Cake ace tries cooking with gunpowder

By Larry Thornton
Managing Editor

"Ace of Cakes" Duff Goldman turned in his mixing bowl and spoon for a Glock and FN P90 Tuesday, joining members of the Muleshoe Police Department at the gun range.

The Food Network's star baker and members of his Charm City Cakes bakery staff were in town this week to prepare and present a cake in honor of the police department's "Best Practices" recognition from earlier this year.

Duff's reaction to "full-auto"

At the gun range, the bakers learned there was more to being a police officer than knowing how to handle a piece of pastry with a hole in the middle. For instance, you get to handle things that can make holes in the middle of pastries as well.

Along with the "short-range" firearms previously mentioned, and devices such as "flash bang and smoke grenades, Goldman and Goef Manthorne put their trigger fingers to the department's Remington 700, .308 Winchester, sniper rifle, perforating three of four dangling cupcakes.

During an interview later in the day, Goldman explained that he doesn't actually "dislike cupcakes," adding that he doesn't mind eating them, but said they were "a waste of time" for his bakery.

"If we decorated them, like we decorate our cakes... we'd have to charge $100 for them," said Goldman. "Would you eat a $100 cupcake?"

About the trip to the gun range, he said he'd shot rifles and shotguns in the past, but this was his first experience with both a handgun and a fully-automatic firearm.

Journal places in TPA newspaper competition

The Muleshoe Journal brought home a couple of wins from the Texas Press Association's Better Newspaper Contest, the results of which were announced at the TPA's summer convention in San Antonio.

Mirroring the Journal's top win in the Panhandle Press Association's contest earlier in the year, the Journal took fourth place for Community Service, in its support of the City of Muleshoe and the Muleshoe Economic Development Corporation's efforts to become a certified retirement community.

"The paper changed its printing schedule and fully endorsed the Muleshoe

Annual Tour de Muleshoe draws record number of riders

Saturday's perfect weather for a bike ride contributed to the record number of participants at this year's Tour de Muleshoe, according to tour officials,

Lonnie Adrian, Tour de Muleshoe chairman, said 317 registered for this year's event, and 305 registrants actually made the ride.

The 16th annual event brought cyclists from more than 30 Texas cities, eight New Mexico cities and as far away as Denver, Colo., and Detroit, Mich.

Of the Texas participants, the largest number of riders were from Lubbock, Amarillo and Plainview, Adrian said.

Adrain, also reported most of the riders were in the 40-60 year age range with more males riding than females.

And, this year, more riders chose the 100k and 40 mile rides than the 10 mile ride.

The Tour de Muleshoe is not a race, but whether riding fast or slow the participants are encouraged to enjoy the scenic farmland and sandhills along the 100K and 40 mile routes.

Jean Allison, Heritage Foundation board member, also noted that more than 100 new participants made this year's rides, joining many who attend the event every year.

The Muleshoe Heritage Foundation uses the proceeds from the tour for the operation and maintenance of the Muleshoe Heritage Center.

God the Father has children, not customers

Maybe I'm just easily bugged. But the presently popular slow-down at fast food restaurants bugs me.

You see, I know what I want when I go to a fast food drive-through. And one of the things I want is for it to be fast. And I readily admit, most of the time, the speed is pretty impressive.

Did I mention that I know what I want when I go through a drive-through? I also know what I don't want. I don't want to be slowed down by the voice on the speaker asking me if I want stuff I don't want.

"Hi, would you like a rich, creamy hot chocolate?"

"No, what I'd really like is for you to quit trying to sell me something I don't want so I can get down to the business of telling you what I do want. I'm already here. I'm planning to buy something from you. And I will buy stuff if you'll please be quiet and let me do it. I'll also be a lot happier with my purchase and actually want to come back again if you'll drop the annoying pre-sale sales pitch."

That's not the way I answer, but it's the way I'd like to answer. It's probably all there in the tone of my "No," but there's no point in my being testy. These folks are just doing what they're told they have to do. And by now at my favorite coffee oasis, most of them know me and know what I want when they hear my voice. They're nice folks. I like them and don't want to be a jerk.

But I don't like the sales pitch. It must "work" or the folks in charge wouldn't be making their employees do it. I just really wish they'd quit doing it.

