Brakes Fail

BRISBANE, CALIF.—(Soundphoto)—Tilted gas pumps and mass of debris are all that is left of steel-frame gas station here after it was hurled off its foundation and carried 20 feet when a huge 18-wheel truck veered off Bayshore highway and smashed through it. John Vinciguerra, 24, San Jose, Calif., the truck driver, said two automobiles in front of him suddenly stopped directly in his path. He applied airbrakes, but they failed, and he swerved to avoid hitting the cars. The truck plunged across curbing and into gas station, carrying it with it before coming to rest (rear) against hill.

"Know and Obey Traffic Laws" Program is Urged

"Don't throw your weight around," advises W. J. Elliott, Chief of the Texas Highway Patrol. "Remember that when you are sitting behind the wheel, you are driving a car that weighs more than 2000 pounds, and the pedestrian crossing the street only weighs an average of 150 pounds. It isn't quite fair, is it?"

The Texas Highway Patrol is cooperating in a nationwide "Know and Obey Traffic Laws" program, and Chief Elliott said that accidents involving pedestrians are one of the biggest killers. He pointed out National safety Council statistics to back up this assertion.

Pedestrians at intersections account for 28 per cent of all urban fatal accidents, and 35 per cent of all fatal accidents are non-intersection pedestrian mishaps. In addition, 27 per cent of all pedestrians killed in business and residential areas were crossing at intersections without signals, and 38 per cent were crossing between intersections.

Captain Polk Ivy of the Amarillo District emphasized the following things to remember for the driver in giving pedestrians right-of-way.

1. When pedestrians are crossing at unsignaled intersections, drivers must give them the right-of-way if they are walking in the crosswalk or where a crosswalk might be.
2. When pedestrians are crossing at signalized intersections they should obey the signals, but drivers turning right or left must yield the right-of-way to pedestrians crossing on the "green" or "walk" light.
3. Pedestrians do not have the right-of-way between intersections, and therefore they should cross only at corners.
4. Drivers must be alert for pedestrians crossing between intersections, particularly at night, even though the walkers should look out for the cars.
5. Know and obey the rules!

Thirty people will be in the program given by the college and the entertainment will include orchestral numbers and plenty of comedy for everyone.

Water Meeting In Plainview Attracts Many

Some 700 farmers and ranchers from the Plains and Winter Garden areas of Texas unanimously adopted a resolution at a water hearing in Plainview March 8, emphatically setting forth their views "that this natural resource, the same as oil, gas, sulphur and other underground resources belongs to and is the property of the surface owners of the land and that the unconstitutional proposition that underground water belongs to the state be forever forgotten and discarded."

The meeting was called by J. Walter Hammond, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation. Principal speakers of the day included Senator Grady Hazelwood of Amarillo; Representatives I. G. Holt of Lockney and Sterling Williams of Snyder; W. L. Broadhurst, U. S. Geological Survey district engineer; D. A. Bauden, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce; and a number of farmer spokesmen who voiced what they believed was the general attitude to the surface and underground water situation.

The resolution was drafted by a committee including A. B. Tarwater of Plainview, vice-president of the High Plains Water Use and Conservation Association; Ernest Wehman of Pleasanton, president of the Atascosa County Farm Bureau, who represented the Winter Garden area of Texas; Clyde Bradford, member of the Swisher County Farm Bureau; Joe M. Hatton of Amarillo, state Farm Bureau director, and Fritz Struve of Lubbock.

The resolution further provided that if it becomes necessary to pass legislation to carry forward the conservation and development of the water resources, that the marked differences in the two types of water be recognized and that legislation effecting both surface and underground water should be in separate Acts, one for surface water and the other for underground water.

The proposal also asked that agriculture take precedence over other industries in the use of underground water.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson Douglas were Plainview visitors Monday.

A Fair Price . . .

