be abandoned in the City limits. Citations are being issued.

Muleshoe A Town With An Unusual Name

Did you ever wonder how well known Muleshoe is. Well... apparently Muleshoe is better known than you might think.

While working puzzles in the October issue of Circle-A-Word over the weekend, I came across a puzzle about towns with unusual names, and Muleshoe was listed among them.

The editor stated that all of the towns listed were legitimate and that they were undoubtedly delightful places to live, or retire to.

As you can see Muleshoe just might be better known than you think.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Two well-known Republican operatives say George W. Bush will declare his candidacy for governor by Sept. 1, or when the baseball season ends in mid-October, The Dallas Morning News reported last week.

Bush, son of the former president and managing partner of the Texas Rangers, reportedly spent much of the summer consulting with a wide variety of political allies and friends.

"Nothing is going to keep this guy from running," said Austin consultant Karl Rove, who has been involved in Bush strategy sessions. "He is getting a lot of encouragement. People have thrust big checks into his hands, and he has had to give them back because he is not a candidate."

Norman Newton of Austin, director of the Associated Republicans of Texas, said he believes Bush has every intention of running.

GOP Potentials Comment

Rep. Tom Craddick, R-Midland, who also is considering the race, said he will not run if Bush does.

Most GOP observers believe if Bush is in, Dallas Lawyer Tom Luce will not seek the nomination. Luce told reporters he does not want to run against Bush, a longtime friend, but might.

Walden died Monday, August 9, 1993 at Lubbock Methodist Hospital.

He was born Oct. 4, 1916 in Paducah, TX. He married Ethel Swanner Cooper on Oct. 23, 1981 in DeLeon, TX.

Walden moved to Earth from Spade, TX. He was a farmer and a Baptist. He served in WW II in the army.

statewide races, said his decision will not be based on whether Bush runs.

Meanwhile, in other pre-election-season action, the GOP stepped up its potshots on Gov. Ann Richards.

GOP Chairman Fred Meyer charged that 13 private telephone lines in Richards' office are evidence she is running "a massive political operation" in her state office.

Meyer's charge came as Travis County prosecutors continue their investigation of Republican U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison, whose conduct as state treasurer is under grand jury review. Former Hutchison aides have said they were required to do political work on state time.

Margaret Justus, the governor's deputy press secretary said the private telephones were installed "to be extra cautious" and to prevent the use of state-paid phones for personal or political calls. She said eight of the phone lines have been disconnected.

First Women Rangers Named

Marie Reynolds Garcia of Floresville and Cheryl Campbell Steadman of Houston last week became the state's first women Texas Rangers in a ceremony at the Department of Public Safety Academy in Austin.

Garcia, 39, and Steadman, 32, were among 200 DPS officers competing for promotion to the elite law enforcement unit.

Seven other officers were promoted to Rangers, including Richard Lindsley Shing, a Corsicana highway patrol sergeant who became the first Asian American Ranger.

A handbook about the 170-year-old unit, which now numbers 105 officers, says "A Ranger is an officer who is able to handle any given situation without definite instruction from his commanding officer or higher authority. This ability must be proven before a man becomes a Ranger."

Three Jail Sites Approved

The Texas Board of Criminal Justice approved three sites for state jails last week after learning that the number of convicted felons in county jails has hit a record high.

The state jails are part of a building program planned by the Legislature that will double prison capacity to 109,000 by 1995.

The first state jails will be in Harris County, Beaumont and Bonham, according to the criminal justice board. The 2,000-bed jails should be constructed within 14 months, officials said.

Voters in November will be asked to approve $1 billion in bonds to build an additional 48,000 state jail beds by 1998.

Board chairman Carol Vance of Houston admitted the state is "under the gun" and is building prisons as fast as it can.

Lawmaker to Pay IRS

State Rep. Eddie De La Garza, D-Edinburg, says he will pay the estimated $38,000 he owes the Internal Revenue Service, which seized equipment from his Edinburg law office and his 20-foot boat.

De La Garza said his tax problems began in 1990 when he failed to withhold income for taxes.

The IRS filed a $31,502 lien against him in February 1992. An IRS spokesman said such seizures are made only after other attempts to satisfy the debt have failed.

De La Garza, a criminal defense lawyer, said his practice suffers because of the time he devotes to legislative duties.