Which is one reason why I like to order inside. No pre-sale sales pitch. At least, not yet.

By the way, I guess those automated telephone answering systems so many companies use these days "work," too, but customers hate them, and companies that care about their customers should care about what

TPA win...

The Journal's second win was for the sports photography of Stacy Conner and the accompanying captions or "cutlines" of managing editor Larry Thornton, which garnered a third place win.

About the Sept. 10 entry, "It's going to hurt," and the Nov. 19 entry "Lonely at the top," the judges wrote, "Your cutlines really are a plus for this competition... Both shots are excellent. Great job!"

their customers hate. Please press '7' if you agree.

Recently I even discovered one fast food place proudly advertising on their menu that I'd get a free drink if their person on the raspy speaker forgot to ask me if I wanted to order something that I didn't want. That surprised me. Not only am I not in the least offended if they forget to make their sales pitch, I'd actually be willing to pay more if they'd not make it.

My being bugged about this probably won't change anything. I just need to get over being bugged. But I'd almost be surprised if some consumer-driven mega-churches aren't already considering something similar. You sit down at the pew, connect your cell phone via BluePewTooth, and get the options. "Take five percent off your tithe if we forget to ask if you prefer traditional or contemporary. Punch '4' if you'd like to check out a DVD player so Pastor Billy Bob (who doesn't know your name) can deliver a heartfelt and personal prayer at your surgery via the plastic screen. By the way, would you like to upgrade to a plusher pew? Press '5'."

I'm glad God considers me a child and not a customer.

Police Chief Brian Frieda welcomes Chef Duff Goldman to Muleshoe.

Police chief greets cake chef

 "That was awesome!" One thing that apparently surprised the officers at the range, however, was that the .308 caliber rifle bullets hitting the cupcakes had passed through without destroying them.

Goldman said cakes are "pretty tough," reacting to the impact more like a sponge.

When asked about the reason for coming to West Texas, and especially Muleshoe, Goldman said the idea came up for the show to get on the road.

"It was a chance for us to meet our fans," he said. "It's rare for us to get to make cakes and meet them," referring to the fans.

Goldman said they'd received a lot of requests they weren't able to fulfill, so they started going through the emails and found the request from Muleshoe Police Chief Brian Frieda.

"I love Texas," Goldman said, noting that a friend of his is a chef in the Dallas area, and since he's been driving through Goldman has tried to vary his route to see more of the Lone Star State.

Born and raised in Massachusetts, he seemed amazed how young many of the communities and counties in West Texas were.

Goldman said he's been cooking professionally since he was 14 years old, and cooking at home since he was a small child.

He said one of the best things about the nation's attitude toward cooking since about 1990 is that, especially for men, "It's not 'uncool' to cook."

While the cooking profession is and has always been dominated by men, for some reason there was often a different perception about cooking in the home.

Cooking's not a profession for wimps, he said, noting that he has about as many scars and burns from his time in a kitchen as he does from his motorcycles.

And, when he was in college, Goldman said he learned that young ladies were fascinated by guys who liked sports — Goldman was raised playing hockey and remains a devoted fan — and could also cook.

"You almost have to be a psychopath to cook," Goldman joked, which makes one wonder a bit about the day's fun at the range.

Facts About The BIBBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

JERUSALEM: ANCIENT FORTRESS WHICH STOOD UNCONQUERED IN THE HEART OF ISRAEL SINCE THE DAYS OF JOSHUA, WAS FINALLY TAKEN 500 YEARS LATER BY THE NEWLY ANOINTED KING DAVID (CIRCA 1000 B.C.)...

...THE JEBUSITES, WHO LIVED IN THIS STRONGHOLD HIGH ON MT. ZION, WERE SO CONFIDENT THEIR FORTRESS COULD NOT BE SUCCESSFULLY ASSAULTED THAT THEY INSULTED DAVID'S ARMY BY ONLY MANNING THE WALLS AND BATTLEMENTS WITH MEN WHO WERE BLIND AND PITIFULLY LAME!

