Faith In America . . .

Within the next few years the electric industry plans to spend a total of four billion dollars on a huge construction program. Every dollar of this astronomical sum will be spent in local communities and the plants and lines it builds will be loaded with every form of taxation the authorities can think up. State and Federal regulatory agencies will be alert to see that electric consumers are given the best possible service at the lowest possible rates. There will be no running of the local citizenry to Washington, D. C., for funds to complete half-finished projects. The power will be coming from business enterprises that will pay taxes right along with the grocery store, the newspaper, the bank and other local enterprise.

Those areas where socialized power is in full flower cannot look forward to enjoying their normal share of this expansion program. Taxpaying industry cannot compete with tax-exempt, unregulated, politically-managed projects. Probably a good part of the four billion dollars which the electric utilities plan to spend will be spent to forestall a future power shortage in the sections of the country which still have confidence in the privately owned electric company. They are planning years ahead—something political projects will never do. As the people who depend upon government power dams have found to their sorrow, appropriations from Congress are a precarious foundation on which to build any plans because politics is always the motivating influence, not real need or responsibility.

It is indeed encouraging to find an industry that has been badgered for more than a decade by deliberate efforts of powerful political groups to put the government into the power business, still with sufficient stamina and faith in America to launch a four billion dollar program of construction. It will be a sad day for our country if the socialists should ever succeed in killing such initiative in private citizens—in favor of the unimaginative stop-gap fumbblings that characterize the bureaucrat in business.

PREPARING FOR PLAINVIEW RODEO

The new rodeo arena and grandstand recently built in Plainview will be the scene of the Plainview Frontier Days rodeo to be held July 17-18-19. Citizens of Plainview who volunteered their labor three nights in order that the stands might be completed more quickly are shown above as they worked. The rodeo stock is to be furnished by Buck Steiner & Sons of Austin.

Light on the Problem Of Human Suffering

LESSON TEXT FOR JULY 20-Job 1:8; 2:7-10; 19:7-10; 42:1-3; James 5:11 MEMORY SELECTION—Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ.—II Timothy 2:3.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D., of The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago. HUMAN suffering—what a problem it is to all of us, in greater or smaller measure. From the broken heart of men and women comes the question "Why?"

We cannot always answer, nor do we fully know the meaning and purpose. We must often simply put ourselves and our loved ones into the hands of God, trusting him to bring us into assurance and victory.

There are some things we can know, and they are most helpful. The book of Job reveals much concerning the background of suffering and its uses and advantages. It is not all loss and pain. God does not forget his people in their hour of trial.

Job had suffered the loss of property, family, and was now personally afflicted by sickness of his body. His friends who came to comfort him had added to his troubles by their pious platitudes about suffering being the result of sin (cf. John 9:3), and so on.

There was enough truth in what they said to make it hurt, and so we are doubly glad we are given a look behind the scenes. We learn that this was not a struggle between God and Job, nor even between Satan and Job. We see

I. The Battle Between God and Satan (Job 1:8).

READ the entire story here and you will see that Satan, when faced by God with the godly example of Job's life, threw down a challenge. He declared that the only reason Job loved God was because he received so much good out of it, because God protected him.

The issue was clearly drawn; the question was whether God was able to keep a man in the midst of trial and suffering. Was His grace sufficient for the dark hours of life as well as the happy and bright ones?

Having stripped Job of all his possessions, and left him childless and heart broken, Satan had to admit failure up to that point. But he sneeringly slandered both Job and God by saying that Job was not concerned about these other things so long as his own body was unharmed (2:4, 5).

So the Lord permitted him to afflict Job's body, and we see the conflict raging in

II. The Battleground—the Life of Job (2:7-10; 19:7-10).

THE mystery of God's permissive will enters into the picture here, and we learn too that Satan, while a mighty being, has limits to his power. God may give him liberty to test his people, but it is never with the thought that they will fall; rather to prove that they can stand true come what may.

Was any mortal ever more afflicted than Job? We find him finally an outcast, sitting on an ash heap, scraping the awful sores upon his poor body.

