Compliance

A compliance school will be held on Friday, February 20, beginning at 9:30 a. m. for the purpose of instruction for the 1942 Wheat Compliance. Any person interested in taking this instruction should be present at that time. Anyone wishing further information may contact the AAA Office.

Farm Machinery

Every piece of old farm machinery repaired and used this year will mean more guns in the hands of the armed forces.

If we deliver our Food-Freedom pledges by using the equipment we have on hand instead of buying new machinery, we'll be releasing just that much material for guns, tanks, planes, and ships with which to lick the Japs.

Realizing the tremendous responsibility of food in total war, OPM allocated as much material as possible for repair parts and new machinery several months ago.

We might be able to buy extra parts and new machinery later and again we might not. Anyway you look at it, this year is the wrong time to take chances.

Every farmer who repairs an old machine, instead of buying a new one as he might in normal times, is giving two-fold aid to fighting forces by releasing essential materials for war use, and insuring production of food for the war effort.

We can't sit around two-thirds of the winter and expect to get all farm machinery in top-notch shape overnight. All equipment should be checked and repair parts ordered immediately.

Oil Well Crew Drilling At 7,400

Word from the grapevine telegraph, operated by Grady Wimberly southwest of town, says that Montague No. One, is still winding away, with the bit a little over 7,400 feet the first of the week. No authentic report is at hand as to the findings to date, or the type of formation in which they are drilling.

MRS. BUNDY IS HOSTESS TO STUDY CLUB

The Club met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Bundy. The business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. Coffey, alternate to the District convention which convenes in Lubbock, March 26th. Mrs. Wimberly made an interesting report on the day.

1925 Study Club Has Book Tea

The 1925 Study Club sponsored a Victory Book tea Friday afternoon February 13th, at the Presbyterian Church. Miss Betty Hancock presented members of the fourth year English Class in a very interesting program. Summaries of a number of current books were given dealing with poetry drama, fiction, and literature in World War II.

Those who attended were fortunate to hear such timely and a worthwhile program, it was far too good to have been heard by such a few.

The Victory Book Campaign is a joint undertaking by the American Library Association, The United Service Organization and The American Red Cross to provide books for the Army and Navy. The largest gift of books last Friday was made by Mr. and Mrs. Warner Grabbe. They turned in 42 good books. Every effort is being put forth to give people opportunity to contribute books.

The Junior Red Cross under the direction of Mrs. Paul Rogers will call at your home in Silverton for any books you wish to give, and if those living in the country have books to contribute, will leave them at the Library it will be greatly appreciated.

All books contributed in Briscoe County will go to Texas Army Camps.

POCKETBOOK OF KNOWLEDGE

FIRE PREVENTION & DEFENSE

Reports of fires during January to Texas Fire Insurance Department, described as revealing a serious increase in the number of fires, prompted Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner to issue an appeal for greater individual effort in fire prevention.

"Fires constitute one of our most serious threats to national defense and our nation's all-out war production," he asserted. "As an individual contribution to our own welfare, as well as the welfare of our country, it behooves each of us to assume more personal responsibility in fire prevention now."

"At a time when all material resources are so vital to our nation's industrial production, we can not afford to allow any of it to be destroyed by fire because of carelessness. Any destruction of our resources, whether it be food, clothing, raw or manufactured materials, homes or other property, places an additional handicap on wartime effort. We must curb the economic toll exacted by fire."

Hall, who is also Fire Defense Coordinator of the National Defense Committee of Texas, added, "there is no better fire defense at home than the constant practice of fire prevention."

Citing indiscriminate storage of waste paper as creating an extreme fire menace to almost every home and place of business in Texas, the Commissioner recommended immediate removal of accumulated paper to places where the hazard will be lessened.

It is suggested that individuals or local groups sponsoring the collection of waste paper remove it to buildings isolated from the business section and residential areas of the city to avoid fire spreading to adjacent property should it break out in the stored paper.

"Above all," Hall cautioned, "avoid accumulation of waste paper in the house. The application of a few simple rules of fire prevention will add to our safety and of our property at a time when it is most needed."

S. T. Wynn, in commenting on the Briscoe County News said, "I noticed an ad about some barley and went to see about it. Bought the barley and all in all made about $35 on it." Try the want ads yourself next week.

Paul Hamilton of near Quitaque purchased a new Farmall-H and equipment this week from Tull Implement Company here.

Rural Mail Carrier Stresses Service

Your carrier has with him defense stamps and albums, and will be glad to sell you defense stamps at any time.

Let us buy all the defense stamps and bonds we can, for that is only lending our money to the greatest nation and cause in this world, and save and use every useful thing we can to win this war for liberty, life and the pursuit of happiness which we cherish so much. They are a good investment and will be paid back with good interest if we win, and who for a minute thinks we won't win this struggle. But think for a moment what it means if we should be defeated. The Jap General's insolence to the English General at Singapore gives us an insight as to what to expect in defeat, when he scornfully demanded a yes or no answer to UNCONDITIONAL surrender, and unconditional means that the enemy imposes the terms of surrender. Can you imagine us giving Alaska and the West Coast States, all our ships of every kind, all our gold, and then on top of that pay huge monthly indemnities, and in the future years pay an enormous price for rubber, and other useful things. That may be just an inkling of defeat. NO IT SHALL NEVER BE!

Remember one ten cent defense stamp will send a bullet speeding to SLAP A JAP!

Also, since a rural route carrier is a traveling postoffice, and can give you any service from a postal card to a hundred dollar money order, do your postal transactions with him for there is no need primarily of coming to town for defense stamps and the transaction of postal business. The post office force now has a large amount of extra work to do, and you can save SOME RUBBER by using your rural carrier for these things.

And also that the carrier may save some precious rubber some of you PLEASE better group your boxes together and save space and time on the road, and better tighten some of them up on the posts. THANK YOU!

HOW MANY DEFENSE STAMPS PLEASE!
Yours for CHINS OUT and an all out victory for the things for which we are fighting and love so well!

Your Carrier

Chester Burnett Is Newest Candidate

AUXILIARY, WITH MRS. KEMP THOMPSON, PLANS GIFTS

Mrs. Kemp Thompson, one of the pleasing younger hostesses, received members of the Presbyterian Auxiliary, Monday afternoon, in the home of her sister, Mrs. D. T. Northcutt where everyone likes to visit. Fourteen women were present.

Mrs. Sid Richards opened the meeting with usual business routine. Mrs. Northcutt gave the Secretary-treasurer's reports. The final report on cook-books was made by Mrs. Lemons. The Auxiliary voted to send remembrances to the boys of their church, who are in camp, and to buy a Bible for the boys in Iceland, as Garner Guest writes the one Bible in their quarters is wearing out. There were individual promises of other Bibles and wholesome literature for the boys in that lonely outpost. The box may be ready next week.

Mrs. Dean Allard conducted the devotional part and led the last lesson on the year's study of "Women of the Bible." Roll call was answered with a favorite Biblical woman, telling the reason for the choice.

"Final Observations" by Mrs. Fred Lemons, "History of Women" by Mrs. O. T. Bundy, "Highlights from Women and Missions" by Mrs. D. T. Northcutt, made up one of the best and most interesting programs of this year.

