

Girl's Teams Sweep Tournaments

by T. Bohler

This past weekend's tournament action found the Muleshoe girls bringing home the trophies. The seventh grade girls "A" team won first in Lockney, while the 7th grade "B" team grabbed consolation in Lazbuddie and the freshman girls captured first place at Dimmitt. The enthusiasm continued on Monday night as the girls junior high and freshman teams played Tulia in home court action, cleaning up with three wins over the district competitors.

The seventh grade "A" team girls traveled to Lockney on Saturday, January 8 to play Plainview for their first game. Playing a controlled game under the leadership of Coach Denise Hunt, these talented girls claimed a victory over Plainview with an impressive score of 51 to 8. The second game, against Hale Center, proved to be a bit closer with a victory for the young Lady Mule team, 41 to 39.

The championship game was played against Lockney with a big win of 38 to 26 for the seventh grade "A" team. The girls out-scored Lockney in the first three quarters of play, but they were held to only 4 points while Lockney shot for 6 points in the fourth quarter. Individual scoring for the championship game was as follows: Melissa Williams, 20; Andrea Roberts, 6; Erin Wilhite, 6; Kellie Morris, 2; Krystal Heathington, 2; and Rhonda Copley, 1.

The seventh grade "B" team saw tournament action in Lazbuddie on Saturday, and walked away with the Consolation Trophy. Way to go girls!