Job did have his times of questioning and doubt (19:7-10). He felt at times that God had forsaken him. He misunderstood the providences of God. But through it all he held on to his faith in God. He could do without his possessions (1:21). God could even take his life and he would say, "Though he slay me, yet will I trust him." He saw beyond the grave, for he knew that if his body were destroyed he would still see his Redeemer.

What more sublime expression of faith could a man make than to say in his hour of seeming despair, "I know that my Redeemer liveth."

How did it all come out in the end? That is our last point.

III. The Outcome—Victory for God in Job (42:1-5; James 5:11).

JOB had to come to the end of himself. Judging himself to be unworthy (42:6), he repented of all his own self-righteousness and cast himself upon the mercy of God. God then vindicated him and restored him to a place of blessing and usefulness.

The answer then to our problem is this—God is able to keep to the uttermost those who put their trust in him (Heb. 9:25) through the grace he gives. Suffering may be in his permissive will for our own self-judgment and growth in grace. But back of it all is the assurance that God knows about it, he has not turned away; that in due season, if we faint not, we shall see victory.

Ultimately, the question is not whether we can stand or not, but whether God is able to keep us in the midst of the onslaught of the world, the flesh and the devil. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

The arrival of a new traveling man in the town always provided entertainment. Usually, kangaroo court was assembled and he was solemnly placed on trial for some trumped-up offense and after he had been sufficiently alarmed, he was allowed to settle the case by buying drinks all around.

Another procedure was for a merchant to engage the "drummer" in conversation at the foot of a stairway in the store, maneuvering so that the traveling salesman would be standing with his back to the stairs. Suddenly, there came a terrific noise and, looking around, the stranger saw a barrel bouncing down the steps toward him. The merchant, not being startled, would wait till the last instant, then step to one side but the panick-stricken victim of the prank would run wildly from the store with the heavy barrel right at his heels.

THE VETERAN'S FRIEND

Q. Does my right to obtain a guaranteed loan continue indefinitely?

A. No, but you have until 10 years after the official termination of World War II.

Q. Are there any charges for guaranteeing or insuring a G-1 loan?

A. No Commission, brokerage and similar charges may not be legally made against the veteran for securing a guaranteed or insured loan. Of course, customary out-of-pocket fees usually borne by the borrower, such as appraisal, title examination fees and other costs and expenses incident thereto, may be charged against the veteran by the lender, the same as against all borrowers.

Q. What will happen if I do not make my loan payments?

A. That depends upon the terms of your loan, the attitude of the lender and the laws of the State where the veteran and security are located. If payments are not made when due, the loan is in default and the lender may not take such action as is provided in the loan agreement and is permitted by the state law and by the regulations for guaranty and insurance of loans.

Q. Does Veterans Administration make loans or find a lender for me?

A. Veterans Administration does not make loans nor does it find a lender for the veteran. VA is not permitted to make loans. Within the limitations established by law, it guarantees or insures the repayment of a part of the loans made by lenders to veterans. In addition, Veterans Administration pays the lender as a credit on the loan 4 per cent of the guaranteed portion of the loan. The veteran is not required to repay this amount.

FARM MARKET—

An average crop of 2.6 billion bushels is forecast—675 million less than last year.

Rice prices bounded upward $4 to $5 per hundred pounds last week after controls ended June 30. Bran dropped $4.50 per ton, and shorts $6.50. Soybean meal sold lower too, but other protein feeds advanced. Hay harvest went forward in most areas. Growing conditions for peanuts continued favorable. Fine and 1/2-blood free and government owned combing wools sold actively at strong prices.

Eggs and poultry of good quality found steady to firm markets last week, and lower grades held around steady. Fort Worth bought most eggs on candled grade at 47 cents per dozen for select whites, 44 to 45 for best mixed, and 40 to 42 for medium. Denver paid mostly 40 to 42, Dallas 39, and New Orleans around 43 1/2.

West Tex. potatoes found a dull weak market at Fort Worth, and Missouri and Kaw Valley prices weakened as shipments neared a peak. Onions held about steady. Watermelons weakened at most markets. Texas Black Diamonds brought $2.50 per hundred pounds for 35 to 40 pound melons at Kansas City, and $2 to $2.50 for 26 to 40 pound sizes at St. Louis. Honeydews and peaches sold some lower at Denver.

