Justice Owen J. Roberts is shown (left) talking to newsmen after laying before President Roosevelt the report on the Pearl Harbor attack. Made public in its entirety by the President, the report fixed responsibility on Adm. Husband E. Kimmel and Lieut. Gen. Walter C. Short for "dereliction of duty." Justice Roberts was chairman of the commission of six that visited Hawaii.

OVER THERE: New A.E.F. in Erin

When Uncle Sam landed an infantry force of several thousand men at an undisclosed port in Northern Ireland, it marked the first arrival of American troops in a European port since World War No. 1. Commanded by Maj. Gen. Russell P. Hartle, the Yank army of brawny, clean-limbed farm lads from the Middle West proceeded to camps prepared months before.

Few doubted that this detachment was but the advance guard of many more to come. It was believed, too, that the base they occupied might be the springboard from which an invasion of Hitler's Europe would be made.

This view was voiced in the address of welcome by Sir Archibald Sinclair, British air secretary, who said:

"This is a coming portent for Mr. Hitler, nor will its significance be lost on General Tojo.

"From here, assuredly you will rally forth with us to carry the war to the enemy's territory and free oppressed peoples of Europe. . . . You are the vanguard of American arms."

SUPPLY COMMAND: U. S.-British Pool

The creation of a supreme allied supply command that will speed and co-ordinate the production and flow of vital munitions and supplies to the fighting fronts was seen in the announcement by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill that the United States and Great Britain will pool all munitions, shipping and war materials to "further co-ordination of the United Nations' war effort."

Three joint boards have been set up to merge the combined war resources of the two nations and make them partners in vital fields of supply in addition to joint military and naval commands. These new agencies will include a combined war materials board, munitions assignment board and combined shipping adjustment board.

Board members, it was announced, will confer with representatives of the Soviet Union, China and such others of the 26 United Nations as necessary "to attain common purposes."

SHIPS: Japan Losing Them

The British, Dutch and American bombers and ships of war were not formally coming to grips with large bodies of Japanese naval ships, but they were whittling away at them, and Japan's losses were assuming important proportions.

A count of Japanese ships reported sent to the bottom in the first seven weeks of the war totaled 100, not counting those damaged and probably sunk.

This, it was pointed out, has been an average of better than two a day, despite the fact that when the war started Japan had the jump on the other nations by virtue of the surprise, and that opening successes had weakened the allied hitting power.

A continuation of this rate, observers said, would cost Japan more than 700 vessels of all types, and what no navy in the world, except the United States, could stand replacing such losses.

Latest exploit was an attack by air and sea forces of the United Nations against Jap war ships and troop convoys in the Straits of Macassar. Reported as the greatest demonstration of combined Allied might since the war's beginning, this force was revealed to have sunk or damaged at least 26 Japanese ships in a running battle.

History's Future Course Hinges on U. S. War Aid

Deciding How American Fighting Materials Are to Be Divided on World's Battlefronts Is FDR's Grave Responsibility.

By BAUKHAGE
National Farm and Home Hour Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

Washington has at last waked up to the solemnity of the task America has before it. Donald Nelson has begun his assignment of sweeping clean the Augean stables of the inefficiency and selfishness which block our defense production. But suddenly there is revealed a new responsibility which rests upon the President's shoulders, as great spiritually as Nelson's is materially.

On every front men are dying and armies and fleets are impotent for want of the sinews which America alone can forge. We can forge them. But how are we to decide how our aid shall be divided while, as yet, there is not enough for all?

That is the problem which the President and his advisors face today.

When Winston Churchill came to America at least one-half of his task was to convince President Roosevelt and the latter's military advisors that the main objective is the defeat of Hitler. That we must not permit the Nazi strategy of forcing Japan into the war to accomplish its aim—namely, to divert American supplies from Europe to the Far East and neglect the battle of the Atlantic for the battle of the Pacific.

Litvinoff's Purpose Had Same Objective

Soviet Ambassador Litvinoff came to Washington for a similar purpose. He had two powerful weapons, his own persuasiveness and the knowledge that he had something we want—possible Russian aid against Japan. This aid, if not in the form of actual Soviet military assistance, could mean at least permission to use Russian soil—Kamchatka, the nearest Asian land to the Aleutian islands, and perhaps even the Siberian port of Vladivostok—as bases of operation against Japan.

