ADOLF HITLER The 'Best of Friends' (?) Did Part

FLAME: Hits Russia

Anxious eyes watched the beginning of actual war between those erstwhile partners of opposite political faiths, Nazi Germany and Communist Russia, and once more the world war was making strange bed-

Americans who wanted Britain to win the war cheered loudly for the Soviet, which they had been condemning just a short time before, by claiming that Russia was responsible for defense strikes because Russia wanted Germany to win.

Americans who had gone into their pockets to aid Finland, the victim of rotten Russian aggression, suddenly awoke to find Finland, according to Hitler's word, "marching bravely hand in hand with the Nazi soldiers against Russia.

And some Americans figured that tin bomber at Baltimore after what in the battle between the world's eyewitnesses called an "explosion in two leading dictatorships, the mid-air." Two died in this disaster. democracies, now practically boiled down to the United States, England and China, had everything to win and nothing to lose.

Their memories were able to hark back to the day when Britain, in order to avoid war, had endeavored to encircle Germany by lining up France, Italy, the Balkans, Turkey and Russia as allies.

It had been on August 24, 1939, that Russia had thrown this into the pot by the dramatic and sensational formation of an alliance with Germany, thus breaking the encirclement at a vital point and encouraging the Nazis to move into Poland.

But it was undeniable that when Germany's march brought her to the Balkans and down into Greece that Russia had made unfriendly diplomatic statements and overtures, particularly in the case of Jugoslavia and Bulgaria.

Observers did not forget that Churchill had told Russia, following the loss of the battle of Greece, "you will be next!" The event bore out the prediction of the British premier. and the event was not long coming.

In the German statements accompanying the declaration of war on Russia, it was stated that "we gave Russia half of Poland." Most observers thought then and now that there was considerable surprise and not a little chagrin in Nazi Germany that Russia had leaped in and captured half of the booty.

It was regarded as one of the "signposts" of discord that lined the almost two years of pathway that Russia had traveled apparently hand in hand with Germany.

There also was no question but that the visit of Sir Stafford Cripps as envoy to Russia was a recognition on the part of England that the regret over the alliance between the Reds and the Nazis was mutual.

The feeling was general that Russia, having observed, having been inside the Nazi military machine, having learned lessons in the Finnish campaign, was beginning to feel herself strong enough to refuse German demands that it place its supplies and railway facilities under German control.

Most certain it was that Russia was not completely ready, or it ress of the war-provided Russia would have been her turn to declare the war and make the first move, for there was no feeling that Russia would have any scruples about treaty breaking.

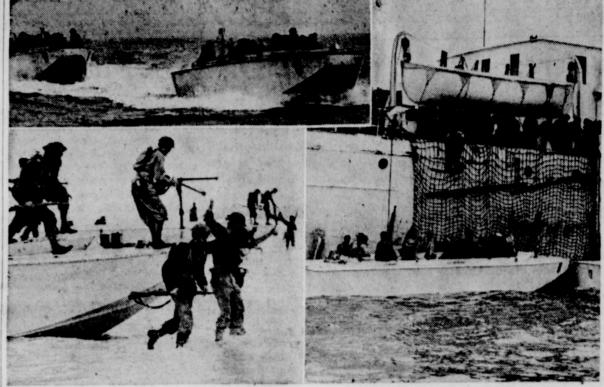

In the demands that Molotov was supposed to have made of Germany, with regard to Finland, Bulgaria, and the bases on the Dardanelles and Bosporus, provided they were truly reported by Von Ribbentrop, one could see that Russia had self-

wild-eyed, mane flying, the driver

dash-board and the wagon bouncing Well, you may hear that ery again soon for there's a nervous animal with bit in its teeth right now that has some of the folks in the department of agriculture pretty worried. Its name is "farm prices" and it has been pretty skittish of late. By the time this appears in print Uncle Sam may have a curb in its

I talked with the government's of Acial wild-horse tamer, Leon Hen-(administrator of the OPACS. Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply) this morning and right now he is inclined to let farm prices have their head and see if the farmer himself cannot keep them in control until they adjust themselves to parity. Legislative Teeth.

