CAN WE BELIEVE IN THE IMMORTALITY OF THE SOUL?

(A short sermon by Rev. T. G. Craft, pastor of the M. E. Church of Silverton)

There is a kind of an instinct in man that does believe that he is an immortal and eternal being. Aristotle, the ancient Greek philosopher, argued that since our physical instincts do not deceive us, but are true, our higher instinct which believes in immortality of the soul is equally true. All peoples, however pagan, believe in the immortality of the soul. This instinct of immortality is universal in space and time. But we have greater evidence now than Aristotle had twenty-three hundred years ago, to confirm our beliefs in immortality. Science teaches us that all the forms of matter are eternal in essence and nature; and that not one tiny atom of nature is destructible, but rather indestructible; therefore, eternal. Living matter does change its form, but it never ceases to be. Non-living matter in time will become living matter, and in turn, living matter will become again non-living matter. The cycle may continue forever, in which matter changes from non-living matter to living matter and living matter to non-living matter without the tiniest atom being destroyed.

But what about the eternity of spiritual qualities and elements? From whence come our spiritual elements? The soul comes from God. It is God's creation. It is continuous in the stream of life. God creates souls, but His method is so simple that we overlook its simplicity, and too often remain in ignorance of the divine process of soul-growing and creation. God gives all his creatures the power to create souls. In Genesis we read, "These are the sons of Billah which Laban gave unto Rachel, his daughter, and she bare these unto Jacob; all the souls were seven. (Gen. 46:25)." A biological creation in the human family is also a spiritual creation. Every individual is also a soul.

Souls, like bodies, need to grow in order to achieve the fullest life. The mission of the body is to tabernacle and develop the soul in this life. The body contributes daily to the soul. The business of living is designed under God to grow the soul, but beautiful and noble.

Souls may be either good or evil according to the nature of the elements that compose them. A child's soul is innocent. It is neither good nor bad in infancy, since it is not conscious of itself nor of the world in which it lives. Every soul will be influenced by the kind of a physical organism it has, and perhaps more, by the social environment in which it must later live. The strongest and earliest environment is the home and family. What the child may become, begins in the home.

But no home is spiritually strong enough to impart the highest elements of immortality to the soul. At best, the best people can give but little to the highest soul development from the standpoint of supreme immortality.

When Jesus taught Nicodemus that he must have a new birth—a spiritual birth, He taught all of us that needed lesson. An eternal good immortality must come from God. God must impart to the individual the materials and spiritual elements for the building of a good soul. God enters here to build a specific quality of immortality which can never perish. Beside our old evil self, God enters to plant a new life—a divine soul. God does not take the old soul and shift it around and make it pure and good. Even God cannot take an evil, and make it into a good. He simply places beside the evil, a good soul; though an infant soul in the beginning, and then seeks to grow the spiritually good soul, and at the same time seeks to destroy all the evil elements that are inherent in the old fleshly soul. Sounds queer to us does it not?

Jesus says: "Labour not for the meat that perisheth, but for the meat that endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of Man shall give unto you; for him that

Fuel Administration Warns of Fuel Shortage

Dr. J. C. Potter, Deputy Solid Fuels Administrator for War, has informed the nation that there is only a thirty day supply of coal above ground, and that the latest estimates of bituminous coal production are more than 38,000,000 tons under this year's requirements. He predicts for the coming winter the greatest coal shortage this country ever faced.

In the "Get Ready for Winter" campaign which must be conducted during the warm months in order to assure the best possible fuel conditions next winter, the following message must be got over to the public now.

All fuel will be scarce next winter. Act now to keep from going cold then, by doing the following things.

1. Store this summer whatever kind and quantity of fuel your dealer can let you have. If you burn coal, don't wait for some preferred kind that may never be available, or insist on getting more than your fair share.
2. The Government has enlisted your coal dealer to carry out measures to keep you warm next winter. Seek and accept his advice on your coal problems.
3. Protect your home against loss of heat by installing insulation, storm windows and doors, and weatherstripping.
4. Clean your furnace, and place heating equipment in efficient operating condition. Install controls or other heat-saving equipment where available. Learn how to get the full amount of heat from your fuel.