Although neither Roosevelt nor Churchill stated flatly for publication that one of the "public enemies No. 1" should be defeated first as against the others, certain lesser lights rushed into print with interpretations. Secretary Knox was much more specific. He said that "Hitler was the enemy who must be defeated first."

There was immediate and outspoken protest from the Chinese over making the Far East a secondary theater of war. Earnest and equally emphatic protest leaked through behind closed doors—objections by the Australian and Dutch ministers.

The feeling was so evident that there were questions at a White House press and radio conference. The President answered in general terms, said he couldn't reveal military secrets but that if we looked at a map of the world he thought we would find that American aid (supplies or manpower) were "there." I can't describe his tone or the atmosphere but my own inference was that America was deeper in things, or on the way to more active participation in military activity at many points than most laymen guessed.

That same day, Lieutenant-Governor General Van Mook of the Netherlands Indies had left the White House saying that the President had encouraged him, that he felt more optimistic.

The President agreed that this was the impression he had tried to give and added that America was making real progress in strengthening the defense of the United Nations.

Goebbels Can See Only the Surface

The day that the Japanese propagandists boasted that Singapore's days were numbered and that Maj. Gen. Gordon Bennett, in charge of the Australian forces in Malaya said that the situation was serious, Senator Connally, chairman of the foreign relations committee, called a press conference. Senator Connally had always favored war against Germany. But at this conference he said:

"Great Britain is in the Atlantic and with her navy ought to be able to command that area. We're more vulnerable in the Pacific."

In Berlin, Propaganda Minister Goebbels probably smiled his cynical smile. Truly this looked like the dissension which has been the Nazis' favorite ally.

But Herr Goebbels fortunately can see only the surface. Underneath there is a realistic policy being pursued which is based on certain facts. No one can predict the fortunes of war, but the picture as the persons in responsible position here see it looks something like this:

It is generally believed that the stories of violent dissension between the Nazis and the German High Command are largely party propaganda. In any case there is no evidence of a serious internal breakdown in Germany.

The Nazi invasion of Russia has failed of its two objectives: First, destruction of the Red army as a fighting unit. Second, the capture of large quantities of supplies such as oil and foodstuffs. The German losses have been heavy. Nevertheless, the German military machine is intact, and it still has oil and supplies for at least a year.

On the other hand, although the Russians have made a masterly defense and are conducting a successful counter-offensive, they have regained little more than one-tenth of the ground the Germans captured. There is no evidence that any permanent German winter line has been cracked.

This means that a German offensive is still possible in the spring and since Russia is exhausting her supplies it is doubtful if she will be either willing or able to attack Japan from Siberia.

In the Far East, Singapore has been the hot spot from the time the Japanese established their superior air power in the western Pacific. From then on, Singapore was no longer valuable as a base because its docks were no longer safe from air attack. Military men said from the first, however, that as long as it stood, it had a powerful nuisance value for it immobilized Japanese air, sea and land power and prevented successful invasion of the Netherlands Indies, or at least the island of Java. Even if it fell, they said, that did not mean the defense line of the United Nations based on Java would crumble.

As a result of this overall picture, those in charge of getting aid to the United Nations have worked out this division of supplies:

Continue to send to Europe (Britain and Russia) the amount of supplies which she has been receiving. Send the increased production to the South Pacific.

Reinforcements are now arriving in the Pacific in greater numbers. As the tide of battle changes will rest with the President and his advisors to make the choice of where and in what volume America's contributions to the defense democracy shall go. On the wisdom of this choice will depend the future course of history.

Radio Censorship And News Casting

Sometimes the radio commentator grows very wrath at those who steer the censorship of state. Recently into every broadcasting station which has a news service came a dispatch telling of the crippling of an American ship by a submarine off the coast of North Carolina. It was official. The censor had passed it for publication but not for radio.

Immediately, as president of the last Radio Correspondents' association, I was stormed by colleagues demanding that I protest at such dissemination. But the decree was logical. If we had broadcast that the crippled ship was putting into port, the submarine could have picked up the message and pursued and perhaps caught its limping prey.

Next morning, when the paper came out with the story the battleship was safe in harbor. It is likely that the submarine commander gets the morning papers.