If he can't Mr. Henderson will take a hand and the way things look now congress will probably give the OPACS legislative teeth. If that has not happened by the time you read this, put it down in your book that it is coming: a law that will mean fine or jail for the people who do boost prices beyond any figure the OPACS sets.

Right now all the department of agriculture is doing is begging. pleading, imploring that the farmer keep his shirt on.

"Don't set your sites any higher than parity!" is the message an official asked me to carry to you.

"You are going to get parity," he added, "with conservation payments plus the 85 per cent parity law. And for heaven's sake don't go into an orgy of land-buying the way you did in 1917 for if you do the old cycle will be here again: inflation, deflation and disaster!

"Of course part of the trouble which the farmer hasn't anything to do with, is caused by the speculators," he said. "Since speculation in wheat and corn futures is now reduced to a minimum the idle hands of the produce gamblers have found other work to do. They have turned, to cite one example, to the humble soy bean, now $1.40 a bushel. If you go to Chicago and look at the Exchange you'll find more brokers crowded into the little bean pit than there are in the corn pit.

Supply and Demand. "Shortage of ships, and high shipping rates are legitimate reasons for the increase in soy bean values because the supply of fats and oils which we have to import is reduced. But the farmer can help in this case for the department of agriculture has taken off the restriction on raising soy beans for sale instead of plowing the unripened plants under for conservation purposes. Harvest the beans. Supply will ease the demand pressure and help keep the prices normal.'

That supply-and-demand factor is one reason why Leon Henderson has not been so concerned over the farm price situation. The threat of curtailed supply in farm products does not compare with the threat of curtailed supply in other lines, like aluminum, copper and other essentials for defense

Henderson lists the reasons for general price rises this way:

1. Ocean freight rates-that applies to coffee, cocoa, shellac, rubber and a lot of other things we don't grow in this country.

2. Wage rates. Even if they are not always a genuine cause for boosting prices they are excellent excuses

3. Pressure to get food for Britain. Incidentally this has caused cheese prices to go up because a lot of cheese is being hoarded for higher prices. It is one of the chief needs of Great Britain.

4. Then, the thing we have mentioned before, the extraordinary increase of money in the wage-earner's pockets due to re-employment.

I asked Henderson what the biggest obstacle to keeping prices down was and his answer reminded me a month they get in the

THE STORY SO FAR:

Dusty King and Lew Gordon had built up a vast string of ranches in the West. King was killed by his powerful and un-scrupulous competitor, Ben Thorpe. Bill Roper, King's adopted son, was deterto avenge his death in spite of

CHAPTER XVII

Shoshone Wilce, riding with Jody Gordon through the same hundredmile snow which screened Bill Roper and Tex Long in their aid on the Little Dry, found himself the most listening. bewildered and the most unhappy of men.

He could have refused to guide Jody Gordon to Bill Roper's rendez- ly forward into the dark. For a litvous; he thought it improbable that Jody Gordon would have been able to locate the rendezvous alone. But whether she found it, or merely got herself lost, Shoshone Wilce would have been answerable to Bill Roper for leaving her to attempt the ride alone.

The alternative he had chosen offered no greater prospect for a long and helpful life. Lew Gordon would go wild as a wounded silvertip at the disappearance of his daughter; did not, and presently brought her and every King-Gordon cowboy in the country would be scouring the brakes after Shoshone's scalp.

Jody believed now that the split between Lew Gordon and Bill Roper was the basis of inconceivable disaster-not only immediate and personal, but far-reaching in its import to the cow country. Together, those two very different cattlemen could have beaten Thorpe, and consolidated the King-Gordon empire.

Separated, Lew Gordon and Bill Roper were mutually destructive; Lew Gordon was probably right that Bill Roper's savage attacks upon the Thorpe interests were the cause of Ben Thorpe's heavy reprisals upon King-Gordon. And even though Roper might bring down Ben Thorpe in the end, which still seemed incredible, he could never profit by his victory, even if he lived. Unless Gordon and Roper could be reconciled. Roper would in the end become just one more outlawed cowboy whose trails could have no meaning, and only one end.

