An Editorial

I wholly disapprove of what you say, but I will defend unto death your right to say it.—Voltaire.

Let's Help George . . .

One who was helping us were to give out a cry for help, would you hear him? If anyone gives his time and ability to a worthwhile project toward the best interest of the citizenry, he deserves our immediate attention.

George Seaney, president of the Silverton Cemetery association, has issued an appeal to the people of Silverton and vicinity, in the columns of the News this week in an effort to secure more money for the task of keeping up the local cemetery.

According to Mr. Seaney, "the recent rains have caused many graves to fall in and much needed work will need to be done in the very near future if our cemetery is to look as it should. Funds for maintenance have almost diminished and more money is urgently needed if the project is to be carried on on a worthwhile basis."

Only through donations and membership in the organization are funds raised to sponsor the project. Membership fee is $1.00, but donations are accepted in any amount and are certainly appreciated, Mr. Seaney said.

George, as Mr. Seaney is better known, should be commended for the fine work he has been responsible for in the making of a better cemetery for our community. His efforts have not ceased—he is still at work. Let's help him by becoming a member in the association and donating to this worthy cause in order that a better place be provided for our loved ones who have been laid to rest.

County is Represented With Exhibit at Fair

According to Leo White, county agent, Briscoe county is represented this week at the Lubbock fair with an agricultural exhibit consisting of twenty-five Briscoe county agricultural products.

Due to the fact that judging of exhibits did not take place until the first of the week, the winners have not yet been announced.

The following is a list of the products being exhibited and the names of those supplying the material:

One pound lint cotton and 2 1/2 bolls of cotton, Tubby Hamann, Quitaque; 10 heads milo, 10 heads kaffir and 1 gallon threshed kaffir, Joe B. Mercer, Silverton; 1 gallon wheat and 1 gallon kaffir, T. C. Bomar, Silverton; 1 gallon milo, W. M. Peugh, Rock Creek; 1 gallon Black Eyed peas, Oscar Weaks, Rock Creek; 1 bale sudan, Allen Kellum, Silverton; 1 bundle red top cane, Ed Price, Quitaque; 1 bundle alfalfa, J. L. West, Rock Creek; 1 gallon pinto beans, Grady Wimpey, Lakeview; 6 bell peppers, Pat Pavlicek; 10 ears of corn, B. Some Texas producers are concerned because their growing young bronze turkeys are developing many white feathers.

Low protein feeding, not breeding, is the cause says Prof. D. H. Reid of the department of poultry husbandry at the A. and M. college of Texas.

As a preventive, he advises adding five pounds or more of meat and bone scraps, or soybean meal, to each 100 pounds of the feed given the birds. Turkeys molt just before reaching maturity and if this is done no off-color feathers will appear.

In recent work at the division, he explains, varying degrees of white in the primary and secondary wing feathers of broad breasted bronze turkey poulters have been observed. This occurred in feeding tests in which the 24.37 total protein supplement was a combination of 65.29 per cent vegetable and 34.71 animal protein.

In another test a more pronounced feather discoloration was produced when a ration containing 40.32 per cent vegetable and 59.68 animal protein was fed.

It is believed, Prof. Reid adds, that this discoloration can be charged to a deficiency of lysine, one of the essential amino acids which was shown to prevent the discoloration. Vegetable proteins are low in this amino acid. Meanwhile, further work is being carried on to discover the adequate amount of combinations of animal protein necessary to prevent bronze feathers changing color. Additional information will be released as soon as it becomes available.

He was immediately enveloped in flames.

Stewart-Douglas ambulance rushed Melvin Ray to the Tulia hospital where he died in the early morning hours Wednesday.

The body was taken to Wellington Wednesday afternoon where another service was held this afternoon. Interment was in the Wellington cemetery.

County Receives Much Moisture During week

Since the publishing of the News last week, Briscoe county has been drenched thoroughly by rains which started falling last Friday and continued through the early part of this week.

Steady downpours were witnessed all over the county as well as the region in general and low-lying fields were converted into shallow lakes, which cover many acres of land.

According to Ray C. Bomar, operator of the local Federal Bureau station, 4.49 inches of moisture have been recorded since last Friday afternoon. Friday's precipitation measured .06; Saturday, 1.13; Sunday, 1.58; Monday, 1.42; Tuesday, .08; and Wednesday, .22.

As we go to press, partial cloudiness prevails but voiced hopes of the farmers are that no more rain will fall in the very near future.

Owls Trounce Flomont With Score of 13-0 Friday

Romping their way to victory on the local gridiron last Friday afternoon during showers of rain and with the eyes of some 500 spectators looking on, the Silverton Owls trounced the Flomont eleven with a final score reading 13 to 0.

The Flomont team out-weighted the Silverton boys considerably and even though Flomont used some very good tactics and had a strong line, they couldn't seem to put the "damper" on the cunning way the Owls out-witted them through four full quarters.

Local boys playing last week were: Clifton Stodghill, John L. Bruton, Billy Merrill, Jack Paige, Billy Self, Hubert Brooks, George Rampley, Joe Allard, John Arnold, Robert Isbell, Clayton Woods.