What irked me as a commentator far more than this incident was the inability to tell you Washington's little secret of how spring came the capital in January. I could say anything about it at the time because that might have helped the enemy, too. Now that it is told, it doesn't seem so interesting. In fact it seems improbable.

BRIEFS . . . by Baukhage

More than 8,000,000 acres of land scattered from Alaska to Florida have been made available by the United States department of the interior for national defense activities in the United States.

It has been said that America has become a tired, footless nation. If so, it won't last. With autos rationed few will be tired and then we'll have to use our feet.

While the house and senate ponder the painful questions of the farm and other problems of the Washington press and radio corps had some problems of their own. Byron Price had been a censor and had issued his own opinions. A reporter observed: "The rest of the country may not know it but at least the press has Price control!"

SHE LOVED A SPY

by SYLVIA TAYLOR

THE STORY SO FAR: Joan Leland, secretary to Arthur Mulford, San Francisco importer, is amazed and angry, when he discharges her and refuses any explanation. Her sister Sybil, with whom she shares an apartment, loses her beauty salon position the same day. Joan accepts a position in a night club, as secretary to handsome Karl Miller, who pays her a high salary in advance and gives the unusual hours as the reason. He obtains a job for Sybil and makes love to Joan, who is fascinated. Paul Sherman, his manager, interrupts them, returns later to invite Joan to dinner with him. Joan meets Karl's partner, Eric Strom. Both Paul and Eric seek to make dates with Joan. On one Sunday, when Karl, Eric and Joan were at dinner, Karl is called to the telephone. He then asks Joan to come to the office for some dictation. She writes one short letter and Karl suggests she go home in a taxi. While she is waiting, Paul shows up in his car. She tells him she had forgotten her purse.

CHAPTER V

"I'll get it for you," Paul offered. "And let Karl know you're taking me home? Oh no! I'll go myself." Joan wondered why everything seemed to interfere with her romance with Karl. Both Paul and Eric seemed bent on making trouble. But she could not be rude to Paul. After all, Karl seemed to like him.

The door of the club was unlocked as she slipped in and hurried down the corridor. Afterwards she wondered what instinct prompted her to pause for a moment as she stood with her hand on the doorknob of Karl Miller's office. The hall was dark, save for the crack of light beneath the door. An open window beside her led to a fire escape, where the rain fell noisily on the metal balcony. Perhaps her hesitation was due to the fear that Karl would be angry with her. Perhaps the uneasy feeling that he might discover Paul was taking her home. But Joan paused and her heart was beating heavily.

It seemed a long time but in reality it was only a few seconds that she stood there listening to Eric Strom's voice.

"Ja, Karl! Bitte!" Karl's reply was harsh, "Nein, Nein! Es ist verboten."

Joan did not understand but instinctively her hand drove back from the door. This was a private conversation. Karl would not want her to hear.

But her nervous gesture had made a small sound, which Karl Miller's ear caught immediately.

He threw open the door with a violent gesture. "Joan! What are you doing?"

"I forgot my purse," she faltered, feeling Eric Strom's sardonic eyes upon her.

Karl's relieved smile reassured her. "Of course! Here it is."

Joan made a hasty exit, closing the door quickly behind her, but as she walked down the dark hall she realized that she was shivering.

"What's the matter?" Paul demanded as Joan got in the car. "You're as white as a ghost."

"Nothing!" But the girl's hands were clasped nervously. "Let's go home. Please!"

"Please!" Joan cried, exasperated. "Is there any good reason why I shouldn't work for Karl?"

"And she doesn't approve of your working for Karl, either?" "Please!" Joan cried, exasperated. "Is there any good reason why I shouldn't work for Karl? Do you know something against him?"

Paul stared into the fire but he was silent. "Then you don't know anything?" Joan continued.

Paul tossed his cigarette into the flames. "Okay, Joan. You win. I can't say any more. But remember this. Watch your step! Will you?"

"Thanks for the advice." "It's for your own good," Paul Sherman said, picking up his hat. "How about that date tomorrow night?"

Joan smiled faintly. "Don't you ever give up? I told you—I couldn't go."

They stood at the door measuring each other with their eyes—Paul's, a mask that told her nothing, Joan's challenging him, defying him to speak one word against Karl Miller.