When you walk into a store to buy a dozen eggs, a pair of shoes, some kitchen utensils or any other article, what is a fair price? Is it the price that existed last year? Or is it the price that was in effect in 1940, or 1900, or any other date?

That question is obviously unanswerable. The price of anything is made up of a long list of factors, all of which are in a constant state of flux. Raw materials, wages, taxes, transportation enter into it. So does the extent of consumer purchasing power. So does employee efficiency and output. So does foreign demand for commodities which are in tight supply here. And so, to a very great degree, does the fact that we have a record national debt, after the most destructive war in history, and the government is still spending money at a prodigious rate.

Business, on both the manufacturing and retailing levels, gets much of the blame for high prices. But business is as worried about them as any consumer. Mass production and mass distribution are the backbone of the economy, and if consumers are priced out of the market the ultimate effect will be disastrous. A number of manufacturers have cut prices and absorbed the loss. Retail margins, both independents and chains report, are shrinking fast, and the inventory problem is the cause of much concern and uncertainty among merchants. Everything possible is being done to prevent further price increases, and to effect price decreases when possible.

About the time you're important enough to take two hours for lunch, the doctor limits you to a glass of milk.

Behind The Scenes in AMERICAN BUSINESS

By REYNOLDS KNIGHT

NOTE TO READERS—The information contained in this weekly summary of happenings in the world of business and industry has been obtained from sources we consider reliable but is not guaranteed. Opinions and forecasts are based upon careful analysis but are subject to change without notice.

—The Editor
NEW YORK—Few people fully understand that the high cost of living goes higher for industries as well as for individuals under inflationary conditions.

Notwithstanding last year's record earnings among manufacturing industries, corporations, too, are finding that a dollar for wages, materials, and maintenance of facilities does not go nearly as far as it used to. Most large companies are finding they must plough abnormally high proportions of their earnings back into the business to pay for increased operating costs to avoid excessive new borrowing.

Industry's increased costs of doing business are proportionately greater than the individual's, according to a recent study by the National Conference Board. The study reveals that the purchasing power of the individual consumer's dollar was 66 cents in August, 1947, as compared with 45 cents for industry's raw materials dollar and 53 cents for the construction dollar. And manufacturers now pay more than twice as much for an hour of labor as they did between 1935-39.

ALL OR ONE?—What is sauce for the goose apparently is not sauce for the gander in cases where processors of grain are concerned. At least that is the way it appeared recently when distillers went to Washington to state their case in regard to a grain rationing plan proposed for the beverage distilling industry. Schenley made the point that, under the Taft anti-inflation act, each user of a raw material (grain in this case) was to be curtailed if a critical shortage developed. But, said Schenley, when grain allocation was proposed for all users, "meat packers would not discuss a suggested plan for allocating meat supplies." Bakers said "No." Wet corn millers were not interested in an agreement. The poultry and mixed feed industries were against curtailing, and discussions with dry-corn millers and wheat-flour millers were inconclusive. Meanwhile, said Schenley, the beverage distilling industry, using less than one per cent of the nation's total grain supplies, was singled out as the only industry required to adopt a rationing program, despite the fact that the industry relies on corn and leaves wheat almost completely to food users.

THINGS TO COME—New showmanship for display windows can be achieved by using a new color-shifting system with controls to provide more than 500 different hues of colored light and varying degrees of lighting intensity. . . . Possessing an operating life of 6,000 hours, a new germicidal lamp now on the market is said to double the ultraviolet output of previous germ-killing lamps. . . . Canned beef stew is the first line of "pantry-shelf meals" to be introduced this spring by a meat-packing firm. . . . Bubble-gum manufacturers, sensing parental sensitivity to too-expensive tricks with their products, are planning a campaign to teach moppets the etiquette of being "neat" with the bubbly delicacy. . . . Heating cables to melt winter ice dams on roofs and in eave troughs will soon be available to householders and industrial establishments. . . . A new freezing pressure process said to extract all the minerals and vitamin value from fruit juices and other liquid food solutions cuts the normal bulk of juices by two-thirds, leaving the remaining third 100 per cent food value.