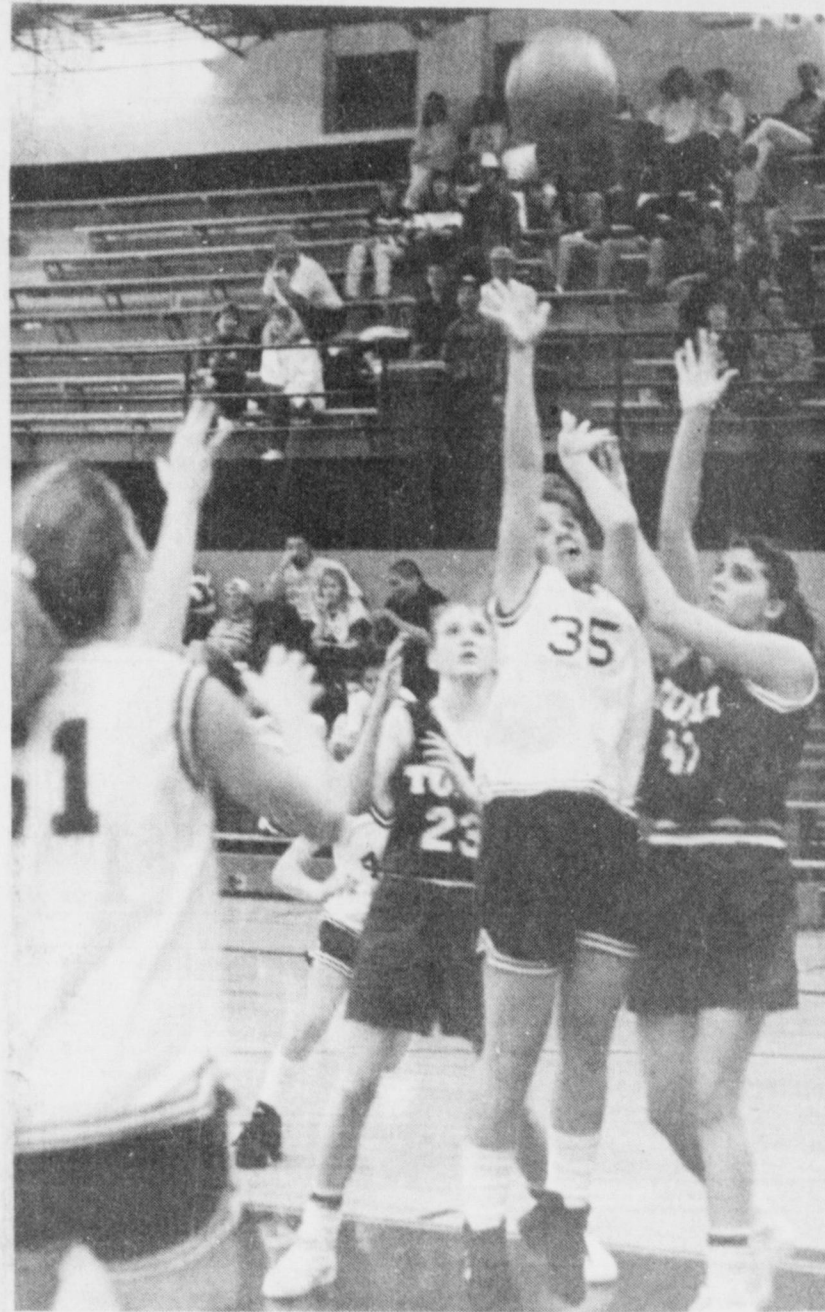

The girls' freshman team travelled to Dimmitt on the weekend to take on Littlefield for their first game of the Dimmitt tournament. With an impressive score of 42 to 12 over Littlefield, the girls moved on to play Hale Center for a second victory, 30-24. The freshmen faced Dimmitt for the championship game and won 21 to 8 to bring home the trophy. Standing at a 9 and 2 record after the tournament, the freshmen girls have only lost to the Clovis Junior Varsity and our own Muleshoe Junior Varsity, according to Coach Ted Leps, freshman girls coach.

Monday night basketball action saw the 7th, 8th, and freshman girls teams in action at home against Tulia. In a clean sweep, the Muleshoe teams dominate all three Tulia teams for a victorious night.

The seventh grade team took the court against Tulia to score yet another victory. This seventh grade team played a controlled and impressive game to win 36 to 24 over the Lady Dobbers. They now hold an impressive record of 9 wins and 0 losses.

The eighth grade team came out with a win on Monday night as well, with final score of 45 to 21 over the Tulia Hornets. Scoring point for the eighth grade team during the Tulia game were Amy Locker, 10; Kendra Benham, 7; Jana Foster, 6; Mandy Myers, 10; Keisha Whitt, 5; and Julie Slayden, 2. This win gives the eighth grade girls a 7 and 2 record as they head into tournament play at Sudan on the 13th.

The freshmen girls dominated the Tulia freshmen as well and won the game 48 to 38.

To The Editor,

Want more crime? Urge lawmakers to vote for higher cigarette taxes.

Look what's happened in Canada. Thanks to a tax rate that contributes nearly 70 percent to a pack's $5 to $6 price there, things look a lot like they did in the U.S. during the worst days of Prohibition.

But instead of bootleggers smuggling in booze, they have "bottleleggers" smuggling cigarettes into the country by the billions. Everyone is making a killing, from

To a Safer Place
An Inspiring Film... a Very Difficult Subject

"Ishi, the Last Yahi Indian"

Channel 3 Television from Eastern New Mexico University, Portales, New Mexico

To a Safer Place is the story of how one woman has come to terms with her life as a survivor of incest.

Sexually abused by her father from infancy to early adolescence, Shirley Turcotte is now in her thirties and has succeeded in building a rich and full life. With the help of a caring psychiatrist and the support of other survivors, she has retrieved and worked through many memories of her past. In this film, she takes a further step to reconcile her present with her past.

With her family, Shirley discusses and describes her experiences as a victim of incest, the effects the abuse had on her and her siblings, and the struggle in adulthood to come to terms with her past. She remembers the terror and isolation, the loneliness and emotional confusion, the profound violation of her sense of self-worth, and the desperate search for her silenced mother's love and support. She acknowledges her own reluctance in adulthood to bear children for fear that they too might become either abusers or victims.

Through the frank disclosures of Shirley and her siblings, To a Safer Place shows how the deep psychic wounds inflicted on victims of incest can be healed. It encourages survivors to break through silence and betrayal to recover and develop a sense of self-worth and dignity.

To a Safer Place airs Sunday, January 2nd at 11:00 p.m. and Tuesday, January 18th at 10:00 p.m.

In 1911, the last Yahi Indian left his homeland in the foothills of Mount Lassen in Northern California and walked out into the white man's world. The American Experience "Ishi, the Last Yahi Indian" tells the tragic but inspirational story of the man strangers named "Ishi," who came to be known as the "last wild Indian in North America."

The year 1911 was a pivotal one in American history, and the lowest point for Native Americans. The west had been won, and the country now spread from sea to sea. Contact with white men's diseases and war had reduced the number of Native Americans from over ten million to less than 300,000. For more than 40 years, Ishi lived in hiding with a tiny band of surviving Yahi Indians. By 1911, Ishi was the only tribesman left. When he appeared in Oroville, California, newspaper headlines across the country proclaimed the discovery of the "Wild Man," the last "Stone Age Man" in North America.

