DATES SET FOR SIXTH REGISTRATION

Plans for future registration of men of combat age was announced this week. The plan for registration will be as follows.

(A) Those who were born on or after July 1, 1924, but not after August 31, 1924, shall be registered on any day during the week commencing Friday, December 11, 1942, and ending Thursday, December 17, 1942;

(B) Those who were born on or after September 1, 1924, but not after October 31, 1924, shall be registered on any day during the week commencing Friday December 18, 1942, and ending Thursday December 24, 1942;

(C) Those who were born on or after November 1, 1924, but not after December 31, 1924, shall be registered on any day during the period commencing Saturday, December 26, 1942, and ending Thursday, December 31, 1942.

(D) During the continuance of the present War, those who were born on or after January 1, 1925, shall be registered on the day they attain the eighteenth anniversary of the day of their birth; provided that if such anniversary falls on a Sunday or a legal holiday, their registration shall take place on the day following that is not a Sunday or a legal holiday.

All registrants in the county will register at the county draft board office in the courthouse.

We judge by the news report that Armistice Day was not observed in the conventional manner by Rommel and his army. The idea of standing still for 30 seconds in silence didn't fit with his plans for the day.

The Celebration of CHRISTMAS

By T. G. Craft

Our nation is approaching a second Christmas season since we have been involved in a world war. On the eve of this Yuletide, great sorrow hangs over our people and the whole world. Our sons, and fathers many of whom are overseas, or in various corps of training for military service. Our hearts are with our brave sons, fathers, and even many daughters who have joined the ranks of service for the nation. With millions away from homes and firesides, some have fallen in battle, others captured, a strange melancholy fill the hearts of us who are yet at home. Past and pleasant memories rise up into vivid scenes upon which we gaze with a mixed emotion of joy and sadness. The panorama of life's best experiences pass in review on memories' art gallery. The present makes the past seem like a beautiful dream or fanciful wishing. But the question remains, how shall we celebrate Christmas this year? In the first place, let us not forget the children whose hearts are romantic and imaginative. Help them to enjoy Christmas as they always have. Do not crush the souls of the children with disappointments of empty stockings, the Cheerless firesides, and the pleasantries of our yuletide traditions. They have a right to enjoy a good Christmas whether we are at war or in peace. The spirit of Christmas; the cheers it brings to little children is the best heaven they can know in this kind of world. Let us for their sake not have any other sort, but what they have always known. The usual number of toys may be greatly diminished but there are many things to be had to make all children happy. Let us give our children a good Christmas. It will be patriotic to teach our children the fine traditions of the American Christmas, which the church has fostered and nurtured through the years.

For us who are adults of the two older generations, we need to recover the true spirit of Christmas which we let escape from us while seeking lesser values for the greater. For us, Christmas has come to mean a jubilant celebration colored with more paganism than Christianity. We think of our families and friends and remember them with showers of love and gifts. To do these kindnesses is a virtue, but Christians will seek out those who are less fortunate; the friendless; the distressed; the needy; the helpless sick; the needy widows and orphans, and bring cheer and comfort to them. Christianity will remain helpless and crippled until Christians practice more fully the teachings of Christ.

It seems but fitting for our generations to put our emphasis upon the tenets of the Christian faith rather than upon secularization of a divine institution founded by a divine Christ.

Now we are engaged in a terrible war waged to determine whether we shall remain a free people with our free and Christian institutions, or become subjects of a Demon dictator. We should rally completely to the support of our government; to the principles of a democratic way of life; to Almighty God, and to His Universal Church upon earth. On this Christmas, we can prove our loyalty to Country and Government by purchasing more and more bonds for the prosecution of the war to speed victory; by supporting God's Universal Church that she may be powerful to do kindness for all races and nations, and by prayerful devotion to the Lord of all.

"Peace on earth; good will toward men." May we all rededicate ourselves to our God in heart and deed; so that we may perpetuate forever the institutions our sons and fathers are now dying for.

WATCH ADDRESS OF ARMY MAIL

Improper and insufficient addresses on both letters and parcels are resulting in serious delays or non-delivery of thousands of pieces of mail intended for soldiers overseas, the Army Postal Service of the War Department reveals.

A survey conducted within the last few days at Ports of Embarkation on both coasts disclosed that approximately 10 per cent of all mail intended for delivery overseas to the armed forces was incorrectly or insufficiently addressed, thereby making delivery very difficult or altogether impossible.

Cautioning the public to use the full name, rank, serial number, service organization, and Army post office number on all overseas mail to the armed forces. The Army Postal Service warned that prompt delivery could not be assured unless mail was addressed in this manner.

In many cases of non-delivery the Army Postal Service has found that the address contained only the soldier's name and the Army Post office number. Pointing out that thousands of troops may be served through a single Army post office, the War Department states that it is impossible to effect delivery of mail so addressed without serious delay.