Mrs. Thompson's delicious refreshments with favors suggestive of George Washington and of the warm patriotism of today graced the social hour, in the sunny atmosphere of the Northcutt home.

Mrs. J. S. Watson is to have the next meeting, with Mrs. Lowry leading.

Books Wanted For Men In Service

Soldiers and marines in Iceland have sent a request for reading material, Bibles and books of biblical comment are especially wanted by the boys stationed there. However, no magazines containing current comments on the war will be acceptable.

If you can spare a book or two you will be helping the boys. Please leave them at the News Office. They will be turned over to Mrs. H. S. Sanders, who will see that they are sent to the proper place.

INFORMATION ABOUT WASTEPAPER

To those who do not know what to do with wastepaper.

1. Tie all news paper in a bundle as tight as possible.
2. Tie all magazines in a bundle.
3. Put all loose paper in a large paper sack or a card board box and tie.
4. Bring it to town and put it on the Southwest corner of Court House Square for the Boy Scouts to pick up and put it in the proper place.
5. Be sure this paper is tied tight enough so that it can be handled without coming apart.

Folks, please look at this collection of wastepaper as your job as well as the scouts for these scouts are only helping us. Instead we all look at this as a scout movement when it is a national event to help win this war.

All that any of us can do won't be as much as the one's that are already doing the fighting, so lets all get together and do our part.

Our Boy Scouts are also going to help in the collection of OLD RAZOR BLADES. There will be an old oil barrel to put them in. It will also be on the Southwest corner of the Courthouse Square at the same place where you will leave the wastepaper.

So please help. It will be so much easier to take care of this paper and razor blades this way than it has been the way it has been handled.

Lets Do All We Can In The Defense Of America.

This week, the Briscoe County News is authorized to announce that Chester Burnett is a candidate for the office of Commissioner of Precinct No. 4. Mr. Burnett lives across the Tule and has been a landowner and resident over there for many years. He has never before been a candidate for office. In making his announcement Mr. Burnett says:

To the voters in Precinct 4: This is my first stab at making a political announcement. I simply want to announce that after considerable thought, I have decided to make the race for Commissioner. I am not going to outline here, a program of what I will do if elected.

I was born in Texas 42 years ago. This is my home and I am proud of it. I can only say, that if elected, I shall work for what I believe to be the best interest of my county and my precinct. You folks practically all know me and I will appreciate it very much if you will give this announcement your thoughtful consideration.

I will try to see each of you personally in the near future.

Yours sincerely,
Chester Burnett

Junior - Senior Banquet A Success

The annual Junior-Senior Banquet was well attended and the classes were happy to have visitors from Canyon and Plainview.

The banquet hall was transformed into a beautiful garden. The green grass, rose-covered trellis and the many colored blossoms on the garden fence made those attending unaware of the extreme cold and snow flurries without.

Special mention should be made of the hand made place cards and the unique table decorations. The mothers of the Junior Class were responsible for the appetizing three course dinner.

Toastmaster, Freddie Garrison, presided and the program consisted of:

- Welcome - Jean Northcutt
- Response - Louie Bonds
- Class Will - Charline Garrison
- Class Prophecy - Freda Wimberly
- Song, "Star Dust" - Jean Northcutt & Dorothy McMurtry

The success of the banquet was due to the cooperative effort on the part of all concerned. A special expression of appreciation is given to the sponsors of the Junior Class, Miss Rampy and Mrs. Hays.

STUDENTS RECITAL, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 26

Piano and fical students of Mrs. R. Wilkerson will give an evening of music in the High school auditorium Thursday, February 26th, 1942, 8 o'clock, war saving time. Interested friends and music lovers are cordially invited to attend.

M. K. SUMMERS SISTER CLAIMED BY DEATH

Mrs. Ruth Carr, of Donna, Texas passed away Wednesday morning after being in poor health for some time. She was the only sister of M. K. Summers of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Summers accompanied a brother Clarence Summers, of Folsom, New Mexico to the funeral services which are being held today. (Thursday).

Last week Earl Cantwell brought in a pair of good glasses that Edwin Crass had found and handed to him. Friday, Fulton Gregg saw the ad and had glasses back for the price of the ad—20c.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen McWilliams of Amarillo and Mrs. Curtis Bingham of Canyon spent last week end here with relatives.

Mrs. Marvin Tull spent last week with her parents in Plainview.

How often has it been said "A chain is no stronger than its weakest link." Similarly, a country cannot grow stronger than its weakest subjects. . . thank God that here in America we are united as never before to stand as one. . . to make every link of our National life chain stronger than ever before.

We all know that we will be called upon for extreme sacrifices. . . we stand ready to accept whatever burden the fruits of victory will surely bring. . . are willing to pay the price of preserving for us and our posterity the American Way of Life now being attacked. May the New Year bring a quick decisive victory with lasting Peace echoing throughout the universe. . .

The 'First' Bathtub

THIS year marks the 100th anniversary of what is probably the most famous bath in history. The interesting thing is that the bath was never taken, that Adam Thompson was the man who didn't take it and that he didn't take that famous bath in Cincinnati, Ohio, back in December, 1842, even though you can find plenty of printed "authorities" which solemnly assert that he did. Here's how it all came about:

Back in December, 1817, when Americans were as concerned about World War I as they are today about World War II, H. L. Mencken, later famous as the editor of the American Mercury, wrote a story which purported to be the history of the first bathtub in America. "My motive was simply to have some harmless fun in war days," says Mr. Mencken. "I never occurred to me that it would be taken seriously because it was packed full of absurdities." But apparently he didn't realize how glib the public was.

The story, which first appeared in the New York Evening Mail of December 23, 1917, stated that the first American bathtub was displayed by one Adam Thompson, "a wealthy cotton and grain dealer," to a group of his admiring friends in Cincinnati on December 10, 1842. It was at a party "for men only" and all of the guests took baths in the new contraption.

That party, according to Mencken, had an unexpected aftermath. The bathtub was denounced by physicians as a menace to public health and the Boston city fathers passed an ordinance prohibiting its use except upon medical advice. In Virginia a $30 tax was imposed upon the installation of each bathtub and Hartford, Conn., Wilmington, Del., and Providence, R. I., all charged extra rates for water in which to bathe in bathtubs.

The Philadelphia city council, he solemnly averred, tried to pass an ordinance prohibiting the use of bathtubs between November and May but the measure was defeated by two votes. However, adverse legislation couldn't stop the use of the "new invention" and during Millard Fillmore's administration as President he had a bathtub installed in the White House and thus became the first Chief Executive to take a bath there.

Such were the "facts" which the public accepted in all seriousness. Eight or nine years later Mencken wrote an article which was syndicated to newspapers all over the United States. Reviewing the history of his hoax, he said:

"Pretty soon I began to encounter my preposterous 'facts' in the writings of other men. They began to be used by chiropractors and other such quacks as evidence of the stupidity of medical men. They began to be cited by medical men as proof of the progress of public hygiene. They got into learned journals. They were alluded to on the floor of congress. They crossed the ocean, and were discussed solemnly in England and on the Continent. Finally, I began to find them in standard works of reference."

In one of his books Mencken tells how the story was reprinted in the Boston Herald with a four-column head and a two-column cartoon labeled satirically "The American Public Will Swallow Anything." Says Mencken: "And then, three weeks later, in the same editorial section, but promoted to page one, the same Herald reprinted my 1-year-old fake—soberly and as a piece of news."