Retained Corpsmen In Navy To Be Released Soon

Progress of the navy's hospital corpsmen training program will allow release of all corpsmen in-actively retained on active duty by January 15, Eighth Naval district headquarters announced this week.

Orders issued in early August, when the remainder of the navy's demobilization program was drawing to a close, retained on active duty all male hospital corpsmen who had completed less than 18 months of service, regardless of eligibility for discharge, until an 18-month duty period was complete. The navy explained at the time that large numbers of war casualties remaining in hospitals made the retention necessary.

The new order will not effect corpsmen who have volunteered for longer periods of active duty, the navy said.

SWING OF THE SOUTHWEST FARM MARKETS

Cotton, poultry and eggs continued to climb higher, fruits and vegetables picked up strength, livestock and most grains except sorghums were steady to strong USDA's production and marketing at southwest markets last week, administration reported.

Cotton advanced about $6 a bale into new high ground last week. Nearly all grades found ready buyers. Demand continued stronger with shippers buying current ginnings mainly to fill back orders. Farmers generally sold cotton as fast as they ginned it. Sales in the 10 spot markets jumped to 200,700 bales last week compared with the 172,500 bales the preceding week and 179,300 a year ago for the same period.

Wheat went up a cent a bushel and rice advanced in line with new ceilings. Corn held steady but barley and oats were below the previous week's close. Sorghums lost a nickel a hundred nearly every day last week. Feed held firm, but good pastures in most southwest areas reduced demand below normal for this season.

Louisiana sweet potatoes gained about 10 to 20 cents a bushel last week over the previous week's close. U. S. No. 1 Porto Ricans

Duties of State Health Dept. Given By Health Officer

Dr. George W. Cox, State health officer, was recently asked to give the duties of the Texas State department of health in contrast with those of the general practitioner of medicine.

He stated, "The Health Department is charged with protecting the public health. This it does by education of the people as to how they may secure protection against disease, such as vaccination against smallpox and typhoid fever and immunization against diphtheria; by investigation of sources of outbreaks of disease; by quarantine and isolation of those who are ill with communicable disease; by the prevention of the spread of disease; inspection of water supplies; by advocating the production and use of safe milk and to prevent threatened outbreaks of communicable diseases.

"People will become ill and accidents will happen. The cure of sickness and the repair of accidents comes within the scope of the duties of the practitioner of medicine and surgery. The general practitioner of medicine is also engaged in preventive medicine when he advises mothers to have their children protected against diphtheria and smallpox or the family as a whole immunized."

Following Mr. Baxter's talk, Mr. Sansing made a brief talk in which he gave points on how to publicize the Chamber of Commerce and its numerous activities—how to encourage and show local men, women, boys and girls that Silverton can offer as much in life as other towns or larger cities.

At the conclusion of Mr. Sansing's talk, J. E. Minyard, the presiding officer of the meeting, appointed three committees which are to work out parliamentary procedure, the nomination of directors and a budget committee. Committeemen appointed are as follows:

Parliamentary committee: Geo. Seaney, Wayne Crawford and Lloyd Thompson. Nominating committee: Virgil Ballard, Henry Price and Joe Powell. Budget committee: Earl Brock, Mike Mason and Roy Coffee.

Following appointment of committees, the meeting was adjourned; the next meeting to be held on Thursday night, October 17th, at which time committees will be heard from and organization will become effective.

Will It Be "Boom and Bust"?

In a thoughtful article, David Lawrence observed that our economic system is out of balance due to the war—and has been kept out of balance by the Administration's "floundering policies on wages and prices and by tendency of labor union politicians to be shortsighted. Their increased wage demands without increased production are backfiring in the form of high prices which, in turn, will backfire because the prices in many instances will be too high for the public to pay.

The vicious circle has to end somehow. It can end in one of two ways. Either a depression will come which will open the eyes of the people, including shortsighted labor leaders. Or else leadership will arise from government or Congress or the ranks of labor to apply restraints on the arbitrary use of economic power . . . The policy of . . . encouraging "more pay for less work" has been disastrous."

We are hearing much talk of "boom and bust" now, and it is coming from responsible circles. It is reported, as a typical example, that automobile makers are becoming definitely worried that the greatly increased prices for cars will prove to be a strong sales depressant. And these higher car prices like all other prices, are mainly the result of big increases in pay to labor with an actual decrease instead of an increase in labor's productivity.

We're moving swiftly toward some kind of a climax. Labor should begin to wonder just what its unbridled demands may do to it in the future.

Don't Expect The Impossible . . .

Almost daily, the OPA is issuing orders permitting price increases and the decontrol board is gradually freeing various commodities from control. Just where does your merchant enter into this chaotic price picture?

In the first place, don't blame the storekeeper for higher prices. He must pay the going level of wholesale prices, add the cost of doing business plus a little profit, and sell you for the total. Neither chains nor independents have any control over prices at the source.

What the merchant can do is to minimize increases at his level. He can do that by reducing waste, by increasing efficiency, and by holding the margin between what he pays and what he charges, at the lowest possible point. And that is precisely what progressive merchants are and have been doing. A very, very small part of the dollar you spend stays with them—the bulk of it goes for buying goods and paying the overhead.