Ishi went to live out the rest of his life — four years — as an informant and teacher at the Museum of Anthropology in San Francisco. He tirelessly recounted Yahi stories and demonstrated the tribe's traditional way of life.

The American Experience "Ishi, the Last Yahi Indian" airs Wednesday, January 19th at 8:00 p.m. It repeats Saturday, January 22nd at 10:00 p.m.

Microwave Tips

Pizza, with few exceptions, should be reheated in a microwave after being cooked in a conventional oven.

A frozen, uncooked pizza, when microwaved, doesn't emerge with a crisp crust. The center may be soggy.

When reheating an already-cooked pizza, cut it into many wedges and microwave one at a time, on paper.

Legal Matters

by Texas Attorney General Dan Morales

Every year, millions of people make New Year's resolutions to lose weight, and get into better shape. And every January, the fitness industry floods the media with health club advertisements offering "special deals" for new members.

Working out is a terrific way to meet your fitness goals, and Texas has a number of excellent health spas. It can be difficult, however, for consumers to sort out the facts from the competing claims and the high pressure sales pitches. If you're thinking about joining a health club, exercise a little caution.

Ask Questions

Careful investigation before you join a spa is the best way to ensure that your money is well spent. It's important to check out the reputation of both the club and its parent company. How long have they been in business? If it is a new facility, do the owners have other locations already in operation? Are there consumer complaints filed against them at the Office of the Attorney General or the local Better Business Bureau?

Before you sign a contract, find out exactly what your membership includes, how much it costs, and how long it lasts. Ask about the renewal terms and whether any activities of programs require additional fees. If the salesperson promises something that is not stated in the contract, get it in writing.

What To Look For

Shop around to find the spa that best meets your needs. Visit two or three clubs, preferably at the time of day that you will be using the facility. Is the club crowded?

Surviving The Myths In A Stepfamily

(first in a series of three)

There are some myths about step parenting that can cause a hardship. Myths are beliefs that influence the way we live or adjust to a new family situation. For the next couple of weeks, this column will deal with some of those myths.

1. OUR NEW FAMILY WILL BE "ONE BIG HAPPY FAMILY"

Even biological families aren't always happy. Step families are "born of loss". They come about due to a death or a divorce. There is usually lots of pain associated with the new relationship.

With adults and children coming together at different stages of life, a variety of traditions and ways of doing things, it's easy to see why things may not go smoothly. 2. ANYTHING NEGATIVE THAT HAPPENS IS A RESULT OF BEING IN A STEPFAMILY.

It's easy to blame school problems, peer relationships difficulties, trouble adjusting, adjusting, etc. on being in a stepfamily.

Even adults still cling to their "story" about what happened when they were a child, blaming current struggles on "THE divorce".

Believing this myth removes the need to accept responsibility for personal difficulties.

Children of divorce and remarriage are not forever damaged. There is pain and adjustment but it can be worked through. We parents respond with guilt, trying not to "make it up to them". We may try too hard and not allow negative emotions to be expressed or worked through. This may cause problems later on. More on the subject next week.

Does the equipment appear difficult to operate? Visit with the staff, and ask about their training and qualifications.

Fitness experts agree that convenience is a major factor in the use and enjoyment of health club memberships. Select a facility that is close to your home or place of employment.

Spas vary a great deal in their atmosphere and clientele. Some are exclusively for men or women, while others cater to serious weight lifters or aerobic dancers. Make sure that you are comfortable with the club's atmosphere.

What to Look Out for
Be wary if the spa's fees are excessively low. Some club owners offer inexpensive, non-refundable memberships and deliberately oversell their facility's capacity. Their profits depend upon members quitting in disgust because of overcrowding. Find out if there is a limit on the number of members that the spa will accept at any one time.

If the locker rooms, showers, pool, or hot tub appear unclean or poorly kept, be careful. Besides being a health hazard, unsanitary conditions are a sign of poor management and, possibly, financial instability. Equipment that is out of order or in bad condition is another indication that the facility is not well run.

What the Law Says

Until recently, the health spa industry was virtually unregulated and consumer complaints were relatively common. However, the Texas Legislature changed that with the passage of the Health Spa Act. Under the law, health spa owners must register with the Secretary of State and display their certificate of registration on their premises.

The law also requires that operators of new facilities post a bond with the state. This way, members can be reimbursed, at least partially, if the club closes down or goes bankrupt.