Since then the story has been reprinted countless times—some times for the purpose of debunking it but more often as an authentic item of "social history." Despite all of its author's efforts to debunk his own fantasy, it keeps bobbing up regularly and people keep repeating the yarn as though it were the truth. As a final touch of irony it has appeared at least twice in the newspaper with which Mencken's name is closely associated—the Baltimore Sun!

As a matter of fact, the bathtub has a much longer history than a mere 100 years. The cave men left behind them paintings which show that they made a kind of bathtub by conducting water from springs through hollow logs into rock basins in their caverns. The people of Babylon, Mesopotamia, Crete, Egypt and Greece all had ingenious water systems and practiced frequent bathing. The baths of ancient Romans were famous for their luxury and cleanliness. All of which proves that the "inventor" Thompson was debunked by many centuries.

The Truth of It Is... This Cherry Torten Is Good!

Washington Day Ideas

It took Washington to make the cherry famous by telling the truth about cutting down that famous tree, but it takes only a sampling to make us appreciate the excellence of this luscious red-ripe berry.

If you're sensitive to color, and most of you are, I am sure, then you can make the most of the possibilities which the cherry offers for pepping up winter mealtime. With appetites riding high, but opportunities for decoration fairly low in these colder months, the Washington birthday and its synonym the cherry, come to the rescue. All of today's recipes have "Um-um" tacked onto them, so make your bids for fame by starting off with:

Cherry Torten. (Serves 6 to 8)

Torten Layer: 1 cup sifted flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1/4 cup butter, 1 egg yolk, slightly beaten. Combine flour, salt and sugar. Cut in butter with knives or pastry blender. Add beaten egg yolk and mix thoroughly. Press this mixture into baking dish or pie tin. Cover with cherry topping and bake in a hot (425-degree) oven for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate (350 degree) for about 20 minutes. Serve hot or cold, with whipped or plain cream if desired.

Cherry Topping: 1 No. 2 can red, tart, pitted cherries, 1/2 cup sugar, 4 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 tablespoon butter. Drain juice from cherries. Heat to boiling point. Combine sugar and cornstarch. Add enough cold water to make a smooth paste. Pour this gradually into the boiling cherry juice and cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from fire, add cherries and butter.

This upside down cake is as good as it looks because the cherries are interlaced with the delicious caramel mixture. You'll be extra clever for varying the dessert course with this newcomer to the upside down cake family for it's bound to carry off first honors.

Cherry Upside Down Cake: 2 eggs, 3/4 cup sugar, 3/4 cup boiling water, 3/4 cup cake flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon lemon or orange extract, 1 1/2 cups red, pitted cherries, 1/4 cup butter, 1/2 cup brown sugar. Beat yolks until thick; add sugar gradually. Continue beating and add water. Mix well and add sifted

Lynn Says:

The cherry family is one with many branches. In addition to the red, tart pitted cherries which are abundant in the summer and which can easily be put up well in cans, there are two other types of cherries worthy of mention.

The first of these is a white type cherry commonly called Queen Anne. This lends itself well to salads and adds distinctive flavor especially when used in combination with other fruits such as pineapple, oranges, grapefruit and bananas. A little bit of the Queen Anne cherry goes a long way.

The other type, called Bing cherries, are deep, dark red, and quite sweet. For that reason they are at home in desserts. They can be made into sauces and served over ice creams and puddings.

dry ingredients. Beat in thoroughly and fold in flavoring and stiffly beaten egg whites. Melt butter in heavy skillet and add brown sugar. Over this spread cherries, then pour over cake batter. Bake 30 to 40 minutes in a moderate (350-degree) oven.

If you ever have cherries left over, you may thicken the juice with cornstarch mixed in water and heated to the boiling point. This is especially good on rice or cottage pudding or as a sauce over ice cream.

Cherries and peaches are an inspired combination, especially in pie. You'll be enthusiastic over this one:

Peach Cherry Pie.

1 recipe plain pastry, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 cup flour, 1 1/2 cups canned tart red cherries, 1 1/2 cups sliced peaches (canned), 1/4 teaspoon almond extract, 1/4 cup juice from canned cherries, 3 tablespoons butter. Drain fruit. Mix flour and sugar and sprinkle 1/2 of the mixture in a lined pastry tin. Add fruit and cherry juice to which has been added the almond extract. Sprinkle fruit with remaining flour-sugar mixture. Dot with butter. Make lattice top for pie and flute edges. Bake in a hot (425-degree) oven 10 minutes, then in a moderate (350-degree) oven 25 minutes.

Meat balls slim the budget and still remain a good main dish for dinners this season. They're nutritious and flavorful made with egg, milk and bread, and colorful with green peas riding in the rich brownish red gravy:

Meat Balls. (Serves 6)

2 slices bread, 3/4 cup milk, 1 beaten egg, 3/4 pound ground beef, 1/4 cup ground pork, Salt and pepper, 2 tablespoons chili sauce, 1 small onion, grated, 2 cups strained tomatoes, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 cup peas, cooked. Soften bread in milk, add egg. Mix meats and add seasonings, salt, pepper, chili sauce and onion. Form into balls, roll in flour and brown in hot fat. Add tomato and Worcestershire sauce and simmer for 35 minutes. Add peas and cook until they heat through.

Banana Muffins. (Makes 10 muffins)

2 tablespoons shortening, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 cup chopped banana, 1 egg, 1 cup vitamin-enriched wheat flakes, 3/4 cup milk, 1 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder. Blend shortening and sugar, add chopped banana and egg and beat thoroughly. Stir in wheat flakes and milk. Sift dry ingredients and add to first mixture. Stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin tins until 3/4 full and bake in a moderately hot (400-degree) oven about 30 minutes.

Creamed Spinach.

Wash spinach leaves carefully under running water, being careful to remove all dirt. Boil without water 5 to 7 minutes or until tender. Drain and chop fine. Make a medium thick cream sauce, and blend into the chopped spinach until it becomes part of the leaves. Season to taste with salt, pepper and a little dash of nutmeg. As a garnish serve wedges or slices of hard-boiled egg around the spinach platter.

JESUS APPOINTS AND TEACHES THE TWELVE

LESSON TEXT—Luke 6:12-26. GOLDEN TEXT—Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.—Matthew 5:16.

God is sovereign and has all power. He might, therefore, perform His works without the help of man, and on many an occasion He does just that.

That fact makes it all the more glorious that He ordinarily works through men, giving to them the privilege of companionship with Him in service. Sinful and weak though they may have been, they become strong and holy in Him, able to do valiant service in His name.

I. Appointed to Serve Christ (vv. 12-19).

It is the constant teaching of Scripture that those called to serve God are not self-appointed. They are:

1. Chosen by Him (vv. 12, 13). He chooses whom He will, gives them the gifts and the grace for ministry (and both are important), and provides them a place of service. It is vital to the servant of Christ that he know that he has been chosen and called of the Lord. Only with that assurance can he meet the problems and bear the burdens of the work.

Observe that it was after a night of prayer that Jesus appointed the twelve. How many churches give that much prayer to the choosing of its leaders? Do we not need it far more than did our Lord?