RADAR DEADLINE—The Civil Aeronautics Board has extended until May 15 its deadline for all scheduled airlines to install radar devices of the general type developed and demonstrated by Howard Hughes about a year ago. The 16-pound Hughes radar unit—about the size of a shoe box—has been installed on planes of Trans World Airline and the flier-industrialist has offered it at cost to other airlines in this country. The device warns the pilot, by a brilliant red light and a horn, the instant the airplane comes too close to the ground, any building, bridge, mountain, aircraft or other obstacle, regardless of darkness or weather conditions. Hughes has produced about 800 of the units at his aircraft plant in Culver City, Cal. Airline radar is "only the beginning" of extensive post-war use of the important wartime discovery, he predicts. He has gathered more than 70 leading electronics experts to assist in the development of his projects.

BITS O' BUSINESS—Perennial "professional" winners of radio contests in recent months have dampened the enthusiasm of "amateur" competitors. . . . Because U.S. manufacturing progress now enables American steel to compete with the quality of Britain's famed Sheffield, American cutlery manufacturers in May will undertake their first industry-wide year-round advertising and promotion of domestic cutlery products. . . . Home-town boosting, historically a big-town undertaking, is spreading to where it is needed most—the nation's smaller communities. More and more retailers are spending larger percentages of their advertising money to help bring new industries to their towns to boost payrolls and increase sales. . . . Seed merchants expecting a banner sales year with considerable help from the government and National Garden Institute campaign to promote 20,000,000 family Freedom Gardens this spring and summer to increase the nation's domestic food supply and permit larger shipments of relief foodstuffs abroad.

Q. How should hogs that are infested with lice be treated?

A. The best control for hog lice, according to G. E. Leiker, extension entomologist at Purdue University, is to spray the animals, housing and bedding with DDT, using eight pounds of a 50% wettable powder in 100 gallons of water. The application should be repeated in 14 days.

Q. What was the butterfat production of cows in dairy herd improvement associations last year?

A. Last year cows in dairy herd improvement associations averaged 346 pounds of butterfat, the highest in history. About 100,000 of these cows produced more than 425 lbs. of butterfat each.

Q. Is "slobbers" in rabbits ever caused by over-eating?

A. Slobbers is a symptom of indigestion. Sudden changes in the ration, overfeeding of fresh, succulent green vegetation when rabbits are not accustomed to it, and feeding spoiled feed may cause acute indigestion. Most cases will recover if all food and water is withheld for 12 to 18 hours. Then feed small amounts of Rabbit Chow Checkers Complete Ration for two or three days, after which gradually increase the amount fed daily. In the more severe cases, feed limited quantities of dried bread and boiled milk for a couple of days following the fast-feeding period. Then feed Rabbit Chow Checkers as directed.

Q. What should be done with a cow that doesn't show any signs of coming in heat although her calf is past six months old?

A. We suggest having a veterinarian examine the cow. Indications are that there is a slight disturbance in her reproductive organs, and a qualified veterinarian should be able to correct it.

Sure an' it's the date . . .

. . . when you put a shamrock in the hat for good luck! But with your engine, don't put your trust in luck. . . . drain out that mucky old winter oil. . . . put in Conoco Nth . . . the patented Motor Oil that OIL-PLATES as it lubricates!

You see, Nth Motor Oil contains a special added ingredient that is attracted magnet-like to metal surfaces. This extra film of lubricant fastens itself so closely to working parts and cylinder walls that they are actually OIL-PLATED!

And because this extra OIL-PLATING resists gravity, won't all drain down, even overnight, you're extra-protected! From metal-eating combustion acids when you're standing still. . . . from "dry-friction" when you first start up. . . . from sludge and carbon caused by excessive wear when you're running hot!

So, for extra-cool, extra-powerful, extra low-cost miles, today's the date . . .