Most sheep and lambs gained 25 cents to $1 or more last week. Medium to good spring lambs brought $18 to $20 at San Antonio, and $21 to $24 at Oklahoma City. Good and choice grades cleared at $21 to $22 at Fort Worth, and $24.50 to $25 at Wichita and Denver. San Antonio bought common to medium shorn goats at $6 to $7.

Butcher hogs and sows sold 50 cents to $1.75 higher at southwest markets last week, while stocker and feeder pigs dropped mostly $1 to $2. Good and choice barrows an gilts topped at $25 at San Antonio, $25.50 at Fort Worth, $25.75 at Oklahoma City, $26.35 at Wichita, and $26.25 at Denver. Only minor weak spots marred a generally advancing cattle market last week. Houston paid $25 for choice club yearlings, and $14 to $20 for common to medium steers and yearlings. San Antonio bought average to medium to low good grass steers at $24, and common to medium steers at $16 to $22. Medium to good steers and yearlings brought $18 to $24.75 at Fort Worth, and $20 to $23 at Wichita. Good fed yearlings drew $26.50 at Oklahoma City, and steers mostly $23.50 to $27.50 at Denver.

Plainview Frontier Days Rodeo to be July 17, 18 and 19

The Plainview Frontier Days Rodeo is all set for thrilling nightly performances July 17, 18 and 19.

Some of the saltiest rodeo stock in the country is already on hand for the show. Expected to vie for the $1,800 prize money plus entry fees are some of the toughest cowboys on the rodeo circuits.

Buck Steiner, who owns one of the best collections of rodeo stock in the United States will turn the whole lot loose for the cowboys' opposition. Steiner's livestock started arriving several days ago and will be rested and pawing for workouts by the time the gates open to let the first one loose in the Plainview arena.

Starting at eight o'clock each night the program calls for bull riding, calf roping, bareback bronc riding, bulldogging, amateur roping and cowgirl's barrel race. The amateur roping contest and barrel race draw $150 prize money each and all other events will get $300 each, all plus entry fees.

Amateur ropers and girl sponsors from a wide territory are expected to compete, said H. V. Tull, Jr. general rodeo chairman.

The arena seats over 5,000 people. There are 2,175 seats reserved at $2.40 per show and 2,915 bleacher seats at $1.80 for each performance, tax included. In addition the spectator section provides 34 box seats, each accommodating six people and selling for $50 for three shows.

The big show is under the sponsorship of the Plainview Junior Chamber of Commerce. Members of the Plainview Rodeo Association, Inc., and the community in general had a hand in completing construction on the grandstand arena. Almost 100 workmen, all donating their time were busy several nights doing the carpenter work required to get the plant in readiness for the three nights of entertainment.

Mrs. Fred Meek of Plainview has charge of the cowgirl sponsors arrangements. An experienced rodeo rider, Mrs. Meek will act as hostess to the girl contestants from whom the rodeo queen will be selected from winners in the barrel race.

The Plainview rodeo plant, valued at several thousand dollars, grew from a small calf roping club maintained here for several years by enthusiastic horsemen. The first rodeo was held in the arena last year, spectators crowding a few bleacher seats. The convenient, flood-lighted facilities to be used this year are quite a contrast to the first set-up.

The Plainview high school band will furnish special music for each nightly performance. Plainview is doing its best to make the rodeo attractive to the home folks as well as to her neighbors.

Veterans News

The Veterans Administration has advised World War II veterans in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi to pay their GI insurance premiums by draft, personal check or money order rather than by direct cash remittance.

Remittances by draft, check or money order should be made payable to the Treasurer of the United States. Premiums may be mailed to Collections Unit, Insurance Service, VA Branch Office No. 10, 1114 Commerce Street, Dallas 2, Texas.

An oil emulsion designed to immobilize bacteria in tuberculosis wards and hospitals is being studied in an intensive "pilot" test in a Veterans Administration hospital.

The test is a follow-up of observations made by the Army and Navy in experimental studies carried on during World War II.

Blankets, bed linens and floors have been treated with a highly-refined mineral oil, trapping settling bacteria and preventing their recirculation by air currents within patients' rooms, VA said.