2. Called from Many Walks of Life (vv. 14-16). The apostles were men of widely differing gifts, temperaments, and personal characteristics. Some had unusual abilities, others apparently were of ordinary qualifications. They were of many occupations, fishermen, a tax gatherer, etc.; but not one was by profession a preacher or priest.

Were men to choose for such offices they would look within the narrow limits of a few learned professions, with certain nationalities preferred, and with position in life an important factor. God cuts across every man-made limitation and calls His workers as He sees fit.

3. Companions in Service (vv. 17-19). At once the twelve received their introduction to service to the great multitude diseased, demon possessed, in spiritual need. It was Jesus who healed them (and notice that "he healed them all," v. 19), but verse 17 tells us that the newly appointed apostles came and stood with Him. They had fellowship with the healing and serving Christ, just as we may have it in service for Him today.

II. Prepared to Live for Christ (vv. 20-26).

Service for Christ is as much (perhaps we should say, more) by life as by ministry. The twelve needed instruction that their spiritual perspective might be right. He tells them:

1. How to Meet Difficulties (vv. 20-23). Poverty, hunger, weeping, being hated for Christ's sake, these were the things that Jesus knew His servants might expect, so He prepared them. They were told that these things need not disturb them, for there is a kingdom coming; there will be a time when every hunger will be satisfied, when weeping shall turn to laughter.

Hatred for Christ's sake is declared to be the occasion for an outburst of joy because of the reward which awaits in heaven. Scripture speaks much of rewards, and we do well to encourage ourselves and other Christians by the blessed prospect. Meeting difficulties is a matter of having mental and spiritual eyes rightly focused. If we do, we can see right through them and see that on the other side there is blessing. But there are temptations in another direction, so He tells them:

2. How to Avoid Dangers (vv. 24-26). Jesus is here speaking of those who, lacking true spiritual vision, revel in the satisfaction of worldly things without a thought of God. The passage, however, may well be applied to the worker for Christ. Often he will be tempted to covet the wealth, the prosperity, the pleasures, and popularity of those round about him.

The question which comes to him is, Why should I and my family not share these pleasant things? Therein lies a temptation to become worldly-minded, centered in the temporalities of life. Let him learn that money in itself cannot bring lasting joy; that the fullness of this world is soon exchanged for an eternal emptiness; that the shallow laughter of this world's fun rapidly gives way to weeping. The praise of men—popularity with those who know not Christ—is a fickle thing. One day they will praise a man to the skies, and the next day no evil word or disgraceful treatment is spared to destroy and dishearten him.

Best for Juice THE season's biggest hit in tailored fashions! Here's the famous "dress which looks like a suit." In this two piece model, the top is a smart four button jacket of the longer cut—with attractive wide shoulders, a neat collar and lapels over which you may wear, most effectively, a snowy white dickey—it is dart fitted to maintain a slim line through the torso and has four big patch pockets. The skirt has front pleats—and, is wide at the hem.

Pattern No. 8100 is designed for sizes 12 to 20. Size 14 ensemble requires, with long sleeves, 4 yards 54-inch material.

and Every use! These California Navels are ideal oranges—in every way! Their juice is more delicious. It has more vitamins C and A, and calcium, more health in every glass. They are seedless. Easy to peel, slice and section for recipes, lunch box and between-meals eating. Those stamped "Sunkist" are the finest from 14,000 cooperating growers.

YOU ARE AN INFLUENTIAL PERSON The merchant who advertises must treat you better than the merchant who does not. He must treat you as though you were the most influential person in town. As a matter of cold fact you are. You hold the destiny of his business in your hands. He knows it. He shows it. And you benefit by good service, by courteous treatment, by good value—and by lower prices.

ROAD CLOSED

Bombs are going to drop on eastern and western seaboard all too soon. Nothing can prevent them, just as nothing can prevent the sinking of ships, and loss of lives, American lives as today within sight of American shores. What Are You Doing To Help Win The War?

SATURDAY IS ELECTION Day and the voters decide whether or not the 1940 Bond Issue will be cancelled. The ballots are rather tricky this year. If you wish to cancel the bonds, cross out the paragraph beginning "AGAINST". Sounds screwy, but tis right. Only property owning taxpayers are to vote.

THE HEN BUSINESS is on the boom again. R. B. (Brown) Byrd was the last victim. He brought in a registered hen and showed me a car load of eggs. Claimed she laid them all. Well maybe so she did, for he got only about 75 dozen last week. That old hen though, really had the habit bad. She could hardly wait and Barb went out there about an hour or so after we put her in the pen and there was that white egg that R. B. guaranteed.

L. T. AND LENORE dropped in at the shop a few minutes ago. He had just had Mike's hair cut for the first time and the little woman was giving him a few little blasts of static. She said, "Why, in this cold weather, and it makes him look like a blithering idiot." Personally, I thought it made him look just like his Dad.

THE LATEST SLOGAN is "Get In The Scrap". It is headed pointed and aimed directly at all you farmers with a bunch of old iron on the farm. Get that stuff to town where it can be started off to be made into tanks or guns, or ships. Uncle Sam isn't wolfing about this. He needs it and he'll get it—but the sooner the better.

HERE TIS TUESDAY night and a line of copy written for this week's spasm. I have been a guest Dr. Roy McCasland off and on is week (whenever I could root his side out of the chair). Dr. McCasland, by the way, is the ilia dentist, the gent with the vely smile and the sadistic mperament.

DROVE OVER there this afternoon on my precious tires at 30 lies an hour. That is about two surs of driving. Well, the nurse cked me in the chair (not that minded that. That gal can cool y brow any time she wants) and ler hearing the newscast, readg a story or two in the Saturday evening Post about who was go-g to win the World Series last ur, why of all people, guess who

LEADING DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

I saw. No you're wrong it was Dr. McCasland flashing that sadistic smile.

HE HAD BEEN talking of filling a tooth the other two days I was over and so he didn't waste much time. Stuck his finger in where the tooth was and expressed his surprise that it was still there. Well he felt around a little bit kinda like a bird making a nest and said "Well, I will make you a bridge for that place on the other jaw. I am going to a convention Friday and Saturday to find out how to build bridges without steel, and so I will see you Monday, or sometime. Drop in any time. You are welcome here. Bring a blanket and stay all night.

I WILL SAY this for old Roy he is really a painless dentist. Al the grinding he did on me apparently didn't hurt him one little bit. I know of a thing or two that would make him more popular. The main suggestion would be that he do all his grinding with a rubber hickey. I believe that it would cut down the noise and confusion that he arouses in the average mouth. I asked him to-day what made the thing make so much noise. He said that he thought his belt was too tight. Why should that make a difference in how much noise a thing makes. The only connection I could see is that sometimes a tight belt will cause one's stomach to growl. I am sure that the noise in my head didn't come from anyone's stomach growling.

AT ANY RATE I am going to have some teeth in a couple of places where I have had nothing but parking space for many years. Dos says that when gets thru they will be good for at least ten more years and that that is about ten dollars a year. Well, that's not much and 'tis nice of him to make that kind of terms. Reminds me of some of the ads in the Dallas News--"Plates made while you wait--long, easy terms." Well I didn't get a plate made, but Lord knows I waited, and He also knows that the terms will be long even though they are not easy.

IN COMES CHESTER Burnett today with an announcement for Commissioner in Precinct No. 4. I won't get to see Chester very often, but I'll get more coffee off of Foust.