Today's prices are simply the reflection of today's conditions. The typical store is serving you to the best of its ability, and at minimum cost. But it can't hold prices down when everything costs more. It can't stock an abundance of goods when production is lagging. It can't, in short, do the impossible.

New Clover May Soon Be Seen Over Southern Region

A new clover called "Dixie Crimson Clover" has proved successful during the three year trials at the Beaumont agricultural experiment sub-station and elsewhere in the South, and may prove more widely adapted than common crimson clover.

It is expected to supplant the cause it has an extremely hard common variety in the South because it will not germinate as quickly. Immediate germination is the chief weakness of common crimson clover, explains R. R. Lancaster, pasture specialist for the A. and M. college extension service. Often the common variety will sprout quickly after a light rain or after seeding in the fall but before there is sufficient moisture for the seedling plant to get well established. For this reason, stands of common crimson clover frequently are lost.

While additional tests are needed to know more about Dixie crimson clover, it has volunteered successfully when grown along with perennial grasses in pastures and with small grains for grazing. One other point in its favor is that it has volunteered successfully when grown in rotation with cultivated row crops such as sorghum when the seed was mature before the seedbed for the new crop was prepared.

Pasture experts warn that stock should be kept off the clover at the time of blooming, since grazing at this time would limit re-seeding for fall stands.

Seed and plants of Dixie common clover cannot be disclosed, so production of registered tinglished from common crimson and certified seed is being handled by crop improvement associations in several Southern states.

handicapped are registered with the United States Employment Service. They are looking for suitable jobs.

Of these, about a quarter of a million are disabled war veterans according to VA, well over 100,000 veterans are now in training under Public Law 16. Many of them will be looking for jobs when their training is over.

Besides the disabled veterans, there are many other Americans with physical handicaps who are not holding jobs fully suited to their abilities. They number about 2,500,000, the committee said.

A survey by the Department of Labor shows these important points: Handicapped workers make quick job adjustments; they are equal and often superior to the able-bodied productivity; their safety records are as good or better than those of fellow workers; they tend to have better records of attendance; they change jobs less frequently.

Hoping to set an example, VA has set up special interviewing units to place physically-handicapped people in VA jobs. VA is now employing well over 100 disabled veterans.

Many years ago—in the Fall of 1919—your columnist, then the young editor of a small paper, received a letter from William Jennings Bryan, for whom I had had a lifelong admiration. The letter was written in pen and ink and was in reply to an inquiry as to whether the Great Commoner would seek the presidential nomination in 1920. Because it was a personal letter, it was not printed—but it might be of a little interest now, so many years afterward:

"My dear Mr. House: Your kind letter at hand. I assure you that I most sincerely appreciate your generous words. I have not thought it wise to discuss publicly the question which you ask and I will ask you to regard this letter as confidential. No condition that I can now foresee would justify me in being a candidate next year.

"I see no such demand as would make acceptance seem a duty. Besides, there is work to be done work which I can do which seems to me to be more important than running for any office. I could not do it if I were waiting for a nomination. Again thanking you for your confidence, I am, Very truly yours, W. J. Bryan."

Rambling over Texas: The white, two-story homes in Crockett . . . and El Camino Real (King's Highway), blazed in 1690. Near Jacksonville, a lumber mill with window panes of tinted glass.

Jefferson White, Cameron editor has 14,000 Indian relics. The highway south of Sweetwater presents a series of hills, each a little higher than the other, making driving something like the exhilaration of riding a roller coaster. The countryside is clad in shaggy cedars and the road is lined with sagebrush. Far away is a wall of mountains, misty blue.

The last echo of the August primaries has hardly died away, with the promise on all sides that there would be no increased taxes and already a proposal is advanced to raise the State gasoline tax 2 cents a gallon. The advocate of this increase of millions of dollars in taxes to be paid by the people of Texas is Senator G. C. Morris of Greenville.

Your columnist has been interested all his life in public affairs. Away back yonder in the seventh grade, I lived in Mississippi, famed for its political oratory, and heard some of the spellbinders of the era that produced Senators James K. Vardaman and John Sharp Williams. Then, in high school days in Memphis, Tennessee, I heard William Jennings Bryan, Senator Bob LaFollette (the original) and former Governor Malcolm R. Patterson, the greatest political orator I've ever heard.

The subject of keenest interest to me in high school was debating. Our coach was a young, red-headed, dynamic teacher from Texas, James Leonard Highsaw, who lived in Delta and Collin counties. I took every subject he taught: economics, government, history and sociology. Then, after school three of his favorite "boys" would meet in his room and we would prepare for our next debate until it grew too dark to see.

We debated such subjects as the one-house legislature, initiative and recall, capital punishment, government ownership of utilities and the tariff.

We had two literary societies and debated within our society, also in inter-society contests and with other high schools. My two colleagues on the high school team were orators. Sterling Tracy won the State high school oratorical championship and, in the University of Wisconsin, he won the oratorical championship of the "Big Ten". Clifford Davis is about to begin his fourth term in Congress. Your columnist lacked the speaking ability of these two and so tried to make up for this deficiency by studying, extra hard, on the subject. In the rebuttal, where the speaking has to be extemporaneous, I used to attain a speed of 200 words a minute. The other boys were generous and elected me captain of the team.