Death came instantly to Mrs. Walter Watters when she was struck by a bolt of lightning at her farm home Sunday, June 18, about six o'clock in the evening. Mr. Watters and their ten year old daughter, Bonnie June, were also struck down by the flash. Bonnie Dell was standing by her mother's side and as we go to press is still suffering from the severe shock. Walter was some twenty feet distant and while he was knocked down and stunned, has suffered no injury.

A severe thunder shower had just passed and the Watters family was in the back yard, and they had just found a cow that had been killed a few moments before. It had hailed a little and they decided to pen up the calves and then go over to the next field to see if the wheat had suffered any hail damage. The sky was nearly clear, and only a small cloud or two was overhead, as the three worked in the yard. No warning came as the bolt of lightning flashed to earth. Mr. Watters came to and saw his wife and daughter lying on the ground. As he ran to them the little girl jumped up and ran toward the house. A hazy smoke was over the yard as he reached his wife and found that she was dead.

Bill Watters on the adjoining farm was riding horseback and had the horse knocked down by what he thinks was the same bolt. He said that it looked as if a three pronged flash of fire reached toward the earth and that one of them was over Walter's home. Bill suffered no injury.

Funeral services were held in the First Baptist Church, Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. W. L. Brian. Interment was made in the Silverton Cemetery.

OBITUARY

The following obituary was read by Rev. W. L. Brian at the funeral service Tuesday afternoon.

Dorothy Mae Watters was born January 31, 1906, at Mangan, Okla. Greer County. Mrs. Watters moved to Briscoe County August 25, 1925. She has lived here until the time of her death. Last Sunday afternoon, June 18, 1944, the entire community was shocked to learn of her sudden death. Mrs. Watters at the time of her death, was 38 years, 4 months and 21 days old.

On August 7, 1927, Dorothy Mae Robert Watters was united in marriage to Walter Watters. To this union was given two daughters, Carrie Dell and Bonnie June. Mrs. Watters is survived by her husband Walter, her two daughters, Carrie Dell and Bonnie June, two step children Mrs. Scott Dunham and Lige H. Watters who is in England. Two brothers and two sisters Lewis B. Roberts, Hollie C. Roberts, Ney M. Roberts and Mrs. Nora Shinnault of Casagrande, Arizona, and one grandchild Freddie Scott Dunham of Silverton.

Mrs. Watters was converted early in life. Somewhere close to the age of ten years. Through the twenty-eight years of her Christian life, those that knew her, knew her to be a Bible Christian, with these Christian Characteristics, love for others, patience, gentleness, meekness, long-suffering, and a deep and abiding faith in her Christ, and her Church. The entire church will miss her. She shall be missed everytime the Church gathers for Worship. The Church feels that her labors have not been in vain, for by her Christian Service she has sown seeds of Righteousness in the hearts and lives of those who came in contact with her sweet Christian Spirit, that will continue to bless thru out eternity. The entire Church pledges themselves to pray for the family, and to offer its Christian influence and service, to the two fine girls left behind, that they may become the fine Christian character that their Mother was before them. We can truthfully say of Mrs. Watters that she lived for others.

Miss Wyona Lee, who attended college at Canyon last year is at home in Lubbock and is employed as post-mistress at Hemphill-Wells Dept. Store.

YOUR TRUE?

WELL, I MADE it to Kansas, but believe me anyone who gets anywhere by bus nowadays has their rabbit foot working full time. Rode in aisles so crowded that there wasn't even room to sit on my suit case. Got as far as Liberal and checked the bus riding over to those with more patience and stronger legs.

FROM THERE IT was pretty easy sailing as I traveled via the thumb route. Much more comfortable and in the last 125 miles I gained six hours over the bus schedule.