NOW I HAVE some serious stuff to get at again. It is so serious that it scares me. It is more about this utter complacency and "Oh well" attitude of ours about this war. I am going to build up a case--become a military strategist for a bit. The theory I am about to promote is probably not feasible from a military standpoint, but if you don't think so, why reconstruct it just a little to fit your ideas, but leave the base of it as I see it.

IN THE FIRST place, it is as close from Japan to the U. S. as it is from the U. S. to Japan. Yet we are all confidently expecting to hear any day that we have landed several thousand troops in the South Pacific.

IN THE SECOND place, the German fleet has been strengthened in the Atlantic. How strong it is we do not know now. Well, here is the move. Japan attacks near the Panama Canal on the Pacific side--Germany from the Atlantic. If that should happen and they would be successful in establishing themselves in any kind of shape to receive reinforcements, then you have another Malay peninsula, only turned upside down. It would take perhaps four to six weeks to overrun Old Mexico and there isn't any Singapore at the north boundry of Old Mexico either.

IN MY OPINION it is not impossible, and hardly improbable, that the next six months will see both air and tank action right here in Texas. Stranger things have happened in this war.

I DIDN'T THINK up that one in the attempt to scare anyone. But think it over. We are not taking the thing seriously at all. In spite of the fact that a few of us say that the U. S. might be invaded. The majority say it "can't happen here."

IT LOOKS useless to most to prepare for blackouts, air raid warnings and so forth. I believe that we owe it to ourselves and to our children to WAKE UP and start doing something to win the war. We sit around and bellyache about the Administration, the strikes and so forth, and about how they are floundering around. Well it isn't the President who has been asleep--IT IS OURSELVES right here in Briscoe County and in all the Briscoe Counties in the U. S. We are still unaware of one-tenth of the dangers that confront us. The slogan we should adopt is "Remember France." Not for the things she did, but for the things she didn't do, and the fact that she was absolutely unable to adjust herself to this new method of "total" war. When the people of France awoke it was too late. WHEN ARE THE PEOPLE OF THIS COUNTRY GOING TO AWAKEN??

AND TO SHOW you that it isn't just my brain that is having another spell, here is an editorial clipped from the County Wide News at Littlefield. It is written by John Price. He has a little smoother method of attack than most writers but he is sure hitting the nail on the head:

What is It Going To Take? Yes, what IS it going to take to arouse, not just to awaken our people right out here on the South Plains along with millions of others all through the United States, that America is face to face with a fight for our Liberty--yes for survival.

What will happen to our dances, our jazz bands, our swanky night clubs, our style sheets, and our bridge games if we lose the war--and it could easily be lost--this year, next year, another later year, even though Congress appropriates not just billions, but multiple hundreds of billions. What Have You Given Up? What are YOU ready and willing to give up--for the duration. Even as each bridge hand is played, some American soldier has lost his life--in Hawaii, the Philip-ines, Ireland, a training camp, in a plane, hundreds of other ways. They're giving their all today, that you may go on and live. And our part in the war has just started. Make no mistake about it--American soldiers are going to die--bravely--but they are going to die--probably in numbers which will pauper the figures of World War One. How many millions have already died in Russia, in France, in Poland, in Norway, in Greece--why list them all--can only be guessed and will never be totaled on all of the adding machines. Just as the Nazi hordes invaded and enslaved those countries, so do they hope, and back those hopes with schemes and plans, and WORK, to defeat and enslave America.

And some of those plans are already bearing fruit. Experts in war technique say that the Philippines, Singapore, even Hawaii and Australia could be lost in weeks to the Japanese hordes totally. But they also say it would take ALL of the allies years to take them back--if ever. A few weeks ago, in a southern city a former well-to-do former citizen of one of the invaded countries, told an audience of well-dressed, comfortably placed citizens of that city--"a few months ago, I was like you. I had my home, my family, my business, a little money in the bank, and my freedom. Today, all are gone. I beseech you to look at me, awake before it is too late, to make those all-out sacrifices, hard as they may seem to you--pitifully small compared with what may come to you tomorrow."

Sure we can do it!

Old Man Texas has sharpened his pencil. There's a job to be done. Uncle Sam has a war to win and it will be paid for by you and me.

Our big job is to meet rapidly increasing federal taxes and buy defense bonds. And added to these are the costs of our local and State governments, including bond issues. The money to pay for them must all come out of the same pocket.

To make the bill fit our pocket, we're going to have to cut out some of the things we can do without. Among these are new bond issues, new State and local taxes and nonessential spending in every branch of government.

Old Man Texas is looking to taxing officials all over the State to be on the alert to effect economies.

Every local tax dollar saved for Texas taxpayers is another dollar available for victory.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

Jap 'Culture Offensive' Is Assisting Aggressor in Continuing Attacks; Heroic Stories Arrive From Luzon; Nazi's Subs Add More Ships to Toll

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

MENACE: Of 'Jap Culture'

As the tentacles of the huge Japanese advance throughout the southwest Pacific stretched themselves across the map, it was evident that the "culture offensive" of the Nipponese throughout Asia was a most grandiose scheme that might yet cause the United Nations all their utmost power to circumvent.

The vital battles of this war found Britain menaced not only by the necessity of keeping far-flung forces

LUZON: Epic of Defense

Eyewitness stories of MacArthur's men in action began to filter in from the Luzon front, and though they were delayed, the spirit they showed bore out the feeling of the "man in the street" that the Battle of Bataan was a heroic struggle in the extreme.

These stories pictured the Japanese as fanatical fighters, battling to the death, trembling and moaning, perhaps, when cornered, trapped and about to die, but hurling themselves into the fray, and forcing the American-Filipino troops to shoot them down rather than surrender.

One correspondent told of seeing an American captain, waving a bloody-banded arm, shouting "surrender, you —s, we have you surrounded" — and getting the reply from the trapped Japs, in perfect English, "Nerts to you, Joe!"

The American tank crews were forced to run down and trample into their foxholes small bands of a Jap "suicide battalion" that had tried to land behind MacArthur's lines.

Yet, outside of these repelling skirmishes between bands of 100 to 300 of the enemy, and of frontal attacks in greater force, it was evident that MacArthur's position was ever-narrowing, ever-shrinking.

The Japanese land batteries had Forts Drum and Hughes and Mills under fire, and the duels between the huge guns of the forts and the more numerous field guns of the invaders continued with indecisive result.

Meantime, the average American, glowing with pride over the achievement of the men on Luzon, worried because no reinforcements had arrived, and prayed that help might come before the gallant defenders were hurled back on Corregidor and to ultimate surrender or perhaps evacuation in another "Dunkirk."

ATLANTIC: Sinkings Grow

The torpedoing of the Swedish steamship Amerikaland, 15,355 tons, sent to the bottom, only 200 miles off New York harbor, one of the biggest freighters plying the seven seas, and raised the total of tonnage lost in the Atlantic to a high figure.

Yet the navy department assured Americans that many German subs were making it a "one-way" trip in their fight in the Atlantic, and that the Nazi navy was finding it an expensive war on the eastern ocean.