A Simple New Test Explaining Stomach Pains in Millions

A simple new test may quickly explain the cause of stomach pain in millions of Americans, says a parasitologist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

The Giardia antigen test checks for giardiasis, the most common water-borne disease in the United States. People with giardiasis suffer from stomach cramps, gas, nausea, diarrhea and bloating. The symptoms usually appear one to two weeks after infection. In many cases, no symptoms are present.

"The chances of finding Giardia with this new test are greatly enhanced because it is more sensitive than the conventional method," said Dr. Cynthia Chappell, an assistant professor of family medicine at Baylor.

In the Giardia antigen test, byproducts of the Giardia parasite are detected. Once spread mainly by drinking water from mountain streams and other untreated bodies of water, the bug also is present in poorly filtered water supplies and food, and is passed on by hand-to-mouth contact.

With the old method, the stool was examined microscopically to look for oval-shaped cysts harboring the Giardia parasite. Chappell says in the past, it has taken repeated testing to confirm the presence of Giardia.

"It was often difficult to detect with the old test, since the number of cysts excreted vary from day-to-day," she said.

Chappell and her colleagues studied 13 patients with stomach pain. The research team checked he patients' stool samples through a microscope, then screened them with the new test. Half of the patients given the new test were positive for the disease.

Giardiasis occurs mostly where large groups of people gather, such as nursing homes. Day care centers are a primary target, since many toddlers are poor hand washers and are not potty trained.

"Pre-schoolers in a day care are a main source of spread because they share the infection by chewing and handling toys," Chappell said. "Caregivers who change diapers daily are especially susceptible to contamination."

The risk of contamination can be lessened by thorough hand washing before handling food and by drinking filtered or boiled water.

Giardiasis clears up without treatment in some cases, but can recur for years. Anti-parasitic drugs can prevent the spread of infection and relieve the symptoms.

Chappell says the new test is not only less time-consuming, but it is also less costly overall.

The Veterans of the Battle of the Bulge, Inc. (VBOB) will hold its 12th Annual Reunion in Bismark, North Dakota, September 15-18, 1993. Reunions are held annually to honor the Americans who served in the Battle of the Bulge and remember those who sacrificed their lives in this great battle.

VBOB is an international non-profit organization which is composed of members who served in the World War II battle which rebuffed Hitler's strongest offensive and turned the tide of the war, their friends and family members, and history buffs. In its 11 year existence VBOB has enrolled over 11,000 members. It affords members the opportunity to renew and develop friendships, exchange information, and assist in initialing efforts to see that this battle is never forgotten.

The Battle of the Bulge has been called by many "America's greatest battle." It was fought during the bitter cold and snow of the heavily-forested Ardennen area of Eastern Belgium and northern Luxembourg from December 16, 1944, through January 25, 1945. Six hundred thousand American soldiers fought in this great battle with 81,000 resulting casualties, including 19,000 killed. General Patton, while speaking to his generals on the strategy for the battle, said, "If we live through this one, be forever grateful that you have brought with you, one of life's greatest moments!"

December 16, 1994, will mark the 50th Anniversary of the Battle of the Bulge. Many plans have been made for this observance. St. Louis, Missouri, has been chosen for these special commemorative ceremonies.

The Judds — Their Final Concert

Mother-daughter country sensations, The Judds, ended an eight-year chart-topping collaboration with a tearful farewell tour. The Judds — Their Final Concert, the four-hanky final concert of the tour, will be broadcast for the first time this summer as part of public television's August pledge drive.

Proceeds from the final concert went to benefit the American Liver Foundation. Naomi agreed to act as the charity's first celebrity spokesperson after she was diagnosed with chronic active hepatitis, a life-threatening infection that precipitated her retirement from music.

Naomi and Wynonna Judd put out their first record when Wynonna was just 19 years old. Four months later, they had their first number one country single, "Mama He's Crazy." For the next eight years, the pair raked in 14 number one country singles, four Grammys, and a boatload of awards from the music industry. Characterized by the Chicago Tribune as "a mother and daughter team who looked like sisters and sang harmony as only kin can," the two described their relationship as sharing a "psychological umbilical cord." The memories return in this emotional show that serves as a retrospective of their music and career.

The Judds — Their Final Concert will be broadcast Saturday, August 21st at 8:00 p.m. on KENW-TV.

"Chet Atkins" on Austin City Limits

Guitarist extraordinaire and Country Music Hall of Famer Chet Atkins brings his trademark sound to Austin City Limits once again, sharing an hour with special friends and fellow pickers.