. . . to Oil-Plate!

THE VETERAN'S FRIEND

Q. When I was discharged from the Army two years ago, I was advised by Veterans Administration to enter job training under Public Law 16. Due to conditions beyond my control, I was unable to enter training at that time. Is it possible for me to enter training now?

A. In all probability, you can enter training now, but you should contact your nearest Veterans Administration office where your first advisement will be re-evaluated for you.

Q. I have completed my job-training course and find that I still have entitlement time left under the educational provisions of the GI Bill. Will I be permitted to go to another school for the remainder of my entitlement?

A. If you have entitlement time left, you may use the remainder, either for job training or for educational training with Veterans Administration prior approval.

Q. Do World War II veterans who are entitled to out-patient dental care have the right to select any dentist they want?

A. Where Veterans Administration dental clinic service is not feasibly available, the VA has adopted the policy that any veteran entitled to out-patient dental care at the expense of VA may choose any dentist participating in the program of dental care of veterans.

Treat Cottonseed For Better Crop Advantages

If Texas cotton growers are wondering about the advantages of cottonseed treatment, E. A. Miller, extension agronomist of Texas A. & M. College, has the answers.

Cottonseed treatment is an inexpensive form of crop insurance that costs only a few cents a bushel of seed; it kills the disease germs on seed, protects seeds and seedlings from diseases which may be in the soil and gives a better stand of cotton.

Texas' worst cotton seedling killers are angular leaf spot and soreshin. In the Blacklands of Texas, angular leaf spot ranks next to root rot as the number one hazard in cotton production. It is found in nearly all parts of the state.

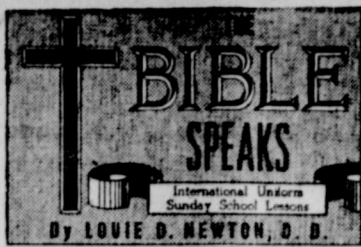

Angular leaf spot generally shows up first on the seed leaves, and if a damp spell sets in after the seedlings come up, lots of them will die unless the seed was chemically treated before planting. This disease can also destroy some of the early buds on cotton plants, and thereby may prevent growth of early fruiting branches. Result: a reduced yield. Angular leaf spot also carries through to the older cotton plants, where it appears as angular spots on the leaves and as bacterial rot on the bolls.

The other serious cotton disease causes brown spots on the plants either below or near the ground level. While many plants may recover from soreshin, they are often late in developing—again causing a reduced yield.

Cotton growers have found that seed treatment prevents much of the trouble resulting from these diseases, says Miller. Furthermore, chemical treatment of the seed also helps to produce a sturdy, vigorous seedling, which gives producers a chance for earlier and better cultivation.

At the Temple Agricultural Experiment Station, fuzzy cottonseed treated with either two or five per cent ceresan, gave 25 to 30 per cent better stands than untreated seed. The plants had one-third to one-tenth less angular leaf spot infection, and made an average of over 50 pounds more lint per acre than the untreated seed. Over long periods, experiment station tests have shown that chemically treated seed give four-year average yield increases of 25 per cent at College Station, 10 per cent in the Brazos Bottom near College Station, 15 per cent at Temple, and 4 per cent at Lubbock.

Results such as these show that the treatment of cottonseed is definitely a part of cotton production, says Miller. USDA leaflet 198, "Cottonseed Treatment," can be obtained at the Extension Service at College Station, or from the local county agent.

SCRIPTURE: Mark 4:26-29; Luke 4:16-21; 17:20-21; Romans 14:17.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Isaiah 60:1-3, 10-14.

The Kingdom of God

Lesson for March 21, 1948

JESUS went back to his boyhood home in Nazareth, and on the Sabbath he went into the synagogue, "as was his custom."

They gave him the Book of Isaiah, from which he read a passage in the 61st chapter, adding, "This day is this Scripture fulfilled in your ears," Luke 4:21.