Certainly, I'm sympathetic toward Europe—but why couldn't at least part of the food sent over there be something I don't like? Why couldn't it include some squash, turnips and cauliflower?

Can you imagine a football game played without signals? That idea is no more ridiculous than the motorist driving without signals, says the Texas safety association. Failure to give proper signals is taking a short-cut to death! Remember, driving is no guessing game—and the fellow behind you can't read your mind!

Misses Billie Tibbits and Edna Murray of Quitaque were weekend guests in Silverton.

Mrs. Henry Price and Mrs. George Allen were in Plainview on business Saturday.

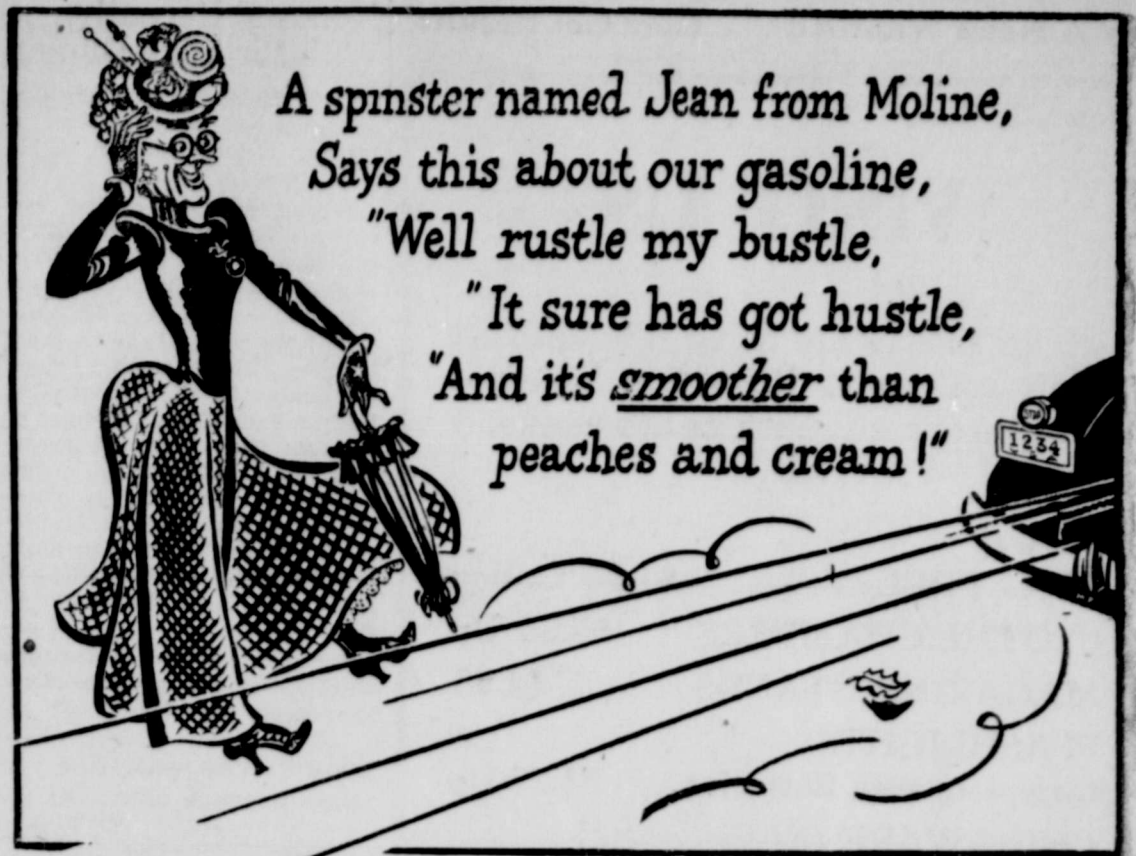

Freddie Scott Dunham spent part of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Nash Blessingame at Brice.

H. A. Morris underwent minor surgery in a Ft. Worth hospital Monday.

Winter Illnesses Should Be Guarded Against, Officer Says

Young children may suffer as much from winter illnesses as they do from those commonly known "summer complaints," in the opinion of Dr. George W. Cox, State health officer, and his advice to parents as the winter season approaches is to guard babies and young children against these winter health hazards.

Influenza, tonsillitis, pneumonia, bronchitis, and asthma are included among those diseases which may be dangerous winter illnesses among young children since they affect the respiratory or breathing system. Such disease as pneumonia may develop from a neglected cold, they may follow as an after-effect of measles or whooping cough, or they may occur suddenly and with very little warning. These diseases of the respiratory system are more prevalent in winter than in summer and are much more difficult to combat than digestive ailments such as summer complaint.

"These winter diseases are particularly dangerous to babies and young children," Dr. Cox stated. "Nearly all of them are spread through the secretions from the nose and mouth. Children not in vigorous health are naturally more susceptible to these complaints and the first line of defense," Dr. Cox cautioned, "is to strengthen the powers of resistance against disease; the second is to keep them under medical supervision and the third is to make sure they avoid contact with others who have coughs, colds, or fevers."

More than 16,500, or 60 per cent of the employees of a large oil company, have been with the organization more than a decade.