Chet Atkins is renowned among musicians and fans alike as a first-class guitarist, ground-breaking performer, and musical pioneer. During a 40-year career, his music progressed from the cutting edge of top-notch country guitar to an eclectic modern style. He blends jazz, pop, country, and new age for a sophisticated sound that transcends labels.

Chet Atkins performs "Folsom Prison," "Sunrise," "Yakety Axe," "Mr. Bojangles," "Blue Angel," "Tahitian Skies," "Cascade," "I Still Can't Say Good-Bye," and "Steel Guitar Rag."

Appearing with Chet are The Cluster Pluckers. This spirited ensemble lives up to its name as its members cluster together, sing beautiful harmony, and pluck the fire out of their instruments.

Austin City Limits "Chet Atkins" will be broadcast Saturday, August 21st at 10:00 p.m. on KENW-TV.

Agriculture Water Conservation Measures Passed During Legislative Session

Agricultural Commissioner Rick Perry said that three measures designed to enhance farmers' water conservation efforts were passed during the Texas Legislature's general session.

"Many farmers' livelihoods depend on a continual source of water so it is essential that they be given tools and incentives to conserve these water resources," Perry said. "Two of the measures passed this last legislative session allow the Texas Department of Agriculture to encourage water conservation through a finance program and through a research fund."

"The third measure asks the state Higher Education Coordinating Board to direct more research dollars toward water conservation projects." The three laws passed involve: *Transferring funds from the Texas Department of Agriculture's Family Farm Security Fund to the Texas-Israel Exchange Fund, formerly known as the Texas-Israel Semi-Arid Fund. The Texas-Israel Semi-Arid Fund was created by the Legislature in 1989, but has never received funding. The fund is designed to support research on water conservation, water management and use, soil management and conservation, and efficient energy use. The program calls for equal funding from Texas and Israel, which are to exchange technology in all these areas.

Moving up to $250,000 to the fund from the Family Farm Security Fund will initiate matching funds from Israel. "With their arid climate, Israelis have been pioneers in making the most with what little water they have," Perry said. "Getting this fund off the ground will allow our states to work together and learn even more about water conservation."

Sen. O.H. "Ike" Harris, R-Dallas, and Rep. Robert Eckels, R-Houston, sponsored the measure.

*Allowing TDA linked deposit loans to be used for water conservation. Until this change, only projects involving alternative crop or livestock production or agricultural processing qualified for financing under the Linked Deposit Program.

"Most farmers want to convert to more efficient irrigation systems, like drip irrigation, but they don't have the money needed to do this," Perry said. "Allowing water conservation projects to qualify under the linked Deposit Program will help producers use low interest loans to convert their irrigation systems."

Through the Linked Deposit Program, the state treasurer deposits funds at qualifying banks at less than prevailing rates, which enables bank to loan the money at below market interest rates.

Sen. Ike Harris, R-Dallas, and Rep. Roberto Gutierrez, D-McAllen, sponsored the measure.

*Asking the Higher Education Coordinating Board to give priority to water conservation projects when ranking research projects for funding. The state appropriates about $60 million biennially to the board for research. Of the total, $20 million in grant money is available under the Advanced Research Program for projects at state universities and $40 million is available under the Advanced Technology Program for technology development and transfer at both public and private universities. The legislation states that research funds can be used for projects that will focus on reducing industrial, agricultural and domestic water use.

"The water issue cuts across rural and urban Texas, and water conservation will be one of the state's biggest challenges as we move into the next century," Perry said. "It only makes sense to prioritize research that will help quench this thirst."

Sen. Bill Sims, D-San Angelo, and Rep. Robert Duncan, R-Lubbock, sponsored the measure.

Perry congratulated the Legislature for approving these water conservation measures and thanked Sens. Harris and Sims and Reps. Eckels, Gutierrez and Duncan for their assistance.

"Farmers and ranchers have always adapted to doing more with less, and their ingenuity and fortitude has enabled them to reduce their irrigated water use to some of the lowest levels in 40 years," the commissioner said. "But as more advanced water conservation technology is developed, it is important for the state to help place the latest and most efficient irrigation methods into the hands of our farmers," Perry said.

Become friends with your local farmer

Mounds of ruby red tomatoes, piles of fresh sweet corn, baskets of fruit and the tantalizing aroma of freshly baked breads await at the Farmer's Market. The produce is so fresh the soil clings to it, the flavors so bright and clear you'll always return. And according to Susan Herrmann Loomis, the farmers are there to give you tips and hints, and the assurance that all is the best there is.