Dear Santa: I am a little boy. I be 5 years old December 19. I want you to bring me a war tank, a gun, to help whip old Hitler, a little lamp, a pair of stockings and a Bible Story Book.

HALL ADVISES CAUTION AGAINST HOLIDAY FIRES

Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner, suggests that plans for the coming holiday season include careful consideration of fire prevention.

"We must not allow destructive fires to burn our homes, or to cause injury or death to our families," Hall said. "This can be avoided by being careful in planning our decorations for Christmas. The decorations that are commonly used are highly combustible, and therefore create additional fire hazard during the holiday season."

Several fire safety practices mentioned by the Commissioner were: See that decorations are kept a safe distance from stoves or other heating equipment; do not allow them to come in contact with electric light bulbs, or appliances prevent the accumulation of trash, papers, boxes or rubbish; "black out" matches, cigars and cigarettes before discarding them; keep matches beyond the reach of children; be careful to keep electric circuits from being overloaded.

If a tree is used, secure a fresh one, keep it dampened and outside the house until actually needed. When setup, place the tree in a room where it will be as cool and moist as possible.

Dear Santa: I am a little girl. I be 5 years old the 19 of December. I want you to bring me a little cook stove, and cooking utensils. A little lamp and Bible Story Bk. and pair of stockings.

SCHOOL TO DISMISS ONE WEEK FOR CHRISTMAS

At their regular monthly meeting, December 7 the school board voted to have only one week for Christmas Holidays. Classes will be dismissed December 18 and will resume December 28. The board took this action in view of the lateness school opened this fall.

The board also voted at this session to open school thirty minutes later each morning and run until five o'clock each afternoon instead of dismissing at 4:30 as is the custom now. This rule, however, is to become effective only after the Christmas holidays, December 28.

Other business transacted at this meeting consisted of the appointment of Supt. F. M. McCarty as Textbook Custodian, and the election of Rev. T. G. Craft as principal of the grammar school. Rev. Craft has been serving in this capacity since the resignation of Mrs. Reid, some two weeks back. The action of the board only made this temporary arrangement permanent.

FIRST SNOW OF YEAR NIGHT OF THE FIFTH

The first snow of the year slipped in without warning Saturday night and the ground was covered Sunday morning with three inch blanket. Other intermittent snows have perhaps brought that much more. The moisture content of the snow, according to Ray C. Bomar was 50 inches.

The snow came with a large amount of cotton in the field, but it is said that the cotton will not be damaged because the snow lay where it fell, with little or no blowing.

Monday temperatures rose some and by night the snow was melting. Unless another fall comes, the first snow of the year, will have entered the ground where it fell.

STARK - ROWELL

Miss Louise Stark of Kress became the bride of Mr. J. W. Rowell of Silverton Sunday evening November 29, 1942 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bun Stark near Kress.

Mrs. Rowell is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Stark of Kress. She finishes High School at Kress this year.

Mr. Rowell is the son of Mr. Charlie Rowell of Antelope Flat.

Miss Nelda Stark of Kress acted as bridesmaid and Alva Jasper of Silverton was best man.

The Rev. Hux of Plainview performed the ceremony. Only close friends and relatives were in attendance.

The young couple will make their home near Kress until Mr. Rowell is called to the army.

Rock Creek News

School started again at Rock Creek Monday. The inside of the school house received a new coat of paint while school was out.

Lloyd Jackson spent the week end with Bobbie McDaniel.

Mrs. Dee Reid spent Saturday afternoon with her mother Mrs. R. L. Johnson.

Bob Prater, nephew of Mr. W. W. Martin who has been spending several weeks here returned to his home in Dallas Wednesday.

There will be an election at the Rock Creek Station Saturday Dec. 12 to vote on the cotton marketing quota.

Claude Allison was in Amarillo Saturday on business.

Now that the votes are all counted it turns out that the Democrats have a margin of 19 in the Senate and 13 in the House.

Final Tribute To Be Paid Lloyd Sherman, First Silverton Boy Killed in Action

Memorial services will be held Sunday morning at 11:30 from the First Baptist Church in Silverton for Frank Lloyd Sherman, with Rev. Jesse B. Leverett in the pulpit. Sherman was killed in action in the Guadalcanal area some time in November, according to official notice from the War Department, received here last week by his mother, Mrs. R. E. Stephen.

Sherman was Assistant Scoutmaster before he enlisted in the Navy. The Silverton Boy Scouts will have a part in the services, and a section will be reserved for them at the church. American Legionnaires will also have a section reserved for them, and may have a part in the program, although definite plans have not been announced at this time.

