Official City and County News

IT PAYS to advertise—even if you advertise that you are dumb. A couple of weeks ago I was popping off about making glue with flavors... and in comes a package for an automatic licking machine. It was sent by Sarrt Martin of Ranger, Texas, who simply enclosed it with no comment at all.

NOW FOR THE life of me I can not decide who he is. I do want to say thanks though, for it is a very handy and practical little gadget to have around a print shop. And like I said before it pays to advertise... and there are many weeks when I have nothing to display except my natural dumbness—for I had never seen nor heard of an automatic stamp lick before.

TUESDAY—the day of the big wind. Anybody who'd live in a place where the wind blows as hard as it has today is crazy from every angle. Yeah, here I am.

ON THE FRONT page of this paper you will find some dope on how to fill out your income tax sheets. There is only one thing they neglected to do—is how to pay it. That is where Yours Truly Uncle Sam where the hair is short. He has dropped the income tax a lot—but not as much as my income has fallen off.

A BEAUTIFUL TRIBUTE

Little R. Morgan, editor of the Briscoe County (N. D.) Record, published an article concerning this son who was killed in action in the Far Pacific. After telling of the events in his life he ended with the following:

"Thus ends the story of this typical American boy. It might be written about millions of other boys who are now fighting for righteousness throughout the world.

"The sacrifice he and others have made, and others will make, place upon us a heavy responsibility which we dare not shirk. Every American must realize now that we cannot live unto ourselves alone. There rests upon us the sacred obligation to see to it that the world is not again plunged into the hell of war at the instigation of one man or one nation. We owe it to them to see that America becomes so strong and is kept so strong that she, and other peaceful nations, can put down the threat of war in its incipency wherever it may arise. Then we must have the courage and the vision to use that strength to see that never again shall a fanatical Hitler, a swashbuckling Mussolini or a treacherous Jap raise his hideous head in this world. If we do less we shall not have kept faith with them.

"And so, my son, hail and farewell. You lived abundantly, you fought valiantly, you kept the faith, you died bravely, you gave your life that we who live may enjoy the blessings of freedom, democracy, individual liberty and the American way of life. No man can give more.

"God bless you for the precious memories you have left us."

FROM NOW ON I'm going to have to promote the idea of joining the WAAC's to some of you girls. That won't be so bad. Not like the campaign I was asked to stage for the Navy some time ago... What I mean is if I try to tell a girl about the advantages of the WAAC's or the WAVE's, she's not going to say, "Well if you think so much of it why don't you join it yourself?"

THIS BUSINESS of the women going to war may be the saving of the world. In the first place, they've taken up a little more slack and entered a field formerly occupied by men only. The men aren't going to like that any too well, and may take it serious enough to say, (man like) "Well, hop to it gals, the next war's all yours." And that may be where the saving of the world from war comes in. I don't believe the women of the world will be silly enough to march off every twenty years just to fight another bunch of women.

PRUNING OF TREES

Lem Weaver

Select three or four of the best branches on one and two year old trees and remove all others. Try and select limbs that are about 6 inches above the other in a spiral arrangement on the body. If possible have the lowest branch about 12-16 inches above the ground. The top limb should be 24-30 in. from the ground. Prominent buds on the body of young trees can be rubbed off at the time of pruning as they will quickly develop into "Water sprouts" next spring. By rubbing off these buds now you can save yourself the job of keeping the sprouts off next spring.

Older trees are pruned by removing a part of the end growth of the branches. A common mistake is to saw off whole limbs from the framework, leaving a long naked space between the trunk of the tree and the twiggy part of the tree where the fruit is borne. This practice leads to having trees that are too high and that produce fruit only on the end of the branches, thereby causing breaking of the limbs when large crops are produced. Begin pruning at the end of the branches, removing about a third of last season's growth. Remove all water sprouts from the body and framework branches. If the trees have been pruned in previous years so that there are long naked spaces between the trunk and the twiggy branches, heavy pruning should be on the ends of the branches. This will result in the development of numerous sprouts. Next June or July the sprouts can be thinned topped and developed into fruit producing growth.

There is always talk about the trees in this county living only a short time. With very little cost, we have a chance of doubling their life, with two sprayings a year you have a chance of being well

LOANS AVAILABLE FOR MORE PRODUCTION

The welfare of millions of America's average citizens — their health, morale and pocket books — depend on how well the small American farmers operators meet the immense task of producing food in 1943, in the opinion of Samuel F. Malone, rural rehabilitation supervisor of the Farm Security Administration.

"Obviously this does not take into account the welfare of America's fighting forces nor of the needs of this nation's allies, but unless our average farmers meet the tremendous food goals this year, the war effort is certain to suffer a severe set-back," he said.

"The little farmer has a big job to do in 1943," he continued, "and the Farm Security has undertaken extensive measures to help the little man in agriculture."

"There is just one way to get more food production — that is through helping our family-sized and small farmers to produce all they can. The big farmers, with ample credit, already are doing their best."