When shopping the Farmer's Market, use these tips to make it easy, efficient and fun.

Loomis' 10 Farmer's Market tips:

- Take along shopping bags.
- Take cash in small bills and some change.
- Go early to get the best selection.
- Go with an open mind, because seasons dictate what is available.
- Walk through the whole market before you buy to see what is available.
- If you plan to preserve produce, buy it when you see it because you may not see it again.
- Get to know the individual farmers, what they grow and what they will be growing so you can plan ahead.
- Ask farmers how they grow their produce and whether or not it is organic.
- If you drive, keep a cooler in the car and make perishable buying your last stop.
- Ask for preparation tips and recipe ideas. Farmers are goldmines for both.

"Summer is my favorite season," remarks Loomis, author of Farmhouse Cookbook, "and most of the reason is Farmer's Markets."

After spending two years researching her latest book, a 20,000-mile odyssey criss-crossing America in search of the soul of farmhouse cooking, Loomis doesn't necessarily have to shop at Farmer's Market. She can go visit Bill Krome on his Florida avocado farm, Elizabeth Ryan on her Hudson, New York, apple farm, or Lil Ochs on her Eureka, Washington, garbanzo bean farm. But she loves the open-air markets, with their year-round festive atmosphere. She writes, "Farmer's markets are a living, breathing entity and buying the local produce is almost as good as growing your own."

Loomis' favorite hot-weather recipes include Million Dollar Relish, Marinated Summer Salad and Basque Chicken with Sweet Peas.

What to buy when

Loomis suggests the best times to buy fresh fruits and vegetables:

Spring: Look for lettuces, sorrel, baby root vegetables, spring onions, asparagus, all produce that should be prepared simply and savored for its delicate flavor. Rhubarb is the star of spring, and it can be used in everything from cakes, to pies, to chutneys.

Summer: The Farmer's Market glory days. It's very important to go early, before the sun gets hot and wilts produce. Carry a cooler in the car for delicate produce. Buy quantities to preserve.

Autumn: There's a nip in the air and the apples and pears begin to appear. This is the best time for corn and tomatoes because they're extra flavorful, and a good time to look for full-sized but young root vegetables. And it's also time for pickling everything from cukes to squash. It's time to stock up on a winter's supply of squash and potatoes.

Winter: Now is the time to buy preserves, jams and jellies made at the farm. If you don't have room to store winter vegetables, continue to buy everything from squash to potatoes, onions, carrots and root vegetables.

The following recipes were reproduced from Farmhouse Cookbook by Susan Herrmann Loomis (Workman).

RHUBARB CRUNCH

- 1½ cups rolled oats
- ¾ cup plus 2 tablespoons sifted all-purpose flour
- 1½ cups (lightly packed) light brown sugar
- 12 tablespoons (1½ sticks) unsalted butter, cut into 12 pieces
- 4½ cups diced rhubarb
- ¼ to ½ cup granulated sugar
- 1½ teaspoons ground cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons water

Preheat the oven to 350°F.

Place the oats, ¾ cup of the flour, and the brown sugar in a food processor, and process briefly to blend the mixture. Add the butter, and process until the ingredients are mixed. Be careful not to overmix — you want to keep the texture of the oats. The moisture will be somewhat dusty looking.

In a medium-size bowl, toss the rhubarb, remaining 2 tablespoons flour, granulated sugar, cinnamon, salt, and water until well mixed.

Place the rhubarb mixture in an 8-inch-square nonreactive (earthenware or glass) pan. Cover it with the oat topping, patting it gently into place. Bake until the fruit is bubbling up around the edges and the topping is golden and crisp, about 45 minutes.

NOTES, COMMENT

What Has Been Found?

There has been strange silence from Washington about what was found at the sight of the massacre of over seventy American cultists near Waco.

Did authorities find all those (or any) machine guns alleged to have stored there? The gun barrels and actions would have survived. How many victims died of burns? Only three were reported to have died from gunshot wounds to the head. Who fired those shots?

Why were no fire marshals or no fire fighting equipment on the scene when the tank attack was made—in the face of a weather service warning that day of 40-knot winds, certain to kindle a conflagration?

Why were innocent women who exited the compound immediately grabbed and put in leg irons and chains? Was this not witness intimidation? Etc.