The oil must not be perceptible to sight or touch, or produce skin irritation through contact. It must not create a fire hazard or an additional laundering problem, VA said.

VA also is studying methods of killing trapped bacteria with chemicals and drugs. Results so far, have been generally disappointing, it was said.

Paralyzed and tubercular patients in VA hospitals may now study educational courses while they are bed-ridden by flashing microfilmed pages of textbooks on the ceilings over their beds with special projectors.

The new program is a feature of V A's Educational Retraining, Medical Rehabilitation Service. VA has microfilmed 32 manuals from the 200 courses used in the educational therapy program to launch this project.

The subjects range from grammar through physics and electric refrigeration. A number of books on the establishment and operation of small businesses also are included.

Combines Being Used More and More for Harvesting Grains

The amount of the nation's wheat harvested with combines rose from 49 percent in 1938 to 78 percent in 1945.

A total of 62 percent of the 1945 crop of 125 million acres of small grains was harvested with combines, the remaining 38 percent was threshed with stationary separators or else cut and fed unthreshed.

These figures — based on material gathered by voluntary crop reporters — were released by the USDA Bureau of Agricultural Economics in a recent report.

FARM FACTS WORTH KNOWING

Q. How much pasture is needed for 100 pullets on range?

A. At least one acre of good pasture should be provided for each 100 pullets in your flock.

Q. Do dairy barns need frequent sprays of DDT to control flies?

A. No. Barns and buildings sprayed with a water-dispersible DDT powder will effectively control flies for a number of weeks. In some sections of the country one spraying at the beginning of the fly season is sufficient, but where the season is long and flies are abundant it may be necessary to spray two or three times. Cattle, however, should be sprayed every week or two. Spraying with DDT has successfully controlled common houseflies, stableflies, and horn flies.

Q. At what age should dairy heifers first be bred?

A. Dairy heifers should be bred according to body size and not age. Tests over a period of many years at the Research Farm of the Ralston Purina Company show that heifers of the following weights are full, big enough to breed:

- Holsteins 750 lbs.
- Brown Swiss 750 lbs.
- Ayrshires 650 lbs.
- Guernseys 550 lbs.
- Jerseys 500 lbs.

Jerseys at the Purina Research Farm usually reach the above weight by 12 months of age and Holsteins by 15 months with the others falling in between.

Q. How soon should a doe be rebred after she loses a litter?

A. When a doe loses her litter, she should be watched for a few days to be sure she is not suffering from any ailment, such as caked udders, etc. If she is getting along well and has a good appetite, she should be rebred in about seven to twelve days. Letting her wait too long may cause her to become too fat and therefore difficult to breed.

Vaccination Alone Will Not Control Livestock Diseases

Vaccination of animals often gives owners a false sense of security, says Dr. Ralph L. West of Paul, Minn., executive officer of the Minnesota Live Stock Sanitary Board.

In conjunction with other control methods is of great value and many animals can be saved by its use, he declares, but under no circumstances can animal diseases be controlled satisfactorily by vaccination alone.

Dr. West's opinion, farmers are placed too much reliance on vaccination for protecting their animals while giving too little attention to other control methods at their disposal.

A serious problem connected with the use of vaccines, Dr. West states, is that the more efficient immunizing products contain living organisms or active viruses which, if improperly handled, can cause the very disease they are supposed to prevent.

Too fine grinding of feed wastes both feed and power. Coarsely ground grain and chopped roughage is more palatable.

SUPERVISORS FOR CAP ROCK DISTRICT—Earl I. Cantwell, Chairman, Louie Kitchens, Obra Watson, Pierce White and Bray Cook.

Hubert Setliff, farming in the Gasoline Conservation group east of Quitaque, harvested some weeping love grass this past week. He had a small experimental plot on his farm that was seeded in the spring of 1946. Mr. Setliff, who is a cooperator with the local Cap Rock Soil Conservation District, plans to use the seed he harvested to sow another block of land on his farm.

Mr. Setliff believes that the excellent growth obtained and the abundance of forage produced by weeping love grass will make it a very valuable addition to his farm. He states that his milk cows really like the grass for grazing.