In Texas, once you sign a contract with a health club, you have three business days to change your mind. If you decide to cancel your contract, immediately notify the club in writing. They must return all of your money within 31 days.

Finally, if you become disabled after signing a health club contract, you are liable only for the time you used the spa. You do not have to pay out the remainder of your contract. In fact, the club must refund any money that you may have paid in advance.

For more information about the regulation of health spas, or other consumer issues, please call our toll-free Consumer Protection Hot Line at 800-621-0508.

In Fashion

For special occasions, your wardrobe should include classic winter white. A suit in white wool gabardine featuring lapel trim of white braid or pearls is elegant for a dinner date or less informal occasions.

Accessories for winter white are gold or pearly costume jewelry. Shoes in gold are striking with evening dresses. Some are using white coats instead of fur wraps.

Combine first three ingredients in a medium bowl. Combine mayonnaise, sour cream, and lime juice; stir into chicken mixture. Serve on lettuce or stuff in lettuce-lined pita bread. Makes 4 servings.

Poster And Essay Contest Scheduled

Students in the Muleshoe and Three Way Schools are eligible to participate in the Blackwater Valley Soil and Water Conservation District's annual posters and essay contest.

The contests are designed to promote awareness and to educate the students on the importance of good conservation practices.

The poster contest is open to students 12 years and younger. Posters should be drawn on standard poster board cut to half-size, approximately 22 inches by 14 inches. Artwork on poster entries should be produced with materials that do not readily smear, crack or chip. If necessary, a lamination may be used. The poster entry artwork should be flat. The student may choose any phase of resource conservation that relates to the role of their local Soil and Water Conservation District.

The essay contest is open to students 18 years and younger. The essays are not to exceed 300 words. The subject includes, but is not limited to, the following general concept: The soil and water resources of this nation are vital for providing us with the necessities of food and shelter. Soil and Water Conservation Districts are engaged in the effort to carry out a local conservation program that meets the needs of the nation's soil and water resources for continued productivity.

Deadline for entries in both contests is Feb. 4, 1994. Ribbons will be awarded to all students who submit entries. Plaques will be awarded to the first three places in each division in both contests. The overall winners in the county will be submitted for regional competition. These awards do not jeopardize the eligibility of any student involved in Texas Interscholastic League activities.

The Blackwater Valley Soil and Water Conservation District asks that questions about conservation practices be referred to the Soil Conservation Service, 105 E. Ave D. Muleshoe; 272-5124.

Programs and services of the Blackwater Valley Soil and Water Conservation District and the Soil Conservation Service are offered on a non-discriminatory basis without regard for race, color, national origin, age, sex, religion, marital status or handicap.

LUBBOCK, Friday, January 7, 1994

By Shawn Wade

A significant rise in cotton marketings for the month of November increased the weighted average price received by producers to 53.26 cents per pound.

According to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. (PCG) the increase moved the expected 1993 cotton deficiency payment down to 19.64 cents. Producers who received advance deficiency payments when they signed up to participate in the 1993 cotton program can expect a final payment rate of 9.37 cents based on the marketing information collected through November.

Upland cotton deficiency payments are calculated as the lesser of the difference between the 52.35 cent 1993 cotton loan rate and either the weighted average price received by producers from January through December or the 72.9 cent target price set by the Secretary of Agriculture. The maximum possible deficiency payment rate for 1993 is 20.55 cents per pound.

So far 1993 marketings have mirrored closely the way the 1992 cotton crop moved to market. If this trend holds, December marketings will increase as will the average price received by farmers. Should this occur, final 1993 deficiency payments are likely to drop slightly from the 19.64 cent level indicated through November.

November marketings totaled a healthy 2.994 million bales, bringing cumulative marketings up to 11.156 million bales. This figure is only 215,000 bales short of 1992 marketings during the same 11 month period.

Through November the weighted average price is one cent higher than was seen through November 1992. This means that the potential 1993 deficiency payment is that much lower than was expected through November of 1992.

Preliminary marketings and monthly average farm prices as reported by the National Agricultural Statistics Service appear in the table below.