Common Sense Ways To Beat

Heart Attacks

By Ellie Law

Now more than ever, people are concerned about their hearts. It is not surprising, considering that heart attacks and other heart-related diseases have been the country's biggest killer.

According to one expert, there are six main risk factors related to heart disease: age, family history, smoking, raised blood pressure, blood cholesterol level and diabetes.

Dr. Gordon Jackson, a practicing heart specialist and consultant to a number of London hospitals, elaborates.

"People in their 50s and 60s are much more prone to problems. And if one of your parents or siblings has suffered a heart attack, then you have a greater-than-average risk."

"Smoking is a major cause of heart attacks and strokes, and the easiest to deal with. You cannot change your age or your family history, but you can stop smoking."

"Blood pressure is one of the major indicators of risk and is particularly important as a predictor of strokes, but it is a relatively easy condition to treat."

"There is a cholesterol level below which heart problems are least likely to occur, but unfortunately this level is well below the average in Western countries."

"Finally, if you are a diabetic, then you do have an increased risk."

So how can we possibly beat the dreaded heart disease?

Dr. Jackson says that while we can't hope to prevent heart attacks completely, there is good evidence to suggest that it is possible to make a dramatic reduction in personal heart attack risk, merely by making comparatively minor changes in lifestyle.

Here are eight ways he suggests you can do that:

1. Have your blood pressure checked regularly. Keeping slim, exercising, eating fruit and vegetables for their potassium content, and cutting down drastically on your salt intake will help to keep your blood pressure down.
2. Cut out all fried foods (grill them instead), avoid too much cheese and dairy food, and especially avoid very fat meat and meat products such as sausages, burgers, etc. Switch to less fatty fish and poultry instead of red meat wherever possible.
3. Use polyunsaturated vegetable fats and cook in oil instead of butter or animal fats.
4. Increase your intake of fiber in your diet. Increasing carbohydrates will automatically increase fiber. Some people still worry that eating a lot of starchy foods will lead to obesity. Too much of any food can do that, but since carbohydrates contain just under half as much energy as fatty food, the way to lose weight is to avoid fat. Different types of bread contain different amounts of fiber. White bread is richer in fiber than you think, but whole-grain breads may contain up to 150 percent more per slice.
5. Drink less alcohol. People who drink small amounts of alcohol are actually at lower risk of coronaries and strokes than even non-drinkers. But overdo it and all kinds of weight and heart problems are activated.

6. Don't smoke. It not only damages the lungs, it makes the pulse beat faster, narrows the arteries, reduces vital oxygen to the blood and strains the heart. Eighty percent of the coronary death rate of men under the age of 50 can be blamed on smoking alone. The risk of heart disease for the smoker is much greater than the risk of lung cancer. If you are not prepared to give up the habit then you are obviously not serious about the risk of a heart attack.
7. Do exercise, but nothing highly strenuous, especially if you are over 40 and haven't exercised in years. Do the kind of exercise that trains the lungs and the heart rather than that which increases muscle strength, i.e. walking, running, swimming and cycling. Home exercise machines are fine, but tend to be boring and people give up easily. Join an exercise group—it's an excellent way to work out. Forget the elevator—walk up stairs; do some gardening; get off the bus a stop or two early and walk the rest of the way.
8. Don't let yourself get overweight. You have a better life expectancy if you are slim than significantly overweight. Tests have shown that in men, a waist measurement larger than the hip measurement implies an increased risk of a heart attack.

First Quarter '93 Texas Lodging Revenues Set Record

Confirming the vitality of the Texas lodging industry, the First Quarter 1993 Texas Hotel Performance Report shows revenues jumping 7.1 percent from first quarter of 1992, the highest first quarter total in history, according to the report commissioned by the Texas Department of Commerce's Tourism Division.

The gain is in line with the annual growth rate in lodging revenues that has averaged 7.2 percent in Texas since 1987, and indicates that lodging and tourism are among the fastest growing industries in the state.

Leading the state in hotel and motel revenue growth was Killeen/Temple's dramatic 23.6 percent increase for the quarter. This growth reflects the expansion activity at Fort Hood, Waco, Austin, and San Angelo each experienced revenue growth increases near 20 percent. San Antonio saw an 11.9 increase in first quarter revenue, and Wichita Falls, Tyler, and non-metro areas also had double-digit increases in their first quarter revenue gains.

These markets accounted for 55 percent of the state's revenue gains, and the figure jumps to approximately 90 percent when Dallas and Houston are factored in. Other areas with revenue increases above the 7.1 percent statewide average included Amarillo, 9.6 percent, and Texarkana with 9 percent.