Jesus had come to let people know about God—to reveal the Father's perfect love for all men. He loved the Bible, and was constantly reading it, which in his day was the Old Testament only. And he loved the Sabbath day, which we now call the Lord's day. Beginning with his resurrection, the first day of the week has been observed as the Lord's day. And Jesus loved the appointed places of worship, and was always found in some synagogue on the Sabbath. Don't you wish you might have been in Nazareth that day when he stood up to read the Scripture?

WHAT HE CAME TO DO
JESUS, I repeat, came to reveal God to men, which is but another way of saying that he came to teach men about the Kingdom of God. Here we shall need to read Mark 4:26-29, and Romans 14:17.

"The Kingdom of God is as if a man should cast seed into the ground," said Jesus; and Paul, in Romans 14:17, says, "The Kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Spirit."

Jesus, then, came to establish a kingdom within the hearts of men. It means the rule of God in human hearts. What he wills, we gladly do. It manifests itself in the daily life of the individual, in the home, in the school, in the church—everywhere.

"THY KINGDOM COME"
SO VITAL is this truth for the Christian that Jesus, in the pattern prayer, teaches us to say, "Thy Kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth as in heaven."

If we live in the atmosphere of this prayer, we shall embody daily the fruits of the coming Kingdom of God. If we really "seek first the Kingdom of God, and his righteousness," we lift the level of life wherever we stand and serve. This is precisely what Jesus did. "He went about doing good."

We help to answer the prayer, "Thy Kingdom come," when we do with all our might what our hands find to do—in the home, in the community, in the church.

KINGDOM OF GOD AMONG MEN
IT IS not enough to consider this truth in terms of some far-off dramatic event. It is a present force and factor in today's world.

One day the Pharisees asked Jesus when the Kingdom of God should come. He told them that it would not come with observation—that it is within the hearts of men.

What did he mean? I believe that he meant just this, that the Kingdom of God will and must manifest itself in the common affairs of everyday life. We may hinder its manifestation. We may retard its coming. On the other hand, we may make it manifest and hasten its spread to earth's remotest bounds.

How? By yielding ourselves to the rule and reign of God in every relationship of life. In race relations, in social service, in relief to the afflicted, in united effort for peace, in better housing, in better recreational facilities, in educational opportunities for all. The Kingdom of God is not an impractical theory, but a working principle, even as the leaven works in the loaf.

WHEN WILL IT COME?
THE Kingdom of God will come when redeemed hearts everywhere enthroned God in their whole attitude and purpose. Then, and not until then.

Will it come? This is a stubborn question. From our viewpoint, it may seem doubtful; but Jesus declares that it will come, "I have overcome the world," he declares.

The one question for you and for me, What part shall I have in the coming of the Kingdom of God upon the earth? We each decide by our willingness or unwillingness to follow him.

Observe good faith and justice toward all nations; cultivate peace and harmony with all. — George Washington's Farewell Address.

The enclosure states only veterans taking full-time courses of education in schools will be entitled to the increased allowances. The new payments, effective after April 1, will be at the monthly rate of $75 for a veteran without dependents, $105 for a veteran with one dependent, and $120 for a veteran with more than one dependent.

The message explains that eligible veterans who are entitled to $75 or $105 under the new rates will not have to apply for the increased allowances. Existing applications will supply all the information needed to pay the new benefits. These veterans, therefore, need not write VA, since their increases will be paid automatically.

The note also includes instructions to veteran-trainees who are entitled to $120 because they have more than one dependent. It directs them to submit the information about their additional dependents needed before payments at the new rate can be made.

Texas War Dead Could Be Buried In National Cemetery

SAN ANTONIO, March 18—All the Texas dead of the past war, returned for permanent burial, could be buried in the national cemetery at Fort Sam Houston and still leave plenty of space, officials of the American Graves Registration Division here declared today.

The statement was prompted by recurrent rumors in various sections of South Texas that the national cemetery at Fort Sam Houston is now filled to capacity and that no more war dead can be buried there.