"I won't bother you any more then," Paul said quietly. "Good night."

In the bedroom, Sybil was propped up in her bed, wearing a blue satin bed jacket, reading a magazine. "Was that Karl?"

"No, Paul Sherman, giving me some good advice about working at the club. He doesn't think I'm the type, whatever that means."

She slipped into her warm bathrobe and sat down on the edge of her sister's bed. "I met Karl's partner, Eric Strom, tonight. He tried to make a date with me, too. It's a shame the way everyone tries to double-cross Karl."

"How in the world did you happen to come home with Paul?" Joan explained, but did not mention what she had overheard when she went back to get her purse. Before she could finish the telephone rang.

Karl Miller's voice came forcefully over the wire. "Joan? You are home safely?"

"Yes. I've been home for some time." She smiled, picturing Karl on the other end of the line. How sweet that he could be so concerned!

"I just wanted to be sure that you were all right. Good night, darling."

It was the first time that he had called her "darling." Her pulse leaped at the unfamiliar endearment.

"We will not work tomorrow," Karl informed her. "We shall have dinner together alone."

"Isn't anyone on board?" she asked, drawing closer to Karl. "There are a couple of sailors below. I saw them as we came up. We'll wait here a few minutes. Do you mind?"

"No. It's fun!" Karl walked to the table, poured some whiskey out of an old-fashioned crystal decanter, and quickly downed it.

"This ship has been to South America, all through the West Indies, even to Japan."

"How I'd love to go to some of those places! I'm so tired of living such an ordinary life. Just eating and sleeping and working day after day."

She moved her hands with an impatient gesture. Her figure was straight and slender in its black wool dress, her face pale ivory with its eager mouth and flashing emerald eyes.

Karl Miller caught his breath as he looked at her. "I'd like to take you to South America, darling! Maybe I can some day. Would you like to have me show you the world?"

"More than anything!" she cried recklessly. "Oh, Karl..."

He pressed her hand to his lips. "You're beautiful," he murmured. "You're beautiful and exciting, and I love you, Hebechen! Do you know what Hebechen means? It is sweetheart! It is what you are to me!"

His arms were around her, Liebchen! This foreign word held a curious fascination for her. It was like Karl. Strong, strange and sweet.

"You believe me, Joan? You believe me?" The drone of foghorns seemed a mournful undercurrent to her rapidly beating heart. "Yes, Karl, I believe you."

As Karl's arms closed about her Joan heard a faint sound outside the cabin door.

Startled, she cried, "What was that? Karl, did you hear it?"

"Probably one of the sailors." But his hand reached to the inside pocket of his coat and he walked swiftly to the door and flung it open.

There was no one. The stairway leading down to the deck was empty. Karl looked out into the dark night.

"You must have imagined it! No one is there."

"I heard something. I know I did. Oh Karl, let's get out of here. You can see your friend some other time, can't you?"

His voice was controlled. "Just as you wish." But as she preceded him down the steps Joan saw a figure disappear into the shadows of the deck and even in the fog she could see that it was Paul Sherman!

Becoming an American

Within the last six years more than one million persons cut their last ties with the "old country" and became citizens of the United States. And now, with America at war, there is a rush to be American. Nor is there anything difficult about attaining citizenship in the U. S. The following series of photos shows you some of the steps taken by the foreign-born in becoming American.

Awaiting their turn to file first papers in one of the ante rooms of the naturalization bureau. Many of these applicants have known oppression and are eager to cut ties with the past.

Here are clerks checking applications for citizenship against an index containing confidential information.

RSVP—This huge pile of applications is only a small part of the year's total. The girl is sorting them for further action.

A courtroom scene during the naturalization of a group of applicants. The judge (back to camera) is administering the oath of allegiance to the United States of America.

Last step. Accompanied by two witnesses, an applicant for naturalization is shown taking the oath at time of filing petition for citizenship. This is the application for the final papers.

A visible tower of babel is this room of a naturalization bureau, where skilled linguists question the applicants.

COMES DAYLIGHT SAVING
time February 9 I'm glad it wasn't this week. Yesterday morning I woke as usual at 7 o'clock. I started to get up and the back of my neck itched a bit so I started to scratch it against the edge of the pillow. . . well I guess I scratched till 8:30 and got to work at nine . . . that will be ten next week. And I'll probably work till two tonight to make up for it.