BUT DAVID'S MEN FOUND A TUNNEL, LEADING FROM AN OUTSIDE WATER-SUPPLY SPRING, DIRECTLY INTO THE MIDDLE OF THE CITY! IN THE DARK OF NIGHT, DAVID LED HIS TROOPS THROUGH THE TUNNEL, TOOK THE JEBUSITES UNAWARES, AND CAPTURED THE FORTRESS WHICH WAS TO BECOME HIS CAPITAL—THE CITY OF DAVID! AND SINCE THAT DAY, JERUSALEM HAS BEEN CONTINUALLY FIGHTING OVER—RIGHT UP INTO MODERN TIMES!

NEXT WEEK: CAN A MAN BE CALLED WISE WHO HAS A THOUSAND WIVES?!

$1,500 REWARD

Irrigation Pump & Power is offering a $1,500.00* reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of person/persons responsible for the theft on May 11 at Irrigation Pump & Power.

\ Reward will be paid upon arrest and conviction only.*

'As an eagle stirs up its nest,' part two

"As an eagle stirreth her nest, fluttereth over her young, spreadeth abroad her wings, taketh them, beareth them on her wings; So the Lord alone did lead him, and there was not strange god with him."

This, as you know, was taken from the King James Translation, whereas the previous article was, in the main taken from the Berkely Translation.

Their teachings are fundamentally the same.

When I first began this I wondered what it was Something worth saying...

By Glen Williams

speaking about. But a few years ago we put up some feeders to attract some of the birds that inhabit these parts.

I saw young ones sitting on the fence with their mouths open and soon one of the older ones would come and put food in them. In other words they were feeding them.

But in the course of time it became hard to tell the young ones from the older ones. And soon they were not on the fence, but were on the ground, or were on one of the feeders. And what were they doing?

They were being taught, or we might say they were in training. As it might be with our little ones, they were in school.

There were different breeds, blackbirds, doves, robins, blue jays, quails etc. And they all pretty well lived in the same society and by the same rules of life.

They were going through the motions as if they were eating.

But they were not eating they were going through the motions as if they were picking up food from the ground... peck-peck-peck, and some pretention of picking up food from the ground.

The younger ones observing until finally they picked up some food and fed themselves. And from that time on they were on their own.

This is the same procedure that is used by the eagles — that most of the times had to push the little ones "overboard."

But they don't know how to fly so they faced the hazard of falling. So the older one takes them on their wings and takes them back to the nest for another trial.

That is repeated until the young eagles fly out on their own.

And so it is, from the birds, animals and even the insects that we "the people" can learn valuable lessons.

For example, the eagle pushing the eaglet off of the rim of the nest reminds me of my father sending me on different occasions to do certain works, and he told me that if you work for a person do good work, even if you don't like the person or the work... do good work.

"For," he said, "if he can't make a profit from your work, he can't afford to pay you." And he said it will payoff in the long run, I have found that to be true. One simple example from the animal field might be the oxen that "treads out the corn."

He treads out the corn to provide food for the people, teaching them about the better ways of life, that they might in turn try to teach others, teach others, by word and example from which they will all benefit.

And the lowly insect. The inspired writer said that we should go to the ant, consider her ways and be wise.

She doesn't have rulers or overseers but she provides her meat in the summer that she might gather her food in the harvest.

Today is the morning after Fathers Day and I have had to work hard to get this ready for printing.

And I am not real proud of it, for I should have done a better job of putting it together.

We had a good day yesterday for which I trust I am thankful. And we hope that God's blessings are with you.

"Let love and faithfulness never leave you; bind them around your neck, write them on the tablet of your heart. Then you will win favor and a good name in the sight of God and man."

— Proverbs 3:3-4

Sunday, June 27th, 5 pm

Come join with us as we pay tribute to the veterans who have served our country and to the many servicemen and women who continue to serve in order to protect our freedom.

All too often we get so caught up in our busy world, that we forget someone had to sacrifice all or a part of their life that we might live in a free country.

The Community Choir of Oklahoma Lane is proud to honor all veterans and servicemen and women, and celebrate the 4th of July with a musical presentation.

"THIS IS MY COUNTRY"

Oklahoma Lane
United Methodist Church

Come, bring a friend and enjoy an evening of Christian fellowship as we honor the servicemen and women of our country.

Chicken, potato salad supper will follow with the Robert Wauson family making ice cream for dessert.