Farmers can Secure Farm Equipment through WAA

Farmers of this region who, through the Department of Agriculture, that their production is impaired by a shortage of equipment and supplies will be given assistance to obtain the property from government surplus. Hamilton Morton, regional director announced last week.

Morton appointed Duncan D. ... in the Fort Worth War Assets Administration office to handle agriculture and major organizations.

It is generally provided that the property needed to prevent impairment shall be disposed of to farm organizations, cooperative associations and farmers. Orders have been issued to expedite action on such certificates of impairment issued by the Department of Agriculture. This is of immediate benefit to farmers in this part of Texas.

brushes for sale. In addition, WAA has many cases of famous brands of after shave lotion on hand, acquired, of all places, from the army. Toothpaste and toothpowder, shaving cream and antiseptic powder are other items offered for sale.

Much in demand prior to the war, double-neck wooden bunks are now being offered for sale by War Assets in Fort Worth. Ideal for families with two or more children, WAA has 41,502 of these beds which are suitable for painting any color. The sale will continue until all are sold and that many more children made happy.

Returned doctors and dentists back from services in the army or navy and seeking to again equip their offices will find many items of essential equipment available to them through the veteran's division of the Fort Worth WAA offices in the T & P building. Much of the equipment needed by doctors and dentists is "set aside" and will be sold exclusively to returned ex-servicemen.

Liars sometimes figure—but figures don't lie—and the figures say the first few steps are the worst: 3/4 of all casualties occur on the near side of the street. The Texas safety association reminds you to look left for the traffic nearest you, right for approaching traffic, left again to check. It takes only a second—and it may add years to your life!

As part of its program to relieve the veterans' housing shortage, the FPHA has purchased 70 worth of valves and fittings for gas and water mains. In many of the items selling as low as two and three cents, this adds up to a huge quantity of valves and fittings.

Believe it or not, there need no shortage of shaving brushes. In Fort Worth has 161,000

The picture above shows the kind of wild and wooly riding that will be featured at the Buck Steiner Rodeo on the nights of October 8 through 12. The rodeo is scheduled on the list of big events for the 29th annual Panhandle South Plains fair in Lubbock. Steiner, Austin saddlemaker and rancher, will have some of the roughest, toughest broncs, steers and calves in the country assembled at the fair. Top-notch rodeo cowboys of the country will be there to ride and rope them in competition for $2,500 in cash prizes plus entrance fees all of which will be added.

County Winners are Being Selected in 4-H Garden Program

County winners are now being selected in 45 states in which the 1946 National 4-H Garden award program is conducted under the direction of the extension service. Last year 1,205 qualifying counties named 3,415 winners, 346 of whom also won state honors.

As incentives for outstanding 4-H garden records, merit awards are offered by Allis-Chalmers. They comprise gold-filled medals to the four top entrants in each participating county, and $9,000 worth of U. S. Savings bonds to be shared by state winners. Eight sectional-national champions selected from state winners each receives a trip to the 25th anniversary national 4-H Club congress in Chicago next December and a $100 U. S. Savings bond.

Last year's state winners in Texas were George McBee, Eastland; Henry Neil Schacht, Lockney; Dick Penn, Moore; Jim Whaley, Estelline; Miss Gladys Lopez, Alice; Miss Helen Kolaja, Damon; Miss Lillian Roeder, Shiner; and Miss Frankie J. Gipson, Plainview. County winners were named in Austin, Brazoria, Brazos, Comanche, Dawson, Erath, Floyd, Grimes, Hale, Jim Wells, Lavaca, Lee, Tom Green, Swisher, Wichita, Wilbarger, Eastland, Frio, Hall, Andrews, Crane, Ector, Angelina, Archer, Atascosa, Baylor, Bee, Bosque, Bowie, Brooks, Brown, Callahan, Cameron, Camp, Castro, Clay, Coleman, Colorado, Concho, Cooke, Cottle, Crosby, Dallam, Dickens, Fayette, Fisher, Fort Bend, Franklin, Goliad, Gonzales, Grayson, Hardeman, Harris, Haskell, Hemphill, Henderson, Hood, Howard, Hunt, Lamb, Liberty, Llano, Lubbock, McLennan, Marion, Mitchell, Montague, Montgomery, Morris, Orange, Palo Pinto, Parker, Parmer, Potter, Rains, Red River, Shackelford, Smith, Somervell, Stephens, Taylor, Upshur, Van Zandt, Walker, Waller, Washington, Young, Mills and Sabine counties.

The national goal in 1946 is 20 million gardens, an increase of 10 percent over last year, to meet food needs for home use and famine relief abroad. Four-H club members raised more than a million acres of gardens during the war years, equivalent to the area of Rhode Island plus 315 square miles in Massachusetts.

American oil companies printed 150 million road maps for this summer's touring vacationists.

U. S. farmers must battle some 80,000 different types of insects to protect crops, poultry, pigs, sheep and cattle.

Little Carolyn Kay arrived Tuesday at the Tullia hospital. She will make her home with Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Wyrick. Mrs. Wyrick will be remembered as Miss Erma McCarty. The father is employed with the local Farm Security Administration.

At the end of a day both walkers and drivers are tired and impatient. Because reaction is slower, caution must be greater, says the Texas safety association. More people are killed in the evening rush than any other time during the day. Take care—and don't be rushed to death!