American Graves Registration Division officials estimate that approximately 7,000 Texans, killed during the past war, will be returned to this country for reburial. The national cemetery at Fort Sam Houston is now undergoing an expansion program that will provide space for about 10,000 graves.

Experimental Farm Set Aside By Texas Tech

Texas Tech College has set aside 160 acres of land, previously used for pasture, for a long-range series of crop rotations and soil treatments, part under irrigation and part dry land, it has been announced by Dr. A. W. Young, head professor of plant industry.

A 60-foot Pacific land leveler with a nine-foot blade is now being used to level two 60-acre plots, preparatory to irrigation. This equipment is being provided in this territory for the first time, Dr. Young stated, and any person interested in renting a similar leveler will probably be able to secure further information about it from his county agent.

A 12-year period of crop rotation is planned for one of the 60-acre plots, the professor stated, with the land being planted to alfalfa, cotton, grain sorghums and small grains. The other irrigated plot will be seeded with cotton, grain sorghums, small grains and clover. Chemical tests will be run each year to determine soil fertility changes caused by the crops and by various fertilizers.

Forty acres will be farmed dry land with cotton, grain sorghums and small grain. One portion will lie fallow each year. Chemical tests will also be run on soil in this plot to determine soil fertility changes following each crop, but no fertilizer will be used on dry land.

Principal purpose of the rotations will be class instruction, Dr. Young stated, but information derived from the work will be available to all interested persons.

Dr. Ralph Mills, a medical missionary, brought a handful of Korean lespedeza seed to the United States in 1919. The plant was growing on 40,000,000 acres of U. S. farm land last year.

Good Management Allows Plants To Make Good Growth

Green grass, welcome sign of spring and reduced feed costs for livestock producers, should not be asked to do a man-sized job while still a baby, livestock specialists point out.

Young grass, like young animals, needs a good start to reach maximum production. New plants, authorities explain, have a small reserve food supply from their seed or rootstock. Close grazing, before the leaves have opportunity to rebuild this reserve, weakens the plant and may eventually destroy it.

Good management allows pasture plants to make good growth before being grazed heavily, and supplies supplemental feed, such as cottonseed meal and roughage, for livestock. This benefits both the pasture and the livestock.

Early grazing is too high in water content to provide nutrients which livestock require for full growth, maintenance and production. Often, for the first few days after pasture becomes green, it does not supply enough forage to satisfy animals' appetite; and, even when the appetite is satisfied, animals cannot eat enough to provide nutrients they need.

To supply dry matter and help prevent scouring, early pasture should be supplemented with hay, cottonseed hulls, sorghum bundles or other dry roughage.

Beef cows which are nursing calves should also be fed 2 to 4 pounds, daily, of cottonseed meal, pellets or cake until grass contains sufficient nutrients to carry them in good condition. Growing heifers, calves and stockers need 1/2 to 1 1/2 pounds of protein concentrate, daily.

Dairy cows need their regular concentrate mixture and dry roughage to maintain milk production, promote growth, repair body tissues and aid reproduction. Even though young grass is high in protein content, it cannot be depended on to supply all of the protein the producing cow needs. The concentrate mixture should contain 20 per cent protein until the grass loses its "washy" nature and is supplying all the good grazing the cow can eat. Then, the protein content may be reduced to about 15 per cent.

Sheep need dry roughage and 1/4 to 1/2 of a pound of protein concentrate daily until is providing good grazing. Because of the danger of digestive disturbances from early grazing authorities recommend that sheep be allowed to "fill" on dry roughage before going on pasture.

SONG OF THE SEASONS By Sixth Grade

Sing a song of spring-time
Garden full of flowers,
Four and twenty black clouds,
Bring us April showers.
Sing a song of summer
Vacation brings us joy,
Swimming time is near,
For every boy and girl.
Sing a song of autumn,
Leaves are everywhere
They are red and yellow,
There's music in the air.
Sing a song of winter
Hear the sleigh bells ring!
See the children playing,
Listen to them sing

Announcement has been made that the National 4-H Frozen Foods awards program is being continued in Texas this year. It is conducted under the direction of the Extension Service.