I WENT IN a hotel up at Liberal to use the public telephone. The guy in charge was the most inconsiderate bird you ever saw. Wouldn't even make change—in- stead of speaking he grunted, et cetera— you know the type. Well as I was going on with a salesman I was expressing my views pretty strongly about the difference in the way Texas people and the Kansas people acted. The salesman said that he had worked in both states and there was no difference—that the difference was in the individuals... the very next town while he was making a call I stopped at a dry goods store and tailor shop and bought a sport shirt. The fellow said, "Here, let me press it for you." That sounded pretty good and while he was pressing the shirt I asked him if he had time to press my pants. "Jerk'em off. It won't take five minutes." I did, and he did. Wouldn't take a cent then for the pressing. And so I guess the salesman was right. Courtesy lies with the individual—not in the geographical location. I didn't ask, but if I had I would probably have found that the tailor was a native Texan that hadn't lived there long enough to get acclimated.

MY SON IS kinda mechanical minded and naturally at his age is as curious as the proverbial cat... My nephew has a baby 4 months old, and his mother feeds him in the way that Mother Nature originally provided. Collin had the idea I guess that all milk comes in bottles. At any rate, he happened in the room just in time to see the baby nursing. His eyes got as big as dollars and he kept peeking around trying to figure it out. Finally he asked what the baby was doing. The baby's mother said "He's getting his milk." He watched a bit more, and then as he walked off, he said, "Well, I don't see how it works."

WHICH REMINDS me of the high school lad who was asked in physiology class to name the advantages of mother's milk over boughten milk for babies. He said, "Well, it is cheaper, more sanitary, easier to carry on trips... and it comes in such cute containers."

THERE HASN'T been much activity here on bond sales. I doubt if there has been more than $25,000 Series E bonds sold. Everybody is busy in the harvest, and there isn't much use going to see a person about bonds when he is wondering if his combine bin is running over. Howsomever, when the wheat is taken care of, there is going to be a lot of bond buying to do. June is nearly gone. There will be only one way to meet the quota and that is for everyone to buy every bond they can—and without being solicited. Soliciting bond sales takes a lot of the other fellow's time, and really there isn't much reason why YOU should spend YOUR time to sell ME on a proposition that is benefitting ME more than anyone else.

LAST WEEK brought enough subscriptions to buy a $37.50 bond I got it yesterday. Look up that date on your paper. You might as well come in and pay up during the bond drive as to wait longer. The special offer will last longer but all subscription money goes in to bonds until July 8th. The rate now $1.50 a year.

WHEN YOU FOLKS get a letter of general interest from the man in service bring it around and we will be glad to print it. Everyone is anxious for news from Service Men—and the past two weeks we have struck kind of a dry hole as far as letters go. AND TO YOU guys in service—you are always sending word in a roundabout way that you enjoy the paper and a lot of blarney—well, if you want anyone in this office to believe it, send a letter a little oftener—after all this "keep up the morale" business works both ways—and believe me, keeping up with the changes of address for 225 service men puts my morale at a low ebb.

M. C. POTTER has been wasting away of late from worry. He has a problem that he wishes the readers of this paper could help him solve. He wants to know which is the butt end of a goat. It beats the heck out of me that Potter, after having made a life study of goats and their actions, doesn't know the answer. Technically speaking, as a scholar of the English language, I would say that the answer to Potters question lies in whether the word in question is used as a noun or a verb. If it is used as a noun, surely Mr. Potter could find more interesting material for study than goats.

Mrs. Emma Jackson has sold her farm and bought a home in Amarillo, where she will move soon. We are sorry to lose Mrs. Jackson from the community but hope she will be happy there. Dishpan Hints Right way to use soap in the dishpan is the way a chef adds seasoning—just enough for perfect results. Not a speck more or less. Remember, soap is made of precious war materials.

To keep from wasting soap, use it in proportion to the amount of water and the greasiness of the dishes. If suds die down, add a little more soap, swish it around with a mop or shaker to get foamy bubbles.