Tragic was the loss of the submarine S-26 off the coast of Panama. The captain and three companions were on deck when the accident happened, and, helpless to aid the men

Many realized, however, that between the Hindus, the British and the Chinese were many gaps in understanding, the latter tending to wonder whether the British understood the important nature of the Far East war, and whether the Hindus were anxious to take any part in it other than to surrender.

Chief benefit to United Nations unity, however, was the fact that the Japanese, instead of fighting with propaganda, were coming in as the hated military invader. This, it was hoped, might finally result in their downfall.

Certain it was that America, perhaps as overconfident on the Pacific situation as the British, were rapidly waking up to the seriousness of the conditions in the battlefield, and joined by the Australians were making ready to do something drastic about it.

Two things stood out—Wavell's calm promise that Singapore must hold out for "great reinforcements" were on the way; and second, that General Percival, in charge of Singapore's defenders, said "of course" Singapore would be held.

Evacuation of at least a part of Britain's naval forces from the naval base had been deemed a military expediency, a sort of "clearing the decks" for the siege, and it was obvious that the British were not going to be cleared from the Pacific stronghold without a bitterest kind of fight.

Shortly after the siege had begun, Japanese troops, crossing at low tide the narrow channel between the mainland and the island, began their attack. Slowly they pushed back the beleaguered British troops who contested each foot of ground that they were forced to relinquish.

The Japanese showed the same brand of fight here as they displayed against MacArthur's men. (See "Luzon.")

United Nations Are Forced Into Postponing Offensive

Axis Prepared for War Before Fighting Started While U. S. and Allies Must 'Prepare' As Battles Are Raging.

By BAUKHAGE National Farm and Home Hour Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street, N-W, Washington, D. C.

It is an open secret that the high commands of the United Nations have agreed to postpone the hope of a general offensive for a year—possibly two.

Circumstances have forced the rewriting of the old military adage which says "The best defense is offense." The axis powers were prepared for war before they started fighting. The United Nations had to prepare after they started fighting.

The axis powers choose their own time and place for battle. They have the initiative. For the United Nations, because they have no choice, the best offense is defense.

Besides preparation, the axis powers—Germany and Italy in Europe and Japan in Asia—have another advantage, geographical position. That is, their supply lines radiate out from their own or occupied territory, to the fronts on which they choose to fight.

Although the total naval power of the United Nations is greater than that of the axis, it is so widely spread that it cannot contact the enemy at any one point where the enemy is not superior. In places where the enemy lacks ships it more than makes up in air power.

When the United Nations have trained and equipped land forces and have constructed naval air forces superior in quantity to the axis they will have an even greater advantage than mere numbers of effective man power. Then they will be able to take the initiative and when the axis is placed on the defensive, the latter powers will have one of their advantages of today turned into a disadvantage, namely, their geographical positions. They will become prisoners to sea power.

Sea power will cut them off from the resources necessary for the armies and navies to carry on war, and food and fuel for the civilian populations to carry on life.

Raw Materials Will Count

The United Nations can build superior land, air and naval forces because they control more raw materials. So, military experts say, the task of the United Nations is to remain on the defensive, wasting down as much of the enemy's power as possible while building up their own.

It is the kind that makes the people rise up and demand quick victories. It makes armies and navies restive. It is bad for morale. But it is the only kind of warfare that the United Nations can engage in now. More haste on the battlefield will make less speed toward final victory.

According to this plan, the defenders of the Philippines, of Singapore, of the Netherlands Indies, must fight as long as they can. But their comrades cannot risk too much to do them. At least they cannot risk a sense which might temporarily attract the enemy.

So we must expect more victories. While we make over a civilian way of life into a military way of life we must expect to hear the cries of the defeated and the dying. While we sacrifice the lives of which the axis civilians began sacrificing long ago, we must expect our soldiers and sailors to sacrifice their lives.

The longer the war lasts and the fewer men and supplies we risk until we have so many equipped and supplies that we can afford to risk them, the sooner our victory will begin. The longer we wait the war now, the shorter it will be in the end.

Business Man Gets A New Friend and Adversary

Back in the hectic summer of 1941 when the Blue Eagle was spreading its wings—the NRA, if you have forgotten—I had a strange experience. I was standing in the corridor of the department of commerce where the NRA had its headquarters. The place was seething with businessmen all trying to find out what the Blue Eagle could and could not do under the Blue Eagle. There were officials, information and guides and department building guards trying to find each worried business man to take out what he wanted to know.

On this particular day a little man came in. He looked confused, but was most humble. The guards eyed him suspiciously and treated him with a quest with doubt if not scorn. Finally he turned to me: "Sir," he said, "could you tell me—"

"What does your firm produce," I started to ask.

"Oh," he replied with a frightened look, "I'm just a consumer."

Today it is the producer and the consumer who claims that he has been getting the run-around in Washington. Cognizant of this, the President has turned to the man who established Washington's first national information bureau, as a result of needs of the NRA. His name is Lowell Mellett. He is one of the "anonymous advisors," one of the executive assistants to the President, a former newspaper man and a friend of newspaper men. He is the Office of Government Reports. His office sees all, knows all, and is happening in government.

publishes the United States Government Manual, one of the most comprehensive current guides to government departments and agencies ever issued. So now Lowell Mellett is going to head the clearing house of government information. When his Office of Government Reports is expanded, as it is to be under new orders from the President, this institution will be the guide, philosopher and friend of the wandering business man. No matter what your business with government is, you come to Mr. Mellett's office and let him your troubles. He will get the man who knows the answers. That will save shoe-leather and patience, time and money.

Hereafter when you come to Washington you can tell your troubles to Mellett.

Curfew Law For Washington?

The department of justice has ordered a nine o'clock curfew law for alien enemies in the "vulnerable zone" which is a belt stretching from Oregon to Los Angeles and extending 150 miles inland. Strange lights flashing on the sea coast, weird stories of bombs that came near exploding under bridges and aqueducts, were the things that compelled this move.

But lights that go on and off in the stilly night right here in Washington have been reported, but there are no alien enemies who are causing this temporary illumination in the witching hours, the hard-working girls employed by your Uncle Sam, according to Representative Wilson of Indiana.

Mr. Wilson says that all this must be stopped. He declares that the girls are promulgating the theory "too little and too late"—too little sleep, too late hours. And so he has sponsored a plan for a curfew for government workers.

organized and supplied, but by the unrest of India, as evidenced by the fact that the house of lords was considering giving the Hindus all they had been asking for, and what, in many instances, they had been jailed for demanding.

Burma, for instance, where one of these vital struggles was taking place, was a hotbed of anti-British sentiment among the higherups, this attitude making the defense of the shores of the Irawaddy river between Rangoon and Mandalay doubly difficult.

Yet China's miracle-working coolies are hard at labor creating two, perhaps three new "Burma roads" which would have outlets at points other than Rangoon, besides the fact that China was sending strong military forces southward to protect the present road.

Many realized, however, that between the Hindus, the British and the Chinese were many gaps in understanding, the latter tending to wonder whether the British understood the important nature of the Far East war, and whether the Hindus were anxious to take any part in it other than to surrender.

SECRETARY IKES Ready for an oil shortage . . .

trapped inside the submersible, had to watch their craft take a dive under the water, leaving them to swim. Three were picked up—one drowned.