The program encourages 4-H Club members to learn the local foods best adapted to freezing and to develop skill in preparing and packaging them for placement in the home freezer or community locker to lend variety to the family diet.

Awards for highest rating records of achievement in freezing foods include honor medals to county winners and a $50.00 U. S. Savings Bond to the state champion. International Harvester Company also will provide educational trips to the 1948 National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago and $200.00 Fowler McCormick scholarships to four sectional-national winners selected from the state champions.

Members winning county medals in Texas last year were: Dorothy Faye Terrell, Hale; Charles Holcomb, Camp; Wilburn Bullard, Grimes; Jimmie Johnson, Harrison; James Brown, Lamar; Arnold D. Young, Farmer; Shirley Curry, Yoakum; and Roy Retherford, Potter.

BOYCE HOUSE
"Gives You Texas"

Almost 25 years ago, Brady sent out a motorcade to extend an invitation to the sheep and goat raisers to attend the convention which was to be held that year in that city and I went along, being in those days a young news-gatherer for the old Fort Worth Record.

Just as soon as the motorcade—consisting of about 20 cars with nearly 100 persons—came to a stop in the first town, somebody stepped out of the waiting crowd and asked, "Where is Boyce House?" When this had happened four or five times, the other motorcaders—none of whom had ever heard of me until that trip—began to be impressed.

Fact of the matter was, I had written to the mayor or Chamber of Commerce manager in each town and said that if he'd see me and give me a few interesting facts about the place, I'd include it in the writeup!

That was the same trip that a fellow newspaperman imbibed rather freely across the Rio Grande and when he got back to the hotel, gave me his pocket book to keep for him. Next morning, he'd forgotten all about it; told me he'd been robbed and when I told him I'd be glad to make him a loan and he eagerly agreed, I pulled out his pocket-book and handed it back to him to his great surprise and delight.

Then there was another newspaperman and he had just raised the water bottle for a drink when the car hit a chug-hole and he almost strangled. We pounded him on the back and at last he gasped, "Don't tell anybody; they wouldn't believe it was water—or else they'd say I was so unused to drinking water that it strangled me."

Tragedy threw its shadow across the trip. In Del Rio, an attorney gave the address of welcome and then we "fell to" on the barbecue dinner. An hour or so after the speech, the attorney was stricken with a heart attack and died.

At Sonora, there was a dance on a platform in the center of town and it was quite a scene to hear the fiddlers going and see the cowboys clumping about the dance floor in their high-heeled boots.

A citizen told a story of a shooting which he said had taken place in the town's wild-and-woolly days. Two men were playing a game of pool one night. One player stooped over the table to make a shot and, the instant that he bent, a bullet came through a window and killed his adversary.

Raise Your Own Fish And Be Sure Of a Catch

Ever go fishing and wonder if there were really any fish in the lake or if you were just going on a boat ride with a fishing pole in your hands? Here is a chance to make sure there are fish in the pond. Raise your own, says R. E. Callender, extension wildlife conservation specialist of Texas A. & M. College.

Ten state fish hatcheries under the direction of the Texas Fish, Game and Oyster Commission of Austin, and nine federal hatcheries produce fingerling fish for lake and pond owners throughout the state.

Six landowners in Jackson county who had ponds on their land recently received 2,300 black bass and 1,600 blue gill perch from their district hatchery. These fish were furnished to the landowners for stocking their ponds.

and they were not charged a cent for the fish. Applications for fish may be made during the year to the headquarters source of the hatchery serving that particular county. All applications received up to August 1 of any year are usually processed after that time, and at a time when the small fish are about fingerling size.