All churches will dismiss for the Union Memorial, and a huge crowd is expected to gather to pay their last respects to the first boy to die from Briscoe County; and to dedicate themselves to the cause for which he died.

SHARE-THE-MEAT PROGRAM

"Share-the-meat does not mean everyone has to cut consumption of beef, veal, pork, and mutton," says the Defense Council of Briscoe County. "It calls for cutting down the amount eaten by those accustomed to eating more than 2 1/2 pounds a week. If there are babies, or old people, or invalids, or vegetarians, or light eaters in the family, they would not be counted in at 2 1/2 pounds each in determining the family's share of meat. Children 6 to 12 years of age are allowed 1 1/2 pounds and younger children 1 pound under the share-the-meat program."

The defense Council pointed out that the share-the-meat program will benefit farmers by making for more orderly distribution of meat. To avoid waste when large supplies of home-slaughtered meat are temporarily available, as in gathering times, farmers may find it necessary to consume a larger volume, but as an average for the year, their consumption should be held to the established quota.

Farmers who butchered meat for sale may continue to do so. However, families who purchase meat from farmers, or obtain meat from other sources for storage in freezer lockers, are expected to consume it in accordance with their share allowance.

It is said that a million food producing areas in Colorado will have to be abandoned on account of shortage of labor. The big problem is the man power commission is going to be to keep a balance between industrial employment, the army and farm employment. Each is important, but if any one of the three becomes out of balance it will slow them all down. They have to move forward together.

Dear Santa: I try to be good. I buy defense stamps to help kill mean men. Bring me some toys, anyway a flash light. Please take all other boys and girls something.

EMILY GOES TOO FAR

The old-fashioned fellow who liked to fix his plate to suit himself finds women of his household ruled by a certain stern person known as Emily Post.
What Emily says goes. She decrees how the food shall come onto the table, how it shall be served, and the slant of the little fingers when tea is sipped from a fragile cup.

Most men have found Emily's decrees rather tolerable. Most men know that when they pull up to the table and beam with delight on the savory meal, they mustn't leap at it and gorge. They are willing to observe the basic principles of civilized dining.

Most old-timers have ceased saucing their coffee. They have learned to use their knife as a knife and their fork as a fork. But they are not mindful of the fact that many of the sturdy gentlemen who placed the foundation stones, lifted the roof trees and laid the sills of this country were men who liked to do most of those homely things.

Men are willing to abandon the reach and take system for methods more refined to please the persons of nicer tastes. But look out for a revolution now. Emily has gone too far. She has decreed against the old custom of placing a piece of bread on a plate and drowning it in good, rich gravy. Listen, Emily when the mothers of long ago baked those great loaves of bread that belied over the end of the pans into runovers so delicious when broken off and buttered while hot, she had in mind great, generous slices that would just about cover the bottoms of plates. She baked that bread with a picture in her mind of her entire sturdy brood reaching and saying "Pass the gravy, please." She knew how to feed that bunch and keep them happy and growing like young shoats. She couldn't have done it on the family income if they had stuck to fancy fixin' and Emily Post table manners.

She knew that when pa came home in the evening with a slab of beefsteak, which she'd pound on the corner of the kitchen table with the back of the hatchet, that she could get enough gravy out of that meat to fill a huge bowl. She knew that a little meat and a lot of gravy would make the quantity of homely fare that kept that family aglow with happiness.

Those mothers fetched up strong men of this nation and sent them forth in marching armies, down the rural furrows, through factory gates or off to war. Some of them became great leaders of men.

Emily infers a plate of bread and gravy looks like something for Fido. Well, remember Fido of those old days was the dog that chased the freight train off the farm. The men were the kind who could support a 10 per cent mortgage and eight children. —Topeka State Journal.

Mrs. J. T. Luke and Mrs. J. R. Clannahan went to Amarillo Tuesday evening to get the Lukes car. Mr. Luke will remain in Amarillo where he has employment.

Here is old Santa in his uniform for a War Time Christmas—Uncle Sam hat and all. — That is pretty right too — for Santa Claus is Uncle Sam, and the observance of Christmas is one of America's most cherished traditions.

This year you can make your Christmas money do double duty. Give bonds for gifts. You'll be giving an appreciated gift—and you'll be giving that boy out there on the front line some much needed material with which to fight.

The First National Bank is glad at any time to talk "bond talk" with you, and can supply you with any denomination. If you are a depositor, just drop a card, giving the amount, and we will take care of it for you. And of course our bond selling is without profit to ourselves.

And if we don't see you before Christmas, we want to send you our best wishes, and a cordial

Christmas Greetings

Lucky because I just stopped one in the leg. But Smith and Weinberg and Farley . . . they're dead. Dead because we didn't have one more grenade to throw!"

That's an American soldier speaking. Speaking your language.

He's asking for more guns to fight with. More tanks, more planes, more grenades to crack down on the enemy with.

