Two Named to Committee Posts

The appointment of Joe L. Blythe, Democratic National Committee member from North Carolina, as treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, has been announced by Senator J. Howard McGrath, Chairman of the Committee. Blythe, whose home is in Charlotte, is vice president of the Blythe Brothers Company, general contractors. He has been a North Carolina State Senator since 1930. He also served as state chairman of the Jefferson-Jackson dinners recently held in North Carolina and he is a member of the executive committee of the Democratic National Committee. He is married and has four children. As treasurer, he succeeds George Killion, who resigned last August to become president of the American National Steamship Lines. Senator McGrath announced Blythe's appointment as part of the reorganization of the executive division of the Democratic National Committee headquarters in connection with the 1948 campaign. Earlier, Senator McGrath had announced the appointment of William J. Primm, Jr., of Montgomery, Ala., as assistant to the national chairman, the first of several such assistants to be appointed. Primm, 38, has been active in the Democratic Party for many years. He was one of the organizers of the Young Democratic Clubs of America. For the past seven years he has served as Chairman of the Young Democratic National Committee and is presently Young Democratic National Committeeman from Alabama. In 1943, he came to Washington as an assistant to the late Senator Joseph W. Bailey (D., N. C.), who was then chairman of the United States Senate Commerce Committee. Primm left the employ of the Senate in April, 1945, to return to private business. He is married to Senator Bailey's eldest daughter and they have two daughters. In accepting the appointment as committee treasurer, Blythe said: "I am convinced that the welfare of the country demands the continuation of the Democratic policies which have made us so strong and prosperous economically and which have won us world leadership in the struggle for peace."

City Council Plans Spraying of Town As Preventative

The City Council is formulating plans this week for the spraying of all streets and alleys on the town section with a D. D. T. mixture as a prevention for polio. Henry Price and M. K. Summers went to Matador Monday and contacted the mayor there and also the man who does the spraying. He has a machine mounted for this work and charges $75 for spraying the town. Lubbock, Matador, Floydada, and other surrounding towns have already taken this precaution, according to Price and Summers, and report satisfactory results. Since this job needs to be done immediately, the city council decided to charge $1.00 on each resident and business house for one month to help pay expenses. Other communities seem to think that a town should be sprayed two and possibly three times during the summer. This $1.00 will pay for three sprayings, at least, which can be done at intervals of about six weeks.

Social Security Benefits Will Be Paid To Survivors

Newspaper clippings are often the keys that unlock the door to social security payments for young widows and their children, according to J. R. Sanderson, manager of the Amarillo office of the Social Security Administration. Few days pass during which the Amarillo office fails to receive one or more letters enclosing a newspaper clipping. In other instances the widow brings the clipping to the office. What she wants to know is, "Does this mean me? Can I get benefits?" In a large number of cases the social security office is able to tell her, "It does mean you. You can get benefits for yourself and your children." Sanderson said his office had long recommended that every worker tell his family about the survivors benefits in the Social Security Act, and that the family get in touch with the nearest office in case of the worker's death. There are still, however, some widows and other survivors who do not realize their right until a newspaper item calls social security to their attention. "Social Security," Sanderson concluded, "can do the greatest good for the greatest number of people, when everyone has a full understanding of his rights and duties under the law. The newspapers of this area are playing a very important part in making this general public understanding possible."

Frequent Rains Received Over The Week-end

High winds, frequent rains, and high temperatures have colored the weather picture for the past week. On Friday night, a light rain was received, but a high wind was evident. According to Mrs. Barney Stephens, who lives south of town, the wind took the tops off some of their barns, tore up a chicken house at the C. L. Whitehead place and turned over a grainery at the C. L. Hampton place. The storm came quickly Saturday night. It started about dark and was over in approximately forty-five minutes. It fell in torrents and in a short time, all the gutters were overflowing with water. Anyone caught in the storm was thoroughly drenched. About noon Sunday, another short downpour covered the city. It lasted only about thirty minutes. According to the Bomar One-Stop, Silvertown received .84 of an inch of rain over the week-end.