I'll predict no-miles-an-hour.

I'll hand it to folks. They've had the patriotism to hold down their speed. But imagine war restrictions ended. Man, you'll see old cars overdoing till they can't chug another mile. You'll see every repair shop crowded for months, but I'm figuring to duck that! Of course, I couldn't see everything coming when I originally had this engine OIL-PLATED. I'd simply overheard that any engine forms dangerous corrosive acids. It made sense to try protecting the engine by OIL-PLATING it with Conoco Nth motor oil. I switched to Nth. You can suit yourself about thinking it's the only oil or not, but first read the whole label. You'll see where Conoco Nth oil's special synthetic fastens OIL-PLATING to your engine's fine inside finish. Then OIL-PLATING is really sort of a special surface to block steady acid corrosion. When repairs might be just a promise, and you can only pray for a new car, you're way ahead with your engine safely OIL-PLATED by Conoco Nth.

Harvest Hands Ought Know About Eats

We are feeding a lot of harvest hands. One told us the other day, "This is BEST place to eat that I've found in years of harvesting." Well, we don't know about that, of course, but he ought to know. Why don't you folks come down and eat for yourselves?

hath God the Father sealed" (St. John 6:27). Here Jesus tells us that he giveth the meat that endureth unto everlasting life. In the third Chapter of St. John's gospel, Jesus told Nicodemus that he must have a new birth in order to enter the Kingdom of God. It all sums up to the total fact that eternal life and a heavenly immortality comes from God through Jesus Christ.

St. Paul discussed the same thought to the Galatians in Chapter Five. The elements of the sinful soul are: adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies, envyings, murders, drunkenness, revelings and such like. Then he adds that they who do these things shall not enter nor inherit the Kingdom of God. This is the type of evil soul whose immortality is eternal, but is still evil wherever it may be.

Then the apostle discusses the elements of the good souls. They are love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness and temperance. There are other elements to be added; such as forgiveness, mercy, pure in heart, holiness, justice, kindness, sanctification or cleanliness of the soul, and such like.

The man who is born of God possesses divine and immortal elements of soul that come to him from God. Therefore, he is divinely immortal after the nature of Jesus Christ his Lord.

If these things be true and the Bible teaches they are, how important it is that all men need God, and the church. I know what the cynic thinks of both religion and the church. I also know that he is ignorant of God, the elements of immortality, and their source, and the mission of the church. The true church is not made of a group of people as so many think. It is a spiritual church sent from God into the world for us all to experience. Why not try God and the church?

Therefore, when one possesses the elements of a heavenly immortality in his own heart; he is assured of a personal and eternal immortality. The strongest evidence of a heavenly immortality lies inherent in the riches of his soul. It is then that he can say "I know that I shall live forever."

G I Joe Goes A W O L

Why should he stay home, when everyone except Minnie the gold fish, even Butch the dog was gone? No need of everyone being gone either as school was out and the Missus who drove the school bus and Jim and Jan who went to school had no reason to go away now.

It is no fun chewing on curtains if there was no one there to scold you and there was no dog to slap your jaws playfully when you climbed his legs. What company could a dumb goldfish swimming aimlessly around in a glass bowl to show off her beautiful colors be to an intelligent prairie dog?

Somewhere his master was in an Army camp. Maybe if he started out he could find him. But alas G I only got a short distance when a pesky dog started chasing him. Maybe because thinking he was Butch. Anyway he was getting very tired when he saw Glen who was Jimmy's friend and also his friend, who rescued him and took him home in the car, which was much nicer than being chased a mile by a dog.

G I Joe is a pet prairie dog owned by Jimmie and Janice Bullock. A dog chased him to the Milton Sanders home a distance of a mile from the Bullock home.

Mrs. Jack Coffee and children from Amarillo are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Davis.

Dickie Kidwell of Amarillo spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. H. G. Finley.