Mr. Malone said he wished to remind farm operators in Briscoe county that they should make arrangements to finance their production this year.

He said FSA loans are being directed especially to any small farmer who with such financing can become qualified as "essential farm producers" under the war-rating, by adding to their livestock or poultry or increasing their war unit rated crops.

"Farm Security loans," he said, "are available for almost every need in the farm home or on the land, and the loans are usually for three to five year periods."

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

The two young fellows were strangers in town, and it being noon, they went to the leading hotel for dinner. Afterward, as they looked about the lobby, one remarked, "Reckon we could play a hand or two of dominoes before we hit the road again? Maybe we could get up a four-handed game."

Two middle-aged townsmen perked up at this and one said, "We might take you on — and to make it sporting, what do you say to a little bet?" The older men were the best domino players in the town and, having played together so much as partners, they knew each others style.

Nevertheless, the strangers proceeded to take them like Grant took Richmond for five games in a row at a dollar a game, and then departed.

The defeated pair were unable to understand how they could have been beaten so thoroughly and were telling several friends about it.

"Them fellers sure was nervous and would fidget with their dominoes and rap on the table quite a bit."

The depot agent exclaimed:

"No wonder! I know them. They dropped by the station to say howdy to me this mornin', on their way to San Antonio. They're telegraph operators and no doubt when one had the double-five or the six-ace, he'd tap the information off to his partner in the Morse code!"

A proposal to do something that will help the farmer has been made in Austin where Representatives Hartzog and Morse have introduced a Constitutional amendment to cut the interest rate on loans secured by a lien on farm machinery and equipment, livestock, crops or other farm produce or real estate. The maximum rate on such loans would be 8 per cent under the Constitutional amendment, whereas 10 per cent interest is permitted now.

Authorities may, or may not, have received the following letter — which is going the rounds of the papers:

Dear Adjacent General
My husband was induced into the surface 18 months ago and I ain't received no pay since he was gone.

Please send me my elopement as he is my only support and I kneed him every day to buy and keep us in clothing. I am a pore woman and both sides of my parents are very old and I can't expect anything from them.

Do I get any more than I am going to get? Please send me a letter and tell me if my husband has made application for a wife and child. I have already written to the President and got no answer and if I don't hear from you, I will write Uncle Sam about you and him both.

CORP. Ben Bingham sends in the following poem.

"BEATS THE HELL OUT OF ME"

We have had some strife in this Army life.

We have had some grief and woe We have had some fun when the day was done And when soldiers hearts were aglow.

We have eaten stew as all soldiers do.

We have gambled, lost and won But if you could see as it happens to be All I say, "Beats the hell out of me."

At the crack of dawn in the early morn They fall out from each abode; With a full pack on their back All ready to hit the road.

In the course of an hour we find to our sorrow Our feet are as sore as can be I wonder again if we really are men

'Cause it beats the hell out of me

Then comes the day when we hie away

To the Texas barren ramp;

With the longest convoy that we could deploy

And all the men in the camp We are greatly forlorned when not informed

Of the tactical mission to be: And the Colonel would say in his easy way

I don't know, "Beats the hell out of me."

We pick out a spot in the heart of the lot.

And camouflage all the G. I.

Then set up some maps of the airplane snaps

Showing all terrain features nearby.

When that has been done we sit in the sun

And wonder what all this can be A captain walks by and we ask him just why—

He just smiles, "Beats the hell out of me."

All thru the day in the same old way

We wander around in the fold; And in the night with the stars shining bright

We sleep on the ground in the cold.

At quarter to five for those still alive.

There are victuals we cannot see

A shavetail quite dumb is asked just how come.

He pants, "Beats the hell out of me"

At quarter to eleven a message from heaven

Gives orders to be on the move: The officers savor just such a favor

And the non-coms and privates approve

When the cool day is waning with out due complaining

And we pass thru gate Number three

Our pulses are throbbin. We're thru with WHAT problem

It beats the hell out of me.

REMEMBER THIS..

..if you're annoyed by "private blackouts"

Military blackouts are often necessary these days . . . but "private blackouts" aren't! You can save time and nervous strain . . . as well as the annoyance of an unnecessary blackout in your home by remembering two things: (1) Keep a supply of fuses . . . correct size . . . always handy. (2) Check your switch box fuses immediately if your lights go out . . . replace any "blown" fuses with your good ones.

Here's How . . .

1. Go to the main switch of your meter box. Stand on a DRY SURFACE and turn off electricity.

2. Remove "blown" fuse, touching only its top. The fuse with the scorched spot in the "window" on top is the one to remove.

3. Replace "blown" fuse with new one, as you would a lamp bulb. Then turn on the main switch.

2. Remove "blown" fuse, touching only its top. The fuse with the scorched spot in the "window" on top is the one to remove.

3. Replace "blown" fuse with new one, as you would a lamp bulb. Then turn on the main switch.