The inside of the Plumnelly Cafe was damaged seriously by a fire which broke out about 9:30 p.m. on Tuesday, June 22nd. According to Mr. Beardin, owner of the cafe, the fire was probably caused by a cigarette or a match which was dropped into a box of fireworks that was under the counter. Anyway, he stated, they first noticed the fire when the fireworks started popping. All of the windows were broken, the heaviest damage to the building was in the southwest corner; and smoke damage on the ceiling was bad. All of the candy and cigarette stock was destroyed; in fact, Mr. Beardin said that the meats and bread was about all that was saved. No estimate has been made of the damage. Cure Worse Than Disease . . .

Just how important a part proposals for price control and rationing of commodities will play in the pending political campaigns remains to be seen. Some candidates will undoubtedly urge them, on the theory that they may have a strong appeal to voters faced with a shrinking dollar. Under these circumstances, the people should give considerable thought to the problems involved.

First of all, no one is going to make anything or produce anything at a loss. We could, for instance, establish by law a ceiling price of two-bits a dozen on eggs and two dollars on a pair of shoes. The farmer and the shoe manufacturer would then, from necessity, turn to other products or call it a day.

We could pass a law saying that retailers must sell goods at such and such a price, regardless of wholesale costs or the costs of doing business. Then, also from necessity, the retailer would have to stop ordering those goods unless he were willing to gradually go broke.

We could issue ration books once more, on the grounds that this would allocate scarce commodities equitably. And then the scarce goods would flow into the black market, where they could be bought only by the well heeled few—just as they did under OPA, and just as they are doing everywhere in the world where rationing remains in effect.

The only cure for inflation lies in individual thrift, a reduction in the cost of government, and in maximum production by labor, management and everyone else. Artificial controls always deal with effects and never with causes. And they always create a worse situation than that they are supposed to correct.

Most For Your Money . . .

In periods of high business activity, such as the present, the profit statements of large industries often create a misleading impression. The casual observer sees only that this or that company has made millions. What he doesn't understand in many instances is that profit is almost always a very small part of the money taken in by any industry—and that the majority of our industries provide us with goods and services at an almost unbelievably low "profit" cost to the individual consumer.

The meat packing industry is a good example. Cattle, hogs and sheep originate on the farms and ranges of the country. But it's a far cry from meat on the hoof to steaks and chops for the dinner table. The animals must be transported, processed and redistributed before they are ready for local retailers. It is the responsibility of the packing industry to see that this complex and vital service functions smoothly for American consumers.

In 1947, 67 leading meat packing companies, which do more than 70 per cent of the country's commercial meat business, made an average profit of about 1 and 1-3 cents on each dollar of sales. That was around 3-5 of a cent less than they made in 1946. The figure covers the sale not only of meat, but also a long list of by-products such as hides, soaps, oils, glands for medicines, etc. Translated into profit per pound of meat, the packer's profit averaged but a fraction of a cent on all meat sold.

Thus does free enterprise combine peak economy with peak efficiency and service. Its objective is to give us the most value for the least cost, in order to do the greatest volume of business. This is the secret of the growth of American industry and our high standard of living. What we consider necessities a large part of the world looks on as luxuries.

Fertilizer Mixed With Soil Prevent Leaves From Turning Yellow

Shrubs, shade trees or fruit trees in the yard that have yellow leaves on them can be given a little medicine to turn the leaves green again, says Sadie Hatfield, extension landscape gardening specialist of Texas A. & M. College.

To correct the yellow color that comes into leaves about this time of year, add about a pound of copperas and sulphur for every large shrub or small tree. Fertilizers mixed with the soil at the same time will also help prevent yellow formation in the leaves.

Spread a vegetable mulch four or five inches deep around the shrubs to keep their roots from drying out when the temperatures soar this summer. The mulch holds the moisture in the soil where the plants can get it. The mulch, spread over an area of several square feet and several inches thick, will gradually work itself into the ground.

Several different things can be used for mulching plants. Compost, grass cuttings, straw or any other kind of decaying plant materials are all good. The grass cuttings are good plant materials furnishing nitrogen and other plant foods. Another advantage of grass clippings is that they make the soil acid, making iron available to the plants.

Most of the Texas soils have enough iron in them, but sometimes it is combined with other minerals and cannot be used by the plants. However, when the soil is made slightly acid, the iron is released and taken up by the plant.

In the blacklands, limestone regions and other areas where there is much lime in the soil, the iron may also be present but in combination with lime. This is another case where the iron is not available to plant use. However, ceniza, guajillo and some of the other plants common to west and southwest Texas need alkaline or lime soils, says Miss Hatfield.

