Mystery of Flying Plates Solved By Local Editor

With all the smart people in the United States—Texas too—talking about these flying plates, saucers, pans, secret weapons and what have you floating around in the air, maybe it would help clear things up a little if the Editor told the people of this community what he thinks they might be.

Luxury or Necessity . . .

Representatives of nations where there is no freedom of the press and where the people enjoy no privileges or personal liberty have often remarked that the American system of individual freedom is a luxury only a rich nation may afford. This is a flimsy excuse for the brutalities of dictatorship. But would we be so different from these other nations which are zipping back into the dark ages, if we were hard pressed by economic chaos? Not if we are to listen to some of our most notable, self-styled liberals who claim with fearful urgency that should another depression descend upon America, she too would abandon the "luxury" of freedom. Some of them would even jump the gun by setting up a planned state now—fixing prices, rigging supply and demand to artificial standards, controlling production, and in effect, establishing government as a spurious god.

When this country was founded, the going was tough. Freedom was the first goal of life. It was not achieved easily. The privilege of going to the church of one's choice was not considered a luxury, nor were ownership of property and the right to assembly and free speech. These things were as vital as air. To infer, no matter how indirectly, that they have become luxuries at a time when millions of people over the whole world are looking to the United States to keep alight the torch of civilization, is inexcusable.

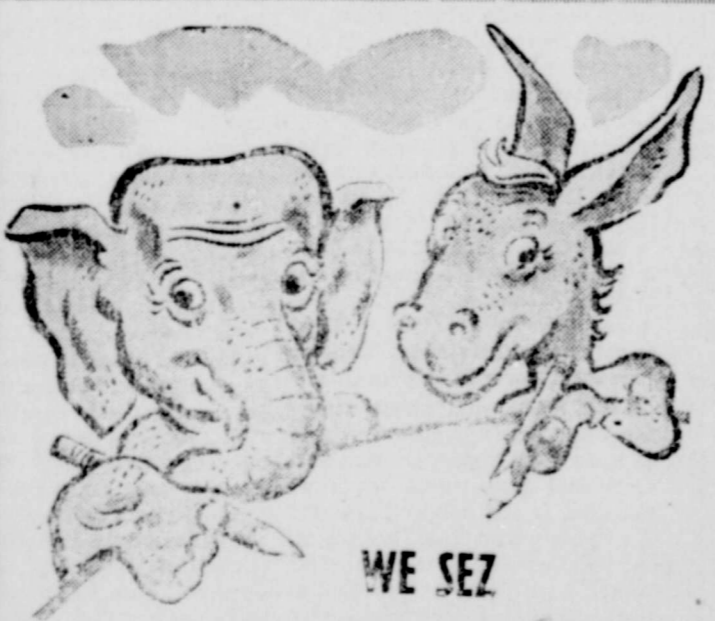

Very likely there will be depressions in this country in the future, as in the past. There can either be short pauses in the march forward of a great nation—or any one of them can be the jumping-off point for state socialism and the subjugation of the people. It will depend upon our point of view—whether our freedom is a luxury or a necessity.

THE VETERAN'S FRIEND

Q. What is meant by a guaranty of loan under the G. I. Bill?

A. The guaranty of a loan by Veterans Administration under the provisions of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act (G. I. Bill) is an agreement between a lender of money and VA that in event a veteran fails to pay his loan, the Government will pay the guaranteed portion of the loan.

Q. If I can't meet payments on my guaranteed loan is payment by the Government a gift to me?

A. No, payment by the Government by your guaranteed loan is not a gift. It must be repaid, and if the Government pays the guaranteed part of the loan to the lender, you are obligated to the Government for that part of the loan.

Q. I have a lender who will lend me the money I need, but he wants additional security. Does the law allow him to ask for security?

A. Yes. This is a matter between you and the lender. While Veterans Administration does not require that additional security be given, it does not object if the veteran is willing to give it.

Q. I am a widow of World War II veteran and want to buy a home. Can I obtain a guaranty of loan?

A. No. The privilege is limited to veterans of World War II.

Q. Can I obtain a guaranteed loan to purchase household furnishings?

A. No.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Moral Integrity in Our Everyday Lives

LESSON TEXT FOR JULY 6—Job 1:1; 27:18; 31:15-28

MEMORY SELECTION—My righteousness I hold fast, and will not let it go: my heart shall not reproach me so long as I live.—Job 27:6

EDITOR'S NOTE: Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

AFTER Job had lost his property, his children and even his health, three of his friends came to comfort him. But they only added to his sorrow by accusing him of being sinful, and suffering only what he deserved.