I'LL BE GLAD OF that extra hour in the evening though for now I have a flock of 13 chickens. No. 11 chickens. Two got away today. It will give me time to get home and gather the eggs and so forth. "Eggs for Victory"—that's me. I like 'em for breakfast too.

ANYWAY, IF YOU folks still want to trade me a hen for a year, I'll do it. But please send in a hen that has the habit. So far the ones I have think that eggs are things to buy. I want some hens that make a deposit now and then. I heard one cackle today at noon though and that is supposed to be a good sign.

THE PRESIDENTS celebration made history. The county netted more than ever before for the crippled kids. More than in any two years before. Went over the top BIG. $464. isn't hay.

OF THAT $464. Quitaque community sent in $21.48. That is from the community that raised the Bale-To-The-Acre cotton. The prosperous end of the county. Why? I don't know but I'll bet Bill Middleton can tell you. He had some rough (plenty rough) ideas about it on the last Red Cross drive.

BARB'S MOTHER HAD one of those exciting experiences that we read of once in a while, as happening "right in the back yard." Mr. and Mrs. Whitney were standing out in the back yard discussing what they were going to do about a clothes line that was getting awful weak. Mrs. Whitney walked over to see how solid the post was, and who-o-ie—down she went out of sight. Investigation showed that it was an old dug well. The Whitneys have lived right there for more than forty years and they were unable to find any old timer who remembered of a well having been located there. Mrs. Whitney wasn't hurt much—a leg jammed and bruised up some.

HOMER SANDERS TOLD one at club today—about an old boy that couldn't talk without swearing. He met a young preacher and asked, "Where in hell have I seen you?" and the answer, "I don't just know. What part of hell are you from?"

COMES A CARD from Arnold Cooper, "From now on address my paper to Corp. Arnold Cooper." Nuff sed.

DON'T BE TOO disappointed about the report that the Briscoe County News gives you on what's going on among our soldiers. There are things that we are asked to withhold. For instance there were several boys that left this week but for the time being I cannot say just who they were, where they were going, nor how many. In case a Silvertown boy should get killed in action, my story on it can contain just facts about his local life. No mention is to be made of where, nor how, nor with what outfit. The Department hasn't ordered this sort of information withheld. It has just suggested that it would be for the best. I am proud to belong to a country where we as newspaper men are trusted where suggestions are made, instead of orders given.

Mrs. Douglas and Mrs. Lemons gave reports on the library. Mrs. Jim Wise is now the librarian, at the county library. The library will sponsor a book shower in the near future, for the purpose of getting books to send to the boys in the service, the public will be invited, and bring a book. There will be a short program under the direction of Miss Handcock and her fourth year English Class. A vote of thanks was given to the Library Committee, Mrs. Lemons and Mrs. Wimberly and their co-workers.

Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Whiteside, and Mrs. Stanforth were appointed on the year book committee for next year.

The program was one of the most interesting of the year. Mrs. Wright was leader. Mrs. Lemons reviewed "The Family Portrait" by Cowan and Coffee. This is a play which has had successful showing in New York for several months. This review was one of the highlights of the years programs. Mrs. Lemons masterly interpretation of the book could not have been excelled by a professional reviewer. She gave clearly and concisely the high points of the book.

"The Family Portrait" deals with the life of Christ, His family and the disciples.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Bundy.

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

Invitation to Dinner—Tasty Onion Soup (See Recipes Below)

Let's Serve Soup

Something hot, something to warm up the system and something to stir the appetite into action so it can enjoy the meal itself—this is soup. Good companion to a dinner on cool nights or main dish for a luncheon, this is the reputation soup has acquired. So give a lift to your meals and get the appetites off to a brisk start. These savory soup recipes will help you:

- *Onion Soup. (Serves 4 to 6) 2 slices bacon, cubed 4 sweet Spanish onions 2 tablespoons flour 1 quart milk Salt and pepper Stale bread Grated American cheese

Fry cubed bacon slowly over low heat, stirring constantly until fat is extracted. Lift out crisp bacon bits and set aside. Place thinly sliced onions in pan with some of bacon fat and saute until clear and tender. Sprinkle flour over onions, blend, add milk and crisp bacon. Stir constantly over direct heat or cook in double boiler until soup thickens slightly. Season with salt and pepper. Serve in soup plates with croutons made by toasting stale bread in oven. Sprinkle grated cheese over bread just before serving.