The rest of the crew died below at their stations, in 301 feet of water. It did not seem that the American plan of keeping the sealanes open was like the British, to run ships in heavy convoys, for most of the sinkings reported were of "single birds" rather than groups of ships, as had been the record of British losses.

But they were, nevertheless, severe, and seemed to show that the Nazis were sending large numbers of submarines, some of them of the largest type, far across the ocean to attack coastwise vessels.

They also seemed to be aiming particularly at tankers, and so many had been sunk that Petroleum Administrator Ickes began preparing the eastern states again for a likely shortage of gasoline and fuel oil.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

New York: Radio men on ships of one large coastwise concern had been given a salary boost of $21.50 a month, and war risk bonuses. The action closely followed the sinking of one of the company's ships. Valetta, Malta: There had been 13 raids by Italian-German planes on Malta in a single day. Reinforcements continued to arrive for the beleaguered Mediterranean port.

Chicago: Reviewing the municipal bond market for the past 12 months, Barcus, Kindred & Co., Chicago financial house, found a decrease of $236,969,369 in the amount of state and municipal financing last year. The 1941 total was $1,389,302,154, compared with $1,626,271,523 in 1940. A factor in the decrease was the smaller volume of federal grants for municipal improvements last year.

SHE LOVED A SPY

by SYLVIA TAYLOR

THE STORY SO FAR: Joan Leland, secretary, is discharged by her employer, Arthur Mulford, importer, who refuses any explanation for the act. She takes a secretarial position with Karl Miller, handsome proprietor of a night club. She is fascinated by him and when he gets her sister Sybil, a new job and takes her into his arms, her joy knows no end. She meets his club manager, Paul Sherman, who warns her about working for Karl, but refuses to give his reasons. Then Karl introduces her to his partner, Eric Strom, and she refuses his secret invitation to dinner. During a ride with Karl they board a freighter-ship and when Karl asks her if he can show her the world she melts into his arms with an affirmative answer. Sybil notices that he never mentions marriage to Joan, but Joan defends him. Eric Strom seizes an opportunity to try to make love to her, when Paul Sherman walks in and knocks him out with one blow. Karl sends Joan with a package to the freighter captain. Paul follows. He takes her to a hotel grill.

Now continue with the story.

Paul Sherman's warning had disturbed Joan. Paul had said that Karl would never marry her.

CHAPTER VII

"Listen to me, Joan!" Paul said in a low voice. "You were right. I have been following you but only for your own protection. You don't know what you're getting into. I've tried to warn you but you won't listen."

"You have never said anything except that I wasn't the type to work in a night club." In spite of her annoyance, she felt compelled to listen.

"There are some things I can't tell you, but you must trust me. Do you think I'd be risking my own position this way if I didn't feel that it was terribly important?"

Silently she stared at him. "I know you think you're in love with Karl," Paul went on quickly. "But if he is sincere, Joan, why doesn't he ask you to marry him? Isn't that proof enough that there's something wrong with the picture?"

His steady brown eyes gazed into hers. She twisted her hands nervously. Paul's words had quickened the doubt in her own heart but she said calmly, "I don't see that it's any of your business."

He smiled wryly. "I'm only using that as an example to prove to you that Karl Miller is not on the level. Believe me, I don't go around meddling in other people's affairs without reason."

The sincerity in his voice was unmistakable as he continued, "I can't tell you now what that reason is. All I can do is to warn you that Karl Miller will never marry you."

Her voice was ragged with alarm. "How do you know? What right have you to say that?"

"You poor kid! You're really in love with him, aren't you?"

A lump rose in her throat. "He's wrong about Karl," she thought. "He must be. Karl loves me!"

Paul went on, "There's no use kidding yourself, Joan! If you don't believe me, why don't you ask him and find out for yourself?"

Joan raised challenging green eyes to his. "All right! Maybe I will!"

Paul Sherman's warning had disturbed Joan. Paul had said that Karl would never marry her. Why? Paul had even challenged her to find out for herself whether or not Karl was sincere.

She was awake early the next morning. Lazily she watched Sybil dress to leave for the beauty shop.

When Sybil had gone Joan tried to sleep but it was useless. At nine o'clock she rose, dressed, and drank a glass of orange juice and a cup of coffee.

Shortly before ten she left the apartment and went downtown. To satisfy her curiosity she walked past the shop where she had been employed formerly by Arthur Mulford. It was vacant and a For Rent sign hung in the window.

"Karl didn't lie about that then!" she told herself, recalling that he had said Mulford had quit the importing business.

Why was she doubting him? Was it really because of Paul's warning? Or because of her own small doubts that she had concealed so carefully the last few weeks?

As she walked down Grant avenue, deep in her own thoughts, a voice surprised her. "Hello, Joan! What are you doing out so early?"

She looked up into the smiling face of Karl Miller.

"What's the matter, liebchen? You look surprised."

It was impossible to doubt him when she was with him. His magnetism banished her fears.

"I am surprised to see you," she admitted.

He took her arm and they walked slowly up Grant avenue past the shops, into the crowded narrow streets of Chinatown. Karl stopped at a sidewalk flower stand to purchase three waxen gardenias.

"We'll have lunch together," he promised, "and take a drive. Would you like that?"

As they sat eating lunch, served by a bland, unsmiling Oriental, Joan felt a thrill of pride. The thought of losing him aroused a fierce emotion in her heart. Would he ever transfer the tenderness he had given her to another woman? How could she be sure unless... But Paul's words rang in her ears! "He'll never marry you. Ask him and see..."

denied. "I just wondered, that's all."

Joan could not worry about Sybil's meaning now. She could not worry about anything. Karl wanted to marry her! His ring gleamed on her white hand! She could scarcely wait to see Paul Sherman and tell him the good news, but Paul did not appear at the Club Elite that night or for several nights to come.

The days passed rapidly, magically for Joan.

"You'll have to get a new secretary," she told Karl. "My mind is definitely not on my work."

He smiled at her. "There's plenty of time for that later."

And then one night, as Joan sat alone in the office typing, Paul Sherman made an appearance. He was as good-looking, as debonair and cheerful as ever.

"Did you miss me?" he inquired, grinning at Joan. "Karl sent me out of town."

Joan smiled. She was going to enjoy telling Paul. He had been so sure about Karl, so prejudiced.

"Not much," she informed him airily. "A lot has happened while you were gone."

"Such as what?"

"Karl and I are going to be married," she said proudly.

Paul's expression changed. He advanced towards Joan's desk repeating incredulously, "Do you mean that Karl Miller has asked you to marry him?"

There was something in his face that took the joy out of her announcement but she said calmly, "Yes! You were wrong about Karl."

"I was wrong all right," he agreed savagely. "I suppose nothing I can say now will make any difference."

Joan smiled. "That's right."

"When is the happy event taking place?"

"In about two or three months. We're going away on a long honeymoon."

"Is that so?"

Joan was really annoyed with him now. The least he could do was admit he had been wrong.

"Well, it's your funeral, my girl!" Paul said, and jamming his hat down on his head he bolted out of the office.

Joan smiled as she turned back to her work. Perhaps Sybil had been right. Maybe Paul was in love with her. But he certainly had a peculiar way of showing it.

Sybil seldom mentioned her sister's approaching marriage. She was behaving strangely these days, saying little, staring into space for long periods.