Suggestions On How To Handle Clothes For Ironing

Ironing day comes around once or twice a week in most homes . . . and there are a few suggestions that might make the job a little easier for the housewife.

Gladys Darden, assistant extension home management specialist of Texas A. & M. College, says that the job of ironing can start when the clothes are hung out on the line. If the clothes are shaken well and hung neatly on the line, there will be fewer wrinkles in them to iron out later.

Some of the clothes, of course, don't have to be ironed at all, so they can be folded out in the clothes yard. In this "no-iron" list are the sheets, bath towels, diapers, knitted underwear, cup-towels, and so on. Seersucker and some of the materials that don't need ironing are good for work dresses and play clothes.

You can't expect to do your best ironing with an iron that's too heavy, a rickety board and an ironing board cover and pad that doesn't fit right. The best board to use is one adjustable to the height most comfortable for you. It's the standing up to iron that makes it such a tough job. It is possible to sit down and iron, and much easier on you, too.

Sleeve boards, pressing cloths, and a gadget for holding the cord back out of the way are handy things that will save time and help turn out a better job. Also a drying rack near the ironing board will be convenient for the things you have finished.

A little organization in the process will help, too. Keep together all the pieces that are alike, and stack them in the order you'll be ironing them. Put the linens at the bottom, cottons next, and the rayons on top.

And here is something the housewives might have been wondering about. Is it the weight of the iron or the heat that does the job? It's the heat of the iron, says Miss Darden, so don't wear yourself out by pressing down as you iron the clothes.

Mrs. Omer Washington and son, Omer Jr., of Tulla, visited Mrs. Washington's cousin, Mrs. Rusty Arnold Saturday.

Mrs. Rusty Arnold visited friends in Amarillo Friday.

Modernistic Folks Aid Lonely Hermit

AKRON, O. — Although Ellas Swarthouth, the hermit of Northampton township, north of here, is against most modern conveniences, including electric razors, safety razors, straight razors and shears, it was the modern generation that came to his aid when his home blew over.

The 86-year-old recluse lived most of his life in Northampton township, and 50 years in nearly the same location.

He did not live in exactly the same spot because once his home was burned out and he moved to the barn, which recently was tossed around somewhat by a big wind. The ancient barn was lifted from its foundation and tilted to a 45-degree angle with the aged man trapped inside.

When the barn rolled back, his coal stove, a quantity of canned goods, his bed and a half dozen pet cats joined Swarthouth in the corner.

Everything, Swarthouth included, stayed there several hours until the Northampton volunteer fire department came to his rescue with an ax and chopped open the door. He was unhurt.

Township residents tried to put the barn back onto the foundation.

The big blow, however, was too gusty and the volunteers decided to tear down the structure and use the lumber to build a small house.

Swarthouth, half a century ago, was the champion hay pitcher of the county, despite an injury that made his arms stiff.

Just before the turn of the century, Swarthouth nursed a distant relative through a dangerous illness and out of gratitude the relative told Swarthouth he could live in the relative's home rent free the rest of his life.

Doctor Calls Shoe Box Baby's Ride a Miracle

PORTLAND, ME.—The amazing survival of a one-pound, fifteen-ounce boy, who was carried in a shoe box during a hectic twenty-two mile automobile ride from a Cornish logging camp, was described as a near-miracle by the physician who delivered him.

Dr. Anthony Dibasio of Cornish, who said the boy was a six and one-half-month premature child, declared:

"The chances for a live birth in such an instance are one in 100,000. The fact that the baby lived through that trip is truly remarkable."

Argentine Horse Breeders Test Steeds for Endurance

BUENOS AIRES—Argentine army and horse breeders are completing arrangements for a 1,200-mile endurance test to determine the best type of saddle horse for the range rider and the soldier.

A contest is being organized on entirely new lines and will be open to all breeds.

It will be distinct from the bygone 24-hour race, which saw many of the animals die during the grueling test, and the 1,000-mile race between criollos and range bred descendants of thoroughbreds.

The last race of the latter type was abandoned when one of the competing animals met with an accident.

Under the new rules, all competitors are subject to identical conditions. Ten geldings of each competing breed are to be ridden simultaneously over a route selected by Argentine army officers.