Flavor's the important thing in soup, and you'll know just to what extent when you try:

- Split Pea Soup. (Serves 6 to 8) 1 cup dried split peas 2 quarts cold water Ham bone with a little meat on it 1/2 small onion Salt and pepper Soak peas overnight, drain and cover with the cold water. Heat to boiling point, add onion and ham bone. Simmer 2 to 3 hours or until tender. Remove ham bone and season. Serve with crisp toast.

If you're having a rather heavy meal and are considering omitting the soup, don't forego the pleasure of having a light, clear soup because it's just the thing for heartier meals. Here's a soup that can be made in advance and heated just before serving. Its excellent flavor is inspired by a careful combination of seasonings.

- Clear Tomato Soup. (Serves 6 to 8) 1 quart brown soup stock 1 can tomatoes 1/2 teaspoon peppercorns 1 small bayleaf 3 cloves 3 sprigs thyme 4 tablespoons butter 2 sprigs parsley 1/2 cup each onion, carrot, celery 1/2 cup raw ham, diced Salt and pepper Cook onion, carrot, celery and ham in butter 5 minutes. Add tomatoes, peppercorns, bayleaf, cloves, thyme and parsley. Cover and cook slowly 1 hour. Strain carefully, add hot stock and season with

- Chicken Bouillon. (Serves 8) 3 to 4 pound stewing chicken 2 chicken feet 3 to 4 quarts boiling water 3 stalks celery or 1/4 cup diced celery root 1 onion, sliced Salt and pepper Nutmeg Clean chicken and cut into small pieces. Scald chicken feet. Skin and remove nails. Pour boiling water over chicken, feet, celery and onion. Cover and simmer about 3 1/2 hours. Remove chicken, strain stock and season. The chicken may be used creamed, in casseroles or wherever cut, cooked chicken is called for.

Lentil soup has long been among the high-ranking favorites. Because it has substance such as the lentils themselves, meat or even sausage, it's excellent served as a main dish, especially for Sunday night suppers:

- Lentil Soup. (Serves 6 to 8) 2 cups lentils 3 quarts cold water 2 pounds brisket of beef or ham bone 1 stalk celery, diced 2 onions, cubed 2 tablespoons fat 2 tablespoons flour Salt and pepper Pick over lentils, wash, and soak overnight in cold water. Drain, cover with cold water, and cook with the meat for 1 1/2 hours. Add celery and onion and cook for 2 hours. Blend melted fat and flour, season, then add 1 1/2 cups stock and cook until thick. Add rest of stock and serve with a slice of rye bread, sprinkled with cheese and toasted until the cheese is melted. Lentil soup is good also with smoked sausage or frankfurters in place of the meat listed above.

Another good soup that makes a meal in itself is this: Deep sea oysters are especially flavorful for this:

- Oyster Bisque. (Serves 6) 1 pint oysters 1 1/2 cups water Salt and pepper 2 cups milk 1/2 cup dry bread crumbs 1 tablespoon butter 1 tablespoon flour 1 onion, chopped fine 1 stalk celery, chopped fine 1 sprig parsley, chopped fine Cook oysters in their own water and liquor until they curl. Add onion, celery, parsley and simmer gently for 20 minutes. Scald milk, add bread crumbs and cook for 15 minutes in double boiler. Put mixture through a sieve. Melt butter, blend in flour and seasonings. Add milk and crumb mixture. Rub oysters through a sieve and add to milk mixture. Serve with soda crackers.

Lynn Says:

Good soups deserve attractive accompaniments. Here are some popular ideas:

- Thin slices of lemon, chopped parsley, thin slices of avocado, slightly salted whipped cream, toasted almonds.
- In the bread line you can really do a lot of tricks, such as cutting the bread into fancy shapes with a cookie cutter, then toasting and sprinkling on soup before serving. Rings (made with doughnut cutter), animal shapes, hearts, stars and diamonds are popular. Cheese sticks are good too and are made by sprinkling grated cheese on bread strips, broiled and served hot.
- Chopped chives or chopped parsley either by themselves or sprinkled over the salted whipped cream add color to soup platters.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for February 8

A BUSY SABBATH IN CAPERNAUM

LESSON TEXT—Mark 1:21-34. GOLDEN TEXT—I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day.—Revelation 1:10.