Preliminary Marketings and Prices Received Through August 1993

Marketings (1000 Bales)		Price (¢ per lb.)
Monthly	Cumulative	Monthly	Weighted
January	2736	2736	52.7
February	954	3690	52.9
March	750	4440	55.5
April	337	4777	54.3
May	336	5113	53.2
June	261	5374	53.0
July	280	5654	54.1
August	306	5960	53.1
September	718	6678	52.0
October	1484	8162	52.7
November	2994	11156	53.26

Secretary of Agriculture Mike Espy announced January 4 that the 1994 Upland Acreage Reduction Program would be 11 percent. The announcement reflects a reduction from the preliminary ARP of 17.5 percent announced November 1.

PCG officials note that the 11 percent set-aside figure is good news for producers who can now get on with the business of making plans for the 1994 crop year.

Campaign Stresses Caution, Awareness To Prevent Trauma Deaths And Injuries

The Texas Department of Health (TDH), with the help of prominent emergency care experts, has launched a statewide campaign to reduce the number of traumatic injuries in Texas, especially during the holiday season.

Public information materials, developed for TDH by the University of Texas-Houston Health Science Center (UTH), include pamphlets, posters, and bumper stickers proclaiming; "RED ALERT" and "ACCIDENTS DON'T JUST HAPPEN."

Dr. Red Duke—a UTH trauma surgeon, a nationally-syndicated health news personality and an outspoken advocate of injury prevention—has lent his support to the TDH campaign. His trademark mustache, glasses and cowboy hat are part of the publications' design.

Dr. Duke joined Dr. David R. Smith, Texas Commissioner of Health and others at a press conference to open the campaign in Fort Worth, Nov. 23.

In describing the need for more public awareness of trauma prevention, Dr. Smith said, "People who fail to take personal responsibility for preventing accidents are the main contributors to the thousands of deaths and injuries each year in Texas."

He said that accidents cause at least 11,000 deaths and 70,000 serious injuries annually in the state. Trauma is the leading cause of death for Texans between the ages of 1 and 44. Unintentional trauma kills 17 each day, while intentional trauma (homicide and suicide) adds about 13. "That's a total of about 30 trauma deaths every day, and we know that for each death, there are about six serious injuries needing emergency trauma services," Dr. Smith said.

Dr. Duke explained that the slogan, "ACCIDENTS DON'T JUST HAPPEN", underscores the fact that most traumatic deaths and injuries result from dangerous situations created by irresponsible behavior. The campaign pamphlet details how Texans can adhere to Dr. Duke's four, basic warnings to avert trauma:

* "Sober up, and designate a sober driver" to prevent alcohol-related traffic deaths and injuries, as well as some child and spouse abuse;

* "Lock up guns, poisons, matches, medicines" to avoid deadly mistakes by thinking ahead;

* Buckle up yourself, friends and family" to abide by state law, which requires safety seats for infants and toddlers (2 or younger) and seat belts for all others in vehicles;

* "Talk up safety and community involvement" to make safety an important part of community life and children's education.

TDA Helps Coordinate Worker Protection Training

Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said the Texas Department of Agriculture will help coordinate an innovative national worker protection training session. "How to Conduct Worker Protection Training, A Train-the-Trainer Program" will be broadcast by satellite to various Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Centers across Texas, as well as to sites across the United States, on Thursday, Dec. 16 between 10:45 a.m. and 2 p.m. Following the broadcast, TDA and extension staff members will conduct a 30-minute on-site presentation at the Texas location.

"Effective April 1994, all farm workers in the United States must receive pesticide safety training as mandated by the 1992 Federal Worker Protection Standard," Perry said. "This program gives all interested parties including licensed and certified applicators, representatives of state lead agencies, agricultural employers and individuals seeking to establish training business a chance to learn about WPS training requirements and how to use WPS teaching materials."

Satellite broadcasts allow us to get information to a large number of producers in an efficient and timely manner," Perry said. "We can keep our farmers and producers updated on the most recent regulations and worker protection methods. We commend the Environmental Protection Agency and the Extension Service for putting this program together."

The training program will feature an introduction to the 1992 Federal Worker Protection Standard, an EPA approved train-the-trainer program, a review of available training materials and an opportunity for call-in questions and comments.

Locations for the broadcast are the Harris County Extension office in Houston and extension centers in Amarillo, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Stockton, Lubbock, San Angelo, Stephenville, Uvalde, Vernon and Weslaco. Participants should bring their own lunches. For further information on exact locations, contact your County Extension Office.

Cold Considerations For Our Canine Companions

With the winter season approaching, the American Kennel Club, the nation's leading purebred dog authority, has developed a Do's & Don'ts list to make sure our 57.9 million canine companions have a happy and healthy winter season.