Well, let's give them to him!

Let's loan 10% of our pay to the Government. Let's put it in War Bonds. Let's loan Uncle Sam the money to make more tools of war.

It's a loan because the money you put into War Bonds now comes back to you in ten

$75.00	$100.00
$375.00	$500.00

WHAT'S THE INTEREST RATE? When held to maturity, Bonds pay 2.9 percent per year on your investment, compounded semi-annually—you get back $4 for every $3.

ONCE UPON A time, way back when the world was young, the editor didn't work till midnight — but tonight I believe that must have been somebody else. I have been working so much nights lately that my own dog doesn't know me when I come home. I haven't had a haircut for over a month and the last time I bathed it was warm enough that I didn't even have the hot water heater on.

THE PAPER IS going out to many folks this week who are not regular subscribers. This is a personal invitation to be a regular subscriber — the special rate is $1.25. No one should be without this great versatile family weekly. It's good points are many, it's faults are many times many. If you don't read, why you'll be that much better subscriber. It is surprising how much static some of these boys who read it give me.

I ASKED CRAFT to write a little Pre-Christmas editorial and you'll find it on the front page. He makes this point — war or no war we have no right to deprive the kiddies of their Christmas. Of course it maybe won't be the biggest Christmas in the world but a little originality will make up for what you can't buy. He says, "it's the nearest thing to Heaven they'll find on this earth." If you have forgotten that Christmas morning thrill, or haven't any kids, come around and talk it over with Collin. He does kinda run it in the ground. He starts thrilling for Christmas the day after his birthday and that is in June. You'll find another reminder of the kids faith in the dozens of Santa Claus letters in this issue.

I'VE HAD THE radio on here for about an hour — tuned in to XERA or something of that nature somewhere in "Mekikko". In that hour I have been offered several really keen bargains. Learn to dance — just mix Crazy Water with your drinking water and drink freely. This recipe is guaranteed to make you dance all right.

OTHER SPECIAL inducements tonight over this station included a special long range telescope; enlarged photos; a special gadget, guaranteed to make hens lay, and to give seven more miles to the gallon. Learn to play the piano in ten days, the guitar in three, a special book of cowboy songs, a year's subscription to the Poultry Journal, and indoor garden free, a 540 page doctor book, a Permanent Wave by mail and a chance to sell a new gadget for something or other.

I OVERHEARD Joe Mercer telling Tom Bomar a very good yarn, about the high quality of the merchandise at the drug store. I really should charge Bomar a couple of bucks for the advertising — Joe thought his dog had worms. She was kinda bloated, ill tempered and all the rest of the symptoms. He takes these high powered worm tablets home and shoves a couple down the dog. Joe says she gave a couple of yelps and was off to the races. In about two hours he found her down in the barn and she had a brand new litter of pups. Slight error on Mercer's part in diagnosing the case, but otherwise the pills really got results. NOTE These pills are not for human consumption.

A COUPLE OF more radio flashes — special arch support shoes for gasolineless days and some specially treated fruit trees guaranteed to bear fruit. Just 91c. Send no money. Just pay the postman on delivery plus a few cents COD charges. We'll cheerfully return your money in ten days if the trees haven't born fruit.

BRISCOE COUNTY NEWS

SERGEANT CARLTON GARDNER came in from Hobbs, N. M. Tuesday for a 15-day visit with home folks. He said that the dry country was "getting him". I don't know whether he meant the New Mexico weather, or the Silverton area.

Joe O'Neal is telling of some cotton pickers out there. There wasn't any meat shortage in the crowd. Joe said they wouldn't eat anything but the best either. They would run alongside a jack rabbit and feel of him. If he wasn't good and fat, they'd let him go — And W. Hamilton chimes in with according to WPB, you aren't to kill a jack rabbit though, at all. You are supposed to milk them and let them go. Such logic as these birds are putting out these days.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

In the hills of Southwest Texas, there is a little town two miles from the railroad. An aged darkey with an ancient cart and an old horse used to meet the trains and carry the traveling men to the hill town and back. On one occasion, a "drummer" spent more time than he intended and, hurrying up, said "Uncle Mase, can you get me to the station in time for the train?" "Now, suh, boss, de train am due in 'bout eight minutes."

The knight of the grip exclaimed: "Didn't you tell me that Pegasus there was a cavalry horse in the war with Spain?"

"Yes, suh, dat's a fact." "Then, give me the lines" — and jumping into the seat, the man said, in a ringing voice: "Tension!"

At the once-familiar command of "attention", the horse pricked his ears and seemed to straighten in the traces.

"Charge!" commanded the driver.

And away the animal leaped. Around the curves through the hills, he sped, the darkey turning pale and hanging on. As they came in sight of the station, they saw the train. Not slackening speed, the horse rushed on until his driver shouted: "Halt!"