Each animal will carry 250 pounds. All will be fed and treated alike throughout the test, and all must be exercised and fed alike for one month prior to the event.

Sale of Dead Woman's Pets Brings $1,040 at Auction

SANTA BARBARA, CALIF. — An auction of the pets of the late Mrs. Nora Thompson was concluded during which her 75 spaniels brought $1,040, according to Humane Society Superintendent Fred Pelkey.

Her seven goats brought $37.50 more and a small flock of chickens $7. After expenses are deducted the money will be turned over to Public Administrator L. A. Gammill.

Meanwhile, requests to purchase the spaniels are still coming in from cities on the West coast.

Night-Lifer Aims for Home But Misses by Two Doors

BARTLESVILLE, OKLA.—A Bartlesville man awoke, walked into his front room en route to the doorstep for his morning paper and found a stranger on the floor in front of the fireplace, sound asleep.

The man obligingly took a blanket from his bed, laid it over the stranger, and read his paper.

When the man awoke, he rubbed his eyes and said: "Ow-w-w! I feel awful! Where am I?"

"You're not at home," his host replied.

The dazed intruder found he lived two doors away. "I'll never touch it again," he told his neighbor.

Texas Needs 2,500 Additional Teachers To Relieve Problem

AUSTIN, Texas—Conditions improved slightly this year, but nearly half of the 1,500,000 public school children in Texas are still being taught in badly overcrowded classrooms. A survey announced today by the Texas State Teachers Association indicates that 46.7 per cent of the children are getting inadequate educations due to a shortage of teachers and buildings.

Many schools, among them larger cities such as Amarillo, Corpus Christi and Galveston, are on half-day schedule so acute is the situation, according to Joe Humphrey of Abilene, vice-president of the Teachers Association.

Thirty pupils is the maximum class for efficient teaching, the National Education Association and other organizations agree.

Classes with as many as sixty-five pupils were found in a survey which was conducted by Miss Willie Mae Floyd of Abilene, Texas representative on the NEA advisory committee on tax education and school finance.

Elementary schools are more badly in need of additional space and teachers than are junior and senior high schools, the Floyd survey disclosed.

A total of 58.7 per cent of the grade school pupils included in the survey are in classes of more than thirty pupils. Exactly half of the junior high pupils are overcrowded. The senior high schools have 32.9 of their students in oversized classes.

"Texas needs a minimum of 2,500 additional teachers and thousands of additional classrooms to relieve the heavy congestion in our public schools," said Humphrey. "It is a very grave problem which, somehow, must be solved."

"All educators recognize the fact that it is impossible for pupils to get the attention they need and adequate instruction in classes of more than thirty students.

"Large classes rob children of part of their American heritage, the right to obtain a thorough education".

Humphrey said some way must be found to interest more young people in preparing for a teaching career.

"Even with the increase in pay granted teachers by the last legislature, the inducements to enter the profession apparently are not sufficient," he declared.

"Our colleges are not training enough teachers to take care of the usual replacement needs, let alone add to our staffs."

Humphrey also said many schools do not have enough money to construct additions or new buildings.

"Others have voted bonds, but are reluctant to build during these times of high costs, when they can get only about half as much for their money," Humphrey said.

Veterans News

Eligible veterans who want to take courses under the GI Bill that cost more than $500 for the normal school year may do so by trading training time for the extra cost, the Veterans Administration reports.

The additional charge in training time will be at the rate of one day for each $2.10 of the excess charge above the $500 maximum allowed by law.

Veterans desiring to enroll in excess cost courses must authorize VA to pay the full charges by filling in forms provided for that purpose.

To prevent overpayments of subsistence allowances, the Veterans Administration urges ex-GI students and their schools to notify VA as soon as a veteran breaks off or completes his program.

A veteran student in training under the GI Bill is not entitled to subsistence allowances after the date he interrupts or completes his training. In some cases, veterans stop their training and receive additional payments before VA is notified of their change in status. All such overpayments must be refunded to the government.

Advance notice is preferable whenever a decision is made to discontinue training. However, prompt notice immediately after such a break in training will prevent most overpayments.

About 40,000 schools and colleges have been approved to train World War II veterans under the GI Bill and Public Law 16. Over 700,000 training establishments have been approved to give job-training under the same laws.