The Supervisors of the Cap Rock Soil Conservation District held their regular monthly meeting on July 15, 1947 at the local Soil Conservation Service office. Those attending were Mr. Earl Cantwell, Chairman, Mr. Bray Cook, Obra Watson, and Mr. Louie Kitchens, members. Mr. W. Scott

Amend, District Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, from Plainview represented the Soil Conservation Service.

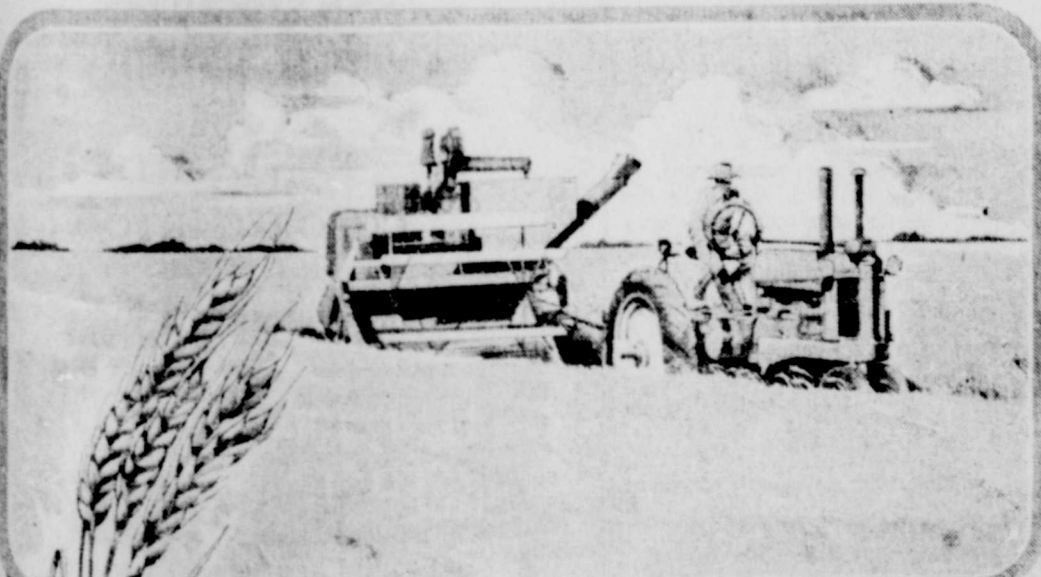

Four applications for District assistance and four Conservation Plans were approved. The applications were turned in by Mr. J. E. Vaughn and Mrs. Lily Wofford of Silverton, and Mr. J. F. Tiffin of Gasoline, and Mr. E. W. Scheid of Quitaque. The plans approved were on the ranches of Mr. T. J. Campbell, Jr. and Mr. Jno. Burson, Brice, Texas, and on the farms of Mr. M. K. Berry and Mr. J. C. Rhoderick near Quitaque.

OUR WHEAT CROP COMES OF AGE

A QUARTER CENTURY OF PROGRESS

About 25 years ago, wheat came into its own in the territory we serve. Last year alone wheat farmers here harvested about 40 million bushels of high protein wheat . . . in fact almost four-fifths of that produced in Texas is grown in our area.

Today, good bread from our wheat helps keep a healthy America healthy.

We have so much confidence in the wheat industry—and all other industries we serve, that we are investing 35 million dollars in a building program. This expansion program in our territory will bring more dependable electric service to industry and farms and better living—electrically—to everyone!

New Type Calendar Blasted As "Anti-Religious"

The proposal to replace the present calendar in 1950 with a new one which contains the "blank-day device," thus disrupting the true week, was blasted as "anti-religious" today by the release of a brochure entitled, "Calendar Change Menaces Religion." The revised calendar proposal is before both Congress and the United Nations. It will be voted on at the Fifth General Session of the Economic and Social Council, which opens July 19 at Lake Success. In Congress it is contained in two bills now before the House Foreign Affairs Committee known as H. R. 1242 and H. R. 1345.