Job in these verses is replying to them. We note that in his ignorance of God's purposes, he accused God of being cruel to him (27:2; 30:21). This matter was later to be straightened out with the Lord.

But even now when he did not understand God's dealings, and stood there sick and destitute, he maintained his integrity. He would not turn from the Lord, nor would he be led off into wickedness.

It is possible for a man to be beaten and bruised and bewildered, and still true to the Lord. Let's never forget that!

III. Kind and Fair (31:19-23).

JOB had been a rich man, but had not let his own prosperity dim his eye so that he could not see the need of his poor neighbor. He was not among those who, because they are well fed, can see no point in all the fuss about the hungry people round about.

There is something very fine and worthy of our imitation here. It is so easy to take what we have as a special favor from the Lord, to be retained and used by us, when we ought to recognize it as a matter of stewardship for the Lord.

A vital part of real moral integrity is the right use of possessions. Many a man or woman who has passed all the other tests with flying colors comes to grief at this point.

IV. Spiritual and Faithful (31:24-28).

THERE were plenty of temptations in Job's day, as there are now, to depart from the worship of the true God to other modes of devotion.

The worship of the sun was common, and Jeremiah 44:17 shows that it continued for generations. In fact, what shall we say of the world wide devotion to astrology in our day.

Then there was the temptation to worship gold. How up-to-date that is, for do we not have millions who worship "the almighty dollar," yes, even if they do not have it.

To all such temptations Job said a resolute "No." He would not even permit his innermost heart to be enticed secretly (v. 27). He stood true for the God he loved and served.

Who will question that one of our greatest needs in the world today is for men and women who, by the grace and blessing of God, will live good and upright lives, true to the Lord, and sacrificial, in real loving-kindness to men, God give us men, yes, that kind of men!

Starting with less than a dozen gifts in 1816, the American Bible Society last year received hundreds of thousands of individual contributions for copies of the Scriptures, the Bible, and the New Testament.

Today, from every part of the globe, requests for copies of the Scriptures are being received from millions of men, women, and children in devastated areas.

Knowing the great good that has followed the work of our Missionaries, American businessmen are urging their friends to double their gifts to the American Bible Society—for 130 years a nonprofit organization.

5¢ will pay for a portion of the Scriptures, 20¢ will buy a New Testament, and 50¢ will place a copy of the complete Bible in the hands of someone who is starving for God's Word.

Brucellosis is Great Danger To Farmers And Rural Areas

Farmers who lend a hand to cows and sows while the young are being born run the risk of contracting brucellosis—a serious infection of animals that is transmissible to man—unless they take special precautions to safeguard themselves.

Many cases of human brucellosis appear during June July and August as a result of exposure during spring calving and farrowing, says the American Veterinary Medical Association, although infection may occur at any time of the year. The germs which cause this disease are present in the fetal membrane of infected animals and may be picked up by people who handle them.

"Meet livestock owners are aware of the serious consequences of brucellosis in animals," says the AVMA, "but they fail to recognize the threat of this disease to their own health."

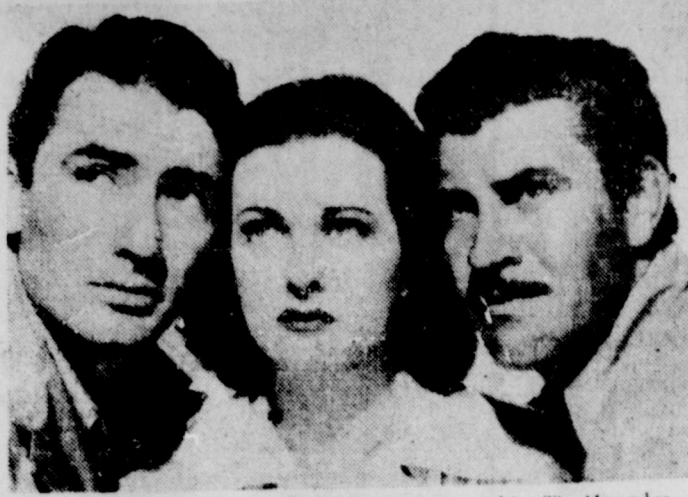

Farm workers who have cuts or open sores on their hands or arms should not attempt to assist parturient animals, because such lesions are a portal of entry for brucellosis germs.