The Sabbath of the Jew and the Lord's Day (Sunday) of the Christian were both intended to be days of rest. The ordinary activities of life were to cease and one was to be free to worship and to rest. The manner in which a man uses this God-given day of rest is a remarkably accurate indicator of his spiritual condition.

We have before us the account of a very busy Sabbath day which our Lord spent in Capernaum, the city in which most of His mighty works were done, but which ignored Him and His teaching to its own destruction (see Matt. 11:23, 24). As we look at our Lord's activity on that day we learn what we may do with our Sundays to make them bear fruit for eternity. We find Him in three places.

I. In the Church (vv. 21-28).

The Sabbath day found our Lord with His people in the synagogue, their place of worship. The service of worship was probably formal and lacking in spiritual vitality, but nonetheless He was there. What have we to say if we miss the opportunity for fellowship and service which church attendance brings us? Observe that because He was there He (as a distinguished religious teacher) was called upon to teach the people. He taught them in the serene consciousness of His divine authority, and the people were delighted and astonished at His message. We may not serve exactly as He did, but if we present ourselves in God's house on His day we will find the way opening for us to share in the worship.

Jesus not only spoke, but He performed a miracle. Certain it is that we could not do what He did, but we can be ready to give ourselves in service as well as in worship, or in speaking. There is much work to be done in the church, and God's people should be ready and willing to do it.

II. In the Home (vv. 29-31).

From the synagogue Christ went into the home. How appropriate! We too should go from the church to the home, always bringing with us the strength and blessing of the worship service.

The daughter of a great preacher and Bible teacher said the thing she most loved in her father was that he did not give out the "cream" of his Christianity in his meetings and bring home the "skim milk." Too often we fail to bring into the home the power and beauty of the service in the church. We who have been very sweet and spiritual in the church should not come home to be sour and crabbed.

Jesus brought a blessing into Peter's home, miraculously healing his mother-in-law of a great fever, setting her free to serve. Here again we cannot do what He did, but we can, in His name, bring power and blessing into our homes.

From the home the ministry of Jesus reached out to the entire city. As the strict laws forbidding travel on the Jewish Sabbath were set aside by the coming of sundown, not only the city but the entire countryside brought their sick and needy to Him.

The scene staggers the imagination as one attempts to conceive of this coming together of troubled humanity to the Master's touch. Mark tells us that He healed many; Matthew, that He healed all; and Luke, the physician, is emphatic in saying that He healed every one of them.

We may learn from this incident that our Christian faith, which has been developed and strengthened by our time of worship and service in the church, should not only reflect itself in the home, but should reach out into the life of the community in which we live. The primary interest of the Christian in his city or the place of his residence should be spiritual, a desire to bring to bear upon the people of the community the power of the gospel.

There is, however, a secondary responsibility which is of much importance and that is the extending of Christian influence into every phase of school, social, political, and business life. It is said that when D. L. Moody came into a barber shop the entire course of the conversation changed. The Christian should have an influence on problems of social welfare, the work of the public schools, the proper conduct of business in the community, and surely upon its political life. It is said that if every Christian in America would vote according to his professed convictions we could put the saloons out of business in a single election. Why not do it?

At a meeting of the British Iron and Steel Institute, Charles M. Schwab was presented with the Bessemer medal. It was a solemn affair, marked by much formality. Before introducing each speaker, the toastmaster intoned: "Mr. President, your Excellencies, my noble Lords and gentlemen—"

The guest of honor was accustomed to American business methods, but not to such ceremony. When called upon to speak, Mr. Schwab repeated: "Mr. President, your Excellencies, my noble Lords and gentlemen—" Then mopping his brow, he exclaimed: "Whew, I'm glad that's over. ## ORDER OF ROAD BOND ELECTION

THE STATE OF TEXAS, COUNTY OF BRISCOE.
ON THIS the 12th day of January, A. D. 1942, the Commissioners' Court of Briscoe County, Texas, convened in regular session, at the regular meeting place thereof in the Courthouse at Silverton, Texas, the following members of said Court, to-wit: W. COFFEE, JR., COUNTY JUDGE, presiding; and R. M. Hill, COMMISSIONER, Precinct No. 1;