The man jumped to the ground threw a $5 bill to Uncle Mose, grabbed his grip and swung on to the last coach as started pulling out.

It was several months later, that another traveling man rushed up under similar circumstances.

Remembering the wild ride, the old uncle said: "Yas, suh, I kin git up there."

As the drummer had done on the other occasion, Uncle Mose shouted:

"Tension!" The horse stiffened "Charge!" And away he went. They rushed around the turns and, when they reached the final stretch there stood the train across the road.

The negro's lips began to tremble as he turned to his passenger and said: "I'se leavin' dis heah cart an' you beter jump too — 'case I'se done forget de word whut means stop."

Most people feel that Japan, which calls itself the land of the Rising Sun, should be converted into the land of the Setting Sun. The Marines will probably go further, if permitted, to reduce it to a total eclipse.

Here's a little sketch that your columnist wrote years ago while editor of a small West Texas daily.

Dashing over the Broadway of America from Eastland to Ranger the other morning, I glimpsed the fascinating, unending "big parade" of hudge buses; lumbering trucks; glistening, arctic cars and wheezing antiques of the automobile world.

There came in sight a queer group laboriously approaching the top of a hill.

An old creaking cart. A woman walking along side, her face wrinkled and so smitten by the wind that it was the color of leather. A burro tugging along. And beside him a man with a rope around his waist, helping pull the vehicle.

The man's face was burned to brown that was almost Asiatic. Coarse stubble covered his chin.

Poverty and suffering were written in every feature of the picture — the ancient cart covered by a flapping canvas; the worn burro; the worn travelers.

BAPTIST PASTOR
PRAISES HIS WORKERS

Arvil Richardson, pastor of the Baptist Church, praised the officials in his church for their faithfulness in attending the service last Sunday in spite of the cold and bad weather. Almost everyone from the janitor who came early and had the house comfortable and warm to the pastor who pronounced the benediction at the close of the service were present.

Among those present were Sunday School Supt. Ray C. Bomar, secretary Miss Grace Hughes, sister, Mrs. Jim Bomar; pianist, C. C. Garrison, Treasurer, Ray C. Bomar and the janitor, Gene Clemmer. There were Sunday School teachers present making a total of twenty in the day school and twenty-one in the Morning Worship Service.

Monday night while the snow falling again, leaders and members representing every unexcept the Junior Union were present to carry on their regular work. The pastor expressed to the members that the pupils will not be hindered by such weather when they are there. They assured him they would be present except for absolutely physically or mentally hindered.

The sermon subjects Sunday were "Jonah Bridges National Justice" & "Commended Love"

On Wednesday night following the last Sunday in each month the church has its regular monthly conference with reports to the church from all departments of the work.

NAVAL OFFICERS SOUGHT IN THE TEXAS PANHANDLE

Due to gas rationing and crowded transportation facilities, Lieut. Edward C. Lawson, officer in charge of naval officer procurement for Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle, will be at the Hotel Herring in Amarillo on December 11th and 12th, the Navy Public Relations Office announced today.

Lieut. Lawson will be accompanied by a physician, pharmacist, interview applicants from 9:30 to 6:00 P. M.

Physical examinations will follow the oral interview in event the applicants meets the Navy's high standard for officers. Candidates must have a pleasing personality, be well mannered and have a satisfactory appearance. Only men qualified to be leaders will be considered, Lieut. Lawson said.

To qualify for a commission in the U. S. Naval Reserve an applicant must be able to meet the requirements in one of the following classifications: all types of engineers, doctors and dentists from 19 to 50 years of age; men between 21 and 39 with at least two years of college and good business experience for training and duty at sea; chaplains; freshmen and sophomore college students between 17 and 26 for enlistment in class V-7.

"MY JAP"

A little yellow man put me through this school. I call him My Jap. He is sitting in the Milkado's Naval Training School some twelve thousands miles away, but he exerts a beneficial influence on me all through school. He is the little man who keep me working at top speed all the time. And never lets me think of slackening off.

My Jap is a young almon-eyed V-7 who enlisted about the same time I did. He is dogged, persistent little Oriental who spends all his time studying like a fiend. In his mind is one goal — to sink me. Some day, he knows, we will meet in naval combat near some luscious South Sea Isle, and he doesn't want to be missing any piece of information.

So he never misses an assignment, never skims through a lesson, and his notebooks are complete and immaculate. He reviews everything he has learned frequently, so that he will have the information at his fingertips when he tries to feed us to the tuns.

Don't ask me how I know about him. I had a vision of him early in the course and it never left me.