The brucellosis threat to farm people, according to Association officials, is one of the most underrated dangers of rural life. Thousands more cases of this disease have occurred than have been brought to the attention of public health workers, they say.

Two million cattle infected
About two million cattle in the United States and unestimated though large numbers of swine harbor the disease. Sheep, goats, horses, dogs, cats, and other animals can also harbor it.

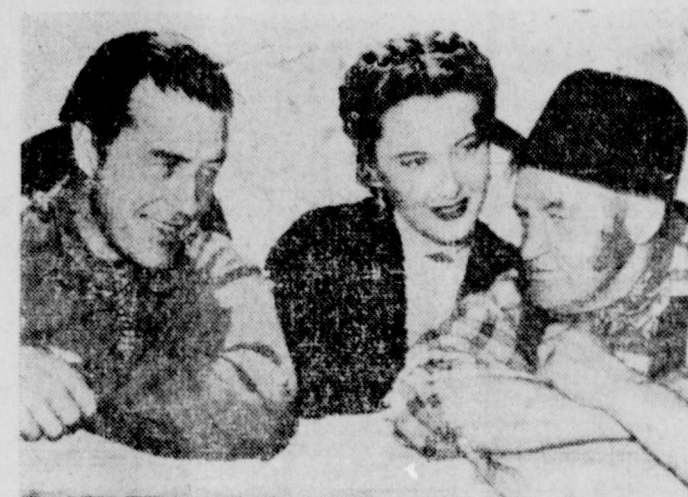

Perhaps half the cases of human brucellosis are contracted through the consumption of unpasteurized milk from infected cows. Careless use of brucellosis vaccines in cattle also may account for some human cases, the AVMA declares, because these vaccines contain live organisms. Should a drop of vaccine spray from the syringe into the operator's eye during the act of vaccination, it may cause infection, it is warned, and an accidental scratch from the vaccinating needle may likewise produce the disease.

Weekly SURPLUS NEWS WAA

Veterans cleaned out the stock of surplus vehicles at a pre-Fourth of July sale at Red River Arsenal by grabbing them off at the rate of approximately one and a half vehicles a minute. During the opening five hours of the War Assets Administration sale, the vets bought 420 vehicles originally costing approximately $300,000. The remaining vehicles were disposed of early on the sale's second day. The purchase order drawing for the sale was supervised by Dean W. P. Akin of the Texarkana College, acting for the Texarkana American Legion chapter.

Employing "cash and carry" sales tactics to surplus Texas real property for the first time, War Assets Administration will offer 160 buildings of the Dalhart Army Air Field on the spot bid basis July 15. The streamlined type of sale was adopted as the most expedient means of providing additional storage facilities to wheat growers in the Panhandle area. The buildings will be sold at Dalhart singly with bids acceptable from any one present, and awards announced as fast as bids are sorted.

War Assets Administration has decided to donate several thousand surplus dynamometers to schools and other public institutions. Approximately 2,000 institutions in the Grand Prairie region are eligible, it is estimated. The inventory is located at the Belmont Radio Corporation, Lockland, Ohio, and inquiries should be directed to WAA officials there or to Mr. Logan, care State Educational Agency for Surplus Property, Austin, Texas. Dynamometers are commonly used as power sources for radio and communications equipment.

Pistons, gears, engine assemblies lamp bulbs, drive shaft flanges and bearings are included in lots of automotive parts and equipment placed on sale through Customer Service Center of the Grand Prairie office of WAA until July 16. Both priority and commercial groups are invited to bid, with encouragement given to auto parts jobbers, dealers, service garages and fleet owners.

Household furniture now goes on the WAA market until July 14 through the Customer Service Center at Grand Prairie, Texas. Included are single size wood beds, steel cots, curled chicken feather pillows, coil springs rotary type chairs and double pedestal desks. These items will be sold on a competitive bid basis.

Two hundred and ninety-four buildings at Pecos Army Air Field are on sale until August 5 for removal from the premises. Included are barracks, mess halls, infirmaries, latrines, a post exchange, recreation buildings and warehouses, WAA officials announced.

Ammunition igloos at Pantex Ordnance Plant, near Amarillo, have been leased by WAA to farmers for the storage of wheat. Eight small and two large surplus oil storage tanks at Cactus Ordnance works near Dumas, Texas were sold for wheat storage. The leasing and sales will materially aid storage of the crop in the Panhandle.