Offsetting the growth experienced in some areas were revenue declines in other Texas cities. The greatest drop-off was Sherman/Denison, where lodging revenue fell 7.7 percent. Corpus Christi declined 4.3 percent, and other coastal areas that showed a first quarter revenue decrease were Beaumont/Port Arthur down 3.9 percent, Brazoria down 2.5 percent, and Victoria, off .8 percent. Also, down for the quarter were Bryan/College Station, down 4.3 percent and Midland/Odessa, down .3 percent.

The report, prepared for the Tourism Division by Source Strategies, Inc., of San Antonio, noted that all of the growth reported in the first quarter of the year went to higher priced hotels and motels. There was absolutely no growth in first quarter revenues of hotels and motels priced under $60 per night. Facilities offering lodging at more than $60 experienced a gain of 13.8 percent.

Regular exercise is one secret of old age.

It's surprising what compliments will do.

Some people take themselves seriously.

Sincere, sensitive, idealists would do well to stay out of politics.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

As Labor Day weekend approaches, many people will be hosting their "end-of-summer" parties. Many of these will include alcohol; most will include driving. With this in mind, we have prepared ten "tips" people can use to entertain safely and responsibly.

These "tips" are taken from the TIPS (Training for Intervention Procedures by Servers of Alcohol) program—a socially responsible, community approach for preventing alcohol abuse, drunk driving and underage drinking. In addition to providing training for servers and sellers of alcohol, the TIPS program also offers training for consumers. TIPS is designed specifically for people who want to ensure the responsible use of alcohol in any setting, whether it be at a bar, a hotel, or a house. With a total of seven versions currently available, the TIPS program has something for everyone.

The TIPS program has been proven effective in university research and endorsed by numerous officials and organizations, including a United States President, the Department of Health and Human Services, and the Department of Transportation. In 1988, the National Commission Against Drunk Driving awarded TIPS its Education and Prevention Award. The program is used by thousands of socially responsible hotels, restaurants, concessionaires, private clubs, universities, fraternal organizations, civic groups and consumers across the country. To date, we have trained almost 400,000 people in all 50 states and 15 foreign countries.

We hope the attached list of holiday "tips" help you and your community to have a safe and happy Labor Day weekend. Please feel free to contact me at (202) 333-8267 or (800) GET-TIPS with any questions you may have.

The intense pressure to reduce rates in a deregulated environment has forced interstate truckers to cut back on driver training and equipment maintenance, and truck safety has deteriorated.

Perryman also contends that businesses are leaving the state in droves because of Texas' trucking laws.

Nonsense. According to Site Selection magazine and the Texas Department of Commerce, Texas led the nation last year in the number of new manufacturing facilities, and tied for first place in the number of new and expanded corporate facilities.

That's not to say the Texas regulatory system is perfect--it's not. That's why the Texas trucking industry supports the changes state lawmakers approved this session in the form of SB 1313. This bill will make our industry more efficient and competitive. Here's why:

- The law gives truckers and shippers new authority to set rates without seeking Railroad Commission approval, and permits discounts of up to 40% on general commodity truckload traffic.

- The process by which the Commission approves new rates and applications for truck operating authority has been streamlined, saving time and money for shippers and truckers.

- It will now be much easier for minorities to enter the trucking industry, adding new players and increasing competition.

- The Commission has been given new tools and resources to enforce safety standards.

If nothing else, the new law is important because it represents a true meeting of the minds between the shipping community and the trucking industry. It marks the beginning of a new spirit of partnership between Texas shippers and Texas truckers--and that, in itself, is significant.

These changes are strongly supported by state leaders and endorsed by competing interests. Anyone who says differently is peddling the wrong-headed policy of total deregulation--a policy that has been rejected by the Texas Legislature and the public at large.

There will always be "hired guns" like Ray Perryman who will claim the reforms don't go far enough. But his theories aren't based in reality. Mr. Perryman was paid to reach a conclusion that supports total deregulation, and he did that in spite of the facts.

Mr. Perryman's opinion aside, Texans will see the trucking reform measures contained in SB 131 for what they are--a positive new approach to the way trucking is regulated in this state. Texas shippers, truckers, motorists and consumers will benefit from these changes as the 20th Century ends.

As the owner of a small trucking company, I would like to set the record straight on recent legislative changes to Texas' trucking laws.