DO provide plenty of fresh water. Dogs are just as likely to get dehydrated in the winter as in the summer.

DON'T think that if your dog eats snow, his thirst is being quenched. Snow is not a satisfactory substitute for water.

DO provide adequate shelter and keep your dog warm, dry and away from any drafts. Tiled and uncarpeted areas can become extremely cold, dry and away from any drafts.

DO provide adequate shelter and keep your dog warm, dry and away from any drafts. Tiled and uncarpeted areas can become extremely cold, so make sure to place blankets and pads on floors around your house.

DON'T leave your dog outside in the cold for extremely long periods of time. Windchill makes days colder than actual temperature readings. Be attentive to your dog's body temperature and limit time outdoors.

DO be extra careful when playing or walking your dog near frozen lakes, rivers or ponds. Your dog could slip or jump in and get seriously injured.

DON'T forget to towel dry or blow dry your dog if he gets wet from rain or snow. It is important to dry and clean his paws, too. This helps avoid tiny cuts and cracked pads.

DO make sure to take your dog to a veterinarian if you see any suspicious symptoms.

DON'T use over-the-counter medications on your dog without consulting your veterinarian.

DO feed your dog additional calories if he/she spends a lot of time outdoors or is a working animal. It takes more energy in the winter to keep body temperature regulated, so additional calories are necessary.

DON'T leave your dog alone in a car during winter-it gets too cold and carbon monoxide from an engine left running is dangerous.

DO keep your dog away from antifreeze which often collects on driveways and roadways. Although it smells and tastes good to your dog, it is highly poisonous and can be lethal.

DON'T forget to groom your dog regularly. A dog needs a well-groomed coat to keep him properly insulated.

DO buy a sweater or coat for short or coarse hair dogs. Long hair dogs should have their paw hair clipped to ease snow removal and the cleaning of their feet.

DON'T leave your dog unattended around rock salt which is used to melt ice on sidewalks. It can irritate dog footpads so be sure to rinse your dog's feet and dry them after a week.

High Plains Underground Water Conservation Staff Making Measurements

High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 Technical Division staff are making annual depth-to-water measurements to determine the effect of 1993 pumpage on ground water levels of the Ogallala Aquifer within the 15-county Water District service area.

Measurements are taken in more than 1,000 privately-owned wells in the District's observation well network. These wells are spaced at a density of about one well per nine square miles throughout the District.

"We have established observation well sited for the newly annexed portions of Cochran and Lynn Counties," says Don McReynolds, Technical Division Director. "In the portion of Hale County added to the Water District in August, we plan to measure depths-to-water in wells currently included in the State of Texas ground water monitoring program."

In future years, some of these wells will be dropped and new wells added as efforts are made to build the best program possible to reflect representative changes in water levels for each area of Hale county.

Water District staff take the measurement by lowering a steel tape to the depth of the current static water level inside the observation well. The lower ten to fifteen feet of the tape is coated with blue carpenter's chalk. When the chalked tape comes in contact with the ground water, it turns a darker shade of blue. This section of wetted tape is subtracted from the total length of tape lowered into the well to determine the depth-to-water from land surface.

After the depth-to-water level measurement is taken, the data is recorded and a vinyl sticker showing the well number, the depth-to-water measurement, and the date the well was measured is affixed to equipment at the well site.

Water District staff will begin making water level measurements in the northern portion of the district and will work their way south. Blue and white District vehicles are easily identified, and personnel will be glad to discuss the water level measurement with landowners and/or operators.

After the observation wells are measured each year, the data collected is compared with that of previous years to determine any changes in the ground water levels of the Ogallala Aquifer. This data is used to construct maps showing changes in water levels and the saturated thickness of the aquifer within the Water District.

Maps showing the locations and well number of observation wells in each county or portion of a county served by the District are traditionally published in the April issue of the Water District's monthly newsletter, The Cross Section.

Along with the maps, tables listing the observation wells in each county and the depth-to-water measurements for one year (1993 to 1994), five year (1989 to 1994) and ten year intervals (1984 to 1994) will also be printed.

Unique Mail-Order Filter Service Developed By West Texas Man

Routine maintenance of the central cooling and heating unit is essential for a homeowner to provide a safe, healthy environment for his family. Now, that task is less complicated, less time-consuming, and far more efficient than ever before.