Many Texas pondowners are now thinking of producing pounds of fish in acres of water in a like manner to the production of beef on acres of land. An acre pond, properly managed, will furnish the average family with an adequate supply of fish meat the year round. There is lots of fun and recreation connected with the harvest of the fish crop, too.

Fish require plenty of food, and the best source of food is to raise it right in the pond where the fish live. Tiny plants and animals in the pond, commonly referred to as "the bloom" or the plankton, make up the main diet of fish. Therefore, the amount of plankton in the water will determine the number of fish present; likewise, the amount of plankton is dependent on the fertilization program of the lake. A good fertilizer program should be carried on each year, and three months is all the time needed for this program. Make up a mixture of 400 pounds of cottonseed meal and 200 pounds of 20 per cent acid phosphate for each acre of pond area. Broadcast 300 pounds of this fertilizer mixture around the edge of the pond in the early spring, an at 30 day intervals apply 100 pounds until all of the fertilizer has been applied.

With a good farm pond, the farmer can practice conservation of fish, and at the same time, says Callender, provide himself and the family with recreation.

Serving foods in the dishes in which they were baked saves time and energy for there will be fewer dishes to get out, wash and put away.

Good wiring and lighting in out-buildings contributes to safety and efficiency in doing chores after dark.

Pioneers Win Junior College Cage Title by McNeese Default

PLAINVIEW—Plainview's Wayland College Pioneers are the basketball champions of the Texas Junior College Athletic Conference, it was announced Sunday by the conference president, Dr. J. C. Boswell, president of Ranger Junior College.

The Pioneers were to have played John McNeese Junior College of Lake Charles, La., a three-game series for the state title beginning Wednesday in Plainview. The Louisiana team notified Coach Harley Redin of the Pioneers that they were unable to secure permission from university officials to make the trip and that they wished to default. McNeese, only non-Texas team among the 37 schools in the conference, were champions of the south and eastern zones and Wayland won the west and central zones championship.

The Pioneers, playing under Coach Redin for a second year, completed a 40-game schedule Saturday night with a 49-45 win over the Cameron Aggies of Lawton, Okla., to take third place in the Southwest Regional Junior College meet in Amarillo.

Wayland completed the season with a record of 33 wins and seven losses. The Pioneers amassed a total of 1997 points for a game average of 49 plus. The cagers from Wayland ended the season with only two losses to junior college quintets. One, an upset by Blinn JC of Brenham in the tournament at Texas A. & M., was avenged in the Amarillo tourney. The other loss was to the Murray Indians in the semi-finals of the Southwestern meet. Murray went on to win the championship.

Leo White, Briscoe County Agent, is spending from Thursday to Saturday in Spur, where he is attending a district County Agent's meeting.

Robert Doak, of Eugene, Oregon, was an over-night guest of his sister, Mrs. R. E. Brookshier. Mr. Doak was accompanied here by his father, H. C. Doak, of Hereford, and his sister, Mrs. V. R. Gardner, of Tulla, Texas.

Learn Traffic Laws By Erring At Intersections

If you insist upon learning traffic laws by accident, the best place is an intersection.

The most frequent law violation in business and residential areas traffic accidents is failure to yield the right of way at an intersection, according to W. J. Elliott, Chief of the Texas Highway Patrol.

The Texas Highway Patrol is cooperating with a nationwide, "Learn and Obey Traffic Laws" program in an effort to familiarize the public with traffic regulations and how to save lives.

Of the traffic accidents which involve two vehicles occurring at intersections, Captain Polk Ivy of the Amarillo District emphasized the law concerning right-of-way at stop streets. The points to remember are:

1. The octagonal sign that says "Stop" means just that.
2. After stopping at the sign, you must yield the right-of-way to vehicles on the through street, unless they are far enough away that you can safely cross.
3. When you are on the through street, you must yield the right-of-way to a car which stopped at the stop sign and then started to cross in the gap in traffic ahead of you.