SUPERVISORS FOR CAP ROCK DISTRICT—Earl I. Cantwell, Chairman, Louie Kitchens, Obra Watson, Pierce White and Bray Cook.

Merle McMurtry, a cooperater in the San Jacinto Group, is constructing a trench silo to store part of his surplus feed this year. The silo is being constructed with farm tractor and rotary Fresno scraper according to Merle McMurtry.

Earl I. Cantwell was re-elected supervisor for sub-division three of the Cap Rock Soil Conservation District, according to Edwin Crass, election chairman. The election was held at the Francis School house on Wednesday, October 2, 1946. Mr. Cantwell is one of the five supervisors of the Cap Rock Soil Conservation District, being elected for a term of five years.

E. W. Scheid is constructing terraces on his farm three miles west of Quitaque. Terraces are of the large ridge type and are being constructed with a farm tractor with disc type terracer attachment. Mr. Scheid had the assistance of Soil Conservation Service Engineers in planning this terrace system.

W. B. May, a cooperater in the San Jacinto Conservation Group, started the construction of a terrace system on his farm last week. Terraces are being constructed with a whirl-wind type terracer and farm tractor. The terracer is being rented from the Supervisors of the Swisher County Soil Conservation District.

Noel Moore, a cooperater who lives two miles Southeast of Gasoline, in the County Line Group, has fifteen acres of Austrian Winter peas up to a good stand. The peas were planted in rows with regular row crop planter. Mr. Moore plans to use this crop for winter pasture for his dairy cows.

Subsistence for Vets On Farm Training Have Been Ok'd

The recent veterans administration interpretation of Public Law 679 which sharply reduced subsistence allowances to veterans enrolled in farm training has been rescinded. VA's Dallas branch has been informed by the administration's Washington office, this week.

"Farm trainees can now resume training under the original plan and with full subsistence payments," William T. Murphy, director of education in the Dallas branch advised.

"The order is retroactive to the date on which the much protested reduction interpretation went into effect. If a veteran has had a deduction made from his subsistence, VA will repay him. This is good news for some 7,500 veterans in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi. It means they will get their full 65 and 90 dollars allowances from VA as they did in the past. The order rescinding the earlier interpretation has been wired to all VA regional offices throughout the three states. We are instructing all regions to resume operations under the original full payment plan."

According to Eldon F. Fuller, Chief, vocational rehabilitation and education of the Lubbock VA region office, this new ruling will materially effect approximately 1,000 West Texas veterans enrolled in county vocational education schools.

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 13

PAUL MAKES A NEW START

LESSON TEXT—ACTS 26:9-18; I Corinthians 15:8-10.
MEMORY SELECTION—This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners.—I Timothy 1:15.

All that a man has by nature is not enough. We saw last week the preparation by heredity, education and environment which Paul had for a place of leadership. But it was not enough. The capable, well-born, well-trained young Jewish aristocrat had to be born again spiritually before he could do God's work.

Careful Bible students regard the conversion of Paul and the resurrection of Christ as the two outstanding events of the New Testament. Without the resurrection of Jesus, the conversion of Saul of Tarsus (whom we know as Paul the apostle) would not have been possible, and at the same time his conversion is one of the strongest proofs of the resurrection.

We find him in three relationships.

I. By Nature—Contrary to Christ (Acts 26:9-12).
It is not enough, as some of us suppose, that a man be sincere. Paul was entirely sincere in his conviction that he ought to persecute the Christians. He did it with a good conscience (Acts 23:1), for a man's conscience commends him for doing what he believes to be right, even though he may be wrong in his thinking.

He was sincere, but he was anti-Christian. By nature man is at enmity with God. No good thing dwells in the flesh apart from the redeeming grace of God

(Rom. 8:7; James 4:4; Rom. 7:18). Stirred, probably by the faithful testimony of Stephen, to even greater zeal against the followers of Christ, Paul had to find new worlds to conquer, so he set out "breathing out threatenings and slaughter to destroy the church in Damascus" as he had sought to do in Jerusalem.

He was a bold persecutor, doing all he could "contrary to the name of Jesus" (v. 9), until he met the Lord himself on the Damascus road. Ah, that meeting made him a different man and he became

II. By Faith—Converted to Christ (Acts 26:13-18).

Stricken down by a brilliant heavenly light, he found himself talking to the Lord Jesus. He heard from his holy lips the solemn indictment of those who persecute God's people—"Why persecutest thou me?" He who lays unkind hands upon, or brings untrue accusation against, God's children had better beware, for so closely is our Lord identified with his people that when they suffer, it is he who bears the hurt.

In a single sentence the Lord disposed of the persecuting zeal and the sinful skepticism of this proud young Pharisee, and Saul entered into Damascus not as the haughty persecutor, but as a man trembling and astonished. He spent three days shut in with his own soul and God; not seeing, not caring to eat, but entering into communion with God. By God's grace the old life was pulled up by the roots as it was displaced by the new life in Christ Jesus.

God had a great commission awaiting Paul as soon as he was ready for it (vv. 16-18). He was to be the apostle to the Gentiles, and that includes so many of us. The gospel which had come first to the Jews, was now to go out into all the world and to all people.