Jody Gordon had one other motive in attempting the all but hopeless reconciliation. She believed her father's life to be in the sharpest danger. Bill Roper, an even harder fighter than the old trail breaker who had trained him, would automatically take those precautions that would safeguard her father's life, if once they could be brought to work together again.

But the first move toward reconciliation must come from Bill Roper himself. If she could persuade Roper to this, there was a bare possibility that she could also manage her father.

It was a forlorn hope; but, as she saw it, of such vital importance that it could no longer be ignored. It was as if events that would alter the whole history of the cow country lay in her persuasion of these two stubborn men. She rode doggedly now, with set face, trusting Shoshone to find the way.

They rode until after midnight. blind, as far as Jody could see, in the wet fall of the snow. They threw down their bedrolls then in the shelter of stunted snow-laden trees, and Shoshone Wilce measured grain for the horses onto his own poncho.

They pushed on again early the next morning, miserable in the raw dawn, after coffee which Shoshone made in a frying pan. All day long they rode steadily, stopping only once for bread and bacon, and to bolster their horses with more grain.

The snow slacked off, giving place to a bitter wind. Jody's knees stiffened with saddle cramp and she continually had to nurse her fingers deep in her pockets to keep them from going numb. She had a strange sense of having taken an irrevocable step which she might find great reason to regret. The fact that the snow had hidden the trail they had and her, gave her a feeling of being cut off from everything friendly she had ever known. She no longer knew where she was. She set her efes straight ahead, too proud to of 'em, anyway." ask Shoshone how far they had come, or how much farther they must go. Just before dusk they climbed a ong rocky ridge which commanded the length of a shallow valley set brokenly with juniper and ragged edar. Shoshone motioned her to stop her orse. "Wait a minute."

Far down the valley Jody Gordon could see a faint haze that blurred a rabbit-fur grey and brown of the brush and runty timber. "That's smoke," Shoshone Wilce said at last. "This ought to be the and she sensed rather than saw that

"So we really got here at last . . . "Two hours more." "The smoke—that means he's Roper!"

oshone Wilce, suspicious and oubtful by temperament, was less ure. "Don't know if it's him. Someody's there. Or, anyway, some-ody's been there."

A swift panic chilled Jody at the aght of meeting Bill Roper face ace again after so long a time. The tried to imagine what she was poing to say to him, and was com-letely unable. BECAUSE OF the World war in 1917, the government needed quantities of paper-trainloads of it. The president of one of the large paper mills was called on the phone and told the daily quantity that would be needed.

'INCENTIVE' PLAN

REPUBLICAN MEMBERS of the house of representatives have named a committee to ascertain what the American farmers want as a farm program. What that committee should do is to propose a farm policy that would mean a permanent solution to show the farmers how it would work to their advantage and to the advantage of all America.

It lies in the direction of encouraging the farmers "to do," rather than payments for "not doing." The drawling, well-considered speech of "incentive" plan is on the right road and that, coupled with the Andersen bill now before the house, would do the trick and appeal to American farmers.

Of that one million dollars, the government takes in direct taxes $750,000, leaving each one of the 43 $250,000 a year to spend or to invest. Those 43 people have a total gross income of $10,750,000.

"I've missed booking up with Roper twenty times when I thought I had him," Leathers said. "I'd sooner meet up with him on any terms, than carry back the word that I If we should divide it between the rest of us, it would give each person about 12 cents a year.

(Here's How You Can Save Money)

Under the provisions of H. B. No. 76 recently passed by the Legislature, you can make a great saving on delinquent taxes. Any taxpayer paying ALL taxes delinquent by him will pay only six (6%) per cent penalty during the short life of this bill. Under the usual method you will pay eight (8%) per cent penalty and six (6%) per cent interest per annum.

Therefore you will readily see that it will be to your advantage to pay ALL your delinquent taxes.

America has long known Conoco best for making it possible to give any engine OIL-PLATING...lubricant that can't all quickly drain down, but must stay PLATED UP-alert against wear in advance-not waiting till oil-flow starts. OIL-PLATING comes from a rare synthetic...man-made under the Conoco Germ Processed oil patent. And Conoco Nth motor oil still brings OIL-PLATING - but not only that! . . .