Whenever I am tired of studying the fire control system and feel I would like to knock off for awhile to look at the pictures in "Life", I suddenly see My Jap. He is sitting on a mat in a Tokyo dormitory, his glasses perched on his Orange Pekoe nose, grimly absorbing the same Ordnance assignment I am inclined to skip. I go back to my book, and I never do see how drum majorettes are trained in Texas High Schools.

Sometimes a bull session down the hall gives off a mellow susurration which floats to my ears with the same enchantment the songs of the Lorelei are said to have had on sailors. My Navigation text droops in my hands. Then suddenly I see My Jap again. His agile yellow hands have completed a dozen maneuvering board problems, and implanted in his mind is the theory of setting a torpedo to steer a collision course with my ship. Up comes my Nav. book, and the bull session sings its siren song no more.

Even on week-end liberty he does not spare me. Late Saturday night, when the clock has whirled around to 2 a. m., the question arises, shall I have another high ball and go to bed or shall I have another highball? My Jap decides it for me. The little rascal has just come home from an evening with his favorite Geisha girl, and is preparing to retire at a reasonable hour. Before he closes his eyes, he is sitting in his kimono, pouring over some vertically printed Japanese Seamanship, just to get the jump on me. "Goodnight, my own true love," I murmur. "I have a date with a Jap." And away I go with three highballs under my belt instead of seven— my first inklings of the horrors of war.

Does My Jap sound a little like Superman to you? Not at all. He just hasn't got the devil-may-care spirit which is America's great blessing — and its failing. You see ever since he can remember he was going to be called upon to sink the white devil, and he never forgets what he is doing. We, on the other hand, are so unused to the idea of battle that we rarely correlate some dull Ordnance chore with the fateful moment when we must all meet Our Japs. We tend to get a false perspective, and we forget that our enemy is the Axis, not the Drill Department.

So, on the whole, I am grateful for My Jap. He gives me no rest and he works me to death, but he keeps reminding me what this whole part of my life means. If I can help it, he will not get ahead of me. I have better facilities, better teachers and what is more, I am fighting for true freedom, which gives me a tremendous edge on that little yellow weevil. When we do meet out there near that South Sea Island, I am pretty sure I am going to knock the living day lights out of My Jap. And I won't be sorry. For then, and only then, will he let me rest.

OUR FIRE LOSSES RIVAL ENGLAND'S

The loss of American lives by fire, when compared with death lists during three years of war in bomb-battered England, is described by Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner, as deplorable. The comparison he said, presents "a very unpleasant picture."

"In a vain effort to defeat the British," continued Hall, "Nazi planes rained flaming hell from the skies over England. War casualties in the first three years ending August 31 1942, show that German air raiders killed 45,871 persons in England.

"Approximately 30,000 civilians burned to death during the same three-year period. In a land free from the roar of enemy planes; where screaming bombs are unknown, our carelessness with fire caused a death toll two-thirds as great as wartime deaths in England."

The Commissioner said last week's incomplete fire reports list at least two deaths in Texas. In one, a man was burned to death when he fell asleep while smoking in bed.

The other death resulted from the dangerous practice of keeping gasoline in the home. A can of gasoline near a water heater was ignited. A shower of flames covered a child standing nearby, causing death within a few minutes.

"Fatal fires are almost a daily occurrence in Texas," Commissioner Hall said. "That result from acts of carelessness — our failure to consider either the safety of others or our own safety. If as many of our people in Texas were killed by bombs as there are by fire, we would be doing something to stop it. Yet, a life by fire is just as horrible a tragedy as one lost by an enemy bomb."

You can figure this out — "When a doctor gets sick and another doctor doctors him, does the doctor doing the doctoring have to doctor the doctor the way the doctor being doctoring wants to be doctor, or does the doctor doing the doctoring of the doctor doctor in his own way?"

FARM TRACTORS IN WARTIME

More Tractor Power for More Work
(Last of a Series of Six Articles)

By A. P. Peck
Managing Editor, Scientific American

Only by keeping his machinery—and particularly his tractors—in the best working shape can the farmer do his full share in the prosecution of the war. This means that he must search out ways of getting more power from his tractor so that by coupling this greater power with longer hours and harder work, he can produce the greatest possible yield from his land.

In this series of articles has been told how scientific tests have shown that tractors using gasoline for fuel can produce more power than the same tractors burning distillate or kerosene. Not only that, but gasoline-burning tractors run cooler, idle better, wear longer, give less trouble from all sources. And all this is true even when gasoline is used in a tractor designed to burn such low-grade fuels as distillate or kerosene. Tests have shown that, with only minor adjustments, the tractor will give as much as 12 percent more power with gasoline than with lower grade fuel. By converting a low compression tractor engine to a high compression type by installing "altitude" pistons or cylinder heads, it becomes possible to get as much as 30 percent more power from the converted unit.