R. B. PERSONS, COMMISSIONER, Precinct No. 2
W. G. WIMBERLY, COMMISSIONER, Precinct No. 3
J. R. FOUST, COMMISSIONER, Precinct No. 4;
being present and participating, came on to be considered the matter of ordering that a road bond election be held in Briscoe County, Texas, on the 21st day of February, A. D. 1942. Thereupon, Commissioner R. M. Hill submitted the following order and moved its adoption, to-wit:
WHEREAS, on the 26th day of November, A. D. 1940, the Commissioners' Court of Briscoe County, Texas, convened in special session, at the regular meeting place thereof in the Courthouse in Silverton, Texas, duly passed an order for an election to be held in Briscoe County, Texas, to determine whether or not bonds of said County should be issued in the total principal sum of $180,000.00, for the construction, maintenance and operation of macadamized, graveled and paved roads and turnpikes, or in aid thereof, in said County, and whether or not ad valorem taxes should be levied upon all taxable property in said County for the purpose of paying the principal of and interest on said bonds at maturity; and,

WHEREAS, an election upon the aforesaid proposition, or in compliance with the aforesaid Commissioners' Court Order, was duly and legally held on the 28th day of December, A. D. 1940, after due notice of said election had been given for the length of time and in the manner required by law; and

WHEREAS, on the 31 day of December A. D. 1940, the commissioners court of Briscoe County, Texas, convened in special session, at the regular meeting place thereof in the courthouse of Silverton, Texas all members of the court being present and participating, there came on to be considered the returns of an election held on the 28th, day of December 1940, to determine whether the commissioners court of Briscoe County, Texas, shall be authorized to issue bonds of said county, in the sum of $180,000.00 bearing interest at a rate not to exceed 3 percent per annum, maturing at such times as may be fixed by the commissioners court, not to exceed thirty (30) years from date thereof, for the purpose of constructing, maintaining and operating macadamized, graveled or paved roads and turnpikes, or in aid thereof, in said Briscoe County, Texas, and whether or not an ad valorem tax shall be levied, annually, upon the property of said county subject to taxation, for the purpose of paying the annual interest on said bonds and to provide a sinking fund for the redemption of said bonds at maturity. And it appearing to the court that said election was in all respects legally held, and returns thereof duly and legally made, and that there were cast at said election 431 votes of which number 339 votes were cast for the issuance of bonds and the levy of ad valorem taxes in payment thereof and 92 votes were cast against the issue of bonds and the levy of ad valorem taxes in payment thereof.

It was therefore, ordered and declared by the commissioners court of Briscoe County, Texas, that the proposition to issue said bonds and levy said ad valorem tax sustained by a two-thirds majority of the Legally qualified voters of Briscoe County, Texas, who were resident property taxpayers of said county and who had duly rendered said property for taxation, voting at said Election, and that the commissioners court of said county was authorized to issue said bonds and to levy and have assessed and collected said ad valorem tax for the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds.

And it further appearing to the court that the above bonds in the amount of $180,000.00 dollars which were voted as aforesaid on the 28th, day of December A. D. 1940, were never issued by the commissioners court of Briscoe county, nor were said bonds ever sold or contracted to be sold, by said court, nor any part of them, and it further appearing to the court that it would be to the best interest of the people of Briscoe county, Texas, that said bonds never be sold and that it would be the best interest of the county to call an election to be held in Briscoe County Texas, to determine whether or not such road bonds shall be revoked and cancelled and held for naught.

It is therefore, considered and ordered by the said court that an election be held in said Briscoe county, Texas, on the 21st day of February 1942, which is not less than thirty '30' days, from the date of this order to determine whether or not the bonds of said Briscoe county, Texas, which have heretofore been voted in the amount of $180,000.00 dollars, as aforesaid, in conformity with the constitution and Laws of the State of Texas, for the purpose of the construction, maintenance and operation of macadamized, graveled or paved roads and turnpikes, or in aid thereof, shall be revoked, cancelled and held for naught.

The said election shall be held under the provisions of article 784a of chapter 3, title 22 of the revised civil statutes of Texas, 1925 edition and as amended.