Butterflies Flit Across Atlantic

LONDON.—If you happen to see a butterfly flutter by with a license plate attached to its tail, run to the phone and put in a trans-Atlantic call to T. Bainbridge Fletcher in London, England.

He is probably the guy who attached the license.

The licensing scheme is Fletcher's own project. He hopes to learn more about the migratory habits of butterflies.

Up to the last report no Fletcher-licensed butterfly is known to have strayed more than 50 miles but don't discount the possibility of a butterfly flying the Atlantic.

A brightly colored American Monarch was snared in the autumn of 1932.

This ocean flier was promptly caught in England by Sir Beckwith Whitehouse, a great butterfly man, and eventually sold for $41.

Since that time 80 other butterflies have crossed the ocean, all west to east, according to Dr. D. B. Williams, who probably knows more about butterflies than any other man alive.

All Williams' ocean fliers are Monarchs. Williams has discovered they migrate 2,000 miles, spending the winter in Florida and the summer in Canada.

Butterflies have more sense than to get lost, Williams says. In fact, he says, he is amazed at the way butterflies stay on course despite winds, the Monarchs breezing along at a steady 16 miles an hour.

At this top speed a Monarch crosses the ocean on the great circle route in about 5½ days.

Bank Teller's Tardiness Reveals Embezzled Funds

ST. LOUIS, MO.—Bank Teller Harry C. Delaney wished sincerely that he had not been tardy for work.

If he had been on time, a substitute teller wouldn't have discovered that Delaney had embezzled $14,150 from the Mississippi Valley Trust company where he worked for 26 years.

Delaney admitted the embezzlement to FBI agents who questioned him. He said he began taking funds two years ago to supplement his $205 monthly salary.

Census Takers in Zoo Have Problems of Multiplication

PHILADELPHIA.—Noah marched the animals into the ark two by two—and brought them out the same way. But things are different at the Philadelphia zoo these days.

It's counting time and the harried keepers and attendants have double trouble taking the annual mid-winter count of specimens.

Each time a count is completed, a different total is arrived at, animals and nature being what they are.

Counting noses is all right as far as the hippos, elephants, chimps and the rhinoceroses are concerned. That goes, too, for the tigers, lions, Shetland ponies and the bears.

But the monkeys won't hold still. Since most monkeys look like other monkeys, the adding machines whirl merrily every time a count is attempted.

Some of the prairie dogs are contentedly asleep, but underground. Turtles have dug themselves deep in the rocks of their tanks. By the time it's all over, zoo officials hope to have accounted for some 2,000 guests.

Elderly Couple Marries After Courtship by Mail

CHARLOTTE, N. C.—An 84-year-old retired Colorado railroad man and a 75-year-old North Carolina woman who met after a courtship by mail were married here.

"I was walking down the street in La Junta, Colo., and I was feeling lonely," explained William O. Musgrove. "I saw a magazine on the street and picked it up. This struck my eye."

He exhibited an article inserted by Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Pence, of Kannapolis, N. C. It contained her hobbies and address, and explained she'd like to correspond with some folks.

"Well, I went right in the house and wrote a letter to her," said Musgrove.

Armless, Legless Veteran Directs Business From Bed

FRAMINGHAM, MASS.—A 32-year-old former GI who lost the use of both arms and legs in France is conducting an export-import business at Cushing Veterans' administration hospital with the help of the Red Cross.

Red Cross Gray Ladies serve as secretaries and researchers for Joseph Press, who once worked in the insurance and finance business in New Haven, Conn.

Although confined to bed or wheelchair, Press has started negotiations to import French perfumes for reshipment to Latin America and to move Shetland tweeds and other commodities. He does his work by correspondence after 3 p.m. daily when he finishes his hospital treatment.

How Does Your Garden Grow

Texas gardens are paying off. Even with drouth in some areas, heavy rainfall in others and even hail in a few places, Texas gardens are making money. When the grocery store sells tomatoes at two-bits a pound, says J. F. Rosborough, extension horticulturist of Texas A. & M. College, those free ones out of the home garden sure do taste good.

All the rest of those fresh vegetables taste good too . . . the free sweet corn, new Irish potatoes, squash, lettuce, green beans, mustard and cucumbers. If you get most of the meal from your own garden, it really makes a big difference in the grocery bill.