Veterans News

Plans for a medical research and laboratory center for the Southwest and appointment of Dr. Jacob Furth, one of America's leading research scientists to direct the project, have been announced by the Veterans Administration.

Dr. Furth, professor of pathology at Cornell University for the past 15 years, has already assumed his new position with VA at Dallas. He will also be associated with Southwestern Medical College in the same city.

The Dallas laboratory will provide technical service to VA hospitals in Texas, Louisiana, and Mississippi, and will also serve as a research and training center for VA professional personnel in the three states.

Dr. Furth is particularly renowned for his cancer research. When he accepted the VA position, Cornell University released a valuable animal colony and special equipment to the Dallas VA laboratory so that he could continue his research into the causes and possible treatments of the disease.

Here's a date, only three weeks from now that's important to 1,400,000 World War II veterans now living in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi. It's August 1.

Most veterans who have let their GI insurance policies lapse have until August 1 to reinstate their policies under present liberal regulations.

Until August 1 dead-line, a physical examination is not required in most cases. The veteran has only to sign a statement that his health is as good as it was when the policy lapsed. Payment of only two monthly premiums is necessary to restore the GI insurance in full force.

Since civic groups began cooperating with VA early in February in urging veterans to reinstate their insurance, more than 46,000 World War II ex-service men and women in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi have reinstated approximately $350,000,000 worth of insurance.

Necessary reinstatement forms can be obtained from the nearest VA office or from service organizations

VA has announced that more than 3,000 World War II veterans are studying abroad under the educational provisions of the GI Bill.

A VA report as of May 19 showed that the ex-GI's are enrolled in 322 foreign institutions in 34 countries. Most of the veterans are studying in the Philippine Republic, Canada, Mexico, England, France and Switzerland.

Veterans are eligible for overseas study on the same basis as in the United States. Those who wish to study abroad must arrange for their own passport visas and transportation, VA said.

Cookies That Go Well In Any Lunch Box

That "something sweet to top off the meal" is just as important in a lunch box as it is in a meal served at home. It's a good idea to include fruit often; but children and grown-ups alike will appreciate having something to go with the fruit.

These Bran Applesauce Cookies are unusual and very tasty. The use of bran cuts down on the flour needed. Either canned or homemade applesauce may be used. Carefully strained drippings from home-rendered fats, which have been properly stored in the refrigerator, may take the place of lard if desired.

Bran Applesauce Cookies
1 3/4 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup lard
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup sweetened applesauce
1 cup raisins
1 cup shredded bran
Sift flour with spices and add cream lard and sugar; add eggs and beat well. Add soda to applesauce. Add dry ingredients to creamed mixture alternately with the soda and applesauce. Add raisins and shredded bran. Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased baking sheet, about two inches apart to allow for spreading. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F) 15-20 minutes. Yield: 3 dozen cookies (2 1/2 inches in diameter).

orial Hospital School of Nursing in Lubbock, Texas, have recently decided to pay all student nurses a monthly stipend which will total $735.00 for the three years. This is equal to the sum paid over the three years period by the Cadet Corps.

American Legion National Forum of Boys' Government in Washington D. C., August 1-7, is certain to far exceed in attendance the first Forum which was held in 1946. Representatives from almost all states and territories are expected.

A well prepared student body is an asset not only to the hospital, but to the community which it serves. Since costs of nursing education have risen along with the general cost of living it was felt that the student and her family should not be expected to bear the total expense.

These two hospitals will admit a class on September 1, 1947.

Former Resident is Married in New Mexico Recently

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Sanders of Muleshoe, are this week announcing the marriage of their daughter, Aurelia, to Raymond H. Rutledge, Jr., which took place on Friday, June 20th at Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Miss Sanders was well known to Silverton and Quitaque people having lived in both places for some seventeen years. The family moved to Muleshoe in January, 1945.

Mr. Rutledge is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Rutledge of Paris, Texas and is a graduate of Shriner Military Institute of Kerrville, Texas and served four years in the Air Corps in the European Theater of operations.

Sandelwood comes chiefly from India.

One afternoon last week I dropped in to see one of my friends, Mary Gillway, and discovered her right in the midst of fixing a picnic lunch for her young daughter. Well, she handed me an apron and I helped her make sandwiches, devil eggs and fix lemonade ... and pack the picnic basket. We'd almost finished when Mary started rummaging through the cupboards, mumbling "where is that old salt cellar?" Then she said that she never liked to take salt on a picnic anyway—it spilled all over the foods—or else was too damp to use.