Of course, there is the matter of cost to be considered. Gasoline costs more than distillate or kerosene in most states. But that is only the beginning of the argument. To take the financial side first: In most of the important farming states there is a tax refund on gasoline destined for tractor use. This refund reduces the price difference to a very narrow margin. And since, as we have shown in these articles, a crankcase oil is greatly diluted when distillate is burned, and little or not at all with gasoline, the reduction of cost in oil changes alone can often offset this narrowed difference in price for fuel.

On the work side of the question there is more to be said. The added power obtained by burning gasoline in a tractor is often enough to make possible the use of a higher gear, cutting down the engine speed needed for a given job and adding still more economy to the picture. Or, even if higher gear operation is not feasible, the increased power can be used to make the tractor cover more ground in a given time or pull an additional implement, thus making a similar saving in time and energy.

There are still in use on farms in the United States hundreds of thousands of tractors that were originally designed for operation on any type of fuel. These tractors, as well as the more modern ones designed for gasoline, must be kept at peak efficiency so that American agriculture can quickly reach and maintain its production quota. Means for reaching this peak efficiency have been shown in these articles, means that can be applied by the farmer regardless of the fuel which he will use in the future. At the time of writing, distillate is becoming increasingly scarce, gasoline stocks are piling up in agricultural areas, and the threat of distillate-rationing is on the horizon. But, no matter what tractor fuel is used, regular attention must be given to efficient operation at all times, if the American farmer is going to do his best to help win the war.

Now is the time to bring in your tractor for genuine I. H. C. Repairs and Blue Ribbon Service. Repairs and mechanics are getting scarce so do it now. We are pleased to serve you at any time.

Alterations A Specialty For Both

So You've Wanted To Pay An Income Tax! Well Brother, O.K.

Reprint from The Austin Tribune

People who have said, "I wish I earned enough money to be liable for an income tax." are going to have that pleasure in the coming years.

L. J. Struhall, chief of the Income Tax Bureau in Austin, has been computing income taxes for the last 24 years. When he walked in the tax office, two days after his discharge from the Army, the book of regulations contained 35 pages. To-day, his books of rules and amendments, cover 208 finely printed pages.

And the income tax rates during these intervening years have not lessened. "In fact," Mr. Struhall, says "the tax has risen this year to a point beyond comprehension of most people, and unless they begin now to save money for meeting it, they will have a most difficult time in 1943."

Exemption Changed

In 1943 all persons making $624 or more a year (that is about $12 a week) will be liable for a 5 per cent Victory tax. This will be in the form of a "withholding tax" from the employees salary. Just as the old age benefit is now withheld each payday.

One of the most radical changes in tax computation for the coming 1942 return, is based on personal exemption quotas.

An unmarried civilian's exemption is reduced from $750 to $500. A married civilian's exemption is reduced from $1,500 to $1,200 and credit for each dependent reduced from $400 to $350.

A man in the military service if single has an exemption of $750 and if married an exemption of $1500.

Even though a man is not fully inducted into the military service until Dec. 31, 1942, he can still secure the increased exemption for the entire year. On an income of $1000 this makes a difference in his bank-roll of $47.50.

One of the few heartening changes in the tax law has to do with alimony payments made as the result of a court order in the divorce case. Under the old law taxes were not deductible on the part of the person making such payments to the divorced spouse.

Under the new ruling, such payments made to the wife, or child, or both, are deductible from the income. Furthermore the recipient of the money must list the payments as part of her total income and pays a tax upon it.

Marriage Date Vital

The date on which you were married is also a vital factor in computing your tax. If you married by May 1, you can file either a joint or a separate returns and claim full exemption. However, if you were not married until Sept. 1, you are each classed as single for the full year and although you may file a joint return, can only claim a $1,000 total exemption, or $500 each.

In 1943 comes the 5 per cent Victory Tax. Employers will have to sweat over filling out a new form for all payments to employees and tax deducted therefrom. Employees will sweat when they receive their depleted checks. At the end of each quarter employers must file this return with the government. At the end of each year they must render to the employee a statement of the taxes withheld from their salaries.

How To Compute

To show just how heavy the tax will be on the little fellow as well as the big one. Mr. Struhall takes the case of say, Susie Pitts who makes $1350 a year.

Earned income	1350
Personal exp.	500
Basis for tax	850
Surtax rate or	13%
Tax due	$110.50

Now, she has to take 10 per cent of her earned income of $1350 and subtract it from her $850 basic tax, which leaves $715 subject to the normal tax of 6 per cent. This amounts to $42.90. Therefore little

Susie will have to pay:
$110.50
42.90

$153.40 Total Tax '42

Then, continues Mr. Struhall, in 1943 there will be an additional $36.30 for the Victory tax taken out of this young lady's salary, making her total tax for 1943 $189.70.