David Hayslip of Lubbock has developed a new polyester filter for central heating & cooling units that outperforms the standard fiberglass filter. The polyester filter is also a healthy alternative to fiberglass. According to recent studies by the Environmental Science Laboratory, fiberglass is a carcinogen, much like asbestos.

To further help homeowners, Hayslip's company, National Home Filter Service, will mail a replacement filter every two months. "I think everyone understands the need to replace the filter in a central air unit on a regular basis," Hayslip explained. "However, every homeowner faces two problems when it comes to the upkeep of their system. It is difficult to find a "standard" filter that exactly fits his unit and with the fast-paced lives we live, homeowners don't always remember when to change the filter."

"National Home Filter Service was conceived to address these two problems," Hayslip said. The West Texas native began the business in 1989 and now has 8 employees who provide this inexpensive service (less than 8 cents a day) to over 5,000 homeowners across the United States.

Conditioned air that cannot circulate freely through the filter and back to satisfy the thermostat, will keep your system running longer than necessary and will cost you more.

Hayslip will custom design a filter frame to fit the unit in your home, show you how to remove and install the polyester filter, and mail you a new filter every two months.

The polyester fiber used in Hayslip's filters is very effective at blocking the filtration of airborne particles and is highly recommended by heating and air conditioning servicemen. The filter removes allergens which can make a substantial difference in a home's indoor environment by removing dust and allergens from the air in your home. According to a recent report in Total Health & Better Health magazines, one out of six people who suffer from allergies do so because of the direct relationship to the fungi and bacteria in air duct systems.

"We handle every aspect of the service ourselves from obtaining specifications for the custom-made filter frame to bagging and mailing the filters. National Home filter's goal is to help improve the quality of life for our subscribers. We provide a toll-free number so you can call for assistance any time. The telephone number is 1-800-859-DUST. National Home Filter Service, Inc. is located at 2007 Avenue C in Lubbock."

High Plains Vegetable Conference to Be Held Jan. 18

Ways of adding value to a crop by marketing directly to the consumer, and things the marketer must consider, will get special attention at the annual High Plains Vegetable Conference here Jan. 18. Vegetable growers and shippers from West Texas and adjoining states also will hear the latest science-based information on production methods, new crops from biotechnology and intensive culture for high value vegetables.

The conference begins at 8:30 a.m. at the Hereford Community Center, 100 Avenue C at Park Avenue. It is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, high Plains Vegetable Growers and Shippers Council, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Tech University, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce and Texas Department of Agriculture.

The program has been approved by TDA for five continuing education units for private, commercial and non-commercial pesticide applicators. Applicators are required to obtain five CEUS of training each year to retain certification. The $25 registration fee includes lunch.

"The conference theme is 'Preparing for Change,'" said Dr. Roland E. Roberts, Extension Service vegetable specialist at Lubbock who has coordinated the conference since 1971. "Our goal is to improve the competitive position of Texas vegetables and increase family farm profitability and sustainability."

Growers interested in direct marketing to the consumer will get a special bonus. They will receive a copy of a handbook by Dr. Charles Hall, Extension Service economist and specialist in vegetable marketing, College Station. Also, a new handbook on marketing Texas Vegetables by Hall will be given to all who register at no additional charge.

The afternoon session will focus upon direct marketing. Hall will discuss basics to create opportunities in direct marketing. Practical experience will be related by Dr. Dean McCraw, Extension Service horticulturist at Oklahoma State University, Stillwater, Okla.; Sue Malamen, direct marketing specialist with M&W Carrot, Inc., Hereford, and Willie Wieck, Wieck Farms, Dumas.

The morning session will open with instruction on complying for the continuing education units. Compliance with new worker protection standards will be explained by Douglas Stevenson, extension associate, college Station. Hall will discuss how reduced pesticide usage can impact crop yield and quality.

An update on chemical registrations will be given by Ray, executive vice president of the Texas Vegetable Association, McAllen. Laws and regulations affecting growers and shippers will be reviewed by Jerry Walzel, vice president of government affairs, and Bill Weeks, executive vice president, Texas Citrus and Vegetable Association, Harlingen.

Transgenic methods of improving potato quality will be reported by Dr. Creighton Miller, professor of horticulture at Texas A&M University, and Doug Smallwood, senior research associate, Experiment Station, Lubbock. Dynamics and opportunities in the Texas vegetable industry will be explored by Dr. Frank Dainello, Extension Service horticulturist, College Station.