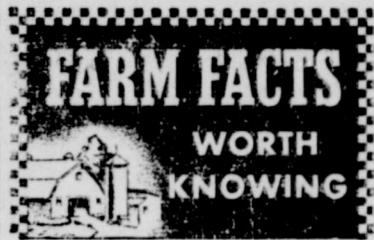

Well, I chuckled, picked up the roll of waxed paper we had been using to wrap the picnic sandwiches ... and showed Mary how to make a fool-proof container for salt. I simply cut two square pieces of waxed paper and sealed three of the edges together with a hot iron. Then I filled the container with salt — and sealed the fourth side. Into the picnic basket went salt, moisture-proof and spill-proof until lunch time!

You knew it's surprising how many unusual uses we housewives find for waxed paper, isn't it? For instance: I always wrap candles and leather goods in waxed paper before storing them for the summer. This protects the candles from sticking together ... and keeps leather goods free from moisture, prevents harmful mildew.

You probably know a dozen or more such time and money saving uses for waxed paper — but if you haven't tried my pet tricks, do — you'll be pleased with the results!

Q. Is it safe to use a sprayer for other purposes after it has been used for spraying 2-4-D Weed Killer?

A. Sprayers with wooden tanks should not be used again for anything but weed killer. Sprayers with metal tanks may be used for other purposes, although weed killer residues are difficult to remove and it is recommended that a different sprayer be used for insecticide or fungicide applications. If this cannot be done, your equipment should be carefully and thoroughly cleaned immediately after use, as follows:

- 1. Rinse thoroughly with water; fill tank with hot water; add household ammonia at rate of 2 teaspoons per quart of water, and mix. Spray out small amounts of solution and leave remainder in tank overnight.
2. Drain and rinse, spraying small quantities through nozzles.
3. Fill sprayer about a third full with hot soapy water, spraying out small amounts.
4. Drain and follow with clean water rinse.

Q. If pigs are vaccinated against cholera by the double treatment method when they are six weeks of age, will they have life-time immunity?

A. Twenty years of following this procedure on 25,000 pigs weaned at the Research Farm of the Raiston Furina Company show that the double treatment method at six weeks of age does give life-time protection, and many hog men today are adopting this practice.

Q. How often should the laying flocks be culled, and what is the best method?

A. While it has been common practice to cull during the months of July, August and September, recently more and more poultrymen are turning to the flashlight method at night when the birds are on roost and, using a strong flashlight, remove all birds which show "crow heads," pale, shriveled combs, yellow beaks or other indications of being out of production. This system has the advantage of not disturbing the birds and does not require the handling of the entire flock. After using the flashlight method, it is a good thing to go over the birds that have been removed the next day to be sure they are definitely culled.

Spuds Make Good Cow Feed A. & M. Dairy Men Say

Folks all over are asking about the practice of using potatoes as feed for dairy cows.

Extension dairymen at Texas A. and M. College are telling them that spuds are satisfactory in a dairy ration if fed in limited amounts, as a substitute for grain or other feed.

Sometimes, say the dairymen, cows may choke on the potatoes, but this can be remedied if the dairy farmer will slice or chop the vegetables before feeding. Potatoes are not the most tasty feed a cow can get, and she needs to become accustomed to them gradually. Feeding too large amounts of potatoes may cause scours.

When fed at the rate of 24 to 40 pounds per head daily the spuds are a good substitute for corn silage, the dairymen say. Even at that, the animals will probably lose their appetite for the vegetable after several months.

Specifically designed as a Christmas greeting, the new calendar is 9 by 14 inches in size, printed in color and carries a space for imprinting the name of the local American Legion post.

Colorfully illustrated, each calendar page dramatizes one of the purposes of the American Legion as set forth in the preamble to the organization's constitution. On the back of each page is an informative article about The American Legion, its affiliated groups and past accomplishments.

Appliances and Wiring Responsible For many Fires

Among the items that help start household fires as the housewife goes about her daily tasks, the electric iron ranks up among the worst of them.

Ordinarily the blame can't be put on the iron, but on the person who goes off for a few minutes and forgets to turn it off.

Home management specialists of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service say that if a housewife is really safety-minded, she will not only turn off her iron when she leaves it, but disconnect it as well, even if she leaves only for a few minutes.

"Octopus connections"—several electrical connections from one outlet—are another serious household fire hazard, the specialists say. A safe rule is to make only one or two connections from an outlet and avoid the use of extension cords except as temporary wiring.