But, everyone who is not a government employe can take cheer at this picture, says Mr. Struhall.

Also Federal Workers

Contrary to popular opinion government employes are not "living off the fat of the land" and subject to all sorts of concessions and favors. If little Susie is a federal employe her total tax in 1943 will be $413.45, inasmuch as she would have to put out $156.25 a year for War Bonds, plus a special retirement fee of $67.50.

"And," adds Mr. Struhall, "salaries here do not all begin at this figure; most are only $1260 a year. Susie therefore, must gear her living expenses to an average of $78 per month instead of $112, if she expects to meet her income tax payments.

May Buy Tax Notes

One of the ways in which citizens may purchase War Bonds and still have enough money left with which to keep out of Leavenworth, is through the Tax Savings Plan, explains the tax official.

Special Tax Savings notes may be purchased in denominations of $25, $50 and $100 dollars (also as high as $100,000 — but who has that much money?) These may then be turned in on your income tax payments. They earn 4% interest, and may be purchased on a monthly basis. The notes are not taxable, but the earned income from them is.

Mr. Struhall urges that individuals filing returns prepare them early, so that all questions may be carefully weighed and answered by the Federal Income Tax Bureau

FSA LOANS AVAILABLE FOR FOOD PRODUCTION

Citing a recent statement by economists that 1943 is expected to bring the greatest demand ever known for farm products, and stating that next year's production difficulties will be tremendous, Mr. Samuel F. Malone, rural rehabilitation supervisor for the FSA, this week urged farmers to begin planning their program of operations immediately.

"Shortage of manpower already is a critical problem in many farm areas," said Mr. Malone, "and it will be much more critical next year. As the nation increases our army and steps up industrial output, it is inevitable that greater problems will face those in agriculture.

"Farmers in Briscoe County and throughout the United States," he continues, "will do well to forestall many hardships and disappointments by developing their basis farm and home plans during the winter months."

The supervisor observed that farm operations often involve credit needs. He suggested that operators who may need to borrow funds for next year make their arrangements during December and January.

"The Farm Security Administration," said Mr. Malone, "expects to receive applications for loans during the next two months from many Briscoe County farmers. Under a directive of the Secretary of Agriculture this agency has the responsibility for getting into full production the manpower and resources of all farm operators who are unable to achieve their full output through their own efforts or through existing normal channels of assistance.

He reminded farmers that FSA loans are available to eligible borrowers for practically all farming needs, including the purchase of capital goods such as cows, hogs, sheep and so forth. And for operations.

He said FSA assistance, however is limited to those operators who cannot get adequate credit from any other source.

"We encourage applicants to first contact the regular credit agencies because FSA is not in competition with any public or private lending agency. Our job," he said, "is to assist only those who need help and cannot get it elsewhere."

Mr. Malone, whose office is in the courthouse in Silverton, said he would be glad to discuss any phase of the Farm Security program with Briscoe County Farmers and assist them, if possible, with their problems.

NOT ONE DAY OR WEEK — BUT EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR

Yes, that is our Christmas message to you—"Remember Pearl Harbor" and the brave boys who died there as the result of a dirty stab in the back—and our own unpreparedness! We refused to recognize facts. We indulged in wishful thinking instead of hard work—and we are to blame that good men died—and are still dying!

No matter what we do we cannot make up for that first grave error. Even total victory will not erase the memory of Pearl Harbor.

That's why we say our Greeting is "Remember Pearl Harbor" along with our "MERRY CHRISTMAS". Let's buy more bonds and make our Christmas sock

You'll be busier than ever during the next two weeks when you add your Christmas duties to your other work... why not drop into our Cafe for your meals. We offer you a REAL home cooked meal and at a very reasonable price. We are sure you will like our food and our service. You are always welcome.

This is our second War Christmas. The coming year will see many more food articles rationed. Let's all pitch in "on the home front" and help win the war. And in case we don't see you early on Christmas morning, we want to say right now,
A MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL

O.K. America!

*We did it before
We can do it again!*

There's no better way for us to say,
"MERRY CHRISTMAS"
than to join with all American Farmers in working for greater food goals in 1943. Not from the danger standpoint, but for the importance in Winning the War, some of the grimmest battles will be fought right out there on your farm, behind a tractor or on a plow. Every extra pound of food produced will be saying "MERRY CHRISTMAS" to thousands of our starving allies. And so, as we extend you our annual Christmas Greetings, we do so with the resolve that we, as a farmer-owned concern, will do our part on the Home Front, to help you win your Battle for Production!

We hardly know how to word a Greeting to our friends and customers this War Time Christmas. Perhaps the best way is just as always, "A Merry Christmas To All" —but with it we make the firm resolve to do our part as individuals and as a firm, to help win the war; and offer with it, a little prayer for each of the fighting boys.