Protestants, Catholics, and Jews have arrayed themselves, not against calendar revision as such, but against the "blank-day device" in these particular proposals. The brochure discloses that the official attitude of the Catholic hierarchy in America is made known by the four American Cardinals, and the National Catholic Welfare Conference is apposed to any calendar change that breaks the historic week. American Jewry, including all its national organizations, whether Conservative, Reformed, or Orthodox, is solidly against the "World Calendar." Numerous Protestant organizations, particularly all specifically organized to safeguard Sunday observance, such as The Lord's Day Alliance, vigorously protest the adoption of the new system of reckoning days. They point out that the disruption of the week would set aside the fixed sacred days of the world's great religions.

The release was prepared by the International Religious Liberty Association of Washington, and sent out by its committee on calendar revision, of which Carlyle B. Haynes is chairman. It denounces the proposed World Calendar as "anti-Protestant, anti-Catholic, anti-Jewish, and anti-Mohammedan," and urgently requests the Economic and Social Council, at its meeting on July 19, to "safeguard the interests of the world's great religions by preventing any device such as the World Calendar from turning their Holy days into holidays and their sacred days into secular days." It also asks Congress to table the calendar revision proposals before it for the same reason.

Harvest Tomatoes Early and Insure Against Sun Blister

Early harvesting of tomatoes maturing in the home garden now is insurance against sun blister, say Extension horticulturists of Texas A. and M. College.

Many gardeners, the horticulturists say, are harvesting sun blistered, low quality tomatoes now because they are leaving the vegetables on the vine to ripen. Early harvesting is especially wise when tomatoes have been staked and pruned, leaving much of the fruit exposed directly to the sun's rays.

Growers have found that a faithful harvest sign to keep an eye out for is the small pink area which shows on the blossom end of the tomato. If harvested when this pink sign shows up, and placed inside in a cool, shady spot, the fruit ripens in two to four days ready to be used fresh or for canning. Tomatoes handled in this manner seem to ripen better on the inside than when left on the plant to mature, the horticulturists say.

Early harvesting is a good practice with many other fruits, especially peaches and figs, which attract birds when they begin to take to color. Ripening in the house can prevent a good part of this bird damage.

VFW Members not in Favor of Proposed New Amendment

AUSTIN, July 16. — Outright opposition to the proposed constitutional amendment that would reallocate five cents of the 7-cent ad valorem tax authorized by the constitution of Texas for the veterans of the Civil War, and their widows, has been voiced by the Department of Texas Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

At the 27th annual encampment of the VFW in Abilene, June 21-25 a resolution opposing this proposed reallocation of funds set aside by our forefathers for the benefit of veterans was unanimously adopted.

Roger Q. Evans, Denison, the new state commander of the VFW, and a member of the Texas legislature for the past eight years, was author of the resolution.

"The Veterans of Foreign Wars believes," according to Commander Evans, "that the 7-cent ad valorem tax that has provided adequate care for aged and needy Civil War veterans, and their widows, should be kept in tact and used to provide state assistance for the aged, disabled and needy veterans of other wars."

In that connection Commander Evans points to the fact that there are now hundreds of thousands of native sons of Texas who are veterans of the Spanish-American war and of World War I and II, many of whom are now well advanced in years and will need a helping hand from some source.

"Texas has done very little for her heroic sons—the men who have left their homes and loved ones to fight that our great nation be preserved. If our forefathers were grateful enough to create a specific tax for veterans, surely we of the state of Texas could do no less than retain this tax," Commander Evans said.

According to the resolution adopted at the Abilene encampment the Veterans of Foreign Wars does not object to the issuance of bonds to finance new buildings at state-supported colleges and universities. However, the VFW believes these bonds if issued, should be financed in some other way.

"The great state of Texas, with all its wealth and resources, including its oil-rich school fund, is indulging in the same policy of using any part of the revenue that for generations has been set aside to care for veterans.

Dysentery Still On; Watch Infant Feed

This is the season for dysentery and cholera. The State Health Department is warning parents to watch their children's diet. The chief cause of these diseases is unclean water and food; a child should not become overheated by too much sugar and cream under or over feeding. "All feeds should be properly prepared to prevent spoilage," Dr. Cox said. "When a child is used, it should be given a physician and with extreme care regard to cleanliness. Babies should have intervals at least every two hours. Their stools can become easily soiled. If they happen to be soiled, wash them with soap and water. The State Health Department advised that with any other disease, a parent of a child should be advised. Summer complaints are very serious menaces to a child's health if not properly treated.