My perspective on one important piece of legislation (Senate Bill 1313) differs substantially from Waco economist Ray Perryman, who began denouncing the reforms even before they became law!

Among other things, Perryman claims that the Texas trucking industry, as regulated by the Railroad Commission, has cost the state 465,000 jobs.

That statement alone gives new meaning to the term "voodoo economics."

If we assume Perryman is correct, the deregulation of trucking could virtually eliminate the state's unemployment. That's not only unbelievable, it's ridiculous. Let's put this fantasy in perspective. If we are to believe Perryman that trucking deregulation would create 465,000 jobs in Texas, and if by some chance all those jobs were located in Dime Box, then this quiet little town would suddenly become one of the top ten populated cities in this state.

Perryman's fantasy uses unsubstantiated numbers for one reason alone--to promote total deregulation of the Texas trucking industry.

Truth is, deregulation of Texas trucking would be a disaster for the state's economy and the Texas Trucking industry, just as it has been at the national level:

- Interstate deregulation has created a net loss of 150,000 trucking jobs since 1980.
- Since Interstate trucking was deregulated, 23 of the nation's top 30 trucking companies have gone out of business.
- The small businessman has had to endure higher freight rates and poor service because of deregulation.

Public Hearing On Equine Infectious Anemia Set In Lubbock Friday, August 13.

The Texas Animal Health Commission (TAHC) will hold a public hearing with West Texas horse owners, enthusiasts and veterinarians at 7 p.m. Friday, August 13, in Lubbock to gain input for animal health regulations regarding Equine Infectious Anemia (EIA). The meeting will be held at the Texas A&M Agricultural Research Extension Center on farm-to-market road 1294, just off Interstate 27 at the Shallowater exit.

The TAHC, the state's livestock health regulatory agency, is considering new regulations for controlling EIA, also known as "swamp fever" or Coggins. Several TAHC staff members and commissioners Bruce Rigler of Plainview and Dr. Allan Oltjen of Canyon will listen to comments from equine owners.

In fiscal year 1992 (September 1991 through August 1992) 494 infected equine were detected in the state. Since September 1, 1992, another 384 horses have tested positive. Although the area around Lubbock has had only one recorded infected horse since 1991, any regulations adopted by the TAHC could affect owners and their horses all across the state.

EIA is a virus that affects equine, including horses, donkeys, mules and zebras. Infection can cause a myriad of symptoms in equine, such as weight loss, fever, swelling, depression, or is some exemption from these rules because of the emergency nature and potentially dangerous situation of the continued dry conditions," Perry said. "The imminent threat to public safety does not give the Department of Transportation the time required to seek the required federal permits.

"Rural Texas and agriculture are the backbone of this state. The potential for loss of crops, livestock, homes and human life make it imperative that everyone respond quickly to this situation," Perry said.

Better Business Bureau Report

The BBB believes that voluntary philanthropic efforts contribute significantly to the community welfare. Our underlying purpose is to strengthen public confidence and participation in charitable activities by encouraging responsible private initiative and self-regulation. To achieve this purpose, the Bureau promotes adherence to high, ethical standards by charitable organizations. The standards are based on the belief that an organization which enjoys the privilege of tax-exemption, and which is supported by the public, should fully and accurately disclose all information a potential donor might reasonably wish to consider in evaluating appeals for support. We can give donors all sorts of tips on what to find out before they give to a charity, but bottom line is: The Bureau believes the decision of whether to give must be made by you, the donor. The information we give you will help you to decide. Give us a call at 763-0459. The Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) has listed several terms used in telemarketing boiler rooms, which are "sparsely furnished with groups of desks and telephones, characterized by a high-pitched level of excitement generated by the sales reps." If you are considering going to work for a telemarketer, here are some terms to be alerted to: Breakage certificate or cert. These are travel certificates offered as prizes or bonuses, but with so many restrictions and qualifications that they are rarely used. Button Up. A floor manager who finalizes a sale or "verifies information presented to the customer. Gimme gift. Award or bonus such as a travel certificate or cheap jewelry. Mooch. A sucker, a naive customer who is easily influenced and manipulated by the sales rep when closing the sale. Reload or Load. An attempt to resell a customer who has already purchased from a telemarketing company. The BBB advises extreme caution when considering working for a boiler room such as this.

Perry Recommends Program To Reduce Fire Hazards

Agricultural Commissioner Rick Perry urged the Texas Department of Transportation to begin a program of mowing right-of-ways and blading fireguards in response to the current dry conditions in Texas that have turned many areas of the state into fire hazards.