During the noon lunch, directors of the South Plains Food Bank and Breedlove Dehydrated Foods will report on our new food dehydration plant. Four-H members Karen Harder and Cady Auckerman will present their method demonstration on pumpkin use which won first place in the 4-H Roundup.

In addition to direct marketing, the afternoon session will look at production strategies and biotechnology. Dr. David Bender, vegetable research scientist with the Experiment Station at Lubbock, will discuss use of row covers to help producers hit market windows and reduce pest damage.

Advances in biotechnology to produce new products which enhance crop sustainability and producer profit will be covered by Dr. Ellen Peffley, associate professor of horticulture at Texas Tech, and David Drews, regional manager of Asgrow Seed Co., McAllen.

Irrigation of high value, multiple harvest crops to assure top quality, yield and water conservation will be discussed by Dr. Rose Mary Seymour, Extension Service irrigation engineer, Lubbock.

Travelling With The Texas Angler

by Keith R. Warren

I knew it was only a matter of time before my phone started ringing with the news that bass fishing has turned on at Lake Corpus Christi. This lake is also known as Lake Mathis, located just west of Mathis, Texas, approximately 30 miles from Corpus Christi.

The shallow water lake is full of black bass, crappie and catfish. However, catching fish with regular success can be difficult due to the changing water level.

Located on the Nueces River, the reservoir level fluctuates tremendously. This also causes the water to be off color in some areas and muddy in most of the lake. Fish can be caught in dirty water but not as much as they can be in clear water.

Rainfall in South Texas has been virtually nonexistent since the spring. The lake level has slowly dropped and is very low (down approximately 8 feet). Because the dropping level has happened gradually, it has actually cleared the water. Currently the water is clear all over the lake. The bass are now biting and action should continue until the water color changes with spring rains.

Largemouth bass are biting on chartreuse spinner baits in shallow water that is 3 feet deep or less. Look for rocks on the shoreline or for the scattered trees that are next to the shore. Boat docks are also holding fish, but most of the docks are now on dry land. The dock pattern can really be good because it actually drives large numbers of fish to the few docks available.

Morning action has been typically slow due to the cool water. But when the sun begins to warm the shallows, the bass turn on until dark.

The only boat ramp I know of that is still in the water is at the State Park located near the dam. Lake Corpus Christi has a lot of underwater hazards. Be careful boating when the lake is down this low.

The daily bag limit on black bass on Lake Corpus Christi is 5 fish per day per person with a minimum length requirement of 14".

You can contact The Texas Angler at 210/625-3474.

Keith Warren is the Host of The Texas Angler Television Show, which broadcasts state wide.

It is very rare to find a public office open on a public holiday.

Grain Elevator Workshop To Look At Storage Issues

Methods of protecting stored grain and safe handling of materials used in that protection will be addressed during the sixth annual Texas High Plains Grain Elevator Workshop here January 27.

This educational program to update grain elevator operators and employees is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Tri-State Chapter of the Grain Elevator and Processing Society. It will be from 8 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, 6500 Amarillo Blvd. West.

The workshop has been accredited by the Texas Department of Agriculture for five continuing education units (CEUs) for certified commercial, noncommercial and private pesticide applicators. Accreditation by the Texas Structural Pest Control Board is pending.

The workshop will open with an overview by Greg Cronholm, Extension Service entomologist at Plainview. Vern Walter, a well known fumigation expert, will discuss fogging procedures, regulatory status of currently used insecticides and bagged products.

The use of pheromones and other techniques for monitoring insect pests will be explained by Gill Lingren, president of Trece, Inc., Salinas, California.

The afternoon session will be moderated by Nick Nichols of Farmland Industries Grain Division, Amarillo, and president of the Tri-State Chapter, GEAPS. Dr. Larry Zettler will discuss insecticide resistance and the use of controlled atmospheres to manage stored pests. He is a researcher at the Stored Product Insects Research and Development Laboratory of the U.S. Department of Agriculture-Agricultural Research Service, Savannah, Georgia.

Engineering and economics of closed loop fumigation will be the topic of Dr. Ron Noyes. He is an agricultural engineer with the Oklahoma State University Cooperative Extension Service.

Registration for the workshop is $25. Advance registration by Jan. 10 will enable early preparation of CEU material, said Dr. Carl Patrick, Extension entomologist and workshop program committee member. Registration may be made by calling or writing Patrick at the Texas A&M Center, 6500 Amarillo Blvd. West, Amarillo 79106, telephone (806)359-5401.