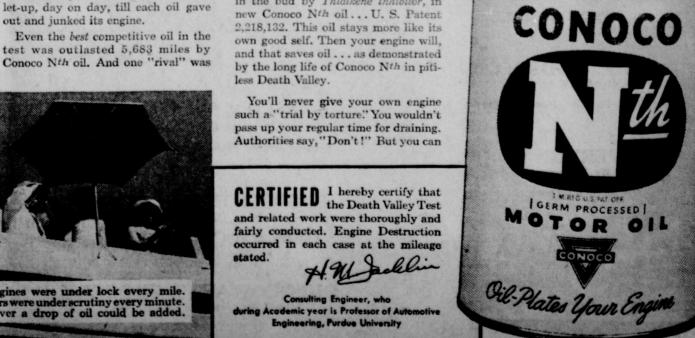

In addition this new oil brings Conoco's latest synthetic-Thialkene inhibitor. It inhibits-controls-the effect of foul "leftovers" produced by every engine's normal firing. Otherwise uncontrolled oil spoilage could easily start. In oils that let this spoilage start, it spreads like a rumor-gets worse, faster and faster. EASY AS PIE

No sooner are you back from your honeymoon than the business of planning menus, marketing and cooking for two begins!

In your capacity as chief cook, you're sure to find the task of preparing three meals a day a real challenge. Of course if you've had little past experience in the culinary field, there'll undoubtedly be at least one batch of "heavy" biscuits, a "fallen" cake or two, and even burnt toast . . . but don't let mistakes bother you too much . . . and he'll soon be "crowing" about your So-o-o Good Meals!

Because I'm convinced that the ability to make really good pie is a highly desirable quality for any young woman to possess, especially a new wife, I'm presenting a few pie recipes for you to try in your leisure moments. If he likes desserts at all (most men adore them), try your luck the cities where he had with lemon-chiffon, chocolate, rhubarb or even Spanish cream pie . . . d had God's blessing (see And, if you're careful to follow the foregoing suggestions, he won't be able to resist that second piece!

> . . . I've captioned the column Easy As Pie . . . which perhaps gives an erroneous impression. Easy to eat, yes, but not always easy to make. Pastry is tricky, but once the technique of making it has been acquired, it isn't easily lost.

In making pastry remember these points: (1) unless you are making hot water pastry, have the ingredients for making pie crust cold; (2) cut shortening into the flour, using a pastry blender or fork; or, if you're an experienced cook, and work quickly, blending in the shortening with fingers is permissible; (3) add water sparingly, using only enough to hold the ingredients together; handle dough as little and as lightly as possible after adding water: (4) roll out the dough on a lightly floured board or on a heavy canvas; (5) cover the rolling pin with a child's white cotton stocking -with the foot cut off-and flour it lightly: and (6) place the dough loosely in the pan to help prevent shrinking.

T'S characteristic of Metro I that "The Yearling" was abandoned, after all the money that had been spent on the two-million-dollar vehicle for Spencer Tracy. Some studios - we won't name them - would have gone ahead and shoved it through, and then tried by ballyhoo to con-

Appearing in an Orson Welles production seems to bring actors more luck than rubbing dozens of rabbits' feet. FAMILY TIME-SAVERS

Family cooperation in small household duties saves not only time but wear and tear of dispositions. Louise Bryant, specialist for the A. and M. College Extension Service, says when families consider home management, most frequently they think of finance-management and forget the time factor.

Here are some suggestions she offers for family cooperation which will save time and result in sharing the small, but sometimes harassing, household tasks:

Let one member of the family be responsible each night for leaving the living room in order. This will save work next morning.

Put magazines and daily papers in a rack after use. Don't let them get scattered.

Make sandwich filling for the next day's school or work lunches at night after supper. Encourage every member of the family to make his own bed and hang up his own sleeping garments each morning. Be sure to clean muddy shoes before entering the house. This will save a lot of floor cleaning. Wash the bath tub and hang up the bath mat after every use. Have a hamper or laundry bag and place soiled clothing in it rather than on a closet door. Keep clothing on coat hangers. This saves much pressing.

Ask every member of the family to fold up his own napkin and place it on the dining table after each meal.

Arrange a storage place for wraps, rain coats, and rubbers and keep them there when not in use.