"Dry conditions in some parts of the state present an immediate threat to Texas agriculture and the safety of all Texans," Perry said. "The blading of fireguards, whether on right-of-ways or private lands will help prevent fires from spreading and will help contain fires if they should start."

In a letter addressed to Arnold

Oliver, executive director of the Texas Department of Transportation, Perry acknowledged TDOT's willingness to re-blade existing fireguards. However, under a ruling by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, TDOT has been unable to blade new fireguards, since this would be a violation of federal storm water regulations.

Fire blading removes combustible materials such as dried brush and grasses from an area to create a cleared space.

"I encourage the Texas Department of Transportation to contact the EPA immediately and request relief for an

QUICK QUIZ

Exercise Your Summer Fitness IQ

(NAPS)—How strong is your knowledge of fitness and exercise during the scorching summer months? Find out by taking this summer fitness test.

1. A fitness program consisting of regular aerobic and resistance training is safer and healthier than physically intense weekend ball games and weekly volleyball matches. (a) True (b) False?

2. When exercising in the hot sun, you should drink something as soon as you begin to feel thirsty. (a) True (b) False?

3. What are the dangers of exercising in the sun? (a) skin cancer (b) heat stroke (c) dehydration (d) all of the above?

4. All other things being equal, 20 minutes of outdoor exercise at 85 degrees requires the same amount of fluids to replenish the body as 20 minutes of indoor exercise at 68 degrees. (a) True (b) False?

5. (a) 5 min (b) 30 min (c) 2 hours of outdoor exercise in mid-afternoon temperatures and sunlight can result in the body overheating to dangerous levels?

6. When exercising in hot weather, it's best to take in fluids (a) before (b) during (c) after exercise (d) all of the above?

7. Muscle cramps result from physical exertion and dehydration, and are more common when exercising in warmer, more humid environments. (a) True (b) False?

ANSWERS
According to the fitness experts at NordicTrack, the leading in-home fitness equipment manufacturer, the answers are: 1. (a) True. The inconsistency of most summer activities can lead to a loss of good exercise habits and unhealthy wear and tear on the cardiovascular system. Summer is usually filled with weekend warrior injuries. Low impact total body exercisers can help keep the heart strong while lowering the risk of injury. 2. (b) False. Since the body's thirst mechanism lags behind its actual need for liquids, fluids should be replaced before you begin to feel thirsty. 3. (d) All of these are very real dangers of exercising outdoors. In-home exercise removes these dangers and adds convenience. 4. (b) False. Working out at higher temperatures increases body fluid loss. Exercising at cooler temperatures is safer and more comfortable. 5. (a), (b) or (c) can be true. Depending on many personal and external factors, a person can suffer the ill effects of exercising in the sun in as few as five minutes. 6. (d) All of the above. When exercising, it's best to make sure you're not dehydrated before you begin, and to continue a light, consistent intake of fluids as you exercise. 7. (a) True. The best way to avoid muscle cramping is to exercise in a comfortable, dry environment, replacing fluids regularly and stretch before and after the workout.

"Where Fertilizer is Our Business"

To raise the bountiful harvests which feed the nation, farmers rely on top-quality agriculture service. Our farmers continue to produce the world's most abundant and safest food supply. Thanks in large part to agricultural input like fertilizer.

Scoggin Ag Center located at 1532 W. Amer. Blvd. in Muleshoe makes a commitment to all to serve our community, our farmers and our nation to continue to make the farmer the backbone of American.

Fertilizer decisions rely on science: sophisticated soil tests show farmers precisely how much to apply. Nutrient inputs are guided by profitability. Farmers want to make money, not waste it on inputs that aren't essential.

Kearney and Jackie Scoggin are committed to stewardship regarding the proper use of all products. From field to plate, we believe everyone involved in food production must use agricultural responsibility.

Sand Puffer

(Patent Pending)

The SAND-PUFFER is a unique, simple and totally automatic flush valve. It mounts below the sand trap or at the end of the overhang. It automatically senses sand build up and flushes each time a predetermined amount of sand accumulates.

The SAND-PUFFER requires no external controls or wiring.

The SAND-PUFFER utilizes sand level sensing device that actuates a shut off plug on a water piston.

Operative off of mainline pressures as low as 6 psi, the unit will work on any system capable of a low pressure spray package.