If you are in one of the dry areas and the soil doesn't have much moisture, then a little water wouldn't hurt the tomatoes—especially if the plants appear wilted during the day. And watering the tomatoes will prevent blossom end rot of the fruit, too. For the best quality, pick the tomatoes just as they begin to turn pink on the vine. Then spread them out in the shade a few days until they get that deep red color. At this stage they are at their best.

The early plantings of mustard, radish and lettuce have gone to seed by this time. Bright yellow flowers mark the rows of the careless gardener. Don't leave these old vegetables standing in your garden. They are carriers of disease, thieves of soil moisture and hiding places for insects. When a garden vegetable is through producing, plow it up and leave the soil fallow.

If you keep the old vegetables plowed out, the garden soil is always ready to be planted again when favorable conditions permit, says Rosborough.

Tech Gymnasium Gets Face-lifting In Summer Program

The Texas Tech gymnasium, in use since 1927, is being given a face-lifting in the summer program in which $18,000 is being expended.
Workmen are re-planking all of the 2,200 seats around the basketball floor and are rebuilding offices and dressing quarters beneath. Dormitory and storage rooms are being removed to provide a large dressing room for visiting teams. The size of office space, no longer needed since coaches shifted to the new Clifford B. and Audrey Jones stadium, is being reduced to provide larger dressing rooms for physical education students. The basketball equipment room is also being enlarged.
New floors are being placed in the dressing rooms used by women physical education students, and the entire structure inside will be repainted.
The last legislature set aside $20,000 for improvement of the gymnasium. During the winter, a new floor was placed in the coaches offices, and the gymnasium roof was repaired.

U.S. Ore Supply Drops Steadily To Hit New Low

High Rate of Manufacturing Depletes Natural Iron Reserves in Mines
WASHINGTON—Americans, used to thinking they are eternally blessed with natural resources, are having to face a new fact: The country is running low on some of the materials it needs most.
Secretary of the Interior Julius A. Krug has issued another warning in his annual report. And the matter of iron bobbed up in congress during debate on the St. Lawrence seaway.
Iron means steel, and steel is basic in our complex industrial life.
It's the substance that goes into our bridges, skyscrapers, houses, automobiles, tractors, ships, and trains.
All Krug said about iron ore was this:
"Supplies of high-grade iron ore are limited."
He didn't say how limited. But others have.
Summarizing the views of industry and government experts, the commerce department says our best reserves, around Lake Superior, may run out in 20 years.
That region produces 80 per cent of all the iron ore mined annually in this country. And half the nation's output comes from one place—a great, yawning pit called the Mesabi range in Minnesota.
Use Steam Shovels
Since 1892 Americans have been taking iron ore out of the Mesabi pits with steam shovels. It's been almost like taking sand off a beach. The shovels just strip off a thin earthen cover and scoop the ore into railroad cars. The ore moves straight to big docks for dumping into specially designed boats. Then it goes to the mills at cheap water rates.
This simple process has been a key factor in America's development of cheap mass-production items. And the Mesabi ore beat Germany and Japan.
But while the war was still on, a steel man said:
"This is the last world war that will be fought off the Mesabi."
From 1940 to 1945, the industry drew on Mesabi ore at three times the rate of the 1930's. Now that peace has come, the withdrawals aren't much lighter.
Rate Doesn't Decrease
Last year 77 million tons were mined around Lake Superior, compared with 79 million tons in 1944.
It's too early to say much, but the specialists seem agreed that getting iron ore from taconite means huge investments in plant, manpower, water, and power.
Foreign ores are the alternative. The two sources most talked about are Labrador and Brazil. Both have enough iron ore of good grade to keep America's steel plants going for many decades.
But in both countries the ore is more than 300 miles from the sea in a wilderness. Industry would have to start from scratch, at huge cost.
During the St. Lawrence debate, backers of the bill said this: If we had the seaway, Labrador ores might move to lake steel plants at reasonable cost. Otherwise, foreign ores might cause a wrenching shift of industry from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic coast.
On the other side, it was argued that the St. Lawrence project might delay the taconite development.
There is no easy answer.

Batting a swell which showered 1,000 pound ice chunks on deck.
Visiting a campsite of Sir Ernest Shackleton's 1906 expedition and finding a metal match case with matches still intact.

SUPERVISORS FOR CAP ROCK DISTRICT—Earl I. Cantwell, Chairman, Obra Watson, Bray Cook, L. A. McJimsey and Bill Helmes.