Other electrical "don'ts" around the house are: don't hang extension cords over nails or run them through doors or underneath rugs; don't use worn cords on lamps and appliances; don't let clothing, draperies, or other inflammable materials come too close to light bulbs.

you ever wonder whether paper reporters lead as inter-ing and exciting lives as you've they do? Well, I was inclin-doubt it but I've just finished ing the proofs of a book which off the press most any time and after reading the book, is entitled "Cub Reporter," inclined to believe that newsr folks do have experiences ried and thrilling as the novels and the movies proclaim "Cub Reporter" is not fiction but tells about some of the events that a police reporter on a city daily "covered" as a part of his daily work The author, who was then just out of high school (this was back in 1916 and 1917) tells about Revinsky, the "one-thumb slayer" and "scar-faced killer", as he was known. Revinsky, convicted of murder, escaped and, as a posse unwittingly approached his hiding place, he drew a bead on the cub reporter but was dissuaded from shooting by a companion.

Then there was Wild Dan, who killed six people at one time. Wild Dan threatened to kill the cub reporter and, 10 minutes later, Wild Dan was dead. Of course that's not the whole story.

And the book tells of the man who arose from the dead; of SUPERVISORS FOR CAP ROCK DISTRICT—Earl I. Cantwell, Chairman, Louie Kitchens, Obra Watson, Pierce White and Bray Cook.

Earl Cantwell, Chairman of the Board of Supervisors of the local Cap Rock Soil Conservation District, harvested his Dixie Wonder Winter peas last week. He planted a small patch on a trial basis last fall and is well pleased with the results. Earl reports that he harvested between 2400 and 2500 pounds of seed off of 1 1/2 acres.

These winter peas are excellent soil builders and will fit into the cropping system on irrigated farms in the plains part of the District very easily. They can be planted in September or October after feed crops are harvested and will grow throughout the winter.
They can be grazed similar to wheat and then turned under as a green manure crop before planting time in the spring. They can also be handled as Mr. Cantwell did this year and a seed crop harvested.

Below the cap in the sandier portion of the District, these peas will fit into the cropping system in the same way as in the irrigated sections. The grazing from winter peas was very good ground Quitauque.

H. M. Newberry, farming in the Crass Conservation Group, had Soil Conservation Service technicians lay out a line to water cotton.

J. K. Bean, farming in the Mercer Conservation Group southeast of Silverton, had lines run last week to water feed crops.

Supplies of oilseed cake and meal available for feed from now through September are expected to be about the same as a year ago.

A present pricer of cotton and cottonseed, no grower can afford to lose one-bale-out-of-seven which cotton insects normally steal.

THERE'S A
Blue Ribbon
ON THE OLD FAMILY TREE

Great-GREAT-GREAT Grandpaw (at least in spirit) was a "longhorn." The old pioneer was a forerunner to be proud of. But according to some history books, he was good for little more than "hides and tallow."

BUT today, the bull that roams the plains is a BLUE RIBBON WINNER all over the world.

We have so much confidence in the cattle industry—and all other industries we serve—that we are investing 35 million dollars in a building program. This expansion program in the area we serve will bring more dependable electric service to industry, and better living —electrically—to everyone!

MILLAND —

Directed by John Farrow, the man who made "Two Years Before the Mast," "California" would seem to add up to more than one picture's share of entertainment for even the most demanding fan. To sum up its many attractions, it boasts a cast impressive with top-ranking stars; the natural grandeur of the West captured in all its magnificence by the color cameras; adventurous action and stirring romance; an extraordinary musical score by E. Y. Harburg and Earl Robinson, the latter of

"Ballad for Americans" fame.

Stanwyck Sings
 Miss Stanwyck sings three of the especially written songs—"I Should Have Stood in Pennsylvania," "Said I to My Heart, Said I" and "Lily-I, Lily-O." The star's costumes were copied from authentic museum pieces, with her twenty-two changes designed by Edith Head. Advance reports have it that Miss Stanwyck never looked more glamorous than in this, her first Technicolor production.

Those who have seen the picture prophesy that Barry Fitzgerald in his portrayal of Michael Fabian, the fighting farmer, rises to new heights of dramatic performance and human appeal. All of which would indicate that "California" is a rare Hollywood treat of tremendous entertainment proportions. Certainly no other film in quite some time can boast of such requisites for all-round audience appeal and candidacy for screen honors.