The change in Paul was a drastic one. He was as one who was alive from the dead. It was not a case of adjusting or refurbishing the old persecutor Saul—here was a new creature in Christ, ordained to good works (Eph. 2:8-10).

II. By Grace—Confessing Christ (I Cor. 15:8-10).
Twenty years had passed since Paul's conversion. He had been out serving Christ, in season and out of season. He had known persecution, suffering and opposition. Now he was writing, by inspiration of the Holy Spirit, about the resurrection, telling of those who had seen the risen Christ. He included himself as one born out of his time.

It is a personal vision of the living Saviour which vitalizes the spirit of a witness and makes his testimony ring true. Paul saw Christ. We too may see Him with the eye of faith, and by His grace become witnesses.

Effort and labor are involved. This matter of witnessing is not something which automatically does itself. "I labored more abundantly," said Paul, and yet he knew that it was the grace of God in him which accomplished the result (see v. 10 and Phil. 2:13).

That is it! The grace of God working on and in and through a man. And at the same time, that man laboring diligently that the grace bestowed upon him should not be found vain. It is in this manner God's work gets done on earth!

Miss Thelma Gean Mercer of Canyon visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mercer, and other relatives in Silvertown over the weekend.

this fall can expect to receive their first subsistence checks in about a month the Veterans administration reported this week.
Although VA offices in the Dallas branch area expect an increased workload ranging from 25 to 180 per cent higher than last spring, no serious trouble such as was experienced in February and March of this year is expected, VA said.
Anticipating the rush of students, VA has taken a number director in the tri-state area, revealed.

The recent Veterans adminis-

been informed by the administration's Washington office.
"Farm trainees can now resume

"The order is retroactive to went into effect. If a veteran has had a deduction made from his subsistence VA will repay him.

This is good news for some 7,500 veterans in Texas, Louisiana and

FARM FACTS WORTH KNOWING

Q. Can milk production be increased by giving cows more water?
A. It is often possible to increase production of a herd by 10 to 15 percent, simply by increasing the number of times they are watered. If possible, water should be available at all times with water cups at each stallion. If not, cows should be watered at least three times daily, winter and summer.

Q. I have quite a large number of young cockerels that I wish to market as broilers. What is the best way to finish them out?
A. Use a broiler growing feed all the way until the birds are marketed. Fattening feeds are not generally used for feeding broilers.

Q. What kind of housing is required for dairy goats?
A. Housing for goats need not be elaborate. The Research Farm of the Ralston Purina Company recommends a dry, well ventilated building that is free from drafts, with a floor that has good drainage and a surface that can be scrubbed and disinfected. Individual pans for feeding grain should be provided, and an ample water supply must be available at all times.

Q. What is the best hay for feeding work horses?
A. An excellent hay for work stock is a mixture of well-cured clover and timothy; mixed alfalfa and timothy; or similar combinations. These mixtures are usually better than a single source of hay, because they possess the good qualities of both legume and non-legume hays.

Q. Can turkeys be caponized?
A. Yes, but caponizing does not seem to be practical or economical, probably because it takes turkeys nearly two years to reach physical maturity and the results of caponizing are not evidenced until after that time.

The Force that Supports the World's Biggest Bridge...

OIL-PLATES Your Engine!

IN the great San Francisco-Oakland bridge, a tremendous tug-of-war goes on continuously between the forces of gravity and molecular attraction. Because the attractive force between the molecules in the cables balances the down-pull of gravity the bridge stays up.

Through continuous experiment with the mighty forces of molecular attraction, Conoco scientists are able to produce new and better oils for America's motorists. For instance, by utilizing forces of molecular attraction, a special ingredient of Conoco Nth motor oil is bonded to working surfaces of your engine. So strong is this bond that cylinder walls are OIL-PLATED.

And because molecular attraction holds Conoco OIL-PLATING up where it belongs...prevents it from all draining down to the crankcase, even overnight...you get these benefits:

- added protection when your engine starts
- added protection from corrosive action
- added protection from wear that leads to fouling sludge and carbon
- added smooth, silent miles

That's why to OIL-PLATE now...at Your Conoco Mileage Merchant's. Look for the red triangle. Continental Oil Company

Certifying Officer for War Surplus to be In Amarillo Soon

Horace Ralston, certifying officer, and Howard Knightstep, veteran's interviewing officer, from the Fort Worth regional office of War Assets Administration will be in Amarillo, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 15 and 16, to assist veterans of Briscoe county in obtaining surplus government property.

The two WAA men will have headquarters at the Old Library building, Taylor and 6th Avenue, both days from 9 to 12 and 1 to 5. Veterans who have not previously applied for certification are urged to present a copy of their honorable discharge and complete the small amount of paper work necessary to use their veterans rights in obtaining desired government surplus property.

A "site sale" scheduled to open at Pantex Ordnance Plant at St. Francis, near Amarillo on October 28 will offer all certified veterans priority buying rights on many items of property in textiles, hardware and other categories. By making application now all veterans of this county can be assured of participating in this sale and other sales planned for later this month.

Your Home

By Frances Ainsworth

There are times when your furnace probably acts sluggish, as though it were lying down on the job. You might blame it on the weather or on the type of fuel you are burning, but actually it more than likely would be because of your furnace having a cold in its head. In other words, its breathing channel becomes clogged up.