A high point was located for an irrigation well on Mrs. Carl Vughan's farm which is operated by Seymour Brannon and is situated three miles southeast of Silvertown.

Contour lines were run this week for Lee D. Bomar, a cooperater of the Cap Rock Soil Conservation District, whose place is three miles west of Silvertown.

A tank dam was staked off last week for Tom Pierce, a cooperater of the local district. His place is located four and one-half miles east of Quitaque in the Hamilton Conservation Group. Mr. Pierce plans to build this dam in the near future.

Contour plowing of wheat stubble will increase moisture penetration. The small ridges thrown up by either the one-way or sub-surface type of plow will hold water back and let it soak into the soil. Hard fast showers, such as we have experienced recently, tends to seal the soil over allowing excessive runoff. Unless some way of holding this water on the land is used it will be lost as far as crop use is concerned.

Recently a hard rain of approximately two inches fell in a very short time near Silvertown. Considerable runoff occurred yet the soil was wet only about two inches deep. If the rainfall had been held on the land it would have wet the ground many inches deeper.

Proper handling of wheat stubble will also increase moisture penetration and control soil blowing. By leaving the stubble mixed with the top soil it tends to reduce crusting and sealing over. Sub-surface plowing on the contour will increase moisture supplies in the soils as well as control blowing.

Army To Call Up 230,000 A Year

WASHINGTON—The prospective draftee can look forward to a life with free board and room and $75 per month pay to start, the army said.

If he stays out of trouble and does a good job he will get an automatic promotion to private first class at the end of four to six months. More of the same will get him another automatic promotion to corporal and $90 per month within six months to a year.

The draftee can get to be a sergeant earning $100 per month at the end of 16 months. The promotion is mandatory at the end of two years, if the draftee's record is good.

Furthermore, he will get hospitalization, dependency allowances and insurance.

If he has a bent for learning, he can apply for any one of a number of army schools that will prepare him for a trade.

The old top sergeant cussing out the recruits is out in the new army. The army said it learned from the universal military training experiment at Fort Knox to treat the enlisted man with the dignity to which he is entitled.

But the army warned that the draftee mustn't expect any special, kid-gloves treatment. The army, spokes man said, is still no place for sissies.

Wheat with fertilizer and wheat without fertilizer showed quite a difference on Hale county farms, reports County Agent Manuel W. Ayers.

Mr. F. B. (Buck) Hunt, who lives 10 miles northwest of Plainview, has several plots for demonstration purposes, and is finding out quite a bit about how good fertilizer really is.

On his 350 acres, Hunt has tried several different farm management practices where he uses different amounts of fertilizer on his plots. On one wheat plot Hunt applied 200 pounds of ammonium nitrate last fall before sowing. Another section is in summer fallow wheat land, and some has been planted to wheat only year after year. One plot under each of these conditions was left as a check plot.

The fertilized wheat on summer fallow looks as if it is doing the best of all, says Hunt. He estimates about 45 bushels to the acre. The unfertilized on summer fallow is estimated at around 30 bushels. On one plot of wheat following milo where no fertilizer has been added, only 7 bushels per acre is expected.

With an investment of a little short of $7 per acre for the fertilizer, and an expected 15 bushels increase in acreage because he applied the fertilizer, Hunt is looking forward to $30. more per acre at the current market quotations.

Hunt realizes that commercial fertilizer is not the whole answer to keeping the soil at its highest producing level. In order to maintain his soil fertility, he will have to develop a crop rotation system using winter legumes and other cover crops that add humus to the soil.

Hunt is not the only one. Quite a few farmers in Hale county are having similar experiences with fertilizers on irrigated crops this year, reports Ayers, and just as many are working out a legume rotation system to keep their soils up to a high level of production.

Swisher Hospital Addition Planned

Enlarging of the Swisher County Hospital and adding of new equipment may be possible soon through action of the State Board of Health. That agency has approved $44,750 in state aid for the project.

The state grant will supplement $100,000 approved by county voters in a recent election.

Plans call for addition of 14 rooms, an elevator and other improvements to the building. Several new pieces of equipment already have been added.

Judge H. A. Wallace of Happy and H. E. Toles of Happy have been leading the effort to secure the state appropriation along with Bruce Walters, hospital manager.