And so life moved on triumphantly until the week before Christmas. It was a rainy, windy winter day and San Franciscans thronged the shops armed with umbrellas and galoshes. The stores were open at night now and Joan found herself elbowing her way through the crowd. She had dined downtown preparatory to buying Karl's Christmas present.

"Ten past eight!" Joan exclaimed, glancing at the clock on the corner. "I'll have to come back tomorrow."

She took a taxi to the Club Elite and arrived breathlessly in Karl's private office.

He laughed at her excitement. "Does Christmas always affect you this way?"

"Only this one, darling! This one is special."

There was no doubt in her heart as his lips touched hers. No premonition of disaster. She was completely sure, completely happy.

It was nine-thirty when the office door opened to admit Eric Strom.

"Ah!" Karl said, and Joan noticed that his voice was annoyed.

"You come early, Eric?"

Eric shrugged indifferent shoulders. "You wanted to see me?"

"Ja!" Karl said, rising.

Eric went to the cleverly concealed little bar, opened it and reached for a bottle.

Karl glanced at Joan. "Go to the dining room. I'll send for you in about ten minutes."

Joan obeyed but she was worried. She did not like the way Eric had looked at Karl. Evidently there was bad feeling between them. But why?

RURAL CLINIC

It was very pleasant one morning to see Ambassador Daniels' smiling face greeting us at the station in Raleigh, N. C. He seems to have inexhaustible energy. We found Mrs. Daniels much improved since her return home, and had a pleasant family breakfast with two of her boys, whose wives and children dropped in to see us.

At 11 o'clock, we started to Chapel Hill, but stopped on the way at the NYA center near Durham, where State Administrator, Mr. John Lang is doing a really excellent piece of work with the North Carolina draftees, who were rejected for physical reasons. The medical setup is an example of rural areas, for here is a very unpretentious but extremely efficient small hospital, which could be duplicated in many places.

It is the type of setup which could easily become a county clinic, where rural doctors could pool their resources and send their patients, when they need medical attention for eyes, teeth and surgical care. For the yearly checkup, which doctors are emphasizing more and more for every individual, this kind of county clinic in rural areas will be invaluable.

FLORIDA ARMY POST

Our visit to Santa Rosa island was preceded by a trip with General MacGruder around the army post. I saw old Fort Barancas and they showed me the two 15-inch mortars, which date back to Spanish times. They were surrendered to General Jackson in Pensacola, Fla., when Florida was ceded to the United States.

All this ground is historic and was fought over during the War Between the States. When we crossed to Santa Rosa, we saw the fort which was held by Northern soldiers all through that war.

The soldiers gave me some copies of their paper, called the Barancas Breeze, and I think it is excellent. I had an opportunity to see some of the soldiers, both on the mainland and on Santa Rosa. On the mainland they have quite a group of New England men, who must find even such chilly winter days as they have here quite warm, compared to the northern winters to which they are accustomed.

I met with the Pensacola Civilian Defense council and was very much impressed by their organization on the protective side of civilian defense.

Their system of communications is well set up and they have auxiliary policemen and firemen enrolled and trained. They have appointed their air raid wardens and they are now being trained.

TO FLORIDA

On our way to Florida we had a nice peaceful day on the train. We ate a very late breakfast, during which one or two visitors dropped in — first a gentleman who wished me to send the President his very best wishes, and then a soldier boy who was trying to console himself for a dull life. He had taken a detail of men from one place to another and thought a little chat with us might relieve the monotony. A little later on a gentleman came bursting in to tell us that there was a man on board with a piece of shell from a torpedoed ship, and it was evident that being near a torpedo was no small experience.

We did much less work than usual, but got through the mail which I had not finished before leaving Washington. Then the hour arrived when we should have changed trains.

We discovered that we were a whole hour late, due to a tree which had been found across the track. With this discovery, I realized that I would be late for my broadcast, unless I found a fast method of transfer later, so I wired ahead for a car and on arrival in Flomaton, Ala., the station master's son took us in tow and in less time than it takes to tell it, we were started for Pensacola. I shall always be grateful to that young man for taking most of last afternoon to drive me to Pensacola. He told me that from now on Uncle Sam is working him seven days a week, as he works on aviation parts. He was an extraordinarily good driver, drove carefully but fast and I walked into the broadcasting station four minutes before time to go on the air.

There was a minute more delay in starting due to connections, so while I was reading they took a few more lines out of my script but we finished exactly on time.

TRAVELING IN WARTIME

I really do not enjoy quite such close connections, and I suppose that from now on, in view of the fact that there are many reasons why trains and planes should be delayed and mere civilians can be removed from either one if more important people wish to travel, I had better travel less and allow more time than in the past, or else have nothing very important to do at the end of any journey.

After a fairly early breakfast the next day we visited Santa Rosa.

"Are you the girl who took my order?" asked an impatient customer in an Austin coffee shop. "Yes, sir," said the waitress. "Well I'll be darned", he exclaimed, "you don't look a day older."

When it comes to man-to-man campaigning, Ralph Yarborough is one of the best. In one of his races, a big merchant was against him. Knowing this, Yarborough entered at the alley door, shook hands with each employee and, at the front door where the proprietor was standing to greet customers, the candidate came up behind him, handed the startled storekeeper a card, smiled, shook his hand and departed. The businessman, when he recovered his composure, was so impressed by Yarborough's energy and cordiality that he wound up by voting for him.

Went to the cupboard
To get her poor dog a bone;
And when she got there,
The cupboard was bare—
And, was her face red!

More Mexican wisdom:
Of the great speak neither well nor ill, for if you speak well you lie, and if ill, you place yourself in danger.

Of safe courses, the safest of all is to doubt.
The majesty and the grandeur do not lie in being a lord but in being acknowledged one.

Congressman Clifford Davis, a schoolmate, read the comment in this column recently about the excessive deliveries and waste of bread—and took the matter up with Price Administrator Leon Henderson, who is conducting a study of the subject. . . Not even the dead are safe from Texas loan sharks. A widow was called upon to pay off a loan which a usurer claimed to have made to her husband. Experts pronounced the purported signature a forgery. Thus it seems that the sharks, in their greed, will invade even the grave!

Newspapers get along a lot better than they used to with each other. There was nothing much more bitter than a feud between two newspapers in the same town or in rival towns.

In an East Texas town, one journal announced that it had purchased a new, high-speed press. The announcement continued, "The press is being installed in the basement in such a position as to be visible from the sidewalk. This press can print 10,000 papers an hour and it will make its first run next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock."

The rival paper printed this comment: "Yes, and you want to be on hand promptly because, at exactly 2:35 o'clock, the entire circulation of our competitor will have been run off on that press."

WIN--
the GENUINE
FARMALL WAY

Since 1924, row-crop farmers have been successfully replacing slow, expensive animal power with the fast-moving, economical power of the FARMALL System. Year after year, this rapidly growing number of operators relies on the FARMALL tractor as the most profitable way to control all crops in all four seasons.

Today only an efficient, thrifty power partner can make you sure of winning out in your farming business—and with a McCormick Deering FARMALL, you're playing safe from the start. Owners say, "A genuine FARMALL has 'em all beat for row crops and all crops."

For today's most modern tractor—built by the world's largest tractor builder—choose from the lineup of varied FARMALL models. We'll be glad to demonstrate at your say-so, or give you more details on the great tractor family.