In the process of combustion, soot and fly ash are given off. They settle in the "head," or radiator, of your furnace, thereby obstructing the flow of air that the fire needs for efficient burning. The furnace is then in distress, but not being human it cannot tell you so.

That is why it is necessary to give your furnace a thorough clean-out every so often, at least once a year. The only way to relieve the clogged-up condition is to draw the soot and ash out by suction, the same as you draw the dirt out of your rugs with a vacuum cleaner. There are heating firms that have special equipment for this purpose.

Of course, the ideal solution is to have a furnace that has no concealed radiator in which to collect the soot and ash. Your next furnace can be of that kind, for there is one now on the market. But until you make the change, remember that a clogged head in your furnace costs you both grief and money. Keep it in good working condition by giving it a good cleaning-out before you have need for its heat this winter.

The Hollywood movie stars can well afford to honeymoon in Europe. After all, to them a honeymoon is something that only happens once in every three or four years.

Right from the word go—right for rushing anywhere—right, in weight, for airplane luggage and the first fall weather is the suit shown above as pictured in the Good Housekeeping magazine. It is featured by a long double-yoked jacket, pin-checked in beige, black or green.

Nearly 15,000 shelter half tents, both new and used, recently delcared surplus to the needs of the army, are being offered for sale by the Fort Worth WAA office to commercial dealers. The tents range in price from $2.70 to wholesalers buying a minimum of 90, to $3.34 to small retailers who may buy as few as 30.

Service stations have a survival rate of about 71 percent, as compared with the average for all retail trade of 51 percent.

MARKETS—

sold mostly at $2.30 to $2.40 per bushel crate at Louisiana shipping points. Also, most consumer markets reported stronger prices for yams. Irish potatoes at mid-west markets and Colorado shipping points reflected the slightly stronger Chicago market. Colorado cabbage and New Mexico carrots found fair demand at steady prices, but Louisiana cucumbers were slightly weaker. Onions remained dull at depressed prices. Demand for new crop peanuts continued slow, probably because peanut butter manufacturers can't find glass jars. Ft. Worth reported a few sales of No. 1 peanuts at 14 1/2 cents.

Eggs and poultry continued to advance last week as broad demand accentuated by the meat supplies at most southwest markets. Turkeys were firm too with young toms selling mostly at 33 to 35 cents a pound at Ft. Worth.

Southwest cattle markets reported slightly heavier receipts last week. Prices held generally steady for light runs of slaughter classes, but stockers had a weak undertone. Common and medium cows brought $8.25 to $11.50, Houston; $9 to $11.50, Wichita and $9 to $12, Oklahoma City. Common to good cows brought $10 to $14, Denver and medium and good grades, $10.50 to $13.50, San Antonio. Common and medium steers and yearlings realized $11.50 to $14.50, Houston, while medium and good grades brought $14 to $18, Ft. Worth.

Southwest hog markets continued to sell all weights and classes at ceiling prices as meager supplies failed to satisfy the broad demand.

Lambs held steady and ewes advanced 25 to 50 cents per hundred last week at most southwest markets. Common and medium lambs brought $12.50 to $14.50, San Antonio while medium and good fat kinds realized $15.50 to $16.75, Ft. Worth and $16.50 to $17.75, Wichita. Good to choice lambs reached a top of $18.50, Denver and Oklahoma City.

Domestic wool continued active at Boston as buyers bought heavily to beat the price increase of October 7.

Milk and butter prices held firm as supplies continued inadequate to meet demand.

POST VET—

Carey, a tall, typical West Texan, is quiet and unassuming. "I'd had my name in the pot for a new car for some time, when the Veterans administration came along and bought it for me, I was really happy. Because of all the walking to and from classes, I might have had to drop out of school, but now that I have my car I am assured of continuing," he said.

Carey is attending Texas Tech under the Veterans administration vocational rehabilitation program for disabled veterans. He did not finish high school before going into military service; however, through a series of tests given him by the advisement and guidance section of the VA it was determined he could do college work. He is making an enviable record at Texas Tech.

Under Public Law 663, administered by the Veterans administration, World War II veterans who are entitled to a compensation for the loss of, or the loss of use of a leg are entitled to purchase a passenger automobile, station wagon, jeep, or tractor not to exceed $1600 at government expense.

Sixty applications have been received in the VA regional office at Lubbock. At the present time 39 of the applications have been approved. Benjamin O. Murph, adjudication officer said.

Extension Service Says "Keep Your Rocker Rocking"

Unless your chairs collapse all at once like the "Wonderful One-Hoss Shay," don't buy any just yet. This is the suggestion of Mrs. Bernice Claytor, home management specialist of the A. and M. college extension service.

Reason: The 2,700,000 new homes being built by veterans this year and next will require all of this country's furniture out-put for at least two years. Because of shortages of lumber and steel, furniture production still is low compared to the pre-war period.

Most chairs are repairable, Mrs. Claytor points out, and the homemaker can keep them in service by adding new seats, by gluing and bracing, and by re-finishing chairs to make them presentable. Assistance and literature are available from county home demonstration agents or from Extension headquarters at College Station.
